British Consolidating Improved Positions On Egyptian Battlefield

Germans Withdraw Straighten Lines Danted By British; U. S. Bombers Again Blast Tobruk While RAF Planes And British Warships Attack Axis Base At Matruh

By EDWARD KENNEDY Cairo, July 20.—(AP)—The big four-motored bombers of the United States Army Air Forces, bombers and fighters of the RAF and warships of the Royal Navy struck advanced Axis airfields and bases in a series of devastating raids and bombardments over the week-end, the British announced today.

Firmly holding their positions in a week of dusty fighting on the ground in the battle for Egypt, the British reported they had captured 4,000 prisoners in the seven days of five-and-a-half weeks of fighting.

The attack of the heavy United States bombers, now commanded by Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, recently transferred from India, was delivered in daylight against the stronghold of Tobruk Sunday.

British air sources, reporting the action, said three fires were started in the dock area and that this blow followed a blasting attack by the RAF's medium bombers Saturday night, when other fires were started and a ship set burning.

While the United States heavyweights were making Tobruk the fiercest and most important of the British were trying out the new heavy bombers in a series of attacks against Axis airfields and bases behind the front lines.

The Admiralty in London told of the Royal Navy's sallies against the Axis, and said two consecutive bombardments from the sea were carried out Friday and Saturday nights against Matruh, German Marshal Erwin Rommel's most advanced sea base.

No details of damage were given, but the Admiralty said its light warships encountered "consequential" replies from Axis shore batteries and easily beat off a motor torpedo boat which tried to attack.

At least six tanks were knocked out of action by British fighter bombers on the southern sector of the 40-mile front and many enemy aircraft were smashed by a heavy bombing attack on a German airfield west of the battle area, a communique said.

Five enemy aircraft, attempting to land during the raid, were reported shot down by British fighters scattering a strong force of light bombers which carried out the assault.

Heavy bombers of the Allied Air Force made a simultaneous daylight attack on the Axis supply port of Tobruk. Only one British plane was reported lost in these operations.

Three Hot Ones

These of Greenville's hottest days in a row were Saturday, Sunday and today, according to figures given out today by Mrs. B. T. Clark, official local weather observer.

HOT WEATHER FATAL TO TWO

Many Prostrations at Goldsboro Camp Reported

By The Associated Press Old man 80 bore down with torrid intensity in North Carolina during the week-end and today continued on his mission without any apparent let-up.

While the temperature reaching highs of 90 Saturday and Sunday in many sections of the Piedmont area, the Charlotte weather bureau reported the average for the week-end was about 8 degrees above normal. For 13 days the thermometer has ranged at 90 or above.

While residents of the low country were mopping their brows, the mountain residents enjoyed the comparative coolness of a 90 degree high, recorded in Asheville over the week-end.

All the relief the weather man could promise for today was "scattered thundershowers and slightly cooler in mountains northwest portion."

The elderly Negroes employed at the Army Air Force Technical School at Goldsboro died yesterday.

The carrier boy's arrival with the paper undoubtedly saved my life or saved me from serious injury, Mr. Bowen said.

Excess Profits Rate Is Raised To 90 Per Cent

Washington, July 20.—(AP)—A $6,143,900,000 wartime revenue bill was passed by the House and sent to the Senate today after a last-minute floor fight which resulted in levying a 90 per cent excess profits tax and a combined normal and surtax of 45 per cent on corporations.

The measure was passed on a roll-call vote of 393 to 2. The negative votes were cast by Representatives Oliver (R-Me.) and Moser (D-Pa.).

The Ways and Means committee sought to have the excess profits tax raised to 90 per cent and the normal and surtax reduced to 40 per cent.

On the excess profits tax increase, the House voted 393 to 2 on a voice vote.

The cut-in supply is designed to prevent rationed motorists from crossing the boundary line to get unlimited motor fuel.

In addition, the W.P.B. announced that deliveries to filling stations in seven western New York counties would be cut 33 1/3 per cent immediately and that on August 22 these counties would be brought in to the ration zone.

Russia Next

Devonport, Eng., July 20.—(AP)—The former war secretary Leslie More-Bethell, said in a speech today that Russia might see an attack from Japan "at any moment."

He declared the successful opening of a second front immediately would bring the prospect of victory near. He declared that the margin of territory Russia still could sacrifice without gravely prejudicing the outcome of the war was "becoming narrow."

CHINESE TAKE TWO SEAPORTS

Chungking, July 20.—(AP)—United States bombing planes blasted a Japanese airfield at Canton Saturday, planting their bombs among between 50 and 60 planes on the ground and leaving six great fires blazing. Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

In a second attack the American airmen yesterday bombed Linchuan, Japanese base in Kiangsi province. All the planes returned safely from both raids.

The communists said Japanese headquarters were attacked with "excellent results" at Linchuan in this second raid upon that base. It was attacked July 10.

Canton last was attacked by U. S. bombers on July 4 when the Whitecloud airbase on the outskirts of the city was the target. Today's official announcement that an airbase was attacked, without identifying it, indicated a second field was visited this time since the Japanese maintained several around most of the larger cities under their domination.

Russian Forces Abandon Voroshilovgrad; New Successes By Reds Reported Near Voronezh; German Bridgehead Across Don Recaptured By Defeat of Nazi 75th Division

By EDDY GILMORE Moscow, July 20.—(AP)—The Red army fell back toward Rostov in the gigantic, wasting battle of the Don steppes today as the Germans pushed up superior numbers of men, tanks and other weapons in an impressive bid for that key to the Caucasus.

Marshal Semyon Timoshenko was assembling all his available forces in an orderly retreat for a stand somewhere along a 40-mile stretch from abandoned Voroshilovgrad to the battleground south of Millerovo.

While the stage thus was being set for a momentous new struggle, the Russians reported significant new successes around their anchor bastion of Voronezh to the north which now resembled a doubled fist in the German flank.

In hand to hand fighting the Russians took one main German bridgehead pointed across the Don at Voronezh after a heavy defeat of the invaders' 75th division.

Other counter-attacking detachments of the city grappled with the German units and west of Voronezh on the banks of the Don.

(This appeared to mean that the Germans had been driven back from the city's immediate outskirts. Previous dispatches had indicated the Germans had been routed to the north of the city and held at bay to the south and held on to the western suburbs. Voronezh is about 10 miles east of the Don.)

The Germans' communique declared Russian attempts to recapture Voronezh had been beaten off.

The Russians, who had recaptured Voroshilovgrad, 100 miles north of Rostov and 50 miles southwest of Millerovo, were now able to concentrate their forces before Rostov as the Germans held outwards along the Moscow-Rostov railway line. Apparently the Germans were approaching Kamenka where the line crosses the Donets river. Kamenka is 20 miles north of Rostov, and 45 miles east of Voroshilovgrad.

The Red Air Force was a scourge to the Germans in the Voronezh and lower Don sectors.

One Russian dispatch said a Soviet tank column had broken through the German lines and was rushing toward Voronezh.

Christian Science Service. "Life" was the subject of the lesson-lesson in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, July 19.

The golden text was from John 8:28. "As the Father hath life in himself, so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself."

Among the citations which completed the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon, and our hands have handled, of the Word of life; Of the life which was manifested, and we have seen it, and bear witness, and show unto you that eternal life, which was with the Father, and was manifested unto us;" (I John 1:1-2).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Life is, always has been, and ever will be independent of matter; for Life is God, and man is thy, but spiritually, and not subject to decay and dust. Because Life is God, Life must be eternal, self-existent. Life is the everlasting I AM, the Being who was and is and shall be, whom nothing can erase."

North Carolina farmers who still are gathering scrap metal on their farms for use in the nation's steel mills, are cautioned not to sell for scrap any pieces which are usable for farm purposes. The North Carolina Scrap Metal Board, with headquarters at Wake College, says many pieces of scrap metal often contain parts which may be used in repairing farm machinery. The board says, however, that ever bit of scrap not usable for other purposes is vitally needed in making arms and munitions to fight the Axis, and should be placed in trade channels as rapidly as possible. The scrap collection campaign will continue for the duration. It is no more a one-week or one-month campaign than the war is a one-week or one-month conflict, the board points out.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
July 20, 1902

Building operations in Greenville is only measured by the ability to get material. Houses go up as fast as material can be had. A brick manufacturing plant would give more impetus in this direction.

Water is so low in the river that steamers can only get within four miles of town.

On the southern end of the front, just above the salt marshes of the Quattara depression, Imperial forces also made some progress following up an Axis withdrawal, the communique said.

Little activity was reported, however, along the coast, where hard-bitten Australian troops maintained their positions at Tel El Eisa—the "Hill of Jesus."

An ominous lull was said to have descended yesterday morning over most of the front, where for days there has been a constant din of shellfire, bursting bombs and chattering machine-guns. In one 10-mile sector not a single shell fell throughout the forenoon.

Air activity was reduced over the week-end by severe dust storms.

Reports from the front said that during the past 48 hours the Germans had withdrawn at various places to straighten their lines dentured by British advances—most pronounced along the coast and in the central sector.

The British themselves took advantage of the situation to consolidate their own positions and fill up gaps in units engaged in the recent hard fighting.

A British communique yesterday reported that Indian troops had advanced slightly along El Ruweisat ridge in the central sector and held their gains against a counter-attack by enemy tanks and infantry.

Property Damage Is Heavy In Two States

By WILLIAM BIRSEL.
Ridgeway, Pa., July 20 (AP)—Violent flash floods rolling through north central Pennsylvania and New York today took at least 11 lives and damaged or destroyed hundreds of homes, business establishments and industrial plants.

Railroad roadways and highway bridges were washed out. Traffic was paralyzed. Power and telephone service was disrupted. There were fires, landslides and disease threats.

At Port Allegheny, where six persons were reported drowned, the Allegheny smashed into the Free Methodist church while 150 persons were attending a conference. They clung to trees, roof-tops and floating wreckage until rescued. Five boats cut loose and destroyed the church and a nearby Parish Hall, a garage and an old silk mill.

L. N. Lukehart of Alexandria, Va., general field representative of the Red Cross, took charge of relief work here. He reported the flood was a swift "huge chunk of streets" were torn out.

William D. Pelley Pleads Not Guilty

Indianapolis, July 20 (AP)—William Dudley Pelley, former Silver Shirt leader, and two co-defendants pleaded innocent at their arraignment in Federal District court today on sedition charges. They are to be tried July 28.

Those under indictment with Pelley are Miss Agnes Marian Henderson, his secretary; and Lawrence A. Brown, secretary of the Fellowship Press, Inc., a Noblesville, Ind., publishing firm also under indictment for printing alleged seditious articles prepared by Pelley.

Counsel for the trio indicated they would file before the trial a stipulation under which both the defense and the prosecution would be permitted to introduce as evidence certain copies of the Congressional Record. They said these copies would contain isolationist speeches by administration spokesmen and by Congressmen.

in Boston bombers attacked targets in the German occupied Little and Bethune areas, including power stations at Choques and Mazingarbe. Hurricane bombers and Spitfires attacked two enemy ships, and armed freighter and a minesweeper. The Air Ministry said both ships were hit.

Two bombers and a fighter were reported missing from the day operations, making a total of six for the day and night.

The Air Ministry said the planes which attacked the freighter and minesweeper met a new type of fierce, light anti-aircraft fire. "This came up vertically," a returning pilot said. "It was white and looked like rockets." No other details were given, however.

USE SCHOOLS IN WAR EFFORT

McNutt Says Plan Will Be Announced Soon

Washington, July 20.—(AP)—Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt said today the government would announce soon a definite policy on college men in the draft and coordination of America's 1,800 college men and universities with the war effort.

George F. Zook, President of the American Council on Education, had charged the government with failure to use the institutions. Zook wrote McNutt, "The Secretaries of War and Navy and draft headquarters that this 'failure' had confused students and educators."

McNutt said he had not yet received the letter which had also been sent to the press. He declined comment on it, except to say that Zook certainly knew that the Manpower Commission and the office of education had been working with the army, navy and selective service for weeks, drafting details of a program for college students and a maximum use of college and university facilities.

The manpower chief said that Dr. Edward C. Elliott, president of Purdue University, was brought in to the Manpower Commission a month ago "for just this purpose." Zook's letter carried a statement by 76 college presidents, who met recently in Baltimore, deploring "the continuing lack of any adequate, coordinated plan for the most effective utilization of higher education toward the winning of the war."

McNutt gave no details of his program but it was understood it probably would stop the conflict in recruiting by various branches of the arm and navy.

London, July 20.—(AP)—Informed military quarters, who must remain anonymous, expressed the opinion today that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko hopes to safeguard the Caucasus by forming a defense line along the great elbow of the Don and by holding his own communication lines between the Caucasus and Moscow.

They said they expect he will continue to withdraw until his forces form a line anchored on Rostov on the west and extending north-eastward along the Don elbow to Raspopinsk. Raspopinsk is just north of the eastern bend of the Don and is about 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad on the Volga.

With his armies astride the river line, Timoshenko would be in position to bar a southward drive by the Germans into the Caucasus.

From Raspopinsk his lines would have to extend northwestward to defend his main railway communications.

Military sources pointed out the importance of staunchly defended Voronezh in such a scheme. Should the Germans be able to advance northward on the Moscow-Voronezh line they would menace Timoshenko's two main railways.

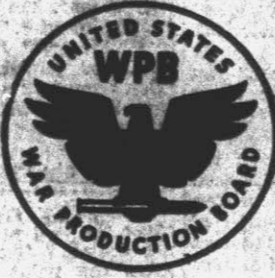

One of these runs from Astrakhan to Saratov and thence north-west to Tambov and Michurinsk where it forms a junction with the Voronezh line to Moscow.

The other runs from Stalingrad to a junction with the same line at Gryzai.

An Emergency Statement to the People of the United States

How can you help? The answer is on this page. I hope every American citizen will read it and act on it.

D. R. NELSON, CHAIRMAN, WAR PRODUCTION BOARD

A crisis exists in our war production program which can be solved only by the patriotic cooperation of the American people.

We are faced with a serious shortage of steel scrap, rubber and other vital materials.

This shortage must be filled. By "scrap," we mean the ordinary junk which today is lying in the barnyards and in the gullies of farms; in the basements, attics and garages of homes and stores throughout the country.

The steel industry operates on the basis of half-and-half—about 50 per cent metal from pig iron and 50 per cent remelted scrap metal.

Therefore, about 50 per cent of every tank, every ship, every submarine and every gun is made of scrap iron and steel.

The steel industry has been rapidly stepping up its production—from 67,000,000 tons in 1940 to a record-breaking 83,000,000 tons in 1941. Production in 1942 is already ahead of 1941; but we need to get production up to the industry's full capacity of 90,000,000 tons—a total equal to the output of the rest of the world combined.

This volume of production cannot be attained or increased unless an additional 6,000,000 tons of scrap iron and steel is obtained promptly.

We are faced with the fact that some steel furnaces have been allowed to cool down and that many of them are operating from day to day and hand to mouth; due only to the lack of scrap.

The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber.

We are collecting every possible pound of scrap from the factories, arsenals and shipyards; we are speeding up the flow of material from automobile graveyards; we are tearing up abandoned railroad tracks and bridges; but unless we dig out an additional 6,000,000 tons of steel and great quantities of rubber, copper, brass, zinc and tin; our boys may not get all the fighting weapons they need in time.

Fortunately, the material exists in America's great "mine above the ground."

There is enough iron and steel on farms alone, if used with other materials, to make:

Twice as many battleships as there are in the whole world today, or enough 2000-pound bombs to drop three per minute from big bombers incessantly for more than three years.

Loading and collecting this scrap is going to require a canvass of every house and every farm. Even one old shovel will help make 4 hand grenades.

We have set up the machinery for this, but it is not perfect. It is a problem that can be licked only by American resourcefulness, American organization ability, American muscle and American will to win.

We now have in every state a State Salvage Committee of volunteers working directly under the governor.

Under these state committees we have county committees and local committees. We have special industrial committees working with executives of plants in 421 industrial centers.

In rural communities we have the County War Boards. These committees can tell you the quickest way to get your junk into action.

In behalf of the governor and the state committee we urge every committee to organize itself into a band of "Salvage Commandos."

You can either sell your scrap to a junk dealer or you can give it to a charity, which in turn will sell it to a junk dealer who performs an important function by sorting it, grading it, packing it and shipping it to the right place.

We urge local charities and civic organizations to cooperate with the Local Salvage Committee and devise a plan of action and collection.

We urge the scrap dealer to cooperate as fast as he can in the collection and shipment of materials.

We urge industrial executives to appoint Salvage Managers who have both the responsibility and authority to salvage obsolete machinery, tools and dies.

We urge every farmer and every householder in America to act at once.

Go over your premises with a fine tooth comb. If you have already turned in your scrap, look again—you'll probably find more.

If you do not have enough of your own to warrant someone coming after it, form a neighborhood pool, or take it yourself to the nearest collection point.

If there is an old heater or boiler in your basement too heavy for you to move, get your neighbors to help you.

This is a People's job. It is something you can do without interfering with other war work or personal duties.

It is not enough to pile up a little stuff and expect somebody to come and get it. Most of the work is being done by patriotic volunteers with inadequate facilities. They need your help in collecting scrap material in the largest possible amounts and in getting it to the right place.

It is a direct and personal obligation to all of our boys on all fronts.

You may think, "My little bit" won't help, but your "little bit" multiplied thousands and millions of times can create a mountain of raw material which can actually turn the tide.

The situation is serious. Your help is needed now.

HOW SCRAP IRON AND STEEL GO TO WAR

The steel used in our war machines is made by melting together

1. Pig iron (about 50%)
2. Scrap generated in the steel plant in the process of steelmaking (about 25%)
3. Scrap purchased from outside junk sources (about 25%)

We have plenty of iron ore to make the pig iron needed. But our furnaces operate faster when there is plenty of scrap to mix with the pig iron.

This so-called "scrap" which goes into the furnaces to make the steel for tanks, ships and guns is actually refined steel—with most impurities removed. Some of the finest quality steels are made 100% from scrap.

The iron and steel scrap which you collect is bought by the steel mills from scrap dealers at established government-controlled prices.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

ANCIENT DOG TRACKS
Some time ago there was discovered in certain Babylonian ruins a large sun-baked brick. While the brick was still soft, the royal circle had been stamped upon it, either by the king himself or by one of his officials. But before the brick dried, a stray dog walked across it. So today, thousands of years after the episode occurred, we see the brick in a museum case, having in one corner the seal of the king and across its surface the tracks of a stray dog.

In the crown of His creation, God made man in His own image. He put upon him the divine imprimatur. He endowed him with qualities which make glorious the personality of God Himself. Every one of us, in his nature the seal of the Heavenly King.

But it also is true that across the lives of every one of us are the tracks of stray dogs. Weaknesses lying bold upon us through years of indulgence have disfigured our lives. Small we are, physically unimpaired of ourselves. The tempter does not restrain, the uncharitable judgment fails, which we so easily lapse, the bitter observation we make on the professed upright-ness of others—these are the dog tracks across our nature. God meant us to be like Him, and so often we are like Satan, who plagues the souls of men.

SLAP THE JAPS WITH SCRAP

The government is calling for every available pound of scrap iron and steel now on the premises of homes and farms throughout the country. This metal is a vital need at this time in our war production and it is necessary that it find its way into production channels if our program is to continue on its present basis. In the manufacture of steel 50 per cent of the volume is from scrap while the other 50 per cent is from pig iron. While there is sufficient iron ore from which to obtain the pig iron, the steel production will be slowed unless the industry can obtain immediately the necessary amount of scrap.

Already there have been drives for this scrap metal but the previous ones were not successful to the extent that enough of the metal was turned in and our government is today making another and more urgent call to every citizen to cooperate in this matter. You may think that the few pounds of scrap metal you have on hand will not help much in the war effort but if you multiply those few pounds by the thousands of farms and homes throughout the country you will realize the tremendous total that can be turned into useful implements of war.

If we are to be successful in our war effort, we must have ships and more ships, our men on the fronts must have weapons and more weapons. The scrap metal about your premises will help to supply these needed ships and weapons. Your country is calling upon you to do your part in this great drive. Get the scrap metal together now, sell it to your nearest junk dealer or call your county chairman for instructions as to what to do with it.

This is a vital matter and the call extended today by the government means not just a few, but you, your neighbor and every other American can help.

New York—Maurice Costello, was a great matinee idol in his day, and a challenging personality on Broadway. I mention this because Costello may be seen currently in a picture called "They All Kissed the Bride."

It's Humiliatin'!

When the summer season got underway at the beaches and resorts hereabouts it was learned that only about 25 per cent of the people who formerly leased concessions had cared to risk their money against the dud draw-backs of war and nightily dim-outs. But those at Cooney Island who took the risk are now making money hand over fist. The warm weather has driven the people to the beaches, and the few on hand to offer refreshments and drinks are striking bonanzas. They are doing twice as much business as formerly.

There remains no way, apparently, to account for the whim that turns successes into failures and failures into brilliant comebacks. Seven years ago when the Trustee Guild, organized George Goshwin's "Porgy and Bess" it was a costly and disheartening failure. The cast was fine and the music was lovely, but it ran for only a brief while and the producers swallowed a distressing financial loss.

The WAR TODAY

The Red position is exceedingly brave, but the Allies have a right to hope that Hitler can be held.

Here's a curious item that fits the present day behind-the-scenes intrigue. Phyllis Sage is a young woman who earns her living by sewing the lines in people's hands. You can find her in the "23" room at the George Washington, if you are interested. This is her story: One night last year, in a Detroit club, a guest held out his hand to be read. Miss Sage suggested that the lines in this man's hand pointed to a fanatical belief in an idea that was doomed to failure. "You are going to lose," she told him.

PUBLIC FORUM

GREATEST NATION OF DRINKERS
The 1941 Britannica Book of the Year makes the following observation: "The United States is the country of greatest production and consumption of potable spirits. Whiskey is the predominant beverage." A great name we have made for ourselves in this land of liberty. One of the simplest, most childish questions being asked today by the "wets" is: "If prohibition returns to the nation, how is the loss of revenue that our state and national governments will suffer be replaced?" According to reports of the United States Internal Revenue Bureau, in the fiscal year 1941 the following amounts of distilled spirits and malt liquors were produced in the United States, and Federal taxes collected on every gallon:

Whiskey, 121,726,000 gallons.
Rum, 2,615,000 gallons.
Brandy, 25,373,000 gallons.
Alcohol, 208,645,000 gallons.
Malt Liquors, 55,143,000 barrels.
(Each barrel contains 31 gallons.)

Added to this legalized "home brew" there are millions and millions of gallons of imported liquors sold in this country, and taxes collected on that. This is the tax money that the wets promised us before repeal. This is the wanted salvation of the nation, relief from depression, solution of the unemployment problem. "Now," say the wets in effect, "we have come to you as an angel of mercy, giving the nation millions and millions of gallons of whiskey, beer, and wine to drink and from which to collect taxes. Can you be so ungrateful as to throw us out of power and deprive our descendants of the huge sums of money that we put in their treasury every year?"

That four billion dollars, however, is a total loss, a national loss. It goes into the stomach to paralyze the brain, make babbling idiots out of normally sensible people, transform humans into hogs, render soldiers and sailors incapable of intelligent duty and turn army officers' quarters into a Belshazzar's hall of sprees.

When citizens, acting in the name of their country, engage in selling liquor to their fellow men, with the hope of profits to pay public expenses and reduce taxes, are they not supporting their government "with blood" and trying to reduce their taxes "by iniquity?"

Dr. Maddy further revealed that American soldiers and sailors were served free liquor the night before the attack. The missionary leader very correctly said "God is on our side, but our hands are not clean. God will not entrust victory to us until we clean up these things."

Washington, July 20 (AP)—The War Department made public today the names of 21 American soldiers and sailors who are held as prisoners of war by the Japanese at Zentsu, Shikoku Island, Japan. These were, all serving on Wake Island. Navy prisoners included Seaman, first class, James Bissell Darden, next of kin, mother, Mrs. Eva B. Darden, Clinton, N. C.

MRS. MURDOCK TAKES A CASE

Chapter 21
To the Readers
Della sat up, wondering what time it was, her nerves still vibrating from the insistence of the bell. With an effort she struggled to her feet. She groped her way across the room, trying to remember what had happened and why she was there. The answer came with sudden clarity and something cold clamped about her heart.

"Still not knowing what time it was but only that she had been waiting for this call since early afternoon, she stumbled for the telephone and picked it up."
"Yes."
"The guy that spoke to you about that envelope. It was a reedy, drawing voice, barely loud enough to be distinct."
"Yes, I—you said you'd call this noon."
"I changed my mind. I'm calling now. . . . You got it?"

"For a second or two her closed her throat. Why hadn't she brought an envelope here? She knew even as she thought that; they had decided to leave it with Joyce so that it would be safe regardless of any further attempts to steal it here. But what should she say?"
"Well?" the wiles demanded.
"Yes," Della said. "Yes, I have it."
"Then listen. I want you to bring it to this address. Memorize it. Two seven three Morton Street. Room seven-four. I'm going to give you twenty minutes."
"Oh, gosh!" She was trembling now, and pinking lest she forget.
"Can't you talk a little louder? Two seventy-three what street?"
"Morton."
"In twenty minutes."
"That's not time enough." She was gasping at straws now because she had to get to Joyce. "I'm not dressed." She waited a trial to press the point and yet knowing 20 minutes was not enough.

"Okay," the voice said. "A half hour; no longer. And get this. No strids. Come alone. . . . Understand?"
"I'm to come alone."
"You don't, if you stall me, I call the cops." "I'll be there," Della said; then stopped, aware that she was talking over a dead wire.
A half hour. Twenty-nine minutes now.
She left the motor of her car running, sped up the two flights of stairs without waiting for the elevator and thumped on the door. When she opened the door she said, half aloud, "Oh, thank God!" and then the door was open and Joyce was there.

"The envelope, Joyce! Oh, I'm so glad you're here."
"You got the call?"
"Della, the cops are coming. Would she stand there forever? Couldn't she see what it meant?"
"Oh, darling, hurry!" she pleaded. "Give it to me. If I'm not there by thirteen minutes after ten he may be gone."
Joyce started to protest, but stepped quickly to the desk and opened the drawer.
"But can't you tell me?" she said. "Have you called Jack Fenner? Where are you going?"
"Morton Street."
"Alone? But you can't."
"I have to."
"You haven't called Jack Fenner?" Joyce said sharply. "And you've got to, Della. He's got to go with you." There isn't time. And the man said I must come along or—"
She broke off, seized the envelope and thrust it in her coat pocket. She had started for the door before Joyce could take her arm.

"I'm going with you," Joyce said, and opened the closet door.
"She slipped her foot in exasperation and tried to pull Joyce aside. "I won't have it, I tell you. You're not going to get your vesting brimmed in her hair and then Joyce opened the door and was talking fast, her chin firm and eyes resolute.
"I'm going, Della. I won't even get out of the car. You can meet him by yourself, but I'll drive you there. . . . We shouldn't hurry. . . . We shouldn't hurry? There can't be much time."
In the car Della said: "I'm sorry I lost my temper."
"You didn't really," Joyce said. "But I had to come."
Della fell silent and watched the panorama of lights slide past the car windows. The city was taking on new character now. Gradually the angles of little neon signs became the angles of widely spaced until there were none at all save those on all-night drugstores and greasy-looking sandwich shops that posed as restaurants. Presently Joyce turned right and then they were in a street where even the drug-stores could not flourish.

"We're nearly there," Joyce said. "This is Morton Street."
Della sat up. Even by daylight the street name had been a discouraging prospect; at night it had become an avenue of emptiness and shadows, where three and four story brick buildings marched along in unbroken ranks and the street lamps as the cosmos served only to make the middle of the block more obscure.
The Number
"It's the next block. I think," Joyce said. "See if you can find a number on one of those stores."
The car was chattered down as far as it would go now, and when they crossed the intersection, Joyce shifted into second so that they might move even slower.
"Yes," she said presently. "This is it. I just saw number 230."
"Park anywhere," Della said. "Not too close, Joyce."

League Leaders Have Better Luck In Own Back Yards

YANKEES WIN NINE IN A ROW

Dodgers Lose Double-Header To The Cardinals

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

It may be only a ball yard but there's no place like home, especially to the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers, who are sliding the path toward major league pennant rackets in foreign climes.

The Yankees, who discovered a decided lack of hospitality the last time they ventured forth, conducted an enjoyable stay in their own back yard yesterday by walloping the Chicago White Sox twice and extending their winning streak to nine games.

Tomorrow they open another swing through the dangerous western sector, armed with a ten-game lead which the Cleveland Indians helped them compile by knocking off the second-place Boston Red Sox twice.

Brooklyn's National league pace setters, who stop off on their way home tonight to make up a game with the Pittsburgh Pirates, found the Cardinals somewhat tougher in St. Louis than they've been at Ebbets field.

The Dodgers were more than holding their own on this trip until they visited St. Louis, where the Cards grabbed three games out of four, sending the Brooklynites on their way after yesterday's double defeat which reduced the margin between the two to half a dozen games.

While these important developments in the pennant struggle were taking place, the Yankees processed the surprise of the season when they suddenly lost one cog of their machine, picked up another, and rambled merrily on.

Catcher Buddy Roser, elevated to a regular starting post because of Bill Dickey's shoulder injury, jumped the club and went home to Buffalo to try for a policeman's job, leaving the yankees with only one eligible backstop, Rubei De Kromer.

But the Yanks promptly signed Rollie Hemaley, who was cut loose by the Cincinnati Reds only two days before. A .113 hitter at Cincinnati, where he collected only 13 hits in 118 times at bat this year, Hemaley caught both games as the Yankees romped the White Sox, 9-3 and 12-0, and batted five hits in eight trips to the plate.

Red Huffing blanked the White Sox on four hits in the second game and clubbed a home run and two singles, driving in four runs.

Joe DiMaggio extended his batting streak to 17 games with his 14th homer, a double and two singles as his contribution for the day and Red Rolfe batted his fifth homer in a week in the fifth.

At St. Louis, the Cardinals beat Whitlow Wyatt and the Dodgers, 8-5, in the opener but it took an 11th inning homer by Egan Slaughter to decide the nightcap, 7-4, and each team led a valuable hand.

Pete Reiser, Dodger center fielder and current major league batting leader, crashed into the wall attempting to field Slaughter's smash inside the park. He was taken to a hospital, where physicians said he would be kept several days for treatment of a moderate concussion.

Mort Cooper, who pitched his 12th win for the cards in the first game, suffered a recurrence of an old arm ailment and retired in the eighth inning. He was told to remain out of action a week or ten days.

Elsewhere in the National league, the Pittsburgh Pirates moved into fifth place ahead of the Chicago Cubs by beating the Boston Braves, 6-7 in the first time on the field. Ebie Fletcher, two-run, ninth inning double and the second of a four-hit pitching job by Bob Klingner.

Bucky Walters pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 6-3 triumph over the New York Giants in one game, but the Giants tripped the Reds and Johnny Vander Meer, 4-3, in the other on Dick Bartell's double and Buster Maynard's single in the ninth.

Chicago and Philadelphia divided their doubleheader, the Phils winning the first game, 8-5, and the Cubs the second, 8-4.

At Boston, the Cleveland Indians caught the Red Sox with two of their stars, Ted Williams and Bobby Doerr, on the sidelines and won the first game, 10-7, with a three-run rally in the 12th inning and the second, 4-0, on the three-hit pitching of Mel Harder. That enabled the Tribe to climb within one game of second place in the American league.

The St. Louis Browns snapped a five-game winning streak for the Washington Senators, taking a doubleheader, 5-3 and 3-2.

The Detroit Tigers halted their six-game losing streak by downing the Philadelphia Athletics, 2-1, but the A's bounced back to take the nightcap, 4-3.

Greensboro Wins From Asheville

Charlotte, July 20 (AP)—The Greensboro Red Sox beat the Asheville Tourists, 6 to 3, yesterday and as a result the Tourists replaced the idle Winston-Salem Twins as the Piedmont League cellar dwellers.

The Red Sox put over one run in the first and three in the second and were never headed. Lee Mohr, Greensboro second baseman, and shortstop "Right" Angle of the Tourists each got four hits in five times at bat. The Tourists made three errors to help the Sox.

Walter Dubriel and Bill Wright pitched the Norfolk Tars to their second straight double-victory as the Richmond Colts bowed, 6-1 and 7-1.

Dubriel chalked up victory No. 6 as he allotted the Colts eight hits in the opener, while his mates made their eight safe flaws out of Wilkins in the first six frames off. In the seven-inning nightcap Wright allowed only four hits. The Colts got nine.

The Durham Bulls failed to hit when it counted and lost to the league-leading Portsmouth Cubs, 3 to 0, but despite the loss pulled into a tie for fourth place with the Richmond club. Each club has 506 per centage standing.

Durham got as many hits as the Cubs—nine—but had 12 men left stranded.

Tarboro's free style relay team of Ethel Laughlin, Ruby Hudson and Frances Kenney set a new national record of 2:19.8 in the 300-meter event, breaking the 2:26.4 record held by the Washington, D. C. girls and country club.

Ruddy Cronin, five times Carolina's diving champion, added the Junior national diving crown to his collection, scoring 132 points.

A relay team from Fort Bragg set a new Junior record of 3:35.2 in the 300-meter medley relay, wiping out a mark of 3:48.1 held by Durham.

MORE SINKINGS ARE REPORTED

Western Atlantic Losses Now Total 386

By The Associated Press
The navy's announcement of the sinking of a medium sized United States merchant vessel off the northern coast of South America today boosted to 386 the unofficial Associated Press tabulation of wartime allied and neutral ship losses in the western Atlantic.

The torpedoing, which took place June 26, killed four of the crewmen and left 27 others unaccounted for. Twenty-nine survivors were landed at an east coast port after four and a half days in lifeboats.

Navy reports said the ship went down in flames, the U-boat pouring 97 rounds of shellfire into her stern after the torpedoes had forced the crew to abandon ship.

Two sinkings were announced by the navy yesterday, the first ship having been shelled to the bottom in the South Atlantic June 22, the second having been torpedoed near a large West Indian island July 12. Both vessels were medium-sized.

The entire crew of 35 aboard the first was rescued, but three of 39 crewmen and 11 navy gunners on the second were killed in the engine room during the attack.

The death toll in the sinking of 25 allied craft announced last week by the navy was comparatively small, a total of 43 being reported missing out of 1,112 passengers and crewmen aboard the ships.

Sinkings announced during the week of July 12-18 included 10 U. S. vessels, four Norwegian, three British, three Panamanian, one Dutch, one Dominican and three allied but otherwise unidentified merchantmen.

Axle submarines picked off 10 of these in the Caribbean to bring that area's war total to 132, eight off the U. S. East coast for a total of 154, three off Canada for a total of 157 and four in the Gulf of Mexico for a total of 161. No newly-reported sinkings off South America left the figure for that area at 23.

Coastal Area Has Blackout

Wilmington, July 20—(AP)—A report of "suspicious activity on the coast" near here caused an alert early yesterday that plunged this Atlantic seaport into darkness for an hour and a half.

A combined eastern defense command, first army and eastern sea frontier, statements said that investigation disclosed no enemy activity of any kind, however.

Four sirens sounded at 3:40 a. m., eastern war time and a few minutes later the city was completely black as air raid wardens, some clad only in pajamas, stumbled to their posts. Five plane glass windows in the downtown section were smashed to extinguish lights.

The alerts sounded at Wrightsville Beach, nine miles from here, about 30 minutes earlier, and at Jacksonville, N. C., about the same time. The signal also was given at Carolina Beach, 16 miles from here, but no blackout was ordered.

A total of 35 business houses in the city were reported to police for failing to have means for extinguishing lights.

The sirens sounded at Wrightsville Beach, nine miles from here, about 30 minutes earlier, and at Jacksonville, N. C., about the same time. The signal also was given at Carolina Beach, 16 miles from here, but no blackout was ordered.

Explosion Kills Two In Virginia

Clifton Forge, Va., July 20—(AP)—Two men were killed and several others injured early today in an explosion in one unit of the Virginia Ordnance Works at Glen Wilton near here.

Making munitions, the plant is operated by the Hercules Powder Company for the army.

The workmen killed were W. M. Hill, 30, and Lawrence Hiles, 40. Hiles was married and father of two children.

Police Chief J. W. Huffman said four others were taken to Chesapeake and Ohio railroad hospital here.

They were listed as James Leslie, 24, Glen Wilton; Lowry McCoy, 32, Lick Run; O. H. Echols, Jr., Clifton Forge, and C. A. Campbell, 33, of Eagle Rock. Physicians said none of the four was badly hurt.

The explosion, heard for ten or more miles, brought crowds toward the plant early today, but Virginia state police turned them back.

The accident was the second of its nature in Virginia within the past ten days. Four workmen were fatally burned in a fire in the sheet cutting unit of the Radford, Va., ordnance works on July 12.

Wants Pay Boost For State Workers

Shelby, July 20—(AP)—Former Governor O. Max Gardner believes that a part of the state's $17,000,000 surplus should be used to boost the pay of state employees, including school teachers, ten per cent.

Gardner, in a statement issued yesterday, pointed out that, as governor in 1931, he had asked the legislature to cut the pay of state workers ten per cent and that previously as budget director he had cut appropriations by some three and a half million dollars.

"If we cut salaries when the treasury is bare, due to abnormal conditions," he said, "by the same token we should raise salaries when the treasury is overflowing, due to abnormal conditions."

He said the present surplus was due to the war.

notice that it had abandoned its previous schedule of 87 1-2 per cent on excess profits and 45 per cent in normal and surtaxes for corporations.

Rep. Knutson (R-Min.), a committee member, had served notice he would make an attempt on the floor to obtain the 90 and 40 per cent rates, but he said that the committee's new rates were satisfactory to him.

The committee took no action on the question of post-war credits for corporations based on their excess profits taxes—a provision once approved but later discarded.

Doughton expressed the opinion that these last-minute changes would make little difference in the bill's total revenue but that "in the long run, our changes will increase revenues because they will let corporations continue to live and that will mean more employment and more dividends."

Demonstrations of OPA Suspends Tobacco Plantings Durham Tire Co.

Atlanta, July 20—(AP)—A 60-day suspension of the Durham Tire Exchange, Durham, N. C., for alleged violation of tire rationing regulations was announced today by A. Walton Nall, regional OPA enforcement attorney.

Nall said an OPA stop order barring the firm from receiving rubber supplies or carrying retread and recap work for 60 days would be served today on the operators, B. D. Farthing and Eugene Neut-wirth.

He said the order was issued after a hearing on investigators' charges that the exchange received 2,250 pounds of cambelback in excess of legal requirements as a result of making a false statement in its application.

The order does not apply to work now in process. It requires return of the cambelback or forfeiture of a corresponding amount of replenishment certificates.

Advance Opening Of Old Belt Markets

Richmond, Va., July 20—(AP)—The sales committee of the Tobacco Association of the United States agreed today to advance the date for opening of auctions on the old bright belt from October 1 to September 28.

The blue-cured or bright leaf crop of tobacco is expected to mature early this year and farmers had complained to the association that the delay in opening of the old belt sales would work a hardship on them.

The committee today heard 32 growers, bankers and warehousemen before announcing the three-day advancement in the start of sales. A. B. Carrington of Danville, association president, said there would be a full set of buyers on each market.

Production Credit Association Grows

The Greenville Production Credit Association revealed that a larger number of farmers have become members of this cooperative credit institution during the first half of the year and that the association has had a substantial increase in the number of loans made.

Loans totaling $448,615 were made to farmers of Pitt and Greene counties this year for a wide variety of purposes, such as for the production and harvesting of crops, raising cattle, hogs, poultry, and for general purposes. Farmer members own $26,915 of the capital structure of the association. Reserves amount to $33,958. This cooperative is in a sound and healthy financial condition. An increased amount of credit is being used by members to finance the production of food, feed and oil crops and for raising livestock, which are vital to the war effort. We are encouraging farmers to pay debts and reduce their outstanding obligations as much as their income will permit and buy War Bonds." Robert A. Darr, secretary and treasurer, stated.

Defense Begins In Nazis' Trial

Washington, July 20 (AP)—The military commission trying eight accused Nazi saboteurs announced today the defense probably would open the presentation of its case this afternoon.

The noon communique issued by Major General Frank R. McCoy, president of the commission, said that the morning session was "primarily devoted to the arguments on certain motions."

"The defense," it added, "then recalled certain FBI agents for further cross-examination."

"It is anticipated that the defense will open the presentation of its case during the afternoon's session," it said.

About 200 million cubic feet of helium have been produced since its discovery, more than nine-tenths of it in the United States.

down to 1,800 feet where they could work. The Japs threw up an umbrella of anti-aircraft fire and one Liberator caught a chunk apparently in the bomb load. He was there in formation one second and the next he came apart in a searing blast that rocked the other planes. Then only a cloud of smoke and bits of debris tumbling earthward remained.

The remaining four planes revised their technique and climbed to 18,000 feet to drop their loads. They avenged their loss, for as they left one heavy cruiser lay flaming in the harbor, hit squarely by heavy bombs.

Before the day was over the Catalinas made seven separate attacks. The night goes on through the gloom of night and the practically identical gloom of day. invaders hold on a 15 mile strip of the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway by seizing Iyang and Hengfeng, the Chinese high command announced yesterday.

The official announcement said the enemy lost heavily in casualties and that large stores of booty fell into Chinese hands.

The reports of these successes after a long series of Japanese gains was greeted here as the best news in weeks from the warfront.

Eighteen Die ...

Pfc. Carroll Emmel, 31, was killed in a tank accident in the maneuver area. He was from Baltimore.
