Axis Forces In Siege Of Tobruk

German broadcast claims strong hold surrounded; British forces fighting to defend Egyptian border; London says fall of Tobruk would not be fatal

Berlin. (From German Broadcasts). June 19. (AP)—The German and Italian North African armies have completed the encirclement of Tobruk and laid siege to that strategic Libyan port, German military quarters announced today.

Cairo, Egypt, June 19.—(AP)—Leaving back after withdrawing to strong new positions along the Egyptian frontier, British desert fighters were harassing the right flank of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Axis armies today in an effort to reduce pressure on Tobruk.

That stronghold apparently was virtually cut off from overland communications by the British withdrawal and the Germans were reported moving up great nine-inch guns—the largest mobile weapons ever used in the desert—to bring it under siege.

In an attempt to impede these operations, a British communiqué disclosed, swift mechanized units of Gen. Neil M. Ritchie's eighth army swept out from the new border defense line and knifed in behind Rommel's forces in a swift surprise attack from the south.

The communiqué indicated that the Tobruk defenders were holding strong positions and the post appeared in no immediate danger. Re-establishment of the imperial forces followed withdrawal, announced yesterday, from the desert towns of El Adem and Sid Barrani, south and southeast of Tobruk, the Mediterranean port which the British have held almost 17 months through offensive and counter-offensive.

"Our mobile forces, operating from the south, are confining enemy columns to the coastal belt," a communiqué said.

A British column in these roving operations was reported to have shelled enemy troops on the El Adem airfield.

"Our troops in the Tobruk area yesterday destroyed three enemy tanks and damaged four others," the communiqué said, indicating that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Axis spearheads already were striking in force at the port's outer lines.

With the main body of the British eighth army already withdrawn to new positions near the frontier, it appeared certain that Rommel would try to seize Tobruk and remove that threat to his left flank before trying to push further eastward.

Observers believed that so much of the German leader's striking power had been spent in the past 26 days of continuous desert fighting that he was in no position to press a general offensive at the present time.

London, June 19.—(AP)—Possession of Tobruk is "not essential" to a successful British defense of the Egyptian border, a British military commentator said today, but all indications are that Gen. Neil M. Ritchie intends to hold the besieged seaport fortress despite the difficulties of supplying it.

German 210-millimeter guns already are pounding at Tobruk's outer perimeter of defenses, the commentator said, but "enemy air activity has died down" as a result of highly effective bombings of German landing fields at Ain El Gasala and in (Continued On Page Two)

Fair Likely To Be Cancelled

Whether the American Legion Sponsoring Pitt county fair will be held this year will depend entirely upon the wishes of the government, fair officials stated here this morning, following reports that the office of Defense Transportation had issued a request that all state and county fairs be postponed until after the war.

The matter of not holding this year's fair was given consideration by the fair board immediately after our country's entry into the war last December, but following the requests from both President Roosevelt and the Department of Agriculture that the fairs be held, the local board went ahead with contracts to hold the annual affair in October.

Dog-Fights

London, June 19 (AP)—Four German fighting planes, Focke-Wulf-109's, were destroyed, others were damaged and three Spitfires were lost this morning in dogfights off the Belgian coast, Air Ministry sources announced.

The combat followed an attack by the RAF on three Messerschmitts, one of which was so badly damaged that it had to be bailed. The other two were "severely damaged."

PREDICT DRIVE AGAINST REDS

Chungking, June 19.—(AP)—The Japanese threat of overland invasion of Fukien province in a smash south from eastern Kiangsi increased tonight as the Chinese high command disclosed that the invaders had made new advances south from Kwangtung.

A communiqué reported fighting at many different points in Kiangsi province, as well as in Chekiang, to the east, while the Chinese strove to disrupt Japanese communications.

The Chinese were said to have recaptured Kiangsi, 80 miles south of the Japanese Kiangsi base at Nanchang, thus checking one of the invaders' thrusts toward Fukien.

The high command added that "the siege of Nanchang continues" and said the defenders of the Japanese base were being pressed hard and suffering heavy casualties. Nanchang has been under attack for more than a week by the Chinese who have driven near the city from the west in an effort to divert Japanese pressure from the south and southeast.

High Chinese quarters asserted today that fresh private information they received here convinced them that Japan intended to strike at Siberia some time in July.

(Soviet Russia and Japan have a five-year neutrality and friendship pact which was signed April 13, 1941, and which has been respected despite the fact that Japan is at war against the United States and Great Britain, allies of Russia and Great Germany.)

They said that withdrawals from the Philippines, the Netherlands East Indies and other theaters of war brought Japanese forces in Manchuria to the original strength of 33 divisions.

To Oppose Motor Freight Increase

A representative of the Office of Price Administration will attend a meeting of North Carolina shippers at Norfolk, Va., next Tuesday, to confer with them on the proposed increasing of motor carrier truck rates from Norfolk to Portsmouth to numerous points in this state and South Carolina and a few in Virginia.

Unless shippers at Norfolk and receivers in North Carolina support the Office of Price Administration by appearing at the hearing and testifying in opposition to the increases it will be difficult to defeat them, Kyszer said. The Interstate Commerce Commission, incidentally, is interested in hearing direct from those who would be adversely affected by the increased rates.

The order increasing the rates was suspended until January 15, 1943, when a hearing will be held at Charlotte.

Urges Government Buy Tires Off Private Cars

Washington, June 19.—(AP)—Wendell Lund, director of the WPB's labor production division, contended today that "tires on non-essential private automobiles must be purchased by the government and allocated to war workers who are cooperating fully in carrying full loads of fellow workers."

MORE VESSELS SUNK BY SUBS

Total Announced For Week Is Now Up To Fourteen

(By The Associated Press) The announced total of submarine-sunk Allied and neutral ships in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor stood at 278 today while four more were reported.

Latest announced sinkings, which brought to 14—and possibly 15, if the Bogota report was true—the number of merchantmen reported lost this week, were those of a small Norwegian vessel in the Gulf of Mexico and a small Dutch freighter in the Caribbean.

A single torpedo from an Axis sub sank the Norwegian ship in three minutes, June 14, the Navy announced yesterday, killing two crewmen and injuring four others. Scene of the attack was so close to shore that 20 survivors rowed their crowded lifeboat into port 15 hours later.

Sinking of the 1,400-ton Dutch ship Flora off Point Pajaro Wednesday night was reported by the Bogota newspaper Lacazon, which said two U-boats sent it to the bottom after an exchange of shell-fire. Colombian vessels rescued 30 crew members and six passengers, La Razon said, and recovered the body of the ship's first engineer.

The Navy announced today that a small United States merchant vessel had been shelled and sunk by an enemy submarine in the Caribbean and that survivors had been landed at an east coast port.

Survivors said that a lookout had spotted the submarine surfacing (Continued on Page Six)

Greenville Needs $65 Go Over Top

In some patriotic citizens will send us just $65 today Greenville will go over the top in raising its quota of $1,000 for United Service Organization (USO), John G. Clark stated today.

"We reported in the Reflector yesterday a total of $1,676.60. Since then we received $108.50, sending the total to $1,785.10. If we get that $65 today everybody will be happy and the money will do much for the comfort and enjoyment of the boys in the armed forces," Clark said.

Guests at the supper session included Garret Stanfield and Bruce O. Barker.

Churchill Visit Revives Talk Of A Second Front

Early Says Talk Of Second Front 'Perfectly Justified'

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL Washington, June 19.—(AP)—Britain's Prime Minister and America's President put their heads together at a secret rendezvous today over win-the-war strategy, and an abundance of factors added to a conviction on either side of the Atlantic that they were weighing plans for opening a second battlefield in Europe.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said he considered speculation of a second front "perfectly justified."

It was Early who had announced last night that Winston Churchill, England's picturesquely war leader, had come to the United States a second time within seven months, bringing with him some of his top-flight military advisers, for conferences on "the war, the conduct of the war, and the winning of the war."

The spectacular flight of Churchill and his party to this country converted it for the time being into headquarters for a major segment of the United States high command of the United Nations. The entire world looked toward Washington, as a result, for portentous decisions which might start the war off on a new and fateful tangent.

But the President's usual Friday press conference was cancelled, and Early said no statements need be expected either from Mr. Roosevelt or the Prime Minister during the rest of the week.

"There was not the slightest tendency here to minimize the significance of a Roosevelt-Churchill deliberation coming as they did so soon after Russia's Foreign Commissar, V. M. Molotov, had made secret visits to London and Washington."

As soon as Molotov was safely back in Moscow, announcements were forthcoming of an Anglo-Russian (See EARLY Page Four)

SAYS SECOND FRONT URGENT

Molotov Makes Report To Supreme Soviet

Moscow June 19.—(AP)—Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov emphasized anew the "urgent task" of creating a second European front in 1942 before the Supreme Soviet last night and expressed the hope that "our common enemy will soon experience to his cost the results of the ever-growing military collaboration" of Soviet Russia, Britain and the United States.

Home from his historic meetings in London and Washington, Molotov presented to the Supreme Soviet the 20-year mutual assistance treaty he negotiated in London and received its ceremonial approval, with Premier Joseph Stalin watching and occasionally nodding agreement. Molotov said the treaty consolidated British-Russian relations into a "stable alliance" for the war and the post-war period.

Jaycees To Help Navy Recruiting

The Junior Chamber of Commerce last night pledged to Chief Petty Officer Jimmie Stevenson, U. S. Navy recruiting officer, that they will cooperate in securing enlistments for the navy. In an informal talk to the trade body Stevenson explained how the group can arouse interest and encourage enlistments. Young men interested may secure information from President Jimmie Harris or any of the Jaycees. Information and application blanks will be available within a few days.

Cam Petner reported that a "bulletin of local news" will be published regularly next week and sent to men in the armed services.

Guests at the supper session included Garret Stanfield and Bruce O. Barker.

Of the scrap obtained, about 700,000 pounds of aluminum ingot

London Predicts Postponement Second Front Till 1943

By ROBERT BUNELLE London, June 19.—(AP)—One of the main purposes of Prime Minister Churchill's current visit to the United States is believed in some quarters to be enlistment of additional British States help in holding the Middle East against expected German thrusts from Libya toward Egypt and from the Russian Ukraine into the Caucasus.

The extreme gravity of the Libyan-Egyptian situation was viewed today by competent sources as likely to postpone until 1943 any really big United Nations land offensive in Western Europe, although commando raids may be increased.

The hit-and-run raids would meet the clamor for a second European front now—something which the British main-in-the-street hopes will be held in Churchill's newest Washington visit.

Strategists know that Egypt must be held if the allies are to bar Hitler from the Middle Eastern oil fields and they know that it is the main bastion against Nazi union with the Japanese somewhere east of Suez for a sharing of the riches of the Indies and a cutting of allied supply lines to southern Russia.

The presence of American army bombers and other war equipment in this theater proves President Roosevelt's regard for the importance of Egypt and the Suez canal, just as the successes of the Axis commander Marshal Rommel prove that the present forces in the Middle East still are not enough for safety.

From a purely military standpoint, Rommel's success means: 1. The British may have to divert some troops and thus leave the country adjacent to oil-rich Iraq open to a Nazi air-borne invasion just at a time when there are increasing reports of German glider exercises in the region of Crete. 2. The Germans probably will start heavy bombing raids on Alexandria.

REPORT LOSS OF DESTROYER

British Vessel Sunk Off The French Coast

London, June 19.—(AP)—A wild sea and air melee 100 miles off the French Atlantic coast on Wednesday resulted in the destruction of four Spanish fishing trawlers, the 1,200-ton British destroyer Wild Swan and half of an attacking force of 12 German dive-bombers was disclosed today by the British Admiralty.

Chronologically, this was what happened, according to the Admiralty communiqué: 1. A dozen Junkers-88's roared on the 22-year-old destroyer on Wednesday evening and "took turns" to draw attention to a Spanish trawler fleet which was fishing in the vicinity," as the Admiralty expressed it.

2. Three of the little Spanish vessels were sunk and a fourth was damaged. 3. The Wild Swan shot down four of the 12 Junkers, and two others which probably were winged by the destroyer's guns, collided and crashed into the sea.

27-Year-Old Tire Salvaged In Falkland

Youngsters are now cashing in on the value of old rubber tires. Boys and girls found out the old relics are good for several soft drinks or air-bears. Meanwhile the piles of salvaged rubber for the government are increasing. Riddick and Mangum, Fountain automobile dealers, brought in an antique tire in an antique Ford of 1916 vintage, received their compensation and were merrily off down the road in the puddle-jumping jollity that is credited with some unusual feats, including climbing a small tree during a rainstorm 27 years ago.

A former United States Army pilot, he flew more than 1,200,000 miles as a commercial aviator in the United States.

LAST RITES FOR E. G. FLANAGAN

Hundreds Attend Funeral Of Prominent Citizen

Attended by hundreds of sorrowing friends, funeral services for E. G. Flanagan were conducted at the home, 802 Evans street, at five o'clock yesterday afternoon followed by burial in Cherry Hill cemetery.

Mr. Flanagan, prominent banker, business man, state highway commissioner and former legislator, died suddenly at his summer home, Atlantic Beach, Wednesday morning.

Headed by state and national officials including citizens of all walks of life from both the white and Negro races, the large crowd in attendance and the tremendous floral tributes were evidences of the esteem in which Mr. Flanagan was held in his home community and throughout the state. City and county offices and the majority of local business houses closed at five o'clock for the funeral as a mark of respect for the deceased.

Among the out of town people here for the funeral were U. S. Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren, Governor J. M. Broughton, Lieutenant Governor R. L. Harbin, Associate Supreme Court Justice Emory B. Denny, State Highway Chairman L. Ben Price, Congressman Herbert C. Bonner, Judge H. S. Burgwyn, I. T. Van Patten, vice president of the National Bank of Commerce, Norfolk; J. C. Connors, sales manager Ford Motor Company, Norfolk; T. Bodie Ward, Raleigh; Jack Spain, Washington, D. C.; W. I. Old North State's Best, Scott Says

Lieutenant Franklin H. Scott, of Greenville, United States Army Air Corps, now stationed at Phoenix, Ariz., spending his furlough with his people in Greenville, said that his people in North Carolina looked mighty good to him after a 2,900-mile journey homeward. He said this state is the best place in the world, but he will be glad when he gets a chance to see Tokyo and some other important places in Japan.

Scott has been in the service two years. He was first at Fort Worth, Texas, then Randolph and Brooks fields, and was then transferred to Stockton, Calif., later going to Arizona.

Scrap Aluminum Drive Falls Far Short Of Goal

By WILLIAM NEEDHAM Washington, June 19.—(AP)—In the midst of the government's campaign to salvage scrap rubber, War Production Board officials discovered today that the famous "pots-and-pans" aluminum collection drive last year turned up less than half of the metal they had expected.

For months, it was learned, WPB has been attempting to obtain conclusive and final reports on success or failure of the one-week aluminum campaign last July. Finally what amounted to an official investigation was undertaken and a complete statistical report prepared.

The report, it was understood, showed that a total of about 11,200,000 pounds of aluminum and other scrap were collected—compared with the 20,000,000 pounds which had been predicted. Of this scrap, only 6,400,000 pounds was in the form of aluminum, contrasted with a 15,000,000 pound forecast.

Of the scrap obtained, about 700,000 pounds of aluminum ingot

Stampa First

Washington, June 19 (AP)—The Treasury Department said today it expected a heavy sale of $5 automobile use tax stamp stickers this month as motorists in the Eastern States where gasoline rationing is in effect must have them in order to get ration books in July.

The stamps will cover the period from July 1 to June 30, 1943, and the treasury said they would have to be bought by any motorists getting a gasoline ration book at any time before that date.

U. S. BOMBERS RAID RUMANIA

Blasted Oil Fields And Black Sea Port

Istanbul, Turkey, June 18 (delayed)—(AP)—A Bucharest resident who saw United States bombers over the Rumanian capital in broad daylight said today it was reported in Bucharest that they had raided Constanta, Rumania's chief Black Sea port, as well as the oil center of Ploesti.

The raids were made last week. Four of the planes later landed in Turkey.

The witness, who left Bucharest a few days ago, said the American planes arrived over Bucharest shortly after an alert was sounded at 4:30 A.M. Friday. He said he did not know their number, but believed there were only a few.

Heavy anti-aircraft fire greeted them, and pursuit planes took to the air. No bombs fell in Bucharest, but it was reported that both Constanta and Ploesti had been hit.

Information in Bucharest he said, was that bombs dropped at Ploesti, an important refinery town north of Bucharest, did little damage except to a siphon plant and that the refineries escaped damage.

There were no reports that the oil fields themselves were bombed and he had no details on the raid at Constanta, Rumanian Black Sea port.

Rumanians were astounded by the appearance of the American planes over Bucharest, he added, and many ran for shelter. Excitement was especially high among the Germans living at the Athens Palace Hotel, Bucharest's alert lasted two hours.

Rankin Says Crops Need Rain Badly

In his crop report issued last Tuesday R. C. Rankin, supervisor of sales of the Greenville tobacco market, stated that while conditions in the East Belt, when taken as a whole, were good yet there was enough difference in various localities to make the term "slightly spotted" applicable. "In some counties," said Rankin, "sections have had plenty of rain and have not felt the effect of dry weather; in other sections the situation is just the opposite."

Rankin said today that conditions were getting worse daily in these sections that were suffering the first of the week and that those communities which reported sufficient rain were beginning to suffer now. It was his opinion dry weather was beginning to take its toll and every day without rain would take weight and quality from the crop. Pitt county probably being affected more than any other in the Belt.

Thornton Ryan To Be Navy Agent

Thornton Ryan, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Ryan of this city, is one of approximately one hundred people in the United States who will be enrolled July 1 by the Navy in the special Navy Japanese Language course to be given at the University of California Extension, University of Colorado, Boulder, Colorado.

During his senior year at Duke University Ryan completed a Chinese language course which has given him some preparation for this Japanese course since the Japanese language has to a certain extent been adapted from Chinese. Successful completion of this intensive course will qualify him as a competent translator and interpreter of Japanese.

Upon the successful completion of the course Ryan will apply for a commission as an officer in the United States Naval Reserve. There is a rumor to the effect that he will be sent to Tokyo to sell war bonds.

Say Drive On Sevastopol Costing Germans Heavily; Germans Counter With Claim Of Having Stormed Fortresses Guarding The Vital Black Sea Naval Base

By HENRY C. CASSIDY Moscow, June 19.—(AP)—Waning of Germany's offensive power was implied by a Russian military writer to-day, and the Soviet Information Bureau said Nazi shock troops again had lost heavily during fierce but futile attacks upon Sevastopol.

Coincident with the opening of the third week of the Axis drive against Sevastopol, German naval base besieged since last November 7, it was disclosed that drenching thunderstorms had slowed fighting in an associated operation on the Kharlov front, 400 miles to the north.

A communiqué said Russian units in a Kharlov front area had killed more than 1,000 Germans and destroyed nine tanks in repelling attacks over a three-day period. The dates were not announced.

Northwest of Moscow, the Germans were reported driven out of several positions on the Kalinin front.

"Bombers were taken and war material was seized," the communiqué said.

(Russian officials ignored a declaration by the German high command that its forces had stormed Sevastopol's northern fortifications and were within two miles of the harbor entrance.)

The heroic defenders of Sevastopol courageously and staunchly held off numerous German attacks," the newspaper Russia struck at yesterday's comment.

One Russian company struck at two German companies, the bureau related, killing 100 and forcing the survivors into "a disorderly retreat." An artillery battery annihilated 300 Germans in defense of the base, the bureau said.

Soviet air units, ranging waterways as well as the land front from the Arctic to the Black sea, were credited with sinking an Axis transport and a patrol boat and damaging five minesweepers and a patrol ship Wednesday.

Maj. Gen. Nikola Zhuraviev, military adviser of the Moscow News, said the Germans were throwing increasing numbers of troops and equipment against Sevastopol, but their position remained unchanged.

Russian estimates earlier that Gen. Erich von Manstein had marshaled 125,000 soldiers for the onslaught, Zhuraviev said Soviet fighters and ground gunners had cut heavily into the German air fleet there, reducing the scale of the aerial attacks seven-fold.

At the same time the writer declared that Field Marshal Gen. Fedor von Bock's offensive before Sevastopol (Continued On Page Two)

Upon the successful completion of the course Ryan will apply for a commission as an officer in the United States Naval Reserve. There is a rumor to the effect that he will be sent to Tokyo to sell war bonds.

However, no assurance can be given in advance as to the duties to which he will be assigned, except that he will be placed on active duty where full and effective use can be made of his special qualifications in the use of Japanese.

He will be enrolled in the status of a naval agent under a civilian contract when he reports to the Professor of Naval Science and Tactics, University of California Extension, University of Colorado, Boulder, Colorado. The course, which will be under Navy auspices and administration, will be taught by a staff of Japanese-American instructors. As soon as possible after instruction begins Ryan will apply for induction into Class V-4 Reserve Training, which class will be assigned to active duty in that status.

The WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MacKENZIE Wide-World News Analyst

British Premier Churchill's arrival for another conference with President Roosevelt is an inspiring indication of Allied alertness and coordination of effort at this crucial moment when decisive military actions are on the fire. It's natural that speculation over the opening of a second front should mushroom overnight, in view of the pressure from Moscow and the recent allied agreement on "the urgent tasks of creating a second front in Europe in 1942." Without doubt this burning question will figure in the Roosevelt-Churchill talks, but that can't be the sole subject for consideration, since there are numerous other vital problems which warrant this unexpected but very surprising meeting.

B. Parks and Mrs. Mamie Rumley of Greenville, and Mrs. C. T. Dixon of Wilson.

Mrs. A. C. Monk and Mrs. C. S. Eggle of Saratoga, directed guests to the refreshment table, where Mrs. John B. Lewis and Mrs. Arthur F. Joyner served from punch bowls placed at each end. Assisting were Miss Mary Leah Thorne, Mrs. L. E. Flowers and Mrs. E. O. Taylor. Mrs. J. O. Pollard registered the two hundred guests who called during the tea hour.

Mrs. Elks Honored At Bridge

Mrs. Elks, Mrs. C. R. Townsend and her daughter, Miss Neta Lee Townsend, entertained recently at the DAR Chapter House in Paroville at a tea in compliment to Mrs. Townsend's niece, Miss Fannie Spottswood Cooper of Greenville, whose engagement to Edwin Pou, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ross Pou of Raleigh, has been announced. Mrs. B. S. Smith and Mrs. J. H. Harris welcomed the guests. Mrs. Louise D. Harris introduced the receiving line composed of Mrs. C. R. Townsend, Miss Neta Lee Townsend, Miss Fannie Spottswood Cooper, Mrs. M. E. Dixon, Mrs. Carroll D. Oglesby, Mrs. P. T. Jones, Miss Verriec Lang Jones, Miss Mary Friar House, Mrs. George Wilkerson, Mrs. Fred Moore, Mrs. Louise Dixon, Mrs. C. B. Mashburn, Mrs. S. T. White, Mrs. Travis Hooker, Mrs. Fred Forbes, Mrs. W. B. Parks and Mrs. Mamie Rumley of Greenville, and Mrs. C. T. Dixon of Wilson.

The honor guest was presented a corsage of white carnations and fern. Cut flowers were used for decorations throughout the home. Twelve tables were arranged for bridge and two for Chinese checkers. Mrs. E. W. Davenport won high for bridge, receiving a set of book ends, and Miss Belle Kearney was low in bridge, receiving a bottle of Dorothy Perkins cologne. The slam prize was won by Miss Helen Dixon of Ayden, and Mrs. D. H. Conley. There being only one prize for this, it was necessary to have the two winners cut for high. Mrs. Conley cut high, and was given a box of Dorothy Perkins dusting powder. The bingo prize, a large box of Pond's cleansing tissues, went to Mrs. John Timberlake. For high score in Chinese checkers, Mrs. J. E. Collins was awarded a bottle of Dorothy Perkins cologne. The "honoree" was remembered by each of the hostesses with a piece of silver or crystal in her chosen pattern.

During the first progression of bridge, Refreshments were served, and after the third progression, ice cream, cake and salted nuts were served, carrying out the green and white color scheme. While the tables were being cleared, slips of paper were passed out to the guests. Each guest was requested to write a wish to the bride. While this was going on, the doorbell rang, which was a call for Mrs. Robert Elks. She answered the door to find, much to her surprise, several large bags filled with useful and beautiful gifts which the guests had brought to shower her. The gifts were opened and consisted of silver, china, crystal and many other useful things. The guests declared, declaring to the hostesses that they had spent a very pleasant evening.

U. D. C. Meeting
The George B. Singletary chapter of the United Daughters of Confederacy met with Mrs. R. C. Deal on Eighth street on Thursday morning, with a good number of the members present. Lovely arrangements of mixed spring flowers were used throughout the home. Cold drinks with cheese biscuits and cookies were served. Mrs. E. W. Harvey, president, presided over the interesting business session that followed. After the reading of the minutes, the treasurer's report was given. Mrs. Fleming reported that the book plates had been placed in the Confederate books for the library and were now on the Confederate shelves there, ready for use. It was brought to the attention of the members that Mrs. J. H. Randolph had contributed another valuable book for this collection about Jefferson Davis' life in prison, written by his doctor. Mrs. Hollingsworth, historian, reported that four essays had been sent in for the recent high school contest and one essay written by one of our members for the U. D. C. contest for members. A letter from Mrs. Adah Johnson, state historian, was read, in which she asked that historical work in schools be emphasized, and that historical birthdays be observed, even in spite of the times. Mrs. Fleming moved that a prize of $5 be given by our chapter to the high school pupil of Greenville high school writing the best paper on the "Causes of the War Between the States." Mrs. Deal, chairman of Civilian Defense, reported on the

Immanuel Baptist Organist Resigns

The Music Committee of the Immanuel Baptist church announces with regret the resignation of Miss Beth Howell as organist and choir director of the church. Miss Howell has served in that capacity for the past two years, during which time she was also director of religious education. In announcing the resignation of Miss Howell to the congregation in business session last Sunday, the Music Committee also presented a resolution of appreciation for the services rendered by Miss Howell during her tenure. Also, it was announced that Mrs. Jean Davenport, popular organist of this city, would serve the church for the immediate present. At the time it is not known just where Miss Howell will locate. She is at home in Suffolk, Va., for a brief vacation with her parents before assuming other duties.

JAPS HAVE NEW MODEL PLANES

Allies Break-Up 62nd Raid On Port Moresby

Allied Headquarters, Australia, June 18 (AP)—Attacking for a third time in the past three days, Japanese heavy bombers—this time 18 strong with a formidable fighter escort—struck today at Port Moresby harbor installations. It was the first raid on the Allied base in New Guinea.

The allied fighters based there were reported to have been outnumbered by the enemy but the defenses delivered strong opposition. One Zero pilot attacked three Zero fighters, broke up one with his cannon fire and saw another go diving with smoke pouring from the motor.

During the brief combat two enemy planes were hit by cannon and machine-gun fire.

Allied fighters pursued the Japanese more than 100 miles after the raid. Seven Zeros waiting for the return of the attack formation killed the Japanese after the attack on their way home.

Japan fliers were reported by an air force spokesman to be using two new type planes in the southwest Pacific—a lightened Zero fighter and a cannon-bearing medium bomber—and losing their explosives even less accurately than they did over the Philippines.

The spokesman said standard United States models such as the B-26 medium bomber and the P-39 and P-40 fighters had countered the new craft.

"The Japanese are not very clever about bombing," he told a press conference. "If they had a good bomb-sight and could use it they would be better off. They are using an electrical automatic optical bomb-sight similar to one I saw in Germany in 1938. It is not particularly accurate."

"An example of poor Japanese bombing procedure is their use of balloons for wind drift, which is downright silly. It is kindergarten stuff."

At Port Moresby (advanced allied base in New Guinea) they are using white smoke to get the wind drift. The Japanese are bombing less accurately than in the Philippines, where they were erratic. A formation of 18 heavy bombers, escorted by fighters, was reported by General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters to have unsuccessfully attacked the harbor area of Port Moresby yesterday, "damaging one small ship."

"Our interceptors destroyed one Zero fighter and two bombers," the spokesman said. "We lost two planes in combat."

The air force spokesman said the new Japanese fighter was a fast, high altitude performer with a horsepower well above 670 of its predecessors.

The plane is so lightly constructed, however, that the cockpit invariably crumples in a crash-landing, the spokesman declared.

Performing best at 26,000 feet, the new Japanese bomber was reported to fly 370 miles an hour. The spokesman said it was larger than Japan's older medium bomber.

To reach every home in the collection of scrap rubber which is under way, we are asking every farm family, every one in each home to put on a rubber hunt. We want every one to see how much rubber they will be able to find. You will have to work in a hurry because the campaign will end at midnight June 30. All scrap rubber can be taken to filling stations. Once in a great while there comes at time when every body can help in this case the baby can give up its rubber doll, the house wife can give up her rubber pot holders, and even her rubber shoe heels. Let us do all in our power for the next few days to gather rubber, until we can't find any. A meeting of all neighborhood leaders was held in the agricultural building Tuesday, June 16th. This meeting was well attended by the leaders of Pitt county and was for the purpose of shaping a map of Pitt county.

If one were to seek a name for that day they would do well to name it "together day." The leaders in their fellowship with each other found their strength. Old friendship made. They too, enjoyed hearing Mr. Leggett, program planning specialist, Mr. B. Trotter, Ferguson, district agent, Mr. John W. Mitchell, Negro State Agent, tell them about the fine work they are doing. Too much can't be said about the way Mr. Heston, County Agent, Mr. Win. Slaughter, Mr. Weeks, assistant county agent, Miss Joyner and Miss Kerby, Home Agents, turned aside from their work and came in to the meeting and helped in so many ways to make the meeting a success.

The day was well spent. It began with the unhurried togetherness of the leaders by prayer and singing "God Bless America." In a few days, come into the office of the Negro Farm and home agent and you can see this map and the names of each community and neighborhood. Don't let seed-time cease and harvest time will always come. Just thing of the Lord of the seed-time and harvest will bless the toil of the farmer and will give him joy in his task and bread enough to spare.

MRS. MURDOCK TAKES A CASE

by George Harmon Cox

YESTERDAY: The moment Joyce Murdock laid eyes on Perry Clarke she disliked him, and that in spite of the fact that he tried very hard to be charming. But what had been merely a sudden cooked up theater party for Joyce, Ward Allen and Della Stewart took on a slightly sinister cast when Clarke showed up. And Joyce can see that, and not only does she like Clarke—he seems almost to fear him.

Chapter Two
Too Absent-Minded
Joyce had, of course heard about Hestor, and although she had never felt any real doubt about her husband's love, she was also aware that no woman could live with a man without having some lasting impression. Now she found herself wondering how much of a niche this first wife had carved in Kent Murdock's heart.

She had never met Hestor. The woman had been in Paris when Joyce was married and, so far as she knew, Kent had never heard from her but once—a card on that first Christmas. At first he had told her many things about that short-lived marriage, and she had made guarded inquiries now and then, to see if any of that previous affection remained with him.

For the past year or two there had been no mention of Hestor, but even so there had been times, after these infrequent misunderstandings and quarrels, when she asked herself disquieting questions. Now, if Hestor was in town, if she had taken a house, Kent would be bound to see her.

Suddenly Joyce was curious to see Hestor and to find out for herself what manner of woman her husband had first married.

"The waiter had come back with the change, Della began to gather her things.
"Shaking Clarke
"You'll have to excuse us," Ward Allen said. "We're seeing a show and I'm afraid we'll have to run."
"Of course," Clarke rose with them. "I'm sorry, though, I'm expecting Hestor in a few minutes. I know, she's like to see you, Allen. But then you'll be seeing her anyway, I suppose."
"Probably," Allen said.

Clark bowed to Joyce and Della, and continued to Ward Allen.

"I may be stopping in to see Thorndike in a day or so. I'm planning to go to the coast shortly. We must get together." He paused, a mirthless smile touching his narrowed, speculative glance. He made his voice deliberate and measured. "Some time soon. We can have a drink and—talk over a few things."

He turned then, and started back for the bar, walking very straight as small men do, hair gleaming on his narrow skull. Joyce noted again the exaggerated width of his jacket, the extra high heels on his shoes, and an involuntary shiver passed through her before she could throw off the feeling of distaste his presence had created.

Aware that she was staring, she turned and saw that neither Della nor Ward had moved. The girl's eyes were wide and troubled. She was not looking at Clarke but at Ward Allen.

He was standing by his chair, his fingers still resting on the back. He was leaning forward a little, as though about to take a step. Yet, for that second or two, he was quite still, and there was something in his face that Joyce had never seen before. The tan had faded across his cheekbones, leaving his skin pale and taut, so that his lips were thin and tight and colorless. His gaze was steady upon the back of Clarke's neck.

"Well—"
Della Stewart's voice was husky and she cleared her throat and laughed shortly. It wasn't very genuine, that laugh, but it served its purpose and the awkward silence fled.

Allen turned and said: "What? Oh—sorry. I was thinking."
He stepped quickly to Della and helped her with her coat.

American in RCAF Has Narrow Escape

London, June 18 (AP)—Pilot Officer Holbrook (Hoke) Mahn, of the Royal Canadian air force, a Harvard graduate from Denver, Colo., lived more than a week in an open dinghy in the cold North Sea, as the only survivor of the crew of four of a bomber forced down off the Dutch coast.

One crewman was killed in the crash. Mahn and two sergeants climbed aboard their tiny dinghy, hoping for rescue. For some days aircraft dived overhead, apparently never spotting the little boat. Finally a German plane swooped low to investigate. With all the water they had left they tossed their seeming good fortune only to witness a British Seafighter dive out of the clouds. The British pilot never noticed his comrades in distress as he chased the German plane.

That night one of the sergeants died. The other sergeant died several days later leaving Mahn alone in the boat. Starved, Mahn grabbed a gull which perched on the rim of the dinghy and ate its flesh. He was thirsty for days. Then rain fell and the flier gathered enough to quench his burning thirst. Finally, a British torpedo boat came across the dinghy and Mahn was taken to a hospital ashore.

NO CHANCE TO CHISEL ON GAS

New Rationing Plan Will Have Teeth

Washington, June 18 (AP)—To nip any chiseling under the permanent gasoline rationing system starting July 15, every automobile will have to carry a colored sticker showing the type of rationing book held by its driver, the office of price administration announced today.

Those holding the basic A cards will receive, at the time the cards are issued, a black sticker with a large "A" printed on it in white and the words "gasoline ration" below. "B" stickers will be green, "C" stickers red and "D" stickers, for commercial vehicles, brown.

Joel Dean, chief of OPA's fuel rationing branch, said he expected the sticker system to "prove an effective deterrent against any person obtaining and using gasoline ration books to which he is not entitled, inasmuch as he will come under constant public scrutiny."

Numerous letters have been received urging OPA to provide some means of public notice of the type of ration book issued to each car, Dean explained.

Another disclosure today was that a retail price increase on gasoline in the eastern shortage area is under study by the OPA and that a decision may be announced next week.

Declining to confirm reports that the increase might be 3 cents a gallon, one high official said the amount had not yet been decided upon.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

WHAT CONSTITUTES GREATNESS?

The most intolerable person in all the world is the snob. Whether he has anything to be snobbish about or not, he elevates his nose and walks along the pathway of life looking down with disdain upon every one except perhaps a few intimates and acolytes who feed his ego.

It was the French philosopher Rousseau who said, "Great men never make bad use of their superiority; they see it and feel it, and are not less modest. The more they have, the more they know their deficiencies."

It is possible for a man at one and the same time to be filled with the full realization of his own powers and yet be very humble with it all. A Roman philosopher once said, "Great is he who enjoys his earthiness as if it were plate, and not less great is the man to whom all his plate is no more than earthiness." The truly great have a deep understanding of values.

The truly great man is never a snob. He may have about him a dignity which sets him off from other men, but this dignity is never offensive if it is kept within bounds by a true spirit of humility. Greatness and humility always go together. Greatness arises not so much from a man's endowments as from the spirit in which he uses them.

THIS IS AN IMPORTANT MATTER

Listen, you folks of Pitt County. Tomorrow marks the end of the first week of the nation-wide scrap rubber drive, and while a fair amount of scrap has been turned in to the filling stations of this county, the results so far are far below what they should have been. As we have previously stated, this scrap rubber campaign is no minor matter. The government needs every ounce of rubber that can possibly be procured for the war effort and it is up to each and every one of us to see that it gets it. You may think that the small amount of scrap rubber about your premises is too small to bother with and is of no value to the government, but every little will help just that much and all of it is needed.

Here are just a few figures to show what your scrap rubber will do. The rubber in that old leaky 50-foot piece of garden hose is sufficient for a Navy inflatable life raft. Two of those old tires will make one new tire for an Army jeep. Three old rubber shoes will make one new Army overshoe. Two old inner tubes will make three Army gas masks. One old hot water bottle will make two yards of hospital sheeting. From these figures it can be seen that every worn-out or discarded rubber article about your premises is extremely valuable to the government at this time.

Don't put this matter off any longer. Get out that old

rabber now and turn it in to your nearest filling station.

A STATE LOSS

News and Observer)
There will be deep regret and a sense of real loss by the whole state because of the death of Edward G. Flanagan of Greenville. Mr. Flanagan was one of the first citizens of the state, a far-sighted business man with a high sense of public service, a wise and progressive legislator, capable in all the positions of public trust into which he was called by his fellow citizens.

Pitt County and North Carolina appreciated him as one of its best and most progressive sons.

Washington Daybook

Washington — The capital can keep a secret.
Rumors run rife. Tales are told out of school. Gossip splashes all over the place. But put the press, radio, government officials and that portion of the general public in the know on their honor to keep a mill-knife secret, until such time as it should be released, and the tight lips in this democracy make the totalitarians constantly under the threat of death for talking too much, were the rumors of a marvelous back-bench tatter.
I'm talking about the "mysterious" visit to Washington of that No. 2 can in the Soviet government.

Vyacheslav Mikhailovich Molotov.
His week visit here was nobody's secret—except America's. The giant Russian bomber in which he and his party came flew over New York and landed there. It flew over Washington and landed there.

He was four hours earlier than expected and the State Department and White House went into a tail-spin to make connections at the airport. Once arrived in all that hustle and bustle, Molotov calmly took daily constitutional on the White House grounds. Once he inadvertently popped up in front of newscam cameramen, waiting for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. He went off the reservation far enough to buy a bag of peanuts from Steve Vasilakos, the White House corner vendor.

He flew up to New York, wandered around Rockefeller Center and dropped in to see the movie at Radio City Music Hall.
When it became necessary for Steve Early, White House secretary, to account to the news and radio correspondents for the President's time, he said he was in conference with "Mr. Brown."

There wasn't a man or woman who didn't know whom he was talking about. There must have been thousands of people who knew that Molotov was in the United States and in Washington, but not one behind closed doors or out of them did I hear the subject discussed.
When it was all over, the Office of Censorship commended the press and radio, mentioning that in all the United States only one paper had been hinted at this on your honor secret.
This recapitulation is important because it demonstrates how the kind of wartime censorship we have

attack on Russia is over present, its materialization likely depending on a successful development of Hitler's offensive in eastern Europe, for the wily Nipponese will hesitate to attack a winning Soviet.

(2) On the credit side, the fierce losses we inflicted on the Jap navy and air fleet at Midway, coupled with the Nipponese defeat in the Coral sea, have so weakened the enemy striking power in the Pacific that a realignment of allied strategy may now be possible. (3) But on the debit page we have the heavy shipping losses in the Atlantic due to the unrestricted Nazi submarine campaign—certainly a matter of much concern at a time when speedy transportation of war supplies is urgent.

(5) The foremost questions, however, revolve about that great summer offensive which Hitler is trying to bring into being, for the outcome of the war most likely hinges on that. Into this picture, of course, fits the matter of that second front—whether it is desirable or feasible at this time.
Hitler's preliminary efforts to get his big drive into full swing have been unsuccessful in the face of a really magnificent Russian resistance and counter-attack. However, nobody is naive enough to believe that the Nazi chief has shown his full power, or anything like it. He still holds in reserve a vast army of fresh troops and mountainous material, including great air strength. All that is going to be brought into action soon, and then hell will begin to pop.

That brings us to another thought. You may recall that long ago this column said if Hitler found himself stymied on the Russian front, he probably would either try to fight his way through Turkey into the Middle East, or by-pass Turkey and attack through Syria. I was chatting yesterday with General H. S. Sewell, the distinguished British military expert, and he believes Hitler may be getting set to undertake a Turkish-Syrian operation.
Should such an offensive materialize it would immediately challenge all the British and American resources in the Middle East—and they are very considerable. The United States would come into the fighting in a big way, not only with our air force but undoubtedly with troops which already are in that theater.

Urges Government

said: "The big four" decided the best thing for our soldiers' footwear would be rubber heels with a wood core. The fact that this type of heel would endanger the lives of our soldiers wasn't the concern of B. F. Goodrich Company, who holds the patents on it. They had the moulds ready and they were even gracious enough to let other companies make the heels for the duration of the war."
Simpson also testified that the War Production Board "pushes through priorities for the big four while the little companies have to wait."

He mentioned the "big four" as Goodrich, United States Rubber, Firestone and Goodyear.

andria, naval base key to the eastern Mediterranean.
3. If the Axis can draw away British air and naval strength the Axis might try to invade Malta to ease the Italian-German supply route from Italy to Africa.
4. Bombed can be expected to open a big land offensive toward Egypt, Alexandria and Suez when and if he can remove the Tobruk thorn from the Axis Libyan flank.

To forestall all these and to secure the southern supply route to Russia, informed sources said that Churchill would like to have more American tanks, planes and ships in the Mediterranean even if it means—as it probably does mean, because distribution of allied personnel and material is limited by shipping space—a delay in invasion of Europe.

Britain seized avidly on Churchill's flight to the United States as evidence that definite plans for the opening of a second front in Europe in 1942 were in the making.
Asserting that only business of Paramount importance could take Churchill away from London at the present time, the press declared that the Prime Minister's trip—his second to Washington in seven months—could have but one meaning.

"Second front talks start" was the headline with which the Daily Express greeted the news, while the Daily Mail proclaimed:
"Premier is in Washington; second front counsel with Roosevelt."

Early Says . . .

sian 20-year mutual assistance pact and of an understanding among Britain, Russia and the United States on "the urgent tasks of creating a second front in Europe in 1942."

Molotov's trip was widely regarded as an integral part of recently developing Allied strategy designed to keep the common enemy worrying over signposts pointing in the general direction of another fighting front.

Among the signposts were these:
A second front could be counted on to siphon off some of the Nazi strength now concentrated on offensives which have set the British back in Libya and hammered with terrific force at the doughy Russian armies in the Crimea and on the Kharkov front.

Britain in recent weeks has stepped up air raids on continental objectives to a tremendous degree and promised to send a thousand planes a night over Nazi-held war production centers of western Europe.

The United States sent her ranking generals to England in recent weeks for war councils with their British counterparts, and General George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the army, asserted that "the time for action is near."

The American expeditionary force in northern Ireland has been reinforced repeatedly by some of the largest troop convoys ever sent overseas.

Secretary of War Stimson said yesterday that at least temporarily the threat of a Japanese attack on the American west coast was "much less" as a result of the punishment inflicted on the Japanese fleet, primarily in the engagements off Midway island. With such a threat diminished, this country would be in better position to join a second front operation.

The make-up of the military mission that arrived here with Churchill was of a type to lend encouragement to the idea that conversations touching on a second front were in progress.

For example, Churchill brought along Sir Alan Francis Brooke, chief of the Imperial general staff, who believes in military innovations and who is regarded by many persons as Britain's outstanding authority in mechanization. While inspecting American troops on northern Ireland last month he told them their opportunity "will come soon."
Another in the party was Major General Sir Hastings L. Ismay, deputy military secretary to the war cabinet and chief of staff to Churchill in the latter's capacity as Defense Minister.

A third military expert in the mission was Brigadier General G. M. Stewart, director of plans for the War Office.
Conjectures about a second front immediately suggested that the

Nazi Troop Train Wrecked In France

Vichy, June 18.—(AP)—Another German troop train has been wrecked by saboteurs in occupied France and attempts at sabotage have been made against two other trains, it was revealed today.

The new efforts at sabotage became known when rewards to French railway men for preventing damage to trains were announced. In one case, the announcement said, a German troop train was wrecked and caught fire but the blaze was brought under control.
In another case, two French line-men discovered that a railway bridge had been mined, and signaled an express train in time to halt it. The third reward was given to a workman who apparently repaired some rails which had been damaged.

Madeline Webb Gets Life Imprisonment

New York, June 18.—(AP)—Madeline Webb, 28-year-old Stillwater Oklahoma, model, was sentenced today to life imprisonment for her part in the murder of Mrs. Susan Flora Reich, wealthy refugee.

She displayed no emotion as the judge imposed the sentence for the Hotel Sutton murder last March 4. Her pose was striking conduct to her emotional outbursts during her recent trial.

She walked from the court room almost haughtily.
Her lover, Eli Shonbrun, and John L. Cullen, convicted with her, were sentenced by general sessions Judge Jonah J. Goldstein to die in the electric chair during the week of July 17.

Miss Webb had been convicted of first degree murder with a recommendation of mercy, but no such recommendation was made for Cullen and Shonbrun.

Dodgers Take First Of Five Game Series With Cards

FREE-FOR-ALL IN THE SIXTH TURNS THE TIDE

Detroit, Washington And Chicago Win In American

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Baseball's fiercest feud in many seasons—the two-year-old rhabarb of the rowdy Brooklyn Dodgers and the scrapping St. Louis Cardinals—has broken out again.

St. Louis came steaming into Ebbets Field last night with a seven-game winning streak and visions of shaving down the Dodgers' 4½ game National League lead during their crucial five-game series.

But the Dodgers diverted the Redbirds' attention with a free-for-all at second base in the sixth inning and sneaked off with a 5-2 victory that eventually may prove one of the most vital of the season.

It was two years to the day from the game in which Joe Medwick was banished by Bob Bowman of the Cardinals and Medwick set off the newest strife with a high, lunging slide into Shortstop Martin Marion. Second baseman Frank Crespi knocked Medwick down and the players of both squads waded into each other.

Unlike some baseball battles, it was furious while it lasted and several players came out of it with bumps on their heads, skinned faces and other injuries. Dixie Walker of the Dodgers twisted his leg and had to withdraw from the game and both Medwick and Crespi were banished by the umpires.

When it was over, Lefty Max Lanier was so unsettled he gave up a walk and two singles to let Brooklyn tie the score at 2-2 and had to be replaced by John Beasley to get the final out in the sixth.

The Cards seemed to be still thinking of the skirmish when the Dodgers drove three runs across in the eighth to sew up the game.

Dolph Camilli walked and was singled to third by Johnny Rizzo. Billy Herman surprised St. Louis with a perfect bunt down the first base line, squeezing home Camilli, and was safe himself when the rattled Redbirds forgot to cover first.

Mickey Owen hit a perfect double play ball to Marion, who threw instead to third, forcing Rizzo, and Lefty Larry French doubled two additional runs across. It was French's fifth victory without a defeat.

You're The Loser, Mr. Hope

Bob Hope (left), radio comedian, was outdrawn by Gelfers, Eob-y Jones (center) of Atlanta, and Gene Sarazen (right) as they chose up sides in baseball snaffle fashion for an exhibition golf match at the Edgemoor Country club, Chicago, just before the opening of the Hale America Tournament there. Hope and Ed Dwyer (not shown) were paired against Jones and Sarazen in the exhibition.

The game was a twilight-night affair arranged as a substitute for the originally scheduled night game which was banned by coastal dim-out regulations. Two innings were played by sunlight and then the floodlights were turned on, but the flite fireworks that followed provided the most illumination for the 21,000 fans.

This was the only contest carded in the senior circuit and only three games were played in the American league.

The Detroit Tigers tumbled the New York Yankees again 3-1 on the four-hit hurling of Virgil (Fry) Trucks. This gave Detroit the series, three games out of four, and also gave the Tigers an edge in their season's rivalry with the Champt's, six victories to four defeats.

Charley Keller made two of the sniks four hits and drove in their only run in the first inning. The Tigers themselves were held to six hits by Spud Chandler, but made two of them good for a run in the second and strung together four in succession in the third for the margin of victory—taking the lustre off Chandler's feat in pitching no-hit ball for the last five frames.

Early Wynn's seven-hit pitching and the busy hitting of his battery-mate, Jake Early, provided the Washington Senators a 7-1 verdict over the Cleveland Indians. Catcher Early drove in four runs with a double and two singles.

The Chicago White Sox exchange positions with the Philadelphia Athletics again by winning 7-2 on the five-hit hurling of Buck Ross and Joe Haynes, who worked the last inning. Ross allowed just two hits till the eighth.

NATS DROP TWO.—(AP)—The Washington Senators released Robert Ortiz, Cuban outfielder, and Jose Gomez, Mexican infielder today. They were sent on option to the Chattanooga club of Southern Association.

Third Street And Training School Win

A much improved team from the Training School ran roughshod over Third Street of the "C" league yesterday afternoon, winning by the score of 10-1.

Training School's power attack was led by Gibson, who hit four for four and Clayton, who got three for four. Northrup was the only Third Streeter to get over one hit. Training School 300 232 x-10 11 3
Batteries—Wilson and Jones; Clayton and Fleming.

In one of the best games to be played to date, Training School of the "A" league defeated W. Greenville this morning by the score of 5-3. The game was played on the W. Greenville field.

Ben Harrison pitching for Training School allowed nine hits but was very stingy in the pinches and was never in trouble after his team ran up a five run lead. Both teams played sterling defensive ball. Hoyt Mainges in rightfield for the winners turned in two beautiful running catches, turning one into a double play.

Training School did not get but four hits, three of these by Jack Teel, but these came in the pinches after walks had put runners on the paths. One of Teel's hits was a homer, Fleming, J. Wright and N. Wright led the hitting for W. Greenville.

Training School 300 210 0-5 4 2
West Greenville 010 002 0-3 9 1
Batteries—Harrison and Corey; C. Wright, N. Wright and Hardy.

Greensboro Holds Lead In Piedmont

Charlotte, June 19—(AP)—Greensboro increased its slight Piedmont league lead last night by beating the cellarite Durham Bulls 5-3.

Asheville nosed out Norfolk 4-3 in a 12-inning game.

That was all the activity in the loop last night as the other four clubs were not scheduled to play.

Although Greensboro salvaged the series finale, Emo Stofey, the Durham slugger and a Greensboro native, banged out two doubles and a single for the hometown spectators.

Outfielder Bill Ramsey drove in the winning run for Asheville. Ken Johnson, who settled down after the third inning, gave up only four hits in the last nine frames.

Three games are scheduled for tonight—Wilson-Salem at Durham, Richmond at Greensboro and Portsmouth at Asheville. Charlotte and Norfolk are idle.

High Chungking quarters contended that the Japanese general staff preferred to postpone trying for further conquests in the South Seas in favor of strategy affecting territory nearer Japan.

This, they said, was one of the far-reaching effects of the United States air force raid April 18 on Japan.

The Japanese want to establish a "security zone," it was stated.

Symphonic Choir Be Guests Kiwanis

By CHESTER WALSH
The Greenville Kiwanis Club will welcome Lewis Sidney Bullock's North Carolina Symphonic Choir and have them as special guests at the weekly supper session at the Woman's Club at 6:30 today. Judge Albin Dunn will be master of ceremonies.

The singers have been on a northern tour giving victory concerts in Richmond, New York, Baltimore and Boston. They received outstanding recognition from the press, music critics and the soldiers at Camp Lee, Va.

The Kiwanis Club early this week wired an invitation to Mr. Bullock, inviting his chorus to be guests of the club at supper, and promised to have a welcoming crowd at the Courthouse when they arrived. His telegram of response was not received until shortly after 1 p.m. today.

Mr. Bullock and his wonderful chorus, composed of singers from nearly a score of Eastern Carolina towns is doing for Greenville and this section what Kay Kyzer did for Rocky Mount.

Killed In Australia.
Melbourne, June 19 (AP)—A post mortem report said today Private Seth W. Willingham, 27, of Houston, Tex., had been killed accidentally on a railroad flatcar by the toppling of its load of lumber.

Police had expressed belief when the soldier's body was found that he might have been slain.

7:30 p. m., the day of the attack. Captain Charles Hendrick zig-zagged the ship, as the submarine opened fire and began pursuit. After 15 minutes of shelling, the ship caught fire.

Twenty-one men and the captain took to a lifeboat, and nine men to a raft and pulled away as the submarine continued the shelling. The boat made land at noon the next day, and the men on the raft were picked up by a small patrol and taken to a Caribbean port.

ral railway garrison and others, were stated to have given the Japanese close to 1,000,000 men in that region.

There was much speculation over whether the Japanese army or navy would play the leading role in any prospective attack on Siberia.

Chinese quarters said Japanese conquests in the southwest Pacific had been more military than naval and that consequently the Japanese navy was eager to shine, especially as it had lost face in the battles of the Coral Sea and Midway.

Weather conditions for a naval offensive against Vladivostok and Kamchatka would be ideal during the next few weeks, they said, but it was considered that the fall —

Ever since 1935, when 100-octane gasoline was first produced by Esso research, we have supplied it to the U. S. Air Forces, and have turned over to other refiners the working details they needed to make it cheaply and quickly. And greatly to America's gain, the improvements in plane and engine designs take full advantage of this super-fuel.
