Mrs. J. A. Piver entertained at a lovely party Monday afternoon at her home, 1105 Chestnut street, in honor of the sixth birthday of her son, Jimmie Piver, Jr.

Games were played which were loved by Jimmie's teacher, Miss Fullilove. The children were then invited into the dining room, which was attractively decorated for the occasion. Ice cream and cookies were served. The birthday cake was decorated very prettily in pink and white, bearing six candles. Attractive favors were given each child. About twenty enjoyed the party and all wished Jimmie many more happy birthdays.

T. E. L. Class To Meet.
The T. E. L. Class of Memorial Baptist Church will meet tonight at 8 o'clock with Mrs. J. L. Fleming.

West Greenville School Activities.
The first month at West Greenville School has been a very busy one. After class schedules were arranged in each room for the pupils the regular school work for 1942-43 set in.

In addition to our regular studies the entire school is cooperating with Miss Lella Higgs in salvaging scrap metal and rubber for victory. During the past two weeks we have collected 1,850 pounds of scrap metal and 162 pounds of scrap rubber. Some of the rooms are having contests between the boys and girls to see which can bring the most scrap metal and rubber. This plan has greatly increased the number of pounds collected. The scrap metal and rubber will be sold and the proceeds donated to the Red Cross to buy bandages.

This year the school is again selling War Stamps. All the children are urged to buy these stamps. The stamps first went on sale last Monday and the total amount sold the first three days was $21.15. This year West Greenville is going all-out for victory!

In compliment to Mrs. Vance Perkins, who is leaving soon for Farmville, Va., to make her future home, the Junior Woman's Club entertained at tea yesterday afternoon at the club house.

Mrs. Perkins, who for some time has been sponsor for the Junior Woman's Club and for two years its president, was presented two brass prism lamps by the club members.

The Senior club, in which Mrs. Perkins has been active for several years, presented her a silver card tray bearing the inscription, "Remembrance From the Greenville Woman's Club."

Mrs. Bob Moffett presided at the beautifully appointed tea table. She was assisted in serving by Mrs. Charles Flanagan, Mrs. Ray McKenzie and Miss Verda Harris.

Brides-elect Honored.
Misses Dorothy Brinkley and Marie Smith, bride-elect were honored last evening when Mrs. E. G. McMullen and Mrs. B. F. Bullard entertained at bridge at the home of Mrs. Bullard.

Five tables were appointed for the games in a setting of colorful autumn flowers. At the close of the games, the hostesses presented Miss Smith a cold-meat fork in her chosen pattern of silver: to Miss Brinkley, whose fiancé is an aviator in the Navy Air Service, they presented a clock mounted in a model airplane.

SEPTEMBER, OUR SEPTEMBER
September, oh, September, how lovely and serene.
Your shining rays of sunshine upon your olive green.
Ah! month of sun and shadows Across fields, hills and wave.
We greet you, dear September, You are so faithful, so brave.
You come when you are most welcome.

After such an August heat, Your cool morning atmosphere, I'm sure no month can beat.
Your heavy dews at break of dawn Refresh each soul.
And still within your solemn realm Your stately trees and mountains tall.

Surrounded by your beauty (September) and all through the fall, It has been said.
From clay we are molded, Fashioned from His very own.
So September one of His loveliest seasons,
We greet you from sunset until dawn.

an air pump on its engine. Just after the train began moving, railroad headquarters said in describing the crash, the Ambassador, fast express from Detroit to Washington, ploughed into the rear of the train.

Cars buckled and overturned. The Diesel engine on the Ambassador overturned and caught fire, as did a baggage car on the same train. Freight cars jumped the track. Smoke poured from the wreckage.

J. C. McGurdy of Pittsburgh, a mechanic on the wrecked engine, said "I was in the rear of the Diesel when the crash came. The train buckled and windows broke. I picked myself up and crawled out a window to look for the others. I saw Bowman and McClelland (the engineer and fireman) and they were all right. We tried to get other men out of the baggage car, but the wrecked freight started to burn and the fire spread to the baggage car. There wasn't anything we could do. We could see parts of bodies in the baggage car."

Two of those injured and taken to the Frederick, Md., hospital were believed to be Vincent D. Sweeney of Pittsburgh, public relations director of the United Steel workers, and Phil Curran, member of the union's legal staff. Union officials said they boarded the Washington-bound train this morning at Pittsburgh.

Ambulances and fire engines from nearby towns rushed to the scene and one fireman said fire fighters were hampered by lack of water. He described the wreck as "a terrible scene."

A hospital train with doctors and nurses sped to Dickerson from Washington. Governor Herbert R. O'Connor of Maryland said all available state police and state police ambulances were sent to the wreck.

All members of the three train crews were reported safe. The road officials said a flagman had been sent out while the Cleveland train was standing and being repaired, and that he had been recalled as the train started up. An official added that either he neglected to put out a warning torpedo, or that the torpedo had failed to explode.

Investigators were sent out by the safety bureau of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The first injured were taken to Frederick, Md., about 18 miles north. Others were rushed to Hagerstown, 45 miles northwest, and an emergency hospital at the state penitentiary near Hagerstown was made ready to receive still others.

groups in which he said he could find no "spirit of sacrifice," and also by persons who are misled by "the amiable self-deception of using percentages" about munitions production, assume that "we can't lose the war."

The self-deception of percentages was a form of compensation developed after the blow to the national egotism at Pearl Harbor, Bard said, and meant that "if two tanks in a 10,000 tank program rumbled out of a factory where one had before we gloated that production was up 100 per cent."

"We have been wrangling for months over a tax bill for 1942, which in plain language means that we have been fighting over who is going to pay how much for this catastrophe which as engulfed us," he asserted.

"The pressure of rival economic groups each armed with unassailable statistics to show how much that group will suffer injustice if thus and so happens, has ebbed and flowed like the tides for 10 months. I fail to detect a spirit of sacrifice in these groups before Congress."

ECTC Students Are Handy In Kitchen

Because of difficulties in securing enough help to take care of the kitchen and dining room service at the college these first days, the E. C. T. C. student body is "doing its bit" by stacking dishes and clearing tables. Volunteer helpers are making short work of the task of dish-washing.

When Mrs. L. L. Rives, head of the dining halls, asked at the end of the first meal for five men to volunteer to help out with the dish-washing, the response was immediate and generous. Following the lead of the president of Men's Student Government, Evan Griffin, whose hand was the first to go up, practically all the men present indicated their willingness to respond, and departed for the kitchen amid applause from the students.

Many other students are helping in various capacities until other arrangements can be made.

MAY ACT ON FARM LABOR

Consider Legislation To Deal With Problem

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Washington, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Apparently convinced that government officials intend to do nothing now about a farm labor shortage, members of the House Agriculture committee today were reported on the verge of drafting legislation to deal with the problem.

Before taking any such action, however, Chairman Fulmer (D-SC) said the committee would seek the opinion tomorrow of Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, and possibly later that of Paul V. McNutt, war manpower commission head.

"It may be that General Hershey will have some recommendations," Fulmer said. "At any rate, we want to hear his views and try to get an idea of the manpower needs for the armed forces."

After hearing Secretary of Agriculture Wickard warn that failure to relieve the farm labor shortage would make it necessary "in the not too distant future to deal with a shortage of food," Fulmer told reporters:

"The secretary offered us no real solution to the problem which he admitted was grave. It is beginning to look like government officials will not do anything about it until an actual food shortage stares them right in the face. It might be too late then."

Rather than wait until then, Fulmer added, committee members believe they should take "an aggressive attitude" and seek to solve the problem themselves.

What form any proposed legislation would take was highly uncertain. Fulmer himself has advocated payment of higher prices to farmers for their products to enable them to compete in the labor market with war factories. Some form of government subsidy might be necessary to bring this about, he conceded.

Other members have indicated they favored drafting workers and assigning them to fields where they were urgently needed, with selective service officials making the decisions. Still others believe farm labor should be deferred from military service and required to remain on the farms.

In the Kokoda area, between Buna and the Japanese advance

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

A MESSAGE TO GARCIA
Andrew S. Rowan. Ever heard of him? Certainly if you are an American you should have heard of him. If you are past fifty you should have remembered him.

When the Spanish-American war broke out in 1898, it became imperative that President McKinley get a message through to the Cuban insurgent leader, Garcia. Andrew S. Rowan volunteered. Into his hands the President put a packet of immensely important papers, and four days later Rowan landed in Cuba from an open boat and plunged into the wilderness. In three weeks he emerged on the other side of the island, having performed his mission successfully. He went through trackless jungles, saw Garcia, got well in mind the disposition of insurgent forces, and got back to an Army camp alive to tell his story to ears that were eager to hear it. For his daring he was given the rank of Lieutenant-colonel.

This picturesque piece of heroism caught the fancy of one of the greatest word painters this country ever produced—Elbert Hubbard of East Aurora, N. Y., editor of a magazine of protest called "The Philis-tine." Of the brave man who carried the message to Garcia, Hubbard wrote: "By the immortal There is a man whose form should be cast in deathless bronze. . . . It is not book learning that young men need, nor instruction about this and that, but the stiffening of the vertebrae which will cause them to be loyal to a trust and to do a thing well."

Pitt Countians will have the opportunity to have a lot of fun at the "Victory Auction" at the court house
square Saturday afternoon,
as well as the opportunity to help in the war effort by purchasing War Bonds and receiving gifts therewith. It is to be hoped that as many people as possible will attend and that the affair will prove a profitable one in aiding Pitt County to meet its quota of War Bond and Stamp sales.

LET'S STICK TO OUR OWN KNITTING

The talk about the failure of development of the second front continues and there are a lot of rocking-
chair strategists hereabouts who can give you all the angles. Personally, we feel that it is best to leave the matter of the second front
in the hands of the military authorities, while those of us on the home front see to it that we do our duties in the way of purchasing War Bonds, aiding in the scrap campaigns and otherwise cooperating a hundred per cent with the war effort.

WHY NOT BEGIN NOW?

If the Federal government
does not enact such a law
in the meantime, the North Carolina Legislature in Jan-

lower the automobile speed limit to 35 miles per hour in keeping with the recommendation of the committee

common sense and as individuals begin to put the new speed limit into practice

Washington—With the back-to-

S. Office of Education officials are up to their pedagogic chins in a teacher shortage situation that threatens to outstrip the crisis of 1917-18.

In those years, 125,000 inexperienced teachers were rushed into the breach, but the ranks still were 50,000 short of requirements. Dr.
Benjamin W. Frazier, USOE spe-

the educational crisis ahead is even worse than that.

In May, 1941, the shortage of vocational agriculture teachers was already developing. Now all 48 states are reporting serious short-

The WAR TODAY

the cold-blooded Von Bock ever gave a damn about the lives of his men for their own sakes, but because he badly needed this fresh young man-power for his main show.

It seems that the Nazi all highness, who boasts that he works by intution, insisted on the siege of Stalingrad. Von Bock bowed his stiff Prussian neck to the yoke, but apparently sulked in his tent as his drive was held up by the grand Red defense and Nazi casualties strewn
the approaches to the city like autumn leaves.

Now for purposes of careful analysis we must make allowance for the possibility that the report of a Hitler-Von Bock feud isn't true.
But even if the story is apocryphal,
we can get ahead with our study,
because the fact still remains that the calculations of the entire Nazi campaign out of kilter. Obviously this was undertaken at Hitler's order, since he is the master gangster
and makes all important decisions.
At the same time it's easy to believe that a soldier of Von Bock's caliber would oppose such a experiment.

Looking at the position today,
as the Russians continue to throw back the invaders from Premier Stalin's proud namesake-city, I'm afraid we have to say that the infallible Hitler's intuition has failed him at the crucial moment. We must give Von Bock best. At the same time, I believe we must recognize that the two men approached the problem
from different viewpoints—Hitler from that of political strategy and his captain solely from the military angle.

It's not difficult to see the workings of the two minds. Von Bock every inch the expert soldier from the soles of his polished boots to the crown of his Prussian bullet-head saw only that the outcome of the war likely depended on Germany's ability to break into the oil-bearing Caucasus and the strategic Middle East this year, and in the process annihilate Red Marshal Timoshenko's armies of the south.

One cannot doubt that Hitler also saw it was imperative to conquer
the Caucasus and the Middle East
for his other operations indicate this.

But he also saw the political value of the capture of the city which is the apple of the Communist leader's eye. Stalingrad stands as a symbol of Russian strength and the Nazi chief wanted to crack it for the moral effect at home and abroad.

Most of all he wanted to influence Japan to attack Russia from the rear. The capture of Stalingrad might turn the trick. So one of the greatest gamblers of all time took another long chance. He bet the gods of war that he could take Stalingrad without missing stride on the march into the Caucasus and Middle East.

But not even Hitler can guess right all the time. We need to see the outcome of the next month of fighting, but the indications now are that military history will say he threw away his chances of winning the war when he forced Von Bock to embark on what probably been the costliest siege ever undertaken.

A Promise for Tomorrow

BY
ATTERBURY

Yesterday, Temporarily, the hurt in Julie Hamilton's heart has been scratched by the terror in Dawn Kelland's eyes. Julie loves a young, but grounded, aviator named Pete Fowler—and Pete seems to have turned to Dawn. But now Dawn's highly unpopular father has had a stroke, and Dawn's fear seems incongruous in the light of her and her father's frequent quarrels. And another difficulty with Julie is that she is not only friend of all concerned—she is also a doctor.

Chapter Six The Green Car

Within the next few days, Julie's suspicions mounted steadily. Twice she saw the flashy green car standing under the porte-cochere of the old Kelland mansion. Once she saw it leaving the grounds long after midnight. Then the first sunny Sunday morning that the telephone didn't summon her to the hospital,
she pulled on a bathing suit, warm woolen slacks and a sweater, and drove the short-cut River Branch road through the low foothills to the beach. As she parked her car, a horn sounded imperiously behind her, and an instant later a green phaeton flashed past, turned right, beating up the main highway north.
Strange young man leaves town.
Julie thought wryly as the car
streaked out of sight.

A big blue-gray dog bounded into the road, stood barking furiously at the speeding car. A moment later a familiar figure limped out of the shadow of tall trees pressing close to the roadway. He saw Julie at the same moment, smiled, waved.
She should have remembered this was Pete's favorite spot.

"Hello," he shouted, flapped a beach towel at her. "Going in?"
Julie wriggled out of her slacks, pulled on a bathing cap. "Yes, are you?" And hoped she didn't look as pleased as she was.

"Who's your friend?" Pete shouted again as the tumult Colleen was still setting up. "Here, Colleen. Be still."

The big silver-gray terrier stopped obediently, trotted toward her master, still growling toward the tend in the road where the car had disappeared.

"Not my friend. He's Dawn's, isn't he?"
Pete shook his head. "She's never seen him before either. I asked her that yesterday when he went out. He skis out of town every morning about this time. Colleen and I've seen him half a dozen times. Always drives as if he premeditated murder."

Julie held her tongue, let Pete
help her down the bank to the strip of gleaming white sand scalloped with clear blue water. But even the plop into the stinging cold surf didn't wash her mind clear of anxiety. The puzzle seemed only more tangled with every detail. Dawn must have seen him. She must know who the swarthy stranger was.
Obviously, however, she had some reason for denying it. But why to Pete? Or was Pete in on the strange secret and shielding Dawn, now?

Familiar Problem

She swam hard for a while, following the shallow, curving troughs of the lazy summer sea. She loved the ocean. The briny taste in her mouth, the icy water, the ruthless buffeting of the great rolling waves.
When she'd stretched every taut
muscle, wearied her slim body pleasantly, she ran back up the beach, flung herself onto the warm white sand, panting, her blood racing through her veins.

"Swell, wasn't it?" Pete asked a moment later, dropping onto the sand beside her. "Gives a fellow a new lease on life."

Julie nodded, pillowed her cheek
against her arm, tried not to remember long lazy days like this with Pete—a devoted Pete—not this polite stranger.

"What do you hear from the heroes Hamilton?" he asked with a carelessness that didn't deceive Julie for an instant.

"Not much. Neither Tommy nor Joe is a good letter-writer. All we know is that they are both in Australia and that Tommy was decorated for outstanding bravery in the Coral Sea fight."

"Good old Tommy," Pete poured sand carefully from one hand into the other. "Joe's no slouch either." Julie tried desperately to think of some distraction but she could only lie helplessly watching the old bittleness sweep into Pete's tanned face.

A muscle along his jawline jumped, betrayed the calm of his voice.
"God, what wouldn't I give to be with them right this minute."

Present company not exactly complimented?" Julie tried to tease lightly.

But Pete ignored her. "No telling how many scraps they'll get into before this thing's over. I'd like to be in the fighting."

"But Pete, you don't have to be on the front line to do all the fighting," Julie took up her old argument again. "The production line is just as important."

He shook his head slowly. "If deep within yourself, you can't feel that the contribution you're making to help set this cockeyed world straight again is the one you should be making." He shrugged, sat up.

"No matter how much you sugar
it, Julie, it still is bitter medicine."
"But wouldn't it be better to take the dose, stop trying to find some other cure?"

"Easily said, Doctor Hamilton."
"Easily done, Mr. Fowler as long as there are ships to build."

Pete looked at her angrily. "Will you stop being a damned Pollyanna!"

Failure—Again
Julie's own temper took the bit.
"What you mean is, will I stop telling the truth? And the answer is no! You're acting like a spoiled kid."

JUNK PILES NECESSARY FOR VICTORY

Volger Urges Citizens To Turn In Scrap Now

Raleigh, Sept. 24 (AP)—Executive Secretary J. B. Volger of the State Salvage-for-Victory committee opined today that "whenever the public sees all the 'auto graveyards' and junk yards empty, there's nothing left to do but pray."

Therefore, he said, citizens must keep scrap metal pouring into junk yards at such a rate that the 'graveyards' will not be entirely depleted.

North Carolina's "auto graveyards" already have given up a tremendous amount of scrap metal and other materials needed in the war effort. But because they are important as reserves, Volger said, "it is imperative that they be conserved as much as possible, while citizens keep a sufficient supply of scrap metal flowing into the hands of junk dealers."

Asserting that some persons are led to criticism because they see "auto graveyards" along the highways, Volger said the impression that these scrap metal sources are not doing their part is erroneous and unfair to the junk dealers.

He said that on August 1 there were 11,700 automobiles in the 350 "auto graveyards" in North Carolina, and during the month scrap dealers purchased 1,546 more cars. However, in August the dealers dismantled 5,346 of their junked automobiles, from which they obtained 6,443 tons of scrap metal. That reduced the stock by nearly half.

Also, Volger reported, the dismantled autos gave up 190,440 pounds of rubber and 2,003,390 pounds of non-ferrous metals which the dealers shipped for use in the victory effort.

A special section of the conservation division of the War Production Board is constantly checking "auto graveyards" in North Carolina. This section is directed by Henry G. Taylor, with headquarters in Charlotte.

A. P. WRITER IS REPORT'D SAFE

Reaches Base After 47 Days In New Guinea Jungle

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Forty-seven days after parachuting down into the trackless jungles of New Guinea from a stricken U. S. Army bomber, Vern Haugland, Associated Press war correspondent, has reached the Allied base of Port Moresby and been hospitalized.

A spokesman for General MacArthur said today that Haugland was very ill from malaria, exhaustion and lack of food, but would recover. He was semi-conscious.

The first indication that the 34-year-old Minnesota-born correspondent had survived the parachute jump and tortured weeks in the jungle came here last Saturday in a brief message from another Associated Press war correspondent, Dean Schedler.

Schedler, from somewhere in New Guinea, relayed a U. S. Army Air Force report that an American believed to be Haugland had reached a remote mission station on the southeast coast of New Guinea.

Next the commander of an isolated Australian Army post reported Monday that Haugland had been brought in from the mission "in an emaciated and delirious condition."

Yesterday a small plane piloted by an Australian airman experienced in New Guinea rescue work, flew into the post and transported the fever-stricken reporter to Port Moresby, where he is being cared for in an Australian base hospital.

Scanty reports did not indicate how Haugland reached the remote mission station or how he had been able to survive more than six weeks in some of the wildest and most primitive country in the world without food supplies, maps or any experience in jungle country.

Only the navigator of the plane which Haugland parachuted from Aug. 7 still is missing.

Two members of the crew reached Port Moresby in eight days. The pilot, Lieut. Duncan Seffern of Manawa, Wis., and one other crewman reached the base after a 20-day jungle trek.

"It seemed to me that everything was wrong with me. I never felt like eating, and I was weak and rundown, nervous, and underweight. When I forced myself to eat something it would lay in my stomach and set up such terrific gas pressure. I often felt I would smother. I dragged through day after day so nervous the least noise would make me weak and tremble. I didn't have enough energy to do anything."

"DR. FOSTER'S L-K brought me simply grand relief. It is a joy to feel like eating again. I have regained my strength. The acid indigestion, dizzy headaches and that tired rundown feeling are relieved. I sleep fine, I am eighty

Phantoms Will Meet LaGrange Here Tomorrow Night

GREENIES ARE ALL SET FOR OPENING TILT

Game Will Be Played At Guy Smith Stadium

Although Coach Bo Farley is an easy going fellow, there is certainly nothing easy or soft about the way he is preparing the Greenville High Phantoms for their first contest of the year with LaGrange High School tomorrow night in Guy Smith stadium. Kick-off time is 8 o'clock.

Special attention has been given to passing and both offense and defense. With Hubert Musselwhite flanking and two star flankmen Henry Andrews and Cecil Crawford on the receiving end, the Greenies coach believes an overhead attack will be his strongest weapon.

With hard-hitting Ed Rawl to lug the leather and Bill Sugg to clear a path, the Phantoms are pretty well set for line-bucking.

Beside the lack of reserves, the line has been dealt another blow by the loss of two first-string tackles, J. B. Smith and Kirby Allen. Line men who are expected to hold up the Phantom front wall are guards Jack Scott and Ledyard Ross, tipping the scales at approximately 155 pounds. Tackles replacing Allen and Smith will be Jack Teal and Louis Dupree. Centering the oval will be Bob Kittrell. Reserve from last year who is showing up exceptionally well in practice.

Greenie backs taking the field for the first non-conference tilt will be fullback Ed Rawl, tailback Hubert Musselwhite, wingback Billy Sugg or Riley Cox and blockingback Max Wilford or Dick Fleming. Capable reserves who will see action are Jim Turner and Charlie Moye. Turner is a small fellow who scampers very fast whenever he gets the ball.

As a whole the Phantoms are ready for the game and are in good physical shape. Yesterday they received this last contact work-out.

Killer Goes Back In Chains

Heavily manacled at ankles and wrists, Robert T. Bailey (left), confessed slayer of two Wisconsin social workers and army deserter whose home is at Hattiesburg, Miss., leaves Santa Maria, Calif., in custody of Sheriff Thomas J. Jester (right) on the return to the scene of the crime. Bailey was arrested at Santa Maria September 12 and confessed he slew the women after they gave him in their automobile.

The arrow points to Dolf Camilli, the Brooklyn Dodgers' first baseman, as fans and players rushed out to congratulate him after his 12th inning home run broke up the game with the Giants in New York. Camilli's blow ended a 8-8 tie and kept the Dodgers 2½ games behind the pace-setting St. Louis Cardinals in the National league race. No. 17 is Whitlow Wyatt, Dodger pitcher, who did not play in the game but rushed out to congratulate his team mate. No. 8 is Hank Daubert, Giant catcher.

NO CHANGE IN NATIONAL

Dodgers And Cards Both Won Yesterday

By JDDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
In 65 years the National League, the oldest baseball organization in the world, has had only one season in which winning 100 games was not sufficient to win the pennant—until this year.

The Brooklyn Dodgers won their 100th game yesterday and it didn't move them even one wisp closer to the championship. That's why the St. Louis Cardinals are making preparations to face the New York Yankees in the world series opening next Wednesday.

The Dodgers reached the 100 victory mark last year on the last day of the season. It was the occasion for a lot of whoop-la because the Dodgers, in all their years in the senior circuit, never had won that many games before. But winning a hundred this year didn't mean a thing.

Brooklyn bagged No. 100 yesterday as old Lefty Larry French marked up one of the finest pitching performances of all times. He pitched a one-hitter, and a single by Nick Etten that got past shortstop Peeewe Reese not only kept the veteran southpaw from a no-hitter but also from a perfect game. The laughing boy never walked a man, never let anyone get to first base except Etten, who was erased in a double play, and altogether pitched to the minimum of 27 batters.

This remarkable outing brought the Dodgers a 6-0 triumph over the Phils, but it didn't save them from imminent elimination in the furious National League pennant fight because the Cardinals also triumphed in a night game against Cincinnati.

nati. 4-2.
This made it possible for the Cardinals to clinch the pennant today if they win again from the Reds and the Dodgers lost to the Boston Braves.

This reduced the Cardinals' combination to any two St. Louis victories, or Dodger defeats, or one of each, to take the world series to the banks of the Mississippi for the first time since 1934. Even though the Dodgers remained 2 1-3 games behind the lead by winning yesterday, they can do no better than tie if St. Louis wins one of its remaining three games.

While the National League squabble was continuing unabated the New York Yankees, secure with their sixth American League championship in seven years, trimmed the Washington Senators, 4-1, on the five-hit hurling of big Ernie Bonham.

This closed the Yanks' home season and left them with only one game, at Boston Sunday, to play before they enter the world series next Wednesday.

No other games were scheduled in the major leagues yesterday.

New York, Sept. 24—On behalf of West Coast fans, Col. Russ Newland takes issue with this corner's recent nomination of Gunder Haegg as the year's outstanding athlete. Russ, points out that Cornelius (Dutch) Warner, the pole vault champ, is the only man ever to clear 15 feet officially. And he's done it 14 times this year and 26 times in all since April, 1940. We're still inclined to rate Haegg's running at various difficult distances above Connie's consistency at one feat. However, we agree that Warner is in line for the Sullivan Memorial award, which he almost won last year. He's a stand-out among American athletes and there's no question about his qualifying as a sportsman, leader, etc.

We also hear soldiers in Texas are trying out blindfolded boxing. Next, we suppose, will be practice in mud-wrestling for landing parties, but we hope they'll draw the line at a commission for Rosie the rassling bear.

Newsman Await Repatriation

New York, Sept. 24—(AP)—One hundred thirty United States and British nationals recently moved by the Japanese from the Santo Tomas internment camp at Manila to Shanghai are "waiting for a repatriation ship" at the latter port, the Tokyo radio said today.

Previous Japanese accounts of this group did not mention repatriation.

Today's broadcast said the group included Russell Brines, former member of Associated Press bureaus at Tokyo and Manila, and "five other American news agency and magazine correspondents." It did not name the other five but a previous broadcast had named three: Ben Covil of the United Press, Carl Mydans of Life magazine, and Royal A. Gunnison of the North American Newspaper Alliance.

Staff Sergeant Ed Perry reported he saw tracer bullets from the Japs' machine guns hitting the flying fortresses. Sergeant Vernon Nelson of Fortus Falls, score on the Jap's tail fin.

"The tracers went into the tail and right on out the other side," Perry said. "Then Nelson pulled his sights on the Jap tail gunner. That was the last of the tail cannon."

Lucas' fortress pressed home to close range.

"First we would be on one side and then on the other," Perry explained. "The Jap was trying to get down to the water and he would sidleslip under us. Once we were almost wing tip to wing tip."

For 25 minutes the giants slugged it out, trading blows in a death battle which was carried on for 60 miles. The flying boat, with machine guns firing wildly, twisted and turned, trying to throw off the persistent army bomber.

Finally, Nelson and Malizeski, the latter in the top turret, silenced the enemy's side gun and knocked out the number four engine, they then hit two more engines, setting them ablaze.

The enemy flying boat soon landed near one of the islands and turned toward shore. As he was taking for shelter, Captain Lucas flew low across his wing. As the fortress pulled up, the tail-gunner, Technical Sergeant Edward Spetch, of Seymour, Conn., who had been complaining because he had not been able to get any shots, sprayed the Jap craft with his .50 caliber bullets. The plane exploded and burned.

Lucas' plane fired some 1,500 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition. Perry said "at least 50 per cent of our shots scored."

Although the Japs fired until they were forced down, they hit the fortress only nine times, one of the hits being a cannon shell which tore a hole in the bomber's right wing. None aboard the fortress was injured.

BRITISH HINT SECOND FRONT

Warn French People Move Back From Coast

London, Sept. 24 (AP)—Declaring that the United Nations are preparing for an offensive against Germany which will be launched without warning, the British radio appealed anew to the French people last night to cooperate by evacuating French coastal areas.

"In the course of our military operations," the message said, "it is necessary, and today it is more necessary than ever, to envisage the possibility of landings by British and Allied troops on French soil, of operations by our Navy in French territorial waters, and attacks by the RAF on military objectives in occupied France."

"An offensive of the United Nations is being prepared. On the day when we can be assured of attaining our goal—which is nothing less than the annihilation of Hitlerite Germany—this offensive will be launched."

No one will be warned in advance of the attack or the point at which it will take place, but when the moment comes to call for the cooperation of the French people as a whole we will keep our promise to let you know in time."

The announcer recalled that a series of warnings had been broadcast to the French in the last six months to "prevent as far as humanly possible the useless shedding of French blood."

"By following our advice," he said, "you will contribute to the success of present and future operations that form the prelude to full-scale action which has been so long awaited."

London, Sept. 24 (AP)—Norwegian sources said today that the Germans were hastening the installation of anti-aircraft batteries and sowing thousands of mines along the Norwegian coast in a widespread tightening of anti-invasion defenses.

Atkinson has a long court record in racketeering and selling liquor, police said. He was released from jail yesterday on habeas corpus proceedings at Washington on the rationing charge, but was rearrested today.

RAF ATTACKS NAZI POINTS

Submarine Yards At Flensburg Bombed Last Night

London, Sept. 24—(AP)—British bombers in their first night raid against Germany this week attacked objectives in the north and northwest, including submarine yards at Flensburg last night, the Air Ministry announced today.

This thrust accompanied a raid by coastal command aircraft on an Axis convoy off the Dutch coast in which three medium-sized ships were declared hit.

"Ten of our bombers are missing from these operations," the Air Ministry said.

Authorities said that overnight aerial activity against Britain was confined to flights by three Nazi bombers. One was reported destroyed before it crossed the coast.

Some explosive-type incendiary bombs were dropped on a town in northeast England and one or two fires started, but authorities said these were dealt with quickly and the damage was slight.

The last time the RAF was over north Germany was September 14, when Wilhelmshaven was blasted. Other familiar targets in that area include Bremen, Bremerhaven, Hamburg and Emden.

Flensburg is a Baltic port in the Prussian province of Schleswig-Holstein, near the Danish frontier. A Berlin broadcast said the British "made isolated nuisance raids over a north German coastal area."

and had "tried to persuade the Chief Executive to reach a solution that would be acceptable to congress, the administration and the American people."

"If we shall by our action here force a head-on collision between the Executive and legislative powers of the American government, we will have done a great disservice to the war effort," he declared.

Brown said he had the highest respect for the head of the American Farm Bureau Federation and that he thought the head of the National Grange was "a patriotic gentleman."

"But we should not turn the leadership of the legislative branch of the government over to these gentlemen," Brown declared. "They are not hired by the American people. They are hired by the interests they serve."

Referring to President Roosevelt, Brown said "the man responsible to the people is the representative of all the people of the United States."

"I think we should pause," he said, "before we reject a measure he asked us to pass."

Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) said all members present at a meeting with leaders of farm organizations had agreed to stand by an amendment sponsored by him and Senator Hatch (D-N.M.) which would increase the level of parity prices by about 12 per cent by including all farm labor costs as a factor. The house adopted a similar amendment yesterday in passing a measure authorizing and directing President Roosevelt to stabilize prices, wages and salaries at Sept. 15 levels, so far as practical. Administration leaders had sought to split the farm bloc apart in the senate by offering an amendment which would leave to the President the determination of when increased costs were not reflected by the price ceilings. The President had expressed "unalterable" opposition to recomputing the basis of parity. "The compromise doesn't mean anything," Thomas told reporters. "We want to write this thing directly into the law."

Senator Russell (D-Ga.) said the compromise proposal in itself was not so bad, but there was some fear among agriculture committee members about its administration. Democratic Leader Barkley, of Kentucky, said before the committee voted that if the farm group did not accept the compromise, the issue would be fought out on the floor of the senate.

SEVEN LITTLE MEALS AND HOW THEY GREW

Let me show you how a small family can save money buying a whole Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham. If your family numbers four or five, buy a 12 to 15 pound ham. Now you're set for 7 delicious meals. Want to see how it's done?

THIS IS THE WAY YOU BUY THE HAM
Order a Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham in the Bright Orange Wrapper. Wilson's Certified Ham gives you a ham perfectly cured, tender, mild, and with a flavor so appealing that each meal will taste better than the last. You'll never tire of the mellow goodness of Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham.

THIS IS THE WAY YOU CUT THE HAM
Ask the butcher to cut the whole ham in parts—butt, center, shank (as illustrated 1, 2 and 3).

Then have him split the butt in two parts (e) with bone in, (f) without bone. Next have him cut the shank in three parts (a), (b) and (c).

THIS IS THE WAY YOU COOK THE HAM
Saturday Night: Prepare a New England boiled dinner using the bone half (e). Simmer slowly (allow 30 minutes to the pound). Thirty minutes before serving, add whole carrots, whole onions, potatoes, and green beans.

Sunday Dinner: Bake cut (d) in moderate oven, and just before serving fill peach halves with piccalilli and broil until brown. Serve as garnish for ham. Different!

Monday's here: But no washday meal blues for you. Slice the boneless half of the butt in buttery slices (f) and broil. Fried Clear Brook Eggs and steamed parsley potatoes are suggested.

Ironing Day: And what could be better than the triangular piece (c) of the shank, boiled with cabbage. Simmer the ham, covered, but cook the cabbage quickly and uncovered. Serve ham in center surrounded by cabbage quarters.

Do War Work Wednesday: Make a ham loaf in the morning and have ready to serve when you return home. Use cut (b) for this. Mix together 1 1/2 cups coarsely ground ham, 1 cup white sauce, 1/2 cup cracker crumbs mixed with 1 teaspoon melted Clear Brook Butter, 3 beaten Clear Brook Eggs, and 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce... Form into loaf, place strips of Certified bacon over top and bake at 350° F. for one hour.

Thursday: Use shank piece (a). Simmer until tender. (Save liquor.) Cube lean meat and make a supper-in-a-casserole of tomato sauce, cubed ham and spaghetti. Season with a little garlic.

Friday's Favorite: Is good old-fashioned split pea soup. You did save the bones and the liquor from Thursday, remember?

In Tananarive Welcome British

London, Sept. 24—(AP)—The French garrison of Tananarive surrendered unconditionally yesterday and British troops occupied the Madagascar capital just a fortnight after their landings on the west coast of the island, the British announced officially today.

A communique said the troops "were received with cheering" by the population when they marched into the city after breaking through suddenly stiffened French resistance 15 miles north of the capital. Antananarivo, 200 miles south of Diego Suarez, on the northeast coast, also was occupied early yesterday morning, the communique said.

Admit Resistance.
New York, Sept. 24—(AP)—A Berlin broadcast containing the tacit admission of the extent of patriot resistance in old Yugoslavia declared today that in two weeks ending Sept. 8 Axis occupation forces killed 3,000 persons and captured 4,000 more in the mountainous Bosnia district.

WILL PROBE FIGHT PLANS

Stimson 'Shocked' Over Louis-Conn Arrangements

Washington, Sept. 24—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said today he was "shocked" over arrangements for the Joe Louis-Billy Conn championship prize fight and had started a personal investigation.

"I didn't know of the details until this morning," Stimson told his press conference. "I've been shocked at the situation."

"I am making a personal investigation which I hope to complete within 48 hours."

The war secretary's announcement was prompted by a question whether he would comment on the proposed October 12 fight at the Yankee stadium in New York between Louis, the heavyweight champion, and Pvt. Conn. He declined to state what details "shocked him."

When original sanction for the fight was given on September 8, the War Department announcement said that the entire net proceeds would be turned over to the army emergency relief fund. The announcement said further that neither fighter nor any "private interest" would receive any return.

On September 18, however, a change in this setup was announced by the committee of New York sports writers, named to handle the fight arrangements. Under the terms of this new setup, which the committee said had been approved by the war department, it was agreed that Louis would receive $100,951.52 to pay off obligations. Conn was to receive $34,500 for the same purposes.

Louis' obligations, as announced by the sports committee, consisted of $59,905.50 to the Twentieth Century-Sporting Club, of which Promoter Mike Jacobs is the head, and $41,146.03 to one of his managers, John "Coxborough" Conn's obligation also was said to be to the Twentieth Century Sporting Club.

In New York, Jacobs, promoter of the fight, had this to say: "War Boxing Incorporated and the War Department asked me to promote this fight to raise a large sum of money for army emergency relief."

"The plans for the fight were approved by the War Department and War Boxing Inc. If Mr. Stimson thinks an investigation is necessary, it's all right with me."

"A representative of the War Department saw Louis at Fort Riley before the fight was arranged. Louis told him that he had certain obligations which he would like to have met if he was going to fight. So far as I'm concerned, whatever money Joe owes me he can owe me for as long as he wants."

Persons the Americans meet casually in the street bring up the question of the second front and ask in plain language why none has been established.

Stalin and Willkie, President Roosevelt's personal representative on a tour of strategic world centers from Cairo to Chungking, met for two hours.

With them was Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet foreign commissar, who himself visited Allied war leaders in London and Washington last spring and returned with an announced complete understanding on "the urgent tasks of creating a second front in Europe in 1942."

Willkie has been asked on all sides during his visit to Moscow about the prospects for opening of a second land front. One of his responses was: "I want to check a lot of things here."

Soviet newspapers published large pictures of Stalin and Willkie on their front pages.

Before his meeting with the Soviet Premier, Willkie was shown the
