SAYS GREATER PRODUCTION IS NECESSARY

President Says Production Only 50 Per Cent Of Maximum; Makes Lend-Lease Report To Congress

Washington, Sept. 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt told Congress today that the United States was producing only a little more than 50 per cent of its maximum possible war production and solemnly warned:

"Not until we have reached the maximum—and we can do this only by stripping our civilian economy to the bone—can our fighting men and those of our Allies be assured of the vastly greater quantities of weapons required to turn the tide. Not until then can the United Nations march forward together to certain victory."

The President's statement was in a letter transmitting the sixth quarterly lend-lease report in which he spoke of Britain as an "offensive base." The report showed such aid to the British commonwealth of nations and 35 other countries during the 18 months since the program began totaled $6,489,000,000, with actual exports amounting to $3,525,000,000. In the same time lend-lease countries purchased $5,000,000,000 worth of goods, including munitions, from this country.

Lend-lease help is now being provided at the rate of $8,000,000,000 a year, with the maximum aid possible under 15 separate appropriation acts reaching almost $93,000,000,000.

At present, the report said, about 35 per cent of lend-lease exports were going to the United Kingdom, 35 per cent to Russia, and 30 per cent to the Middle East, Australia and other areas.

"Aid to China," it was added, "has been limited by the difficulty of transportation, but the development of other means of transportation will relieve this situation."

The President said in his letter that deliveries of lend-lease goods, "which have been growing, will have to grow much larger still."

"We and the other United Nations need all the weapons that all of us can produce and all the men that all of us can muster," he added.

Compared with their available resources, he said, Britain and Russia had produced more weapons than the United States.

"And they are continuing to produce to the limit," he asserted, "in spite of the fact that Russia is a battlefield and Britain an offensive base."

The chief executive went on to say that as American men moved overseas to battle "they must and will have sufficient quantities of the best equipment the United States can produce and at the same time we must provide more weapons to the armies of our allies already in the fighting lines."

"Britain has been fighting the Nazis for three years, China is in her sixth year of war, and in Russia the war's greatest land front is more than a year old," he declared. "From the beginning they have carried on without enough guns or tanks or planes. It is through their uphill fight that the war has not been lost."

"Only by strengthening our Allies and combining their strength with ours can we surely win."

The report said lend-lease funds were now being spent for many (Continued On Page Two)

Slavage Campaign Getting Results

Increased interest in the War Slavage Campaign to secure scrap metal and rubber for war purposes today was gratifying, those in charge stated. Householders were telephoning headquarters to come for scrap metal on their premises, others sent quantities to junk dealers, and some contributed to the community scrap pile at the Courthouse. Sam B. Underwood, publicity chairman, stated:

The city and John G. Clark tendered use of their trucks for hauling the scrap. White and colored men manifested a patriotic spirit when salvagers were loading some iron trusses and beams from the rear of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company building to be taken to the scrap pile at the courthouse. When Herbert Waldrop told some colored men sitting on the courthouse steps that the metal will be used to "bomb the Japs" they readily lent a helping hand unloading the metal.

British Seize Madagascar Ports

British troops have captured the ports of Ambanja, Majunga and Morondava in Madagascar in their offensive to drive the Vichy French government from that strategic island in the western Indian ocean. The attack was launched after the British learned that Jap planes had been permitted to reconnoiter the southern part of the island and Japanese submarines had been supplied in secret harbors for attacks on Allied shipping lanes in the Mozambique Channel and the Indian ocean. Through these lanes, the United Nations keep supplies flowing to the Middle East, India and Russia. After seizing the three west coast ports, the British advanced toward Tananarive, in land capital of the island. They had previously occupied Diego Suarez, big naval base on the northern tip of Madagascar.

MORE LIQUOR IS BEING SOLD

Pitt Sales Rank Tenth In The Wet Counties

Raleigh, Sept. 14 (AP)—Increased taxes and financial ability to buy more expensive brands helped cause liquor sales to mount to $1,756,886.85 during August, or $983,639.55 more than August, 1941. ABC chairman Carl Williamson said today.

New Hanover county led with the total sales of $246,268.45, followed by Durham with $213,266.80. In those counties and other war preparation areas sales were heaviest.

Recorder Supports Venerable Campaign

In Recorder's court today Judge J. W. H. Roberts observed the unusual condition prevailing when about nine out of 10 white and colored defendants in his court appeared to be expected to take treatments for venereal diseases from the county health officer or private physicians but were not doing so.

His honor stated that his court will cooperate fully with the American Legion, the County Health Department, and others in the campaign against venereal diseases.

Fliers Tell Story Of Raid On Base At Kuna

By DEAN SCHEDLER
Somewhere in New Guinea, Sept. 14.—(AP)—"We just threw everything but the fire extinguishers at those Japs."

In these words Lieut. George Carter of Macon, Ga., summed up today the devastating 26-ton bomb raid Saturday by American and Australian airmen on the Japanese base at Buna, in southeast New Guinea.

RAF BOMBERS MAKE BIG RAID OVER BREMEN

Nineteen British Airplanes Lost; Reds Bomb Rumanian Oil Fields

(By The Associated Press)
London, Sept. 14.—British and Russian bombers, delivering a new twin blow to the flanks of the Axis 1000 miles apart, smashed at the northwest German port of Bremen last night in a RAF attack probably hundreds of planes strong, and raided Bucharest and the Ploesti oil region of Rumania from bases deep in Russia.

Lone flying British bombers went back over northwestern Germany again at dawn in follow-up attacks, the Air Ministry reported, announcing a total loss of 18 British bombers.

The Air Ministry said the 100th attack of the war on Bremen was delivered by a "very strong force," a phrase which was taken here to indicate that bombers by the hundreds were used.

Returning pilots reported visibility rifts in the light clouds was good and said they unloaded their tons of explosives over the Weser river port by the light of raging fires whose red glow they could see for 100 miles on their flight back to base.

The Berlin radio, broadcasting the German communique, said Russian bombers were over eastern Germany during the same night, and quoted dispatches from Bucharest that the Rumanian capital and the Ploesti region to the north were attacked and bombs dropped, but that no damage was caused.

Bremen, site of important submarine building yards and the Focke-Wulf airplane factory, was last bombed Sept. 4.

The German radio acknowledged that British raiders had caused "material damage and destruction to buildings, particularly in residential quarters," in an attack on a "harbor town," but did not otherwise identify the target.

An authoritative British statement said: "Last night a very strong force of our bombers went to northwest Germany."

"Bremen, their main objective, was heavily bombed."

It was the first RAF attack on Germany since last Thursday night, when Dueseldorf was blasted by a powerful force of air raiders.

The Berlin radio also disclosed that Russian bombers had been over eastern Germany, but said they had caused only slight damage at isolated places.

Both the Berlin and Vichy radio stations reported that Budapest and other points in eastern Germany. (Continued on Page Two)

German Report On-Convoy Battle

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The German radio broadcast a special communique today reporting that U-boats have sunk 19 ships totaling 122,000 tons, two destroyers and one corvette out of an Allied convoy in the North Atlantic.

There was no Allied confirmation of this enemy report, which sounded suspiciously similar to another German special announcement—also unconfirmed—yesterday claiming sinking of 18 Allied ships totaling 121,500 tons and the torpedoing of a 19th ship. This announcement said that in addition "a convoy battle of major proportions" was in progress in the Atlantic.

Pitt Theatre Will Honor War Mothers

Tomorrow night at the Pitt Theatre will be "Mothers' Night" for those who have sons in the country's armed forces. They will be Manager T. Y. Walker's guests at the showing of the film "Are Husbands Necessary?" with Ray Milland and Betty Field in the star roles.

Mothers who have sons in the service are invited to the theatre Tuesday night between 7 and 9 o'clock. They will register their names and their sons' names and be admitted free.

Judge Dink James will deliver a special message.

The WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

Disclosure that the Nazis have developed three new warplanes for use against the British, including a sub-sonic bomber capable of operating from a height of 40,000 feet, lends substance to Berlin's threat last week that Germany is preparing to launch unprecedented air-raids over England.

There's no reason to doubt that this threat accurately describes one of the fuhrer's objectives and that he is getting set for the assault. To my mind, however, that doesn't tell the whole story for the indications are that we also may expect a terrific dog-fight for supremacy of the air over western Europe.

The steadily increasing British and American strength has put the Nazi chief on the spot—and a nasty one it is. The Anglo-Yankee combination already holds superiority in the air.

He could not, however, force ag-

Air Fortresses Warm Up For Battle

Here is an unusual tail-end view of one of the many U. S. Flying Fortresses now stationed at English airfields. Working on the tail is Sergeant G. I. Murray (foreground) of Boston. These bombers are tuning up to join the RAF in proposed full-scale night attacks on German industrial cities.

Report British Attempt Land Troops At Tobruk

Says Attack By Sea-Borne and Parachute Troops Beaten Off

Rome, (from Italian broadcasts), Sept. 14.—(AP)—Sea-borne British troops, supported by parachute troops, attempted a landing last night to pinch off the vital Axis supply port of Tobruk, some 300 miles west of the Egyptian battlefield, but were beaten off by the German-Italian garrison, the Italian high command announced today.

The landing attempt, in which a force of British cruisers and destroyers participated, was preceded by a violent bombardment by a large number of RAF planes, a communique said.

Two of the British warships were reported hit by shell fire and one of the vessels was said to have sunk later.

The Berlin radio carried a similar announcement, but there was no immediate confirmation of the reports from any Allied source, the British communique from Cairo mentioned only minor air and land activity on the Egyptian front yesterday.

Tobruk, about 75 miles west of the Egyptian frontier, has been in Axis hands since June 22 and is an important supply port for Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's armies in Egypt.

The Italian announcement said: "Last night the enemy, after a prolonged air attack carried out by a large number of planes, attempted with the support of parachute troops to effect a landing from light naval units in the Tobruk area."

"The immediate intervention of Italian-German defenses frustrated the attempt."

"The attempt was supported by six naval units; made up of cruisers (Continued on Page Four)

Notice Draftees

Officials of the local draft board today stated that in some instances because there would be two or more persons with the same name living on the same rural route, notices for examination, induction, etc., have been received by the wrong parties. The draft officials urged all registrants who receive notices and are not absolutely sure that the notices are meant for them, report at the draft board with such notices immediately. In this manner the errors in delivery can be detected and the proper parties reached.

Car Is Demolished; Occupants Missing

State Highway patrolmen today were investigating the wreck of an automobile on the New Bern highway between the Craven County line and Vanceboro. The car was demolished.

The only clue to the identity of the occupants was three United States Marine caps. Patrolmen checked the Greenville hospital, but none of the injured had been taken there. The injured occupants were taken to a New Bern hospital, state patrolmen believe. Highway officers at New Bern were checking on the accident.

Bill Directs President Stabilize Wages, Prices

Washington, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Legislation specifically authorizing President Roosevelt to stabilize wages and salaries as of August 15 and farm prices at levels not below parity was introduced today in the Senate in response to the President's demand that Congress act by October 1 to control inflation.

Offered by Chairman Wagner (D-NY) of the Banking committee and Senator Brown (D-Mich.), pilot of previous administration price control legislation, the resolution would give the President broad power to deal with all other factors involved in the cost of living.

In stabilizing wages and prices, Brown said, the President would be authorized to take into account substandard conditions and to correct any "gross inequities" that might arise.

He could not, however, force ag-

ALLIED AIRMEN BLASTING JAPS

Bases And Shipping Damaged In Series Of Raids

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Allied forces held the Japanese invaders at bay 40 miles north of Port Moresby for the fourth successive day yesterday while medium bombers dropped 17 tons of bombs on the Japanese base and airfield at Lae and Flying Fortresses attacked three enemy merchant ships and a cruiser off New Guinea's coast, a communique said today.

General MacArthur reported that patrols were active on both sides in the Owen Stanley mountain region where the Japanese have been stalled in their attempted advance on Port Moresby, but the situation "remains unchanged."

In the air war against shipping, one allied bomb blew the stern off a Japanese vessel near Solow Island in the Tanibar island group between Australia and New Guinea and she was left in a sinking condition, the communique said.

Another ship was attacked with machinegun fire in the same raid and farther north, off the Kai Islands, still another Japanese ship was bombed with unknown result.

Flying Fortresses found a Japanese cruiser and destroyer southeast of New Britain on the eastern side of New Guinea and despite poor weather conditions and intense anti-aircraft fire attacked the cruiser. Results could not be seen, it was announced. All the fortresses returned safely.

Allied medium bombers attacked Lae twice within a few minutes and the 17 tons of bombs dumped on the base destroyed two heavy Japanese bombers and started three communique said. There was no opposition by Japanese fighters, but heavy anti-aircraft fire was encountered.

LEAF PRICES HIGHER TODAY

Common Grades Continue to Dominate Offerings

Today's sale will be approximately 1,500,000 pounds and while there is some good tobacco, the majority of the offerings are medium leaf, common types and trashy grades, the latter two types of tobacco being on the market today in an unusual quantity.

At noon, while some houses had their Tuesday's sale, there were others who did not. Among several different houses there was room for right much leaf for tomorrow's sale.

The market opened strong this morning at last Friday's level and as sales progressed there was a general tightening up of prices on a number of grades this resulting in slightly higher prices than were paid the past week on these types.

Official figures on the market for the period ending last Thursday night are as follows:

Sales for week, 7,262,760 pounds for $2,266,769.24, an average of $31.21, compared with sales of 6,373,642 pounds for $1,633,355.75, an average of $25.63 for the same week last season.

Sales for the season, 14,391,884 pounds for $4,579,604.50, an average of $31.82, compared with sales of 16,240,642 pounds for $4,137,340.25, an average of $25.48 for the same period last season.

Bill Directs President Stabilize Wages, Prices

Washington, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The general effect of this legislation, Brown said, would be to keep farm prices at about their present levels, since the average of these prices now is estimated at 101 per cent of parity.

In line with this idea, Brown explained, the President would be authorized to set the ceiling for agricultural commodities at the levels of a recent date so that in effect none would be placed below the top level reached this year.

The August 15 date for stabilizing wages was chosen, Brown reported, because it coincides with government statistical periods. He said, however, that the date might later be changed to September 15 if the Senate Banking Committee decided this was necessary.

The measure provides for retention (Continued on Page Six)

Dail's Pig Helped Sale of War Bonds

At the Pitt County Farm Bureau meeting at the college Saturday to hear J. B. Hutson of Washington, D. C. discuss the tobacco price ceiling, a young pig donated by Haywood Dail in the interest of stimulating the sale of War Bonds, was auctioned off to the highest bidder. The sale was finally completed had netted $6,450 in War Savings Bonds.

The War Bond pig was sold five times. It was first bid in by J. V. Taylor, John Bunting and David House of Bethel for $4,000. They turned the pig back and it was bought by S. G. Wilkerson for $1,250. Mr. Wilkerson then turned it back to Haywood Dail and he sold it to Ivan Blaisdell of Griffin for $1,000. He turned the pig back then to G. H. Pittman of Falkland and sold it for $1,000. The next bidder, Robert Dixon and Fred Cox of Simpson bought $400 worth of War Bonds and decided to eat barbecue. The War Bond sale ended.

Eight or ten $100 bidders were waiting to buy the pig and turn it back for use in the sale of War Bonds when the two bidders kept it. T. Y. Walker, manager of the Pitt Theatre, was master of ceremonies.

Jones-Simmons.

On Sunday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock, Miss Mildred Simmons became the bride of David Clifton Jones of Raleigh and Durham. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride near Greenville, with the Reverend Hartwell Campbell, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, officiating. The ring ritual was used.

The living room, where the marriage vows were spoken, was lighted by cathedral candles and decorated with palms and English ivy, interspersed with white gladioli and asters.

Miss Evelyn Jones of Durham, sister of the groom, attended the bride as bridesmaid. Miss Jones wore a dress of white marquisette with floor length skirt. Her corsage was of red roses tied with white ribbon.

Miss Margaret Register, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Her dress was of white organdy and lace with which she wore a corsage of American Beauty roses.

The bride entered the living room with her cousin, Mr. John Sowers, by whom she was given in marriage. The brides wedding gown was white mousseline de soie fashioned with long cascade style, with full flowing skirt that extended into a train.

The neckline of her bodice was round and was attached to a yoke that was trimmed in seeded pearls. Her shoulder length veil of orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of Sweetheart roses and orange blossoms.

The groom was attended by Mr. Mercer Simmons, brother of the bride, as best man.

Immediately following the wedding an informal reception was held.

For traveling, the bride wore a beige tweed suit with brown accessories. Her corsage was taken from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Jones is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Vina Simmons and the late Mr. Alfred P. Simmons of Greenville. She was graduated from the Greenville High School and for the past year has been employed in Raleigh.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Jones will be at home in Greenville.

Mrs. Hardee Honored.

A delightful compliment and charming social event of the fall season was that of last Wednesday evening, when Mrs. Gilbert H. Hale of Washington, entertained at a bridge party and miscellaneous show at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. J. Elks, in Grimesland, complimenting Mrs. Artis Bryant Hardee, who before her recent marriage was Miss Martha Hoell of Grimesland.

Mrs. Hardee is spending some time with her mother, Mrs. L. B. Hoell while her husband, Lieut. Hardee, is at Officers' Training School in Quantico, Va.

Guests arriving at the invited hour of 8:45 o'clock were greeted by the hostess and honoree, who wore an attractive two-piece dress of powder blue silk crepe designed with lace yoke in shade to match her ensemble.

After the dainty tally cards inscribed with miniature brides had been passed, Mrs. Hardee presented the many lovely shower gifts which had been arranged in a large white basket topped with a wedding bell affixed to a golden chain.

The living room, where tables for bridge and setback were placed, was beautifully decorated with quantities of fragrant pink, white and red roses which graced the coffee and occasional tables.

The mantel, centered with a large picture of the groom, a special gift, was flanked by matching bowls of English ivy and tapering white candles in holders of silver.

Each auxiliary table was marked with surprise gifts which bore the progression numbers and the place where the guest of honor was seated was marked with a corsage of pink carnations, a gift of the hostess.

At the conclusion of games, Mrs. W. F. Galloway, bridge high scorer, was presented a Fostoria vase, and the second high score award, a pottery vase, was won by Mrs. F. W.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

September 14, 1902

The many friends of Greensboro Female College throughout the state will be gratified to learn that this excellent institution has had a fine opening for the fall term, with bright prospects for a prosperous year.

A meeting was held in the Methodist Church Sunday afternoon, looking to the organization of an Anti-Saloon League in Greenville. There are many people in Greenville who ought to be interested in this movement, and they should be present at the next meeting.

Mrs. R. W. King and daughter, Mattie Moye, have returned from New York.

Majette. The high score prize in setback, a linen finger towel, was awarded Mrs. Steve Cayton and Mrs. Dalton Heath, second high scorer, was presented a pottery vase. Mrs. Hale's gift to Mrs. Hardee was a cocktail ice in her chosen crystal "Rose Point."

After prizes had been awarded those making up tables were asked to draw cards and the one retaining the queen of hearts was presented the "surprise gift" which bore the table number.

Chilled Coca-Colas and assorted beverages were served during the evening and salted nuts and mints were on the tables during progressions.

A color motif of pink and green was carried out in the ice course which was served with dainty white frosted party cakes decorated with pink and green flowers.

Guests were Mrs. Hardee, her mother, Mrs. Lela Bell Hoell, Mrs. W. F. Galloway, Mrs. G. P. Carr, Mrs. Hick Galloway, Mrs. Clinton Elks, Miss Jennie Newby Outlaw, Mrs. Martha Rachel Fleming, Mrs. Paul Magette, Mrs. Raymond Elks, Mrs. Fred Elks, Mrs. Maybelle Godley, Mrs. Casper Galloway, Mrs. Curtis Ross, Mrs. Leslie Elks, Mrs. Dalton Heath, Miss Louise Wilson, Mrs. Clarence Elks, Mrs. Steve Cayton, Miss Dorothy Wilson, Mrs. Dan White, all of Grimesland, Mrs. Harkey Allgood, Jr., and Miss Rosemary Allgood of Washington.

Workers' Council To Meet.

The Workers' Council of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church will meet in the Ellington Bible class room at the church Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. All officers and teachers of the Sunday school are expected to attend. Supper will be served.

O. E. S. Meeting.

The Worthy Grand matron of the Grand Chapter of North Carolina Order of the Eastern Star, Mrs. Mary K. Fleet of Rocky Mount, and Mrs. O. C. Strood of Ayden, district deputy Grand Matron of the Second district, will pay their official visits to Greenville chapter No. 149 on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Masonic Hall. Other state officers are also expected to be present.

After the meeting a reception in their honor will be held.

Entertains For Bride.

On Thursday evening Miss Ruth Williamson entertained at a miscellaneous bridge shower in honor of Mrs. Francis Worsley, who before her recent marriage was Miss Marie Simpson.

The living room and dining room were decorated with fall flowers and thrown en suite, where four tables were placed for bridge. The bride's place was marked with a corsage of red roses.

High score prize was won by Mrs. Charles Flanagan and second high went to Miss Jane Smith.

The hostess presented Mrs. Worsley with silver, her chosen pattern. Miss Marie Smith, bride-elect, was remembered with linen towels.

At the conclusion of the games, the hostess, assisted by her mother, served a delicious salad course.

Guests were: Mrs. Worsley, Mrs. Charles Flanagan, Misses Marie Smith, Jane Smith, Lillian Abee, Verda Harris, Doris Tucker, Inez Whitman, Lucille Teel, Olympia Smith, Sarah Weaver, Nettie K. Smith, Virginia Simpson, Mrs. William Williams, Mrs. Jack Whitely, Mrs. P. T. Anthony, Mrs. James Worsley, Mrs. Howard Simpson and Mrs. Scott Wright.

Christian Science Service.

"The Lesson" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, September 13.

The golden text was "from Psalms 135:13. 'Thy name, O Lord, endureth for ever; and thy memorial, O Lord, throughout all generations.'"

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength; this is the first commandment. And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." (Mark 12:29-31.)

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "As God is substance and man is the divine image and likeness, man should wish for, and in reality has, only the substance of good, the substance of Spirit, not matter. The belief that man has any other substance, or mind, is not spiritual and breaks the First Commandment. Thou shalt have one God, one Mind."

NEWS OF GREENVILLE HIGH

Student Council

It was announced today that Student Council representatives will be elected Wednesday. Home rooms in Junior High will elect one student each to serve as their representatives for the year, while home rooms in Senior High will elect two each. Students are urged to think carefully before nominating anyone for the office for it is their home room which will suffer if it is poorly represented at council meetings.

New Teachers

Mrs. Willie Turner King will replace Dr. Brandt in the Science department. She will arrive tomorrow and take up her duties Wednesday. Dr. Brandt and Dr. Browning begin teaching at E. C. T. C. next week when the college opens. "The high school needs a commercial teacher," stated Mr. J. Roy Wilkerson, principal.

Orientation Program

The orientation program was summed up this morning at a talk to the new students by Charles Pace, president of the Student Council.

"I think the new students received much help by the orientation committee. By holding classes rather than just giving them a handbook and saying 'Read it if you want to solve many questions for the new students that the office might have had to answer.' Too, they learned the high school sooner," averred Mr. J. Roy Wilkerson, school principal.

The Home Demonstration Club women of Pitt county can help substantially to back up their sons and husbands in the armed forces by cooperating to the limit with the local Scrap Salvage Committee, Mrs. Herman Baker, president of the Pitt County Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs stated today, urging every woman in the community to make an immediate search through her home for scrap metal that can be turned into guns, tanks and other needed war equipment. Rubber and fats are needed too, she pointed out.

"Those of us on the home front have an urgent responsibility to do all that we can to speed the war to a swift and successful conclusion," Mrs. Baker said. "One of the ways to accomplish this objective is to see that no home in this community has in it any old metal that is lying idle."

"Old lamps in the attic, broken garden tools in the garage, and old stovepipe in the cellar, all these can be used to good advantage by American industry in these crucial days. Every pound of scrap we can get to American steel plants will increase their production already half of the world total—by just that much more. In that way we can all help make more weapons to crush the Axis."

Mrs. Baker urged the women of Pitt to immediate action. "We cannot all serve in the auxiliaries of the armed forces, nor yet work in war factories. But those of us whose jobs is to keep our homes going can render an important service by turning in our scrap metals."

The procedure is simple. Get your scrap together and turn it over to our local Scrap Salvage Committee.

"If the old metal and other scrap material in our homes and on our farms will help back up the men in the service, then let us see that it is turned in—immediately, today," Mrs. Baker said.

The Stokes Home Demonstration Club met on Monday afternoon with 14 members present. Mrs. G. H. Roebuck, president, opened the meeting with "Lead On O King Eternal," which was followed by the American creed.

Mrs. J. B. Congleton gave a most interesting report of the Health project the club is sponsoring this year. The project is to provide ways and means for an underprivileged child that has had infantile paralysis in Stokes to be treated. The club members have brought the child to Greenville every first Friday to the Orthopedic clinic. During the past two months they have carried the child to Raleigh twice for treatment. He is showing marked improvement in the use of one of his legs.

"Poultry Suggestions for September" were given by Mrs. J. H. Barnhill and "Home Beautification for September" was given by Mrs. D. N. Nobles, Jr.

"Planning Your Time For Victory" was given by Miss Joyner, assisted by Mrs. W. S. Brown, Home Management leader.

Miss Cordelia Perkins, chairman of the Nomination Committee, presented the following for officers for 1943: President, Mrs. D. N. Nobles, Jr.; vice-president, Miss Bess Gilliam, and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Congleton.

The meeting adjourned for a social hour. Mrs. G. M. Britt was the hostess for the meeting.

Pactolus and Bethel Home Demonstration clubs also met.

There will be no Home Demonstration or 4-H Club meetings this week. The Farm and Home agents of Pitt county will attend an agents' conference for extension workers of this district at Camp Leach.

Winterville H. D. Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. A. Woodward, with Mrs. E. W. Braxton assisting hostess. After the usual preliminaries, Miss Nan Loy

Tucker gave a pleasing report of the August banquet. Miss Joyner gave the Home Beautification report, consisting of timely tips on perennials, bulbs and lawns. Mrs. J. D. McArthur gave a report of the Defense Committee, urging all families to cooperate with the school program to get the scrap in.

The report of the nominating committee was given by Mrs. M. A. Woodward. The following were presented for officers for 1943 and unanimously elected: President, Mrs. J. D. McArthur; vice-president, Miss Nan Loy Tucker; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Rick Jackson.

Mrs. McArthur made a report on the community building. The club voted to cooperate with the other clubs in buying a punch set for the County Council. A collection was taken and the necessary funds raised.

Miss Joyner gave a splendid talk and demonstration on "Plan Your Time For Victory."

We were happy to have Mrs. Joseph Stubbs of Washington, D. C., as a visitor.

At the close of the meeting our hostesses served delightful refreshments.

special projects, including further tests of the "seamobile," shallow draft cargo vessel originally known as the "sea otter," and for saving shipping space and refrigeration capacity by the development of dehydrated foodstuffs.

To show that lend-lease is not entirely a one-way proposition, the report said that in Great Britain 250,000 British workmen were engaged on construction for the American army in July alone.

In addition, British guns and camps, aircraft and military stores have been turned over to United States expeditionary forces and reciprocal aid is being furnished the American troops in Australia, New Zealand and by the "Fighting French" in Equatorial Africa and New Caledonia.

Of the $6,489,000,000 aid furnished by the United States thus far, $5,129,000,000 represented goods transferred and services rendered, while $1,360,000,000 was the value of the good "in process."

During August, military items comprised about 58 per cent of total transfers, industrial materials 29 per cent, and foodstuffs 13 per cent.

Hutson Speaks . . .

equal to that of last year" Hutson said. "We may not produce that much with a 10 per cent increase in acreage. However, because of the larger supplies on hand, farmers should not let their plans for a larger tobacco acreage interfere with plans for more dairy products, poultry, soybeans, peanuts and other vital food crops. Every effort will be made to protect the prices and income of farmers during the period of all-out production. The machinery for this appears adequate."

Hutson pointed out that this summer when plans for operations were outlined the Allies indicated that they wanted about 350 million pounds of tobacco from this year's crop. "This was 50 to 75 million pounds more than I contemplated," Hutson said. It was agreed to get to them slightly over 300 million pounds, he explained, and this figure was about 40 per cent of the crop which now is estimated at 750 million pounds.

He said that at the opening of the present marketing season our stocks were sufficient to last about two and a half years at present level of consumption. Stocks of the Allies, he said, were sufficient to last slightly less than one and a fourth years when added to Commodity Credit stocks. Those stocks in the hands of domestic manufacturers were more than twice as large relatively as stocks held by Commodity Credit Corporation and by manufacturers in the in the countries associated with us in the war.

"Those countries have been more than reasonable," he said. "They still are bearing the brunt of the war effort, and I do not think it is too much for us to furnish them with the materials, including tobacco and food and war equipment to carry on."

"Returning to the tobacco ceiling—I hope it will be possible to develop plans under which prices during the remainder of the season will acreage as much—considering grade and quality—as they have during the part of the season that is past."

"I am sure that all of us can agree that it is desirable to have uniform prices from month to month and from belt to belt. I think all of us recognize that we can only approach uniformity and there will be variations from year to year."

"In my judgment the crop next year should be larger than that of this year," he continued. "I believe that a crop of 850 to 900 million pounds next year would be about right from a tobacco standpoint alone. Probably it would require an acreage of from 10 to 15 per cent larger than this year."

"You will note that I have said 850 to 900 million pounds from the standpoint of tobacco alone." However, we all know that we cannot consider one crop by itself. We may also need substantial increases in other products. Within a year or less we may be unable to buy many products that we have bought in the past. We certainly will need to produce more of our living at home. We will need to produce meat, dairy and poultry products, and oil crops for sale. The real question is 'Can we do all that we need to do?'

"I have tried to state my own views with respect to these questions," he said. "No one of us is always right. Conditions may change. But whatever the final decisions I shall take them, and do the best I can to contribute my part. I have always found that same spirit prevailing among the North Carolina people."

The meeting was sponsored by the Pitt County Farm Bureau.

Dr. M. T. Frizzle, president of the Pitt County Farm Bureau, presided. Mayor Bruce Sugg welcomed visitors. Jasper E. Winslow, president of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, introduced Hutson.

Others on the program were the Rev. George W. Perry; Flake Shaw, executive director of the State Farm Bureau; Carroll D. Lewis, director of the East Central division of the AAA; G. T. Scott of the State AAA; George W. Goodman, assistant director of the State Extension Division; E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer; C. L. Chambers and Mr. Johnson of the U. S. extension service, Washington; Dr. J. Y. Joyner of LaGrange; Dr. L. R. Meadows, president of East Carolina Teacher College; Joe Williams, assistant secretary of the N. C. Farm Bureau Federation; and Floyd F. Hendrix, Pitt County Farm Agent.

A barbecue supper was served on the college campus at the conclusion of the meeting.

light attacks on British cities. The others are the four-motored Heinkel 177, which carries eight tons of bombs, and the Focke-Wulf 190—a speedy fighter equipped to carry light bombs.

Moscow, Sept. 14—(AP)—The Rumanian oil field center of Ploesti was left in flames as a result of a bombing attack last night by Russian planes, the Moscow radio reported today.

Bucharest, capital of Rumania, and Koenigsberg in Eastern Prussia, also were said to have been Red air raiders' targets.

Thirty-three fires, accompanied by heavy explosions, broke out in Bucharest, the announcement said. Five blasts were observed in the vicinity of a military barracks, arsenal and the Rumanian War Ministry.

Six large fires were reported started in Ploesti.

Other Rumanian towns—not named in the broadcast—also were said to have been bombed.

All but one Soviet bomber returned to its base, the radio said.

HITLER TO GET FRENCH LABOR

All French Man And Woman Power Is Subject to Draft

Vichy, Sept. 14 (AP) French employers were ordered to stand by today to assemble crews of workmen—apparently for shipment to Germany—under a sweeping new compulsory labor law which the Vichy government intimated it had secured to avert the possibility of even more stringent action by the Germans.

Subject to the law are all able-bodied Frenchmen between the ages of 18 and 50 and unmarried French women between 21 and 35. Persons in these categories unable to prove they are engaged in work "useful to the country's needs" may be drafted "to effect all labors which the government will judge useful in the higher interests of the nation."

Morning newspapers broke the news of the new law to the people under single column heads and in second position to long accounts of fighting in Russia, the British advance in Madagascar and Marshal Petain's trip Saturday to the Air Department.

The text of the decree appeared on inside pages of the four-page morning editions.

The law, effective with its publication this morning, also provides total state control of employment and working conditions, giving the government power to fix salaries and working hours. Untrained persons may be compelled to attend vocational schools which employers are obliged to set up.

A semi-official statement said the measure was dictated by "hard necessities, both national and international," and that labor would be called upon to make many sacrifices, but it recalled that "even more serious measures have been taken in other countries of very recent date."

"The present law," it said, "will permit us to prevent their being extended to us."

(This may have been a reference to the action taken by the Germans last week in instituting conscription of manpower in the conquered Duchy of Luxembourg.)

There is no limitation on where persons drafted for labor under the law may be sent, although full details on how it would be applied were not published at once. Still uncertain was the question of how foreigners resident in France would be affected.

Infractions of the law are punishable by prison sentences ranging up to five years and by fines up to 30,000 gold francs. These penalties may be doubled in the case of second offenders.

Negro Soldier Gets Throat Cut In Row

Police are holding Robert Lee Williams, Negro, without bail, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and slashing the throat of James Jones, Negro soldier from Fort Jackson, S. C., Saturday night.

The soldier, according to police mixed himself up in an argument of two others during a gambling game.

The soldier is at Pitt General Hospital. He will recover, unless complications set in, a hospital attendant said.

Taxi Driver Gets 12 Months on Road

Wilson, Sept. 14.—Luther Edwards, white taxicab driver, was sentenced to a year on the roads in Recorder's court here after he was convicted on charges of aiding and abetting in prostitution in hauling a soldier and a girl to a tourist camp near the city for the purpose of prostitution. Evidence showed that Edwards was cruising around in his car with the soldier when he picked up the woman.

Disclosure of the charges came when the woman called police headquarters to complain that her soldier paramour had stolen her pocketbook after the alleged assignation at the road house. The soldier and the woman testified that the taxi driver knew why they were going there.

Solicitor Wade Garner, who seldom comments on a sentence, stated to the court that some weeks ago he had a conference with taxi drivers and owners and warned them that if he found that any of the drivers were guilty of this offense

TRY TO WRECK STREAMLINER

Fast Train Damaged By Twelve Explosions

Creston, Ia., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Twelve explosions rocked the west-bound 12-car Burlington Zephyr streamlined train two and a half miles east of Nodaway, Ia., at 12:26 a. m. today. Burlington officials said passengers escaped injury and damage to the train was slight.

There were about 100 passengers aboard the crack streamliner, which was travelling approximately 70 miles an hour when the explosions occurred, officials here said.

Many of the passengers, asleep at the time, were unaware of the explosions.

The FBI at Des Moines is investigating the cause of the explosions, but James L. Dalton, head of the FBI bureau in Iowa, said the cause was not determined.

Nine of the cars suffered damage. Air brake equipment on three cars was damaged, and the rest suffered damage to undercarriages.

The train did not leave the track. The explosions occurred in flat, level country, and not on any incline or near a bridge.

Emergency repairs were made on the spot. The train, which left Chicago at 5:30 p. m. was due in Omaha at 1:10 a. m., and Denver at 8:30 a. m. The train was held up at Nodaway until 4:27 a. m. and arrived in Omaha at 7:37 a. m. Passengers were transferred to another train and continued to Denver.

The damaged cars were sent back to the Burlington yards at East Aurora, Ill., for further inspection and repair.

Judge Roberts Has Long Docket Today

The usual parade of drunks appeared in Recorder's court today to pay the increased fine announced recently by Judge J. W. H. Roberts, he would ask for a straight out road sentence.

raise—it was 20 days in jail or $30. W. J. Langston, white tenant farmer, up on a drunk charge, has to serve 30 days in jail or pay $15 fine, costs deducted, and he was found guilty of larceny. He was charged with stealing $50 from the person of Edward Harrell. Judge Roberts gave him six months on the roads, judgment to be suspended on payment of $25 fine and to reimburse Harrell with $50.

Other drunks: Zeb Anderson, Lester McKnight, Carl Chatham, Edward Harrell, all white; Melissus Sneak, Ebron Harris, Louis Hodges and James Roberson all colored. 30 days or $15 fine, costs deducted. Lester McKnight drew 30 days in jail.

John Rogers, colored, double parking, $5 on costs.

Lillian Jones and Magnolia Harris, colored, mutual affray. Lillian Jones, 30 days or court costs; Magnolia Harris not guilty. The affray resulted when the Harris woman accused the other woman of "messing" with her husband.

Paul Linwood Vincent, driving drunk, three months on roads or $50 fine, license suspended.

Harry (Boy) Carr, colored, disorderly conduct and damaging personal property, three months on roads, judgment suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. Carr was drunk and threw a brick through a window of his sister's home in Newtown, it was testified. He was also found guilty of assault on a female and given 30 days in jail or $25 fine, costs deducted, the jail terms to run concurrently.

Wilbur Davis, colored, charged with a crime against nature on a four-year-old colored girl, was held under $3,000 bond for appearance at the next term of criminal Superior Court.

Legion Will Meet Tuesday Night At 7

Post No. 39 American Legion will meet at the cafeteria at the high school tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. Commander Willard T. Kyzer will preside. Supper will be served. Important matters will come up for consideration. All members are invited to attend.

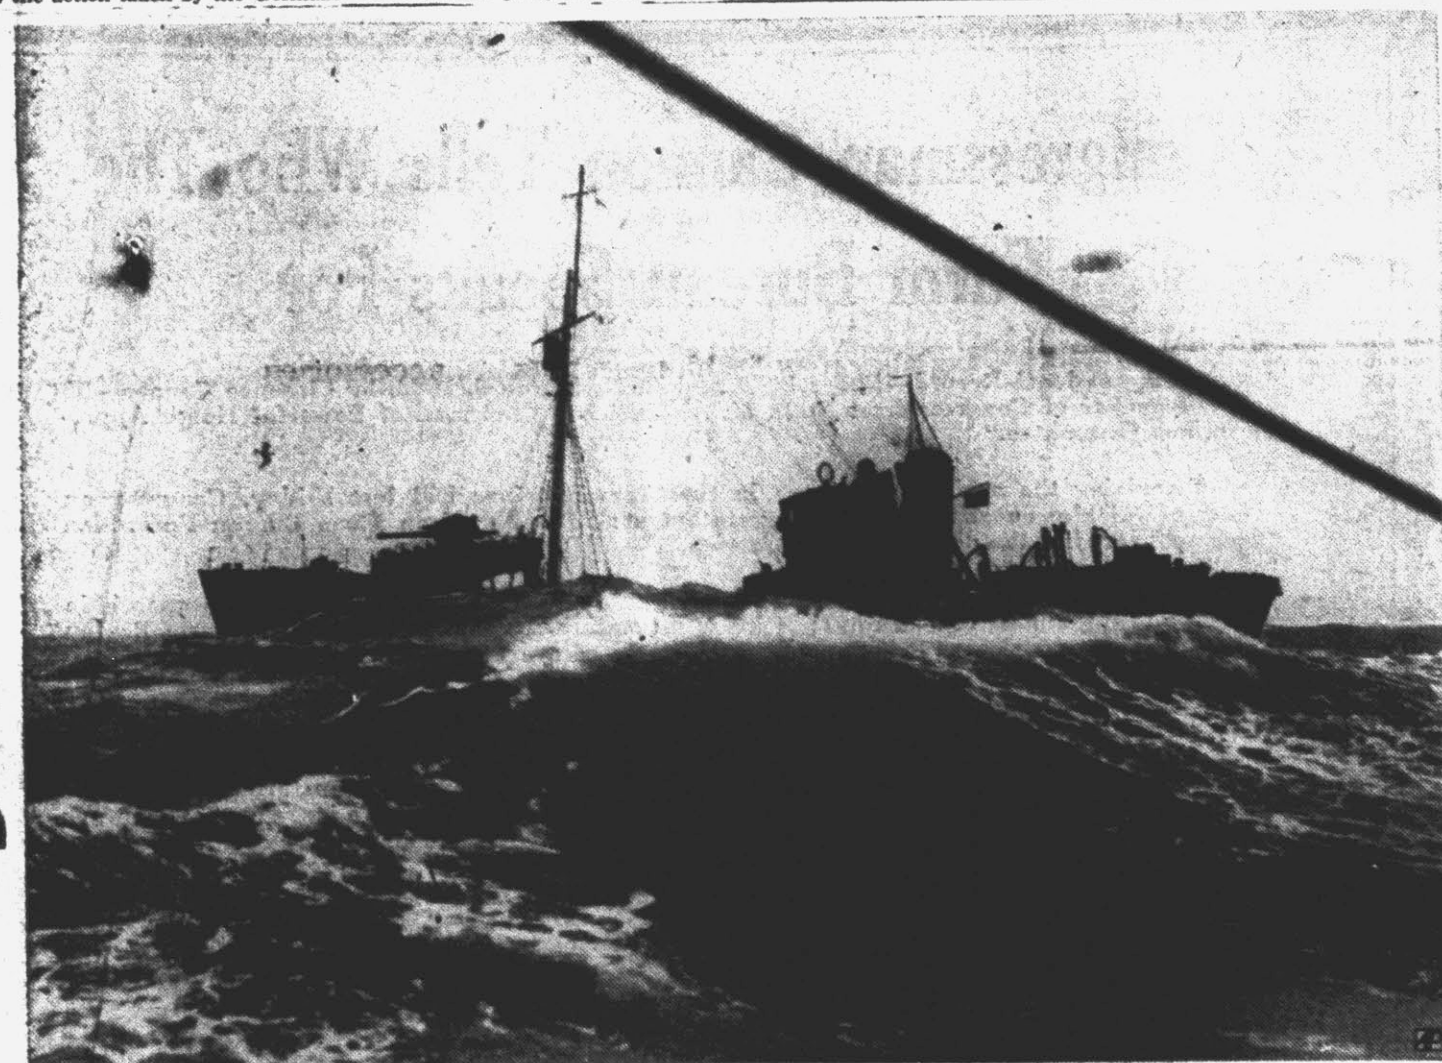

Brazil was the only South American republic to declare war on Germany in the First World War.

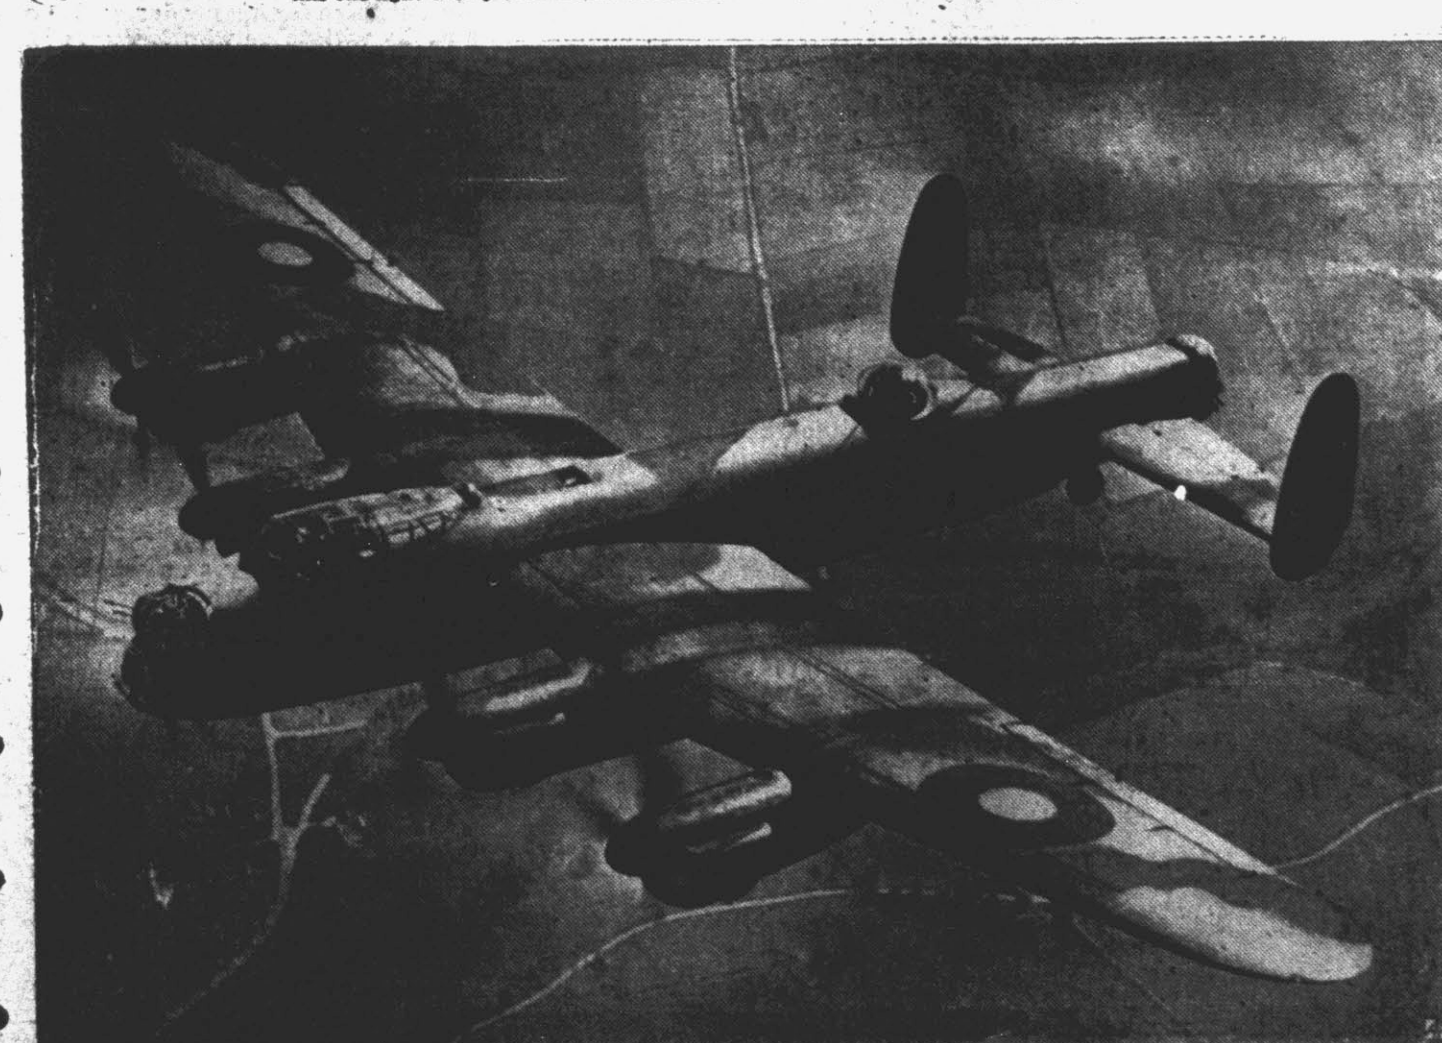

These are three striking rescue scenes on the Bay of Bengal last April when Jap dive bombers sank the British cruisers Cornwall and Dorsetshire, sending them to the bottom with 43 hits within 20 minutes of each other. It was the first experience of the British with carrier-based Jap fighters. These pictures show crewmen of the Dorsetshire. Left, they wait calmly—some swimming and others holding to rafts—as a destroyer moves in to pick them up. Some are crowded in life boats. Right, a boatload of survivors nears the destroyer. Of the two crews, 1100 were reported saved.

Smoke billows from the U. S. Navy transport Wakefield, formerly the passenger liner Manhattan, as she was swept by fire at sea September 3 while operating in a westbound Atlantic convoy. This official navy photograph, taken from another ship in the convoy, shows a destroyer (left) speeding forward on a rescue mission. More than 1,600 on board finally were removed without loss of life.

HEAVY SEA—The British armed trawler Kingston Amber battles heavy seas on a northern patrol job. Former fishing boats like this one fight enemy submarines and aircraft along Arctic and Atlantic supply routes.

BRITAIN'S FAMED LANCASTER BOMBER—Many squadrons of the RAF are now equipped with four-engined Lancaster bombers such as this one. The British call the Lancaster the backbone of the RAF striking force.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

DOES MONEY GET YOU?
A friend of mine once received a check made out for "Fifty Dollars and No Sense."
There used to be an odd character in the days of the oil boom in northwestern Pennsylvania who became immensely wealthy in a few years. He would give dinners to his friends costing thousands of dollars, tip waiters with hundred dollar bills, buy the horse and carriage from a passing hackman and give the beast and the vehicle back to the man from whom he had bought them at the end of the first ride. This was the case of a million dollars and no sense.

A woman died in one of our large cities a few years ago leaving a fortune of more than fifteen million dollars. She had no idea how much she had—in fact was so oblivious of the whole thing that she lived on a few thousand dollars a year and died without making a will. Her estate has been in litigation ever since. This was a case of fifteen million dollars and no sense.

It takes plenty of work and ability to get money, but it takes even more of both to prevent money getting you. Jesus said that they who had riches would hardly enter the kingdom of heaven—if they did it would be by the skin of their teeth.

I wonder if it was ignorance or a slight insight into the true nature of things which led someone to send my friend a check for Fifty Dollars and No Sense?

BLACKOUT

The term is descriptive of what is happening in the world today.

Blackout means much more than doing without artificial light. It is a symbol of the gradual destruction of human advancement. It means the breaking up of families, the death of millions of innocent people, the destruction of a free education and religious system. It is the forerunner of a type of government that makes slaves of all the people it touches.

Blackout symbolizes the end of civilization as we have known it. It is an ominous word. In a country like ours, imagination cannot conceive of the terror that follows in its wake. Blackout is the forerunner of a new type of enemy invasion that wherever successful, actually does black out, or wipe out individual identity, opportunity, savings, family relations—for the children become mere pawns of the state—freedom of speech, freedom of worship, private enterprise—everything that symbolizes America.

The fact that large sections of this nation are now living under dim-out and blackout regulations is a warning—an ominous shadow of what we face if we do not crush the forces that have caused almost a total blackout of the rest of the world.

There would be little labor trouble, or politics—usual if the people could visualize what blackout means. It's mere shadow should be crushed to cement this nation into one irresistible unit of opposition.

Washington Daybook

Washington.—The air raid drills are getting a little monotonous in many cities. Almost any honest civilian defense official will tell you that that is one of the commonest complaints he hears.

But from now on, it's a complaint that will be heard much less often in many sections. The Civil Air Patrol is providing the "kicker" that takes all the dullness out of them.

Already in Worcester, Mass., and Birmingham, Ala., the CAP has given the bomb-duckers, the air raid wardens, the auxiliary firemen and police, the first aid station workers and the ambulance drivers something to think about.

They have "bombed" the daylight hours of military objectives and civilian areas in those two cities and in both cases the experiment has proved so successful that many cities in danger zones may get a taste of it soon.

Details of the "bombing" of Worcester and Birmingham now are being spread on the record here by Maj. Earle L. Johnson, national commander of the CAP, and under his direction plans are being perfected for giving other strategic cities a taste of what they might expect if the enemy got tough with our civilian bombers.

In Birmingham, to CAP planes of the Alabama Wing, loaded with bags of sawdust bombs (the CAP used two-pound sacks of flour in the first experiments but after they had knocked a few civilians on the noggin, they switched to sawdust) descended on the city from all directions.

No Flying Fortress raid on Germany or Japan could have been more thoroughly worked out. Each pilot, working from gridded maps, had his objective and the red sacks (for incendiaries) and the yellow sacks (for demolition bombs) that rained on Birmingham left no doubt in the minds of public and civilian defense workers alike that it could happen here.

War plants were wrecked. The homes of workers were blasted in a sawdust shower. One big apartment building was blown half away and rescue crews evacuated the "dead" and "wounded." Ambulances rushed the latter to first-aid stations and hospitals.

Fire fighting crews battled the "incendiaries." And according to reports, Birmingham and Worcester got a taste of what it might be like.

It's one thing—in a blackout—to turn out the lights and go to bed and forget about it. It's quite another to see a yellow bag hurtling into your front yard and realize that if that were a bomb, it would mean an end of life for you and yours. It's something else, too, to have a red "incendiary" thud on the roof and realize that if it were real, only your own training and the speedy action of the firefighters in your neighborhood could save your home from the ash heap.

These simulated bombings of strategic cities in the coastal and border areas are just a little sideline the Civil Air Patrol has worked up in its spare time. It might prove a more valuable stimulus to air raid defense than anything that has been devised.

The WAR TODAY

(though not "supremacy") in the air, and he must answer this allied challenge to domination—for two reasons:

1. His vital industrial centers are being devastated systematically by Royal Air Force and American bombing on a big scale. Moreover, his rail transport is being cut to pieces. That's a bad combination—loss of essential manufactures, and lack of transportation facilities for the supplies still available.

2. If Hitler is to protect himself against a land invasion of western Europe, he must control the air, just as the Allies must control it if they are to put an expeditionary army ashore. He certainly doesn't dominate it now, and Major Carl Spaatz, commander of U. S. Army air forces in Europe, declares our Flying Fortresses are the key to aerial mastery.

For long weeks now Hitler has stood by in apparent meekness and seen his resources disappear in the deluge of allied bombs; he has seen some of his proudest cities all but wiped out. Only last night a strong force of British bombers was over the great port of Bremen again, while Russian planes were strafing eastern Germany. But his meekness has been seeming and not real, for there's nothing sicker about this man who would be emperor of all mankind.

The cold fact is that Hitler has had to use virtually every available war plane in his efforts to subdue the volcanic Reds. As reported in this column recently, a high allied source told me of a certainty that the Nazis are short of planes, short of gasoline and oil, and very short of pilots. Additional proof of this is seen in the fact that Marshal Rommel wasn't able to get the air support he needed for his new drive against Egypt, although that operation is an essential part of the Nazi pincers movement against the Middle East.

However, approaching winter will see a slackening of the fighting in the Caucasus, and Hitler will be able to release planes for operations elsewhere. He also will have recently manufactured machines ready for action. Besides the sub-sonic bombers, these include a four-motored Heinkel 177 which carries eight tons of bombs—the equal of Britain's biggest planes. Then there is the Pöckel-Wulf 190, which is a fast, bomb-carrying fighter.

All this should provide a mighty urge for Uncle Sam's builders of warplanes. Our task of production is all the greater because our air-fleet now is in action in all sectors of this global war. The number of planes we produce between now and spring will have much to do with the length of time it will take to crush the enemy.

Allied Airmen . . .

countered. Another bomber unit attacked the base at Salamaua. Lae and Salamaua are the two main Japanese bases on New Guinea.

Only the day before American and Australian airmen dropped 26 tons of bombs on the Japanese base at Buna, New Guinea, where the Japanese landed for their advance on Port Moresby.

Harriman Returns To England.
London, Sept. 14 (AP)—W. Averell Harriman returned to London today from the United States, where he went to report to President Roosevelt on the Moscow Stalin-Churchill conferences of early August. Harriman was the President's representative at the Moscow discussions.

WILDERNESS GIRL

By LETA ZOE ADAMS

Chapter 23

No Hope

With racing pulse she snatched up the light and turned it into the exposed hole. She saw a crypt chiseled out of the limestone, and in it was a tube-like parcel bound with dry reeds. She recalled that Huncode had referred to the codex as an "urn," but since he had never seen it she knew he could have been mistaken about its form.

As Tyra lifted the parcel from the crypt she heard, quite distinctly, the whisper-of-taffeta sound that had attracted her notice when she first entered the cavern. The reed-bound parcel was surprisingly light in weight, but then a manuscript would be, she reflected.

She hugged the prize with one hand and, snatching up the flashlight, scrambled to her feet. Then, involuntarily, she let out a scream. She did not know what it was she saw, at first, only that it was something horrible. Eyes, hundreds of eyes like gleaming points of light advancing toward her along the floor of the cavern. And wriggling bodies, scaly and slimy. With an instinct of self-preservation she backed against the altar and sent the torch in a wide sweep around the cavern.

The eyes and slithering bodies were on all sides of her. They were snakes! "Yellow-jaws!" Tyra uttered, on a horror-stricken breath. One of the most poisonous snakes in Mexico, and the most aggressive!

They were showing their character now. They were moving as though prompted, by one idea, one goal. To reach the altar. To reach her!

Tyra did not know that she screamed again until she heard the echo come back from the walls of the cavern. She collected her scattered wits and started toward the entrance, only to fall back before the oncoming horde. Some of the snakes had their jaws open now. She could see the forked tongues flickering beneath the cold, glittering eyes. She retreated to the altar and climbed upon it. They could not reach her there, for a few minutes.

Relentlessly they came on. There must be hundreds, hundreds, she reflected. The guardians of the codex. The priests of the Serpent God. They had killed Gonzales soldiers. And do what she might they would kill her!

She stared at the sea of bodies fascinated by the horror of her approaching doom.

Missing Girl
When Sandy and Mr. Fleming had decided upon the sites for the new huts they returned to the center of the camp to find Gil there. A brief conference was held.

"I think we'd all better drop everything else and build the huts," Fleming said. "I'll round up my Yaquis and put them to work getting out bamboo and palm fronds. We white men can clear the site and do the constructing."

Sandy nodded acquiescence and Fleming went off. Sandy turned to Gil. "Where is Helen? Didn't she want to come over here?"

"She wasn't up when I left, chief. I talked to her through the tent. She said she didn't feel well and for me not to wait. She'll come along later."

"Don't know that we should leave her alone, but I guess she can whistle if anything happens. And she has her revolver."

It was Sandy's private opinion that Helen's "illness" was a mental condition due to her feeling about the Flemings.

Gil was glancing around the camp. "Where is Tyra? I don't see her around."

Sandy felt clamps harden his jaw, but he tried to answer casually. "She was here when I first came over. Probably went in her hut."

Just then Fleming came charging back, one of the Yaquis in his wake. "Say, you fellows, Manuel met Tyra up above carrying toward the Mayan city and carrying flashlight and axe. She told him she intended to dig guaca roots, but there's no yuca up that way, and besides she wouldn't need the camp axe and a flashlight. She's up to something. Any idea what it is?"

Sandy and Gil shook their heads. Sandy said, "She shouldn't go off alone like that."

Fleming fired his gaze upon Sandy. "You were talking to her down by the stream. Sure she didn't say anything about what she intended to do?"

"Not a thing," Sandy stated, but a ripple of apprehension passed through his body. She had said: "I've bungled everything."

"She didn't say she was going to hunt that Rosetta-stone of yours, did she?" Fleming insisted, still fixing Sandy with a hard gaze.

It seemed to Sandy as though his blood congealed in his veins. He had accused her of putting her own interests first. It wasn't possible that she had set out to prove he was wrong!

"Good God," he burst out. "She wouldn't go to the Chamber of the Serpent God!"

To The Rescue
"I don't know," Fleming said, snatching his words off. "But I do know this. Last night she confessed to me that she was in love with you, Morse. Blamed dear bowed his over—and she also told me that she was afraid for you to return to that limestone cavern—it's just like her to go and find the codex herself!"

It was like her, Sandy saw that. If she did love him she wouldn't hesitate to prove it.

"Come on," he croaked out. "We've got to catch her before she reaches the altar room!"

No one waited to argue. It was enough that there was a possibility Tyra had exposed herself to the wrath of the mysterious Priests of the Serpent God. Machetes and flashlights were snatched, ammunition replenished. Fleming barked an order for one of the Yaquis to remain in camp, then led by Manuel the five remaining men moved swiftly toward the pyramids.

Driven by the passion in his heart, Sandy, who was ahead, outstripped the others so that by the time he reached the entrance to the stalactite cavern they were still on the level above.

He stepped through the door way and sent the wedge of his torch upon the altar.

"Tyra!" His words were stopped, for he had seen the writhing floor—the yellow-jaws converging upon the altar where stood that slim, so vulnerable figure.

Her voice came out to him, clear and urgent. "Don't come any further! Don't!"

Sandy's light went over the floor again. Great God! The place was alive with the brutes! His brain began turning over a thousand revolutions a second.

"Get as high as you can on the altar. . . I'll think of a way to get you out of there!"

Tyra's voice came back, higher, more clear. "You mustn't, Sandy! Listen! I have your codex. I'll throw it across to you—then go away. You can't help me. . . don't try! Sandy did not answer. He had seen the way she jerked her legs that one of the snakes, at least, had reached the altar. He thought she must have been bitten and something inside of him went completely out of the bounds of reason.

Congressman Cannon Tells Who The Farm Bureau Speaks For

"Congressional Record—Pages 2076 and 2077, March 6, 1942, by Clarence Cannon—30 years Member of Congress from State of Missouri and Chairman of Powerful House Appropriations Committee."

Discussing the agricultural items in the Appropriations Bill last Friday, Congressman Hook of Michigan made the following statement: "The American Farm Bureau Federation does not represent the dirt farmer of America."

The statement was challenged by Congressman Clarence Cannon in an able speech in which he said, among other things: "I know intimately the membership of the Farm Bureau throughout my district. . . It is made up exclusively of average farmers. . .

"Mr. Chairman, I can tell you who the Farm Bureau represents. And I do not speak from hearsay. It represents the tenant farmer. The tenant farmers make up a large part of the membership of any Farm Bureau you can name anywhere in the nation. It represents the farmer with a mortgage on his farm. . . The Farm Bureau represents the farmer whose wife works at farm tasks from dawn till dusk and whose children must do a large part of the work for which the farmer is unable to provide hired labor. Mr. Chairman, there are no more enthusiastic members of the Farm Bureau than the farmers' wives, because they realize better than anyone else what the Farm Bureau has done to alleviate the lot of the women and children on the American farm."

"Mr. Chairman, what does the gentleman who makes this assertion know about the Farm Bureau? He has never lived on a farm since he was born. He has never attended a meeting of the Farm Bureau in his life."

"Mr. Chairman, why this sudden, sporadic criticism of the Farm Bureau this morning? The answer is simple. The Farm Bureau is getting results. It is not only representing the small farmer, but it is representing him effectively. It is securing a decent price for his products. It is securing a living wage for his labor. It is at last giving him parity with those who for years have been living at his expense."

"Who secured the enactment of parity payments and appropriations to make them effective? The Farm Bureau. Ed O'Neal personally solicited and secured the last 12 votes needed after those in charge of the bill had given up hope. I know, because I was in charge of the bill at the time. Not another farm leader—not another farm organization lifted a finger to put over that legislation. . .

"Who secured the legislation guaranteeing the farmer 85 per cent of parity. Ask Senator Bankhead of Alabama, who led the remarkable battle for that legislation, and he will tell you that without Ed O'Neal and the Farm Bureau it could not have been passed."

"Every farmer in the United States who received a parity check is under obligation to the Farm Bureau for that check. Ed O'Neal and the Farm Bureau handed it to him—only a small part of what he had actually earned, but that much on account. Who was the Farm Bureau representing when it secured the enactment of that legislation? It was representing every farmer who got a check—every farmer who got a decent price for his products and a decent wage for his labor."

"Ed O'Neal has rendered a greater service to agriculture and to the country as a whole than many Senators, Governors, Cabinet officers, and Congressmen by the score who object to the Farm Bureau because it has secured legislation under which the farmer cannot be exploited by those who want to take his products away from him at less than the cost of production. God bless him. He will be remembered with gratitude when the vast majority of those in the legislative limelight today are as completely forgotten as the men who lived before the flood."

Cardinals Take Lead Over Dodgers In Pennant Race

NATIONAL WINNER TO FACE YANKS

Yanks May Clinch American League Flag Today

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers are beginning to look like a couple of playboys with empty pockets fighting for the check in a night club, and it might be that they're just discovered. The New York Yankees are about to clinch the American league pennant.

You know, the National league winner has to take on the Yanks in the world series, and in five of the last six years that has turned out to be about as hilarious as a champagne hangover.

Oh, sure, the National leaguers always have shown up for the series, but on several occasions in the past they might as well have "stood in bed." And now the hour has arrived when the Yanks can put the clincher on the 1942 flag. A victory in Cleveland today or a loss for the Boston Red Sox in Chicago gives the Yanks their sixth pennant in seven years.

There were few signs during yesterday's firing that either the collapsible Flatbush Folies or the hot-and-cold Cardinals were any too eager to get in there with the Yankees. As a matter of fact, the Dodgers, after three days of dropping their shirts on at a time, came completely apart at the seams.

They blew up louder than a case of home brew in losing both ends of a doubleheader to Cincinnati, 6-3, and 4-1. It's probably a lucky thing they're able to close for repairs until Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the Cards looked somewhat better in splitting a bargain bill with the Philadelphia Phils to take a one-game edge in the race. But with a chance to double that bulge they handed the first game to the Phils, 2-1. They did it, mind you, on a couple of errors with two out in the ninth.

After that, they took the nightcap, 3 to 2, when Terry Moore broke a tie with his fifth homer of the year.

Brooklyn's efforts weren't nearly that close. In the first game Bucky Walters pitched a six-hitter and swatted a jackpot three-run double. Ray Starr, who has been about as tough for Brooklyn in the past as a walk through the park, suddenly became a Mathewson in the nightcap and hurled a five-hitter.

In this "contest" the Dodgers' fielding—as well as their pitching, hitting and good portion of their college try—went by-bye. Third baseman Lew Riggs committed three errors in one inning to help the Reds along.

This tied a modern National league record but before this afternoon was over the mark was broken. The "hero" was young Lennie Merullo, the Chicago Cubs' shortstop. Apparently excited over becoming a new papa, Lennie fumbled four in one frame of the second game with the Boston Braves, but Chicago managed to hang on for a 12 to 8 triumph. The Braves took the opener, 11 to 6.

The Yankees arrived at the pennant doorstep by mowing down Cleveland, 9-1 and 4-1 behind Red Ruffing and Hank Borowy. The Red Sox also clicked twice over the Chicago White Sox 6-1 and 5-0 with Bill Butland winning his seventh in a row in the first and Tex Hughson collecting his 19th of the year in the afterpiece.

Otherwise, the clubs were just playing out the string. The New

Richmond Wins Off Portsmouth

Charlotte, Sept. 14. (AP)—Richmond's Colts held a 3 to 1 lead over Portsmouth today in their Shaughnessy playoff series.

In the fourth game yesterday the Colts came from behind to tie the score at 3-all in the seventh, and then went on to win in the 14th inning.

The winner will play the Greensboro Red Sox, Piedmont league pennant winner who eliminated Charlotte in four straight games.

Meanwhile, Business Manager Phil Hower of the Charlotte Hornets said that Washington (parent club of the Hornets) had ordered the release of Harry Smythe, pitcher-manager.

Ferrell May Be Out Of Baseball

Newport News, Va., Sept. 14. (AP)—Wes Ferrell, the highly vocal former American league pitcher, headed toward his Carolina home and possible banishment from baseball today.

Ferrell, now managing Lynchburg of the Virginia league, brought his club here yesterday for the playoffs but when Umpire Winston Milan banished his shortstop in the first inning the ex-major leaguer ordered his club off the field and started back home.

C. R. Williams, league president, fined Ferrell $200 and suspended him indefinitely. Williams said that Ferrell would not play any more this season and that he would leave it up to W. G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, to determine when Ferrell might return to organized baseball.

Williams as "unpardonable" and his attitude toward the fans and umpires as "insulting." The manager in turn, declared the "unpardonable" and the president of the league just doesn't seem to know baseball.

Newport News officials refunded admissions to approximately 1,400 fans. Shortstop Bobby Deese, declared out by Milan on a close play at first to set off the fireworks, was fined $15 by Williams.

30 OUT OF 36
The rush which lifted the St. Louis Cards into first place in the National League—they went ahead Sunday by breaking even with the Phils while the Dodgers were losing two to the Reds—produced 30 victories in 36 games. The Dodgers' fall from the top came as a result of the Cards' rush and Brooklyn's loss of five in a row and seven of the last nine games. Over the same 36-game stretch in which the Cards won 30 the Dodgers won 20 while losing 16.

Mountain Boys Replace Crew Of U.S.S. Asheville

From the valleys and the coasts, hardy mountain boys flocked to Asheville, N. C., and joined the navy in response to a call for 160 seamen to replace the crew of the sunken U. S. S. Asheville, 1,270-ton gunboat lost by enemy action last March 3 in the Java sea. This picture shows the enlistees taking the oath in an Asheville auditorium.

SUB FAILS TO GET CAPTAIN

Master Of Torpedoed Ship Conceals Identity

By The Associated Press
The skipper of a Panamanian merchant vessel, whose torpedoing by a submarine off the coast of So. America was announced today by the Navy, possibly saved himself from being taken prisoner aboard the undersea craft by refusing to identify himself.

When the U-boat surfaced and inquired about the master, Captain Axel Broner warned those in the lifeboat to keep silent, he said in an east coast port interview.

"When they asked for me, I just wasn't there," he said. "The Germans played the game fair enough. They asked us if we had water and provisions and gave up a tin for sailing our boat. They took the second officer aboard for questioning about the ship and our destination but released him."

Since June, the Navy has announced a total of 11 ship captains made prisoner by submarines, apparently in an effort to create a shortage of skilled masters. The sinking, late in August, brought to 465 the Associated Press tabulation of United Nations and neutral ships announced as sunk in the Western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor.

All 46 members of the crew were rescued safely. Sinkings of Allied merchantmen announced last week included two American vessels, two British, one Mexican, one Polish, but 327 others were rescued and landed at United Nations ports. Seven persons, including three skippers and an engineer who were taken aboard submarines, were reported missing. The captains were taken aboard raiders in what Maritime circles believe is a policy of imprisoning key mariners in an effort to drain the Allied supply of men capable of directing United Nations cargo craft. Dispatches from Carlisle Bay, Barbados, over the weekend said that an enemy raider fired five torpedoes on vessels moored on the British West Indies island while under fire from shore batteries. It was reported that there were no casualties.

Maximum Prices For Peanut Stack Nails

Maximum prices which may be charged by distributors and dealers for nails made available to Pitt county farmers for attaching cross arms to peanut stack poles have been set by the Office of Price Administration, according to J. V. Taylor, chairman of the county USDA war board. Supplies of nails to be used specifically for this purpose were allocated to peanut producing states in July by the War Production Board, the chairman said. Farmers purchasing these nails must certify that they will be used only for this purpose. Under the price system announced by OPA, Chairman Taylor said, distributors specifically allocated such cut nails must not sell them for more than delivered cost from the mill plus 50 cents per keg. Retailers who have purchased such nails from these distributors must not sell them to users at a price higher than delivered cost plus 75 cents per keg. Sales by any other seller will be the price approved by the OPA after application of the seller. The prices set forth by the OPA are for nails made available to Pitt county farmers for attaching cross arms to peanut stack poles have been set by the Office of Price Administration, according to J. V. Taylor, chairman of the county USDA war board.

Chairman Taylor said North Carolina peanut producers were asked to grow 320,000 acres of peanuts for oil this year as a substitute for vegetable oils formerly imported from the Far East. It is estimated that farmers of Pitt county will harvest approximately 8,000 acres of peanuts for oil.

Shark's liver, weighing ¼ of the total weight of the shark, contains as much as 80 per cent of vitamin-rich oil.

Report Landing Party Wiped Out

Berlin (From German Broadcasts) Sept. 14—(AP)—The high command said today that a British detachment of seven men attempted to land on the French coast east of Cherbourg Saturday night, but their boat was sunk by shellfire and all were killed or captured.

A communique reporting the incident said:

"During the night of Sept. 12, a British platoon consisting of five officers, one sergeant major and one private attempted to land east of Cherbourg.

"Before they reached shore they were discovered, shelled and their boat was sunk by a direct hit.

"Three British officers and one De Gaulle naval officer were taken prisoner, and the bodies of a major, a sergeant major and one private were recovered."

New York, Sept. 14—(AP)—The Berlin radio broadcast today a Transocean news dispatch reporting that a "British landing attempt" in the region of Cherbourg had been frustrated, "with the participants either killed or captured." There was no immediate confirmation from any other source.

To Limit Use Of Fertilizer

Washington, Sept. 14—(AP)—The War Production Board today limited delivery and use of chemical fertilizers, important in the production of numerous farm products, in order to conserve nitrogen for vital war production.

WPB prohibited the use of nitrogen fertilizer of golf courses, cemeteries, lawns, roadsides, and non-commercial planting of trees, shrubs, and flowers, and established many restrictions on its use for other purposes.

Six Axis Planes Downed In Egypt

Cairo, Sept. 14—(AP)—British fighter planes damaged at least six Axis aircraft in four minor engagements over the El Alamein front yesterday, but said activity was confined to artillery exchanges, in the southern sector, British headquarters announced today.

During the previous night, the bulletin said, British patrols harassed enemy positions and working parties in the northern and central areas.

Sunday Party Ends In Fatal Shooting

Abron (David) Sumrell, Negro tenant farmer, on Medias Teel's farm on the other side of the river, fatally shot Louis Brown, employee at one of the tobacco warehouses, last night. Brown died in a short time. Sumrell in being held without bond, charged with the shotgun killing.

Sumrell and Brown had been together much of the day. They attended church and had a few drinks at Sumrell's home, authorities stated. The shooting occurred in front of Sumrell's house. His wife, on the porch and a white man passing in a car, were the only witnesses.

4 Greenville Boys Training As Pilots

Maxwell Field, Ala., Sept. 11—Four young men from Greenville, N. C., are now enrolled as aviation cadets in the Army Air Forces School for Pilots, located on the outskirts of Montgomery, capital of Alabama.

Upon completion of their course at Maxwell Field these cadets will enter one of the many primary flying schools in the Southeast Army Air Forces Training Center. The men include Cadets Wilbur Hyman Brown, Noah Warren Carroll, Route 2, Charles T. Futrell, and Thomas Eugene Wilson.

American farmers annually require commercial fertilizer containing enough nitrogen to supply 8 million 24-foot torpedoes.

EXPECT CALL MARRIED MEN

Those With Dependents May be Called Next Year

Asbury Park, N. J., Sept. 14 (AP) Major General Lewis B. Hershey, national director of Selective Service, thinks the war is getting closer to married men with children and to youths of 18 and 19.

"We can't call a recess in this war until people grow up," General Hershey told New Jersey Legionnaires yesterday, referring to forecasts that the younger men would be drafted soon. "Prospects of a very large mobilization seem in the cards for next year."

"We will have to come to the realization that there are not enough single men, that there are not enough married men with out dependents for the mobilization, say between million and thirteen million in the United States."

tion of all safeguards in the Fair Labor Standards Act. Brown said he and Senator Warner (D-Ky.), co-author of the bill, had found it impossible thus far to perfect provisions which would place floors under wages and farm prices. He added that Chairman Steagall (D-Ala.) might offer in his chamber a bill providing for a floor under farm prices.

Brown said the President's general stabilization authority would be broad enough so that he could deal with such factors as proposed utility rate increases. The general powers, he commented, would be "as broad as anybody wants them in that respect."

He said he had explained the bill to many senators and had yet to encounter any opposition. He indicated that the tentative draft also was acceptable to the President.

Brown said the President's control over wages and salaries would be broad enough to cover pay increases given voluntarily by employers. It would cover salaries as well as wages. The controls would not apply to applications for wage increases now pending before the War Labor Board.

The measure also would extend operation of the Price Control Act for one year from June 30, 1943. Brown explained that the new measure would contain provisions similar to those in the Price Control law by which the act could be suspended by a concurrent resolution of Congress or by presidential proclamation.

Labor controls were added after experienced legislators became convinced that farm state lawmakers would balk at trimming price ceilings below 110 per cent of parity unless a formula for limiting wages was provided too.

Senate Majority Leader Barkley, after a conference between Senate and House leaders yesterday, said there was no intention of establishing price ceilings at less than parity, or the market price of a recent date, whichever was higher.

Barring unforeseen developments, Barkley said, Congress should be able to have the measure on the statute books by the October 1 deadline set by Mr. Roosevelt. The Senate Banking and Currency committee went ahead with plans to open hearings tomorrow. Price Administrator Leon Henderson, William H. Davis of the National War Labor Board and Secretary of Agriculture Wickard were to be the first witnesses, followed by representatives of national farm groups Wednesday. Barkley said he hoped the hearings could be completed in not more than three days.

Negro Charged With Attack On Little Girl

In Recorder's court today probable cause was found against Wilbur Davis, colored, on a charge of a "crime against nature" on Edna Snead, seven-year-old Negro girl, at the home of her grandfather, Jim Pettus, elderly cripple. Judge Roberts ordered Davis held under $3,000 bond for Superior court.

The girl's brother, Junius Snead, witnessed the attack on the girl and was the State's witness.

Bomber Crash Kills Seven

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 14—(AP)—An army bomber crashed a mile from the Columbia Army Air Base yesterday, killing four officers and three enlisted men.

All occupants were killed instantly except Pvt. Roland G. Braun, 23, of Beaver Dam, Wis., who died en route to a hospital. The plane, stationed at the air base, was returning from a routine flight and crashed in making a landing approach. Second Lieut. D. R. Moore, public relations officer, gave the names of the dead. None were from North Carolina.

Saturday. The defending forces had dropped the middle span of the suspension bridge into the river to hold up the British. The most serious fighting for the British possibly was still ahead of them; for the 4,000-foot plateau on which Tananarive is located is said to be the best defended area of Vichy-controlled Madagascar. It is approached by steep, winding roads. The second column was coming up from the southwest of Tananarive after landing at Morondava, on the west coast more than 350 miles air line below Majunga. Sunday's communique said it was proceeding satisfactorily toward Ambohitra, 200 miles air line east of Morondava and 100 miles below Tananarive, but its exact location was not given. A third force, which went into action in northern Madagascar, was disclosed to have occupied Ambanja on Saturday after overcoming slight resistance. No casualties were reported from either side. A delayed message said British troops took Majunga in a 3-hour fight before breakfast on the first day of the campaign. The total cost to both sides there was given as between 30 and 40 casualties.

Russians Still . . . (Continued from Page One)
The Germans, smashed back in a counterattack, but were repulsed and suffered further losses, the communique said. At Voronezh, on the Don river some 300 miles northwest of Stalingrad, the Germans launched an offensive with one infantry division supported by 100 tanks but in the severe fight which developed on the western bank of the river, 2,000 German officers and men were killed or wounded, the Soviet Information Bureau said. Front dispatches said the Russians, ordered to hold Stalingrad or die defending it, were clinging to every pillbox in the defense girdle until hope was gone and then storming out to grapple hand-to-hand with the Germans. In the battle which resulted in the Russian withdrawal southwest of the city, a battalion of German infantry was annihilated, the Russians said.

Second Crop Melons Found Bethel Farm

Children on the W. F.
