CLARK WINS IN RACE FOR SOLICITOR

German Claim Complete Victory On Kharkov Front

Russian Dead Described As "Enormous"; Prisoners Listed At 240,000; Reds Claim Gains in Barvenkova Sector; Nazis Claim Victories on Moscow Front

Berlin, (From German Broadcasts), May 30. (AP) - Germany officially announced today that the great battle of Kharkov had ended in the "annihilation" of several enemy armies and declared that Russian forces encircled on the Central front (west of Moscow) are being crushed.

In a special communique repeated in the regular war report, the high command gave this summary of the Kharkov fighting:

1. Russian losses of dead are "enormous."

2. Prisoners total 240,000.

3. War materiel captured or destroyed included 1,249 tanks, 2,026 guns, 538 planes and vast quantities of other arms and equipment.

The high command announced yesterday that a Russian attack on the central front resulted in the encirclement of enemy groups and the war report today declared these were the groups being "annihilated."

The German air force, which was officially credited with aiding in the Kharkov action by beating off the enemy air force, was reported to have ranged beyond Moscow and bombed armament works in Gorki, 260 miles east of the Russian capital.

The high command said bomb hits caused fires in factories in Gorki.

In far northern waters, the high command added, a German U-boat sank an enemy ship of 6,000 tons and damaged two more ships by torpedo hits, while fighter planes set fire to two large freighters in plane-submarine attacks on a convoy bound for Russia.

German armies under Field Marshal Feder Von Bock, won the Kharkov fight with the aid of Rumanian army corps and Hungarian Italian and Slovak units, the high command announcement said.

It declared that the Russian drive on Kharkov, begun on May 12, was turned into a German victory in which the Soviet sixth, ninth and 57th armies were crushed.

The high command declared that the 20 rifle divisions, seven cavalry divisions and 14 tank brigades comprising those three armies "no longer exist."

German air force attacks against enemy supply communications in the Leningrad sector were launched, the Nazis said.

Moscow, May 30. (AP) - The Russians announced today that Soviet forces had knocked out 54 German tanks and slain about 2,000 Germans in new engagements still apparently dominated by the Lyubim-Barvenkova sector fighting below Kharkov.

A Red army detachment destroyed 27 German tanks and about three companies of enemy infantry (perhaps 600 men) on a southwest-

GAS RATIONING WORKING WELL

Only Scattered Bootlegging And Few Arrests

By The Associated Press With two weeks of gasoline rationing past, the eastern seaboard today reported only scattered bootlegging and few arrests.

Officials generally believed the problem would work itself out, but indicated they were checking closely on violators and issuing strict warnings.

The illegal sales situation seemed most serious in the south where Oscar Strauss, Jr., southeastern OPA administrator, said:

"The situation in the south shows a wholesale lack of compliance on the part of station operators and an apathetic attitude on the part of the public. They just don't seem to believe it's necessary. There have been only two cases made in this region because we are trying to give them every chance to comply. We could crack down and make 50 more cases if we wanted to."

Richard H. Field, New England regional OPA attorney, said six cases had been taken into federal court so far in that district, and a force of inspectors was active throughout New England gathering evidence.

In Vermont, State OPA Administrator F. A. Brynn said one station attendant, unaware of his identity, offered to fill his tank with the comment "never about the ration card."

Only six complaints were reported under investigation in the populous New York metropolitan area.

Maine officials said "dealers and motorists as a whole are trying to live up to the regulations religiously."

In upper New York state, Howard T. Ware, chairman of the Broomfield county board, commented that some dealers apparently were not complying with rationing orders because they had not been notified personally from Washington that the regulations were in effect.

North and South Carolina reported frequent bootlegging rumors but on official complaints, Virginia Parker, chief OPA attorney, said dealers suspected of violations amounted to less than 10 per cent of those checked.

Pennsylvania meanwhile began an accelerated checkup on service stations throughout Philadelphia in a move to nip reported bootlegging.

RAF BOMBERS IN NEW RAIDS Paris Area Industries And Shipping Blasted

London, May 30. (AP) - Striking heavily for the third time in two months at the same target, a strong force of British bombers raided an important group of factories at Gennevilliers, 10 miles from the heart of Paris, during a night of widespread air activity, the Air Ministry reported today.

The Ministry announced thirteen bombers were missing after the night's operations—seven of the bomber command and six of the coastal command planes.

An enemy convoy off the Frisian islands, north of the Dutch-German coast, also was attacked. The Air Ministry said a number of supply ships were hit and set fire.

With a full moon shining, the German air force stepped up its attacks on Britain again but authoritative sources said seven planes out of some 50 enemy bombers were destroyed.

There were casualties, including some deaths, but only slight damage was reported. The raid on the factories at (Continued on Page Six)

John Barrymore Is Dead After A Colorful Career

Hollywood, May 30. (AP) - Gay, liver and gastric ulcers. Barrymore, who had been frequently ill in late years, suffered his final collapse May 19. He appeared at a broadcasting studio for rehearsal that night, his face contorted with pain.

Barrymore came from his dressing room when the rehearsal was about to start, then staggered backward, tears of pain starting from his eyes. To Rudy Vallee, who rushed to his aid, Barrymore said: "I guess this is one time I miss my cue."

At the hospital he made a brave fight, but years of the gay life of which he often spoke poking fun at his radio programs, had taken their toll, and at no time did his condition give his physician cause for encouragement.

In a hospital ante-room when the end came was his daughter, Dianna Barrymore, born of his marriage to Michael Strange, writer. In Mamaroneck, N. Y., it was announced (Continued on Page Six)

LIFEBOAT IS SUNK BY SUB

Torpedo Blasts Loaded Lifeboat In Gulf

New Orleans, May 30. (AP) - An Axis submarine, whose officers apparently knew their victim was unarmed, sank a medium sized United States cargo vessel in the Gulf of Mexico, May 25, killing 22 men.

The dead all were aboard a single lifeboat blown to bits by a torpedo. Two from this boat and 17 others escaped in a second lifeboat and were picked up the next day by a protective gun of the absence of a lifeboat.

The ship was the fifteenth officially reported attacked in the Gulf during May, of which 13 ships were lost with the death of 194 men.

The ship, unable to defend itself because of having no gun aboard, was attacked by shellfire at 4 A.M., and immediately afterward the crew heard a siren from a submarine on the surface of the starboard side.

Obviously aware of the absence of a protective gun, the submarine moved closer and open rapid fire with its gun, firing between 75 and 90 rounds, many of which started fires.

At 4:25 A.M., all hands except the radio operator abandoned ship. One lifeboat carrying 16 men got away first and the submarine drew near and an officer asked in English "is everyone off the ship?" Told that they were not, he replied something that sounded like "OK" and a laugh was heard.

The submarine drew quickly away and while still on the surface fired a torpedo into the ship which struck just where the second lifeboat was leaving the ship, it being not ten feet distant from the resultant explosion which killed all but two of the 24 occupants in this lifeboat.

Booms and Depressions Babson Discusses These Uncertain Times

Babson Park, Mass., May 29. - The economic life of the United States differs little from our own personal lives. Both are characterized by ups and downs. Wars, land speculation, agricultural upsets, tariffs, foreign relations, margins, pump-priming, legislation, labor unions, and other good and bad factors have all played a part in the prosperity or in the decline of our country's affairs. When the war will end, and whether we shall have a post-war slump or whether boom times will continue, no man can now say. By another six months, however, the entire situation should be much clearer.

Looking Backward. My life has been spent in looking forward. I have continually tried to anticipate coming events in order to preserve my economic independence. Due to a praying father and mother, I have looked upward for guidance in my personal affairs and when advising others.

Bailey Wins; Rouse Wins For Coroner

Democrats Followed Procedure of Keeping The "Ins" In Office And Keeping The "Outs" Out.

The order of the day in yesterday's Democratic Primaries was for the "ins" to stay in, and the "wanted-to-get-ins" to stay out, and Pitt county, the First Congressional District and the Fifth Judicial District followed closely the lead set by Senator Josiah W. Bailey in returning to his office by an overwhelming majority over his opponent, Richard T. Fountain.

In the congressional race between Herbert Bonner of Washington, incumbent, and Marvin K. Blount and Jack Edwards, both of Greenville, Bonner not only retained his seat in Congress but carried every county, with the exception of Perquimans, by a clear majority over both his opponents, including Pitt county. Edwards, who is a native of Perquimans, ran a close second to Bonner in that county, based on returns from five of the county's six precincts. On the basis of incomplete returns from the fourteen counties of the district, Bonner carried the district over both his opponents by a two-to-one vote.

While W. J. Bundy who was opposing D. M. Clark, incumbent, for the solicitorship of the Fifth District, carried Pitt county by 601 majority, incomplete returns from the district as a whole gave Clark a majority of about 1,900.

In the strictly county races, Sheriff J. Knott Proctor was retained in office over two opponents, former Sheriff Sam A. Whitehurst and J. L. Stocks, winning by a clear majority of about 1,800.

In the race for the office of County Judge, Dink James retained his office over his opponent, Arthur B. Corey, by a majority of 1,921.

In the only county race in which the incumbent was not a candidate, the office of coroner, Griffin H. Rouse defeated Dr. J. D. Hemmingway of Bethel, by a majority vote of approximately 1,900.

In a contestable race, A. D. "Bug" Corey of Winterville retained his office over R. W. Harris by a vote of 355 to 304.

In a three-way race for constable in Chicod township, in which all three candidates were newcomers, Zeno Dixon defeated both David C. Taylor and Clarence Mills.

Anti-Sub Campaign. Washington, May 30. (AP) - Rear Admiral James Laurence Kauffman was appointed commander of the Gulf Sea frontier today "to provide more effective prosecution of the anti-submarine campaign in the Gulf of Mexico area."

The territory put under his command includes the seventh and eighth naval districts and all sea areas from Jacksonville, Fla., to the Gulf of Mexico.

London, May 30. (AP) - Tombstone fragments were hurled against neighboring houses and coffins were disinterred by explosions of a stick of bombs which a low-flying German raider dropped on a cemetery in a south coast town last night.

End of the Century Club.
Mrs. E. B. Ficklen and Mrs. Ralph Garrett were hostesses to the End of the Century Club Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ficklen.

The home was very attractive with vases and bowls of cut flowers in a variety of colors.

As the members arrived delightful refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The meeting was called to order
and presided over by the president,
Mrs. Ed Batchelor.

Mrs. A. D. Frank, secretary, called the roll, the business session was disposed of, and the meeting turned over to Mrs. J. L. Fleming, chairman of the program committee. Mrs.
Fleming presented Dr. A. D. Frank,
one of East Carolina Teachers College's most outstanding professors and certainly one well versed in current problems pertaining to the United States. His subject was
"The War Today."

Dr. Frank gave the highlights of the world situation as presented by commentators and the news of today. He emphasized and commended the United States on the rapid production of war materials, but stated production far outstripped transportation. The terrible need was still for more ships.

Much information was given the club on the largest countries in the conflict, those playing the major roles.

Loyalty as a nation was urged by Dr. Frank in no other way can we accomplish our purpose. With allies around him, the U-boat menace, apparently our worst enemy, should be halted since officials believe that U-boats receive their signals from spies on shore.

Dr. Frank's instructive talk made each of us more aware that we really have a task to complete and one that we should willingly and cheerfully put our best efforts in.
Talks of this nature promote patriotism and loyalty.

At the conclusion of the program
Mrs. Fleming paid high tribute to Dr. Frank for his assistance all through the club year.

He was presented with a leather
bifold by the club.

The books of the club year were presented to the library.—Reported to do this summer and an invitation

Allied Airmen Blast Jap Bases

Allied Headquarters, Australia,
May 30—(AP)—Tearing into a formation of 18 Japanese planes over the New Guinea coast 60 miles southeast of Port Moresby, allied airmen shot down five enemy craft and damaged three more in a furious dogfight yesterday. General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Only one allied plane was lost,
the announcement said.

Headquarters also reported that allied bombers, resuming their attacks on Japanese bases to the north of Australia, had made a night assault on harbors at Dili, Timor, and Rabaul, New Britain.

At Dili—the capital and chief port of the Portuguese half of Timor—direct hits were scored on buildings, while at Rabaul two large fires were started in the dock area
the communique said.

All the allied planes returned safely from these raids.

Seek Commissions.
Durham, May 30—(AP)—Sixtyone of the 64 members of the graduating class of the Duke University school of medicine have applied for commissions with the U. S. armed forces.

Shortage of Cases.
Roanoke Rapids, May 30—(AP)—
A scarcity of cases, both criminal and civil, resulted in cancellation of a scheduled two weeks June term of Superior court here.

Germans Avenge Heydrich Assault

London, May 30—(AP)—German vengeance for an assassin's assault on Reinhard Heydrich, the Gestapo boss of Czechoslovakia, took a rising toll of Czech lives today as his attackers still eluded Nazi clutches
but the man who is "der henker"—
the hangman—to Europe's conquered people apparently still clung to life.

Swift court martials sent 12 more Czechs before firing squads yesterday, raising to 18 the total whose lives have been taken so far, and the Berlin radio said four more had been condemned to die.

All those killed so far were residents of Bruenn, in southern Czechoslovakia, and Maehrisch-Ostrau, near the old border with Poland, four were women.

The same accusation was made against them all—that they harbored "people known to have participated in activities against German authorities." Their possessions were confiscated.

Three Guilty On Murder Charges

New York, May 30—(AP)—Madeline Webb, who will be 29 in three days, will spend this birthday and probably all the rest of her birthdays in jail, as the penalty for taking part in a murder that netted $12.

A jury convicted her last night
on first degree murder in the March 4 robbery-slaying of Mrs.
Susan Flora Reich, but recommended mercy—that meant life imprisonment.

All her moans—"Please, Judge
I didn't do it, please"—could not shake the verdict.

Her lawyer, Ed Shonbrun, pleaded for her, too. "She's as innocent as my mother, Judge," he sobbed, even as the jury announced a sterner verdict for her.

Shonbrun and a third defendant,
John D. Cullen, were found guilty of first degree murder without a mercy recommendation, automatically dooming them to death in the electric chair.

Sailors Laugh At Reported Sinkings

By WENDELL WEBB
With the U. S. Pacific Fleet, May 18—(Delayed)—(AP)—Men aboard the battle craft have the Axis to thank for several welcome chuckles these hectic days. This ship has been reported sunk three times
once in an area 1,000 miles away.

There was much merriment at dinner recently when the third such claim was received. "Hoops, we are gone again!" was the cry.

"The third time wasn't the charm in this instance," the ship's doctor said with a grin.

This latest comedy relief has been particularly welcome because submarine alerts have been frequent and depth charges have jarred the sea many times daily. The question as to whether the charges found their marks must await a later date for an answer.

It can be said, however, that this ship, so often listed as lost by the Axis, is intact and in good shape for anything. It hasn't been out of service since the war began.

As to the identity of the ship
that too, of course, is a secret.

"We've a lot more to do before we'll ever admit being sunk," one officer told me.

Eternal vigilance, exhaustive drills and constant study are paying dividends in this ship as on all craft in fast-moving hard-hitting task forces of the U. S. Pacific fleet.

Enemy Sub Sunk Of Martinique

San Juan, Puerto Rico, May 30—(AP)—The tenth naval district announced today the sinking of an enemy submarine off the French island of Martinique on Wednesday by a navy pilot who said he dropped four bombs within four minutes on the undersea boat from an altitude of only 50 to 100 feet.

The announcement confirmed
previous reports that a submarine had been sunk, but did not make it clear whether it was one of those engaged in attacks on the United States destroyer Blakeley, which was torpedoed off Martinique and re-tacked again en route to the United States naval base at St. Lucia.

Thousands Of Greeks Facing Starvation

Cairo, Egypt, May 30—(AP)—
Greek fugitives from four fabled
Aegean islands have given the American Red Cross an account of starvation and desperation among 300,000 Greeks living under German occupation of Samos, Nitylene, Ni-kara and Chios.

Their story, told to an American investigator who spent a week
among the refugees in the Smyrna region of Turkey, was disclosed last night by Ralph Bain, head of the American Red Cross in the Mediterranean area.

Emaciated and yellow-skinned from hunger, 10,000 already have escaped by devious means, according to the report. The herbs which have become the islanders' main means of existence were said to be drying up under the hot Mediterranean sun.

Imported food which was the islands' principal source in peace no longer arrives, fishing has been reduced to a minimum for lack of gasoline, drought has killed the vegetable gardens and what little else is produced goes largely to the German occupation troops.

War Effort Covers Everything From Cradle To Grave

NO AMERICAN IS LEFT OUT OF WAR PICTURE

Scope Extends From Baby Nipples To Cost Of Funerals

By JAMES MARLOW AND WILLIAM PINKERTON

New York, May 30. — (Wide World)—The government made it clear to all Americans in three different ways this week that they were part of the war effort from the cradle to the grave.

The War Production Board prescribed the kind of rubber nipples babies may use and the Office of Price Administration put a limit on the cost of funerals, pegged on March prices.

Then the shape of things to come—continually tightening government control of men and materials—was put under a penetrating light for within 24 hours the war manpower commission did this. Decided to prevent plating of skilled labor by rival manufacturers through "freezing" essential men to their war jobs and then said "work or fight" would be the policy toward workers refusing "suitable employment" in war jobs.

President Roosevelt stepped in to help war workers for whom the housing problem in many areas already is believed acute.

He sent a special message to Congress urging appropriation of an additional $600,000,000 to house an estimated 1,600,000 persons in war work. Congress already had set aside $1,020,000,000 for such housing.

That war jobs increasingly are absorbing more men was seen in another special message from the President to Congress for a slash in the Works Projects Administration funds.

Last January the WPA's estimated need for the fiscal year starting July 1 was $465 million but now this would be cut to $282,767,000 while the message indicated the agency might be eliminated by the end of 1943.

The newly proposed appropriation for the agency was intended to care for only about 400,000 persons on an average monthly basis, a great drop from the peak year of 1939 when 3,014,000 persons were carried on the rolls and the expenditures were $2,230,000,000.

Donald M. Nelson, War Production Board chief, emphasized the need for all available metal in war manufacturing by warning that within a short time the government would consider waste of essential materials a "treasonable" act.

The WPB ordered a stop to construction of public amusement projects such as race tracks, theaters and baseball parks by June 6, exempting only children's playgrounds.

The WPA is still another move gave the army and navy first crack at all the salmon, sardines, mackerel and Atlantic herring to be canned in the United States this year.

If any is left after the services take what they need, it will be sold to the civilian public.

The Office of Price Administration made it plain that the "Friday" of price control would follow American shoppers to the grave even when they were paying for a funeral.

The Opa said charges for funeral services in all their operations must not exceed the highest charges in effect last March.

OPA chief, Leon Henderson sought to allay the fears of any who thought widespread rationing was just around the corner by saying he did not think it would be desirable to ration everything.

Pointing out that shortages would develop, he said, "I think we are many, many moons away from a complete point system type of rationing of all goods."

When American women shoppers start to buy their fall clothes they will find that they, too, benefitted from the price ceilings on the OPA ruled that the 1942 autumn styles of women's, girls' and children's outerwear garments cannot be sold at prices higher than those charged last season.

American motorists still were left to stew over their rubber and gasoline worries but congressional action to block nationwide gas rationing was projected as Senator Connally (D-Tex.) called colleagues from of producing states to organize for a fight against such a proposal.

Rubber Substitute.

Midland, Mich. May 29. — (AP)—Chemists of the Dow Chemical Co. here said today that retreading of worn automobile tires at the rate of a million tires a month by the end of 1942 would be possible by use of a new thiokol-type synthetic rubber developed by Dow research men.

At Gibraltar.

Berlin (From German Broadcasts), May 29. — (AP)—A dispatch from Algeria today said the British battleship Malaya, the aircraft carrier Eagle, five large submarines, including one under the Polish flag, and six destroyers arrived today at Gibraltar.

UNFAIR TO LOVE

By Watkins E. Wright

Chapter 16
"Hello, Stranger"
Kathleen gave Uncle Frank a quick kiss. "It's going to be wonderful!" she said. "You playing host at the farm. The perfect country gentleman entertaining at his country estate."

Uncle Frank chuckled. "Country estate, my eye!" he said. "But, go on—have a good time. Nothing like a healthy imagination."

He got out of the car, and hurried into a nearby office building. Kathleen, smiling happily to herself, was just about to release the brake and drive off, when Joe came up.

"Hello, stranger!" he greeted. "Hello," said Kathleen. "It's your fault if I'm a stranger."

"Gosh, honey, don't tell me you're still touchy!"
"Of course not!" Kathleen opened the roadster door. "Can I drop you anywhere?"
"No, thanks," said Joe. "But you can come over to the drugstore and have a soda with me. Mind?"
"Of course not," Kathleen said. "A soda will be fine—after all my work out at the farm."

"What farm?"
"Uncle Frank's. We're going to have a barbecue a week from Sunday—and guests for overnight."

"Well, well!" said Joe. "Do tell!"
"Will you be free then?" Kathleen asked.
"Meaning I'm to be invited?"
"Naturally, I'd certainly not leave out an old friend."

"Sure, I'm free. Tell me about it." Kathleen did so—but not until they found a table in the dim coolness of the corner drug store.

Uncle Frank's going to have a barbecue for the theater people," Kathleen began.

"His idea?" said Joe.
"And mine," said Kathleen.
"I thought so," Joe shrugged. "But go on."

"The barbecue will be late Sunday afternoon—after we've all had a swim in the pond," Kathleen explained. "Then we're having people stay overnight. There will be several town people out to the barbecue, of course—but our overnight guests will be the theatrical people mostly."

"I see," said Joe. "Impress them so to speak."
"Put it that way, if you wish," said Kathleen calmly. "I'm asking Fred, Paul, Ruby, and Daisy. I'm also going to ask Mrs. Buxton."

"Why? To supply an air of respectability?"
"Perhaps. Anyway, it'll make eight of us—four couples."
"Am I invited for over-night?"

"Yes."
"Do I get paired off with Mrs. Buxton?"
"If you wish. Or there'll be Ruby and Daisy."
"You, I suppose, will be tied up with Paul or Fred."
"Part of the time, yes."

Slick Party
Joe was thoughtful, slowly sipping his drink through a straw.

"It sounds like a pretty slick party," he said. "I'll be tickled to come. Ruby and I can discuss some tough spots in the play."

"Haven't you been up to read it to her yet?" Kathleen wanted to know.

"Not yet. . . . I've been waiting until I had the thing polished up more. And, boy have I been working! That's one reason I've neglected you—if neglected is really the word! I've given every spare moment to re-writing." Joe grinned. "I haven't even had time to make another placard for picketing."

Just before they got up to leave the drugstore, Joe laid his hand over Kathleen's.

"Listen, Kathleen," he said, "how about seeing the show with me tonight?"

"But I thought you had already seen it—Monday night!" Kathleen said. "To write the review, I mean."
"No, I skipped Monday and last night," Joe said. "I've been too busy with my own play. Anyway, it doesn't matter, since I've got plenty of time to get the review ready for our next issue. He leaned across the table. "It would be fun, seeing the show with you, honey."

"All right," Kathleen said. "What time will you be out for me?"
"Around eight," said Joe. "That will give us time to reach the barn for the curtain."

Kathleen pushed back her chair. "I've got to hurry on now, Joe."

"I didn't realize the old farmhouse was in such a state of neglect. I've got to unpack a lot of curtains and bedding to take out for the overnight party."

"By the way," said Joe, as they walked out to the street, "how did you come out with Paul Pennell?"
"It looks," said Kathleen, smiling. "as though I might have my big chance at last."

"Meaning he's promised you a part?"
Kathleen laid her hand on Joe's arm. "Maybe we're both booked to become famous, Joe," she said. "You as a playwright, and me as an actress."

"Maybe," said Joe. "And who knows but that some day you'll be playing roles in plays of mine."

At The Theater
When Joe and Kathleen arrived at Ye Old Barn Drama House that evening, it was difficult to find a parking place. Evidently the theater in the barn was going to do a good business.

"It looks," said Joe, "as though all of Linville County had decided to see a show tonight."

"Yes," said Kathleen. "Only a lot of people are from the different summer resorts. Look at the auto licenses: New York, Maryland, Pennsylvania. I guess it's because of the play they're using this week—one that was a hit on Broadway a year or so ago."

"I remember," said Joe. "A sort of farce-comedy. 'Let's Call On Letty.' Ought to get a laugh or two out of it."

"Fred says Ruby's really good in the role of Letty," said Kathleen. "Daisy plays a sort of minor role—but it's just the sort I'd like to play."

"You mean you prefer a minor role?"
"Of course not. I mean the role's that of a younger sister who's always trying to fix things up, and getting people involved."

Joe took Kathleen's arm to help her up the narrow steps. They found their seats in the front row and sat down. Kathleen examined her program, but Joe looked about the reconstructed barn.

"Shh!" said Kathleen. The lights went out. The curtain was going up.

"I hope," said Joe, "I won't have to pan 'em too much."
He settled back in his seat. So did Kathleen. He felt for one of her hands and found it. She did not object. And the play went on.

It was one of those farces that are practically actor-proof. Only the worst sort of an actor or actress could hurt it. And the performers there in Ye Old Barn Drama House weren't the worst. There was a lot of room for improvement—but they managed to keep the comedy going at a good speed.

When the curtain lowered upon the second act, Joe and Kathleen went out into the open—out into what had once been the barnyard—for a smoke.

"Isn't it delightful?" said Kathleen. "I love it!"
"Not bad," said Joe. "Not half bad."

Kathleen frowned. "How sweet of you," she said, "to be so generous."
"Well, you asked me, didn't you?"
"Of course. But you needn't be so condescending."
Ruby Howard stepped out through the stage entrance. She saw them, and waved.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

IN MEMORIAM
Brave men leave as their greatest legacy the memory of their deeds. We think of those who perished when the protest meant the shedding of blood. We listen to the measured tread of their marching feet as they swing along many a dusty road intent on making the world better for those who come after.

Today, we are thinking not just of those who died to make our country free, but of the myriad host now living and ready at any moment to give up their lives if need be for the preservation of liberty. Never have so many Americans been held prisoners by the enemy as today. Not in all our history have men fought more bravely or held out more consistently to the end than have those courageous fellows who in the Far East have been battling to hold the enemy in check. Memorial Day has usually been set aside as time when we remember past heroism; today, it should be a time when we re-impress our minds with the quality of sacrifice which millions of men are now undergoing and millions more are willing to undergo that the free way of life be maintained.

It always helps a man's spirit to know that he is remembered. Those who fought in many past wars are beyond the power of our words to hurt or help them. But those who are fighting this war are not. This is a day to remember what their sacrifice means to us.

BONDS FIGHT THE AXIS

The American people will decide whether or not the nation will be forced to adopt and accept compulsory purchasing of War Bonds. According to Secretary Morgenthau, it will be necessary for us to buy $1,000,000,000 worth of these bonds each month. If we do that voluntarily there will be no need for compulsion. If we don't, compulsion will be inevitable.

Some may wonder why the government can't pay for the war simply by selling more bonds to banks. Secretary Morgenthau recently pointed out that excessively heavy bank purchases are inflationary, "because when commercial banks buy Government Bonds they do not pay for them with actual cash taken from their vaults, but by placing on their books newly created deposits to the credit of the government. When the government draws upon these deposits to pay for the goods and services it buys, the purchasing power of those to whom these payments are made is increased without any decrease in the purchasing power of those from whom the money is borrowed."

Increased purchasing power combined with a decreased supply of goods is the certain road to disastrous inflation. The government wants you to buy bonds with every nickel you can spare—and it wants you to deny yourselves luxuries so you can buy more. No man can make a better purchase than the securities which buy weapons to fight the Axis.

"Uno Who" Gets Mad

Washington Daybook

By Earl L. Douglas

Washington—The capital in wartime:

A young girl burst in to the United Service Organizations headquarters the other day and asked to be registered as a dance partner for men in the service. After taking her name, the USO representative asked her address. The sweet young thing answered breathlessly: "Oh, I don't have any address yet. I just arrived in town. I came here first."

If any of these athletes think they are doing something hot off the 1942 griddle as athletic instructors for the Army, Navy and Marines, they have another thought coming. Jack O'Leary, who has been around these parts for a good many years, has a letter dated April 14, 1917. In effect, it expresses appreciation for O'Leary's interest in establishing contacts which might lead to setting up an athletic program sponsored by the League for Universal Military Training—in other words, putting athletics into the Army, Navy and Marine Corps. The letter is signed: "John L. Sullivan."

Incidentally, it was that same 1917-18 athletic program in the World War which brought forward one Gene Tunney, later to become world heavyweight boxing champion and this much later, Lieut.-Commander Gene Tunney, director of the navy physical fitness program.

The prize question of the week at the U. S. Bureau of Information came from a middle aged little man with a deeply furrowed brow. "Where," he asked, "can I buy a used toothpaste tube to turn in on a new one?"

One of my favorite stories about what Washington is coming to concern the business man who arrived at the Union Station, had difficulty getting a taxi but when he did, asked the driver to take him first to a drugstore. At the fountain the visiting business man asked for in turn for several common remedies. The female soda-jerk slowly shook her head and finally explained: "We're all out of everything for headaches."

Ever since Leon Henderson emerged as price control chief, he has been referred to around here as having "the job that nobody wants."

Since the repercussions from retail price fixing and gasoline rationing have begun to roll in, the title has changed. They call it now, "the job that not even Henderson wants."

Agony: Lewis Douglas, one-time budget director who crossed swords with President Roosevelt and later became his out-and-out political opponent, now is going to direct shipping priorities. As it is that a major wartime job, but already observers are predicting that Douglas soon may be No. 1 man in solving our shipping problems.

The air forces? The story cannot be told, or even guessed. They have just begun to fight.

The living will come back across the Java sea, with a fighting pledge for the dead. The motors of their planes will roar and their guns will speak for those who are forever silent.

That is what the dead are waiting for; not flowers, not wreaths, not prayers.

Beneath another, colder soil the American dead are waiting. Too they lie amidst the rows of clean white crosses of the Somme, the Meuse-Argonne, Suresnes, San Mihiel, Oisne-Aisne, Aisne-Marne and Flanders Field.

Above their resting places is a sort of peace: the harsh, awful peace of the cell-block. There the Nazi stamps and clanks, sometimes "correct," sometimes bestial—men of the Prussian whom these men beneath the crosses fought and defeated.

But the American living will come again to liberate France, and Flanders. The dead of '17 and '18 we can believe, will be the first to know the flash and thunder of their approach.

Such success as I have had has come through my early recognition of the practical values of the unbeatable combination of faith, industry, and intelligence. History certainly repeats itself and often is a dependable guide.

Hence, let me briefly review some of the events in our national economic experience in the order in which they have appeared to me. My father was born in the depression of the 50's—from which the Civil War pulled us out. I was born following the long depression of the 70's which was caused by the collapse of railroad and farm speculation and paper currency. Resumption of gold payments, the great rise in immigration, several notable inventions, and complete freedom for enterprise finally brought this depression to an end. Some years of prosperity followed.

My First Experience

This prosperity was brought to an end by crazy politics which led up to the panic of 1893. This constituted my first individual contact with hard times. For some years a severe agricultural depression existed which was aggravated by the Bryan campaign for free silver. In 1898, however, business got another uplift due to the Spanish-American war. Almost immediately a boom followed during the so-called merger years when our great corporations were formed.

For a while both business and the stock market boomed. But anti-trust scares, high finance, and the European collapse in 1914 brought about another period of depression. And then, just as now, we got into World War I and a period of great war activity followed. This lasted until the Armistice in 1918 when for a year or more the volume of business sharply receded. The rise of the automotive industries to major proportions and the resumption of foreign trade gave us however, a post-war boom of eight years of building and general expansion. This resulted in the "new" psychology of speculation. Stock prices rose to astronomical heights.

Recent Events

The rest of the story is history within the memory of all readers. We all recall the collapse of the market and business in 1929, the long years of internal depression, of unemployment, and of deficit spending. It took about five years for New Deal pump-priming to produce a rise in business volume. As to how long this artificially created boom would have continued, no one knows. At any rate, the Nazi wars came along to plug up the business leaks.

Now we are engaged in another period of rising business volume and living costs with inflated wages and full employment all associated with boom times. For the time being, however, these factors are temporarily being held back by war scarcities, priorities, regulations "forced" savings, brakes on installment buying, and other edicts from Washington. Our boom has come through the creation of our enormous armament industry. This has been large enough to absorb the entire automobile industry, the manufacture of many consumer goods, and other forms of business activity.

What's Ahead?

This short summary of the past 100 years shows that with all our wealth, legislation, and brains, we have found no preventative for business depression. Government spending is now approaching 133 million dollars per day. Soon it may be 200 million. The effect of this upon business and stocks, in spite of taxes, should, before long, be bullish. Even after the war ends we must continue to arm. We will rebuild much of the property of the world that war has destroyed. New industries, led by plastics and chemicals, have a great future. Furthermore, air express, freight mail, and passenger transport companies may cause a great new foreign and home trade which, in event of a post-war slump in other lines, can again put us on our feet.

But why continually resort merely to war or other material things to pull us out? How many more depressions will it take to teach us that only a spiritual awakening will prevent these unemployment slumps from repeating? The younger generation is daily proving in their sacrifices that they are far from soft. The least we oldersters can do is to preserve their heritage and make sure these younger minds are governed by the right spiritual motives. The set-up today and for some time to come, economically, politically, and spiritually lies up the alley of our children and grandchildren. I am confident that our future will be safe and profitable only if they will put God's will first.

Dodgers Suffer Second Defeat At Hands Of Tom Sunkle

BLIND HURLER BEATS CHAMPS BY 3 TO 1 SCORE

Slugging And Scoring Feature Other Games

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Tom Sunkle is a 29 year old left-handed pitcher who is blind, or practically so, in his left eye and is getting his second, perhaps last chance in the major leagues because the New York Giants are in such dire need of hurlers.

A few years ago Sunkle was one of the best prospects in the minor leagues, the king of the Southern Association pitchers for Atlanta in 1938. The St. Louis Cardinals lifted him into the National League the following year, but a cataract resulting from a childhood injury by a playmate caused his vision to fall and the Redbirds let him go. He didn't show enough this spring for the Giants to make much use of him, either, his efforts being confined to three or four relief calls.

Yet today he is the toast of seven clubs in the senior circuit because he is the pitcher who has handed the sunchuckling Brooklyn Dodgers their last two defeats. Manager Mel Ott of the Giants sprung him on the National League champs last Saturday simply because he was a southpaw, and he downed the Dodgers on seven hits. Yesterday he pitched another seven-inning game at Brooklyn, this time over a ten-inning route, and whined the Dodgers again 3-1 in 10 innings.

The Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds battle into extra innings for the second day in a row and the Cubs won again 6-0, with a run in the 11th as Joe Boers walked Pinchhitter Tom Peckham with the bases loaded. Claude Paspeau was the winning hurler.

Rube Melton pitched a six-inning game for the Phils to beat the Boston Braves 2-1.

The New York Yankees captured their 18th victory in 21 games 16-1, at the expense of the Washington Senators. There were 17 Yankee hits that included homers by Joe DiMaggio, Ruddy Hassett and Joe Gordon, but the sensation was pitcher Lefty Gomez who made four hits himself while hurling four-hit ball. Gomez made only nine hits all last season.

A similar clinching show was staged by the Boston Red Sox at Philadelphia in beating the Athletics 14-2, with Ted Williams smashing two home runs, his 13th and 14th of the year.

The Detroit Tigers tore into the Cleveland Indians for a 14-3 victory.

The Chicago White Sox made a spectacular surge of nine runs in the last two innings to come from behind and beat the St. Louis Browns, 12-9.

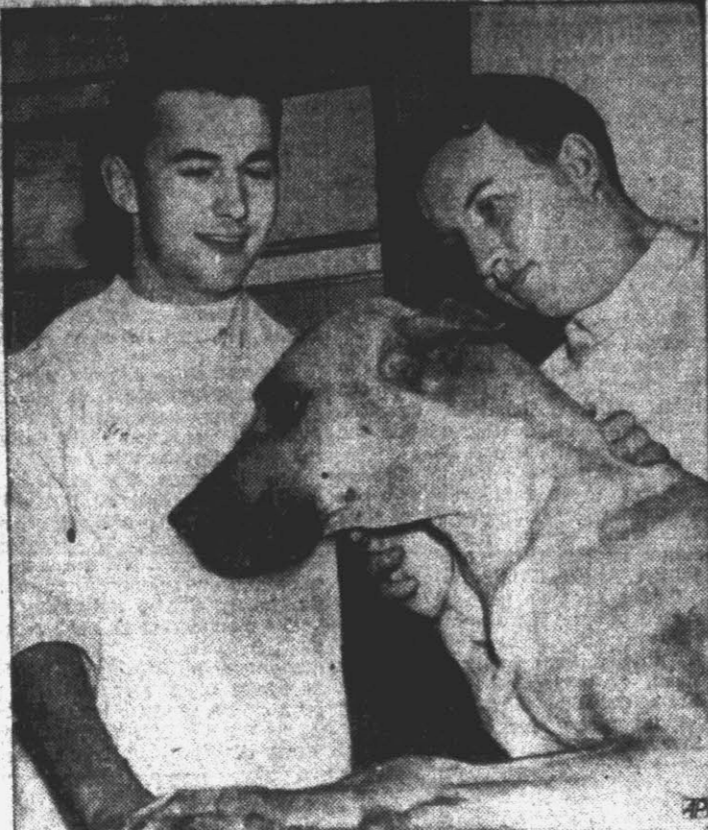

Amateur League Opens Tomorrow

The Pitt County Amateur baseball league will get under way tomorrow with games scheduled for the Gray Smith stadium here and at Ayden. The games will start at 3 o'clock.

The game here will be played between the Penn-Cola and Hall's Esso teams while the Ayden contest will be between the Greenville Spinners and the Ayden club.

Dale Alexander, former American League hitting star, manages the Greenville Club of the Appalachian League.

Three National League rookies—Fernandez of the Braves, Haas of the Reds, and Murtagh of the Phils—are third sackers.

VERSATILE VETERINARIANS—Having won intercollegiate bridge pair championships, Kock Kimbell (left) and Jay Reynolds return to their veterinary studies at Kansas State college. The dog is Fortia, pet of Kansas Gov. Payne H. Rainer.

WALTER LADROW, POSTAL SUPERVISER AT GREEN BAY, WIS., WAS THE FIRST FULLBACK ON THE PACKERS—FAMOUS FOOTBALL TEAM OF THAT CITY.

ODD CANCELLATION USED IN 1861

Contributor: Marion Saib. When the great trains of prairie schooners piled back and forth along the Santa Fe trail there were no regular post offices at which to post mail. The first post office consisted of a stone box placed in the roots of a giant oak tree in which the mail was deposited or dispatched, depending on which way the train was headed.

Jay Vesels, the AP scribe who has kept this column supplied with notes on sports doings around Minneapolis, took on a new job yesterday at Capt. Vesels of the Air Corps Intelligence. Zeke Bonura would like to take a little time off from running the sports program at Camp Shelby, Miss., to organize an all-army ball team and play the navy. Zeke thinks the soldiers would win in spite of Bobby Feller. Chet Gladchuk, Boston College's all-America center who signed up with Gene Tunney as a boatwain's mate in the navy, has applied for sea duty. They used to call him a whale, then a tunnyfish, and now apparently he has decided he's about the right size for a destroyer.

Fernando Garcia, who is touring the U. S. with Mexico's Atlante soccer team, cost $35,000 when the Atlante got his contract from Barcelona, Spain. The Mexican team then sold him to Buenos Aires for $55,000 in 1940 and bought him back for $40,000 three months ago. Sounds like soccer's Bobo Newsom.

Tire Thieves Active
Albemarle, May 29—(AP)—Tire thieves who left a trail of wheel-less automobiles in Winston-Salem on Wednesday struck in Albemarle last night. Police reported that at least 19 cars, most of them in the business district, were left without wheels overnight. Several trucks were also looted.

New York, May 30—Three movie men, Louis B. Mayer, Harry Warner and Myron Selznick, have hoes entered in the Suburban at Belmont today. Looks like a cinch for a photo finish. Ben Jones says he isn't afraid of any of the top-weighted nags beating Whirlaway, but if there is an upset it likely will be a lightweight that will scamper off from the rest. The ordinary 70 and up golfers should strike a good many blows for the benefit of the Red Cross this weekend. The U. S. G. A. reports 3,706 Red Cross tournaments are on the schedule.

Red Sox Continue Set Piedmont Pace

Charlotte, May 30—(AP)—The Greensboro Red Sox, pace setters in the Piedmont league, won another ball game from the lowly Winston-Salem twins last night but they were pushed mighty hard to do it. The Sox shoved over four runs on five hits and a walk in the tenth inning to emerge victor 9-4.

Previously a four-run uprising in the seventh by Greensboro overhauled the Twins' early lead. In somewhat similar fashion the Richmond Colts walloped the Durham Bulls 10-4. They overcame an early dead by scoring seven runs in the ninth inning. The star of the game was the Colt's manager, Ben Crapman, who got five hits in five trips to the plate—two doubles, a triple and two singles.

The Portsmouth Cubs were held hitless for six innings but then they rose up and scored four runs off Vic Raschi in the seventh and defeated the Norfolk Tars 5-0 behind Woody Johnson's four-hit pitching. Charlotte beat Asheville 5-3 behind the two hit hurling of Bucky Jacobs. The lone blow off the Charlotte righthander were Bartolome's single in the second and Ramsey's single in the sixth. The Charlotte pitcher, however, issued five passes.

TEXANS WILL AVENGE LOSS

"Remember the Houston" Is New Battle Cry

Houston, Tex., May 30—(AP)—Fifteen hundred fighting Texans, volunteers all, are coming your way, Mr. Tojo, to avenge the loss of the cruiser Houston in the battle of the Java sea.

The men were recruited specifically to even the score for the Houston, sunk by Premier Hideki Tojo's Nipponese forces. The cruiser was named in honor of Texas' largest city.

The 1500th volunteer was John D. Thompson of Iguana, Guatemala. He was qualified as a Texan because he has relatives in this section and his father is a native Texan. Tonight at 6:30 o'clock central war time before nearly a quarter of a million people the volunteers will take the oath of allegiance. The ceremony will be broadcast (CBS) throughout the nation and Canada and shortwaved to American fighting forces everywhere.

Rear Admiral William A. Glassford, who commanded U. S. naval forces in the southwest Pacific during the Java sea fight, will preside at the induction ceremonies. He will give the men a message from the President.
Secretary of the Navy Knox has said of these volunteers: "Such a spontaneous gift of manpower is unparalleled in the navy's history."
There'll be a parade of the volunteers, several hundred navy men and four bands just before the ceremony. Forty-eight bombers from nearby Ellington field will soar overhead in salute.
Texans like slogans. For years the favorite battle cry has been: "Remember the Alamo!" Now it's "Remember the Houston!"
Storm Takes Five Lives.
Detroit, May 30—(AP)—A toll of five persons dead and scores injured was reported today after a violent storm which swept over lower Michigan last night.

Memorial Day Is Observed With Work

(By The Associated Press) The emphasis was on work today as the United States honored its war dead.

There were military parades in many cities and floral tributes were laid on the graves of the fallen. But hundreds of thousands of workmen in war factories gave up the usual Memorial Day holiday under a plea by Donald Nelson to "honor the dead by doing all we can to sustain the living who are carrying on the fight."

In this war 3,712 are listed officially as having died in battle, and the list is acknowledged to be far from complete. The nation also will pay tribute to the 130,128 dead of the World War, 10,886 of the Spanish-American war, and the 8-31 500.00 lost on both sides in 1860-64.

Washington, May 30.—(AP)—A campaign was started today to force a new Senate vote on raising privates' pay from the $42 figure Senators previously voted to the $50 a month approved by the House.

With a conference committee apparently deadlocked in efforts to compromise the $8 difference, Senator La Follette (Prog.-Wis.) said that if action was not forthcoming quickly he would seek a quick test vote.

Smash Uprising In Quito, Ecuador

Quito, Ecuador, May 30.—(AP)—A former cabinet minister, an active army officer and two other men were under arrest today as alleged leaders of "a revolutionary coup" after police had fired into a group of university students attempting to storm the presidential palace Thursday night.

A police guard was killed and three other persons were seriously wounded during the shooting.

Those arrested were identified by police as Capt. Leonidas Plaza Laso, an active army officer; his brother, Galo, a former defense minister; Dr. Antonio Quevedo, a prominent lawyer, and Col. Francisco Urrutia.

A government bulletin said incriminating documents had been seized, including the text of a resignation which the students apparently had hoped to make President Carlos Arroyo Del Rio sign.

No disturbances were reported outside the capital and the city was calm today.

Miss Emma L. Hooper, chairman of the Alumni Advisory Committee, presented the Alumni Award. In making the citation she described the recipient as "the scientist who seeks ever to know the truth, and who in this instance seeks to know it not only about the physical substances that may be studied in the laboratory, but about the best way of teaching science so that the wonders of scientific fact may become living truths in the lives of students."

"He has gone beyond the research worker cloistered in one laboratory to the experimental researcher in many laboratories of our southern schools, always observing, finding facts, consulting with teachers and students, drawing conclusions, and applying them for a progressive way in dealing with young minds, especially of junior and senior high school ages."

Fleming is a member of the staff of Southern Association Study sponsored by the Commission on Curricular Problems and Research of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and as such travels throughout the school year, studying methods of teaching and curricula in 33 schools of 11 southern states, always searching, she said, for better way for teachers to present and apply knowledge so that junior and senior high school students may see its relation to life. During both the school year and the summers he is consultant for member schools in conferences that have led him to the University of North Carolina, Eastern Kentucky State College for Teachers and Georgia State College for Women.

"In this experimenting for better schools," said Miss Hooper, "he is a true son of the college that gave him, we believe, his love of teaching."

Miss Hooper pointed out that Fleming is a true son of the college in another sense, as he is the son of an alumna, Mrs. Mary Louise Fleming of the class of 1911. "Today, in paying tribute to the son," she said, "you also pay tribute to his mother."

Miss Hooper traced Fleming's work from his college days at E. C. T. C., through graduate work at

She spoke of the work he has done on special fellowships, including one which took him to the University of Chicago to study under Dr. Ralph Tyler, dean of the School of Education and director of Evaluation for the Progressive Education Association.

She closed with the statement "This plaque bearing your name will be hung on the wall of the Alumni Association headquarters as an expression of faith in your contribution to the advancement of the profession of teaching."

Fleming responded with an expression of gratitude to the college for its contribution to his own development and a reference to the high standing of East Carolina Teachers College throughout the region in which he travels.

"East Carolina Teachers College has done much to contribute to education in North Carolina," he said, and went on to discuss various stages in the development of the work of the institution.

Saying that he believed teachers should become more and more sensitive to the needs of people and try to find better ways of meeting them, he suggested that Eastern North Carolina might well become "a laboratory for East Carolina Teachers College in which college professors and students explore co-operatively ways of improving living and at the same time provide sound learning experiences for boys and girls and adults."

He closed by listing some of the responsibilities and obligations of the college for education in North Carolina.

The two preceding recipients of the Alumni Award are Dr. Fattie Dowell of Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C., in 1940, and Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart Bennett, Forest City, 1941.

To begin the morning program, the Women's Chorus, under the direction of Miss Gussie Kuykendall, sang two selections, and there were special numbers by Mrs. Faison Butler, '40, and the class of 1917.

The names of the six new vice-presidents, for whose election balloting was completed just this morning, were not available when the Reflector went to press.

The luncheon was held in the south dining hall of the college. For it, there was a short program with Mrs. Charles M. Johnson of Raleigh, saying a few words of welcome and one member from each of the honor classes responding.

Germans Claim Complete Victory On Kharkov Front

Russian Dead Described As "Enormous," Prisoners Listed At 240,000; Reds Claim Gains in Barvenkova Sector; Nazis Claim Victories on Moscow Front

Berlin, (From German Broadcasts), May 30. — (AP) — Germany officially announced today that the great battle of Kharkov had ended in the "annihilation" of several enemy armies and declared that Russian forces encircled on the Central front (west of Moscow) are being crushed.

In a special communique repeated in the regular war report, the high command gave this summary of the Kharkov fighting:

1. Russian losses of dead are "enormous."

2. Prisoners total 240,000.

3. War material captured or destroyed included 1,219 tanks, 2,228 guns, 538 planes and vast quantities of other arms and equipment.

The high command announced yesterday that a Russian attack on the central front resulted in the encirclement of enemy groups and the war report today declared these were the groups being "annihilated."

The German air force, which was officially credited with aiding in the Kharkov action by beating off the enemy air force, was reported to have ranged beyond Moscow and bombed armament works in Gorki, 260 miles east of the Russian capital.

The high command said bombs hit caused fires in factories in Gorki.

In far northern waters, the high command added, a German U-boat sank an enemy ship of 6,000 tons and damaged two more ships by torpedo hits while fighter planes set fire to two large freighters in plane-submarine attacks on a convoy bound for Russia.

German armies under Field Marshal Fedor von Bock won the Kharkov fight with the aid of Rumanian army corps and Hungarian Italian and Slovak units, the high command announced said.

It declared that the Russian drive on Kharkov, begun on May 12, was turned into a German victory in which the Soviet sixth, ninth and 57th armies were crushed.

The high command declared that the 20 rifle divisions, seven cavalry divisions and 14 tank brigades comprising those three armies "no longer exist."

German air force attacks against enemy supply communications in the Leningrad sector were launched, the Nazis said.

Moscow, May 30.—(AP)—The Russians announced today that Soviet forces had knocked out 54 German tanks and slain about 2,000 Germans in new engagements still apparently dominated by the Izum-Barvenkova sector fighting below Kharkov.

A Red army detachment destroyed 27 German tanks and about three companies of enemy infantry (perhaps 600 men) on a southwest. (Continued on page six)

Francis, Paul Hunsucker, Mrs. A. E. McLawhorn, Mrs. J. D. McArthur, Miss Lottie Ellis, Mrs. L. H. Ellis, Mrs. Obid Castello, Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. J. L. Edwards and Mrs. L. A. Barnes. Mr. Oglesby is optimistic and believes Winterville's quota of $300 will be raised in short order.

Cemetery Hit

London, May 30.—(AP)—Tombstone fragments were hurled against neighboring houses and coffins were disintegrated by explosions of a stick of bombs which a low-flying German raider dropped on a cemetery in a south coast town last night.

One man was weakened by a piece of shrapnel crashing through the ceiling of his bedroom. The explosions threw one stone fragment 350 yards.

Chungking, May 30.—(AP)—Flying Tigers of the American Volunteer Group blasted strong Japanese positions west of the Salween river with "marked success" yesterday in a bombing and machinegun assault, a communique said today.

GAS RATIONING WORKING WELL

Only Scattered Bootlegging And Few Arrests

By The Associated Press

With two weeks of gasoline rationing past, the eastern seaboard today reported only scattered bootlegging and few arrests.

Officials generally believed the problem would work itself out, but indicated they were checking closely on violators and issuing strict warnings.

The illegal sales situation seemed most serious in the south where Oscar Straess, Jr., southeastern O. R. A. administrator, said:

"The situation in the south shows a wholesale lack of compliance on the part of station operators and an apathetic attitude on the part of the public. They just don't seem to believe it's necessary. There have been only two cases made in this region because we are trying to give them every chance to comply. We could crack down and make 50 more cases if we wanted to."

Richard H. Field, New England regional O. P. A. attorney, said six cases had been taken into federal court so far in that district, and a force of inspectors was active throughout New England gathering evidence.

In Vermont, State O. P. A. Administrator F. A. Brynn said one station attendant, unaware of his identity, offered to fill his tank with the comment "never about the ration card."

Only six complaints were reported under investigation in the populous New York metropolitan area.

Maine officials said "dealers and motorists as a whole are trying to live up to the regulations religiously." (Continued on Page Six)

College Band To Give Concert

The concert band of East Carolina Teachers College will present a commencement concert tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in front of the new Classroom building. In case of rain, the concert will be in the auditorium of the Wright Memorial building. The public is invited and there will be no admission charge.

Class Gathering To Be Postponed

The joint meeting of the Men's Bible classes of Immanuel Baptist and Memorial Baptist Sunday schools scheduled to have been held tomorrow morning with the Immanuel class acting as host, has been postponed for two weeks and will be held on Sunday morning, June 14. Announcement of the postponement was made this morning when it was learned that some of those scheduled to speak to the gathering tomorrow found it impossible to be present.

John Barrymore Is Dead After A Colorful Career

Hollywood, May 30.—(AP)—Gay, debonair John Barrymore, who lived life to the utmost and gave scant heed to the consequences, is dead.

The 60-year-old star of the stage, screen and radio, whose life was spent in the white glare of publicity, was almost alone when the end came at 10:30 o'clock last night. Only his medical attendants and his brother, Lionel, were with him in his white-walled hospital room when John crossed the border into death from the coma in which he had lain for hours.

In his last days Barrymore re-embraced the faith of his birth. His physician, Dr. Huga M. Kersten, disclosed that he had been given the last sacraments by Father John O'Donnell, pastor of a little Catholic church not far from the Hollywood Presbyterian hospital where Barrymore died.

Dr. Kersten said the immediate cause of death was myocarditis, a heart ailment, complicated by chronic nephritis, cirrhosis of the liver and gastric ulcers. Barrymore, who had been frequently ill in late years, suffered his final collapse May 19. He appeared at a broadcasting studio for rehearsal that night, his face contorted with pain.

Barrymore came from his dressing room when the rehearsal was about to start, then staggered backward, tears of pain starting from his eyes.

To Rudy Vallee, who rushed to his aid, Barrymore said: "I guess this is one time I miss my cue." At the hospital he made a brave fight, but years of the gay life of which he often spoke pockingly on his radio programs, had taken their toll, and at no time did his condition give his physician cause for encouragement.

In a hospital ante-room when the end came was his daughter, Dianna Barrymore, born of his marriage to Michael Strange, writer. In Mamaroneck, N. Y., it was announced. (Continued on Page Six)

MEXICO WILL DECLARE WAR ON THE AXIS

Mexican Congress Votes 138-0 For War; U. S. Aid Sought

Mexico City, May 30.—(AP)—Routine senatorial indorsements alone were needed by President Avila Camacho today for a formal declaration of war upon the Axis powers and suspension of certain constitutional guarantees to combat "espionage and fifth columnism."

Bills authorizing the President to declare war and granting him extraordinary powers passed the Chamber of Deputies unanimously last night, each by a vote of 138 to 0.

Almost simultaneously the most important opposition leader, General Juan Andres Almazan—defeated by Avila Camacho in the turbulent 1940 election campaign—offered his services to the present government "to defend my country whatever indicated."

"Freedom of the press is one of our constitutional guarantees which would be abrogated for duration of the conflict, brought on by submarine attacks upon Mexican merchant ships."

It is understood the President plans to deal directly with numerous Nazi-inspired or pro-Nazi newspapers and magazines in Mexico which have been attacking the United Nations' cause here for months and even trying to undermine public confidence in the government.

Suspended guarantees also would include the right of habeas corpus and injunction against arrest, freedom of speech, the right of public assembly, the right to move freely within the country or across its borders, the right to work and protection against search without a warrant.

Avila Camacho's program left untouched the right of religious freedom and restrictions on the trial of civilians by military courts. The chamber amended the program to one respect, deciding against the President's recommendation for elimination of the constitutional guarantee of property rights.

Clark Appeals For Support of USO

John G. Clark, Greenville chairman of the USO drive that gets under way here Tuesday morning today appealed to the local citizens to give the drive every bit of the support possible.

"I realize the fact that there are many demands made upon us at this time," Mr. Clark said, "but for this cause which is so worthy, I am appealing to the people to give until it hurts—Hitler. We must realize that the least we can do for our boys who are fighting for us is to do everything we can to provide them with clean entertainment and recreation during their off hours and this can best be done through our whole hearted support of the USO. You may not have a son in the service but your contribution will help some other person's son."

Chairman Clark has called a meeting of all the local workers for eight o'clock Monday night in the court room of the city hall and he urged that every one of them be present.

Booms and Depressions Babson Discusses These Uncertain Times

Babson Park, Mass., May 29.—The economic life of the United States differs little from our own personal lives. Both are characterized by ups and downs. Wars, land speculation, agricultural upsets, tariffs, foreign relations, margins, pump-priming, legislation, labor unions, and other good and bad factors have all played a part in the prosperity or in the decline of our country's affairs. When the war will end, and whether we shall have a post-war slump or whether boom times will continue, no man can now say. By another six months, however, the entire situation should be much clearer.

Looking backward My life has been spent in looking forward. I have continually tried to anticipate coming events in order to preserve my economic independence. Due to a praying father and mother, I have looked upward for guidance in my personal affairs and when advising others. (Continued on page four)

Fierce Battle Of Tanks Continues In Libyan Desert

British Armored Forces Stage Counterattacks Against Rommel's Forces; Large Numbers of Nazi Tanks Reported Destroyed; Air Force Active

Cairo, Egypt, May 30. — (AP)—British armored and motorized forces heavily counter attacked a steel spearhead of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's command about 20 miles southwest of Tobruk yesterday and many Axis tanks have been destroyed in fierce fighting, Imperial general headquarters said today.

"More hard fighting must be expected," a communique reported.

The British counter-attacked "in the neighborhood of Knightsbridge and west of Acroma," it was announced, referring to an area lying between the Tobruk defenses and the 20-mile-long Ain El-Gazala-Bir El Hachem line to the west which Rommel chose to outflank rather than challenge directly in his drive launched Tuesday.

Essentially, the major fighting apparently was at the heart of a triangle of Ain El-Gazala and Tobruk and the desert oasis settlement of Bir Hachem. The British said it was "east of our main positions."

"Further south, our tank units, in close formation with the RAF, scored successes against enemy transport columns moving northwards toward Bir Hachem to join the enemy armored forces."

"Our mobile columns operating north and northwest of Bir Hachem attacked enemy lines of supply and troops endeavoring to protect these."

Axis tanks shelled a coastal road northeast of Acroma from a nearby escarpment and "the enemy made an abortive attack along the coast road against our extreme northern flank," it was disclosed.

"It is known that many tanks have already been destroyed," the communique reported, adding that it was not possible yet to assess casualties in the widespread operations.

British air forces were said to have continued "their successful attack on enemy columns and the interception of enemy reinforcements."

With units of tank forces operating like fleets of warships on the vast, open land ocean of the desert south of Tobruk, there still was no clear indication of the outcome.

Tobruk itself, which has come to be recognized as "the key" to Erwin Rommel's drive, apparently still was safe as a British barrier to an Axis thrust into Egypt and the trend of the battle was giving the British new optimism.

Although they made clear that the far-ranging operations, surging back and forth over hundreds of square miles of desert, held peril to both sides and that anything could happen, these sources declared the situation so far was satisfactory to the British command.

The RAF's apparent ability to retain mastery of the air over Libya in the face of the Axis drive also encouraged the British. The fliers have been operating in close cooperation with British tank units slashing at Rommel's supply lines.

One of the first smashes of the Axis was at the British line south of Ain El-Gazala but this was regarded only as a feeler or a feint while a wide end sweep skirted Bir Hachem.

The Nazis, therefore, have turned the British flank and cut back northward to the coast in the region of Knightsbridge, a desert trail junction, and Acroma, 10 miles from the sea.

Executions

New York, May 29.—(AP)—The British radio relayed a report today that "20 more Czechs" had been executed in Prague and said it had been established that 16 Norwegian hostages were killed in reprisal for the death of two Germans in a fishing village near Bergen. CBS recorded the 1942 broadcast.

LIFEBOAT IS SUNK BY SUB

Torpedo Blasts Loaded Lifeboat In Gulf

New Orleans, May 30.—(AP)—An Axis submarine, whose officers apparently knew their victim was unarmed, sank a medium sized United States cargo vessel in the Gulf of Mexico, May 25, killing 22 men.

The dead all were aboard a single lifeboat blown to bits by a torpedo. Two from this boat and 17 others escaped in a second lifeboat and were picked up the next day and brought to New Orleans.

The ship was the 115-ton, officially reported attacked in the Gulf during May, of which 13 ships were lost with the death of 194 men.

The ship, unable to defend itself because of having no gun aboard, was attacked by shellfire at 4 A.M., and immediately afterward the crew heard a siren from a submarine on the surface of the starboard side.

Obviously aware of the absence of a protective gun the submarine moved closer, and open rapid fire with its gun, firing between 75 and 90 rounds, many of which started fires.

At 4:25 A.M., all hands except the radio operator abandoned ship. One lifeboat carrying 16 men got away first and the submarine drew near and an officer asked in English, "Is everyone off the ship?" Told that they were not, he replied something that sounded like "OK" and a laugh was heard.

Allied Airmen Blast Jap Bases

Allied Headquarters, Australia, May 30—(AP)—Tearing into a formation of 18 Japanese planes over the New Guinea coast 60 miles southeast of Port Moresby, allied airmen shot down five enemy craft and damaged three more in a furious dogfight yesterday. General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Germans Avenge Heydrich Assault

London, May 30—(AP)—German vengeance for an assassin's assault on Bernhard Heydrich, the Gestapo boss of Czech-Slovakia, took a rising toll of Czech lives today as his attackers still eluded Nazi clutches but the man who is "der henker"—the hangman—to Europe's conquered people apparently still cling to life.

Swift court martials sent 12 more Czechs before firing squads yesterday, raising to 18 the total whose lives have been taken so far, and the Berlin radio said four more had been condemned to die.

All those killed so far were residents of Bruenn, in southern Czechoslovakia, and Mahrtsch-Ostrau, near the old border with Poland, four were women.

The same accusations were made against them all—that they harbored "people known to have participated in activities against German authorities." Their possessions were confiscated.

Three Guilty On Murder Charges

New York, May 30—(AP)—Madeline Webb, who will be 29 in three days, will spend this birthday and probably all the rest of her birthdays in jail, as the penalty for taking part in a murder that netted $13.

A jury convicted her last night on first degree murder in the March 4 robbery-slaying of Mrs. Susan Flora Reich, but recommended mercy—that meant life imprisonment.

All her moans—"Please, Judge, I didn't do it, please"—could not shake the verdict.

Her lover, El Shonbrun, pleaded for her, "She's as innocent as my mother, Judge," he sobbed, even as the jury announced a sterner verdict for him.

Shonbrun and a third defendant, John J. Cullen, were found guilty of first degree murder without a mercy recommendation, automatically dooming them to death in the electric chair.

Sailors Laugh At Reported Sinkings

By WENDELL WEBB
With the U. S. Pacific Fleet, May 18—(Delayed)—(AP)—Men aboard the battle craft have the Axis to thank for several welcome chuckles these hectic days. This ship has been reported sunk three times once in an area 1,000 miles away.

There was much merriment at dinner recently when the third such claim was received. "Whoops, we are gone again!" was the cry.

"The third time wasn't the charm in this instance," the ship's doctor said with a grin.

This latest comedy relief has been particularly welcome because submarine alerts have been frequent and depth charges have jarred the seas many times daily. The question as to whether the charges found their marks must await a later date for an answer.

It can be said, however, that this ship, so often listed as lost by the Axis, is intact and in good shape for anything. It hasn't been out of service since the war began.

As to the identity of the ship that too, of course, is a secret.

"We've a lot more to do before we will ever admit being sunk," one officer told me.

MISS HELEN KING HOWARD of Raleigh, whose engagement to Lieutenant James Burgess Gregory of Fort Benning, Ga., formerly of Raleigh and Lynchburg, Va., is announced by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Washington Howard of Greenville. Chinese Withdraw From City Kinhwa

Chungking, May 30—(AP)—The Chinese withdrew from Kinhwa on the afternoon of May 28, it was officially acknowledged tonight.

Kinhwa, provisional capital of the eastern coastal province of Chekiang, had been assaulted repeatedly by the Japanese in their major campaign in that area.

The Japanese had claimed capture of the city at 7 a. m., May 28, but as late as last night Chinese dispatches had said it remained in Chinese hands, although in desperate peril.

Move Gas Over Inland Waterway

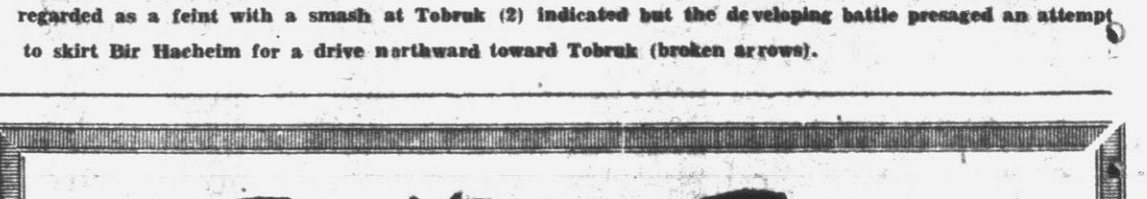

Fort Myers, Fla., May 30—(AP)—A tug and two gasoline-laden barges prepared today to start through the intracoastal waterway on a trip Capt. Arthur Oliver, the tug's skipper, said would prove the effectiveness of the waterway as a means of combatting the eastern fuel shortage.

Oliver asserted he had no doubt there was sufficient water to float the barges, carrying 50,000 and 20,000 gallons, from this west coast port to Stuart, Fla., and thence northward to Jacksonville, Fla.

He added that the trip planned today "will be the first of a series of regular runs."

Proponents of the intra-coastal waterway long have asserted that it could supply petroleum products to the east. They have claimed the use of barges, not vulnerable to submarine attacks between Fort Myers and Jacksonville, would enable tankers to operate in Gulf waters only and thus avoid the dangerous voyage up the Florida coast.

Axis Forces Batter At British Lines In Libya

Five armored battles in the Libyan desert mark Axis thrusts about Bir Hacheim (1) and below Ain El Gazala, the north hinge of the British defense line in Libya. The Bir Hacheim drive was first regarded as a feint with a smash at Tobruk (2) indicated but the developing battle protracted an attempt to skirt Bir Hacheim for a drive northward toward Tobruk (broken arrows).

Loyalty as a nation was urged by Dr. Frank in no other way can we accomplish our purpose. With allies moved inland, the U-boat menace, apparently our worst enemy, should be halted since officials believe that U-boats receive their signals from spies on shore.

Dr. Frank's instructive talk made each of us more aware that we really have a task to complete and one that we should willingly and cheerfully put our best efforts in. Talks of this nature promote patriotism and loyalty.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Fleming paid high tribute to Dr. Frank for his assistance all through the club year.

He was presented with a leather satchel by the club.

The books for this year were presented to the library.—Reported.

Imported food which was the islands' principal source in peace no longer arrives, fishing has been reduced to a minimum for lack of gasoline, drought has killed the vegetable gardens and what little else is produced goes largely to the German occupation troops.

"Unless food is sent to the islands soon," said the report, "a tidal wave of Greeks may break upon Turkish shores... panic is spreading among the islanders as they see only death from starvation and they will get serious somehow."

Scope Extends From Baby Nipples To Cost Of Funerals

By JAMES MARLOW And WILLIAM PINKERTON

New York, May 30. — (Wide World) — The government made it clear to all Americans in three different ways this week that they were part of the war effort from the cradle to the grave.

The War Production Board prescribed the kind of rubber nipples babies may use and the Office of Price Administration put a limit on the cost of funerals, pegged on March prices.

Then the shape of things to come — continually tightening government control of men and materials — was put under a penetrating light for within 24 hours the war manpower commission did this.

Decided to prevent pilfering of skilled labor by rival manufacturers through "freezing" essential men in their war jobs and then said "work or fight" would be the policy toward workers refusing "suitable employment" in war jobs.

President Roosevelt stepped in to help war workers for whom the housing problem in many areas already is believed acute.

He sent a special message to Congress urging appropriation of an additional $600,000,000 to house an estimated 1,800,000 persons in war work. Congress already had set aside $1,020,000,000 for such housing.

That war jobs increasingly are absorbing more men was seen in another special message from the President to Congress for a slash in the Works Projects Administration funds.

Last January the WPA's estimated need for the fiscal year starting July 1 was $465 million but now this would be cut to $282,767,000 while the message indicated the agency might be eliminated by the end of 1943.

The newly proposed appropriation for the agency was intended to care for only about 400,000 persons on an average monthly basis, a great drop from the peak year of 1939 when 3,014,000 persons were carried on the rolls and the expenditures were $2,230,000,000.

Donald M. Nelson, War Production Board chief, emphasized the need for all available metal in war manufacturing by warning that within a short time the government would consider waste of essential materials a "treasonable" act.

The WPA ordered a stop to construction of public amusement projects such as race tracks, theaters and baseball parks by June 6, exempting only children's playgrounds.

The WPA is still another move gave the army and navy first crack at all the salmon, sardines, mackerel and Atlantic herring to be canned in the United States this year.

If any is left after the services take what they need, it will be sold to the civilian public.

The Office of Price Administration made it plain that the "fine" of price control would follow American shoppers to the grave even when they were paying for a funeral.

The Opa said charges for funeral services in all their operations must not exceed the highest charges in effect last March.

OPA chief, Leon Henderson sought to allay the fears of anyone who thought widespread rationing was just around the corner by saying he did not think it would be desirable to ration everything.

Pointing out that shortages would develop, he said, "I think we are, many, many moons away from a complete point system type of rationing of all goods."

When American women shoppers start to buy their fall clothes they will find that they, too, benefitted from the price ceilings for the OPA ruled that the 1942 autumn styles of women's, girls' and children's outerwear garments cannot be sold at prices higher than those charged last season.

American motorists still were left to stew over their rubber and gasoline worries but congressional action to block nationwide gas rationing was projected as Senator Connally (D-Tex.) called colleagues from oil producing states to organize for a fight against such a proposal.

Rubber Substitute. Midland, Mich., May 29. — (AP) — Chemists of the Dow Chemical Co. here said today that retreading of worn automobile tires at the rate of a million tires a month by the end of 1942 would be possible by use of a new thiolol-type synthetic rubber developed by Dow research men.

At Gibraltar. Berlin (From German Broadcasts), May 29. — (AP) — A dispatch from Algeria today said the British battleship Malaya, the aircraft carrier Eagle, five large submarines, including one under the Polish flag, and six destroyers arrived today at Gibraltar.

UNFAIR TO LOVE

Chapter 16
"Hello, Stranger"
Kathleen gave Uncle Frank a quick kiss. "It's going to be wonderful!" she said. "You playing host at the farm. The perfect country gentleman entertaining at his country estate."

Uncle Frank chuckled. "Country estate, my eye!" he said. "But go on—have a good time. Nothing like a healthy imagination."

He got out of the car, and hurried into a nearby office building. Kathleen, smiling happily to herself, was just about to release the brake and drive off, when Joe came up.

"Hello, stranger!" he greeted. "Hello," said Kathleen. "It's your fault if I'm a stranger."

"Gosh, honey, don't tell me you're still touchy!"
"Of course not!" Kathleen opened the roadster door. "Can I drop you anywhere?"

"No, thanks," said Joe. "But you can come over to the drugstore and have a soda with me. Mind?"

"Of course not," Kathleen said. "A soda will be fine—after all, my work out at the farm."

"What farm?"
"Uncle Frank's. We're going to have a barbecue a week from Sunday—and guests for overnight."

"Well, well!" said Joe. "Do tell! Will you be free then?" Kathleen asked.

"Meaning I'm to be invited?"
"Naturally. I'd certainly not leave out an old friend."

"Sure, I'm free. Tell me about it." Kathleen did so—but not until they found a table in the dim coolness of the corner drug store.

"Uncle Frank's going to have a barbecue for the theater people," Kathleen began.

"His idea?" said Joe.
"And mine," said Kathleen.
"I thought so," Joe shrugged.

"But go on."
"The barbecue will be late Sunday afternoon—after we've all had a swim in the pond," Kathleen explained. "Then we're having people stay over-night. There will be several town people out to the barbecue, of course—but our over-night guests will be the theatrical people mostly."

"I see," said Joe. "Impress them so to speak."
"Put it that way, if you wish," said Kathleen calmly. "I'm asking Fred, Paul, Ruby, and Daisy. I'm also going to ask Mrs. Buxton."

"Why? To supply an air of respectability?"
"Perhaps. Anyway, it'll make eight of us—four couples."

"Am I invited for over-night?"
"At the Theater"

When Joe and Kathleen arrived at Ye Old Barn Drama House that evening, it was difficult to find a parking place. Evidently the theater in the barn was going to do a good business.

"It looks," said Joe, "as though all of Linville County had decided to see a show tonight."

"Yes," said Kathleen. "Only a lot of people are from the different summer resorts. Look at the auto licenses: New York, Maryland, Pennsylvania. I guess it's because of the play they're using this week—one that was a hit on Broadway a year or so ago."

"I remember," said Joe. "A sort of farce-comedy. Let's Call On Letty. Ought to get a laugh or two out of it."

"Fred says Ruby's really good in the role of Letty," said Kathleen. "Daisy plays a sort of minor role—but it's just the sort I'd like to play."

"You mean you prefer a minor role?"
"Of course not. I mean the role's that of a younger sister who's always trying to fit things up, and getting people involved."

Joe took Kathleen's arm to help her up the narrow steps. They found their seats in the front row and sat down. Kathleen examined her program, but Joe looked about the reconstructed barn.

"Shh!" said Kathleen. "The lights went out. The curtain was going up."

"I hope," said Joe. "I won't have to pan 'em too much."
He settled back in his seat. So did Kathleen. He felt for one of her hands and found it. She did not object. And the play went on. It was one of those farces that

'Former Friend' Looks Other Way

As John L. Lewis (right), president of the United Mine Workers Union, opened a session of the U. M. W.'s policy committee in Washington, Philip Murray (left), C. I. O. president and vice president of the miners, whom Lewis referred to as his "former friend," sat with chin cupped in hand—and looked the other way. Lewis and Murray, close friends for 30 years, have become estranged over union affairs.

are practically actor-proof. Only the worst sort of an actor or actress could hurt it. And the performers there: in Ye Old Barn Drama House weren't the worst. There was a lot of room for improvement—but they managed to keep the comedy going at a good speed.

When the curtain lowered upon the second act, Joe and Kathleen went out into the open—out into what had once been the barnyard—for a smoke.

"Isn't it delightful?" said Kathleen. "I love it!"

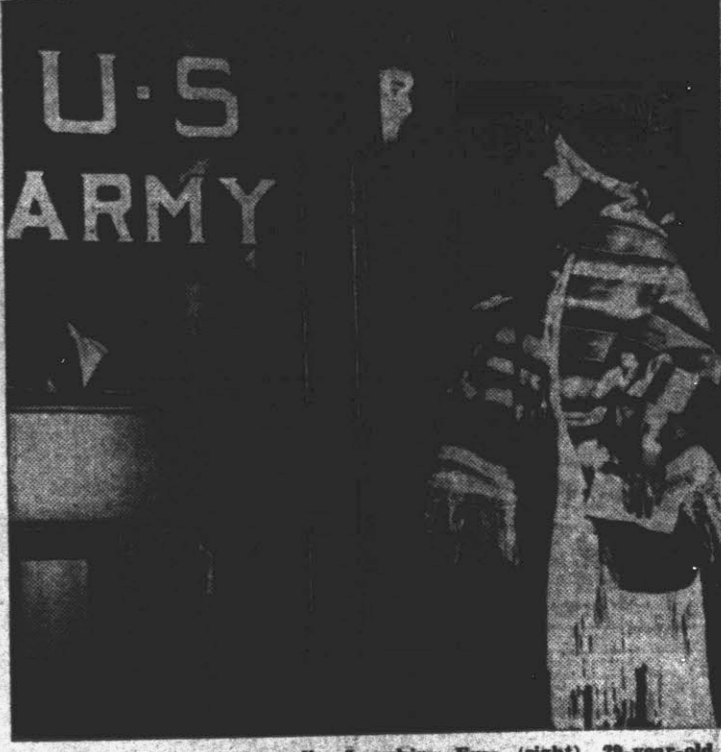

"Not bad," said Joe. "Not half bad."

Kathleen frowned. "How sweet of you," she said, "to be so generous." "Well, you asked me, didn't you?"

"Of course. But you needn't be so condescending."
Ruby Howard stepped out through the stage entrance. She saw them, and waved.

Dodgers Suffer Second Defeat At Hands Of Tom Sunkle

BLIND HURLER BEATS CHAMPS BY 3 TO 1 SCORE

Slugging And Scoring Feature Other Games

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Tom Sunkle is a 29 year old left-handed pitcher who is blind, or practically so, in his left eye and is retaining his second, perhaps last chance in the major leagues because the New York Giants are in such dire need of hurlers.

A few years ago Sunkle was one of the best prospects in the minor leagues, the king of the Southern Association pitchers for Atlanta in 1938. The St. Louis Cardinals lifted him into the National league the following year, but a cataract resulting from a childhood injury by a playmate caused his vision to fall and the Cardinals let him go. He didn't show enough this spring for the Giants to make much use of him, either, his efforts being confined to three or four relief calls.

Yet today he is the toast of seven clubs in the senior circuit because he is the pitcher who has handed the swashbuckling Brooklyn Dodgers their last two defeats. Manager Mel Ott of the Giants sprung him on the National league champs last Saturday simply because he was a southpaw, and he downed the Dodgers on seven hits. Yesterday he pitched another seven-inning at Brooklyn, this time over a ten-inning route, and whirled the Dodgers again 3-1 in 10 innings.

The Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds battle into extra innings for the second day in a row and the Cubs won again 6-0, with a run in the 11th as Joe Beers walked Pinchhitter Dom Dilessandro with the bases loaded. Claude Pascoe was the winning hurler. Rube Melton pitched a six-inning for the Reds to beat the Boston Braves 2-1.

The New York Yankees captured their 18th victory in 21 games 16-1 at the expense of the Washington Senators. There were 17 Yankee hits that included homers by Joe DiMaggio, Buddy Hassett and Joe Gowen, but the sensation was Pitcher Lefty Gomez who made four hits himself while hurling four-hit ball. Gomez made only nine hits all last season.

A similar slugging show was staged by the Boston Red Sox at Philadelphia in beating the Athletics 14-2, with Ted Williams smashing two home runs. His 13th and 14th of the year.

The Detroit Tigers tore into the Cleveland Indians for a 14-3 victory.

The Chicago White Sox made a spectacular score of nine runs in the last two innings to come from behind and beat the St. Louis Browns, 12-3.

Amateur League Opens Tomorrow

The Pitt County Amateur baseball league will get under way tomorrow with games scheduled for the Gray Smith stadium here and at other towns. The games will start at 3 o'clock.

The game here will be played between the Pensi-Cola and Hall's Esso teams while the Avien contest will be between the Greenville Spinners and the Ayden club.

Dale Alexander, former American League hitting star, manages the Greenville Club of the Appalachian League.

Red Sox Continue Set Piedmont Pace

Charlotte, May 30.—(AP)—The Greenboro Red Sox, pace setters in the Piedmont league, won another ball game from the lowly Winston-Salem twins last night but they were pushed mighty hard to do it. The Sox shoved over four runs on five hits and a walk in the tenth inning to emerge victor 9-4.

Previously a four-run uprising in the seventh by Greensboro overhauled the Twins' early lead. In somewhat similar fashion the Richmond Colts walloped the Durham Bulls 10-4. They overcame an early lead by scoring seven runs in the ninth inning. The star of the game was the Colt's manager, Ben Cnapman, who got five hits in five trips to the plate—two doubles, a triple and two singles.

The Portsmouth Cubs were held hitless for six innings but then they rose up and scored four runs off Vic Raschi in the seventh and defeat the Norfolk Tars 5-0 behind Woody Johnson's four-hit pitching. Charlotte beat Asheville 5-3 behind the two hit hurling of Bucky Jacobs. The lone blow off the Charlotte righthander were Bartolome's single in the second and Ramsey's single in the sixth. The Charlotte pitcher, however, issued five passes.

TEXANS WILL AVENGE LOSS

"Remember the Houston" Is New Battle Cry

Houston, Tex., May 30.—(AP)—Fifteen hundred fighting Texans, volunteers all, are coming your way. Mr. Tojo, to avenge the loss of the cruiser Houston in the battle of the Java sea. The men were recruited specifically to even the score for the Houston, sunk by Premier Hideki Tojo's Nipponese forces. The cruiser was named in honor of Texas' largest city. The 1500th volunteer was John D. Thompson of Iguana, Guatemala. He was qualified as a Texan because he has relatives in this section and his father is a native Texan. Tonight at 6:30 o'clock central war time before nearly a quarter of a million people the volunteers will take the oath of allegiance. The ceremony will be broadcast (CBS) throughout the nation and Canada and shortwaved to American fighting forces everywhere.

Memorial Day Is Observed With Work

(By The Associated Press) The emphasis was on work today as the United States honored its war dead.

There were military parades in many cities and floral tributes were laid on the graves of the fallen. But hundreds of thousands of workmen in war factories gave up the usual Memorial Day holiday under a plea by Donald Nelson to "honor the dead by doing all we can to sustain the living who are carrying on the fight."

In this war 3,712 are listed officially as having died in battle, and the list is acknowledged to be far from complete. The nation also will pay tribute to the 130,128 dead of the World War, 10,866 of the Spanish-American war, and the 8-31 500.00 lost on both sides in 1860-64.

TO SEEK VOTE ARMY PAY BILL

Conference Is Deadlocked On The $8 Difference

Washington, May 30.—(AP)—A campaign was started today to force a new Senate vote on raising private pay from the $4 figure Senators previously voted to the $50 a month approved by the House.

With a conference committee apparently deadlocked in efforts to compromise the $8 difference, Senator La Follette (Prog.-Wis.) said that if action was not forthcoming quickly he would seek a quick test vote.

"This anticipated pay raise already has been delayed under terms of the bill until July 1, at the earliest," La Follette said. "and it would be a grave injustice to deny the relatively small increase to the soldiers any longer."

"I am strongly in favor of the House provision for $50 a month and unless the conference committee acts shortly, I shall resort to any proper parliamentary measure to force the issue before the Senate."

This could be done by moving to discharge the conference committee which it considered the bill and La Follette intimated he might attempt such a maneuver. Adoption of a motion of this nature would bring the bill back before the Senate, and he would then move to instruct conferees to accept the $50 House figure.

As approved by both houses, the proposed pay increases would not become effective until the first day of the month following enactment. House conferees were reported yesterday to have voted 3 to 1 for the $50 figure and Senators voted 3 to 1 for $42.

Smash Uprising In Quito, Ecuador

Quito, Ecuador, May 30.—(AP)—A former cabinet minister, an active army officer and two other men were under arrest today as alleged leaders of "a revolutionary coup" after police had fired into a group of university students attempting to storm the presidential palace Thursday night.

A police guard was killed and three other persons were seriously wounded during the shooting. Those arrested were identified by police as Capt. Leonidas Plaza Laso, an active army officer; his brother, Galo, a former defense minister; Dr. Antonio Quevedo, a prominent lawyer, and Col. Francisco Urrutia.

A government bulletin said incriminating documents had been seized, including the text of a resignation which the students apparently had hoped to make President Carlos Arroyo Del Rio sign. No disturbances were reported outside the capital and the city was calm today.

Auto-Plane Crash—Grove City, Pa., May 29.—(AP)—A small airplane in flight and an automobile moving along the highway collided last night near the Grove City airport.

The plane, which had been flying low in preparation to landing, flipped over and crashed after the collision. The pilot and a passenger in the automobile were injured.

GERMANS CLAIMING . . .

Leninград front troops were reported to have "wiped out 400 Nazi officers and men and destroyed several guns and heavy machine-guns and a number of blockhouses and dugouts."

A Soviet armored force, lashing savagely against fresh German attacks in the Izum-Barvenkovo sector, was reported to have destroyed 2 Nazi tanks and killed 300 enemy troops in a fresh phase of a battle now 11 days old.

The Soviet information bureau announced that both tank and infantry assaults were again beaten off in the Donets river bend south below Kharkov, saying frankly the Russians were engaged in "defensive operations."

Red army gunners and airmen, some flying American-built planes were credited with destroying 113 German aircraft in two days and Red navy forces chalked up the sinking of two more Axis vessels in the Barents sea—a 12,000-ton transport and an 800-ton trawler.

Moreover, the fliers destroyed or damaged 15 German tanks, 100 trucks, 35 munitions carts, two rail-way trains and two ammunition dumps Thursday, the information bureau said. Germany was reported to have lost six planes that day in an ineffective raid on Murmansk, the Russians' Arctic supply port.

Kalinin front troops have liberated several settlements and slain 700 Germans, the midnight communiqué said.

The situation before Kharkov, a Nazi-held steel center 400 miles south of Moscow, was again covered by a generalization: "Nothing of significance took place in other sectors of the front."

John Barrymore . . .

Barrymore was married four times, made fortunes and spent them, had a national reputation as a wit, and was regarded as one of the most competent actors of his time.

He is survived by his brother, Lionel, his sister, Ethel, and three children, Dianna, and Dolores Ethel Mae Barrymore, 12, and John Blythe Barrymore, 10, born of his marriage to Dolores Costello. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

RAF Bombers . . .

(Continued from page one) since Mannheim was bombed 10 nights ago. It was the sixth RAF assault on industries in the Paris area in less than three months. The result of the raid was not given.

The Air Ministry announced that docks at Cherbourg and Dieppe were bombed, mines were laid in enemy waters, and planes blasted railways and set fire to six freight trains near Lens, in northern France.

The Air Ministry said that the enemy was producing important war materials at the Gnome-Rhône aero-engine works, the former Goodrich Rubber Works, and other manufacturing plants at Gennevilliers.

(The Vichy news agency in a broadcast reported some 40 persons were killed and 100 injured in British attacks on the Paris area from 2 to 4 a. m. It said six British planes were reported shot down.)

Mexico Will . . .

(Continued from Page One) Mexico. "Of course we'll be glad to help Mexico in all proper ways," Connally told reporters. "We should give her arms, and help in every way we can without impairing our own war effort."

Connally spoke particularly of providing "what planes and small naval craft we can spare" for the campaign against submarines in the Gulf, where participation of the new belligerent might be of much value.

As the Mexican congress gathered to vote a war declaration, Connally predicted that Mexico's entry into the conflict would exert a "tremendous influence" toward lining up all the Latin American republics in combat against the Axis.

The Foreign Relations chairman saw more bad news for the Axis in Brazil's shoot-on-sight reaction to U-boat sinkings, which he said might have as great an effect in Latin America as Mexico's declared belligerence.

With a formal Mexican declaration, 11 of the 21 American republics will be aligned in the all-out war against the Axis. Eight other have broken off diplomatic relations.

Gas Rationing . . .

(Continued from page one) ly. In upper New York state, Howard T. Ware, chairman of the Broom county board, commented that some dealers apparently were not complying with rationing orders because they had not been notified personally from Washington that the regulations were in effect.

North and South Carolina reported frequent bootlegging rumors but on official complaints, Virginia has had no arrest and T. Nelson Parker, chief OPA attorney, said dealers suspected of violations amounted to less than 10 per cent of those checked.

Pennsylvania meanwhile began an accelerated checkup on service stations throughout Philadelphia in a move to nip reported bootlegging.

Alumni Day . . .

Miss Emma L. Hooper, chairman of the Alumni Advisory Committee, presented the Alumni Award. In making the citation she described the recipient as "the scientist who seeks ever to know the truth, and who in this instance seeks to know it not only about the physical substances that may be studied in the laboratory, but about the best way of teaching science so that the wonders of scientific fact may become living truths in the lives of students."

"He has gone beyond the research worker cloistered in one laboratory to the experimental researcher in many laboratories of our southern schools, always observing, finding facts, consulting with teachers and students, drawing conclusions, and applying them for a progressive way in dealing with young minds, especially of junior and senior high school ages."

Fleming is a member of the staff of Southern Association Study sponsored by the Commission on Curricular Problems and Research of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and as such travels throughout the school year, studying methods of teaching and curricula in 33 schools of 11 southern states, always searching, she said, for a better way for teachers to present and apply knowledge so that junior and senior high school students may see its relation to life. During both the school year and the summers he is consultant for member schools in conferences that have led him to the University of North Carolina, Eastern Kentucky State College for Teachers and Georgia State College for Women.

"In thus experimenting for better schools," said Miss Hooper, "he is a true son of the college that gave him, we believe, his love of teaching."

Miss Hooper pointed out that Fleming is a true son of the college in another sense, as he is the son of an alumna, Mrs. Mary Louise Fleming of the class of 1911. "Today, in paying tribute to the son," she said, "you also pay tribute to his mother."

Miss Hooper traced Fleming's work from his college days at E. C. T. C. through graduate work at Peabody, where he made an enviable record, and his first years of teaching, part or which were spent in the Greenville high school. She spoke of the work he has done on special fellowships, including one which took him to the University of Chicago to study under Dr. Ralph Tyler, dean of the School of Education and director of Evaluation for the Progressive Education Association.

She closed with the statement "This plaque bearing your name will be hung on the wall of the Alumni Association headquarters as an expression of faith in your contribution to the advancement of the profession of teaching."

Fleming responded with an expression of gratitude to the college for its contribution to his own development and a reference to the high standing of East Carolina Teachers College throughout the region in which he travels.

"East Carolina Teachers College has done much to contribute to education in North Carolina," he said, and went on to discuss various stages in the development of the work of the institution.

Saying that he believed teachers should become more and more sensitive to the needs of people and try to find better ways of meeting them, he suggested that Eastern North Carolina might well become a laboratory for East Carolina Teachers College in which college professors and students explore cooperatively ways of improving living and at the same time provide sound learning experiences for boys and girls and adults."

He closed by listing some of the responsibilities and obligations of the college for education in North Carolina.

The two preceding recipients of the Alumni Award are Dr. Pattie Dowell of Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C., in 1940, and Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart Bennett, Forest City, 1941.

To begin the morning program, the Women's Chorus, under the direction of Miss Gussie Kaykendall, sang two selections, and there were special numbers by Mrs. Faison Butler, '40, and the class of 1917.

The names of the six new vice-presidents, for whose election balloting was completed just this morning, were not available when the Reflector went to press.

The luncheon was held in the south dining hall of the college. For it, there was a short program, with Mrs. Charles M. Johnson of Raleigh, saying a few words of welcome and one member from each of the honor classes responding.

The honor classes held reunions at 2:30 p. m. From 4 to 6 o'clock, President and Mrs. L. R. Meadows will hold open house at their home on Fifth street for former students, the graduates of this year, board members and other special guests, and faculty and staff members and their wives.

All plans for the day have been in the hand of Miss Estelle McClees, efficient alumni secretary, who gives up her work June 1 to return to teaching.

Tonight at 8:30 the 3rd annual music recital will present a group of numbers by the orchestra, the A. Capella Choir, and the Women's Chorus, in addition to those by individual students in voice, violin, and piano.

Sunday's commencement features include the baccalaureate sermon at 11 o'clock by Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of the Methodist Church, a band concert on the campus at four o'clock and the Y. W. C. A. Y. M. C. A. vesper service at eight o'clock in the evening.

The commencement address by John Temple Graves II, will come at 10:30 Monday morning, with the graduation exercises immediately following.
