Red Bayonet Charges Halt Advancing Nazis On Road To Stalingrad

All But Few German Troops Who Stormed Across Don Are Slaughtered; Parachute Troops Cut Down Near Black Sea Naval Base; Leningrad Stands a Year's Siege

(By The Associated Press) Bayonet-charging Russian troops were reported today to have slaughtered all but a few Germans who stormed across the Don river before Stalingrad for the second time in 12 hours, and Soviet dispatches declared the invaders had suffered another setback in bloody fighting south of the great Volga steel city.

In the western Caucasus, Soviet dispatches said hundreds of Nazi parachute troops descended on the steps at the approaches to Novorossiysk, Black Sea naval base, only to be cut down by Russian troops. Warships of the Soviet Black Sea fleet left the Novorossiysk base more than a week ago.

Dispatches said several hundreds of troops were annihilated in a two-hour battle west of Krasnodar.

Berlin (From German Broadcasts), Aug. 21.—(AP)—Soviet air raiders were over wide areas of German-occupied Poland last night, GNR reported today.

German tanks and large infantry forces also were reported attempting to break through the northwest Caucasus foothills to the Black Sea coast.

Quarters said Russian infantrymen and tank crews, battling to hold the head of the Don as a final barrier before Stalingrad, "almost completely annihilated an enemy group which crossed the river."

"More than 500 Germans were killed," it said. The fighting centered in the Kletskaya-Kalach region, 50 miles west of Stalingrad. Other Nazi forces which crossed the river yesterday were said to have been completely wiped out.

In the Kotelnikovsk sector, 95 miles below Stalingrad, the Russians reported they had driven back German tanks and motorized infantry in a fight for a railway town after the invaders had driven a wedge in.

20,000 In Pool Without Accident

Nearly 20,000 persons patronized the municipal swimming pool this summer without a serious accident, quite a record, and due principally to the efficiency of those in charge and the presence of certified Red Cross water safety and life-saving attendants.

The pool closes tonight after a successful season. Thirty youngsters learned to swim there this summer under the coaching of Bob Kirtland and Miss Charsene Moyer. Eighteen persons took the water safety and life-saving course taught by Emil Lewis, representative of the American Red Cross. Five persons were certified as water safety instructors in the class.

The nearest thing to an accident was when Denny Jackson, young son of Ames Jackson of Winterville, tired while swimming and went under on Sunday, August 2. Wiley Brown, a Red Cross water safety instructor, gave the lad first aid and he came around all right, attendants at the pool stated.

Harold McDougle is manager of the pool.

Promoted To Captain. Lieut. T. L. Moore, formerly sanitary engineer with the Works Progress Administration here, and now in the United States Army at Camp Gordon, has been promoted to captain.

Sea-Air Battle

Lisbon, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A report from Algarve province tonight said a fierce naval and air battle was raging off Cape Saint Vincent, the southwest tip of Portugal.

This dispatch did not say who was fighting, and gave no particulars of the reported engagement.

Cape St. Vincent is famous in naval history as the scene of many encounters, notably a British victory over the Spanish February 14, 1797.

U.S. Air Victory

London, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Six of Germany's new Focke-Wulf 190 fighters were destroyed or damaged over the North Sea today by a flight of eleven U. S. Army flying fortresses, U. S. Army headquarters in Britain announced.

The 20-minute battle, in which one fortress was damaged heavily, started when 20 to 25 of the speedy German fighters swarmed to attack the American planes, a communiqué said.

The damaged fortress had two motors destroyed and its co-pilot killed but returned to its base.

ISSUE WARREN AXIS NATIONS

President Promises "Retribution" For Barbarism

Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt warned enemy nations in a formal statement today of "fearful retribution" to come for what he called their "barbaric crimes" against civilian populations in Axis-occupied countries.

The chief executive issued his warning after Secretary of State Hull had given him a communication from the Netherlands ambassador and the Yugoslav and Luxembourg ministers calling attention to Nazi slaying of hostages.

Describing these as acts of desperate men, and promising that they would result in fearful retribution, the President said the government of the United States had been receiving information on Axis atrocities from numerous sources and would act accordingly.

When the United Nations achieve victory, he asserted, it is their purpose to make appropriate use of the amassed evidence.

The time will come, Mr. Roosevelt said, when the guilty persons will have to stand up in courts of law in countries they now are oppressing and answer for their acts.

Asked at his press conference whether he could commit the people of ravaged countries to acting through courts of law once "they got a chance" at their oppressors, the chief executive admitted probably he could not do so, but said he was expressing a hope that judicial processes would prevail.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had heard of pleas from the oppressed nations to give them one week at their subjugators, but that he did not approve.

He said he thought persons of sober judgment would approve of judicial procedure because we do not wish to kill innocent people. An example of this procedure was provided, he said, in the recent saboteur trial here.

Practice Tonight For Air Attack

The civilian defense air raid filter center will have another practice at the City Hall at 8 o'clock tonight in preparation for wartime emergencies. Charles A. White, local commander, will be in charge.

A county-wide blackout will be staged here next Friday, August 28, somewhere between 9 and 11 p. m. The blackout on the 28th will be a sample of the real thing. Army officers from Norfolk, Va., and June H. Rose, assistant state director of civilian defense, will be here as observers. A plane will be overhead during the blackout to check on its effectiveness.

Three Way Race Looms Governorship New York

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A three-way race for the New York governorship loomed today with the power-balancing American Labor party believed likely to enter its own choice because of the nomination by the Democrats of State Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr.

Leaders of the Labor Party, which convenes here tomorrow, announced last Saturday that if Bennett won the Democratic nomination over U. S. Senator James M. Mead they would name an independent state ticket headed by Joseph D. McGoldrick, New York City controller. This stand was strengthened yesterday when ALP left-wing leaders denounced the attorney general as a "Fascist" and voted to support McGoldrick against Bennett and former New York District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, who is expected to win the Republican nomination when

Commandos Back From Smash At Dieppe

British Commandos crowd a pier somewhere on England's coast on return from the big assault on Dieppe, on the Nazi-held French coast. Evidence of battle is shown by the be-smudged faces of some of the men. Thousands of the specially trained and toughened Canadians, British, along with some American Rangers, put through a nine-hour attack on the heavily armed Nazi sector.

PROPOSE NEW SAVINGS PLAN

Would Require Purchase Of Stamps With Goods

Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A proposal to increase federal revenue by requiring the purchase of special savings stamps with each purchase of goods was considered by a Senate Finance sub-committee today.

Chairman Clark (D-Mo.) described it as "enforced savings using the machinery of the sales tax." The plan, put forward by Senator Danaher (R-Conn.) a member of the sub-committee, was discussed by Meyer Jacobstein and Charles O. Hardy of the Brookings Institution.

In addition to the purchase price of an article, consumers would have to buy a stipulated percentage of the special stamps, which they would paste in the books for government.

Third Sub Is Sunk By Planes

By The Associated Press

Enemy submarines in South American waters have picked off two more merchant victims but reports from Rio de Janeiro today said a U. S. plane had sunk another undersea raider—the third destroyed in recent days in that area.

That the pack of Axis submarines is meeting stiff resistance off the Brazilian coast was indicated by dispatches from Fortaleza crediting an American plane with destroying a sub. United States fliers also were reported to have sunk one other submarine of the three.

The latest officially disclosed ship sinkings—those of a Brazilian coastal steamer and a British cargo ship—put at 438 the Associated Press tabulation of announced allied and neutral wartime merchant losses in the western Atlantic area.

that party meets at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., on Monday.

The apparent loss of the ALP, whose note in 1938 provided the margin of victory for the Democrats, was the price Democratic State Chairman James A. Farley had to pay in guiding Bennett to success against such powerful Mead supporters as President Roosevelt and Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

After one of the bitterest campaigns in democratic history—a battle that split the party wide open and ended in its first convention floor fight in 24 years—Farley's power was proved by the official delegate vote of 623 for Bennett against 393 for Mead, later made unanimous.

Ramifications of the state democratic battle were such that senators in Washington were split over its significance—some expressed the

Mass Attacks Over France Yesterday Unchallenged

By The Associated Press

London, Aug. 21.—(The clipped wings of the German air force in western Europe was rated by British observers today as the first big dividend of Dieppe.

Allied mastery of the air they asserted is complete beyond challenge, not only over Britain and the channel but even deep into enemy territory itself.

These commentators whose identity could not be disclosed said this was proved by the extraordinary show of allied airpower yesterday, with virtually no opposition and apparently without the loss of a single plane, over German-held soil.

In broad daylight, 500 fighters swept across the French coast—where never before had more than 300 planes made such a raid at one time—and a force of the United States' big four-engine flying fortresses rained explosives on the Amiens railway yards without even sighting a Nazi fighter over the target.

The smoke of battle has lifted from ruined Dieppe. The natural surge of enthusiasm over the masterful assault on the most strongly guarded point of Nazi coast has given way to sober reasoning.

But even in the cold light of fact and figure, Britons regarded Wednesday as a day of allied triumph from every angle—as a victory on the field itself as a help to Soviet Russia, as a step forward in the whole master plan of the United Nations.

A communique summarizing the raid called it a "successful demonstration of coordination of all three services"—land, sea and air.

Although the official announcement labelled the attack merely a "reconnaissance in force," it said (Continued on page two)

Second Front Could Succeed

Bern, Switzerland, Aug. 21.—(AP) Foreign military specialists expressed a belief today that the Allied landing raid on Dieppe proved that a second front could be opened in France.

Essential to its success, these sources said, would be sufficient superiority in land-based planes, adequate transport facilities, and a strong element of surprise.

Published neutral descriptions of the recently completed German system of channel fortifications indicated that a full-scale Allied invasion effort would cost heavily, but a belief that the party wide open and ended in its first convention floor fight in 24 years—Farley's power was proved by the official delegate vote of 623 for Bennett against 393 for Mead, later made unanimous.

Ramifications of the state democratic battle were such that senators in Washington were split over its significance—some expressed the

SAYS WILLKIE TO TELL TRUTH

President Explains Willkie Mission Abroad

Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today that Wendell L. Willkie, who opposed him for the presidency on the republican ticket in 1940, was going to the Near East and Russia to tell those countries the truth about the American war effort and the unity behind it.

The President told a press conference that in addition to Russia, Willkie's itinerary would include Egypt, Arabia, Palestine, Syria, Turkey, Iraq, and Iran.

The best thing to call him, Mr. Roosevelt said, is a special representative of the President, since he will carry letters not only to various Americans but also to officials of other countries, including Premier Stalin of Russia.

In each country, the President said in replying to a question as to Willkie's specific mission, his principal task will be to tell them the truth, reporting as the leader of (Continued on Page Six)

Berlin Claims Many Prisoners

Berlin, (From German Broadcasts), Aug. 21.—(AP)—The German high command said today that 2,095 prisoners had been captured in the Dieppe attack. Of these, 617 were reported wounded.

Preliminary accounts the day after the fight had listed the number of prisoners at 1,500.

There was no confirmation from allied sources of these figures. Allied losses have not been given.

A German communique said 1,177 British planes were shot down in the attack instead of 112 as originally reported. German plane losses were placed at 35 instead of the earlier-reported 37.

DIVERT TANK CARS TO EAST

Gas Deliveries Prohibited In 20 Midwest States

Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Petroleum Coordinator Harold Ickes today prohibited railroad delivery of automobile gasoline in 20 states in the middle west and southwest in a move to release an estimated 5,000 to 7,000 tank cars for supplying the east.

The order is effective August 24. The states brought under the ban were Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

Deputy Coordinator Ralph K. Davies said it "remains to be seen" whether rationing of petroleum would be made necessary in those states as a result of the order.

He added that the diversion of additional tank cars would not aid the east's gasoline rationed motorists since the railroad cars would be used almost exclusively to build up fuel oil stocks in the east, particularly in New England, against the coming of winter.

A spokesman from the coordinator's office said the diverted tank cars would add approximately 100,000 barrels to the more than 1,000,000 barrel daily movement of all types of petroleum into the east.

He said that the East's present needs including allowances of fuel oil for storage with an eye to winter requirements, is in excess of 1,400,000 barrels of petroleum of all types and that the needs for the first three months of next year would be boosted to approximately 1,800,000 barrels daily.

Besides the additional tank cars, a pipe-line under construction is expected to provide a net gain of 150,000 barrels daily to narrow further the excess of eastern requirements over shipments, the spokesman said.

Davies explained that the diversion of tank cars was ordered because the railroads and oil companies had increased their efficiency in handling tank car movements to a point where they now would be able to use the additional cars in the Atlantic coast service. He said that the number of tank cars assigned to the east coast run had risen from approximately 1,000 to approximately 70,000 in the 20 months since January, 1941.

Formerly, most of the oil deliveries to the east were made by seagoing tankers, but the submarine menace has virtually eliminated deliveries by sea.

ABC Officers Take Still At Winterville

ABC officers assisted by Patrolman Jim Buck of Winterville yesterday destroyed a 50-gallon steel drum liquor still a mile and a half southwest of Winterville. The equipment included a 10-gallon, 150-gallon cooler barrel, copper coil and cap and a 150-gallon fermenter. The officers found no mash.

The still did not appear to have been in operation recently.

Graduates of the second term of summer school and members of the faculty were guests at a banquet at East Carolina Teachers' College last night. Prof. R. C. Deal was toastmaster. President Leon R. Meadows responded to Miss Elsie Barker's toast to "our president." He gave his message in clever rhymes. It was agreed that those making toasts and responses would not stick to the conventional order of tributes and flattery, but would tell the truth and have some "roasting" rather than "toasting." Cheerful banter and fun followed when faculty and students matched wits on faculty failings, absent-mindedness, mannerisms, etc.

The program: Toast to faculty, Miss Ruth Bray; response, Miss Mamie E. Jenkins; toasts to the M. A.'s (Miss Katherine Hinson of Kingston; Mrs. Ruth Blanchard Garner, Greenville; J. T. Lewis, Falkland, and Miss Ruby Knowles of Roper); Dr. R. L. Hildrup; response, Miss Katherine Hinson; vocal solo, Miss Jean Abeyounis (she did not sing because of a sore throat).

Dr. Leon B. Meadows, president of the college, delivered the commencement address. He discussed "The Price of Freedom," dividing his message into four groups, emphasizing the influence of the war on education. "I do not believe we will lose this war, but we must pay a big price to win it. Unless we educate we cannot hope to perpetuate democracy in this country," he said. He reminded the graduates that unusual demands being made on those engaged in educational work and urged them to carry on and do their part to maintain the rich heritage of America freedom.

Search For Missing Airmen. Tampa, Fla., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Search continues for four soldiers reported missing after the crash of a medium army bomber near here yesterday but little hope is held that they are alive, the MacDill field public relations office said today. Bodies of two of the six in the crew were recovered and identified soon after the plane fell about four miles south of Plant City, east of Tampa.

Mastery Of Air

Gains: Ninety-one German planes definitely destroyed with "about twice that number probably destroyed or damaged," two gun batteries destroyed, a radio location station destroyed, two small vessels sunk; heavy casualties inflicted on the Germans; prisoners captured. Losses: Ninety-eight allied planes lost, the destroyer Berkeley, 904 tons, sunk, "fairly large number" of landing craft destroyed.

The loss of some tanks which the attackers were ordered to blow up. Heavy casualties although there still was no official figure on the invaders' number or their ratio of losses. The communique called it simply "a large military force."

The outcome surpassed the objectives set forth in the announcement: "The testing by an offensive on a larger scale than previously of defenses of what is known to be a heavily defended section of the coast, destruction of German batteries, of a radio location station. Destruction of German military personnel and equipment and the taking of prisoners."

The air triumph, generally regarded as the biggest of all the successes, was the outcome of an unplanned battle. Thus, in an RAF-made crisis, British observers said, the Germans lost more than one-third of their operational aircraft in the west in one day and now must divert bombers and fighters from the Russian front.

Evidence that the Nazis were hit a staggering blow to their bomber strength as well as their fighter forces was the feeble counter-punch over Britain the past two nights.

The only appearance of hostile planes last night was over the south coast, the British said, and only a few attacked, briefly, causing but slight damage. One was reported shot down.

An informed British air observer said the Germans' air command was caught napping Wednesday and had to meet hundreds of RAF fighters at first with 50 Messerschmitts "which were swept away like flies."

Later, he said, they called in every plane they could get from the low countries and put 400 into the air. Many of these, however, never were able to penetrate the allied air cordon and either were turned away or shot down.

As a result, allied forces ashore, afloat and aloft have gained invaluable experience and the belief was general that the next major operation, which everyone expects to be on a similar scale, would be engineered with still greater success and at less cost. Not only have the officers tested their plans and felt out the strongest of the Germans' defense points, but also the men themselves have been under fire on enemy ground.

Propose New

Under a variation of the proposal, each consumer might be allowed an exemption of perhaps $200 a year. Coupon books containing $200 worth of coupons of various denominations would be issued to each consumer, and as long as he had coupons to turn in to the retailers, he would not have to buy the special stamps.

Clark said the Brookings Institution experts estimated that to raise $5,000,000,000 a year, a stamp tax rate of 9.4 per cent would be required with no exceptions. With a $200 exemption, they said a rate of 12.5 per cent would be needed and a 15.2 per cent rate would be necessary with a $200 base exemption and an additional exemption of food purchases.

Treasury officials are to appear before the subcommittee tomorrow to discuss the 8 per cent withholding levy on salaries and dividends voted by the House.

Guy T. Helvering, Internal Revenue collector, told the subcommittee yesterday that the withholding plan presented almost insuperable collection problems.

"I was very strongly impressed by Helvering's arguments," Clark said.

WOLDS IN LY CRITICS

Surprised At Be- Called Down On Speech

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—Chairman of the Senate Foreign Affairs committee today rebuked by administration in the Senate for advancing independence happening, ruddy-faced form-Carolina lawyer expressed surprise no resentment at being "down" he received from the Democratic Leader of Kentucky and others.
he would not be deterred in his desire to speak
"in the interest of my country."

Senator Connally (D-Maine) of the Foreign Relationships committee, and Senator (D-Ill.) its ranking member, expressed fear that speeches by Reynolds on "delicate" matters tended to in the United States and to expressed hope for ultimate independence after the war and that without victory no could be assured of independence.

the Senate had passed to atters the irrepressible Reynolds to George:
es, if my speech didn't do it, it certainly brought free good orations upon free-independence by three of the men in the Senate." they, calling attention to the problem for Great Britain by demands for Indian independence, had remarked after his speech:

think the Senators who happened to be in the committee should consider that their words carry weight in the of the public far beyond their views."

Connally said it would be "most natural" for the government to go through either the Senate or the House, "should give expression to its views or take action might arouse chaos in the of nations associated with the Senator George asserted and many will seize upon word American statesmen to emphasize that there is

Heavy Storm On Coast Of Texas

Port Arthur, Tex., Aug. 21—(AP)— Sailboats and yachts at anchor were sunk, plate glass windows blown in, city power disrupted in places, and roofs damaged by gale force winds today.

No loss of life was reported.
Damage was confined principally to the waterfront.

Residents of coastal lowlands were warned by the coast guard of dangerously high tides.

In nearby Beaumont, gale winds felled trees, blew down signs, and disrupted power supplies in some sections of the heavily-industrialized area, but most large plants were operating normally.

Efforts to check on damage and possible loss of life in beach districts of the entire heavily-populated Sabine district were hampered through lack of communications.
There were no reports of injury or loss of life.

Aged White Man Executed Today

Raleigh, Aug. 21—(AP)—White-haired Walter Smith of Wayne county—the oldest white man North Carolina has executed—died today in the gas chamber at central prison for the slaying of his overseer, Alphonso Price.

The 64-year-old tenant smiled cheerfully as he entered the tiny cell at 10:03 this morning. He was pronounced dead 10 minutes and 50 seconds after gas began to enter the chamber.

His execution came exactly six years after the state took the life of John Kinyon, a Granville Negro, for rape. Kinyon, 75, was the oldest person ever executed in North Carolina. He paid the penalty for his crime on August 21, 1936.

Strength
FOR THE DAY
By EARL L. DOUGLAS

THE REQUIREMENTS OF HONOR
One of the bravest souls that ever lived was Sir Walter Scott. In his sixty-sixth year he found himself involved in a debt of $500,000. This catastrophe had fallen upon him with the collapse of the publishing house in which he had invested his money and largely through the fault of an unworthy partner.

Scott might have taken refuge in bankruptcy but he considered it dishonorable to do so and only asked of his creditors that they give him time to repay. He left his beautiful home, Abbotsford, and his young wife Charlotte, and betook himself to a solitary lodging house in Edinburgh. Here he wrote his distinguished novels "Woodstock,"
"Count Robert of Paris," "Castle Dangerous," and other works. Although twice stricken with paralysis he labored steadily until at the end of seven years, his mental powers thoroughly disintegrated but his debt all paid, the good Sir Walter went to his just reward.

Thomas Carlyle said of Scott:
"No sounder piece of British manhood was put together in that eighteenth century of time." He could have asked for quarter, allowed his creditors to assume the loss, and shrugged his shoulders over the whole matter. But he accepted an early death that he might fulfill the requirements of honor. His first desire in life was to do the right thing.

DON'T BE FOOLED

As was to have been expected, Germany is making broad claims regarding what it terms its "victory" over the Allied raid on Dieppe this week. In reading any reports from Axis nations, as well as from other Axis-inspired sources, it must be remembered that with no freedom of the press in such nations, the news is doctored to meet the designs and desires of the Axis powers and can be considered pure propaganda.

"POLITICS AS USUAL"

It was our understanding that this country was at war and that every person should and must do his or her part if we are to hope for victory.
Yet every day war production is being slowed down by strikes or threatened strikes.
Some of these strikes are the result of demands for increases in wages that are already high, while others are for no greater reason than that some person has been fired for loafing on the job and the other workers walk out pending reinstatement of the fired worker. We will never get ahead in our war production so long as our government permits such unwarranted strikes and slowdowns, yet it seems that the administration and Congress are afraid to do anything about the situation.
The failure, so far, of Congress to act in this matter might indicate that votes in the coming elections are more important than our war effort. If this be true, let us hope that time will fly and the elections will soon be

Mismatched Team

over in order that we might forget politics long enough to do some things that should and must be done to help us win the war.

Washington

Washington—For the first time in history so far as anyone recalls, every member of Congress—House and Senate—is participating in the biggest Navy recruiting campaign ever staged.

When it's all over, some 6,000 speeches will have been broadcast to every nook and corner of every state, with the prospective recruits hearing 13 1/2 minute appeals from their own representatives and senators.

Approximately 100 of the speeches have already been turned out by the Navy radio information section.
This in itself is a staggering task, for not only are the usual recruiting appeals—training in a choice of 63 professions and trades, service to the nation, health benefits, etc.—included, but also a community appeal directed primarily at the section or state to which the speech is aired.
For example, in industrial sections, it will be pointed out how youths, while serving their country, can equip themselves for the post-war jobs right at home.

These speeches are turned over to the congressmen and as fast as they can be turned through the radio recording studio in the House office building, Robert Coar, in charge, prepares the recordings.
These are distributed to the radio stations back home.

Kickoff speeches were made on national hookups by House Majority Leader John W. McCormack and Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin.
It will be rolling along for weeks, maybe months yet.

In its midwar recruiting drive, the Navy is following its lifetime policy of depending on enlistments rather than on draftees. The President months ago, by executive order, opened the selective service roles to the Navy. So far they have not found it necessary to make a single request.

Indirectly, of course, selective service is responsible for thousands of the Navy enlistments. Youths who are classified I-A, but prefer the Navy rush to join before they are grabbed for the Army.

Recruiting, rather than the simple method of drafting, also is part of the Navy's cagey policy of skimming the cream off the manpower crop. Nearly every man in the Navy is there because he wants to be there or prefers being there to being in any of the other armed forces.

It is part of this policy which has led the Navy since Pearl Harbor particularly to grab accomplished young technicians and specialists, enroll them in the naval reserve and keep them in that backlog until the training program had expanded sufficiently to call them up.
It is part of this policy which caused the Navy in some sections of the United States, perhaps most, to send personal letters to the recent 18 to 20-year-old registrants inviting them to enlist. If Congress later this year does decide to put the 18-to-20's on the selective service roles, the Army will find a lot of the lads have already gone to the wars at sea.

The WAR TODAY

In the making.
Comparative, the other fights are training bouts—preliminaries.
There is nothing preliminary or tentative about the battle of the Don bend. It is make or break for keepers for the two greatest armies in the world.

Today's Moscow communique is one of the best for many days. It recites the usual list of battlefields where thousands of men are dying without any of the all too frequent admissions of retreat. But it would be a mistake to draw too much encouragement from a single half day's record. Only last midnight the Russians had to report a damaging series of setbacks: Partial survival of a German force that had crossed the Don above Stalingrad; south of Krasnodar "our troops were forced to withdraw to new positions in the sector"; "the Germans advanced toward the southeast of Pyatigorsk"; Only in the Kotelnikovsk sector, where the southern claw of a Nazi pincer is reaching for Stalingrad, did the stubborn defense continue wholly successful.

Stalingrad has become the symbol of victory in this campaign. There is no blinking the fact that this great industrial city and communications center, whose sentimental value to the Russians is almost as important as its strategic importance, is in serious peril. The tremendous battle for its possession, already nearly a month old, goes forward in an obscurity little reflected by the communiques—either Russian or German—but the broad outlines of the struggle have been made manifest.

From the northwest Marshal Fedor Von Bock, having conquered most of the Don bend, is engaged in a titanic effort to force a crossing of the river only 40 miles from the city. From the southwest another powerful armored and infantry force is attacking from the Ko-telnikovsk area. The Russian admission that not all the enemy who crossed the Don have been wiped out is ominous.

Stalingrad's hour comes just as her sister city of the north completes the first year of one of the great sieges of history. It was a year ago today that Hitler's guns took Leningrad under bombardment and the siege lines were drawn about the former capital of the Czars.
Russians and their allies ask fearfully whether the city of Stalin can take its place beside the city of Lenin in the list of heroic last ditches. The answer must be tinged with grave doubts. The city on the Volga, has none of the formidable natural barriers that have helped save the city on the Neva.

Once the roll-call at the state convention showed Bennett the win-harmonious here in the party. Leh-

Although the New Dealers had

War veteran and native of Brook-

WILDERNESS GIRL
By LEITA ZOE ADAMS

Chapter Nine
Playing Safe
Helen turned, with a start, when Sandy came up to her. There were faint blue smudges under her eyes.
"So you're getting breakfast," he said cheerily. "How did you sleep?"
"Terrible," she confessed. "I kept hearing things, imagining things. I don't know what. Then those birds . . ."

"You can nap in the canoe today, if you like," Sandy said briskly. "Gill up?"
"He found a path leading toward the village and said he was going to do some sleuthing. He left almost an hour ago."

"I'll get a couple of those mangoes," Sandy said.
Since he thought it inadvisable to build a fire they breakfasted once more on cold victuals from the hotel kitchen at Onha. Helen chattered with more vivacity than she had ever displayed in Sandys' acquaintance with her. She appeared to be almost happy, he reflected.
It did not occur to him that their little let-a-let-in thing to do with her good spirits. For his own thoughts scarcely touched her at all. His mind was fixed upon the day ahead, its hazards and possibilities. The little figure of Tyra Fleming appropriated a good share of his meditations.

They were still eating when Gill returned. He stowed his machete in his canoe and related his adventures.
"I crept up to the edge of the village and watched from a screen of bushes. I could see the river where the dug-outs were beached. Before long a group of Indians tramped down to the water. Miss Fleming was with them. There was some palaver on the bank and finally the girl climbed into a canoe. I didn't want to see the start but there's no doubt that she's on her way again."

Sandy nodded. "Did you see anything to make you believe she suspects we're following?"
"I wasn't near enough to hear the lingo," Gill said. "But I did notice that Miss Fleming seemed to be giving the Indians instructions about something. She jabbered down-river and they jabbered excitedly."

"I hope she doesn't have them set a trap," Sandy observed, although he could not imagine any person of his own race and creed being as ruthless as that, no matter what the circumstances. "Just to play safe, we'll give that village a wide berth."

The Drums
Presently they were on the river once more, gliding between the lush banks. With the sun slanting down upon the green tops of the trees some of the witchery of the night before was dissipated, but not all.
They moved now through a dryad's world of tall manaca palms and sprawling banyans, of thickly matted jungle dripping with orchids that sometimes met overhead to form an archway of breath-taking loveliness. Bright-plumaged birds flew among the trees, but they were not so noisy now that day had advanced.

In the river Sandy saw fish, brilliantly colored like the birds, and made a note to try his luck that evening if there was opportunity.
They had not gone far past the village where Tyra had spent the night when Sandy was aware of a dull reverberation of sound in the air unlike any of the bush noises.
Gill heard it, too, for he called to Sandy.

While they held the dug-outs steady in the current, they listened.
Sounds like signal drums," Sandy tendered after a moment. "But I didn't know the Indians in this part of the country used drums for anything except fiestas."

"Maybe there is a fiesta close by," Gill said. "But I agree with you that it sounds more like a signal."

"Anyhow, we can't do anything about it," Sandy observed, and started on.

The drums continued at intervals for several hours, then stopped.
In spite of the shaded banks it was warm work keeping the dugouts breasting the current. More and more often, too, it was necessary to pole over shallow stretches. This took time and patience as well as skill. Both Sandy and Gill perspired freely. Early in the day they had shaken everything but their shorts.
When the siesta hour approached they found a shaded sandy bar and beached their boat to have a bite of lunch and to stretch their cramped muscles.

Helen looked uncomfortable in her silk blouse and tight breeches, but when the men suggested that she change to something cooler, she insisted she was all right.

"You men are doing all the work, so far. I am going to look after the food—the cooking and tend to the supplies."

Land Of Spirits
Gill was quick with a retort. "Lady, you don't know what you're doing to a couple of old bush rats Lobster is a Newburg with a dash of Crepes Suzettes on the side! I can practically get my teeth around them already."

"Don't laugh," Helen said. "Because I'm serious. Of course I'm not a first-class cook. But I do know something about it. And I can learn."

"On black beans and rice! I think you have something there," Gill commented.

"Maybe you'll be surprised," Helen said, slanting a coy glance up at him.

"More power to you," Gill said, dropping his bantering tone. "And I think you're a good sport, if you ask me."

Nobody asked Gill, but Helen's look indicated that she would enjoy having some commendation from Sandy. Sensing her desire, that familiar feeling of being cornered assailed Sandy and his gorge rose in resistance. Contrarily he remained silent.

Wyatt Pitches One Hit Game Against New York Giants

DODGERS WIN BY 2-1 SCORE

Dodgers Now Seven Games Ahead Of Cardinals

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR (Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Brooklyn Dodgers still have a little matter to settle with the St. Louis Cardinals before they will be ready for the world series, but their ace righthander, Whitby Wyatt, is as fully prepared for the October classic today as he can ever hope to be.

Wyatt, who never has pitched a no-hit game in his dozen years around the major leagues, came as close as possible without actually achieving it yesterday when he let the New York Giants down with one blow as the Dodgers triumphed, 2-1, in a twilight-are light game.

His only mistake was in trying to throw a fast one past Big John Mize, who demonstrated that he has recovered from a recent injury by parking the ball behind the center field score board for his 20th home run.

At that, the Dodgers needed a break which helped them tally the first of their second inning runs after Mize had opened the scoring in the top half of the same frame. Babe Young, a fustie first base, had his first look at the Dodger park from a center field post and apparently became confused in the unfamiliar surroundings.

After Johnny Rizzo had singled off Tom Sunkel, Dolph Camilli hit a long fly which Young misjudged and let fall for a three-bagger which tied the score and Mickey Owen singled for the final and winning run.

Harry Feldman replaced Sunkel and pitched two-hit ball for six innings before giving way to a pinch hitter and turning it over to Ace Adams, who permitted only one hit in the last inning, but the Giants never had a chance.

In compiling his 15th victory against only four defeats, Wyatt fanned six, walked none, and aside from Mize, didn't allow a man to get on base except in the fourth when Mickey White reached first on an error and Mel Ott was hit by a pitched ball.

The victory, opening an important four-game series, boosted the Dodgers' National League lead to seven games over the Cardinals, who were idle.

In the other National League game, the Cincinnati Reds snapped a six-game losing streak and crept up on the third-place Giants by turning back the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3.

Johnny Vander Meer pitched six-hit ball for his 14th win and missed a shutout when Vince Dimaggio blasted a three-run homer in the eighth.

The Boston Red Sox refusing to concede the American League flag to New York's front-running defending champs, walloned the Yankees, 7-4, and rounded out a four-game series with three triumphs.

Jim Tabor, who hit a pair of two-run homers in leading the Sox to victory the previous day, homered with two mates aboard yesterday to climax a six-run outburst in the fifth inning.

At the other end of the junior circuit, the Philadelphia Athletics took a doubleheader in their cellar series with the Washington Senators.

A 17-hit attack on three Washington pitchers gave the Athletics the opener 9-2, and sent Buck Newsum to his 16th defeat as Russ Christopher hurled seven-hit ball for Philadelphia.

The nightcap went 12 innings before the A's triumphed, 4-1, by routing Walt Masterson with a 5-hit uprising that produced five runs with the help of a sacrifice, a walk, a wild pitch and two Washington errors.

The Chicago White Sox came from behind with six runs in the fifth inning to stop the St. Louis Browns, 8-5, in a night game. Johnny Humphries hurled seven-hit ball for the Sox.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, Aug. 21—Looks as if the two all-star teams will have to play all the army's "big league" football this season. ... Yesterday's order cancelling competitive football for the air corps technical training school not only wiped out the Keeler field program, which looked like the most ambitious of them all, but it provided a hint as to what may be going on in other branches. ... Maybe you noticed that Camp Lee, Va., scheduled several road college teams then called the whole thing off to concentrate on intra-camp sports; and Camp Shelby, Miss., cancelled its program, which included a tussle with the Cleveland Rams when it was suddenly discovered that maneuvers were due in mid-season. ... And Fort Knox, Ky., still hasn't landed a "name" coach although it has a schedule and the team is practicing. ... Incidentally, the Keeler field boys had it all figured out how they could play without taking any mechanics away from their training chores and they figured on raising $80,000 relief.

As a golfer, Fred Anstoll apparently throws as many hooks as he ever did in the ring. ... Fred played round with Sam Sneed down at the Norfolk Naval Training station the other day and afterward he confessed: "I've never felt so lonesome in my life. ... Incidental Items my Blivins in Cleveland's next big fight show, getting the spot declared open when Anton Christoforidis flitted against Nabe Bolden, last week, but the September 10 date they agreed upon will be changed. ... The reason Ben Jones is shipping Whirlaway to Camden for the Trenton handicap August 29 instead of keeping him at Saratoga to run for just as much dough in the Saratoga handicap is that Ben wants to do a favor for a friend who is an official of the Garden State track. ... The world series broadcast will include short-wave transmission around the world to reach American soldiers and sailors on foreign service. ... The Chicago Bears have used George Wilson as decoy on forward pass plays so often that his teammates call him "Quack Quack."

Today's Guest Star
Howard Preston, Cleveland News: "Cleveland was a second place award in a national contest for the elimination of needless noise and it is understood that the fact that Indian rooters had nothing to cheer about this year didn't influence the achievement."

Service Dept.
If there's any truth in the rumor around New York that Pvt. Billy Conn is about to be shipped off to an officers' training school, one guy who doesn't know anything about it is William David Conn. ... First West Pointer to join up with the western army all-star footballers is Lieut. Bill Gillis, who played

BILLY EVANS TO UMPIRE AT NEW YORK ON SUNDAY

New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—Billy Evans, who umpired the first major league game Walter Johnson pitched back in 1907 and who was calling them the day Babe Ruth hit his record-smashing 60th homer in 1927, August 13 from the Northampton will be behind the plate again Sunday when the Big Train and The Babe put on their exhibition in Yankee Stadium.

Ruth will take his cut at what is left of Johnson's fast ball as part of the ceremonies arranged for the Yankees-Washington Senators doubleheader for Army and Navy relief. TheYanks announced yesterday that Evans had notified the club from his Cleveland home that he was coming to take part in the exhibition.

Four field events with members of both the Yanks and Senators competing also will be on the program. They are a 60-yard dash, a five-man relay, a fungo hitting contest for pitchers and a test of the accuracy of catchers' throwing arms, with Yankee and Nat receivers standing on home plate and trying to toss balls into a barrel at second base.

Sixteen Escapees Back In Prison

Raleigh, Aug. 21—(AP)—Sixteen of the 17 prisoners who escaped August 13 from the Northampton county prison camp have been apprehended, penal authorities said today in announcing that Delmar Stanley, 31, was taken in custody last night at Morganton.

Stanley was sentenced April 4, 1942, in Transylvania county to serve five to seven years for larceny.

Lloyd Bennett, sentenced in Forsyth for larceny, is the only one of the escapees still at large.

Louis Rhodes, 22, who escaped last Friday from the Anson camp, was apprehended last night at Rocky Mount. He was sentenced in 1939 to five to seven years for larceny.

TOO MUCH TALK DECLARES FDR

Orders Future Controversies Submitted To Him

Washington, Aug. 21—(AP)—Declaring heads of some government agencies were talking too much, President Roosevelt today directed all government administrators to refrain from public debate of controversial questions of policy and to stop criticizing each other in such controversies.

Mr. Roosevelt said that such airing of divergent opinions in the public press were being seized upon and exploited by enemies of the United Nations. In identical letters to the heads of each department and agency, the President said:

Disagreements either as to fact or policy should not be publicly aired, but are to be submitted to me by the appropriate heads of the conflicting agencies.

"The policy of the government should be announced by me, as the responsible head thereof. Disagreements as to facts can be resolved, if necessary, by investigations and surveys directed by me.

"Will you please see to it that your particular department and its various bureaus and divisions comply with these instructions."

"Where honest differences of opinion exist, no one would propose to suppress them," the President wrote. "Nor would anyone attempt to interfere with the free use by every public official of the normal processes of information to the public and press."

"But it is no solution to a controversial question to argue it out in public. If the agencies would refrain from resorting to public debate of this kind, they would have a good deal more time to attend to their business, and the nation would have a good deal more assurance that that business was being done right."

Naval Heroes Are Decorated

Washington, Aug. 21—(AP)—The Navy reported today that 17 officers and men who served on the U. S. S. Quail, a minesweeper in the Philippines, had been rewarded for heroism with decorations and promotions.

The crew, at the Navy's order, scuttled the Quail shortly before the Japanese reached its anchorage and then escaped by a motor launch to Australia, making the 2,000-mile trip in a month.

The men were commanded by Lieut. Com. John H. Morrill, 39, Waverly, Va., who was recently awarded the Navy Cross for his service during the Japanese bombings of the Cavite Navy Yard.

Enfield Man Killed By Former Officer

Enfield, Aug. 21—(AP)—Harry Hardison, 36, a night policeman here until he was discharged 30 days ago, has held in jail here today pending an inquest into the death of Robert W. Baughman, 40, police commissioner.

Police Chief F. C. Sykes said that Baughman died following an affray with Hardison. Hardison, he said, went to a filling station operated by Baughman yesterday, and the two began an argument over Hardison's dismissal.

A fight resulted from the argument, Chief Sykes said, and Baughman was knocked unconscious by one of Hardison's blows. Taken to a hospital, Baughman died about two hours later.

To Be Executed

Belfast, Aug. 21—(AP)—Appeals of six youths condemned for the slaying of Police Constable Patrick Murphy were dismissed unanimously by an appellate court today which set their executions for Sept. 2.

The six had shouted "God save Ireland—up the republic" when they were first sentenced July 30.

U. S. Bombers . . .

Enemy destroyers could hide easily in the maze of islands, escaping detection by day, and make night and air attacks on the Marine shore positions under cover of darkness.

The Navy's announcement that several islands had been "recently captured" indicated that the Marines, cutting through the impenetrable jungles, had virtually completed occupation of the strategic bases. The Leathernecks were known to have landed beachheads on at least three, and perhaps six of the eastern Solomons.

Informed quarters in Auckland, New Zealand, said the Japanese were busily reorganizing their naval and air forces in the northern Solomons apparently for a renewed attempt to drive out the American sea-borne invaders in the southeast.

On the China war front, Chinese headquarters announced that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's armies had recaptured the powerful Japanese stronghold of Kwangfeng in Kiangsi province, thereby diminishing the threat of a Japanese invasion of Fukien province.

Red Bayonet . . .

"The Hitlerites abandoned on the field hundreds of killed," the Soviet command said. "More than 20 German tanks were destroyed."

Dispatches to the Russian government newspaper Ivestia said a great area was set aflame when Nazi tanks hit a Soviet minefield. Five German columns of tanks and infantry were reported moving behind aerial and artillery bombardment in a thrust from Kotelnikowski along the rail line to Stalingrad.

In the Caucasus, the Russians conceded new reverses as hard-fighting Soviet troops executed a further retreat south of Krasnodar, only 60 miles from the Black Sea naval base of Novorossiisk which appeared in imminent danger of being cut off.

But the Russians declared they had taken a toll of more than 3,500 Nazis, destroyed 14 tanks, seven armored cars, 103 trucks and many guns in a three-day battle below Krasnodar.

Half way down the Caucasus, the land bridge to the Middle East, the Russians acknowledged that German vanguards had made some advance southeast of Pyatigorsk in a drive toward the Grozny oil fields.

Meanwhile, the Russians proudly marked down the first anniversary of the siege of Leningrad, where the Red army, aided by the city's 3,000,000 civilian population, has held the Germans at bay for 12 months.
