RAF REFRAINS FROM DESTRUCTION ON GERMANY

British Turn Tide In Libyan Battle

Two German Tank Divisions Fighting Desperately To Escape British Entrapment; Nazi General Reported Captured; RAF Pounding Enemy Supply Lines

Cairo, Egypt, June 1.—(AP)—The bulk of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's two German tank divisions—backbone of his African corps—was reported trapped and attempting to escape the British today with the forces of Lt. Gen. Neil M. Ritchie waging a fierce battle from all sides and from the air in an attempt to wipe them out.

The Germans' only hope, a British communiqué indicated, was to win a "battle of the gaps" by holding open two narrow passageways through British minefields to the westward which the Germans had cleared and where they had concentrated anti-tank artillery to protect their route of escape.

The British declared Gen. Ludwig Crüwell, in direct command of the African corps under Rommel, had been captured. The 55-year-old former commander of an armored division in Yugoslavia was said to have been taken prisoner when a reconnaissance plane was shot down in the desert.

British informants said that the Germans, faced with the choice of using the minefield gaps to bring up supplies or to withdraw the tanks, apparently had chosen the latter course and that the Rommel offensive, begun five days ago, had turned into a furious battle by his forces to escape encirclement.

The RAF, reporting the loss of 19 planes in continuous operations over the battle area in the last 24 hours, said its fighters and bomber attacks on Axis mechanized forces were maintained "with outstanding effect."

The planes were concentrating on supply columns attempting to move oil and water to Rommel's forces, as well as engaging in actual combat with the tanks and armored cars.

"Many enemy transport vehicles were destroyed and damaged and although our fighter effort was directed principally against the enemy's land forces, several combats developed over the battle area," the RAF communiqué said.

At least four Axis planes were shot down and others were "probably destroyed." Bombers blasted the Martuba airfield and objectives in the El Timimi area.

Other bombers ranged as far as Messina in Sicily. A heavy attack was pressed home last night at the Deris airport and "large fires were observed among the dispersed aircraft."

British authorities said that an order of the day by Rommel, dated May 26, ordering the offensive has fallen into their hands.

"The armored army of Africa, in the course of great operations, moves today to a decisive attack against the British mobile forces in Libya," the order read. "Remembering the victorious deeds of the months of January and February we shall attack and discomfit the enemy wherever he presents his arms. For this purpose a force of superior numbers has been made ready and equipped with perfected armament and a powerful air force to give support to fight."

"The high quality and warlike ardour of the Italian and German soldiers, combined with the superiority of our arms, guarantees us victory. I expect every man at his post will remain faithful to the high traditions of his own country and his own army and will do his duty and give himself wholly to the inviolable alliance of our arms."

"Long live His Majesty, the King of Italy! Long live the Duce of the Roman Empire! Long live the"

Hostages

Bern, Switzerland, June 1.—(AP)—German occupation authorities in Paris announced today that ten hostages would be shot if the person or persons who attacked a German soldier last Wednesday were not captured in ten days, Swiss dispatches reported.

In addition, the Germans said, "a great number" of persons will be put at forced labor.

CITY TO ENJOY REDUCED RATE ON INSURANCE

Rates On Business Property Cut Five Cents On $100

Insurance rates on Greenville business properties and the contents of same were reduced five cents on the $100 valuation today, according to official announcement received by Mayor B. B. Sugg from Landon Hill, manager of the North Carolina Rating Bureau at Raleigh. A study of the city with a view to lowering the rates has been under way for some time and Mayor Sugg expressed delight today that the report of the Underwriters was favorable. While complete figures were not available it was estimated that the savings to local property owners would amount to several thousand dollars each year.

With a view to giving Greenville better fire protection and at the same time lower insurance rates, the city administration has been active for some time in improving the city's fire department. During the past year new and modern equipment has been added and the alarm system has been enlarged, and the personnel of the department has been increased to meet the needs of the city and the requirements of the Underwriters.

"That we now have a modern and efficient fire department is fully recognized," Mayor Sugg said today. "Otherwise the Underwriters would never have reduced our rates."

SUB VICTIMS NOW TOTAL 231

Enemy Subs Active in Southern Waters Last Week

Key West, Fla., June 1.—(AP)—Four officers of a submarine, believed to be Italian, laughed from the conning tower of their vessel recently as they watched members of the crew of a torpedoed Brazilian merchantman struggle in the water near their blazing craft.

Two torpedoes thundered in rapid succession against the ship May 24 near Haiti. Six men died, two of them killed by the explosion and four in the rough sea attempting to reach lifeboats. Forty-five survivors reached land after 29 hours in lifeboats, and were brought to Key West.

"I believe that submarine was Italian," said Chief Engineer Maroldo Nascimento. Brazil has some submarines that were made by the Italians, and their lines are remarkably similar.

The laughing officers shouted inquiries as to the identity and tonnage of the attacked ship.

U.S. Bombers Sink Japanese Tanker

New Delhi, June 1.—(AP)—Huge bombers of the U. S. Army Air Force based in India sank one Japanese tanker and damaged others at Rangoon and inflicted heavy damage on grounded aircraft and runways at the Myitkyna airfield in north Burma in raids of the past two days, a U. S. communiqué said today.

Rangoon, chief supply port of the Japanese forces occupying Burma, was the main objective and the docks as well as shipping were hampered.

The U. S. planes, from the command of Major Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, encountered "medium to heavy" anti-aircraft gunfire and ten Japanese night fighters at Rangoon, but all the attackers returned safely.

Myitkyna—a favorite target of the U. S. and British bombers—was attacked on Friday and Saturday. The raid apparently caught the Japanese flat-footed because "no Japanese aerial or ground opposition was encountered."

Brereton's bombers have raided Rangoon repeatedly since the Japanese captured the city, and also have successfully attacked Japanese installations in the Andaman Islands in the eastern part of the Indian ocean.

How Reds Halted Rostov Drive

A mass Russian attack on Kharkov and to the south (white arrows) thwarted a projected German drive (broken arrows) on Rostov, key to the Caucasus, Moscow announced. Red pressure at Kharkov, standards claimed, compelled Nazis (black arrows) to move forces from Rostov sector to bolster Kharkov.

High School Graduates To Get Diplomas Tonight

ALL QUIET ON RUSSIAN FRONT

Lull Follows Three Weeks Of Fierce Fighting

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Moscow, June 1.—(AP)—The three-week battles in the Crimea and the Ukraine which opened the spring campaign on the eastern front have ended in a calm which finds new lines stabilized and both sides preparing for new and perhaps more violent outbreaks.

As the result of the early May offensives the Germans now are holding lines advanced to the Kerch strait which separates them from the Caucasus, and the Russians are occupying deep wedges about Kharkov in the Ukraine.

The lull was signaled today by a Soviet communiqué which said there was nothing at all to report from the front.

Such action as there was to report over the week-end occurred not in the Kharkov zone, but on the Kalinin sector northwest of Moscow, where the Red army was reported taking the initiative in local operations, perhaps with the idea of beating the Germans to the punch for the second time this year.

The great battle of Kharkov which now has simmered down into relative quiet, was the first instance and the Russians claimed it as a triumph.

Without denying their own reserve power, despite acknowledged losses of 75,000 men, they declared they had forestalled a Nazi push on Rostov, drained German reserves and diverted 36 Nazi divisions which had been massed opposite that gateway city to the Caucasus. A Russian communiqué has put Nazi (Continued on Page Four)

Sale Of Poppies For Veterans Gratifying

The sale of poppies for the benefit of disabled World War veterans and their families of World War I and World War II went over in a big way in Greenville and other parts of the county Saturday. More than 2,300 of the flowers were sold. When the supply given in Greenville to the women made an extra supply to increase the sales.

Mrs. J. Hicks Corey, chairman, today extended thanks to chairmen of communities and others who in any way helped to make "Poppy Day" a success.

Ceiling Price Lists To Be Filed Locally

Merchants of Greenville were advised today by Mrs. Cora S. Powell, secretary of the Merchants' Association, not to send their statement of cost-of-living maximum prices to Raleigh or Atlanta, but to keep them for filing with the local War Price and Rationing Board.

They have until July 1 to file this statement.

Some merchants have already been sending their statement of cost-of-living articles to Raleigh, where they are being filed for eventual return to local War Price and Rationing Boards. Local boards will accept them just as fast as clerical help and equipment can be obtained for handling such reports.

Junior High Exercises Are Held This Morning

Approximately one hundred young men and women of Greenville will receive their diplomas from Greenville High School this evening at eight o'clock in the Robert H. Wright building of the college. There will be no outside speaker; but reviving the custom of a few years back, the present senior class decided to use the talent within the high school for its graduating exercises. The general theme of the graduating exercises is "An Interpretation of Our School." Richard Duncan, president of the Student Council, will act as chairman and will present the following seniors, each of whom will speak briefly:

"Our School As We See It"—Rachel Fleming; "Studies"—Sarah Moore; "Activities"—Jack Edwards; "The School And The War"—Dorothy Davenport; "Our Tomorrow"—Leonard Briley.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the high school band under the direction of Mr. McDougle, and by the high school glee clubs under the direction of Miss Shindler. There will also be a solo by Miss Elizabeth Bridgers.

The invocation will be by Rev. Clyde Carter of Greenville. There will be a tribute to the late Mr. J. L. Little, member of the Board of Trustees for thirty-nine years.

Diplomas will be awarded to the graduates by Mr. E. G. Flanagan, chairman of the Board of Trustees, and Mr. V. M. Mulholland, principal of the high school. The exercises will close with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

This morning at 9:30 the graduates of the junior high school were received into the senior high school. Jane Massey presided over the exercises, and the speaker for the occasion was Rev. Father Maurice of Greenville. Music for the occasion was furnished by the junior high school glee clubs under the direction of Miss Shindler. Charles Pace, president-elect of the Student Council for next year, welcomed the (Continued on page four)

ALLIES SMASH JAP SUB RAID ON AUSTRALIA

Chinese Fighting Desperately Against New Jap Offensive

(By The Associated Press)
A parried thrust into Sydney harbor by a force of Japan's midsize submarines, successful Allied air raids on Japanese island bases facing Australia and valiant Chinese efforts to check Japan's Chekiang province offensive were reported today as the major developments in the Far Pacific war.

Submarines, apparently of the two-man type which the Japanese had used fruitlessly at Pearl Harbor, ran into thundering shellfire and depth charges in the Australian harbor Sunday night and three of them probably were destroyed.

This may have been the entire force, which apparently stole into Sydney from a mothership lying off southeastern Australia.

The Japanese succeeded in sinking an old steamer used as a ferry. The Allied air forces based on Australian soil started large fires and wrecked docks and airfields at enemy lodgements in Timor, northeastern New Guinea and the Solomon Islands. General MacArthur's headquarters reported.

Just before dawn yesterday Japanese establishments at Lae, New Guinea, were bombed so suddenly that only one fighter got off to oppose the raiders.

In China, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's fighters were engaged in a wide-rung diversionary action in Anhwei province, in an effort to offset a Japanese offensive which had overrun Kihwa, capital of neighboring Chekiang province, and nearby Lanchi.

Meanwhile the Japanese landed fresh forces to the southeast on Yuhwan island, off the Chekiang shore.

The Chinese were able to recapture certain points behind the Japanese Chekiang line, but the tide of battle was still generally with the enemy.

The Chinese high command announced today that heavy fighting was in progress in the southern province of Kwangtung, where the Japanese have announced the launching of an offensive north of (Continued on Page Six)

Raleigh Man Will Speak City Hall

Norman Sheppard, of Raleigh, attorney for the Office of Price Administration for North Carolina, will speak at the City Hall in Greenville Tuesday night, at 7:00 o'clock. His subject will be "General Maximum Price Regulations," or "Price Ceilings." Sheppard will substitute for Theo. S. Johnson, the state director of the Office of Price Administration, who was scheduled to speak here.

The Merchants' Association is sponsoring the meeting. The speaker will answer questions on the subject.

Reich To Be Blasted Out Of The War City By City

Graduating Exercises College This Morning

Speaker Says "We Are Going To Win This War"

"Sooner than we think, by trying harder than we know how, we are going to win this war," said John Temple Graves, II, Birmingham editor in an address delivered this morning at the graduations exercises of East Carolina Teachers College. "And when the war is won, we must remember that this total state to which we proudly and gladly submit for the duration of the war is the very thing we are fighting the war to escape in years to come, that our American system does not include it and will not endure it."

The class of over 200 graduates that heard his stirring speech and that afternoon passed across the stage to receive from President Leon R. Meadows their diplomas and have conferred upon them their degrees, differed in two important features from the usual graduating class at the college in having included in its number the first students to be graduated from East Carolina Teachers College with the non-professional degree and in having the customary academic robes replaced by a uniform for one member of the group. Twenty of the graduates are Greenville students, and several more are from Pitt county.

Of the 202 who were granted degrees, 18 were graduating with the liberal arts degree, given this year for the first time, 182 were those graduating from the regular professional course, with the A.B. degree the college has always conferred, and two were candidates for the M.A. degree.

Robert W. Hollar, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hollar, of the faculty, a March graduate, returned to the campus in uniform to receive his degree.

The two who received the degree of Master of Arts, both earlier graduates of the college, were Mrs. Annie Andrews Sellers, Greenville, and Clifton Britton, Milwaukee, who is well known in Greenville because of his work at the college in dramatics.

Pitt county students included in the list of graduates were:

A. B. Degree—James Franklin Allen, Mrs. Thornton Broome, Helen Buttner, Mrs. Frances Allen Cassick, Mary Agnes Deal, Nellie Dunn, Doris Hickman Pormy Duval, Kate Foley, Charles Futrell, Elizabeth Gales, Ruby Grant, Robert Hollar, Mattie L. Holliday, Mrs. Ada Joyner Savage, Christine Schroy, Nina Elizabeth Smith, Margie C. Spivey, Joe Staton, Rattle Turner, and Mary Catherine Woolard, Greenville; Marie Esther Hart and Rockefeller Venters, Ayden; Rebecca Lewis and Vivian Elizabeth McLachlan, Bethel; Helen B. Jefferson, Fountain; Martha B. Hoell, Grimesland; Evelyn Kilpatrick, Hookerton; Elsie Cherry, Pacolus; Jesse Gray, Stokes; Russell Bedcard and Clarissa Edwards, Winterville.

B. S. Degree—Alice Leigh Blaw, W. Lon Nobles, Jr., Walter Tucker, Marie Anne Smith, Greenville; John Carson and Helen Taylor, Bethel.

M. A. Degree—Mrs. Annie A. Sellers, Greenville.

The Reverend W. A. Ryan, pastor of the Christian Church of this city led the prayer and pronounced the benediction.

The speaker was introduced by President Meadows, who described him as an editor, a novelist, a poet, an essayist, a lecturer, and above all, a man of letters.

Banker Urges Pitt County Buy Bonds

BANKER URGES PITT—18 $100 Pitt county people bought $160,000 worth of War Stamps and Bonds during May—$50,000 more than the county's quota, W. H. Woolard, Greenville banker and Pitt county chairman of the War Bond Committee, announced today. Pledges from 3,900 persons and firms agreeing to buy War Bonds and Stamps regularly as long as the war lasts or as long as they are able to have already been received.

The June allotment of War Bonds to be purchased in this county is $159,300. "This being an agricultural section, it is realized that we will have to make an unusual effort to sell our quota during the summer months," Woolard said. "I urge that we not let down on buying War Bonds and that we join hands and do our best to oversell our quota each month and help to win this war," he added.

Finals Speaker

John Temple Graves, II, Birmingham, Ala., editor this morning delivered the graduating address at the closing commencement exercises of East Carolina Teachers College.

LINER LANDS 908 REFUGEES

First Batch of Diplomats Home From Europe

By ROBERT OKIN

Jersey City, N. J., June 1.—(AP)—The white-painted Swedish diplomatic liner Drottningholm brought its first batch of 908 passengers, including diplomats, newspaper reporters and citizens of the American republics safely home from Europe today.

Ship's officers said that three Axis submarines were sighted on the 10-day trip from Lisbon, but that Captain Sigfrid Ericsson, the skipper, did not tell the passengers for fear of alarming them. The ship's itinerary had been given in advance to all the belligerents.

The first sub, ship's officers said, was sighted off the coast of Portugal 22 hours out of Lisbon. Two more were sighted May 29 and they immediately closed their hatches and dived.

Admiral William D. Leahy was the first to leave the ship, accompanying the body of his wife who died while he was ambassador to Vichy.

Of the 908 passengers, 169 were U. S. diplomats, 185 Latin American diplomats and a total of 573 were U. S. citizens. There were nationals of 33 countries as well as 19 stateless persons.

Nearly 16 languages were spoken aboard the ship, returning newsmen said. Life aboard was enlivened by the singing of songs by nationals of many countries, including Poles recently released from German internment camps.

Admiral Leahy said he could not make any public statement until he had talked with President Roosevelt. During the trip he kept much to himself in his cabin.

He went immediately from the pier to one of several cars, which took his party and his wife's body to a Washington-bound train.

Killed In Wreck

Kinston, June 1.—(AP)—Clarence Martin Stearnes, 52, of Chillicothe, Ohio, was killed and several others injured early today when his automobile and a truck loaded with 30 defense workers collided on a highway near here.

Rationing Board Now 3rd Floor, Courthouse

The rationing of materials under the wartime emergency laws is now handled exclusively at an office on the third floor of the court house in Greenville, J. B. Kittrell announced today.

The new setup for rationing gasoline, tires and tubes, motor vehicles, typewriters, etc., will handle all matters of this kind, at the court house, hereafter.

Cologne Is Smouldering City Of Ruins As A Result Of Great Aerial Attack In History; 1,250 RAF Planes In Saturday Night's Raid; U. S. Fliers To Take Part Soon

By DREW MIDDLETON
London, June 1.—(AP)—

The hour of joint United States-British mass aerial assaults to blast the Reich out of the war, city by city, was declared officially today to be nearer at hand and the Germans were advised to look to the still smouldering ruins of devastated Cologne for a glimpse of the future.

With plain words, the generals who would give the word to go made it clear that "the Yanks are coming," that the British-American partnership of power in the air will repeat and may even dwarf the RAF's terrific Saturday night 1,000-bomber attack which loosed on the war plants of Cologne the greatest weight of steel and explosive ever borne on wings.

Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, head of the United States Air Forces, said his conferences in London were nearly completed and had "hastened the day when our air arm shall join in an air offensive against the enemy which he cannot meet, defeat or survive."

Reuters, in a dispatch dated June 1, said that thousands of homeless people were being removed from the Rhineland following upon the attack on Cologne.

Wealthy Germans were reported anxiously trying to transfer to safer districts.

Replying to General Arnold's congratulations on the Cologne raid, Air Marshal A. T. Harris, chief of the RAF bomber command, said:

"We are supremely confident that with their aid our common enemies—faced with certain devastation of their own land—will have cause to bitterly rue the day on which they forced our two countries into war."

Stung by the fury of the attack on the fifth greatest city in all the Reich, German fliers struck back last night at Britain's ancient cathedral town of Canterbury, sending over 25 planes in three waves.

Several historic buildings were wrecked (the fate of Canterbury Cathedral itself was not disclosed), but casualties were reported unofficially as light.

Despite weather unfavorable to a repetition of mass attacks last night, the British again sent Hurricanes and Boston bombers over the channel in forays against airfields and rail lines in northern France and Holland, and other flights winged east by daylight to continue the terroring.

Raid Comments

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—Members are talking to Germany news and their language needs no comment, Secretary of State Hull observed today.

Asked at his press conference if he had anything to say about RAF mass air raids, Hull replied he thought the bombers were speaking well for themselves, as they probably will continue to speak louder and louder, as the war goes on.

Hull declined to comment on reports of British-Russian-American negotiations concerning a second front.

Moscow, June 1.—(AP)—News of the British mass bombing of Cologne caused evident satisfaction in Soviet circles today.

Pravda published the London announcement of the raid with unusual prominence under a 2-column headline more than 1,000 English bombers over Cologne. Ten thousand bombs in 90 minutes.

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—The Royal Air Force's first raid on Cologne gave the Germans a taste of what the United Nations can do. In the opinion of Chairman Connally (D-Ten) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

The veteran legislator termed the raid "a forerunner of things to come," but added he didn't believe the attack necessarily meant the immediate opening of a second front in Europe.

Christian Science Service.
"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alas Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Demanded," was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, May 31.

The golden text was from Zachary 10:2. "The idols have spoken vanity, and the diviners have seen a lie, and have told false dreams; they comfort in vain."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "This know also, that in the last days, perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholiness, without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good. Traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God." (II Tim. 3:1-4).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Animal magnetism has no scientific foundation, for God governs all that is real, harmonious, and eternal, and His power is neither animal nor human. Its basis being a belief and this belief animal, in Science animal magnetism, mesmerism, or hypnotism is a mere negation, possessing neither intelligence, power, nor reality, and in sense it is an unreal concept of the so-called human mind."

Library News

A novel of captured Nashville—DINNER AT BELMONT. By Alfred Leland Crabb. New York: Doubleday-Merrill Company. $2.50.

When a true southerner feels inspired to write about his homeland and has the necessary literary background for doing so, he usually gets somewhere. And that is where Alfred Leland Crabb has gotten with his first and fascinating novel, "Dinner at Belmont," a story of Nashville during the Civil War.

In situation the book is almost a parallel of Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind," but for two exceptions, that the locale is changed from Atlanta to Nashville and that the historical background is absolutely authentic, the author having done years of research, perusing hundreds of old Nashville newspapers.

All of the characters in "Dinner at Belmont" are well-drawn though not clearly defined enough to stand out. There are, however, two colorful characters, the nameless stagecoach driver (the author's own authentic character) and William Walker, a famous son of Nashville who met a tragic death in Nicaragua. Ida Foster and Gale Thurston, the lovers in the story, are a lovely pair but too conservative to be as captivating as the charming and temperamental Scarlett O'Hara and gallant and reckless Rhett Butler in GWTW. Ida and Gale are, however, more in keeping with that period. Another interesting character is Berrien Lindsey, the college professor, who worked day and night to keep his beloved University of Nashville from being destroyed by the northern army encamped in Nashville. It is he whose cultured mind furnishes the philosophy of the book, believing as he did and as all true southerners still believe that life, regardless of war and its destructive forces, is good and much to be desired.

The book is "as clean as a hound's tooth" thus affording an oasis in the literary world today when so many novels are filled with frustrated and disillusioned people.

The author has used conversation as the medium of his story. This conversation (it is almost all conversation) is natural, often casual, and true to those times. The dialect of the old stagecoach driver, who is the connecting link of all the happenings, is perfect in its colloquialism. And he will be remembered for the flicking of his whip at the opportune moment whether it be at a horsefly, toad or scallawag.

For those who have a poetic turn of the mind there are bits of poetic description, thrown in so casually, that will bear re-reading. To illustrate just a few: "The purple haze of Indian summer lifted and the flame of the goldenrod burned low.... The beech hung high curtains of scarlet and gold.... The night was perfect. An opulent moon swam in a sky luminous and richly blue. The waters of the Cumberland caught the rays of the moon and turned them back in great pools of shimmering radiance.... The night was still as if it stood finger to lips listening.... the dogwoods unfurled their banners of gleaming white, the wild plum broke out into felicity of bloom." And how is this as pertaining to odors, "Pull upon the soft night air was the satisfying fragrance of autumn.... the mingling odors of corn newly harvested, of somewhere a sorghum mill cooling gently from the fierce heat of the day, of drying apples scattered on sheds and under the compulsion of the sun yielding their juices to a thirsty air, of tobacco newly cut, of birch leaves turning from the green of summer to the gold of autumn, and in the change burning a subtle incense, of blue asters and goldenrod."

All in all, the book is most satisfying and ought to be a best-seller. And the possibility of it becoming a Hollywood production will come to many a mind.

Bride Of Sunday

Mrs. Robert L. Landeck, who before her marriage Sunday, was Miss Margaret Catherine Sigmon. The wedding took place in St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Claremont, N. C. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Sigmon of Claremont. The Reverend Robert L. Landeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Landeck of Mount Prospect, Ill., is pastor of the Lutheran church in Kinston and Greenville.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
June 1, 1902

June comes today.
The farmer who depends upon a single crop for his support will surely come to see his error when it is too late. He cannot possibly go upon the one-crop plan, whether it be that of cotton or tobacco, and expect to succeed.

that will bear re-reading. To illustrate just a few: "The purple haze of Indian summer lifted and the flame of the goldenrod burned low.... The beech hung high curtains of scarlet and gold.... The night was perfect. An opulent moon swam in a sky luminous and richly blue. The waters of the Cumberland caught the rays of the moon and turned them back in great pools of shimmering radiance.... The night was still as if it stood finger to lips listening.... the dogwoods unfurled their banners of gleaming white, the wild plum broke out into felicity of bloom." And how is this as pertaining to odors, "Pull upon the soft night air was the satisfying fragrance of autumn.... the mingling odors of corn newly harvested, of somewhere a sorghum mill cooling gently from the fierce heat of the day, of drying apples scattered on sheds and under the compulsion of the sun yielding their juices to a thirsty air, of tobacco newly cut, of birch leaves turning from the green of summer to the gold of autumn, and in the change burning a subtle incense, of blue asters and goldenrod."

All in all, the book is most satisfying and ought to be a best-seller. And the possibility of it becoming a Hollywood production will come to many a mind.

Junior High Graduation
The ninth graders of Junior High graduated into Senior High in a short ceremony this morning. The graduation was preceded by an assembly of the entire school.

Baccalaureate Sermon
Last night the senior class heard the baccalaureate sermon preached by Mr. Robert Bradshaw.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the senior class of 1942 will be graduated in the Robert H. Wright auditorium at East Carolina Teachers College. Five students from the graduating class will give talks on "An Interpretation of Our School."

Last Day
Well folks, this is the last time that this column will appear in the Daily Reflector until next September. Cora and I wish to thank the Reflector for allowing us space for the column in the paper. We appreciate it very much.

We also wish to thank the people who read our column. We hope that you have enjoyed it.

Cora may write the column again next year, but since I am graduating this is the last time for me. So until next year, "Goodbye, everyone."

Teachers in the Army
Sad to say, Messrs. V. M. Mulholland, Ward James, N. H. Cameron, R. G. Walker, H. H. Cunningham and E. R. Robinson will not be members of the faculty next year. "Uncle Sam" is calling them.

Soldiers Drowned.
Fort Bragg, June 1.—(AP)—Fort Bragg authorities said today three soldiers were drowned in two accidents late Saturday.

The victims were listed as Private Charles E. Adams, 22, Newark, N. J., Corporal Leon I. Sharpe, 24, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Private Lee S. Hubbard, 22, RFD 5, Monroe.

Sharpe and Hubbard were members of a Negro unit.

War has been brought home to every Pitt county family by the sugar rationing. Housewives request each day suggestions on how to stretch the one-half pound of sugar allowed each person each week.

Miss Mary E. Thomas, Extension Nutritionist of N. C. State College, gives these sugar-thrift rules to housewives to remember:

1. Serve cooked fruits hot to enjoy their fullest flavor and sweetness.
 2. Save syrup from canned fruit to sweeten other fruit, pudding, sauces, or beverages.
 3. A pinch of salt increases the sweetening power of sugar in cooked food.
 4. Be sure all sugar is completely dissolved to get its full sweetness.
- The following table gives the sweetening power of different syrups, of honey, and of maple sugar, as compared with refined white sugar.

Sweetness equal to one cup of refined white sugar: Maple sugar, 1 cup; Maple Syrup, 1 cup; Honey, 1 cup; Sorghum Syrup, 1 1/2 cups; Can Syrup, 1 1/2 cups; Corn Syrup, 2 cups.

Best rules to follow in shifting recipes from refined white sugar to other sweeteners are:

CAKES AND COOKIES
Honey: Replace sugar with honey, cup for cup, but use one-half the quantity of other liquid called for. That is, if the original recipe called for 1 cup sugar and 1 cup milk, use 1 cup honey and 1/2 cup milk. Other ingredients remain the same.

Corn, Cane or Maple Syrups: Replace sugar with syrup, measure for measure, and reduce liquid only one-third. Cookies made with corn and cane syrup are not as sweet as sugar cookies.

Sorghum Syrup: Follow the same rule as with the other syrups, but reduce the baking powder called for in the original recipe. Use 1-2 teaspoon of soda for every cup of sorghum. This quantity of soda and sorghum has leavening power equal to 2 teaspoons of baking powder.

Below you will find two recipes you will probably wish to include in your meal planning this week. Miss Thomas gives this one:

Baked Apples—Wash and core apples. Leave part of the core in the bottom of the apple to set as a plug. Fill the cavity with honey, corn syrup or molasses, using as much as the tartness of the apples require. For variety add a bit of lemon juice, or a few cinnamon candies. Or stuff the cavity with raisins and dates or other fruit combinations. The syrup of canned fruits may be used.

Mrs. E. H. Boyd of the Red Banks H. D. Club sent this one for each of you to try:

Cocoanut Pie—1 package of vanilla pudding powder. Stir in one cup of Pet milk diluted with one cup of water, bring to boil, stir constantly. Cook slowly for 30 seconds. Remove from heat and stir in 1-2 teaspoons of vanilla. Cover and cool to lukewarm. Fold in 1 cup of shredded cocoanut. Sprinkle with 1-2 cup shredded cocoanut. Set in refrigerator and chill until firm (in a previously baked and cooled pie shell).

Pineapple or pecans may be substituted for the cocoanut in making the fillings. The fruit must be drained. Then roll and sprinkle 1 cup of vanilla wafers or graham cracker crumbs on top. Chill as before.

Price Protest Forms Have Been Received

A copy of OPA-T-1 has been received by Mrs. Cora Powell, secretary of the Merchants Association. Retailers wishing to report "distress" cases occasioned by the Maximum Price Regulations are required to cite their situation on this form.

The OPA state office has urged however, that retailers do not file protests until every effort has been made to work out their price difficulties through negotiations with jobbers or manufacturers.

The form may be reproduced by any retailer wishing to file it.

America Pooling Resources In Behalf Of War Efforts

COUNTRY WILL MAKE FULL USE OF INDUSTRIES

Transport And Delivery Systems Also Pooled

By JAMES MARLOW AND WILLIAM PINKERTON
Washington, June 1.—(Wide World)—The pool—a basic name to trust-busters—has become a major tool of the war effort at home.

The pattern of pooling the resources of rival business firms has spread through much of American trade as the necessities of war have borne down on the luxury of old-fashioned competition.

Despite the anti-trust laws, the administration has created a system through which almost any kind of business combination necessary to the war effort can be established.

In general, the only restrictions on pooling—once it has been certified as necessary by a war agency—are these:

1. Its effects must be limited to business, or purposes related to the war; 2—wherever possible, opportunity must be given all interested firms either to enter the pool or to say out; 3—the objectives for which the pool is formed must be carried out in good faith.

Here are some of the ways in which pools are used today:

War production associations—To make full use of small industry, the WPB has encouraged the joining together of plants to seek joint war contracts. A string of companies, each capable of making some part of a total war order, together may fill prime war contracts.

Warehousing associations—In big cities, the Office of Defense Transportation has urged the warehousemen to organize an association to pool their space, so that a government contract for a large block of space can be parceled out among the warehouses by the association.

Delivery pools—To have tires, gas and trucks, local merchants, dairies and others are urged to agree on limiting deliveries, or even to pool all delivery trucks into a common service pool.

Transport pooling—The railroads voluntarily have been pooling their motive power, switching engines and lines pinched by a sudden rush in war business.

Even the little guy with his old copy has been asked to pool cars with his neighbors, swapping rides to work and back. In some places, this violates the state law.

Industry committees—The war production job sometimes requires that entire industries work together as a unit. Industry advisory committees set up within WPB have had to request certain action from every member of an industry.

Although anyone is free to use certain business practices approved by war agencies, a system is provided for clearing all pooling agreements and contracts through the anti-trust division of the Justice Department.

Between the war agencies and the lawyers, they have tried to comb out of such agreements any practice tending to create monopoly or to squeeze out competitors.

Thus, lawyers say they would prefer a plan devised to save 70,000 miles of rubber a week and avoid any danger of a squeeze play to a plan which saved 100,000 miles of rubber at the risk of setting up a monopoly.

A delivery pool which attempted to split up a city into exclusive territories, assigning one zone to each subscribing business house, would be rejected as eliminating competition.

Neither in delivery pools, warehouse pools or war production pools can membership be refused any eligible firm without good reason.

This bid for business cooperation in the war effort has brought bitter memories of the Madison, Wis., oil case to the minds of some business men, and they have called for guarantees that prosecution as anti-trust violators will not be the reward for their trouble.

Justice lawyers have argued, on the other hand, that under their system of clearance for such war-time pools any group could get the attorney general's approval for necessary collaboration, and that no one abiding by the documents need fear prosecution, either now or later.

The present attorney general Francis Biddle, has followed the policy laid down a year ago by the now Justice Robert H. Jackson that acts performed in good faith and within the fair intent of war agency requests would not be prosecuted.

At present, two bills are pending in congress which would carry this process one step farther. One proposal would take the matter out of the attorney general's hands for the duration. They provide, in general, that nothing in the anti-trust laws shall be deemed to prevent a businessman or group of businessmen from engaging in any activity which has been found by the WPB to be in the interests of the war effort.

UNFAIR TO LOVE

Chapter 17
Sentimental Nonsense!
Paul Pennell came out. He had removed his mustache, and was smoking a cigarette in a long hold-over.
"Hello, Kathleen!" he said. "Hello, Joe!"
"Hello!" said Joe. "Do you feel avuncular toward us all?"
"Oh, no," said Paul. "I step out of my role entirely when the curtain falls."
"You discard it like an old rag," said Ruby.
"Right!" said Paul. He frowned at Ruby. "But I never wear it like one." He turned to Kathleen. "I hear the plans are all made for the barbecue. I'm as excited about it as a kid. Almost like looking forward to the coming of a circus."
"I hope," said Joe, "there won't be too much clowning."
Ruby laughed. Paul looked annoyed.

A voice called to them from the inside.
"Curtain in three minutes!" it said.
"See you after the show," said Ruby. She hurried off, tossing aside her cigarette.
"Stick around," Paul said to Kathleen. "Maybe we can manage cold drinks. You know we're running a refreshment stand in connection with the theater." He laughed a bit too gaily. "May help keep us out of the red." The show make-up don't they?" said Joe. "I mean—anywhere but on the stage."
"Oh, I don't know," said Kathleen. "They sort of fascinate me."
"They would," said Joe. "Come on, let's climb back into the hay-loft."

"I wish," said Kathleen, "that you'd forget it was a barn for at least five minutes."
"All right, honey, I will," said Joe. "For exactly five minutes."
Once more they climbed the narrow steps to the balcony which had once been a place wherein hay was stored. Once more they sat down. And once more Joe felt for and found Kathleen's hand.

After the Show
When the final curtain fell upon the play, the audience seemed to be in no hurry to leave. A number of people went over to the refreshment stand about which Paul had told Kathleen and Joe. Several members of the theatrical company were working there. Daisy Doran was one of them. She had not appeared in the last act, and now wearing slacks and a shirt, she was behind an improvised counter, selling soft drinks. The juvenile was with her.

Joe saw them and smiled, noting how the girls were all patronizing the juvenile's end of the counter while the men clustered around Daisy.

"Let's get a drink," Joe said to Kathleen. "I'm thirsty."
"Thanks," said Kathleen. She and Joe went over and joined the crowd. There was laughter, gay chatter, and now and then a snatch of song. One man had poured whiskey into his lemonade, and was feeling extraordinarily good-humored. The girl with him was trying very hard to make him quiet down.

"Hello, Daisy!" said Joe.
"Oh, hello, Joe, honey!" said Daisy. "I thought I saw you in the audience tonight."

"You bet I was there," said Joe. "Have to write my review."
"Goodness, and I was simply awful! I really should have had the lead, only I wasn't mature enough."
"You weren't so awful," said Joe—and caught himself.

"Praise be, I was worse than none at all!" said Daisy sadly. "I suppose I'll have to take what you say about me and like it. But just wait until I play that little Southern gal in the Civil War play we're going to try out!"
"Okay, I'll wait," said Joe. He paid for the drinks, and took them over to where Kathleen was waiting. "It seems," he said, "that little Daisy Doran is going to play a Southern gal."
"No!" said Kathleen, shocked.

Week-End Double Headers Turn Out Double Victories

YANKEES AND DODGERS ADD TO THEIR LEAD

Athletics And Yanks Split A Double Bill

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
Major Leagues enjoyed a rest day after the busiest weekend of the season, which brought disaster in double doses to many of the pennant contenders and success in the same quantities to those who could withstand the pressure of four tilts in two days.

A total of 392,280 fans swarmed to the ball parks.

Here are some of the more important happenings witnessed:

The New York Yankees strengthened their American league lead to eight games, although their eight-game winning streak was snapped by the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday.

The Brooklyn Dodgers boosted their lead in the National league to six games by stopping the Boston Braves twice yesterday after dividing a pair with the New York Giants the day before.

The Cleveland Indians skidded into fourth place in the American league while the Detroit Tigers took over second place and the Boston Red Sox moved up a notch to third.

The St. Louis Cardinals replaced the Boston Braves in second place in the National league by winning two out of three over the week-end while the Braves managed only an even split in four games.

Mel Ott, playing his 17th year in the majors—all with the Giants—tied Rogers Hornsby's national league record of 1,582 runs batted in by trying two runs across in yesterday's twin triumph over the Philadelphia Phils. It took Hornsby 23 seasons to establish the mark, which is considerably lower than Babe Ruth's major league record of 2,209.

As for the games themselves, two of yesterday's scheduled double-headers were cut in half by the weather, but five of the six played resulted in double victories.

The lone exception was at Philadelphia, where the Yankees came from behind with a seven-run sixth inning rally to whip the Athletics, 11-7, then bumped into Luman Harris, who checked them on four hits, for a 4-2 decision in the afterpiece.

The St. Louis Browns stopped the Cleveland Indians, 5-4, and 8-3. The Boston Red Sox crushed the Washington Senators, 11-1, and 4-3.

Aging Ten Lyons pitched and batted the Chicago White Sox to a 9-4 ten-inning triumph over the Detroit Tigers, getting three hits in five appearances and touching off a five-inning rally in the tenth.

The second game was halted in the 3rd inning with no score.

The Brooklyn Dodgers won 10-2 over the Braves and took the nightcap to make it unanimous, 3-1.

The Giants got a 3-2 decision over the Phils in the first game, and won the second game, 7-1.

The floundering Pittsburgh Pirates were no trouble for the Cincinnati Reds, who won the opening game, 8-2, and scored a 3-0 shut-out in the nightcap.

The St. Louis Cardinals took a 3-0 decision over the Chicago Cubs. A scheduled second game got no farther than the last half of the first inning.

Portsmouth Wins Two From Bulls

Charlotte, June 1 (AP)—Olv Tony Luzzari was "booshing 'em up" in the New York Yankee style yesterday as his scrappy Portsmouth Cubs took both games of a Piedmont league double header from the Durham Bulls by the identical scores of 2 to 1.

The one-time Yankee second baseman had his Cubs now in second place, take advantage of every opportunity.

Hamil, pitching for the Bulls in the opener, allowed seven hits before being relieved by Haub in the seventh. Liversood went the route for the Cubs, also yielding 7 hits.

Durham out-hit the Cubs, 8-5, in the nightcap. Wozicki, Cub third baseman, got three for three, one of them a three bagger.

Asheville's "right" angle, first baseman was right as he collected ties count while the Tars reached four for four and the Tourists won Johnson for eight to no avail.

Corporal Jim Turnesa slams out of a trap on the 16th hole in the Professional Golfers Association championship at Atlantic City, N. J., bringing the ball within a foot of the cup. By defeating Byron Nelson, the Fort Dix soldier earned the right to meet Sammy Snead in the finals.

6-5 over the Winston-Salem Twins. Dick Sisler, Asheville left fielder and son of the former first baseman and slugger for the St. Louis Browns, continued his hitting pace, getting two for four. Today's Guest Star.
Lawrence Leonard, Richmond Times Dispatch: "Special to say who is happy now? The Navy will hummer everything in sight when the F.G.A. champion enters next week."

Social Note.
Two of the first families of Pittsboro will be joined, appropriately enough, right on Jacobs Beach on June 28 when Pvt. Adam Plante of Camp Union and Jean Monteleith of Detroit will be married at St. Michael's church on W. 40th St.

John is the daughter of Promoter Scotty Monteleith, once manager of Johnny Dundee, and Pvt. Plante is, of course, young Kid McCoy, the crack welterweight. Billy Rose, the ex-middletown champion also is to be married soon—June 14 to Peggy Under of East Greenville, Pa. and Al Braverman was married here last week. All three are married by Joe Gould, who claims with all these weddings he is being divorced from his stable.

Monday Matinee.
Wives of the Birmingham hall players have volunteered to sell war stamps in the booth at Rickwood Field these nights. When Sid Luckman, the Chicago Bears quarterback, gets around to telling Sid, Jr., about his record, a good many linesmen's ears likely will burn, in three seasons, Sid has carried the ball 66 times for a net of minus two yards.

Which brings us to the idea that the Navy Air Corps is signing up so many football players for other reasons than physical training—any coach will tell you the best way to stop an air attack is by rushing the passer. Cleveland and Pittsburgh are bidding against each other for a Bob Pastor-Harry Sawyer fight this summer. After Larry Atkins offered Bob $25,000 to fight in Cleveland, Art Rooney blew in and boosted the ante to $35,000.

Couple Guys Named Joe.
Every time Joseph MorJoseph, leftfielder of the Gloversville-Johnstown club of the Canadian American league, hits a homer, Joseph Joseph, a fan, gives him $1 as a present. So far it has cost Joseph Joseph $4. Naturally Joseph MorJoseph wants to beat his record of 30 homers—Made last year at St. Joseph, Mich., no kidding—which undoubtedly would cost Joseph Joseph more.

Foxs Sold

Boston, June 1—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox today announced that the outright cash sale of first baseman Jimmy Fox to the Chicago Cubs of the National League had been made. No other players were involved, the club announced.

It was necessary for Owner Tom Yawkey to get waivers from other American League clubs in order to make the sale of Fox, who long had been regarded as one of the game's great stars.

Running for Queen

When Pvt. John Turine of New Orleans got a short leave from Camp Polk, Ia., he got home just in time to finish last in the family golf threesome. John fired a 79, his sister, Mrs. Harry McNaughton, former Southern champ, had a 75 and brother George A. 72. Their Dad, the noted pro, remained out of the fuss. He De Paula, the former automobile speed king who was reported to be a civilian instructor in aviation engine maintenance, really is a captain in the air corps technical training command. When Don White, former San Francisco ball player, went to join the Navy, they found his eyes were so bad he was given extra time and special treatment to get by the test. Don was hitting only 463 for the Sox at the time.

New York, June 1 — Study in contrasts—or is it? England's wartime sport has become a week-end affair with players and fans engaged in war work through the week. Saturday two cup final Soccer games drew 120,000 fans. In America baseball is going on a business-as-usual basis and not getting rich from week-day customers. Saturday and Sunday major league double-headers drew 392,000. Looks as if the Athletics might as well save their efforts for occasions when the fans are willing and able to turn out. As further proof, five big

Chicago, June 1.—(AP)—Market uncertainties, lack of demand, excellent crop prospects, shortage of storage facilities and pending farm legislation combined today to force all grain futures prices sharply lower, in several instances to new low seasonal levels.

Wheat finished 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 cents under Friday's final levels, July $1.16 1/2-1/4, September $1.19 1/2-1/4; corn was 1/4-1/2 lower; July 88 1/2-1/4, September 88 1/2-1/4; oats declined 1/4-3/4; rye was off 2 1/4-4; soybeans 1 1/4 to 3/4 and lard was unchanged to 2 1/2 cents a hundred pounds lower.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, June 1.—(AP)—An early rally in today's stock market credited partly to more hopeful war news, failed to follow through with any appreciable strength and initial gains running to a point or so were reduced in many cases after mid-day.

Transfers were around 300,000 shares. Modest advances were well distributed as the session approached the finish but there were plenty of laggards.

Fort Benning Shows Its Might To Latin Americans

Seated in the foreground (top) members of a Latin American army mission watch scores of U. S. army tanks rear into mock battle at Fort Benning, Ga. Seventeen good neighbor nations to the south are represented in the mission. The tanks are M-3 mediums, firing 75mm guns. Bottom: Members of the mission take part in firing tests of a new U. S. army weapon, a power/ul gun mounted on a half-track, half-truck vehicle. This gun goes into action at full speed ahead rather than being pulled and then having to stop and be turned around to fire.

FEWER KILLED OVER HOLIDAY

Week-End Accident Toll Is Much Smaller

By The Associated Press
A nation honoring its dead of other wars even in the midst of a new one found some solace today in counting its smallest Memorial Day holiday death toll in years.

Only 287 violent deaths were reported through the United States during the two-day holiday, as against an average of 400 on a normal May week-end.

Two factors were credited with saving many lives, both connected with the war effort: gasoline rationing kept many Eastern motorists at home and uninterrupted activity in war plants kept many others at their machines.

Thus the nation's highways, on which 308 lives were lost during last year's three-day observance of Memorial Day beginning on Friday claimed less than one-third of that toll this year, 102 persons having been killed in traffic accidents.

The same number of drownings were reported, and 83 others lost their lives through miscellaneous accidents.

Charlotte, N. C., June 1 (AP)—With gas rationing and equipment shortages keeping many automobiles off the highways North Carolina's Memorial Day week-end death toll was greatly below last year's peace time holiday.

At least eight persons lost their lives over the week-end, however, two of them in automobile accidents.

Clifton Doss, 24, of Greensboro, was killed when his taxi overturned near Jacksonville and PFC W. W. Parmlee, a Marine, was seriously injured.

Mrs. Lila Simpson Lawson, 42, was found dead in the kitchen of her apartment at Kingston, her feet loosely bound with a sheet but no other evidence of violence except for a bruised shoulder.

Willie Walker, 14, of near Mt. Holly, was drowned in a swimming hole in South Fork creek near McAdenville and Luther Dale Smith, 9, was drowned when he stepped in a deep hole in Little Alamance creek near Greensboro.

Lester Thorne, 29, of Sims was killed when his automobile overturned.

Thomas Frazier, 68, Rutherford county farmer, was injured fatally when his tractor overturned.

Second Lieut. Leon M. Zele, Jr., 22, a native of Torrington, Conn., and a member of a Morris Field fighter squadron, was killed when his P-40 pursuit plane crashed in a field near Iron Station school, in Lincoln county.

Kenton Whit, 45-year-old operator of a filling station near Norlina, drowned yesterday while swimming in Scott's pond at Ridgeway. State Highway Patrolman Parks Alexander reported.

Four Cases Heard In Police Court

The following cases were tried in Police court today: J. L. Jones, drunk, 30 days in jail, judgment suspended on payment of $5 on the costs; Sylvester Vick, drunk, 30 days, assigned to work the streets, or $25 fine, costs deducted; Esther Williams, drunk, 30 days, judgment suspended on payment of costs; Henry Craft, traffic violation, guilty, prayer for judgment continued.

Five Smothered In Hotel Fire

Greenwood, S. C., June 1 (AP)—Five persons suffocated from smoke fumes that destroyed the Wilson hotel, a small frame structure, here early yesterday.

The dead: J. Richard Hughes, 30, his wife, their two children, J. Richard Hughes, Jr., four, and Margaret Hughes, two, and George Wilson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Wilson, who operated the hotel.

American Women To Aid The British

London, June 1.—(AP)—Another score of American women fliers, hand-picked by Flight Captain Jacqueline Cochrane, was expected today to arrive in Britain soon to join the Air Transport Auxiliary, flying planes from factories to RAF fields.

The ATA disclosed that one out of every nine women in the organization now was an American and that the latest American recruits were selected from among 300 who applied.

Duke Of Winsor Visits Washington

Washington, June 1 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor, governor of the Bahamas, and his Duchess, the former Wallis Simpson of Baltimore, arrived in Washington today for a business visit of undetermined duration.

In contrast to the elaborate reception they received last September, they arrived at Union Station practically unnoticed, and were whisked away immediately to the British embassy.

Almost three hours late on their train trip from Florida, they were met by Sir Ronald Campbell, the minister of the British embassy; Humphrey Clarke, embassy secretary, and Stanley Woodward, assistant chief of protocol of the State Department.

Small Funeral For Barrymore

Los Angeles, June 1 (AP)—Brief and simple funeral services will be held for John Barrymore tomorrow with only 33 persons invited, among them two of the actor's four former wives, Elaine Barrie and Dolores Costello.

Father John O'Donnell of the Immaculate Heart church, who received Barrymore back into the Catholic faith shortly before his death last Friday night, will officiate at requiem mass. The body will be placed in the family crypt.

Sub Officers Laugh As Victims Drown

New York, June 1.—(AP)—Southern waters churned with enemy torpedoes last month as undersea raiders concentrated their fury on allied and neutral shipping in the Gulf of Mexico-Caribbean area.

Piling up a war total of 231 navy-announced sinkings in the western Atlantic from Canada to South America, the submarines picked off 13 victims in the Gulf-Caribbean sector alone.

With the sinking May 20 of two American merchantmen in the Caribbean within sight of each other, and on May 27 of a Norwegian cargo ship in the Gulf, the number of sinkings in that area since Pearl Harbor rose to 75, including 10 vessels sunk last week.

The boldness of the Axis submarines was exemplified by two attacks within three days on the U. S. destroyer Blakely, one on neutral Brazil's commandante Lya—seventh Brazilian ship to be torpedoed—and the sinking of two Mexican oil tankers.

Last week saw the first Gulf appearance of a tiny Axis submarine which sank a medium-sized Norwegian merchantman with three torpedoes.

Elsewhere on this side of the Atlantic the Axis raiders methodically continued activities, accounting for four officially reported sinkings between May 25-31 off the U. S. coast to bring that area's war total to 111 announced sinkings.

Three more victims sent to the bottom off Canada last week brought the total there to 33, while South American waters, where 12 ships have been sunk, went unmentioned for the week, so far as official reports showed.

False Fire Alarm
A call for the fire department from box 14 shortly after 1 p. m. today was a false alarm.

Navy Announces Casualty List

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—The navy while here and set an enviable fourth casualty list of the war today, raising the total of dead wounded and missing to more than 8,500 officers and men.

The new list, covering the period April 16 to May 10, inclusive, added the names of 64 dead, 54 wounded and 2,193 missing.

In the first three casualty lists the navy had reported 2,991 dead, 2,495 missing and 907 wounded. The latest accounting included the names of some missing or dead who previously had been reported wounded.

The casualties include personnel of the navy, marine corps and coast guard and publication was limited generally to the home towns of the men listed except for those nationally known.

In this category was Captain Kenneth M. Hoeft of Washington, D. C., senior naval officer in the Philippines at the time of the fall of Corregidor. The navy previously had presumed him to be a prisoner of the Japanese but in the absence of confirmation through official international channels he is currently regarded as missing.

British Turn Tide . . .

Fuehrer of Great Germany.

"(Signed): Rommel."

Headquarters declared that the Axis withdrawal effort had already "partially succeeded" but said that a large portion of the enemy's tanks and motor transport still was trapped east of the minefields guarding the British defense line stretching south from Ain El Gazala to Bir Hacheim, 50 miles inland.

These forces, part of a column which swept around Bir Hacheim last week and cut in behind the British line, are being attacked relentlessly by British armored units and planes, the communique said.

The portion of the Axis forces that already have withdrawn to the west succeeded in working their way through gaps in the minefields and have concentrated a considerable force of anti-tank artillery in an attempt to prevent British mechanized units from closing the gaps, the bulletin added.

British artillery and bombing planes were said to have the minefield gaps under continuous bombardment.

It appeared that the battle was entering a decisive phase and British military leaders yesterday expressed cautious optimism over the outcome.

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's armored forces were reported to have been badly battered, but it was not immediately clear whether the Axis withdrawal was necessitated by heavy losses or by inability to move up adequate gasoline and water supplies over extended communication lines.

An RAF communique yesterday declared British planes had knocked out 400 enemy vehicles in the preceding 48 hours, in addition to uncounted numbers destroyed by the Imperial land forces.

British headquarters said the general situation was "not unfavorable"—a statement to which General Sir Claude Auchinleck added color by dispatching a jubilant message of congratulation to his troops "Well done, eighth army." Auchinleck told the fighters, "Stick to him. Do not leave him. Do not let him get away. Give him no rest. Good luck to you all."

The Chinese communique reported—

ed further successes around Ichang, strategic port on the middle Yangtze which marks the high point of Japan's thrust into the heart of China. There, Chinese forces which have been driving toward the city were said to have made new gains.

A new Japanese advance in Chekiang province was reported offset by the Chinese recapture of Changshien and Changshien, northeast Chekiang towns through which the Japanese invasion tide rolled last month.
