Axis Force Drive Eight Miles On Egyptian Front

Long Expected Rommel Offensive For Control Of Egypt And Suez Believed Under Way; U. S. Bombers Smash At Axis Lines While Fighter Planes Disperse Dive-Bombers

(By The Associated Press) London, Sept. 1.—An eight-mile German drive into the mine fields on the southern flank of the El Alamein line in Egypt, rimming the Quattara depression, was reported today in a Reuters dispatch from Cairo as new United States air forces went into action in what appeared to be a developing major battle.

For the first time, dispatches from the western Egyptian desert mentioned both American land and air forces fighting alongside the British against the Axis. It was not stated whether the U. S. soldiers were combat troops, repair crews or tankists, although some American tank crews have previously been reported in "test" actions.

Against another German thrust, evidently seeking a soft spot in the center, the British were said to have held firmly. The newest American medium bombers on the North African front—B-25's like those which bombed Tokyo—went into their first action with complete American air crews in a bombardment of Axis transport columns while supporting American fighter pilots dispersed unusually large German dive-bomber formations.

Armored vanguards of perhaps 141,000 Axis troops between El Alamein and Bengasi were said to be locked with light British forces in which may be the opening phase of a struggle for mastery of the Nile valley, Suez and the whole Middle and Near East.

Although there was no official word in London that the new assault was the opening of a new German offensive, there was no doubt in unofficial but well-informed circles that German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel had begun a large-scale offensive, synchronized with the great battles in southern Russia.

Four German divisions—the 15th and 21st armored divisions of 17,000 men and 200 tanks each, the 90th light motorized division of 14,000 men and the 164th infantry division of 17,000 men—were said to form the spearhead of the Axis attack. Parachute troops which arrived in North Africa at the same time as the 164th division also are believed to be attached to this force.

Two Italian armored divisions, the Ariete and the Littorio of 8,000 men and approximately 150 tanks each, also supply some of the enemy armor. There are six Italian infantry divisions of 10,000 men each in North Africa.

The British War Office, announcing the new offensive, said it was too early to tell whether it was on a major scale, but all the signs of recent weeks indicated that Rommel was about to test Prime Minister Winston Churchill's recent (Continued on Page Two)

Says Accidents Aid Our Enemies

Bethesda, Md., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The enemy is learning the answer to his taunting question of "where is the United States Navy?" says President Roosevelt.

Speaking here in suburban Washington yesterday at the dedication of a towering new naval medical center, the President asserted that the enemy learned in the Atlantic, the Coral Sea, off Midway and is learning now in attempts to recapture lost areas in the Solomon Islands, that the Navy is where it has always been—"in there fighting."

In a radio broadcast carried throughout the world by shortwave, Mr. Roosevelt declared that America was wholly dedicated to the defeat of German, Italian and Japanese tyrants and to removal "of the injustices and inequalities which create such tyrants and breed new wars."

Order Increase In Coal Prices

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Increased minimum prices for bituminous coal, ranging from 15 to 30 cents a ton for various sections, and averaging 15.23 cents a ton for the entire nation, were ordered today, effective October 1, by the bituminous coal division.

Dan H. Wheeler, acting director of the division, said the increases reflected newly established costs of the bituminous mining industry. By not ordering the increases in effect until October 1, Wheeler said, the industry and consumers will have an opportunity to adjust "their affairs in the light of the revised schedules."

The order provides that parties may request Secretary of Interior Ickes to review Wheeler's determinations on specified questions of law and policy of general application. These requests must be filed by September 10.

War Review Indicates Hard Struggle Ahead

(By The Associated Press) London, Sept. 1.—Three years after Hitler hurled his war machine against Poland and sowed the seed of global war, a key to Allied strategy lay today in the great Middle East land bridge from the Egyptian desert to the Caucasus.

Fighting rages at both ends of the bridge—on the sands west of the rich Nile delta, where Field Marshal Rommel has opened a new campaign, and around Stalingrad, where the Russians are fighting to save their arsenal city of the lower Volga.

That bridge must be held, in the opinion of qualified but unofficial and unidentifiable observers, if the United Nations—in the midst of plans for invasion of Europe and an amphibious campaign for control of the Pacific—are to make the fourth

JAP FOREIGN MINISTER OUT

Reported Resignation Of Togo Brings Speculation

By The Associated Press Japan's Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo took over the Foreign Ministry today, tightening his control of Japanese war policy and dropping the diplomat who negotiated the Tokyo-Moscow neutrality pact.

A Japanese broadcast said Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo, former ambassador to Russia and Germany, resigned. As Foreign Minister, Togo had repeatedly affirmed Japan's pledge of friendship with Russia, but it was not immediately clear whether his resignation meant a change in Tokyo's attitude, possibly as a prelude to an attack on Soviet Siberia.

Recent Chinese and London dispatches have stressed Japan's intention to invade Siberia this fall, presumably at the height of Adolf Hitler's campaign against Russia in the west, and upwards of 500,000 Japanese troops have been reported massing in Manchukuo along the Siberian frontier.

Observers also pointed out that Japan's mysterious withdrawals from East China in the last few weeks indicated that her leader was preparing for new military ventures elsewhere in the far Pacific war theatre.

British diplomatic circles in London said it was "quite possible" that Togo's removal reflected dissatisfaction over the conduct of the war, resulting from United Nations victories in the Solomon Islands and at Milne Bay, New Guinea. These quarters also suggested that the failure to launch an expected attack on Russia's maritime provinces in Siberia may have been invoked in the cabinet shakeup.

Chungking, Sept. 1.—(AP)—China's unofficially expressed opinion that Shigenori Togo resigned as Foreign Minister of Japan today because he refused to support the Tokyo government's plans respecting Russia.

The belief was current here that a majority of the Japanese cabinet contemplates some vigorous stand in relation to Russia. In some quarters it was believed Japan is about to demand assurances from Russia that the rear of Japanese armies facing the Chinese will not be attacked. Others expressed the opinion that the Japanese are about to attack Siberia.

Observers here said that Togo's resignation could not be explained on the basis of Japanese military reverses, because the Foreign Minister has had nothing to do with the direction of campaigns.

Hitler Calls For More Sacrifices

Berlin (from German broadcast) Sept. 1.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler called upon the German people to make "the highest of its sacrifices" this year as Germany started its fourth year of war today.

In urging this sacrifice at the opening of the Winter Relief Campaign last night, Hitler said that "in this most tremendous struggle of all times, the German soldier is making his heavy sacrifice in battle under scarcely imaginable deprivations."

His appeal to the German people was made from his headquarters and was read over the German radio.

He said "the greater part of the European nations and also the peoples of the far east" have joined the Nazis in an alliance of loyalty "which will prevent our countries from becoming the prey of Bolshevism or Jewish Anglo-Saxon capitalist exploitations."

ANOTHER RAID ON JAP BASES

U. S. Planes Bomb Burma; Chinese Drive Continues

Chungking, Sept. 1.—(AP)—United States planes attacked the Japanese airfield at Myitkyina in northern Burma yesterday for the second day in succession, a communique from Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today. Objectives of the bombers, which had a fighter escort, included Japanese barracks, a warehouse area along a railway and the railway terminal.

Two large fires and at least three small ones were left burning along the railway in the main storage area, the communique said. "Direct hits were scored on the Japanese barracks and several fires were started in that area."

All the planes returned safely.

Chungking, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Chinese forces storming across Chekiang have intercepted and routed reinforcements rushed up by the Japanese in a frantic effort to halt Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's forces approaching Kinshwa, one of the last enemy-held air bases in the coastal province, the high command announced today.

These Japanese were ambushed as they moved up a branch railway line running between Kinshwa and Lanchi while another Chinese column made further progress in a drive along the main rail line from Tangki toward Kinshwa.

A military spokesman said Tangki, itself 15 miles west of Kinshwa, had fallen to the Chinese. With the occupation of this town, he said that Kinshwa, once famed for its hands, now has been seized by a Chinese nutcracker offensive shaping up along the two rail lines. The Japanese have been in possession of Kinshwa since last May 28.

In Kinshwa, the army spokesman said, the Chinese had advanced closer to Nanchang, main Japanese base in that province. He reported that Chinese troops captured Kiangshancheng, a Chinese nutcracker offensive shaping up along the two rail lines. The Japanese have been in possession of Kinshwa since last May 28.

New Delhi, Sept. 1.—(AP)—RAF planes bombed and machine-gunned the Japanese base of Kalewa, on the Chindwin river in Burma, scoring hits on buildings and riverboats August 30, a British communique said today.

A severe night attack was made on the Japanese air base at Lae, 400 miles to the northwest, and skirmishes on land developed at nearby Salamaua. Other sharp fighting was reported at Kokoda at the base of the towering Owen Stanley range half way to the most advanced Allied base at Port Moresby.

The known Japanese surviving the Allied ambush at Milne Bay were pushed back into a narrow peninsula north of the bay. Day long reconnaissance flights failed to uncover any evidence of Japanese troops, installations or stores beyond in the thick jungle. The pilots, however, saw three damaged barges and three tanks bogged in the muck and mud, all mute evidence of the stoutness of the Australian land forces.

Gov't. Control Over Taxicabs

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The nation's taxicab industry went under federal control today.

The Office of Defense Transportation, which issued the regulations, said the burden of familiarizing themselves with the requirements rested with the operators, and that the order would not be served on them individually.

Designed to save tires, gasoline and vehicles, the order freezes the industry in the hands of present operators, prohibits cruising for the purpose of picking up passengers, limits trip distances, and outlaws commercial delivery of property by cabs.

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey today instructed state selective service directors to arrange induction calls so that married men would not be drafted in some localities while single men were still uncalled in others.

The selective service director said state officials should arrange their calls on local boards "so as to place the heaviest load right now on boards having the most single men, or men with collateral dependents only."

Hershey's memorandum to state directors also instructed local boards to complete by October 16 the initial classification of all registrants. This speed-up must be made, he said, because "the serious military situation" requires that the selective service system be prepared to fill calls in 1943 which "will be (Continued on page four)

FEAR TROUBLE IN IRELAND

Outlawed IRA Planned Attack On U. S.-British

Belfast, Sept. 1.—(AP)—United States troops have been ordered to stay off the streets of Belfast tomorrow, it was announced officially today as tension mounted with a report that the outlawed Irish Republican Army was planning attacks on American and British troops in northern Ireland.

There was no explanation of the announcement of the order but presumably it was issued to lessen any chance of incidents among American forces and pro-I.R.A. elements in Belfast. Neither was there any indication how long the order would remain in effect.

Earlier in the day police reported that a great cache of arms and explosives had been found. (Continued on Page Six)

Sentence Three For Espionage

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Three men, two of whom were formerly with the German armed forces, were sentenced to 15 years in prison by Federal Judge Matthew T. Abruzzo in Brooklyn today for conspiracy to transmit U. S. defense information to Germany.

They were Richard Ernest Weber, 56, of Queens, formerly in the German army; Richard Frederick Freund, 54, of Manhattan, formerly in the German navy; and Peter Franz Erich Donay, 33, of Staten Island, who once served as soldier in the U. S. army.

All three pleaded guilty to the charges some time ago. Weber and Freund were accused of having conveyed information to Germany by means of secret writing sent to Mexico and South America, and Donay was charged with having transmitted a U. S. field manual to Germany in addition to giving the Nazis vital shipping information.

Order Draft Boards To Operate On State Basis

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—equal to or in excess of the monthly calls made in August, September, and October of this year.

This procedure, Hershey added, will tend to level off inductions with "the ultimate objective of calling men from the small town and from the city on an approximately uniform basis."

Hershey reiterated a selective service policy to "follow the order of dependency deferments" established in the dependents allowance act. Registrants having wives and children, or children alone, with whom a "bonafide home" is maintained, and who were married before December 8, 1941, at a time when selection for service was not imminent, will not be placed in Class I-A, available for immediate induction. Hershey assured. He declared, however, that as (Continued on Page Four)

Reds Report Breakthroughs From Southwest And Northwest But Report Nazis Suffered Heavy Losses; Russians Make Gains In Counter-Attacks In Don Bend

By EDDIE GILMORE Moscow, Sept. 1.—(AP)

The Russians said today the Germans had deepened a wedge toward Stalingrad from the southwest and infiltrated that city's northwestern defenses, but emphasized the casualties suffered by the invaders all along the front.

Scattered details reported in the mid-day communique indicated Germany's loss of at least 48 tanks and about 2,000 killed.

After fighting in which about 400 Germans were killed, "one Soviet unit withdrew to new positions" before the Kotelnikovsk-Stalingrad pincer claw, the Soviet information bureau said. Tank crews were declared to have repulsed numerous attacks on other sectors of that area.

Red army men still menacing the Axis flank within the Don bend waged both offensive and defensive warfare and reports from the Caucasian battlefields were highlighted by a declaration that Soviet cavalry recaptured a Nazi-occupied village south of Krasnodar.

German naval parties are attempting to raid the Caucasian coast in conjunction with the overland drive from Krasnodar, but these are being smashed, a Pravda dispatch from the Black Sea fleet declared.

The Communist party newspaper said Russians were striking at German-held ports with gunboats, torpedobombs and planes.

Tremendous new forces of men and machines were reported moving up to bolster the Axis assault from Stalingrad.

Pravda said the Germans, hurrying ammunition, food and fuel to their forces fighting between the Don and the Volga, were using squadrons of transport planes and long lines of trucks guarded by tanks.

A serious heat wave beat down upon this front and Soviet dispatches said the only relief found by soldiers fighting across the sun-parched steppes was in the partial shade provided by smog rising from the battlefields.

Water was becoming more and more of a problem for both sides because normally filled streams had run dry. In some sectors one can of water had to suffice for a two-day's ration.

In one area the opposing Russians and Germans were locked in a struggle for a well situated place in no-man's land.

Even at night the heat was described as so intense that candles melted in dugouts.

In a recapitulation of aerial losses in August, the Moscow radio reported (Continued on Page Two)

Local Red Cross To Make Dressings

A Red Cross surgical dressing work room for the Greenville area will be opened in the new class room building at the college Thursday. Classes will be held in the right wing of the basement daily except Saturdays from 9 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 5 p. m.

Dr. L. R. Meadows, president of the college, donated use of the building and Mr. L. E. Clarris, donated lumber for repairs. Mrs. John Mitchell, Red Cross chairman for surgical dressings, stated, Large September quotas for dressings will have to be filled.

The work room is comfortable and attractive. Workers are requested to wear wash dresses or coveralls and aprons and coverings for their hair.

The following women have volunteered their services as instructors. Four will be on duty during work periods: Madeline H. L. Hodges, Spruill Spain, L. T. Shottwell, F. W. A. Mills, C. E. Blair, John Glenn, K. B. Pace, Hunter Keck, Paul Ricks, Leroy Hardin, J. H. Thomas, J. L. Hassell, W. T. Kysar, Ed Hester, John Clark, C. B. Rice, E. T. Stafford, Key Brown, Ralph Garrett, H. L. Rivers, J. A. Switzer, J. Knott Proctor, C. H. Swartz, Mills Smith, W. M. Green, Gertrude Taylor, Hicks Corey, E. E. Rawls, J. G. Lanters, E. L. Henderson, E. T. Lloyd, Charles Skinner, Marvin Humeyscut, Walter Cherry, Ed Wilkinson, C. L. Harring, E. R. Conway and J. E. Lane.

A class for instructors will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the surgical dressing work room at the college. Ladies who have volunteered for instruction are invited to be present at this time. The American Red Cross is urging women all over the country to volunteer for making surgical dressings. The work is urgently important, Mrs. Mitchell stated.

The Board of Stewards of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church will meet tonight at 8 o'clock.

WHEN!
(Inspired by a sermon by Rev. Geo. W. Perry, minister, Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, Aug. 30.)
When you do the best
You can
Midst unconquerable odds,
Knowing you have tried
To serve
Though plans went wrong—
You have not lost,
If God be with you.

When you can undergo the severe criticism
Of those whom you thought friends,
Overlooking their shortcomings—
You cannot lose
For God is with you.

When you can sit in church
And raise your eyes above
The heads of the few
Back-biting, gossiping hypocrites
You see there,
And hear what the Minister is saying Unto you—
Realizing that underneath
The earthly flesh
Of that hypocrite there is something Worth admiring—
You cannot lose,
For God is with you.

When you can rub elbows
With rich and poor,
Educated and ignorant,
And feel that you are just as good
As the fortunate and yet
to better than the unfortunate—Coveting not the things that are your neighbor's, Yet rather admiring them for their success—
Then you will be a man.
You can do these things—
If God be with you.

ported destruction of 1,788 German planes against 936 Soviet craft. It said that in the last week alone 493 enemy planes were destroyed compared with 206 Soviet losses.

The battle for water between the Don and Volga became so urgent that tanks were converted into water carriers loaded with everything from pots and buckets to barrels.

At one place the Germans sent four tanks to guard a well. Russian snipers were declared to have blown up every one of the tanks, enabling Red infantry to capture the well along with all surviving Nazis.

The heat wave was local, for Moscow was enjoying the coolest days since last spring while to the west of the capital rains drenched the fighting front, slowing operations.

The midnight communique said no material changes took place at the front yesterday, but it reported German troops wedged into Soviet lines southwest of Stalingrad and "infiltrated into our defense positions" northwest of the city.

(The German high command said yesterday that a Nazi column striking up from Kotelnikoviak was within 15 miles of Stalingrad.)

Red army artillerymen and air crews blasted a column of Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock's reserve troops and supplies into reserves, treating northwest of Stalingrad, destroying most of its trucks. Soviet reports said.

Other Soviet forces overwhelmed Don bend salient in the area of Kletsakaya, the Russians said.

This Russian attack was initiated from the Don-Volga corridor six days ago. A dispatch from the Kletsakaya area said scouts who crossed the Don discovered the Italian positions and fell upon their trenches and dugouts, driving them westward.

The Italians reformed and established new positions but more powerful Soviet forces were then brought up to drive them into retreat.

The midnight communique made no reference to the Russians' central front offensive, but said that Soviet troops on the neighboring Kalinin front had captured three settlements in fighting which cost the Germans 800 casualties.

Farther north, a Red army force was declared to have destroyed 28 Nazi blockhouses and pill-boxes and accounted for a company of Germans in a local attack.

Soviet artillery on the Leningrad front silenced nine German batteries and destroyed 23 enemy blockhouses and dugouts while Red army scouts and snipers slew more than 150 of the invaders, the information bureau said.

A German-held settlement in the Voronezh area on the upper Don was raised by Russian tanks. The armored forces were reported to have wiped out Germans and destroyed equipment, including 15 field guns, eight mortars, 15 trucks.

Savagery of the fighting northwest of Stalingrad was illustrated by a declaration that a Soviet unit repulsed three attacks, destroyed six tanks and killed more than 250 Germans.

September.
Ninth month.
Fall will soon be here.
Oysters will come along now.

Remember the lawn party at Mrs. Wiley Brown's Thursday evening by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church.

It looked on tobacco market today like every farmer who came in to court brought along a load of tobacco. The sale was immense.

Several weeks ago Moye, Jeffries and Morgan rode through Greenville in a stolen car. The car choked down in front of the Daily Reflector office. A state highway car gave them a push and the patrolman ordered the driver to go to the curb. He took flight and the chase ended on the Bethel highway when the fleeing car was ditched. Patrolmen near Jeffries and Morgan. Moye escaped and went to Norfolk, Va., where he was apprehended.

The car the trio was riding in when two of them were arrested here was stolen from Onslow county. After Moye escaped two cars were stolen from the Planagan Buggy Company's used car lot the same night. One of them was abandoned near Winterville. Charley Moye went to Norfolk in the other machine.

Other cases disposed of at yesterday afternoon's session were: Foster Rollins, colored, larceny of an automobile from J. E. Andrews of Stokes, six months on roads; Lill Morgan, colored, was tried last April. Her sentence was suspended and she was placed on probation under Mrs. Maude Jimison, welfare officer. The woman broke probation rules and was turned over to the court. Judge Hamilton sent her to State Prison for two years.

The Pitt county schools opened for the fall and winter terms with gratifying attendance at all the schools. Supt. Don H. Conley, stated.

The schools got under way with full staffs of teachers with one or two exceptions. These positions will be filled during the next few days, it is understood.

Following is a list of the principals and teachers at the Ayden, Winterville, Farmville, Fountain, and Arthur schools. This completes the publication of the various school faculties:

Yanks To Parade London Tomorrow

London, Sept. 1.—(AP)—United States armed forces in dress uniform will parade through London tomorrow for the first time since the A. F. landed in Britain. About 250 soldiers, sailors and Marines are to be received by the Lord Mayor of London at a luncheon and official municipal welcome at the Guildhall.

Want Photographs Pitt Service Men

By the end of this week Blount-Harvey Company wishes to devote one of their windows to a large patriotic display including the photographs of as many Pitt County men in the armed services as possible. The window will be in co-operation with the local theatres which begin "Salute To Our Heroes" month, tonight in which all theatres throughout the country will devote their main efforts to the sale of war savings bonds.

James Ray Pittman, of Blount-Harvey Company today requested that all persons who have photographs of the Pitt County service men please send or bring them to the Blount-Harvey store for use in the window display. The photos will be well cared for by the store and the owners can get them back just as soon as the window display is discontinued. "It is our desire to procure the picture of every Pitt County service man, both colored and white, if it is possible to do so and we really want them included in this display," Mr. Pittman stated this morning.

Engagement of the Hon. Gerald Lascelles, 18-year old nephew of King George of England, to June Morris, 17-year old canteen worker, has been announced in London by the girl's mother. Lascelles, shown at work in a munitions factory, is son of the Earl of Harewood and the Princess Royal, only sister of the King.

Patrick Lee Nelson Died In Norfolk, Va.

Patrick Lee Nelson, 38, of Greenville, died suddenly yesterday morning at the home of his brother in Norfolk, Va. The body is expected to arrive in Greenville today over the Norfolk & Southern at 3 p. m.

Funeral services will be conducted at Reedy Branch cemetery at 5 o'clock by Rev. W. B. Nobles, Free Will Baptist minister of Winterville. Mr. Nelson is survived by his wife, Mrs. Inez Lucas Nelson; three children, Patrick L. Jr., Carl Eugene and Louelyn, all of Philadelphia, Pa.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Nelson of Greenville; three brothers, Theron and H. D. Nelson of Norfolk, and Elmer of Greenville; and two sisters, Mrs. A. R. Forrest and Miss Doris Nelson, both of this city.

Would Require Daily Deposits

Raleigh, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Governor Broughton would favor legislation providing that "any board or agency which collects funds in the name of the state be required to make daily deposits of these funds to the state treasurer and that they be administered in accordance with the state budget act.

He said as much yesterday after making public an audit of the State Board of Cosmetic Examiners which said the board "has exceeded its authority" in collecting maintenance expenses.

The governor said that prior to passage of the state budget act, many regular state agencies collected and administered funds but that the act required that even fees collected by his office be deposited daily with the state treasurer.

"I think that is a very sound way of administering public funds," he said.

Broughton said there were 22 regulatory boards, most of which were empowered to collect fees in the name of the state.

Orthopedic Clinic Here Next Friday

Dr. Hugh A. Thompson, orthopedic specialist of Raleigh, will conduct a clinic for cripples at the Pitt County health offices in Greenville next Friday from 12:30 to 4 p. m. Patients will be accepted free from Pitt, Carteret, Pamlico and Tyrell and other counties. It is desired, though not required, that patients be referred to the clinic by a physician or a welfare officer.

The clinics have been held here for the past five years. The county health offices are at Third and Greene streets.

Axis Forces . . .

pledge to "fight for Egypt and the Nile valley as if it were the soil of England itself."

Today's Cairo communique added no new details to the picture of the ground fighting, beyond the fact that "strong enemy columns" were engaged. But it reported that Allied bombers made heavy and sustained raids on concentrations of Axis vehicles in the battle area and fighters destroyed seven Axis planes in the air and "many on the ground."

The Italian high command issued its shortest communique in months, reporting aside from bombing operations only "activity of advanced units" and the taking of "many prisoners."

Quiet for two months, except for the occasional fire of patrolling machinegunners and the daily crump of bombs, the southern end of the battlefield has been alive for more than 24 hours with the thunder of tank, artillery and infantry fighting.

The British War Office announced early today said Rommel had sent his forces, "including armor," forward in the region of El Himemat, 25 miles due south of El Alamein, early yesterday morning.

"The German thrust in the south was accompanied by a "weak" Italian feint against the Allied lines to the north, but the War Office said the Italian move was "repulsed with loss to the enemy."

The Axis action did not catch the strengthened and rested Allied forces off guard because "for some days past there have been signs of renewed activity on Rommel's front," the communique said.

It was June 18 that the Axis launched the offensive which drove the weary and disorganized British army from Libya, recaptured the stronghold of Tobruk and penetrated Egypt to within 65 miles of Alexandria in 12 days.

Since July 1, Rommel's army has been stalled along a line running from the Mediterranean at a point about 10 miles west of El Alamein south to the Quattara depression, which he apparently is attempting to skirt on his new drive, launched under more favorable weather conditions.

El Himemat is a 200-foot peak on the edge of the depression.

For weeks Rommel has been receiving supplies and reinforcements, repairing tanks and equipment, and testing the British strength. His air forces have been bombing Allied airbases behind the lines. Newly arrived parachute troops have been acclimating themselves in the desert.

MOTHERS TAKE OVER CAMDEN SCHOOL BUSES

Boys Go to Shipyards and Mothers Transport Kids To School

Camden, N. J., Sept. 1.—(AP)—“Let Mom do it” is a phrase with a new, war-caused meaning to the residents of rural Camden county.

This year Mom will be back of the steering wheels of the orange-colored buses which transport most of Camden's children to and from school five days each week.

She is stepping in to do a job formerly done by strapping high school boys. The boys are off doing war work in shipyards and airplane plants. And Mom, you can bet your life, is going to do a good job of pinch-hitting.

“I only hope,” says Supt. E. P. Leary of the Camden schools, “that I can get enough mothers to drive all the buses.”

He has a fleet of sixteen buses, all but two serving white schools, and seven mothers have already passed through a state safety division driving school and obtained certificates to operate buses. Four more have volunteered at South Mills, where five high school boys resigned in a body to accept war jobs, and they will be trained before school opens.

One of the mothers—Mrs. Ella Seymour—has been driving a bus since 1939, but she is the only one with previous experience. Her record is so good that you can't blame Supt. Leary for being optimistic over prospects.

“We've found,” he said, “that upkeep on Mrs. Seymour's bus cost us 50 per cent less than the boys' buses, and she got by with 25 per cent less gas for the same mileage.”

The mothers who have already qualified as bus drivers are from 24 to 47 years old. They are: Mrs. Seymour, Mrs. Clieffe Jeralds, Mrs. Mavie Knight, Mrs. Lizzie Staples, Mrs. Lydia Sawyer, Mrs. Mertie Forbes and Mrs. Delilah Wright.

Pop isn't going to be entirely outdone by Mom, either. Most of the husbands of these women have qualified for bus driving and will serve as substitutes. They will take over bus runs, the superintendent says, when bad weather prevents them from working on their farms.

War Puts Mothers To Driving School Buses

War jobs in shipyards and airplane plants attracted the majority of the young high school boys who were to drive school buses in Camden county this year, but Superintendent of Schools E. P. Leary has found good substitutes—mothers. Already seven Camden county mothers have qualified as bus drivers, and others have volunteered. Shown in this picture are the seven who have qualified. They are Mrs. Ella Seymour, Mrs. Clieffe Jeralds, Mrs. Mavie Knight, Mrs. Lizzie Staples, Mrs. Lydia Sawyer, Mrs. Mertie Forbes and Mrs. Delilah Wright.

Missionary Home

The Rev. R. T. Henry, of Nashville, Tenn., an American missionary to China, told after disembarking from the diplomatic exchange ship Gripsholm that Germans and Italians in Hong Kong had more difficulty in obtaining food than Americans. He said Jap officials were anxious to exchange foreign nationals for their own English-speaking countrymen.

Fellow officers from his RAF regiment bear the body of the Duke of Kent, brother of King George of England, as it arrived in London en route to Windsor for burial. Kent and all except the rear gunner of a great Sunderland flying boat died when the plane crashed in north Scotland. The funeral will be private and the royal family asked that instead of flowers, donations be made to the armed forces. This photo was received from London via cable.

“The Marines Have The Situation In Hand”

In these photos made as the U. S. Marines took Guadalcanal Island, they have the “situation in hand.” Top: Marines in a Jeep ride across a Jap-built air base on Guadalcanal. Seized in the surprise attack of early August, this airport soon saw U. S. planes taking off. Bottom: Marines with ready search for snipers and stragglers in a palm grove on Guadalcanal during mopping up operations in the Battle of the Solomon Islands.

Marines Back After Slapping Japs Off Makin

Clad in their “working clothes” a group of U.S. Marines, part of the outfit led by Lieut. Col. Evans F. Carlin and Maj. James Roosevelt against the Japs on Makin Island, are shown as they return to their Pacific base. In a two-day attack that caught the Japs by surprise, the Marines eliminated 350 of the enemy and wrecked shore installations. Not counting 150 Japs killed at sea or in planes, U.S. losses on the island were put at one for every ten of the enemy. This is an official Navy photo radioed to San Francisco from Honolulu.

U. S. Dive Bombers Start Fires On Tulagi Island

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

IN THE IMAGE OF GOD
What a difference between man and beast. The lowest man on the earth towers above the highest beast as the Himalayas tower above the sea.

What is the striking difference between man and the lower animals? It is that man has the capacity to plan and to build. A monkey can go through some very interesting tricks and be taught to do amazing things. A dog has, within certain limits, the power to choose. But no dog or monkey or horse ever planned anything or built anything. We speak of the intelligence of the lower animals, but it is an intelligence far inferior to that of man.

The Bible makes this very plain when it states that man is made after God's image. He has in his nature certain qualities which God has, and outstanding among these is the capacity to plan and create.
Man makes a world of beautiful cities, he paints pictures and writes symphonies. He leads great movements. Then when Satan gets his ear, he turns on all such things and tramples them into the ground.
That is because he has forgotten his divine origin. Out of his mind has gone completely the recollection of the fact that he was created after the image of God.

We speak of the coming of peace.
What will peace mean to us?
Should we mean the opportunity of each man to live after the divine image in which he was created.

CARELESSNESS A CRIME

President Roosevelt in his address yesterday laid emphasis on the fact that industrial and other accidents in this country in the past twelve months had caused the loss of forty-two million man work days. At a time when all-out effort is needed in this country if we are to win the war, such accidents are indeed a crime and a big help to our enemies. The great majority of accidents of all kinds are the result of pure carelessness or recklessness and they can be prevented if our people will pause long enough to consider that their carelessness is threatening the future safety and freedom of our nation.

BOND SALES LAGGING

For the past three months
the country has fallen behind each month in the purchase of War Savings Bonds and Stamps. The purchase of these securities is necessary to help finance the war and also to curtail consumer spending. Unless there is a big improvement in the voluntary purchase of War Stamps and Bonds in the near future the government must and will make such purchases mandatory or will remove the surplus cash from circulation by increasing taxes. The purchase of War Bonds and Stamps at this time is not only patriotic but is wise.

DON'T LET IT HAPPEN HERE

Despite the fact that yesterday afternoon's paper carried the sad news that a young girl was killed by a car Sunday near Bethel while skating on the highway, there were numbers of Greenville children skating in the streets of the city last night. Skating on the streets is dangerous at all times and more especially, at night, and parents will do well to stop their children from so doing. It will be too late after some child is killed as a result of skating into the path of an automobile. Parents can and should control this matter, but if they do not, then the city officials will find it necessary to rigidly enforce the anti-skating ordinance.

dans in India. Singh says in their day-to-day, rubbing elbows, living, there is no more friction than between Roman Catholics and Protestants in the U. S.

Singh—a former member of Gandhi's All India Congress party, but a resident of the U. S. for 17 years—cites Gandhi's willingness to accept an all-Moslem governing council as proof of the fact that independence, and not religious domination is the basic motivation of Indian Hindus.

There are, Singh admits, religious crack pots in India, narrow, bigoted and vicious. But India has no monopoly on such specimens.

Just now there is a vocal but insignificant group in India advocating "Pakistan," which is severance of Moslem India from the mother country, with the ultimate aim of joining the Moslem provinces with Afghanistan, Iran, Iraq, Syria, Turkey and Egypt in a vast Pan-Moslem Empire. Hindus and responsible Indian Moslems—Singh cited the Moslem governors of three Moslem states—oppose any partition of India.

The Indian religious issue has been made a political football for generations. Britain has insisted on composition of the religious question before talking Indian freedom, but Singh says there is more than a suspicion that some of the "religious riots" in the past, "proving" that the Indian community was unable to get along, were inspired to forestall demands for independence. He pointed out that this would have a parallel in the United States. Inspired violence to sway public opinion, such as the bombing and burning of factories and uplift offices, has not been unknown in the capital-labor controversies in this country. The side which hired hoodlums to wreck its own property could then point to the other been pushed into the background in the heat of immediate battles. As a matter of fact what he says of Japan applies also very exactly to Germany, and his pungent words echo the allied determination to smash Hitler and Hitlerism. Here's the way he put it in his broadcast Sunday:

"That Japanese military machine and military caste and military system must be utterly crushed, their credit and predominance must be utterly broken, for the future safety and welfare of civilization and of humanity. Let's put it in a nutshell: There is not sufficient room in the area of the Pacific ocean for a peaceful American, for any and all of the peace-loving United Nations, and a swash-buckling Japan."
Substitute German for Japanese, and Europe for Pacific area, and this edict fits Hitler, the master gangster, who is trying to destroy Christian civilization and substitute paganism and slavery. Strange as those words may sound, that is the purpose of this man with the abnormal mind.
How are we to carry out this elimination of militarism and the remoulding of the minds of whole nations? Hitler is trying to achieve this end in some countries, by wholesale massacre of recalcitrant grownups and the taking over of the training of the children. That's the sort of thing we are fighting to destroy.
Well, naturally it's impossible at this stage in the war for allied governments to work out precisely how they will have to proceed with a duty in which we failed after the last World War. The consensus of allied statesmen and observers, however, seems to point generally in this direction:
1. Japan and Germany will have to be stripped of every vestige of military equipment—land, air and water. Their navies, military airforces and armies must be wiped out, and their arsenals must be destroyed.
2. Hitler and all the other militaristic leaders of both countries must be permanently removed from the picture. Some day hang 'em, but perhaps more mature judgment will recommend that they be put behind prison walls for life.
Then the allied nations will have to establish military control of Japan and Germany—actually police them with troops. Our experience with Germany after World War One showed that lack of such safe-

Chapter 17
Haunted Land
They talked little, saving their energies for the physical effort required to keep going. Their progress slowed into a routine that became automatic—striking camp at dawn, changing leaders at regular intervals, halting for a brief respite in the hottest part of the day, selecting the next camp site, going about the evening chores, crawling into tents and the slumber of utter exhaustion.
Since most of the time they followed the lower levels they seldom caught a glimpse of the plateau, and after a while the feeling grew up on Sandy that Time had, in some unaccountable fashion, swung back and they were wandering aimlessly in a geologic fault before man's coming upon earth. He would not have been surprised if a Paleozoic three-eyed crocodile had slithered out of the water, or a dinosaur had crashed through the bush.
Suddenly, one day, without any previous warning, they came to the foot of the plateau. It was higher than it had appeared to be from a distance. Sandy stood gazing up at the unscalable height above him and wondered how they were to find a way to the top.
"There is a fault line somewhere nearby," Tyra said. She added, looking up at the plateau: "It's been two months since I left Dad with our other Yaqui. I hope nothing has happened to them."
"Did you expect your father to meet you here?" Sandy asked her. She shook her head. "It would be practically impossible since he doesn't know just when I'm coming."
"He's probably worried about you, too," Sandy said. "I'll bet he has been out to the edge of the plateau with his field glasses every day for weeks trying to get a glimpse of you."
All the next day they worked around the base of the precipice and, late in the afternoon, reached a cave hung with glittering stalactites which drew exclamations of wonder from Sandy's party.
Tyra told them the cave marked the foot of the fault-line, so they pitched camp in the mouth and began the climb early the following morning. It was tedious work, made to be a grueling by their impatience to be at the edge of the rigors of the country now, however, and kept going steadily over the huge boulders that clogged the rift in the rocks.
Then, at last, with a final effort they stood upon level ground.
Near The End
Sandy breathed deeply of the high air. He faced a dark wall of jungle, such like some they had already crossed. Bushes and ferns and orchids filled the air with fragrance.
"Which way now?" he asked Tyra, for it all looked alike.
"A game trail leads to the ruins. Our camp isn't far from the Mayan city."
After casting about for a short time Tyra found the trail, and they started forward once more.
"One more river to cross," Gil called it.
It was heavy jungle, even for Chiapas bush country. The machetes slashed away at the creepers, for even a game trail was clogged with vines. Then, quite suddenly, the heavy undergrowth fell away and they found themselves walking into a cathedral-like forest of great trees that interlaced overhead like a canopy. So thick was the green roof that only a stray beam of sun filtered through here and there.
Advancing slowly Sandy became conscious of a quality of vast age in the scene. These hardwoods that he touched so high in the tropical sky were only part of it. The air itself exuded antiquity, with a rotting-fungus pungency that made the nostrils quiver. The earth had the appearance of being trodden by the feet of a hundred millenniums of living creatures.
And, whether it came from this quality of the air or not, Sandy had the eerie feeling that they were not walking alone through the gloomy aisles, but that shapes and forms unseen by human eyes were moving about stealthily upon errands of their own. The feeling was so strong that he brought the whole party to a halt and cautioned them to listen.
"Maybe you hear sounds from our camp, it isn't far out," Tyra said. But Gil burst out, "Good God, Chief, you don't suppose the place is haunted, do you?"
"Not unless you believe Mayan ghosts come back to walk among the scenes of their lifetime, after several hundred years."
Tyra spoke suddenly. "There can't be anything here to be afraid of, for Dad and I have been camped here a long time. But there is something strange about the place."
"Anyhow," Sandy observed. "In guards enabled quick rearmament. Probably such military poling will have to be maintained for years."
After that must begin the long and arduous process of eliminating the militaristic idea from the minds of the people by education. We shall have to undo all that Hitler and the Jap militarists have done by intensive propaganda during the past 20 years, and especially in the last decade. Mainly we shall have to work on the children and youth, for the views of many of the older folk will be more difficult to change.
It will be a colossal job, for we shall encounter the resentment of conquered peoples. Still, it can be done if it is approached in the right spirit. The people of both Germany and Japan are by nature susceptible to the regimentation which has been imposed on them, but I am not one of those who believe that all Germans and all Japanese are of necessity bad. On the contrary, I believe that properly led they would be useful members of society.

MEAT RATION IN PROSPECT

Expect Rationing Program Within Near Future

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Americans will be asked by the government soon to forego the extra steaks and chops they are able to buy with their record-breaking pay envelopes, and in about four months all meat will be rationed.
Secretary of Agriculture Wickard announced last night that the food requirements committee had decided on rationing as the best method of assuring an equitable distribution of what he termed the largest livestock production in history.
Meanwhile, a conservative campaign, possibly including "meatless days," will be instituted to limit civilian consumption of red meats to about the same average amount as has been eaten per capita during the last ten years.
"It will give our civilians approximately 2½ pounds of meat per person per week," Wickard said, "as contrasted with the one pound to the British civilian, 12 ounces to the German, five ounces to the Belgian. It is an adequate meat supply. When you add in the increased supply of poultry, and cheese, and dry beans we have, it provides a top-notch protein diet for us."
In discussing the rationing decision, he said:
"We ought to manage the supply so that the housewife can get to the store until afternoon won't be forced to do without; so that everyone has a chance to buy his fair share of the total."
On top of the requirements of the fighting forces and their allies, set at a billion pounds, "our civilian population, with the highest incomes on record, working harder than ever before, want more meat than ever before," Wickard added. "They would take about 21 billion pounds this year."
"The total demand adds up to more than the total supply, 27 billion pounds of demand; 24 billion pounds of supply."
Pending the installation of rationing machinery, packers' sales of civilian use will be curbed by a war production board order assigning marketing quotas. The order, expected in about two weeks, will apply to beef, veal, pork, lamb, mutton and sausage.
Mr. Fleming answered, "No doubt."
Sandy, Gil and Helen turned away, then. When they had gone a few steps, Sandy glanced back. Tyra and her father had not moved, but stood watching them.

RAF And Nazis Exchange Blows

A Southeast Coast Town, England, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Large forces of high-flying British planes crossed the channel to France this afternoon after RAF fighters had chased a flight of Nazi Focke-Wulf 190's which had bombed a small southeast coast town and machine-gunned its streets.
The German planes hit a hospital, killing one person, and a bomb which burst near a road crew killed three workers.
The raiders swept in at 200 feet, causing some damage and casualties.
British Beaufighters of the coastal command shot down two of three German seaplanes encountered over the western approaches of the English channel yesterday, the Air Ministry announced. Two British planes were reported missing from yesterday's daylight patrols.

Three Killed By Explosion

Metuchen, N. J., Sept. 1.—(AP)—An explosion and fire destroyed a small building of the New Jersey Fulgent Company today, killing at least three persons and injuring an undetermined number.
The plant, working on war contracts, is in Raritan township, near Metuchen.
Three slight blasts were heard at 9:50 A.M. and were followed by a terrific explosion that shook the vicinity. Fire broke out in the corrugated metal building, one of many small structures on the plant property, but was brought under control within a short time.
Police Chief Enos Fournat of Metuchen said "at least three persons" were killed, burned beyond recognition.

Cattle Owners Rush To Market

Kansas City, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Cattle owners, stampeded for the most part by the prospect of a live beef, sent a near-record total of 32,500 animals thundering to market yesterday.
Stockyard pens are overflowing, and your T-bones and juicy roasts will be along shortly. They'll probably be only happy memories by the time meat rationing is due, January 1.
But there are indications that a real meat shortage will follow the present rush to market.
For the factories of cattle production—the farm feed lots—are lagging.

Dodgers Gain Another Half Game Lead Over Cardinals

BEAT PIRATES BY SCORE 5-4

Field Of World Series Possibilities Narrows

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
One by one the also rans are bowing out of even a mathematical chance at the pennant as the September sprint starts in the major leagues.

The Detroit Tigers dropped by the wayside yesterday, leaving only the first division in the American League still contending with the New York Yankees. The Pittsburgh Pirates may go today, leaving the National League with the same situation, and even the Cincinnati Reds, picked for the pennant by some observers last spring, may meet their doom this week.

The Yankees themselves took care of the disposal of Detroit with an 8-3 triumph that was Atley Donald's first over the Tigers in five years of labor in the American League.

The quiet right-hander pitched 2-hit shutout ball for eight innings, but his jinx threatened to catch up with him in the ninth, when the Tigers tallied three times on an error and four hits before Johnny Murphy rushed in to put out the fire. However, the world champions had provided amply for such an emergency by scoring early and often on a dozen hits, two of them homers by Joe Gordon and Phil Rizzuto, each with one aboard.

The Pirates, who are within half a game of being eliminated from a pennant chase, were nosed out 5-4 in 11 innings by Brooklyn and the Dodgers have a chance to apply the finishing punch today.

Their tussle yesterday was rigged and rowdy. Both teams did a lot of bench jockeying and the umpires had to step in to prevent trouble between Vince Dimaggio of the Pirates and Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers.

But in the end the Dodgers pushed across the winning run on two singles and a wild throw by Elbie Fletcher to boost their lead over the St. Louis Cardinals to 3½ games. Curt Davis, making his second relief appearance in two days, pitched the last 1 2/3 innings and earned his 15th victory.

The New York Giants bagged their sixth straight conquest with 7-6 decision over the Chicago Cubs. But it took a two-run pinch single by Buster Maynard to turn the trick after Harry Feldman had blown a five-run lead furnished him in the first inning.

The weak-hitting Reds surprised their followers by also manufacturing a five-run inning and overpowered the Philadelphia Phillies 8-1 in a night game. Elmer Riddle pitched five-hit ball and Eric Tipton provided him with an early margin by homering with one on.

The Boston Red Sox kept within eight games of the Yanks by setting down the St. Louis Browns 8-6, but they had to stave off a five-run rally by the Browns in the 9th inning. Three of the tallies in this uprising came on Chet Laab's 23rd home run.

The victory went to Cecil (Tex) Hughson, giving him 13 successes and putting him in front of all the pitchers in both leagues in total triumphs. However, he had to have help to survive the ninth. The Red Sox socked made 14 hits and had a five-run explosion of their own in the sixth inning.

In the day's only other American League action, the Chicago White Sox swept a double bill from the Philadelphia Athletics 3-1 and 5-0. In the first game Johnny Humphries held the A's to five hits, one less than the Sox collected, and in the nightcap Lefty Edgar Smith scattered nine for a shutout and his fifth victory against 19 defeats.

During the first half of 1942 the Agricultural Marketing Administration bought more than 825 million pounds of pork.

Winston - Salem Beats Greensboro

Charlotte, Sept. 1 (AP)—Winston-Salem's Twins, aided by southpaw Ted Gray's two-hit pitching, whitewashed Greensboro 3-0 last night.

Gray fanned 11, as did his opponent, David (Boo) Ferriss. But Ferriss allowed seven hits and the Twins bunched three in the sixth for all their runs.

In the Piedmont League's only other game, the veteran Jack Russel hurled a three-hitter for Portsmouth to take a 2-1 decision from Norfolk. Cecil Garriott's 325 foot homer in the eighth inning was the margin of victory. Norfolk's only run came in the ninth on a single
