UNITED POWERS SUFFER REVERSES

Russian Defenders Fall Back Before Sevastopol

Enormous German Pressure Pushes The Reds Back From the North And South Approaches; Nazi Boats Taking Part In Siege Of Naval Base; Place Nazi Losses At 100,000

By HENRY C. GARDNER Moscow, June 22.—(AP)—Sevastopol defenders dropped back from the north and south fortresses guarding the Crimean naval base today before enormous German pressure, exerted ceaselessly despite the heavy casualties, estimated at 100,000 which Axis forces have suffered in less than three weeks.

A fresh Nazi wedge was forced in the fortifications to the north where the enemy massed a huge force of infantry, artillery and tanks, press accounts said.

In the south, where the Russians had dropped back to the central line, a furious battle was reported under way for a hill dominating the sector.

Today marked the start of the second year of the war for the Soviet. As the battle for the last remaining bit of Sevastopol entered its climactic stage, German vessels appeared off Sevastopol, dispatching small Russian warships on a mission.

London, June 22.—(AP)—Reuters said today it had received a Vichy broadcast reporting that street fighting has begun in the besieged Russian fortress of Sevastopol. The report was based on a Bucharest dispatch.

During last night German and Rumanian forces moved to the last line of fortifications guarding the city at two points, Reuters quoted the broadcast as saying.

Also during the night, it continued, a number of units defending Sevastopol began to embark on transports. But at midnight fighting "of unprecedented violence" was going on.

from the beleaguered city said. Two German torpedo cutters with speeds exceeding 45 miles an hour were reported detected by two sion close to the shore. The Russians claimed to have damaged one.

The rowboats also were said to have found an enemy submarine on the surface. The vessels could have come from Rumania, Bulgaria or the occupied Russian port of Odessa.

Sporadic fighting was reported continuing on the Kharkov front, 600 miles to the north. The Germans were said to be attempting to restore lines in a sector where they previously had lost four Ukrainian villages but the attack of two companies was reported repulsed.

The Germans besieging Sevastopol already were lodged in the other defense lines. The fate of the historic Crimean fortress appeared to be in the balance as the second year of the costly German campaign in Soviet Russia opened, but Russia's "peasant president," Michael Kalinin, found cause to assure his people that "the end of Hitlerism is inevitable."

Where a year ago the German armies struck against Russia during the night, this year, according to today's mid-day communique of the Soviet Information Bureau, "no significant changes took place at the front" in the hours of darkness.

Pacific Coast Is Shelled By Subs

Attacks Made on British Columbia And Oregon

By The Associated Press Submarine shelling of Inlet Vancouver Island in Canada's British Columbia and gunfire upon the Oregon coast from an unidentified craft lurking offshore today brought war to the doorstep of an alert and expectant Pacific northwest.

The two attacks, at points separated by several hundred miles, came almost exactly 24 hours apart. Official reports indicated that no casualties and little damage were suffered at either spot.

First target was a Dominion government radio station at Estevan Point, on the western coast of Vancouver Island. The shelling there began at 10:35 p.m. (Pacific War Time) Saturday and continued for a half-hour.

"The shells landed on the beach or on the rocks well beyond the building," said Lieut.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, commander-in-chief of the Canadian west coast defenses. "A few windows in the radio office were broken by the concussion."

Then, at 11:30 o'clock last night, residents from Seaside on the ocean to Astoria on the Columbia river, at the northwest tip of Oregon, were awakened by the sound of gunfire and the whine of speeding missiles.

"Six to nine shells landed in the area north of Seaside," the Army said in a communique from western defense headquarters at San Francisco, "apparently from an unidentified craft offshore. Firing lasted 15 minutes. No damage or casualties reported."

Eyewitness Oregonians agreed with the Army that the firing had been of no effect, but many felt certain they had heard more than nine shots.

One was Robert Lucas, associate editor of the Astoria Budget. Awakened by the sound, he said, "I hurried upstairs to have a look toward the sea, and heard from 12 to 16 shots. The shells seemed to be landing somewhere with a great thud, but I couldn't tell what the objective was."

Lucas and others also told of seeing flashes from a gun or guns, which the editor described as "bright orange and fan-shaped" and much like lightning playing on the horizon.

No shells landed in Astoria, Seaside or another community, so far as could be determined from residents in the 30-mile area.

The Army's announcement that they fell "north of Seaside" suggested they might have plowed uselessly into some part of the 16 miles of sandy wastelands between the ocean city and the Columbia river.

Second Year Begins On Red Front

It was a year ago—on the west end of June 22—that Hitler launched his attack on Russia. His map summarizes the first year of battle. Broken lines show fronts up to December. Fighting back here, the Reds have recaptured shaded territory, including the key point of Rostov. Though losing Kiev, the Soviets have marshaled forces to bar any easy Nazi advance to the Caucasus. All fields but today are reported on the verge of being Sevastopol.

Roosevelt And Churchill Talks Are Progressing

Secretary Early Indicates Joint Statement Soon

Washington, June 22.—(AP)—Vital conferences between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill were described today by the White House as progressing day and night in a "very satisfactory way" and it was disclosed that the two United Nations leaders expected to issue a joint statement later on.

They are conferring together and also with military, naval and air experts of both countries.

This much was revealed by Presidential Secretary Stephen Early. "But he had nothing to add on specific details of the conferences, such as whether Mr. Roosevelt and the Prime Minister were conferring in attention primarily on the question of opening a second fighting front in Europe or on possible steps to stave off an even more decisive defeat at the hands of the Axis armies in North Africa."

The statement from Early that conferences still were continuing was the first word about the secret deliberations of the President and Churchill since the latter arrived in this country Thursday.

"I can say simply this," Early told reporters. "The conferences are continuing in a very orderly and a very satisfactory way. Neither the Prime Minister nor the President feels they have reached a point in their talks where any public statements can be made as soon as that point has been reached, you may expect a joint statement from them."

The conferences are continuing day and night, and between the British and American staffs work—(Continued on Page Six)

Axis Forces Drive Toward Egyptian Border In Force

Libyan Disaster Causes Anxiety

Churchill May Face Aroused House of Commons

By DREW MIDDLETON London, June 22.—(AP)—A military disaster in Libya of such magnitude that it may have blighted the Allies' hopes for a second front in Europe this year and prolonged the whole war was acknowledged by the British today with deep and undigested anxiety.

All sources agreed that the Allies were faced with a crisis.

The next few weeks, they said, will decide whether Germany can be beaten in 1942 or 1943 or will be able to fight on for years using the oil of the Middle East and the tin and rubber of the Far East.

It was expected that Prime Minister Churchill will face an aroused House of Commons when he returns from the United States, and some political observers said many members of Parliament were angered by what they called the "roy picture" painted by the Prime Minister after the first clashes in the current campaign.

A military commentator in London, however, said that Axis claims to at least 25,000 prisoners taken at Tobruk were "exaggerated." It was believed little shipping was caught in the harbor.

The general view was that Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's army was in a "decisive battle" with the Axis, with Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery having his greatest advantage in his preponderance of armored formations.

The British line along the frontier is of slight use, some commentators believed, so long as the Axis has tanks to flank it through the oases of Siwa and Giarabub, and the reinforcement of Rommel by a division or even so much as a brigade might tip the scales heavily in his favor.

One of Britain's leading military experts said dive-bombing not only decided the issue at Bir Hacheim but was "to a great extent responsible for the fate of Tobruk."

An RAF commentator said RAF fighter patrols could not be over Tobruk all the time. An Air Ministry statement yesterday mentioned that on Saturday, when the assault on Tobruk was taking place, the RAF was engaged in withdrawing from its advanced fields in Libya.

Even more than the fall of Tobruk itself, alarm was felt because Rommel's thunderbolt assault on the fortress, once so staunchly held against seven months of siege, showed that the Axis possessed a terrifying striking power which appeared to have been woefully underestimated.

The whole British press called the grave setback in Libya a humiliating defeat which would require a titanic effort to offset. The newspapers noted that the reversal developed suddenly after over-confident reports on the wild desert fighting and asked accusingly whether there had been a blunder.

On the basis of information available here now, the best qualified observers said Rommel apparently had caught the British flat-footed at Tobruk, mauling such on over—(Continued on Page Six)

RAF Renews Raids Today

Sea Fighting Believed In Progress In Channel

London, June 22.—(AP)—Out of the veil of heat haze which shrouded the English channel today were heard the distant thunder of guns and bombs from the direction of France and bursts of closer firing which, for the second time since the night of June 18, was believed to be a decisive battle between the RAF and the Luftwaffe.

Overhead, heard plainly although too high to be seen, a large force of RAF planes raced over the channel in the direction of Dunkerque, presumably in a resumption of early daylight assaults upon the occupied French coast.

Long bursts of firing were heard out at sea in the morning, but the haze which limited visibility to three miles prevented watchers along the channel cliffs from seeing what craft were in action.

(The Berlin communique said there had been a night engagement off the Dutch coast between German minesweepers and light British naval units including motor torpedo gunboats. The Germans said three of the gunboats were sunk and several other vessels were damaged.)

Nazi air raiders, apparently replying to two successive RAF night raids, were reported to have been seen over the English coast.

Japs Inching In On Alaska

Land Troops At Kiska 585 Miles From Dutch Harbor

Washington, June 22.—(AP)—Under cover of fog and thick weather, Japanese landing forces have inched along the Aleutian island chain toward Alaska and now are establishing themselves at Kiska, which is only 585 miles from the United States navy base at Dutch Harbor.

This was disclosed in a communique yesterday that told of the bombing of "a small force" of enemy ships in Kiska harbor. Army fliers reported "sinking one cruiser and sinking a transport."

At the same time it was announced in Ottawa that an enemy submarine, presumably Japanese, had shelled the Dominion government radio station at Estevan point, Vancouver Island, Saturday night. The submarine pumped shells at the station for about half an hour but failed to do any damage.

While the number of ships actually in Kiska harbor may have been small, observers pointed out that presence of a cruiser might indicate that a force of destroyers and auxiliaries was somewhere in the vicinity.

The communique said operations—(Continued on Page Six)

Not To Expand Gas Rationing

Washington, June 22.—(AP)—Abandonment of plans for nationwide gasoline rationing was predicted in some congressional quarters today as administration lieutenant reportedly gave the "go ahead" signal for a senatorial investigation of the entire situation.

Leaders were said to have agreed to support a proposal by Senator Maloney (D-Conn) for a five-member special committee with an $5,000 appropriation for an immediate inquiry into shortages of gasoline and fuel oil, as well as the methods employed to provide deliveries "for ordinary consumer use."

While this investigation was expected to deal primarily with conditions in the 17 eastern states now on short fuel rationing, several senators predicted the inquiry would have a direct bearing on any future move to extend rationing to other sections.

British Rout In Libya Threatens Allied Position In Entire Middle East; Axis Claim Thousands of Prisoners Taken At Tobruk; Report Destruction of British Boats

By EDWARD KENNEDY Cairo, Egypt, June 22.—(AP)—Driving forward without a pause from their capture of Tobruk, Nazi mobile columns have clashed with British forces only a few miles from the Egyptian border, the British reported today, as the Allied position in the entire Middle East appeared threatened by the disastrous rout in Libya.

The British command said the clash occurred 60 miles northwest of Port Capuzzo, which is just across the border in Libya.

It was indicated that a few of the garrison troops—British, South Africans and Indians—had escaped from the Tobruk disaster. Some small craft moved out of the harbor while it was under shellfire from German tanks and other parties fought their way through enemy formations in the desert.

(The Germans declared they have destroyed a British naval formation of small ships leaving the harbor.)

Isolated parties also were reported continuing resistance.

The losses gained by the Germans still were not known here, but it was reported that great explosions occurred in the last hours of Tobruk's resistance, indicating quantities of material were destroyed.

One of the gains of the Germans was a recently built extension of the desert railway to a point south of Tobruk. This formerly reached only to Matruh in Egypt, 120 miles from the border. Retreating troops were reported to have torn up stretches of the railway, however.

The Egyptian government issued an order today to check the downward trend of the Cairo stock market.

The Axis air forces, following up quickly their success in Libya, bombed the Egyptian coast between Sidi Barrani and Fuka.

As the battered British survivors of the bloody Libyan campaign worked feverishly to strengthen their positions along the Egyptian border, military quarters here expected to deal primarily with conditions in the 17 eastern states now on short fuel rationing, several senators predicted the inquiry would have a direct bearing on any future move to extend rationing to other sections.

The WAR TODAY

By DeWITT MacKENZIE Wide-World News Analyst

Marshal Rommel's capture of Tobruk, and the precarious position of Russia's great naval base of Sevastopol under furious German assault—operations vitally linked with Hitler's attempt to break into the Caucasus and Middle East—bring us appreciably nearer the moment when the Nazi chief will unleash his full pack and race for a kill. Our immediate concern is with Tobruk, for Sevastopol still stands. The British now are back on Egyptian soil, preparing to defend their mighty base at Alexandria and block the road to the Suez canal. Obviously the position is serious.

The golden text was from Prov. 3:18: "The Lord by wisdom hath founded the earth; by understanding hath he established the heavens."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded. Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up." (James 4:8, 10).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Bible:

Oscar was taken home and a physician hastily summoned, when it was found the boy was not seriously hurt, though he was considerably shocked and bruised by the fall.

Christian Science text book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. "The scientific fact that man and the universe are evolved from Spirit, and no are spiritual, as is the proof that mortals gain the sense of health only as they lose the sense of sin and disease. Mind's control over the universe, including man, is no longer an open question, but is demonstrable Science. Jesus illustrates the divine Principle and the power of the immortal Mind by healing sickness and sin and destroying the foundations of death."

The Woman You Want To Be
No woman in America has helped the modern woman toward charm and effective personality more than Margery Wilson, an expert on modern social behavior. Years ago she had a strong conviction that a service that grew from a need had a substance and integrity, and there fore lasting value. So she began to study the problems and needs of actual women and made out a course in the development of personal charm that has been taken by thousands of gifted, attractive women. Now that course (which costs $40 by mail) has been made into a book called "The Woman You Want To Be."

According to Miss Wilson, there is no excuse nowadays for a woman not being the woman she wants to be. Regardless of what the weaknesses are in her personality, with sustained effort she can achieve wonders. This book, as well as hundreds of others, offers valuable help for it is the effort of a lifetime, through long and earnest endeavor through experience, observation and the trial and error method to find just those ways by which women—men, too—though the book is addressed to women—may develop and express that "perfume of the soul"—their own charm.

The author believes that the hope of any nation lies in the personal qualities of the individual members, that the dealing with essentials that make for personal strength and healthy minds is one of the important missions of a democratic government. To refresh, to encourage to inspire, to build "inner within"—this is the service she offers in this book—to you—and to our country.

Besides this book, there are three other helpful books by Miss Wilson in the Sheppard Memorial Library, namely: "Make Up Your Mind"—a book to jog you out of your mental daze. Serious, amusing, pithy. It offers a program for happiness and accomplishment. It warns against the waiting, waiting point of view, and lures the mind with the prizes of content, enthusiasm, and security. It shows that our need is for faith in ourselves, in our ability to get from life what we really want; that our need is for decisive thinking, for mental ease, for a resilient strength that can adjust itself to any conditions.

"Charm"—the author's first book dealing with charm as it pertains to femininity, its effectiveness, the dividends it pays in happiness and service to humanity. It also treats of ways and means of acquiring this most desirable of all traits.

"Your Personality and God"—a splendid attempt to show the relationship of personality and God, an excellent interpretation of the spiritual values of life, and of the divinity of whatever it is that inspires people to follow the leadership of certain personalities.

SAYS THIS WAR IS MAIN BOUT

Legion Head Says United Effort Necessary to Win

Asheville, N. C., June 22 (AP)—National Commander Lynn Stambaugh of the American Legion told the North Carolina department today that Americans should not depend on themselves into thinking that this war was comparable to that of 1917-18.

This country today, he said, not only is the arsenal of democracy but must fight on far-flung battlefields with less support from friends than ever before.

"That war was but a preliminary," he said, "this is the final bout—let us see that we make it that. When we get through with Nazi Germany and Imperial Japan, let us see to it that there is no more Nazi Germany and no more Imperial Japan. When this war is over, let us never permit anyone to scrap our Navy and disband our Army; let's have an American peace, and keep the power to make it permanent."

The Legion leader, from Fargo, N. D., said that in addition to a just conquest, Germany was putting all the had into this war because having started on a second rampage so soon after the first one, she knew that he was "through" if defeated. Both Germans and Japanese, he said, are waging war in a spirit of "winner take all." That, he added, requires a corresponding total effort on the part of American and the United Nations.

The American Legion believes that wealth, labor, industry and agriculture should be mobilized immediately for service. x x x All should serve as a soldier severe, loyally, continuously and without profit.

"Our Army and Navy must win. To help them, citizens must give the utmost in efficient service. That means more production, more work, longer hours, more sacrifice and less profit, less pleasure, less pay and less play."

Eighteen destroyers and 13 submarines were launched by the Navy during 1941.

Admiral Warns...

An unofficial but reliable tabulation of the enemy's strength indicates Midway Island was regarded as only the smallest goal in a grand scheme of conquest. The tiny defense outpost is less than 1,200 miles from Pearl Harbor and around 3,800 miles from America's west coast—not far to the reach of modern war.

The unprecedentedly large, long-ranged invasion force, strung out for hundreds of miles as it steamed toward the little Hawaiian Island, included four battleships, five aircraft carriers, eight cruisers, and undetermined numbers of destroyers, submarines, transports, tankers and seaplane tenders.

So far as the Japanese were concerned, they had planned only an offensive.

But by the night of June 4, American fleet and land-based army aircraft, after launching their most amazing counter-attack, turned what had started out as a decisive strike action into a pell-mell race to destroy the crippled and scattered ships of the enemy.

Within three days the warred Japanese armada, desperately trying to beat its way back home, was scattered over a large area of the Pacific.

How much of the enemy force reached home may never be determined, but from the standpoint of an observer of the action, the American communiqués on enemy losses have been most conservative.

(The navy's official announcements claimed the sinking of at least two carriers and probably four, the damaging of ten other craft including three battleships, and the sinking of a destroyer.)

Governor Stassen pledged "all our resources" industrial and military, to the prosecution of this war to victory for the Stars and Stripes and for the flags of the United Nations.

Save Clothes in Wartime

THIS SAFER, NEW OXYDOL WAY

Wash WHITE WITHOUT BLEACHING
Wash CLEAN WITHOUT HARD RUBBING

YOU GET BOW! —SPARKLING WHITENESS —AND YOUR CLOTHES LAST LONGER!

The New Oxydol—now much richer in washing power—gets your wash radiantly white without bleaching or hard rubbing to cause washday wear and tear, weaken fabrics, or fade colors

In wartime, when your clothes are doubly precious, wash the safer way—with the New OXYDOL—the last word in modern laundry soap.

Rich Washing Action Instead of Harsh Bleaching
Every ounce of New Oxydol is much richer in washing power than before. Its active, bustling "Hustle-Bubble" suds dissolve dirt—draw it out the gentle, safe way. With its rich, lively washing action, your clothes come so clean you will hardly believe you haven't used a bleach. Except for stains or unusual pieces, of course, you get a wash that's radiantly white—and without the risk of harsh bleaches.

Lively Sudsing Saves Harsh Rubbing
New "Hustle-Bubble" suds work much harder than before. Every ounce gets out more dirt. You never have more than a few quick rubs here and there. Not that hard rubbing that wears things thin and threads so quickly.

With all this new richness in washing power, the New Oxydol is safety itself for washable colors. Even milder than before on hands. So safe you can use it for dainty washable rayon. So imagine how kind New OXYDOL is to the rest of your wash!

U.S. GOVERNMENT SAYS SO: Discussing use of chlorine bleaches, a bulletin from the Consumer Division of OPA states in part: "Bleaching has never been a good substitute for washing... using too much... in an effort to get clothes snowy-white has done much damage to fabrics... learn to depend on good washing and sunshine as a whitener... clothes will so doubt last much longer."

Army Finding Difficulty In Procuring Enough Nurses

NEEDS HALF OF ALL NURSES NOW ELIGIBLE

Only Unmarried Nurses Under 40 Are Eligible

By TREDD McCULLOUGH
New York, June 22—(Wide World) Wanted: Nurses.

Wanted: Half of those now eligible for duty with the Army and Navy.

Wanted: 55,000 new students this year for placements in civilian nursing. Wanted: 65,000 next year, 70,000 the next.

There's no draft to help the government toward its goals. The whole thing, from enrollment to armed forces detail, is voluntary, and the recruiting committees have competition on their hands.

In getting new students they must compete with the lure and money-temptation of employment in war industries, with enlistment in the W.A.A.C. or the Navy's embryo sister organization.

Men getting already registered nurses to volunteer for the Army and Navy Nursing Corps, they must compete against employment on hospital staffs, instruction posts, "luxury nursing" airline hostesses jobs, public health positions, against wartime marriages.

For only unmarried registered nurses under 40 can get into the Army and Navy Nursing Corps, and before they can say yes to the government's agency there must be orders to take their places as instructors and in caring for the nation's health at home.

For the moment, the problem is one of releasing the 98,000 eligibles. There will be 27,000 more of them in September.

To release them, the government has done several major things.

Over a year ago refresher courses for older nurses were instituted in many states.

But this far, according to a nursing official, "there has not been a very active response. They just haven't felt the pressure enough!"

Congress passed one appropriation, prepared another for expansion of training and living facilities.

But unless the response is stepped up, those facilities they stand empty. Although the announced quotas of 65,000 remain, the armed forces are reported to have said that the

Sends Message To Governor's Meet

Asheville, June 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today that within the days and months to come the peoples of this world would determine "by their work, by their sacrifices, and through the instrumentalities of their armed forces, whether generations to come shall live and work as free men or slave states."

He made the statement in a message to the National Conference of Governors, in session here.

SUB OFFICER SAVES FLIERS

Swam Ashore on Jap Held Island To Make Rescue

Washington, June 22—(AP)—An officer of a United States submarine in the southwest Pacific recently swam ashore on a Japanese-occupied island, located a group of stranded Australian fliers and arranged their transfer to the undersea ship which removed them to safety, the Navy disclosed today.

The story was told in an announcement of the award of the Navy Cross for heroism to 24-year-old Ensign George Carleton Cook, Naval Reserve officer of Hy-Geats, Marblehead Rock, Mass. The submarine commander, who took his vessel through Japanese patrol successfully, was also decorated with the Navy Cross. He was Lieut. Harlan Casady, 33, of Brookhaven, Mass.

The fever-ridden airmen, the Navy said, were stranded on Tinian in the Netherlands East Indies when the Japanese occupied that island. Aware that the Japanese were searching for the men, Vice Admiral H. F. Leary, U.S.N., commander of the Allied naval forces in the southwest Pacific area, directed that they be evacuated and "Lieut. Casady's vessel was assigned to the task."

"Despite enemy patrol craft ranging the shore, his ship slipped through their unprojected and arrived at the island on a night in April," the Navy related.

"Ensign Cook swam ashore and after difficulty and at great personal risk made contact with the Australians."

"He returned to his ship for a rescue party, they led it ashore in a boat and superintended the transfer of the sick to his vessel, saving two from drowning en route."

"Lieut. Casady then took his ship past Japanese patrols and carried the aviators to a point of safety."

Report Dutch Still Fighting

Allied Headquarters, Australia, June 22—(AP)—A high Dutch army officer who is the leader of guerrillas carrying on the fight against the Japanese in the Netherlands East Indies made a secret visit to Australia and then returned to his command, a special Netherlands East Indies communiqué said today.

The announcement quoted the officer as reporting that guerrilla warfare in various islands of the archipelago had proceeded continuously since March 8.

The Japanese occupation troops, he said, say at important centers in the coastal area and seldom penetrate inland, apparently in an effort to avoid clashes with Dutch guerrillas. Several times, the Japanese have sent natives with notes to the guerrillas, asking them to surrender.

The Dutch officer said the guerrillas regularly make hit-and-run attacks against Japanese posts to obtain information on their movements.

Dodgers Take Four Out Of Five Games With Cardinals

Dodgers And The Cardinals Battle In New York

MORT COOPER PITCHES ONLY CARDINALS WIN

Most Of Sunday Tilts Marked By Good Pitching

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Saidler but wiser, the St. Louis Cardinals limped toward Boston today, able to rejoice in only two things—their departure from Brooklyn and the discovery of one pitcher who can fool the devastating Dodgers.

When the Cards invaded flatbush last week they were riding on a seven-game winning streak and trailing the National League leaders by only four games and a half, but they bumped into a Brooklyn team that apparently is serious about representing the circuit in the world series once more.

By way of demonstrating their determination, the Dodgers slapped the Cardinals down four times, out of five.

For the Cards, the only bright spot of their visit was provided by Mort Cooper, their pitching ace, who might keep his club in the pennant struggle if he could do all the hurling whenever the two teams meet. Cooper handuffed the league champs on five hits in the first tilt of yesterday's doubleheader to compile an 11-0 shutout.

But the second game was the same old story again. Kirby Higbe pitched seven-hit ball for the Dodgers, who bunched their blows off Howard Pollet for a 5-2 decision. Joe Medwick connected safely in both games, stretching his consecutive game hitting streak to 25.

Cooper's victory was his ninth of the season, his seventh in a row, his fifth shutout, and his second white-wash job on the Dodgers, who have yet to beat him.

In a day of great pitching, Tex Hughson of the Boston Red Sox tossed a neat three-hitter, Cliff Melton pitched a four-hitter for the New York Giants and Hank Borowy of the New York Yanks turned in a five-hit job—all shutouts.

Luman Harris of the Philadelphia Athletics and Ray Starr of the Cincinnati Reds also had five-hitters, but both yielded runs.

Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox became the second active pitcher to win 250 games, joining Red Ruffing of the Yanks, who reached that goal only two weeks ago. Only 18 other hurlers ever have won that many games and only 10 have done it since the turn of the century.

Melton pitched the Giants to a 5-0 triumph over the Chicago Cubs in the first game yesterday, but the Cubs took the nightcap, 7-2.

The Cincinnati Reds and the Philadelphia Phils split, the Phils winning first, 3-2, behind six-hit pitching by Tommy Hughes and the Reds rallying behind Starr to square accounts, 2-1.

Pinch-hitter Eddie Stewart tripled in the tenth inning with the bases loaded to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 7-3 decision over the Boston Braves.

The Cleveland Indians handed the New York Yankees their fifth straight loss, 3-2, but Borowy led the world champions out of the wilderness with a 4-0 shutout in the nightcap, preserving that seven-game lead.

Lyons pitched the White Sox to a 6-5 win over the Boston Red Sox in the first game, but Hughson evened it up in the second, which Boston won, 7-0.

Detroit and Al Benton beat Washington and Buck Newsom, 4-1, in the top half of their twin bill, only to lose the 10-inning nightcap to the Senators, 3-2.

The Philadelphia Athletics took

Fists flew in the 6th inning of the Brooklyn Dodgers-St. Louis Cardinals game in New York and resulted in this mob scene which three umpires and a policeman are trying to break up. Players and the policeman in the group at left are gathered around Joe Medwick of the Dodgers (on the ground) whose slide to second enraged the Cardinals. Frank Crespi of the Cards, who slipped Medwick, can be seen here headed. Umpire George Barlick is in the background. The group at the right is congregated around Dixie Walker, Dodger outfielder, who was injured and had to leave the field. Crespi and Medwick were banished from the game.

Sports Roundup

By RUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 22—Look for more big news to pop any day now on the Athletic teams that have been doing a fair country job of advertising our armed forces. ... But don't ask us to guess which direction it will pop. ... A lot of hints have been buzzing around that there's pressure from the upper regions to give the Athletics less publicity and to keep them at their training chores, but there's also the unanswerable fact that their appearances speed up enlistments. ... Lowdown on that horsemen's strike at Suffolk Downs, as reported by Leroy Atkinson of the Worcester Telegram, is that the blowoff began when a popular "swipe" nearly passed out from the shock of icy water in the stable shower bath. ...

Strike-Who's Out?
Port Worth sports scribes tell how stub overmire missed his swing at a third strike the other day and the right fielder threw him out at first base. ... Yes, it really happened. When the ball got away from the catcher, Overmire was slow in starting to run. The catcher threw over first, but the right fielder recovered the ball and got it to the bag in time to retire stub. ...

Monday Matinee
Seems appropriate that the south's first national intercollegiate tennis tourney is starting today at Tulane, which has been turning out good tennis players for years. ... Jimmy Curran, the veteran Mercersburg, Pa., academy track coach, reports that so many of the young college athletes are joining the navy he thinks he'll have to sign up, too, so he won't lose contact with his ex-pupils. ... They're like we were in '39 when I went out to the Boer war," says Jimmy. "We were afraid the war would be over before we could get into it." ... Big Joe Vidra, the Chicago schoolboy slugger, finally decided to take the Cardinals' offer of a major league tryout next spring if he hits over .300 for DePaul, Ill. this season.

Today's Guest Star
Tommy Frazzetta, Louisville Courier Journal; Scout Johnny Nee of the Yankees has come to Florida to sign up a couple of high school baseball players. Well, they've said all along that if there's any baseball next year we'll probably have to use kids in Nee pants."

When a group of officers from the south came to Chastate field, Ill., for specialized work, a private was assigned to give them physical training. ... noting that the dough-boy hesitated to shout orders to guys with tears on their shoulders, one of the southerners hollered: "Go ahead soldier. We're up here to learn some of your Yankee tricks." ... Samuel Hardwick, who was known as the "Doubtful Flash" when he played ballback for Virginia Tech, has been promoted from Captain to Major at Fort Benning, Ga. Sounds like a natural for the A. E. F. in Ireland. ... Ensign George Paskavan, Green Bay Packers' fullback, is the fifth National League footballer to join Lt. Col. George Blomman's staff at the Iowa naval pre-flight school. And they say officers will be eligible to play with the students!

What Price?
Price Brookfield, the sharpshooting West Texas basketball, isn't pitching 'em so straight on the ball field. ... In his first four appearances as a flinger for Boger in the West-Straw-Way League, Brookfield gave 15 runs, 23 hits, 13 walks, fanned eight, hit one batsman and made four wild pitches. ... But he whacked nine hits in 13 at bats to lead the league with .350.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, June 22—(AP)—The stock market today took it on the chin from a bad war news budget but was still in there fighting when the final gong sounded.

The direction was downward from the start, with steel, motors, mail orders and blue chips suffering losses of fractions to around 3 points. Scattered rallies contested the move. Oils, coppers and utilities generally held to a narrow area. While advances were scarce in the closing hour, extreme setbacks were recorded in many cases.

Absence of real ceiling urgency in the wake of the collapse of Tobruk, the critical Russian position at Sevastopol and enemy shelling of west coast territory was encouraging to bullish contingents. Dealings, fast for a time, were exceptionally sluggish after mid-day. Transfers approximated 326,000 shares for the full proceedings.

TEN LOSE LIVES OVER WEEKEND

Traffic Accidents Lead in Cause Of Deaths

Charlotte, June 22 (AP)—At least ten persons died from violence in North Carolina over the week-end. Mrs. B. L. Wilson, 20, of Mooresville was fatally injured in an automobile accident on the Charlotte-Statesville highway.

Alfred Hartsell, 18, of Concord, was drowned in Rocky river, five miles from his home, while in swimming with his brother, Buford. Oscar Cashwell, 20-year-old carpenter of Cumberland Mills, was shot to death in his home. Coroner W. C. Davis exonerated Mrs. Cashwell when she testified that she was beating her mother with a hammer.

Ransom S. Robinson, 28, of near Morganton, was fatally injured when run over by an automobile near Icard township. Harold Frederick Steed, 18, of near Durham, was drowned in a swimming pool, two miles from Burlington.

Nathaniel Terry, assistant chief of police at Creedmoor, died in a Durham hospital of injuries suffered in an automobile-truck collision. Two unidentified Negro boys were drowned while swimming in the Cape Fear river at Fayetteville. William Charles Mathewson, 21, of Sanford, was killed in an automobile accident near Sanford.

Pvt. Wesley Hamilton, 22, of Atlanta, a soldier at Fort Bragg was killed instantly when his automobile was in collision with a bus near Raeford. John Lindiquin, a soldier companion of Carey, Miss, was seriously injured.

Three Are Killed By Explosion Uniontown, Pa., June 22 (AP)—Three men were killed and two injured today by an explosion which wrecked a unit of the Liberty Powder Plant near this southwestern Pennsylvania coal mining center. The plant is a division of the Olin Corporation. Other buildings on the company's property were undamaged.

The dead were Thomas Crayton of Lemont, and Regis Owens and Joseph Sikes, both, both of Dunbar.

Boston In Test Raid Boston, June 22—(AP)—The crowded streets of greater Boston were cleared as if by magic today when air raid sirens sounded at 11:36 A.M. (EWT) in a surprise daylight test described as the first and most comprehensive yet held in such a metropolitan area.

The 3,895 grade-crossing accidents that took place in 1941 resulted in 310 persons killed and 1,908 injured.

The leaders, Early said, are holding numerous talks with other parties, but these are being kept "off the record."

"By that," Early explained, "I mean the President and Prime Minister will continue seeing all kinds of experts, military, naval and air. Any one of these meetings is really part of the whole. There is no need to put it on the record or feature any one of them."

The Presidential Secretary was informed that London newspapers were splurging Washington reports that Gen. A. G. A. McNaughton, commander of Canadian overseas forces, was being heavily favored to command United Nations forces that might be employed in opening a second front. So far as he was concerned, Early said these reports were highly speculative.

"As I told you when Mrs. Churchill arrived," he added, "yours is a free press. I anticipated plenty of speculation, and apparently we are getting it."

At the time of Churchill's arrival in this country, Early had said he considered speculation on a second front entirely justified.

RAF Renews...

The raid was described as the heaviest on Britain in three weeks, but informed quarters said the number of planes which participated was not large in comparison with the formations the RAF has been hurling against Germany.

Two of the German planes were reported shot down by heavy anti-aircraft fire and two more were destroyed by RAF fighters over their continental bases.

The RAF fighters also strafed German airdromes in northern France and the Low Countries and blasted at railway communications, the Air Ministry said. One British bomber was reported lost during the night in the course of mine-laying operations in enemy waters.

Bad weather over the continent, however, prevented the RAF from following up its Friday and Saturday night attacks on Emden with another assault on German territory.

Observers on the British south coast reported the sound of gunfire and the throb of motors of light surface craft in the English channel last night, apparently indicating some sort of clash between British and German naval units.

A heavy force of British planes—perhaps 200 or 300—was said to have participated in the Saturday night assault upon Emden, site of a big German naval base. Simultaneous attacks were made on German airdromes in Holland and northern France and on Axis shipping off the Dutch coast.

At least one Axis supply ship was reported damaged. British losses were put at seven planes.

"Within the last few days, how-tsoever," it added, "the weather was sufficiently clear at times to permit some restricted air operations against Kiska where tents and minor temporary structures were observed to have been set upon land."

The navy reported on June 12 that a small enemy force had landed on Attu, a barren, rocky islet marking the westernmost tip of the Aleutian chain. At that time the presence of enemy ships at Kiska was noted, but they were reported shortly afterward to have been driven away.

Kiska, formerly used as a navy coaling station, is about 275 miles east of Attu. About 20 miles long, it is sparsely inhabited by Indians and a few white traders.

Pacific Coast Is... (Continued from page one) This theory was held by at least one resident of the coast. "The Japs picked a swell place for harmless target practice," he remarked.

Royal Canadian and American Naval units were reported to have launched an immediate hunt for the submarine, presumably Japanese, which attacked Estevan Point.

At Tokyo, a navy commentator quoted by Domei gave indirect support to the belief that the attack upon Vancouver Island, at least, was made by a Japanese craft.

This "must have been a great shock to the United States and Canadian peoples," he said, citing the assault as refutation of Secretary of War Stimson's recent statement that U. S. victories at Midway and in the Coral Sea had lessened the danger of Japanese attack upon the American coast.

The shelling in British Columbia and Oregon were the second and third instance of hostile action against the North American mainland since the start of the war, and the first since February 23.

At dusk on that date a large submarine surfaced off Colet Point, seven miles north of Santa Barbara, and fired some 25 shells at an oil field and refinery along the ocean front. One hit was made on an oil well derrick, causing minor damage.

Russian Defenders... (Continued from Page One) The war bulletin told, however, how Russian units in three days of fighting in the Leningrad sector killed at least 350 Germans. In other operations, the death of some 260 Germans under Russian artillery fire west of Moscow and of more than 150 on the Kalinin front were reported.

There were scattered local engagements all along the 2,000-mile front from the Ukraine to the far north on the anniversary of Adolf Hitler's fateful plunge into this nation, but Russian attention was centered on the roaring battle in the Crimea, now in its 18th day.

The Germans first laid siege to Sevastopol November 7, 1941, but the current offensive there started June 5.

It was officially admitted that the enemy had succeeded in driving a wedge into the Russian defenses at Sevastopol. The location of this German salient was not given, but the Germans were pressing strongly from both north and south of the Black Sea base.

Front dispatches said that seven Axis divisions, about 100,000 men, already had been wiped out in the wild hand-to-hand fighting, and the sustained artillery barrages and the ceaseless attacks and counterattacks. These accounts said the superiority of the enemy had forced the Red army back to its central defense lines in the southern zone of fortifications.

In some places Russians were fighting with their forts surrounded, even continuing battle from lower tiers when the Germans had occupied the upper stories of their fortifications.

There was renewed fighting in Axis Forces...

(Continued from Page One) President Kalinin, in his anniversary statement, said that help from the United States and Great Britain and Soviet industry and agriculture "provide full reason to be sure the enemy will be defeated."

"The spring offensive advertised by Hitler and his press in the winter failed to materialize," he said. "As to further development of military operations, one can assert that the German army does not have the strength to launch an offensive all along the front."

(Continued from Page One) There was no denial either of official reports from Berlin that German troops had pushed on from Tobruk to capture Bir El Gobi, a desert track center 40 miles to the southeast, and the port of Bardia, only eight miles from the Egyptian border.

A British communique reported today that an Axis column was moving toward Fort Capuzzo, which is just inside the Libyan border about 20 miles south and slightly east of Bardia.

This force was contacted yesterday near Sidi Azeiz, 12 miles northwest of Fort Capuzzo, by mobile British forces operating out in front of the Egyptian border defense line, the communique said.

The bulletin gave no new information on developments at Tobruk, saying merely: "There is no further news from Tobruk, which must be presumed to have fallen."

While some British forces were still operating west of the Egyptian frontier, virtually the whole of Libya was presumably to all intents in Axis hands. It was expected here that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel would attempt to capitalize on his successes by striking swiftly at Egypt in the hope of dealing it a death blow before they could be regrouped.

Military quarters here were vague as to the factors accounting for the fall of Tobruk, but it appeared the British had lost such a large proportion of their armored strength in the savage desert fighting, which preceded the final assault that they were unable to offer effective resistance.

Dispatches from the front gave no indication of any attempt to remove the Tobruk garrison by sea during the furious 24-hour battle that ended in its fall.

It seemed probable that in addition to large numbers of prisoners, most of the equipment which the British conveyed to Tobruk only a few days ago at great cost had fallen into Axis hands, for events moved so rapidly that complete destruction of stores would have been impossible.

While the portion of Ritchie's forces which escaped this debacle were said to be holding strong positions along the Egyptian frontier there was no disposition here to mounted on fast armored cars which proved the answer to the speedy 26-ton American-built "General Grant" tanks armored 1/2-inch millimeter cannon.

Despite the adverse turn of affairs in Libya, the city of Alexandria—some 300 miles east of the frontier—was calm today and there was no outward sign of change in the situation facing the country, which is not yet formally at war with the Axis.

Egypt's well-trained army of 40,000 regulars, augmented by 100,000 guardsmen, is ready for action however, and actually is performing valuable service in support of the British by patrolling vast stretches of the western desert.
