

Reverse Is Suffered By The Chinese

Japs Continue Drive Into Coastal Province; Chekiang Capital Almost Surrounded; RAF Warplanes Bomb Bases And Shipping; Allied Airmen Active North Of Australia

China's grim battle to stave off Japanese conquest of Chekiang province on the China east coast, springboard for a potential Allied offensive against Japan, suffered new reverses today while far to the west the last British defenders of Burma were reported to have withdrawn into India.

Chinese headquarters acknowledged that Japanese troops, estimated at 100,000, had advanced within two miles of the ancient walled city of Kinwa, the Chekiang provincial capital.

Chinese dispatches said the Japanese assault on Kinwa had been thrown back with heavy casualties but acknowledged that "the situation is still very grave and the coming week will witness even fiercer battles."

Official Chungking dispatches said that the Japanese had lost 3,000 men in vain attempts to storm Kin Wa from three sides and that Chinese troops had routed a Japanese force which captured Wull-pao, two miles south of Kinwa.

For the moment at least, the Chinese appeared to be holding fast despite handicaps.

Once again, a Chinese spokesman indicated that Japanese aerial superiority was playing havoc with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies, declaring that "the enemy is continually bombing us in rear lines."

Domei, the Japanese news agency, said Japanese troops had broken through Chinese pillbox defenses about a mile north and northwest of Kinwa and were now at the outskirts of the city.

Domei asserted that all retreat had been cut off, that remnants of three Chinese divisions had been crushed east of Kinwa, and that other Chinese troops attempting to flee were destroyed six miles south of the city.

The news agency said all bridges, roads and the railroad west of Kinwa had been destroyed by the Chinese.

Chinese dispatches said the enemy was preparing another campaign, perhaps even bigger in scope, in a Jukien province which borders Chekiang to the south.

Japanese troop transports and warships were reported massing at the Japanese island of Formosa across the Formosa strait from the Fukien coast.

British bombers hitting at the Japanese forces in northwestern Burma attacked steamers, launches and barges in three river areas yesterday.

The RAF command said Blenheim bombers operating in the Chindwin river area damaged steamers and launches with a machine-gun attack.

Other Blenheims, the RAF added, concentrated on barges and a large river steamer in the Kalewa area of the Chindwin south of Mawlaik.

To the west, nearer the Indian front, Hudson bombers were reported to have made a successful low-level attack on river craft on the Mayu river, which empties into the Bay of Bengal just above the Japanese held port of Akyab.

All planes returned safely, the RAF declared.

Pennsylvania Flood Leaves Trail Of Wreckage

Subsiding flood water in Honesdale, Pa., a mountain resort town, left the wreckage of homes on the banks of the Lackawaxen river. At least 13 persons perished here. The total death toll for the entire eastern Pennsylvania flood area was at least 33. Scores were still missing. The Red Cross is feeding 3,000 homeless persons at Honesdale.

OPPOSITION TO LOW DRAFT AGE

Senators Oppose Drafting 18 To 19 Year Olds

By JACK BELL
Washington, May 26—(AP)—Strong bi-partisan opposition developed today against any move in congress to draft men in the 18-19 year age classes for military service.

Senator Hill of Alabama, the Democratic whip, declared he would oppose any change of this nature in the selective service act—a change which the army was reported preparing to request.

At the same time, Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, predicted that any such proposal would be certain to draft 19 year olds but subsequently compromised with the House on 20 years, the present minimum.

Hill said that unless the war department presented some "strong and compelling reasons" why younger men should be brought into the selective service act—a change which the army was reported preparing to request.

Trains Off

Passenger service over the Atlantic Coast Line railroad was discontinued in this immediate section today. The last passenger train to operate through this county over the road made the trip from Kinston to Rocky Mount this morning with no return trip scheduled.

Today's discontinuance brings to an end a controversy that has continued for several years between citizens of this section and the railroad company over proposed discontinuance of the service.

Too Bad

Maleigh, May 26—(AP)—This will be a bitter pill for the politicians to take.

City W. Lewis, deputy administrator of the state office of price administration, announced today that vehicles traveling on rationed tires, or those with "X" gasoline cards, are prohibited from carrying voters to the polls in the primary elections Saturday.

Local boards may rule on whether "B" card holders may do voter-toting service.

VOTING PLACES CLOSE SOONER

County Chairman Says Polls to Close At 6:30 P.M.

County Elections Chairman J. H. Harrell today called attention to three matters pertaining to next Saturday's primary, including ticket markers, earlier opening and closing hours of the polls and the right of witnesses at the counting of the ballots.

Chairman Harrell stated that he had just received a telegram from State Chairman W. A. Lucas in which the state official insisted that county chairmen see to it that provisions regarding markers were carried out in the strictest sense.

Mr. Harrell said that under no circumstances were markers permitted except to aid persons who were physically unable to read or mark their ballots or for persons who because of illiteracy and who voted under the grandfather clause, needed help to mark their ballots. He stated that in cases of need the voter could request the help of a member of his family or some other person or if the voter had no relative with him and no preference as to markers, the election officials could designate some interested person to aid the voter. Under no circumstances, however, could the same person be designated or act as marker but once at the polling place during the time of voting.

Regarding the changed time of voting, Mr. Harrell called attention to the fact that all polling places would be open at 6:30 a. m. (standard war time) and close at 6:30 p. m. (standard war time). In view of this earlier time the chairman urged voters not to be late in reaching the polls.

Any friend or representative of any candidate is entitled to remain in the room and watch the count of the ballots according to the state elections laws and Chairman Harrell urged election officials to permit various polling places to do so. This is a matter on which there has been some misunderstanding in the past and in some instances the election officials, not wanting to be hampered in their work of counting the ballots, have locked themselves in a room to do the counting. Mr. Harrell stated that such action had

Comparison of the various reports brought out the outlines of a situation in which Germany and Italy each was using the needs of the other to seek her own ends, with the Vichy French government in the middle, forlornly trying to play off one master against the other.

The Germans were portrayed as using the Italian territorial demands as a threat to force Vichy to give up the French fleet peacefully.

The Italians were described as seeking to bolster their home front's morale by taking a slice of French territory and at the same time using this maneuver as a pretext to keep at home 300,000 Italian soldiers that the Germans would like to have sent to the Russian front.

Pierre Laval, the Vichy chief of government and the man on the spot from all angles, was reported by diplomatic observers to have offered to negotiate the Italian demands, with a disarming offer to discuss Tunisia. Washington, May 26 (AP)—The Senate Military Committee today approved a soldiers' allotment and allowance bill authorizing the selective service system and local boards to classify men with wives and children into categories to determine the order of calling them for army duty.

The bill, different from one already approved by the House Military committee and waiting passage of the new army pay bill, is taken up today by the Senate. It provides for deduction of $22 monthly from the enlisted man's pay with the government matching this with a $28 contribution to provide his wife with $50 for living expenses. The government would pay $12 a month toward support of one child and $10 monthly for each additional child.

The committee also approved a provision making it risk insurance compulsory so that all men in the armed services would be required to have $10,000 of government insurance.

Break Through German Fortifications Before Kharkov; Violent Nazi Tank Attack Pushes Russians Back In Izyum-Barvenkova Sector; Red Fliers Sink German Ships

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Moscow, May 26—(AP)

The Red army fought its way forward again from newly established positions on the Kharkov front today, proceeding in a series of lunges through the German fortifications, and appeared to be firmly holding the initiative elsewhere as the Ukrainian offensive entered its third week.

About the Izyum-Barvenkova sector to the south, Marshal Timoshenko's forces were reported to have beaten back a violent German assault led by 150 tanks.

"Repulsing attacks of German Panzer troops in the Izyum-Barvenkova direction, our troops are inflicting heavy losses on enemy tank units," the Soviet Information Bureau announced.

The bureau also reported the consolidation of positions of Marshal Timoshenko's divisions in the Kharkov area, this following indications that they were again moving forward in the offensive launched 14 days ago.

The army newspaper Red Star declared that a German line of pillboxes and trenches before Kharkov had been broken by Soviet infantry and artillery attacks and that the invaders were attempting to fortify a series of natural defensive positions to check the onslaught.

The news also held several reports in the Kharkov sector and were hammering enemy mechanized forces, the dispatches said.

Russian cavalrymen, whose squadrons moved up with tanks in the initial attacks, were reported to have dispersed two battalions of German infantry, killing 300 of the enemy.

Hand grenades and bayonets were used by the Russians in close-quarter fighting to crack the Kharkov line, Red Star said. A single group was reported to have taken three pill-boxes and captured 11 German survivors.

The Germans continued to shift tanks and motorized infantry at various points about Kharkov to bolster resistance, but were declared to be suffering steady losses in men and machines. Ten tanks were destroyed at one point in a three-day engagement.

No estimate of the total number of German machines demolished was available here beyond the announcement of May 17 that 400 tanks were wrecked in the first five days of the offensive. At the same rate, the total would now be near 1,200.

Aside from the vital action in the south, only the Kalinin front drew mention in the mid-day communique. More than 300 Germans were reported killed there in the repulse of a Nazi attack.

A large scale battle of mounting ferocity was indicated in the Izyum-Barvenkova area, roughly 80 miles south of Kharkov, German-held key to a wide area of the eastern Ukraine.

Dispatches said large formations of German planes and heavy artillery bolstered armored units and infantry in repeated attempts to break (Continued on Page Six)

Expect Showdown Soon On Nazi Strength In Argentina

ORTIZ RETURN TO PRESIDENCY TO BRING TEST

Friends Believe Ortiz Would Break With The Axis

By JOHN LEAR
Washington, May 26 (Wide World)—The first big test of the Nazis ability to cripple the war effort of the United States by fomenting revolt in South America may be taking shape in Argentina.

A political crisis is on the horizon centering on the eyes of the president—who is not president of that country.

This is the story:
Dr. Ramon Castillo, New York eye specialist, has gone to Buenos Aires to see what treatment is necessary for the eyes of the titular Chief of the Argentine Republic, Roberto Ortiz.

The eyes of Roberto Ortiz were the reason for his retirement from the presidency about two years ago.

In Ortiz' absence, the duties of the president have been exercised by Vice-President Ramon Castillo, whose administration adopted a policy of "neutrality toward all" in the war and was responsible for preventing the Axis powers at the American Foreign Ministers conference in Rio De Janeiro.

If Ortiz' ailment could be cured, there would be no legal reason why he should not return to the presidency.

And if Ortiz should return to the presidency, his friends have indicated he would comply with the popular demand within his country to break Argentina away from all connection with the Axis.

It is a political axiom in Buenos Aires, however, that in spite of his health Ortiz would not have quit the presidency even temporarily had he had the support of the army.

The converse is considered equally true: that he cannot return to the presidency without the support of the army.

At the time Ortiz retired from official life, former President Augustin Justo, a general with a large political following in the army, was against him. Justo previously had helped Ortiz become president, but they split on domestic issues.

Today Justo, who wants to be president again, approve more of Ortiz' pro-Americanism than the does of Castillo's neutrality.

That leaves one crucial unknown factor:
How much of the historic German influence, flowing from German training and German-made weapons, is left in the Argentine army?

Some say this influence is strong. A few identify it as the real reason for Castillo's refusal to line up with the United States. Others aver that Nazi power is more propaganda than actuality.

Whatever the truth may be, Hitler can be depended on to use the influence to its fullest extent to prevent Argentina from joining the world-wide front against his "new order."

If the chances look strong enough the Nazis will not hesitate to use violence. Observers fear they might use Ortiz' return to power as excuse for such an outbreak.

Castillo may have nothing at all to do with this. His friends say he will not oppose Ortiz' return to power. There are even indications in some quarters that he'd be pleased to get out of a situation in which the Germans had taken advantage of his efforts to walk the middle of the diplomatic road. But, if the army would otherwise, Castillo could do little to stop violence once it had broken out.

Although Castillo has said his neutral policy was for Argentina's change the addresses of officers of this underground machine are everywhere. Nazi groups have been outlawed by legislation, only to crop up again in new forms.

The Argentine congressional investigation of the Nazis while I was there last year revealed that in their anxiety to keep organization intact, the Nazis didn't even bother to phone stopped two newspapermen gentry societies when the law cracked down.

The probe also showed that the outlaw units prospered by black-mailing German-born persons in paying regular amounts from weekly paychecks into the Nazi funds.

The Nazis have done their best to make it appear that Castillo is their friend.

Officially, there has been no indication that the New York doctor's visit to Buenos Aires has anything to do with politics. But the way politicians have been flocking to the Ortiz home since the news leaked out indicates what knowing Argentines think.

In Washington, the expectancy of political change in Argentina was evidenced last week by an incident in the corridors of the State Department building. A famous Argentine stopped two newspapermen and asked them if anyone had queried Secretary of State Hull about Britain's request that an Argentine merchant ship be used to exchange British and Japanese war prisoners.

"Why," he said, "England seems to be putting the stamp of neutrality on Argentina. Surely the United States will not approve of that at a time when Argentine neutrality is a political matter subject to change."

The possibility of Ortiz' return to the presidency was suggested when the Argentine congressional delegation which visited Washington last fall brought a personal message from Ortiz to President Roosevelt. Ortiz' son later visited the White House.

If Ortiz attempts a comeback, the world may expect to see how strong the Nazis stand. It will not be a pushover. Justo is against Hitler. So are some of the best brains of the Argentine army, who have seen the arms plants and the armies of the United States since Ortiz retired.

If signs of Ortiz' intentions in international affairs are being read aright, his return to office probably would be the Nazi's last real chance to call a showdown in South America short of armed invasion.

Chapter 12
Joe Showed Up
Kathleen came down to breakfast on Monday morning wearing white shark-skin slacks, and a bright yellow sweater. Her hair was combed back from her forehead, and tied with a yellow and green ribbon. She looked like a little girl, her uncle thought, as he glanced up from his paper and saw her.

"No stockings?" he questioned, eyeing feet encased in sandals.
"Stockings aren't being worn this year only on special occasions," said Kathleen. She sat down at the table. "Are you going to use your roadster this morning, Uncle Frank?"

"I was," her uncle replied. "But I can walk, since I'm only going to the office. Why?"
"Nothing much. Only I thought I'd drive it out to the barn. It's pretty far to walk in these things I've got on."

"I presume you got the idea for the get-up from the actresses—since they are all wearing pants."
"Slacks—not pants."
"Overalls, as a matter of fact," said Uncle Frank. "I saw one of the girls wearing 'em last week. She was on a ladder painting. Darned funny occupation for an actress, seems to me."

"They all work like that in summer theaters," Kathleen explained. "They pitch in and paint scenery, sell tickets, and even sweep out the theater. I think it's a grand idea."
"Probably. But I'll bet the same actresses wouldn't think of taking the broom to their own apartments."

"Still sore at actresses, I see," said Kathleen dryly. And then: "Do I get the roadster?"
"Yes, my darling, you get the roadster."

"Thanks. You're a darling yourself—at times."
"When I can be used," said Mr. Frank. He took a long swallow of coffee. "Speaking of being used, how goes it with the director and the actor?"

"Not so good, I'm afraid. I've wasted a whole week."
"How's that?"
"Giving Fred so much of my time, when Paul's the one I should have been trying to impress." Kathleen smiled brightly. "But I start afresh this week—with a heart-to-heart talk with Paul this very morning."

"Sorry, honey?"
"You're a determined young female," Uncle Frank said. "No use trying to discourage you."
"No, that isn't," said Kathleen. "So don't start telling me again about that selfish blonde actress in New York. We don't all have to be like her." She frowned. "Besides, I've as much right to use the theatrical people as Joe. I notice you always encourage him."

"Naturally," said Uncle Frank with exasperating calm. "Joe's got talent for writing. He shows it in that column he does about Linville county folks. I'd like to see someone get interested in his play."
"How sweet of you!" said Kathleen. "But you don't have to worry about Joe. He can manage. He was on a picnic yesterday with Ruby Howard."

"What of it? You were out furniture hunting with Fred DeMille."
"On the devil!" Kathleen flared. "There's no need trying to talk to you."
"Sorry, honey," Uncle Frank looked at his watch. "It's time for me to get along. The real estate business is about as active as an over-fed kitten, but I have to be at the office, just in case. See you at lunch."

"Don't be too sure," Kathleen told him. "I may stay out at the barn, and lunch with the actors. But I'll have Lizzie prepare something extra nice for you, since you'll be lunching alone."
"And don't you be too sure I'll be lunching alone," ncle Frank came right back. "Maybe I'll bring Miss Howard out to keep me company."
"All right, do that," Kathleen said eagerly. "She has a say-so about who plays with the company, so be nice to her. It will help."

"Help who?"
"Still the selfish little wench!"
"You'll have to work fast—or Joe will beat you to it."
"Oh, well, he's a worthy rival," said Uncle Frank. "And I wish him luck." He watched Kathleen's expression. "Having an actress for an inspiration—and maybe for a wife—ought to help a playwright. Help him to go places, you know."
"Humph!" said Kathleen.

Uncle Frank let the matter rest right there, and hurried off.
No Luck
Not long after his departure Kathleen was driving his roadster out toward Ye Old Barn Drama House. But she didn't have her heart-to-heart talk with Paul.

"Hello, loveliness!" he greeted. "Get that with you now. We've got to rehearse after all. One of the company's got a bum ankle, and another's got to take over."
"An actress?" said Kathleen.
"No, one of the men."
"Oh! That's too bad. If it was only one of the actresses, I might Someone called Paul before she could finish. She said "Damn" under her breath, and turned away. She was looking up at the old weathervane her great-grandfather Vaughan had put on top of the barn, when Joe Neely drove up.

"What brought you out so early?" he asked.
"I like the early morning," returned Kathleen.
"Joe grinned. "Honey, you lie terribly," he said.
"Isn't it pretty early for you?" Kathleen said.
"Sure it is," said Joe cheerfully. "But I wanted to gather the items for my column. I want to get it all written, so I can give more time to the play."

"So you're working on that again!"
"You bet I am!" said Joe. "Ruby wants to have me read the new version to her as soon as possible."
"So you're calling her Ruby?"
"At her request, yes."
"What happened to Daisy Doran? I thought she was the one you were interested in."
"Daisy okay . . . but Ruby's the one who can do things for me." Joe looked Kathleen straight in the eye. "I'm taking a page from your book."
"What's gathering news for your column got to do with you being here at the barn theater?" Kathleen wanted to know, ignoring Joe's remark.

"I came by to get a program of this week's play," Joe replied. "I need it in writing my review." He stepped closer. "Listen, Kathleen," he said softly, "why not come with me while I'm gathering news? We can have a ride, and stop off somewhere for eats."
Kathleen thought a moment. It would be nice riding out in the country with Joe.

"All right, Joe," she said. "I'll go." "Swell!" said Joe. "I'll run in and get the program, and be right with you."
It was when they were driving through a shady, lonely lane on their way to call on a farmer's family that Joe brought the car to a standstill.

"What's the matter?" Kathleen asked. "Why are you stopping?"
"For this!" said Joe. He took Kathleen in his arms. "And for this!" He kissed her.

URGES PEOPLE TO Support Blount
J. S. Moore, extensive farmer of Pitt county, teacher and former representative for Pitt county, spoke last night endorsing the candidacy of Marvin K. Blount for Congress.

Pointing to Marvin Blount's record as a farmer and a public official, the speaker urged the people of the First District to stand behind the man whose interests were identical with theirs. Declaring that the present congressman claim to be a farmer, Mr. Moore said that Bonner had no claim to the office; that "it is always 'the middle of the stream' with any office-holder who wishes to continue in office."

For a Man with a job to do!

The transportation of war workers and fighting men is a vital job. It is one which strains our facilities. These workers, these service men, have a job to do—the winning of this war. Their fast and comfortable transportation is imperative. You, whose job will permit, can help move them swiftly and comfortably to their appointed tasks by giving them your seat on week-ends and doing your traveling during the middle of the week for the duration.

You will find travel during the middle of the week less crowded and schedules faster. Make your next trip on Tuesday or Wednesday.

To Serve Car Owners Is To Serve the Country

Servicing motor cars means more to us today than ever before. We have always taken pride in our workmanship—always been happy to know that our customers were pleased. Now, in addition, we know that by faithfully serving our customers we are contributing our bit toward conserving our country's reserves of vital materials. We inspect every car to make sure that it is not operating wastefully. You can help, too—by letting us make your car right.

Washington — If the WAAC ever adopts a patron saint, it should be Deborah Sampson. Why? Because aside from the Army nurses, who are "in the Army" as a matter of convenient book-keeping, discipline and personnel, the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps brings women into the Army for the first time in history of the nation.

Of course, Deborah stole a march on her 20th century sisters by subterfuge. Instead of telling her recruiting officer in Massachusetts that she was just plain Deborah Sampson, she told him she was Robert Shurtleff.

Buddy Haskett Comes Through For New York Yankees

FIGURED IN ALL SCORING MONDAY GAME

Two Games Yesterday For Army-Navy Relief Funds

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
There probably are some people with memories long enough to remember back to the time this spring when the New York Yankees had a first base problem.

In fact the world champions have had a first base problem ever since Lou Gehrig stepped out of the lineup in 1939, but John Aloysius (Buddy) Hasset provided a reasonably good solution in recent weeks.

When the good-looking Irishman replaced Ed Levy at first at the end of April he hit a homer in his first game and compiled a modest eight-game batting streak. Now he is loose on another string of five games and yesterday he provided for all New York's runs in a 3-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

He singled two tallies across in the third and tripled in the sixth to romp home on a fly by Tom Henrich. Snud Chandler pitched seven-hit ball, stifling the Sox after the first inning.

This was New York's 14th triumph in 17 games and increased its American league lead to 3 1/2 games as the Cleveland Indians dropped a 5-1 decision to the Chicago White Sox. Bill Dietrich pitched six-hit ball to outlast Chubby Dean on the mound.

The game was played at Cleveland for the benefit of army and navy relief funds and netted $9,390.86 from 7,959 fans.

Another game for the same charities, was played at twilight in St. Louis and raised $8,500 from 8,496 fans as the Browns beat the Detroit Tigers 3-2. Bob Muncrief and George Caster held the Bengals to six hits, but two of these were homers by Jimmy Bloodworth and Pinky Higgins in the first two innings. As a result the teams came up to the ninth in a deadlock, but Hal Newhouse threw the ball into left field trying to head off Roy Cullenbine at third in the final frame and with it threw away the game.

Curt Davis pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to their second straight shutout with a two-hit show that stopped the Philadelphia Phils 3-0. It was Davis' sixth victory opposite one defeat and his second shutout in three games. In 2 1/2 innings he now has allowed one run.

The Boston Braves held determinedly to second place in the National league by nosing out the New York Giants 3-1 on Max West's two-run homer in the 11th inning. The St. Louis Cardinals shelled five Chicago pitchers for 13 hits to overpower the cubs 10-2 while Egan White kept eight hits scattered.

In a pair of night games, Cincinnati sent Pittsburgh skidding into the second division of the National league for the first time this season and the Washington Senators downed the Philadelphia Athletics 5 to 3.

The Reds' 6 to 1 verdict was the first of the year for his Paul Deringer, who also rapped out two hits in two official trips to the plate. The contest attracted 16,205 spectators to Crosley's field first after dark contest of the season.

Sid Hudson mastered Phil Marchildon in the Quaker City lantern affair although an error and a passed ball aided in producing a three-run Senator splurge in the eighth.

A year ago Mike Chartak advanced to the Yanks as an outfielder. The Yanks sent him to Kansas City to polish up as a first baseman. This year he's back with New York—an outfielder.

Lowell Mason was the father of American church music and the first public school music teacher.

Winston - Salem Wins Five In Row

Charlotte, May 26 (AP)—Winston-Salem's Twins, the earnest of the kicked-around clubs in the Piedmont league, annexed their fifth straight victory last night by whipping Norfolk, 4-0.

Teddy Gray, southpaw ace limited the Tars to five safeties while the Twins peppered Reschl for 7 hits. Vic's effort clout with Mat-the-won and McHale's homer over the right-field fence provided the victory punch. Murray and Unser doubled to bring in the other marks.

Manager Harry Smith, the old master, set down Durham with five bingles and helped with the stick to lead Charlotte to a 4-2 win over Durham. Smith removed himself from the mound in the eighth after the Bulls showed signs of connecting with his efforts. He was replaced by Willard Eckenroth, up from the Florida east coast league.

On home territory, Richmond turned back Asheville 8-3, after the Colts' Louie Olmo got a pair of homers and drove in four runs. The victory snapped a four-game losing streak for the Mustangs.

Portsmouth humbled the Jam leadership Greenboro 2-0, 2-2 in an 11-inning affair. Gordon Crowell's single drove home the clinching run after the Sox had tied the count at 2-2 in the ninth.

DODGERS HAND RELEASE TO FRED FITZSIMMONS

Brooklyn, May 26 (AP)—Time finally caught up with Fred Fitzsimmons today as the Brooklyn Dodgers handed him his unconditional release after 17 colorful years in the National League.

It was believed Fitz would be retained by the Dodgers as a coach, and the club disclosed that the veteran pitcher would confer with President Harry McPhail tomorrow about such a contract. The Dodgers have asked him to stem for five or six thousand dollars less than the $12,000 salary he was to have drawn for pitching.

The curtain really closed on the great hearted Irishman in the third game of last year's world series when a savage line by Max Baer so struck his left leg. Fitz had to leave the mound then after hurling seven scoreless innings, and he was able to make only one start this season.

Nova was cut on the forehead in the first round and his nose started bleeding in the second. His left eye was cut in the fourth. Ray Carlen, the Californian's manager, asked the referee Charley Reynolds to inspect the wounds after the eighth, and Reynolds promptly halted the bout.

New York, May 26—Major league clubs have been asked to change their starting times so the customers won't be leaving the park during the five o'clock rush; the Sally league president has suggested that seven-inning twilight games be made official so they can finish before lights are needed. ... This brings up one of our favorite questions—why not play the games faster? ... The little red book shows the Giants and Phillies played nine innings in 51 minutes back in 1919 and by eliminating all the waste motions most games could be finished in less than an hour and a half instead of the two hours they generally require. ... That would send everybody home ahead of the mob.

Shear Nonsense
Recent contributions toward more colorful sportswriting: "Elder Riddle is as plain as an old shoe and as frank as an income tax collector." (Zipp Newman, Birmingham news) ... "It isn't the ball that needs re-processing, it's the collar." (Dean Morse, St. Johnsbury, Vt. Caledonian record) ... "Al Lincoln is faster than a rumor in an old lady's home." (James R. Finnegan, Louisville times.)

Fuller Explanations
Converting our correspondent who figures the Sally league may fold up Jimmy Chapman of the Macon (Ga.) Telegraph writes: "Serving is fine down here, gasoline rationing fine rationing and bon on lights to the contrary notwithstanding." Maron, the league leader, he adds, is having a fine year despite the fact that bus lines are not permitted to operate to the park and the cellar club drew 2-500 Sunday. ... And Clark Shaubnessy admitting that the size of the Rose Bowl stadium, Stanford gave him and his assistants left him "a little puzzled" wants one and all to understand that he didn't move to Maryland because he was disoriented. He even turned down a salary raise because he didn't think Stanford could afford it at the time.

Today's Great Star
Bob Steller, Buffalo Evening News: "If the Cowboys miss the hitting of Johnny Mize—so do the Giants."

Service Desk.
Capt. Linnon Blackmon of Abilene, Tex. who used to play football for Texas Christian, has been sent home from Australia for hospitalization because of the recurrence of a back injury suffered in a forced landing several months ago. Friends report Lin was so determined not to miss the show in the Pacific that he was taken from New York to San Francisco on a stretcher to make the boat. ... James (Biff) Lawrence, navy flier who died in the battle of Java, is remembered in Mansfield, O., as the manager of the Tiffin Ohio State league club who once challenged the entire Mansfield team to combat. Lawrence also was a T. C. U. footballer. ... Joe Gallagher, the ex-ankee, Dodger and Browns outfielder, says he isn't playing on either of the ball teams at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., because he needs his time to prepare for active duty.

A couple of days ago, Eddie Mead, who died yesterday, received a letter from Henry Armstrong asking what Eddie could do about getting him started on a comeback. Eddie firmly sent back word: "Nothing. ... When asked for his autograph, Gil Dodds writes his name and the key to some message in the Bible that has a reference to athletics. He has found about 60 of these passages. ... After George Heddy, Jr., of Mansfield (N. J.) high, turned six feet to equal the record in his school's invitation meet, he took off one shoe and went two inches higher. ... Seems that all the boys have to do is uncover the inches in their feet. ... When a long-haired cent cornered Don Hutson the Green Bay Packers' pass snatcher in a cafe and insisted on telling his fortune from tea leaves, he came up with the prediction that Don would have his greatest year in 1945. ... "Do you mean I'll make the team?" asked Hutson.

Grain Market

Chicago, May 26—(AP)—Grain futures prices hovered within a narrow range above and below the previous closing levels, in a listless, featureless session today. Most activity was described as trades of a local professional character.

Wheat closed unchanged to lower than Monday's final prices. July $1.20 1/4, September $1.22 1/4; corn unchanged to 1/4 higher July 88 1/4, September 90 1/4; oats 1/2 lower; rye 1/4 to 1/2 higher; soybeans 1/4 to 1/2 up and lard unchanged to 1/4 cents a hundred-weight higher.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, May 26—(AP)—Aviation stocks led a notably specialized recovery shift in today's market. The list exhibited rising inclinations at the opening and, advances of fractions to more than two points were well distributed before midday. There after dealings slowed appreciably and the majority of top marks was cut or cancelled. Mild irregularity was the rule in the final hour.

Transfers were around 300,000 shares.

Corpus Christi, Texas, May 26—James Frederick Alexander Bryan Greenville, route 1, has been advanced to the rate of Aviation Ordnanceman first class in the United States navy, naval air station officials announced today.

Bryan enlisted in the navy on January 19, 1939, and received his recruit training at the Norfolk (Va.) naval training station.

He has been stationed at the navy's "University of the Air" at Corpus Christi since October 31, 1941.

(Continued from Page One) The Soviet defense, but the Russian lines repulsed all assaults. Evidently speaking of the feeler thrusts that preceded the main action, the Soviet Information Bureau said Red army troops had "destroyed 11 German tanks and killed more than 500 German soldiers" in battles within the sector in three days.

The front line developments yesterday were summed up in a communique with the statements: "During May 25 in the Kharkov direction battles continued. In the Izyum-Barvenkova direction our troops fought violent battles with enemy tanks and infantry."

Russian fliers were reported to have demolished or damaged 19 German tanks Sunday, a total somewhat smaller than generally announced in recent communiques, and only 10 German planes were listed as destroyed that day.

"Our losses were seven planes," the Information Bureau said. (Bad weather may have limited all aerial operations).

The Communist party newspaper Pravda said Red navy fliers had sunk two German destroyers and an 8,000-ton transport and damaged another destroyer, probably fatally in northern waters in the past few days.

Merchant Ship Torpedoed.

San Jose, Costa Rica, May 26 (AP)—The newspaper La Tribuna reported today that a submarine had torpedoed a United States merchant ship in the Caribbean 80 miles from the Costa Rica coast, but said the crew had been rescued by an American destroyer.

There will be no outside speaker for the high school exercises, but the speaking will be done by the following five members of the graduating class: Misses Rachel Fleming, Sarah Moore, Dorothy Davenport, Jack Edwards and Leonard Briley. Richard Duncan of the senior class will act as general chairman of the speaking, and the theme is "An Interpretation of Our School." This custom of the students making the commencement speeches was in vogue in the Greenville High School several years ago, but was dispensed with for the past four or five years.

Torpedo Hits ...

(Continued from page one) tacked in the Caribbean. The text of the communique: "Caribbean area. "1. The USS Blakeley, a world war destroyer, has been damaged by a torpedo from an enemy submarine in the Caribbean sea. "2. The Blakeley has reached port with 10 members of her crew reported missing and six injured. The injured men have been hospitalized and next of kin of both injured and missing are being notified as information is received in the Navy Department. "3. There is nothing to report from other areas."

Reverse Is ...

For the second time within 24 hours, the Vunakanau airdrome and its installations were the targets at Rabaul.

"Aircraft on the ground were damaged and large fires were started in the building area," said the communique, which made no reference to Japanese offensive activity.

At the same time, it was announced the crash of a plane in central Australia yesterday killed several United States army soldiers, including an officer, and an Australia-

The Greenville High School band, under the direction of Mr. H. A. McDougle, and the high school mixed choruses and glee clubs, under the direction of Miss Oona Shindler, will furnish music for the occasion. Mr. E. G. Flanagan, chairman of the Board of Trustees, and Mr. V. M. Mulholland, principal, will deliver the diplomas to the graduates. Following this commencement the high school principal, Mr. Mulholland, and the following men: Messrs. Waiser, James, Robinson, Cameron and Cunningham, will join the armed forces of the nation. This group of men has rendered extraordinarily fine services in this community and the school board will give them leaves of absence for the duration of the war. The graduating exercises of the C. M. Eppees High School will take place in the C. M. Eppees school building on Thursday night of this week at 8 o'clock.

The public is invited to attend all these exercises. The Greenville white elementary schools will have their final session on Saturday of this week, and the white high school will have its final session on Monday morning of next week. The Greenville colored schools will have their final session on Friday of this week.

If You Want To Back A Winner

Get behind Jack Edwards for Congress. At last the true sentiment of the masses of the people has emerged through the welter of propaganda mouthed by paid political workers and is making itself felt. His campaign was slow getting started but it is now under way and, like an avalanche, fast gaining speed and power. It is timed to sweep him irresistibly into office.
