British Air Force Again Damages Cruiser Prince Eugen

Prized Nazi Ship Caught Off Norway

Report Aerial Torpedo Hits On Cruiser; Four Accompanying Destroyers Sprayed With Cannon-Fire; Germans Minimize Damage And Claim Large Toll British Planes

London, May 18.—(AP) The British Air Force, which has been playing a deadly game of hide and seek with the 10,000-ton German cruiser Prinz Eugen for more than three months, caught up with the elusive warship off southern Norway last night and engaged her in a running fight in which she apparently was gravely damaged, the Air Ministry announced today.

First reports of the engagement indicate that aerial torpedo hits were scored on the Prinz Eugen, which evidently was trying to slip back to a German port, from her refuge at Trondheim, where she has been hiding out, after being damaged by a British submarine, a communiqué said.

The size of the attacking British aerial force was indicated by the disclosure that it included Beaufort torpedo-carrying planes, Hudson bombers, Blenheim bombers and Beau fighters.

Both the Royal Navy and the air force have been long in wait for the Prinz Eugen to venture from her Norwegian refuge ever since she made a daring dash through the English Channel last February in company with the battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau.

The Admiralty, announcing on May 3 that the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau were heavily damaged and would be out of action for many months, said the after part of the Prinz Eugen needed "very considerable repair."

Naval sources at the same time said this meant "a dockyard job and there are no such facilities at Trondheim. She probably will have to be patched up temporarily and (Continued on Page Four)

Auxiliary To Sell Poppies May 30th

Dimes, quarters and dollars, dropped into the coin boxes of the "Poppy Girls" this year will aid the victims of the present war, as well as those of the first world war, according to Mrs. J. Hicks Corey, poppy day chairman of the Pitt County Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The auxiliary is rapidly completing arrangements for the annual observance of poppy day on May 30, when memorial poppies will be distributed throughout the city by auxiliary members. A large number of volunteers are being formed under Mrs. Corey's leadership to work the entire day bringing the flowers of patriotic remembrance to everyone in the city.

"This year," said Mrs. Corey, "the poppy not only honors and aids the men who defeated America 24 years ago and their families, but also those defending America today and their families. Funds collected on Poppy Day will be used in the work the Legion and Auxiliary are doing for the disabled of both wars, and for needy families of men in the service as well as those of veterans."

The Legion and Auxiliary have had 20 years of experience in aiding service men and their dependents. They are able to make every dollar do maximum service in this field. Their volunteer workers have had long training and know the quickest and best methods of bringing relief to veterans and their families found in need.

Bomb Flames Rage On Burma War Front

Japanese bombings of Maymyo, Burma, former allied headquarters some 25 miles northeast of Mandalay, resulted in this raging fire and many others like it. The picture was made by Life Magazine's photographer, George Rodger, while Gen. Joseph Stilwell, American in command of allied forces, still had headquarters there. Japanese took the town but it was re-captured last week by a Chinese force which drove them from Tsanggyi.

Sign Treaty With Panama

Americans Set Up Bases To Protect Canal

Washington, May 18.—(AP)—The United States and the Republic of Panama signed a treaty at Panama today covering the use of defense areas in the Republic by armed forces of the United States, which already have occupied them.

The State Department said the American troops occupied the areas by permission of the Panamanian government. They will develop them as gun emplacements, airplane detector stations, bombing ranges, and auxiliary air fields—the largest of which is the Rio Hato air base some 80 miles southwest of the Panama canal.

The signing of the treaty came as American negotiators at Martinique were continuing their discussion with French authorities on measures to safeguard French Caribbean possessions against possible Axis moves.

In its announcement of the new treaty with Panama the State Department asserted the pact was "another significant landmark in the history of relations between the United States and Panama and constitutes an important contribution to the security of the canal and the defense of the hemisphere."

Negotiations for the defensive treaty were begun some months ago under the Panamanian government of President Arnulfo Arias, now in exile. The pact was signed today by Edwin C. Wilson, United States ambassador to Panama, and Panama's Foreign Minister Octavio Fabrega. It will be effective when approved by the national assembly of Panama and the United States Senate.

Nine Killed In Bomber Crash

Barksdale Field, La., May 18.—(AP)—Barksdale field suffered its worst accident today when a four-engine bomber crashed near the field killing the crew of nine.

The plane struck a tree and exploded near the south border of the reservation. Three officers and six enlisted men were killed or burned to death in the wreckage.

The B-24 cleared the field on a routine flight about four minutes before the smash. The terrific impact and later explosions scattered pieces of the plane over a wide area. Names of the victims were withheld until the next of kin could be notified as required by army regulations.

Writers Say Morale Of Nazi Nations Slipping

Unfulfilled Promises Hunger In Italy Makes War With America Unpopular

Editor's Note: Edwin A. Shank, who gives this view of inside Germany, is a member of the former Berlin Bureau of the Associated Press who has arrived in Lisbon from internment at Bad Nauheim with United States citizens being exchanged for Axis Nationals.

By EDWIN A. SHANK Lisbon, May 18 (AP)—German civil morale is slipping. But that doesn't mean that Nazism is near internal collapse or that revolution is just around the corner.

Such an estimate of Germany today would be pure wishful thinking. For it must be remembered that the Nazis keep the police-ridden country in hand, with a Gestapo Agent behind every bush and every neighbor a potential informant.

But it does signify a letdown in the general day-to-day efficiency, a slackening in the German war effort which in the long run will have a telling effect.

The sinking spirits at home are being transmitted in turn to the soldier at the front—honey-combed what until recently had been high morale. Letters from home convey to the soldiers part of the picture. Home leave, when granted, does the rest.

German morale reached its crest after the smashing Balkan campaign in 1941. That was natural. The German army had an unbroken string of victories. The nation appeared united as never before.

The mass of the people still hadn't seriously thought of the United States as a potential enemy. But then a series of elements entered the picture which began to undermine morale. These included the flight of Adolf Hitler's confidante, Rudolf Hess, to England; the invasion of Russia; Nazi party favoritism; persecution of the churches; deterioration of food and general living conditions; false promises of peace; entry of the United States into the war; the dismissal of Field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch; and tension between Heinrich Himmler's SS (Elite Guard) troops and the army.

Both officers were engaged in routine training flights. Causes of the crashes were not announced.

Chinese Halt Japs In Drive On Burma Road

Jap Bases North Of Australia Again Blasted

By The Associated Press The most active theater of war in the Far Pacific, the tangled Burma battle zone, produced Chinese claims today that the enemy had been curbed in the China frontier region and a Tokyo claim that on the other side of Burma Japanese forces were within four miles of India's border.

A Tokyo broadcast said that Japanese assaults on Japanese forces in Yunnan province around Lungling and Tengyueh had completely canceled the Japanese threat to the Burma road city of Paoshan, Chungking dispatches said.

The Chinese defense appeared to have lapsed into the sort of guerrilla infiltration tactics which have served them so well in other sectors of the older war in China. (Continued on Page Six)

Flank Nazi Movements In The South

Germans Are Hurling Tanks And Trailer-Borne Troops Into Soviet Death Traps; Reds Advancing On 100 Mile Front; Nazi Parachutists Wiped Out; Reds Take Heavy Toll

By HENRY C. CASSIDY Moscow, May 18.—(AP) With the Red army closing in steadily upon vital Kharkov, battlefield dispatches reported today that the Germans were hurling flying wedges of tanks and trailer-carried troops into death traps in the Russian lines in a desperate attempt to break up the offensive now in its seventh day.

Pravda reported that these Nazi counterattacks on wheels and tracks, as well as mass German parachute landings of as many as 120 troops at a time, had failed to check the impetus of the Russian thrust.

Already that drive has gained 12 to 20 miles over blood-stained battlefields littered with the bodies of 12,000 German dead and the wreckage of war materials used to replace the Russians announced officially.

British military sources said Marshal Timoshenko's armies were advancing on a 100-mile front extending in an arm from Volchansk, 30 miles northwest of Kharkov, to Krasnograd, 60 miles southwest of Kharkov. These sources said that, although stiffened German resistance undoubtedly had slowed the Russian push in some places, it had been stopped nowhere.

Pravda reported that the Germans were using—and losing—tanks in an attempt to save Kharkov and safeguard the vulnerable southern flank.

The Communist party organ said that in a single attack 150 tanks pulling armored trailers loaded with troops were hurled against Russian lines in an attempt to break through to a besieged Nazi position.

When the first attack was stopped, the Germans followed up with 15 others during the same day. (Continued on Page Four)

Victory Choir To Give Concert Here

Lewis Sidney Bullock's Victory Choir will present a special program of songs in a concert at the Austin building at the college Friday night at 8:30. This will be the first of a series of concerts to be presented in nine states, including several army camps. A nominal admission fee will be charged and there will be special tickets for college students.

The singers were designated by Governor J. M. Broughton as the American Victory Chorus of North Carolina. In a coast-to-coast tour last summer and on a radio hook-up from New York Mr. Bullock's singers won exceptional high praise from music critics.

Greenville is headquarters for the Victory Chorus. Its members are from Eastern Carolina towns. The singers serve without pay, and through sheer love of singing and entertaining the public. The Victory Choir was appointed by the governor as "ambassadors of song and good-will for North Carolina."

Three Are Killed By Explosion

McMechen, W. Va., May 16.—(AP)—A terrific explosion killed three men in the Hitchman Coal and Iron Company mine early today and seriously burned two others.

The company announced that 10 other miners in the affected area escaped unhurt.

They were at first reported trapped. The bodies of Harry Parks and Mike Polus were recovered but the body of John Mojzer was still missing, the company said.

The men were clearing up a Sunday stone fall 2½ miles from the mine entrance. The blast was heard a distance of 15 miles. Livid tongues of flame shot from the entrance of the slope mine and were visible at Bellaire, O., three miles distant across the Ohio river. These ignited the tipple, but this fire was quickly extinguished.

China Ready Ottawa, May 18.—(AP)—China is ready to bomb Japanese cities and needs only planes. Major Gen. T. H. Shen, commander of the Chinese air forces in the United States, said today.

The short, slim, youthful general was one of the delegates of 13 nations assembling for the start of the Ottawa air training conference which opens tomorrow.

"We have provided the bases, and we need only the planes," Gen. Shen said. "I am sure you will not find a long war and that China would never make a separate peace."

Christian Science Service. "Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, May 17.

The golden text was from Romans 8:5. "They that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit." Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "Blessed is the man whom thou chooseth, and comest to approach unto thee, that he may dwell in thy courts; we shall be satisfied with the goodness of thy house, even of thy holy temple." (Ps. 65:4).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "As a husband, 'scientific' life-basis is found to be a misapprehension of existence, the spiritual and divine Principle of man dwells upon human thought, and leads it to 'where the young child was'—even to the birth of a new-old idea, to the spiritual sense of being and of what life includes. Thus the whole earth will be transformed by Truth on its pinions of light, chasing away the darkness of error."

SOMETHING WITHIN

If you've ever had a taste of Circus life... it's sawdust ting—No matter how you try not to You'll yearn for it each spring.

If you've ever loved a body (And everything went wrong) As long as there's life you'll be thrilled

When you hear some certain songs. And yet... no matter what you've been.

When that job needs a man, A certain something says within—"Come on, American."

And even though your hair is gone—Your teeth are not your own, And you know deep down in your heart

Your best oats have been sown. There's something underneath the skin

That says—"You're still a man. Go to it, kid, and you will win. You're an American."

The King's Daughters Meet.
The regular May meeting of The King's Daughters was held with our honorary state president, Mrs. Hortense F. Moyer, Tuesday night, May 12, at 8 p. m. In the face of the stormy weather there was a fair attendance.

Mrs. Eley urged The King's Daughters to work and pray for strength to meet the trying days that are ahead of all of us. After the regular routine of business, Mrs. Moyer gave a glowing report of the convention held in Wilmington May 6 and 7. Mrs. Moyer said one would never realize that we were in a terrible way, the way The King's Daughters were working and planning another year's work.

She also said that the convention was well attended and most enthusiastic. The Junior circles of Wilmington put on a beautiful play. Several members and delegates of the Hortense Moyer Junior Circle also attended. Mrs. Moyer gave a very beautiful and touching eulogy for Mrs. Bryant at the convention memorial service.

At this meeting a committee was appointed to write resolutions to Mrs. Bryant. The circle reported many calls for help which were in the hands of a committee. Adjournment. Closing with the Mizpah Benediction. No refreshments were served.

IN MEMORIAM
In memory of my dear brother, Joe E. Clark, who departed this life three years ago, the 13th day of May, 1939.

Dear brother, we so much miss you since you went away. You were freed of your trouble 3 years ago the 13th of May. Lonely are our hearts without you, sad it seems never to have you. You were loved so dearly but forever passed away. We grieved for you in sadness, few eyes can see us weep. But many are the tears we shed while others are asleep. Our hope and dreams may die, but I know we can meet you dear brother in the sweet by and by. We love you so but God loved you best, so He called you to the land of rest. Your chair is still vacant, it never can be filled. But your love is still in our heart for you when you left home on that sad day we thought you would return, but God called you before you returned. Sleep on dear brother and take your rest, some sweet day we will meet you in the land of rest.

By his sister,
Mrs. Marshall Clark.

She has been successful as a magazine editor and as a playwright, and during the presidential campaign of 1940 she became a political crusader when she made her first political speech at a "Work for Wilkie" rally.

The work for which she is best known is "The Women," a play in which all the characters are women, which has been played in eighteen countries and in ten languages. Clare Boothe's plays are not usually popular with dramatic critics, who feel that her success has been too flashy, and who are often horrified

Library News

There are three reasons for reading books by Zolt de Harsanyi. He is a brilliant writer and a distinguished novelist, he delves deeply into his subjects and he is the leading literary figure in Hungary today. He is particularly interested in the truth of human character. He understands and can present people which, after all, is the novelist's most important business. And though he has had an amazingly productive career, he is comparatively a young man, being only a little past fifty. All of which can be accounted for by the fact that his family has one of the oldest literary traditions in the world, his ancestors having been writers for six hundred years.

Three of his best-known books are in the Shepard Memorial Library, his most recent one, "Lover of Life," having just been catalogued. In this book the famous artist, Rubens, emerges from a magnificent portrait, typifying to the full spirit of the Renaissance. He is a unique figure, fascinating, a man of the world, a lover of life. But there is more to this book than just the man Rubens. The author presents with informed detail, paralleling Rubens' career, what is in effect a history of Renaissance art viewed through the eyes of an artist. Jan Breughel is here, in the flesh as well as in his work, as is Van Dyck, who worked for Rubens in his Antwerp studio. And among the scores of artists whose paintings are discussed in the course of the novel, you will find such immortals as Michelangelo, Leonardo di Vinci, Titian, Raphael, Veronese, El Greco, Andre del Sarto, Fra Angelico, Correggio and Tintoretto.

You will find, too, a splendid analysis of the intricate moves of continental diplomacy during Rubens' time, as the artist, from time to time lays aside his brush to immerse himself in politics.

Harsanyi's best book is "The Star-Gazer" in which he makes one glad to know a warm-hearted, absent-minded, impulsive, hesitant, unassuming, humble man named Galileo, who with his conventional piety and radical intelligence is a living and believable creation. This one book justifies Harsanyi's reputation, for only a writer of breadth and authority would attempt such a subject—the story of the life of Galileo Galilei. His success is attested by the novel's outstanding reception not only in the author's own country, but also in Italy, Germany and England.

"Through a Woman's Eyes" this Hungarian novelist offers many women the opportunity of witnessing their own experiences, emotional if not factual, reflected in Magdalena, the heroine. It is a character study of a woman of modern times. Magdalena is the daughter of an aristocratic Hungarian family and the course of the story runs from 1903 to the late 1930's. At seventeen, she has her first love affair which ends unhappily and results in her marriage to another man. After she becomes a widow two more men enter her life but in the end she realizes she is made for solitude.

J. A. COLLINS & SONS SAYS ADVERTISING PAYS

"Advertising really does pay, and we have been convinced of this since we opened our new furniture store at 225 East Indian River Road, Norfolk, Va.," said J. Arthur Collins, head of J. A. Collins & Son, today. "The response to our advertising is wonderful and our sales have increased so much that we have enlarged our store to take care of increasing business. We have taken over the store next door and connected with our main display room."

Commenting on the war situation, Mr. Collins stated that the war is influencing people to improve their living conditions at home. The demand for furniture and home furnishings is gratifying, and we believe that advertising has a lot to do with it. The firm has a branch store at Aurora.

FIXED PRICES NOW IN EFFECT

Retail Prices Pegged At March Levels

Washington, May 18 (AP)—The clock of rising prices was moved back to March today and halted. From now on, no retail merchant may charge more for consumer products than the highest price he charged in March. While the price control order was not expected to result in any startling reductions, economists figured that the average drop in the cost of living would be about 1-2 per cent.

As a guide to the nearly 2,000,000 American retailers affected, the Office of Price Administration has begun distributing "shopkeepers' bibles," entitled "What Every Retailer Should Know About the General Maximum Price Regulation." In telling the retailer what to do, the OPA bulletin likewise lets the customer know what to expect on the counters of the corner grocery or the big department store.

Five tests are prescribed by OPA by which the retailer may determine his maximum selling price under the universal ceiling. The first basic rule requires the retailer to take as his ceiling the highest price as which he delivered a specified article in March. The key factor is the actual delivery during March, rather than the making of a sale in that month. Delivery took place when the customer received the article or when it left the store on its way to the customer.

The second rule covers a retailer who offered an article for sale in March but made no deliveries. His ceiling will be the highest offering price—the price marked on the article itself or on the shelves or racks where it was displayed for sale.

Third, for an article neither delivered nor offered for sale in March, the ceiling is the highest price of the "similar article most nearly like it" delivered or offered for delivery during March.

Fourth, if none of the first three rules apply, the retailer must fix the price of his article "not higher than the highest March price of the most closely competitive retailer of the same or like article" or the article most nearly like it.

Fifth, if none of the four previous rules apply, the retailer must put his problems up to an OPA regional office after arriving at a possible price through use of a complicated OPA formula—which is carefully explained in the "bible."

BATTLE OVER FARM MEASURE

Bloc Seeks Prevent Sale Surplus Grain

By JACK BELL Washington, May 18.—(AP)—A squabbling farm bloc and a small but determined economy group matched strength in the Senate today in a battle over the $580,000,000 agriculture appropriations bill. The farm bloc by a basic argument over the prospective effect on the price of wheat and corn, presented a patched up front which leaders hoped would hold together long enough to bring about a compromise on sections dealing with the sale of government-controlled grain surpluses. The proposed compromise would permit the government to sell up to 725,000,000 bushels of stored wheat for feeding livestock at a price not below 33 cents a bushel, the same level at which corn would be available.

This was not entirely satisfactory, however, to senators from corn states, who talked instead of seeking to strike out all legislative restrictions on the sale of surplus grains, thus leaving the price question up to the agriculture department.

Farm bloc members from cotton-growing states were ready to help work out a compromise on this issue but the outcome was so much in doubt that Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, said the whole question probably would have to be fought out on the floor.

Five Killed. Pearisburg, Va., May 18.—(AP)—Five persons were killed or fatally injured early today when their automobile failed to round a curve on Route 100 eight miles south of Pearisburg in southwest Virginia, and struck a rock projecting by the roadside. Three of the five were killed outright and the other two died later in a Pearisburg hospital. Three were women.

"What Christ Came to Do" Sermon Subject

By WYATT BROWN "I came not to judge the world but to save the world" quoted Rev. George W. Perry from the scripture as basis for his sermon "What Christ Came to Do" yesterday morning at Jarvis Memorial Methodist church. "Will judging ones brother make adjustments? Had we not better spend that time living as we ought to live?"

The record is at the disposal of the individual and it is his place to judge himself. It is the something we need to look for today. "Does it matter if I own corner lots if I have lost spiritual connection with the Lord?" posed Mr. Perry.

Next Mr. Perry showed how sin shackles people today. He mentioned how people would do certain things for the church except for certain sins so he asked his congregation if it would not be better to break with such things. "It is better to permit ones habits to wreck ones usefulness. A broken and a contrite heart always gets a hearing from God. Do you say, 'My sins are not so detrimental to me or to the community.'"

At this point Mr. Perry gave a positive answer to the frequently heard questions of church critics today: "What is wrong with the church?" and "Why are there no great preachers today?"

"I think it takes great hearers to make a great preacher. As we think what is wrong with the church, let them see if there is something wrong in their lives.

"Move closer to Christ, stay there. Then next move closer. This business of trying to be a Christian does not work. Those who are there are there." Mr. Perry said determinedly in closing.

Low Ayers Enters Army Medical Corps

Hood River, Ore., May 18.—(AP)—Low Ayres, the war-hating Hollywood film actor who sacrificed his career, at least temporarily, for his principles, came out of a conscientious objectors' camp today to be inducted into the army. The actor, who rose to prominence as a war-embittered soldier in "All Quiet on the Western Front," said his hatred for arms-bearing was unchanged.

He was entering the army, he said, because he had been assured he would be assigned to medical duty, for which he has taken training in civilian courses.

Debt Reaches New High

Washington, May 18.—(AP)—The government debt jumped $2,785,505,341 to a new record high of $73,434,700,147 in the first half of May.

One of the largest increases in any similar period in the treasury's history, the new debt figure reflected speeded up borrowing to pay for war costs.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

WHEN FLIGHT IS FUTILE.
Sometimes we allow ourselves to entertain the curious notion that we can hide from God and duty. People who live in big cities often get into very selfish ways of living. They believe that because they are not under the peering eyes of their neighbors they can live just about the way they want to and no one will know the difference. They can evade all civic responsibilities. They can bury themselves somewhere in an apartment and be away from preachers, bill collectors, and those who solicit money for good causes.

People often flee the city and go into the country for the same reason. They want to get away from the compelling duties which arise from their close proximity to human problems. But we never, of course, get away from duty. We go to the ends of the earth, and behold as we put our key into the lock to open a new door, it suddenly opens from the inside and there stands the duty we thought we had left behind. The Psalmist declares, "If he took the wings of the morning and went to the uttermost parts of the earth, he found God. Even if he made his bed in hell, God was there."

As a matter of fact it is in the hell of their own making and amid the disgrace and trouble which their selfishness has produced that men often come face to face with Almighty God.

A drive for funds for Navy Relief will get under way in this county on Wednesday and continue through Saturday. This is your opportunity to make a contribution for the benefit of families of the fighting men in the Navy and Coast Guard. These members of our fighting forces are doing a wonderful job and it will be a source of much satisfaction to them to know that those of us back home are going to see to it that their families do not suffer while they are away.

Those who traveled the highways yesterday saw the first effects of the gasoline rationing, in the way of greatly decreased traffic, but those who seem to be in the know say that in another week or two when the supplies of gas purchased just before rationing started is exhausted, the decrease will be even more pronounced. There are many of us who might think it might be bad to have to stay home on Sunday afternoons, but this lessening of traffic on North Carolina highways might result in a lot of North Carolinians living longer.

The stories of the deteriorating morale in the Axis nations now coming to light since newsmen who have been held by our enemies have gained their freedom, should give encouragement to the United Nations, but at the same time such stories should in no way cause us to have a tendency to decrease our efforts to crush a strong enemy. ...ory, and after all that is the only way to win this war. It would be fine for Europe to blow up from the inside but to hope for an early end of the war from that cause is wishful thinking.

There are still a lot of people "yapping" about the submarine activity along our southern coasts and asking why something is not being done about it. Everything that can be done under the circumstances to protect our coastwise shipping is being done, but let us remember that the war is not going to be won or lost along our southern coasts. The important job at this time is to get men and materials to the far-flung battlefronts and that is what America is doing. As we have said before, the submarine activity along our southern coasts is just a sideshow, and a small sideshow at that, compared to the action on the real battlefronts.

Washington — "National Defense" was a byword long before Pearl Harbor but only now a bill emerges from Congress (it has passed the Senate and probably will pass the House any day) designed to give relief to some 3,000,000 small manufacturers and business firms in this country whose businesses have been turned topsy-turvy by priorities, war contracts, shipping, price controls, and the flow of labor into war industries.

The excuses for the delay have been many. The one that holds the most water is that Congress and the government would have been foolish NOT to gear big business to the war effort first. According to Rep. Wright Patman of Texas, one of the authors of the small business bill, experts informed the joint congressional committee that of the 184,000 small manufacturing plants in the country, some 45,000 could be converted to the war effort and that these non-war producing plants represent almost 50 per cent of our entire productive potentialities. If that is true, then the productive efforts of this country haven't really been tapped in spite of all the glowing accounts of progress that have come from the War Production Board and other official sources.

ferent in its final form) provides broadly for two things: (1) A small business division in WPB that will expedite contracts and subcontracts to small manufacturers and otherwise cut red tape in seeing that their productive potentialities are used, and (2) the establishment of a Smaller War Plants Corporation, with $100,000,000 to start, which would have authority to make loans for conversion and financing on war contracts.

This proposed SWPC would also have the authority to take contracts from the Army, Navy and Maritime Commission and farm them out to the small manufacturers. It also will not confine its activities wholly to arms production firms but to thousands of others who produce and distribute clothing, food and many other things for that vast civilian force that is backing up the Army in the field and in training. It sounds simple. It should give relief to hundreds of distressed communities. It has been a long time coming.

get a clear picture of the nature and magnitude of our own task in winning the victory. First of all, these stories are excellent sedatives for wishful thinkers, for they are careful to point out the folly of expecting riot and rebellion in nations where the Gestapo pistol is close to every head. Paradoxically the stories are powerful arguments for the speedy creation of a fighting front in western Europe, for they make it very plain that the dry rot of sullen apathy and hopelessness among the German and Italian people is creeping steadily into the Axis armed forces whose task it will be to combat allied invasion of the continent.

The most unmistakable point of all these accounts is this: The utter weariness of the plain German and Italian people with the war they did not want, and their overwhelming yearning for almost any kind of a peace. How little patriotic fervor is left to most of the Axis folk can be read in the dozens of instances which the American correspondents cite of the scheming to defeat the ration rules, the mushroom growth of black markets and the sinister rise of special privilege. There is a real lesson in that, incidentally, for Americans now immersed in the first complications of the ration card.

UNFAIR TO LOVE

By Watkins E. Wright

Yesterday, Kathleen Vaughan rented her barn to a summer theater outfit, and then decided that she would like to try for a part herself. So she postponed her marriage to Joe Neely—and Joe picked her house in return. They just have disagreed violently because Fred DeMille, of the summer theater, has got the date Joe wanted for the Country Club dance in honor of the actors.

Chapter Five
New Idea For Joe
Kathleen went with him to the porch. Joe reached down for the sign. It wasn't there. "All right," he said sternly, "where is it?" "Where's what?" said Kathleen. "My sign. The placard I was picking it with."

"Isn't it there?" "You know darn well it's not there." "I didn't take it." "No? Then who did?" "Lizzie." "Lizzie?" Joe exclaimed. "Oh, I get it! That's what you wanted to speak to her about, when she called you to the telephone." "Goodness me, Joe—how clever of you!" "What did she do with it?" "Burned it."

"Well, I'll be—"

"And here's something else you can remember," said Joe, giving Kathleen an angry look. "There are other ways of making you sorry—"

"Really?" "You're darned tootin' there are," said Joe. He was thoughtful for a second. "And, by gosh, I've just thought of one!" He ran down the steps.

Fred Calls
"Like it?" Kathleen asked. "It's a knockout, honey! Darned if you don't look like you'd stepped straight from the pages of 'Gone With the Wind!'"

Kathleen eyed her uncle with interest. "You look pretty swell yourself. I'll bet you're the only white dinner jacket at the club."

"I hope not," said Uncle Frank. "I hate being conspicuous." "Go long with you!" Kathleen laughed. "In spite of all the mean things you say about actresses, I'll bet dollars to beaten biscuits you start shining up to Ruby Howard."

"And I resemble one of the characters in it?" said Kathleen, standing very close to Fred, and gazing up into his face. "You do," said Fred. "But don't stand there looking up at me like that."

"Why?" "I shan't be responsible for what I do."

"Fred DeMille! You're terrible!" "There's nothing terrible about wanting to kiss a girl who looks as adorable as you do."

"What's the matter?" "Just thinking," he said. "What about?"

"Us—you and me." Another sigh. "If I were only 25 instead of 45, I might—oh, the devil! Come on, child. Let's go dance."

Kathleen stole a glance now and then at the man beside her, admiring the lines in his face, which she told herself were indications that Fred DeMille had lived and suffered. The touches of gray at his temples intrigued her. Dear, kind Fred DeMille!

But now she began to have a sinking sensation in the pit of her stomach. She even looked around to see if Joe had prepared another placard and was picketing the club. There was no sign of him however. Nor did she see him when she and Fred entered the lounge.

Paul Kennel saw them and came forward. "Hello there!" he greeted. He gave Kathleen one of his best smiles. "I thought Fred had found Paulette Goddard."

"You mean Vivien Leigh," said Fred. "Oh, you men!" Kathleen laughed. "What are you trying to do—my head?" "In my direction, yes," said Paul. Fred drew Kathleen's hand under his arm. "They're playing a waits," he said. "That's where I shine."

Trondheim). The high command reported these British plane losses: Malta—Five British planes shot down. Channel coast—Five. Attack on Prinz Eugen—Seven fighters; 22 bombers.

Heligoland Light—Three bombers. Western Baltic—Five bombers. This totals only 47 planes, but the high command officially claimed 52 lost by the RAF in attacks against German naval forces and against occupied territories as well as when approaching the German coast.

Light German bombers were reported to have effectively raided the harbor district of Folkestone and Hastings on the British south coast.

Russians Closing . . .

Pravda said it reported that 18 tanks were destroyed in the first clash and 43 in the others, and said that where wedges were driven into the Russian lines they were smashed by intense anti-tank fire.

Reporting attempts to land troops from the air in back of the Russian line, Pravda said that swarms of 120, 50, and 30 parachutists had been dropped in recent operations but that two of these groups were wiped out by a man before even reaching the ground.

A special communique, triumphantly announcing these Soviet successes during the period May 12 to 18, declared that the army organ Red Star asserted German resistance had been definitely broken in one sector.

The special announcement did not mention the situation on the Crimean front, but the regular communique issued last midnight by the Soviet information bureau declared fighting still was raging near the city of Kerch, which the Germans said Saturday they had captured.

(The Berlin radio reported last night that 68,000 Russians and huge quantities of supplies had been captured at Kerch and said the battle there could be considered at an end. Earlier yesterday the German high command said remnants of the Russian forces were squeezed together in a narrow area southwest of the city and were being pounded by Nazi planes.)

In detailing the results of the fighting before Kharkov, the Russians asserted they had recaptured more than 300 populated places and approximately 1,500 German soldiers had been taken prisoner. "We destroyed 400 German tanks, 210 guns, 33 mortars, 217 machine-guns, about 700 trucks, more than 100 supply cars, 12 dumps of various kinds and 147 planes, the information bureau declared.

Among captured equipment the Russians listed 365 guns, 25 tanks, 183 heavy trucks, 23.84 mines, 13,000 hand grenades, and vast amounts of ammunition. All these figures, it was explained, covered only the first five days of the offensive, which began last Tuesday, and the information bureau indicated that still greater successes could be expected.

Red Star painted a picture of a disoriented German retreat, with Russian tanks and cavalry pouring through a great breach in the enemy lines. It failed to specify the sector where it said German resistance had been smashed, but other Russian reports said a Red force flanking Kharkov was approaching Krasnograd, 60 miles to the southwest, after a pulverizing bombardment of the Nazi line.

Rigney Wins His Last Game Before Joining The Navy

SOX TAKE TWO OFF SENATORS

Dodgers Increase Their Lead In The National

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
Johnny Rigney, ace of the Chicago White Sox mound staff, will do his future pitching for Uncle Sam, but before he decided to don the navy blue he had to win one for the boss.

The Boss is Mrs. Johnny Rigney, the former Dorothy Comiskey, treasurer of the White Sox. And Johnny's present to her in his last major league appearance for the duration of the war was a three-hit pitching job against the Washington Senators in the second game of yesterday's doubleheader.

After winning the first game, 7-1, behind the six-hit hurling of Ted Lyons, the White Sox rallied to overcome a three-run deficit and pull the nightcap out of the fire for Rigney, 4-3.

The double victory didn't get the White Sox out of the American league cellar, but it stretched their winning streak to six straight games.

Bobby Estalella drove in all of Washington's runs, with a homer in the first game and a second-inning double in the afterpiece which emptied the bases that had been loaded on a pair of passes and a single.

But Don Kolloway came to Rigney's rescue in the second game, batting in three runs with as many doubles and scoring the winning marker on a two-bagger by Sam West.

The New York Yankees saved their lead in the American league by gaining an even break with the St. Louis Browns, but the second-place Cleveland Indians sliced the margin to half a game by bumping the Philadelphia Athletics twice.

At St. Louis, a three-run homer by Cheat Laabs featured a four-run assault on Charley Ruffing in the first inning of the opening game and the Browns coasted to a 4-2 decision as Eldon Auker limited the world champions to seven hits.

Atley Donald pitched five-hit ball for the Yankees in the second game and Frank Crosetti's 3-2 brought in the run that won it, 3-2, scoring Joe Gordon who had three hits in four times at bat.

Jim Bagby and Al Milnar turned in a pair of sparkling four-hit performances for the Cleveland Indians, who downed the Athletics, 4-1 and 9-3. Bagby didn't walk a man in the first game and registered his sixth victory against one defeat. Milnar helped his own cause in the second game with a triple and a double.

Jimmy Bloodworth's tenth-inning home run gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox in a single game at Detroit.

In the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers hiked their lead from five games to six and a half, sweeping a twin bill with the Chicago Cubs as the Boston Braves lost to the Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates split a pair with the Philadelphia Phils.

Kirby Higbe pitched four-hit ball in the opening game and Les Webber made his initial major league start a winning one with a seven-hit job in the nightcap, although he had to be rescued when he grew wild in the ninth. It was the sixth straight triumph for the Dodgers.

Bucky Walters stole Jim Tobin's thunder at Boston, pitching the Cincinnati Reds to a 9-3 victory over the Braves. Walters yielded only seven blows and blasted a two-run homer off Tobin, who hit three home runs in a row against Chicago last Wednesday. Weather cut the scheduled doubleheader to a single game.

The Philadelphia Phils kept the Pittsburgh Pirates two percentage points behind in the second-place game by winning the second game, 5-4, after the Pirates had grabbed the first game, 7-2.

Singles by Danny Litwhiler, Ernie Koy and Bobby Bragan produced the nightcap's deciding run. Vince DiMaggio led the Pirate attack in the first game with two home runs.

The New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals divided their double bill to remain deadlocked in fourth place. Carl Hubbell scattered eight hits for a 7-1 decision in the opener, his first triumph of the year, but the cards came from behind to take the afterpiece, 8-6.

The National League captured attendance honors for the day, playing to 122,297 of the afternoon's total of 182,780 paying customers. New York's Polo Grounds drew the largest crowd, 49,745 turning out to see the Giants and Cards.

Colts And Hornets In Second Place Tie

Charlotte, May 18 (AP)—Charlotte and Richmond, by virtue of a couple of Sunday victories apiece, fought today for second place in the Piedmont, although still a good way behind the league-leading Greensboro Red Sox.

The Colts won the first game when Swampy Norwood, centerfielder, hit a homer in the sixth with one on. In the nightcap, Wilkins limited the Twins to four hits, while Richmond got nine bingles off Hogue. The scores were 4-2 and 4-0.

Manager Harry Smythe and Joe Cleary accounted for both Charlotte wins. Smythe, taking his third victory in four starts, set back the Cubs, 5-2, in the opener and Cleary hurled a three-hit, 2-0 shutout in the seven-inning finale. Smythe did not walk a man although the Hornets were outhit. The Cubs got 4 hits in the fourth for their two runs.

In the second, the Hornets scored both runs in the first inning. Norfolk defeated Asheville, 2-0, behind the masterful hurling of Harry Grubb, who gave up six hits. The Tourists filled the bases in the ninth but were unable to muster the necessary punch to bring them home.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, May 18.—We don't know much about the pitching record of Corp. Tito Torcoletti of Gunter Field, Ala., but from the report forwarded by Lieut. Elmer Salter, we'll bet Tito is a good soldier.... Seems he decided to pitch right handed but decided he wasn't getting enough work that way, so he learned to pitch from the wrong side, too.... Down at Gunter Field, he works in the outfield on his days off from pitching and is a leading heavy-weight boxer.... Torcoletti's only complaint about this program is that he has to wear toe plates on both shoes and the shoes take a terrific beating.... Here's the last word on that Angott-Stolz scrap in the Garden Friday, as delivered by Tony Galento: "That Angott is a worse fighter than I was."

Today's Guest Star
Dennis Brown, Mount Clemens, (Mich.) Monitor-Leader: "A hot rivalry is developing between Chicago and Philadelphia.... Chicago has had twin-billing in the dungeon at the season's end, and though both Cubs and Sox are trying like mad this year, they are getting a tough battle from the main line city, striving for its seventh double-feature in the cellar."

Monday Matinee
Some guys get all the breaks—here's Howie Odell just taking over the coaching job at poor old Yale when word comes that Bernie Bierman, Jr., about the best prep back in Minnesota last fall, and Emery Larson, Jr., a crack fullback at Lawrenceville, will be in the next freshman class.... Ab Jenkins, Salt Lake City's racing mayor, wants to make a run (not political) on the Bonneville salt flats for charity. He says don't worry about the rubber because those small tires on his racing car wouldn't make a handful of rubber bands if reconverted.... In case you're wondering what those Dodgers are doing to the National League, nine of the last ten pitchers to start against them have been belted out.

Father's Day
When Bobby Bragan of the Phils was receiving congratulations on becoming a pappy the other day, various teammates mentioned that they, too, expected to be handing out the cigars soon.... After hearing eight of the boys announce future blessed events, Manager Hans Lohrner snorted: "I thought the stork club was a night spot in New York, but here I find out it's a ball club and I'm managing it."

Service Dept.

After the Armistice ended the last world fracas, Second Lieutenant George J. Stanford of the 325th Infantry was selected to tour France with an army baseball team. Before he got home, he heard Nutley, N. J. high school needed an athletic director and applied for the job.... A couple of days ago Stanford resigned his post at Nutley to go back into the army as a first lieutenant.... Looks as if some of those "break up the Yankees" guys had taken charge at the Norfolk naval training station. Right after Bob Feller was transferred to Newport, R. I., Sam Chapman, No. 2 star on that swell ball team, was notified that he had been commissioned in the V-5 aviation physical training outfit.... And Lieut. Charlie Devens, the old Harvard and Yankees pitcher, is at the nearby naval air station.... Lin Howard, Bing Crosby's partner in that racing stable that has been the subject of so many gags, is a captain in a new ordnance regiment recruited from the automobile industry.

Last Laugh
Out in Pittsburgh the fans tell one about the time Rip Sewell was tossing up a few for his young son, Jimmy, to hit. The kid wasn't doing so well and Lee Handley cracked: "There's a pitcher for you. He won't even give his own son a good one to hit."

GERMANS FEAR A NEW FRONT

French Are Reported Strengthening Dakar

London, May 18—(AP)—Adolf Hitler has sent 50,000 combat troops to Norway since March despite the demands of the Russian front and has persuaded Vichy to send almost half a million tons of goods—largely war materials—as well as troops to Dakar. French West Africa, British sources declared today.

They said signs that the Nazis feared an allied thrust into northern Norway were evident also from a German army order that traffic on all roads leading north from the port of Narvik to Tromsø be limited to military transport, and from the dispatch of several Austrian mountain regiments to the area between Narvik and Kirkenes.

More than 100 cargo ships have left the port, many of them closely supervised by the French-German commission, since January, reports said. It was reported that this shipping showed a great increase during March and April, and a breakdown of the cargo lists revealed the major proportion was devoted to war materials, particularly airplanes, trucks and tanks.

However, the common and medium grades are up from $4 to $8. The crop is not as good, but it looks as if the average will be at least within $2 of last year's which was around $32. Our sale yesterday averaged $32, and was the highest of the season.
