Reinforced Red Forces Slow Down Nazi Drives In City Of Stalingrad

Nazis Succeed In Taking Another Block In City But At The Cost Of 2,500 Dead; Reds Wiped Out Three Companies Of German Infantry Driving On Grozny Oil Fields

Moscow, Oct. 19.—(AP)—German troops, advancing over the bodies of hundreds of their dead, added a new block of Stalingrad's crumbling buildings to their holdings within the city today as the Russian defenders moved in fresh troops in a desperate effort to blunt and defeat the latest Nazi assault, now in its sixth day.

Nevertheless, the force of the onslaught seemed lessened from the fury of attacks earlier in the siege, and some observers here questioned whether this was due to an exhaustion of forces or to a German shift of strength to the west to face a possible second front.

The danger to Stalingrad still remained acute, with the German attack concentrated into narrow salients in a desperate effort to achieve a final breakthrough.

Earlier reports had placed the fiercest fighting in the besieged city in the northern factory area and it was assumed that the new German gains were registered here.

"Hundreds of enemy dead were left in the streets and 18 tanks were knocked out," the mid-day communique said.

Fourteen German planes supporting the German assault were brought down by Red air force pilots and anti-aircraft fire, the communique said, indicating the intensity of the German drive towards their objective.

Among the Axis troops thrown into the storming battle for Stalingrad, the Russians said, was the Croatian legion of 4,000 troops, forming part of the 100th German light infantry division.

Pravda reported that of the original 4,000 members of this legion only a single company of approximately 200 men remained as the German commanders relentlessly pushed their troops toward the Volga river.

The fighting northeast of Stalingrad was only of local importance, (Continued on Page Six)

Pitt County Lags Buying War Bonds

At this time Pitt County is behind $65,112 in their purchases of War Bonds. With this deficit and the October quota $173,300, the people of the county must buy $238,412 worth of War Bonds and Stamps this month to get on a level with other counties in buying assigned quotas, according to a report of W. H. Woolard, War Bond and Stamp chairman for the county.

Pitt county's quotas and sales are as follows:

May quota, $109,000; $176,200 worth sold.
June quota, $158,000; $158,200 worth sold.
July quota, $229,700; $94,800 worth sold.

Quotas for the five months, $842,300. Bonds and Stamps sold, $777,068.55.

Balance unsold at end of September, $65,111.45.

The October quota is $173,000. The unmet quota added to this totals $238,412 worth of War Bonds and Stamps to be sold in Pitt county before October 31.

"The people of Pitt county are behind in their War Bond and Stamp sales and we would like to see them catch up and keep up with other counties, Chairman Woolard said today.

RAF BLASTS NAZI PLANTS

Germans Stage Daylight Raids On England

London, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Allied bombers intend to disorganize the Nazi transportation system in Holland by smashing at railroad yards and canal shipping, the Netherlands government-in-exile warned the home population last night as the lightning-like raid on the Schneider armament works in occupied France emphasized anew the tremendous power and possibilities of the Allied air arm.

Saturday's flight of 94 heavily loaded RAF Lancaster bombers to the Schneider works at Le Creusot, occupied France, and the precise and devastating seven-minute attack on that important target was discussed enthusiastically here today as a new advance in Allied bombing technique.

Coming after the daring daylight raid of Oct. 9 by 115 United States Flying Fortress and Liberator bombers on Lille, the attack was regarded as a heartening indication of the Allied ability to defeat the Nazi continental defenses.

The four-motored Lancasters, with no lighter escort, depended on surprise for the success of their mission. They approached the target from a tree-top height and dodged all but the smallest towns on the way. The bombs were dropped just at dusk so the return home could be made under the cover of darkness.

The Lancasters met little opposition. (Continued on Page Six)

Two American Officers Escape From Philippines

By MURLIN SPENCER
Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Capt. William Lloyd Osborne of 1502 S. Orange Grove Ave., Los Angeles, and First Lieut. Damon Gause of Winder, Ga., have arrived safely in Australia after a dramatic escape from the Philippines and a 159-day journey by foot and small boat.

"We arrived here not by any expert navigation but by the grace of God," declared the bronzed Osborne.

During their long southward trip, which ended on October 11, the officers hid by day and traveled by night, several times escaping by a narrow margin encounters with Japanese troops and ships.

They survived a machine-gunning by a Japanese plane almost within sight of Australia and once sailed right by two Japanese cruisers which ignored them.

Despite the vicissitudes they endured, both men put on weight during the long, hazardous trip.

The final lap of the voyage was made in a 22-foot native-built motorboat, in which the adventurers set out on August 15. They completed their 1,500-mile journey by making a landfall within 15 miles of the point they had set as their goal.

The WAR TODAY

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Wide-World News Analyst

United States bomber wing operations in Britain—you can talk about your new weapons with staggering efficiency, but this fresh world conflict produced no greater marvel than the adaptability of our young air-men—most of them mere boys in years—to the complicated science of waging war from the skies.

We have seen this in the battle with the Barbarians of the Pacific. And we are seeing it now as Uncle Sam's bombers feast to scourge Hitler's defenses in western Europe.

Mind you, the vast majority of our air forces aren't even veteran fliers, to say nothing of their innocence in actual combat. Yet we now see them taking to the air in great four-engined bombers which they wouldn't have been allowed to touch before we came into the war.

Did you ever see one of these LeVinhans? In matter of mechanical equipment they are like submarines on wings.

Life and death run side by side through the multiplicity of delicate instruments which solve higher mathematical problems with a facility which must make even an Einstein raise his eyebrows.

Yet our fledgling birdmen are taking to these grim giants as though the B-17's were the incubators which hatched them. They fly 'em and they make 'em tight.

It is a fascinating study and I've been talking with a lot of our air-men on the subject. So what I have to report here has to do with their first reactions in bombing operations rather than with the damage done to enemy targets. Accounts already published make it clear that our raiders are terrifically efficient and will grow more so as our men get the feel of the work.

Many of them always experience considerable strain no matter how many times they "go over the top." That's easy to understand—provided you don't overlook he is about to undertake juggling with his own life and the lives of his comrades.

You find the first pre-raid tension involves three things: Fear of being a 'lid; fear of doing something which will endanger one's comrades, or the safety of a great report; and the fear of failing to execute the expected coup against the enemy. The thought of personal safety is so deeply submerged beneath these other things that it is difficult to find.

Intermingled with these, of course, are many other thoughts. I encountered one which impressed me immensely and gave me such a feeling of pride that I must hand it on to you. I was chatting with young Lieut. Col. Paul Tibbets of Miami, Fla., one of the European war heroes. He was awarded the Purple Heart for his part in the August 24 raid over Le Trait, France.

While he was waiting for his first raid he was sick with the thoughts of the civilians who might suffer from the bombs dropped by his machine.

"That feeling probably dates back to my training days," he remarked. "We had it hammered into us constantly that in practice we must watch out for the folks beneath us."

This reaction persisted during my first three raids. Finally I got used to the idea but I am cautious. When I look at a 2,000-pound bomb in the bay of my ship I know a lot of people may get hurt. My anxiety transfer the women and kids."

The colonel paused for a moment, and his eyes sought the faroff horizon. Then he added, hesitatingly: (Continued on Page Four)

ACT ON DRAFT BILL THURSDAY

Appropriation Bill Gets Senate Attention

By JACK BELL
Washington, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The administration agreed today to a delay until Thursday of Senate debate on legislation to subject 18 and 19 year old men to the military draft.

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky said he and Republican Leader McNary of Oregon had agreed on the postponement to await the return of several absent senators. The House passed the bill by an overwhelming vote Saturday.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) announced just before the Senate convened that he was introducing a constitutional amendment which would lower the legal voting age from 21 to 18.

"18 and 19 year olds are going to be sent out to fight for this government, they ought to have the right to vote and to say what kind of a government they are fighting for," the Michigan senator declared.

The constitutional amendment provision he submitted would require ratification by three-fourths of the states, after congressional approval, but it could become effective.

The Senate also has for consideration this week the conference report on the record-breaking tax bill and a $6,241,000,000 appropriations measure, including about $5,600,000,000 for the navy.

The appropriations measure had the right-of-way.

Final congressional approval of the tax bill Tuesday was regarded as a foregone conclusion. Leaders wanted to get it to the President for his signature by Wednesday so that increased income taxes could go into effect on November 1.

The House was due to act first on the conference committee report on the tax bill, delivered two days ago. There was little opposition to the House appropriations measure, and indications were that a majority of the Senate was prepared to go along on the drafting of 18 and 19 year olds with only minor changes in the House-approved bill.

Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis.) predicted an effort would be made to adopt a House provision delaying the induction of high school and college students until the close of the academic year next June. The Senate version would defer only high school students and then only until the end of the current semester.

In the background for later Senate consideration were two other pressing issues—manpower legislation and a House-approved bill abolishing state poll taxes.

Rationing Of Fuel Oil Was Delayed

The fuel oil rationing program has been delayed, due to the fact that necessary printed forms have not been received at the Pitt County War Price and Rationing Board. All sales must be accounted for by the consumers to be recorded on application, and by the dealer to redeem promissory notes.

Wave Of Unrest Spreads Over European Nations

London, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Mutinies, desertions, suicides and general lowering of morale are on the increase among the 200,000 German troops of occupation in Norway, the Norwegian government-in-exile was informed today.

Two large concentration camps were reported opened for mutineers along the Finnish frontier and at least 1,400 Nazis were said to be confined in one of them.

One authoritative account said that 1,000 German soldiers rebelled north of Kirkenes stationed against an order for them to go to Russia and be executed. The order was countermanded, the report went on because Nazi firing squads refused to shoot the men and the rebels were sent to concentration camps instead.

Suicides were declared mounting at an "alarming" rate, and deserters were reported leaving in increasing numbers, making their way across the Finnish frontier along routes outlined in leaflets dropped from Russian planes.

Accounts of Hitler's troubles within his own army were coupled with growing unrest among the conquered peoples of Europe rebelling against the Nazi campaign to recruit labor for war industries.

In both occupied and unoccupied France the Nazis were increasing their pressure with 500 Gestapo agents reported assigned the task of rounding up workers in the Vichy rule zone alone.

In Belgium, 600 Jews have been sent to the French coast to labor on anti-invasion fortifications, the Belgian news agency reported.

German and Italian troops were said to have fired on a crowd of Greek transport workers in Athens. The number of casualties was undisclosed.

Warships In Action

Washington, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The Navy reported this afternoon that American surface ships had bombarded the Japanese on northwestern Guadalcanal causing heavy explosions and fires with direct hits on ammunition dumps.

This was the first mention of the presence of American naval ships in the Solomon island area since the Japanese began landing heavy reinforcements on Guadalcanal October 13.

Japanese positions were being steadily pounded by American planes, with Allied heavy bombers blasting concentrations of warships and transports in the Shortland island area and Navy and Marine planes joining in the attack on enemy positions.

Heavy concentrations of supporting enemy ships in the Buna-Shortland area to the northwest were the special target of Allied bombers which were believed to have hit three cruisers and several other vessels.

A communique from MacArthur's headquarters, reporting the second successive night attack on Buna, said the airbase used by the Japanese in their Solomons operations was bombed heavily.

After lighting up the crowded harbor with parachute flares, the Allied raiders spilled 23 tons of bombs, including many thousands of incendiaries, on the enemy ships below.

In the last of the four attacks a cargo vessel was strafed and set afire and seven flying boats were destroyed or damaged.

"The last raid saw enemy vessels burning fiercely as the result of earlier attacks," the communique said.

An indication that the American-held airfield on Guadalcanal was still intact despite recent bombardments by enemy surface vessels and air raids was seen in yesterday's Navy communique which reported that Army Flying Fortresses and Navy and Marine Corps aircraft had repeatedly attacked enemy troops assembled in force on the northwest end of Guadalcanal.

The Navy said United States fighters and anti-aircraft batteries completely wiped out a flight of 14 enemy bombers that raided the airfield with an escort of eight fighters on Saturday morning. Two of the fighters also were downed.

The same afternoon, however, another group of about 15 enemy bombers and a number of fighters carried out a second raid with better luck, for them. Only one enemy bomber was reported probably destroyed. United States losses in the two raids consisted of one plane. (Continued on Page Five)

Arthur 4-H Club Meets.
Arthur 4-H Club met for the second time this year on October 14. The meeting was called to order by our new president, "America" was sung and was followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to our Flag. Then the secretary gave reports of our last meeting. During the discussion of old business, members were asked to pay a fee each month, half gone in our treasury and half in War Stamps for the club.

The meeting was then turned over to Miss Kirby who gave a program on fire prevention. On the program also, were several club members who stressed the importance of prevention of fire and what to do in case of fire.

Miss Kirby also told us that fire prevention troops were being organized in all 4-H clubs. As our captain, Gilbert Davis, has been chosen. The meeting closed with our club pledge.—Reported.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
October 19, 1902

Next week will mark the greatest industrial and social event of the year in our good Old North State. (State Fair Week, and all of Raleigh and the whole state of North Carolina are looking forward to that most enjoyable and profitable of all occasions with anticipations filled with pictures of a happy, jolly time.

Of several things in prospect for Greenville in the near future the Pitt County Hospital ranks among the first in importance. Do the people of Pitt county want a hospital? Other enterprises have drifted toward Greenville, until an answer to a similar question was required. The answer in too many cases has been emphatically negative. Is it to be so with the hospital?

Greenville Civic Chorus.
The Greenville Civic Chorus will hold its second rehearsal tonight at the Woman's Club at 8 p. m.

Membership is open to anyone who likes to sing. No tryout is necessary. Here is an opportunity for the singers and music loving people of Greenville to further serve their country. In time of war, the people need the strength that patriotic and stirring music gives. The Washington office of Civilian Defense says that every community should have a band concert or community sing every week for the duration.

The Greenville Civic Chorus will begin to produce community sings as often as possible, and also present Victory concerts for the benefit of the people of Greenville.

Here is an opportunity for all the singers of Greenville, from all the church choirs to unite in one great chorus to serve a great purpose. Our President said: "Music is the universal language of cheer and good fellowship. It unquestionably aids in inculcating the spirit of good will now so greatly needed among all the peoples of the earth. Music, because of its ennobling influence, should be encouraged as a controlling force in the lives of men. Dispersed, vapors, with music; hence, music is the people among the happiest people in the world. With the brighter outlook which comes from a happy spirit, we can keep a saner view of life and its problems and see values more nearly in their true perspective."

Yes, the Greenville Civic Chorus has a greater service to perform than ever before. If you are a singer or would like to learn how to sing, won't you come and help your Civic Chorus perform a worthy community service?—Reported.

Bible Class Banquet.
The Carson Memorial Bible Class of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church were banqueted Thursday night, as the final round of a membership and attendance campaign conducted for some time.

The banquet was held at Respass barbecue place, and was attended by practically the entire class. Arthur B. Corey presided as toastmaster, and presented Prof. R. C. Deal of East Carolina Teachers College, who made a most interesting talk about his various grouchings conducted by war conditions, but as a finale stated that after all, regardless of any and all inconveniences that might be occasioned by the present conditions, the least we could do was an all-out effort to win the war, and bring peace back to mankind.

Other distinguished guests recognized were Rev. George Perry, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, Prof. J. H. Rose, Supt. of the city schools, and Kinchen W. Cobb, member of the Board of Stewards of the church. They made short talks which were to the point and enjoyed by all present.

Andy Gray had as a guest an old-time friend, Mr. Herman Josephs, who afforded much merriment by relating some comical as well as ludicrous incidents. It was the sense of all those present that occasioned by this kind blind the class more firmly to the principles for which it meets and stands.

Christian Science Church.
"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, October 18.

The golden text was from John 1:29. "John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world."

Among the citations comprising the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God. But exhort one another daily, while it is called today; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin. For we are made partakers of his confidence steadfast until the end." (Heb. 3:12-14).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Every pang of repentance and suffering every effort for reform, every good thought and deed, will help us to understand Jesus' atonement for sin and aid its efficacy; but if the sinner continues to pray and repent, sin and be sorry, he has little part in the atonement—in the atonement with God—for he lacks the practical repentance, which reforms the heart and enables man to do the will of wisdom."

In this space today and tomorrow will be given excerpts from a paper on Fall Planting for Spring Gardens, written by Mrs. J. Key Brown for the Garden Club.

"When peace comes to our land again may it be among the beautiful and familiar things we have created and maintained. Now as never before we need the comfort, the inspiration and solace of our gardens.

"Fall is moving time in the garden. While plants are dormant many things can be done with them that cannot be done while they are actively growing. This is the time to plan and plant your shrubs and bulbs, always keeping before you the picture you would have in the spring and summer. To make one's garden effective from early spring until late in the fall is the gardener's most cherished aim and if we are wise gardeners we have a very definite plan for color harmony and plant distribution.

The size of the garden will determine how many blooming shrubs and trees may be included with the flowering plants.

"My shrubby friends are many. It took me a long time to separate them into fast friends from the thousand of plants which compose the garden. You, I am sure, have among your best loved ones some others that these proven staunch friends of mine. However, I will name a few. We will want the First Breath of Spring, which is so fragrant and early that we forget its woody ugly stems, and Meratia Praecox or Winterweet with exquisitely fragrant yellow flowers. The Forsythia, in its various forms spreads a shower of gold about us when we need it most. Spirea, Bridal Wreath, Dwarf Thunberg, Reeves Spirea, both single and double, all add grace and misty beauty. For brilliant color use Cyclonia Japonica or flowering quince. Flowering peach and Almond add their blossoms early in the spring as does the Red Bud. The Dogwood is our state flower and should be planted wherever possible. Spring is probably the best planting time but let us plan for it now.

"Blooming a little later than the just mentioned are the graceful Chinese rose Hagaris and another spot of gold, Harrison's Yellow, blooms with the tulips. Pearl bush, is a mass of snow and another favorite is Beauty Bush with flowers of pale pink and trumpet shaped with orange veins in the throat. Salicis or Autumn Sage which also blooms in the spring, adds a lovely spot of color. The shrub roses are colorful through long seasons of bloom.

"We must find a place in the garden for Camellia or Japonica. Put a few small plants in your garden and watch them grow into something of which you will be justly proud. And one other "must" is the dwarf Gardenia Radicans. Planted on the front of your flower border, its beautiful dark green foliage is added dozens of miniature white blossoms with a heavenly fragrance.

Mrs. Brown's suggestions for bulbs, perennials, etc., to be planted now will be given in another issue.

Students To Present Opera.
The performance of the opera "Martha" by campus talent this winter is to be a new feature of the work of the music department of East Carolina Teachers College, according to plans recently announced by A. L. Dittmer, head of the department. Try-outs for the leading roles are being held, and the campus will be combed for the best voices for the tenor, baritone, and the soprano and mezzo-soprano of the principal parts, and for the smaller parts for women's voices.

In all, around a hundred students will take part, says Denton G. Rossell, music faculty member in charge of the plans.

Friedrich von Flotow's "Martha" has always been a popular favorite since its composition in 1847, Mr.

Rossell pointed out. It is one of the works which all the chief opera companies have performed. Caruso appeared in it more than once, as have also James Melton, Helen Jepson and Grace Moore. The production probably will be scheduled for February.

CONTEST CLOSES OCTOBER 21

America is facing a serious crisis in the War Production Program.

Without a moment's delay we must salvage millions of tons of scrap metal — every pound that we can possibly get!

This must be done AT ONCE, or our fighting boys will not get the supplies they so desperately need—in time!

That means you and every red-blooded American must start right NOW collecting every piece of metal, no matter how small. Right here at home, every member of the family must join Uncle Sam's supply lines by COLLECTING SCRAP.

RULES OF THE CONTEST

PURPOSE

To encourage the collection in North Carolina of every possible pound of scrap metal to help meet the nation's war needs; to make North Carolina one of the first states in the nation to complete an exhaustive clean-up of this material; to supplement and encourage all activities of other agencies gathering this vitally-needed war material.

PLAN

Prizes will be given by the participating newspapers of North Carolina to the North Carolina county, business firm, individual, and units of junior boys' or girls' organizations or schools turning in free or selling to dealers the most scrap metal in the three weeks, according to the prize rules. It does not matter whether the scrap metal is given free to the government or sold to dealers. It all counts in the prize competition. The main purpose is to get all the scrap for the government. Get a receipt to show your County Committee.

PRIZES

Prizes given by participating newspapers of North Carolina will be series E and F War Bonds as follows:

- $1,000 War Bond will be awarded to the county reporting the greatest total poundage of scrap metal collection per capita.
- $500 War Bond to the county reporting the second largest collection per capita.
- $100 War Bond to the county in each Congressional District reporting the largest collection per capita. (Counties winning the 2 prizes above not eligible.)
- $300 War Bond to the business firm turning in the largest poundage of scrap metal.
- $150 War Bond to the individual delivering the largest number of pounds.
- $75 War Bond to the local junior organization or school delivering the largest poundage in the State.
- $50 War Bond to the local junior organization or school delivering the second largest poundage in the State.
- $25 War Bond to the local junior organization or school delivering the third largest poundage in the State.

The prizes going to counties are to be used for some charity or public purpose of general value to the county. The local salvage committee in conjunction with the local chairman of Civilian Defense shall designate the organization to receive the prize War Bond. If they so elect a contest among eligible organizations may be carried on in the various counties.

ELIGIBILITY

Every person residing within a county is eligible to contribute to that county's total collection. Persons and their families engaged in the business of buying and selling scrap iron, or collecting it on a commission, are not eligible to compete as individuals or firms. They may, however, help to increase the county's total by initiating scrap collection, the contest credit to go to the original owner.

All firms, partnerships and corporations and their employees (living in the State) not engaged in the business of scrap buying or collection are eligible to collect scrap metal to be entered in the name of the firm. The same material, however, may not be credited to both a firm and an individual. Every individual living in the State and not engaged in the business of collecting scrap metal is eligible to compete for the individual prize. Every school or State junior organization (in units) such as 4-H Clubs, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts or Camp Fire Girls, etc., is eligible to compete for the junior prizes.

PROCEDURE

The county salvage committee will within each county be in charge of the program. All scrap metal must be receipted at point of delivery. (Call your local salvage committee or representative for location of delivery point.) Credit in the contest will be ONLY upon the basis of such receipts. Be sure to get a receipt in pounds. Each county will telegraph the total of the previous day's collections each day during the contest, these results to be published regularly as a way to heighten interest in the contest. Additional local contests and local prizes will be encouraged by the county committees under rules they may prescribe. In all questions of interpretation of the rules of this contest the decision of the Newspaper Salvage Contest Committee will be final.

JUDGES

The judges of this contest will be a committee of three named by Mr. James B. Vogler, Executive Secretary for the North Carolina Salvage Committee. The decisions of this committee of judges as to the winners will be final.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

JOY IN RELEGION

"Man's chief end is to glorify God
and enjoy Him forever."
Thus runs the answer in an ancient catechism. Its statement concerning man's destiny occasions
mild surprise when we first read it.
We should expect to read about duties, the necessity of living a good life, or working for the advancement of the kingdom. But this statement about human destiny puts all such aside and declares that man's first responsibility is to glorify God and his second is to enjoy Him.

To enjoy God—what a magnificent conception. To walk every day in gladness because He exists. To be filled with good cheer and confidence at all times because God represents to know that there is nothing which can overwhelm us, no matter how much we may be assailed. These things constitute joy indeed, and fortunate is the man who has such faith. The Word of God declares that the true worshiper is not one who bows before His creator as a cringing slave before his master, but one who knows God as a loving Father and feels the power of a deep attachment
welling up in his heart at all times.
All truly great Christians have emphasized the joyful aspects of religion. Our Lord told His disciples to rejoice and leap for joy. He spoke of Himself as a bridegroom and His disciples as members of a wedding party. He declared that no man could take His joy.

IT'S YOUR WAR, TOO

If the citizens of Greenville knew that the forces of the Nazis and the Japs were marching on our city and would reach here Wednesday morning to destroy us,
every possible minute between now and that time
would be spent in preparation to defend our lives and homes. At this time they are not near enough to Greenville to reach here by Wednesday morning, but they are marching nevertheless in an effort to crush and enslave the whole world,
which would include Greenville, if their efforts should prove successful. How successful we are in keeping this dreadful thing from happening to our nation and ourselves depends upon how well we equip our men on the battlefronts to stop the aggressors in their march.

Our people are not being called upon to actually fight
our enemies right here in Greenville on Wednesday
but they are called on to aid in our fight against them at far flung outposts. On Wednesday morning there will be a city-wide scrap metal collection and every citizen is expected and urged to lend a hand. The business houses will remain closed until one o'clock and all hands will join in the drive.

In order to facilitate the collections on Wednesday morning every business
house manager and every housewife in the city is urged to get together all the scrap metal about their premises and have it placed on the sidewalks where the collectors may pick it up

Like A Chill Wind Out Of The Past

REG-MANNING

when the drive gets under way at seven o'clock Wednesday morning. If there is metal that you cannot handle alone and place on the sidewalk as requested, make a note of it and so advise the collectors when they call and they will see that enough
labor is furnished to move
it.

Folks, this is a job for
everybody in our community.
This scrap metal is needed and needed badly by our government at this time and it is essential that it be turned in. This is no time for anyone to be a slacker or to adopt an attitude of "Let George Do It." This is a war that must be won by us
if we are to save our lives,
our homes and our future
freedom, and it is up to you to do your part. You would not hesitate if you thought Hitler was marching upon
the outskirts of Pitt County,
but unless every American
does his or her part to win
the war the day may come
when the forces of aggression may march upon us.
Yes, it's your war, too, so pitch in and help now.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington — Now that all the tumult and the shouting has died down, let's examine the record for an answer to the one question that generally was overlooked: Why did President Roosevelt take that 9,000-mile trip?

Was it to find how the war production effort is really progressing?
Certainly not. There isn't a time of day or night that the President couldn't call for certified production figures and give a more accurate percentage on production efficiency than he could by glancing over such plants as he could visit in a two-weeks tour.

Was it for political reasons?
Hardly. Political tours aren't made in secrecy. We have the President's own word for it that he saw no
state chairmen or political candidates; visited with only 11 governors (four of whom were Republicans); made no speeches. If his visit with former Vice President Garner has any political tinge, it could only be that the President, and "Cactus Jack" were laying the ghost of an old political feud that no longer has any meaning.

Was it to get a finger on the pulse of the people? In some small measure, perhaps. But traveling 14 days by train, moving on secret schedules, riding in a closely guarded car, the President is not going to feel many more pulses than he is right here where the mail, visitors,
editorial digests, and such keep him
in constant contact with what is going on outside Washington.
Any one or all of these interpretations may be tagged onto the President's trip. Only the President himself knows really why he went and he doesn't need to explain. But the truth of the matter probably is just as simple as some of those who know him best make it sound.

In the first place, the President's need to get away from the daily routine of wartime in the White House must be apparent to any one who gives a thought to the facts.
Except for a dedication junket
into Maryland, a few days at Hyde Park, and an occasional auto ride near the capital, Roosevelt has been his own prisoner of war since before Pearl Harbor. Early and late,
day in and day out, he has gone
through the daily White House round with never a change of scene
to aid relaxation.

Add to this monotony, the great responsibility which falls on any chief executive in wartime and multiply it by the stupendity of this global war.

That is something the President can't escape, no matter how many trains he takes, but by changing the scene, he perhaps has been able to readjust the load he's carrying.

As for his reason for visiting production plants and training centers,
those close to him have even a simpler explanation. The President's interest in production in production—whether it be of machines
of war or of the trained soldiers and sailors who will man them in battle—is keen. He likes to see the wheels go around and to watch the assembly lines rolling them off.

The WAR TODAY

"You see, I have a three-year-old boy of my own at home. I hate to think of him playing near a bombing factory. That makes me careful."

After novices have passed through their baptism of fire without their nerves breaking, they develop confidence which makes subsequent situations vastly easier. It is then a matter of acquiring skill which comes with experience.

Here I should say that my observations in the last war brought me to the definite conclusion that the man with "nerves" who does have doubts and qualms before he goes into his first combat is the one who makes the best soldier. He is the one with intelligence. Generalities never are true, but broadly speaking if you will show me a man who has no "nerves," and appears to be absolutely fearless, I will show you
one who is of low intelligence.

So we must congratulate the officers back home who have picked
these magnificent men.
Sometimes the baptism of fire is very terrible. Take the case of Captain A. B. Hughes, Jr. of Center, Tex., a quiet, good looking young fellow who struck a regular tornado
during the raid of Rotterdam, September 7. His ship was cut out of his squadron formation by four Boche fighter planes, one of the worst things that can happen to a bomber pilot. That was Hughes' fourth raid, but the first time he had encountered fighters.

The Germans poured deadly fire
into the American warplane.
Hughes' bottom turret gunner was killed by a bullet, both left waist
and right waist gunners were badly hurt, and the radio operator wounded. The bomber itself was so shot up Hughes thought he never could get home. Still he kept on flying with two of his four engines dead. When he reached the English Channel with the Boche still on his tail, he came down and prepared to land on the water, but at this critical moment the enemy left him and he finally staggered ashore with his freight of trouble.

Hughes told me his nerves were steady. He had no panic. He was just too busy for that. As soon as he brought the ship down, however, he collapsed on the grass beside it, and just about passed out.

A Promise for Tomorrow

Chapter 27
Spies All Around
"But Dawn, where is the baby
now?" Julie whispered and horror struck deep within her. A child in the custody of that man!

"Dawn's sob wracked her anew.
"I don't know. I've begged, I've tried him—Dad has paid him thousands of dollars—but he will not tell me."
"But surely you could sue him, get police—"

"I don't dare. Etta is an Italian subject, you see. Arnaldo says that if I try to divorce him, he will make sure that I never see her again."
"And so he uses that baby to blackmail your father!" Julie's imagination tried to stretch around the picture of such infamy. "I still don't see why you couldn't—there must be laws that protect you."

"Oh, Julie, you don't understand.
No law is strong enough to protect me from Arnaldo's fury. He has a violent temper and no—no pity.
More than that he has power. I don't know how much until he followed me here from New York—although Daddy had paid him well to keep away."

"Why did he come?"
"He wants me to go with him, as his wife. He wants me to be the screen for him. I don't know what serious things he wants to do. I only know—"

Her crying became uncontrollable
again and Julie finished dryly,
"You only know that he can set vast forests on fire to aid his Axis masters! But Dawn—whatever made you consent to come with him? Surely you aren't un-American yourself."

Dawn shook her head. "I'm so afraid, Julie. I didn't dare refuse any more. He threatened Pete's life once before. Remember the night Pete went to Riverport and the fire
in the yards broke out?"
Julie nodded.

"That fire was intended to get Pete. Then he threatened to disgrace my father—he forced Dad to sign some papers that would look terrible in any court. It's nearly killed Daddy."
"How long has he been in the country as an agent?"
"He followed me back to New York. I didn't know then why he changed his name to Mount and took out citizenship papers. He knows the F. B. I. will overtake him sooner or later. He's just counting on doing the most damage while he can."

Finding Pete
Stunned by this tide of information, Julie could only lie staring into the darkness, her mind awhirl,
her motions stampeding. Poor,
weak-willed little Dawn selling her soul, her malleable rights to this devil. And her father bowing his head because Dawn's happiness was involved. Had they really thought "hush" money and bribes would buy
off this ruthless fiend!

"You must think terribly of me
now, Julie," Dawn said after a moment. "I've been a fool, I know.
But I couldn't bear to have all that scandal known in Santa Felice. All my friends there—the awful disgrace of—and I thought I could work it out. I can, too." She sat up.
"I'll go with him as he says so Daddy will be safe. And no one back home need know but what it was really a romantic escapement."

Julie shook her head. "Use your head, Dawn. That won't solve anything. Besides, Arnaldo is a dangerous enemy to this country. Do you want to be one, too?"
"No—oh, no, Julie. Help me, can't you? I don't know what way to turn now."
And neither did Julie. But the first obvious step was to tell Pete.
Obvious, maybe, but not easy, she decided when she'd sent Dawn back to her room sworn to say nothing and wait for orders. She stood at the door a moment undecided
whether to risk getting down the narrow hallway, the stairs, without Arnaldo's hearing her—or to try the porch roof.

The hall seemed safely deserted.
She slipped along, trailing her fingers lightly against the wall, moving cautiously. Crouching, she found the banister, started down the stairs. Then her heart froze. The step whined long and noisily. The sound trailed through the silent house clamorously.

Pulses racing, Julie waited, motionless. Then, just as she felt confidence return, she was sure she heard a door open. Eternities crawled along while she waited for more sound. When none came, she inch-ed her way on down the staircase,
testing each step carefully before she took it. Faint light from the pane in the door beckoned like a receding goal. When she finally slipped out into the warm June night,
she wanted to laugh or scream—she wasn't sure which.

She found Pete finally. Stumbled over him as she prowled through the dark garden.
"What the—" Pete muttered
sleepily.
"Hush. Listen, Pete. We've got to get out of here—fast!"

"What's the rush?"
"Going somewhere?"
She repeated Dawn's story as briefly as rapidly as she could.
"Well, I'll be damned," Pete swore softly when she'd finished.
"It's pretty hard to believe a guy
like Kelland would fall for blackmail."
"He had no choice. Dawn had already given the man money before she ever told her father about it.
Besides, there was the child to consider."

Pete ran his fingers through his hair reflectively. "Well, we've got to put that guy behind bars. Just how we'll do it is something else
again."
"He has spies everywhere, Dawn says. He probably has some right here." Dawn shivered, glanced around as if apprehensive of the very shadows themselves.

Pete crawled out of the sleeping bag quickly, glanced up at the darkened house. "Which room is he in?"
Julie laid her hand on his arm.
"Listen, Pete. Don't get any good ideas about doing this good deed
all by yourself. You heard Mount say he had a man around here. Dawn says the country is infested with his agents. Can't you see if you try anything now, you'll only warn him, give him plenty of time to make a get-away?"

Pete patted her hand, nodded.
"You're right. We've got to have help. If we release the brake on my car, I think we can roll her down to the main road. We'll have to work fast."
"And leave Dawn here with that—"

"Can't be helped, Julie. We can't get her now without risking a lot of precious time as well as tipping Mount off."
"But she's so frightened. And if Mount finds we're gone, he'll suspect—"

Several Previously Undefeated Teams Went Down

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
New York, Oct. 19.—(A. P.)—Now that the nation's collegiate football teams have discovered that even the Navy Pre-flight squads aren't beyond defeat, they can return to the business of bumping off their own unbeaten clubs and settling their conference disputes.

The unbeaten ranks were thinned last week when such teams as Tennessee, Vanderbilt, Colgate and Drexel, in conference play, but there are several left which have nothing to worry about—until the coming week-end.

Then the records of undefeated powers like Ohio State, Illinois, Alabama and Santa Clara will be put on the line against stern opposition with the midwest section promising to furnish a large portion of the fireworks.

Illinois, which clipped Iowa, 12-7, Saturday for victory number four, is due for its stiffest test yet when it collides with Notre Dame, the team that grounded Bernie Bierman's Iowa Pre-flight Seahawks, 28-0.

At the same time Ohio State, conqueror of Purdue by 26-0 in a big ten game, will tangle with Northwestern and Michigan, after beating Northwestern, 24-15, will try Minnesota, a 15-2 winner over Michigan, in conference play. Other big ten struggles will pit Wisconsin against Purdue and Indiana against Iowa. Wisconsin tripped Great Lakes Naval, 13-7, and Indiana turned back Pitt, 19-7, Saturday.

Army, high on the list of the East's unbeaten teams after squelching Columbia, 34-6, takes on Harvard in one of the eastern headline tilts. Dartmouth, 14-2 winner over Harvard, catches Yale, which lost to Navy, 13-6, and Navy entertains unbeaten Georgia Tech in an interconference affair.

Syracuse, which kept its record clean with 19-0 win over Holy Cross, meets Cornell and Brown, still undefeated after a 7-0 brush with Lafayette, faces Princeton, a team that turned in its second straight surprise by tying Pennsylvania, 6-6.

Boston College, another unbeaten giant killer, which tripped North Carolina Preflight, 7-6, stakes its record against Wake Forest. In other eastern topnotchers, Holy Cross will take on North Carolina State, Penn will entertain Columbia, Penn State will tangle with Colgate and Pitt will face Duke.

Georgia, riding high after a 40-0 trouncing of Tulane, will meet Cincinnati with a clean slate in little danger, but Alabama, the club that dashed Tennessee's hopes, 8-0, and appears to be the only outfit in the South big enough to hold Georgia, must battle Kentucky.

Louisiana State meets Georgia Preflight and other southern highlights include Florida against Mississippi State, Mississippi against Arkansas, Tulane against North Carolina and William and Mary against George Washington.

Unbeaten Texas Christian, 7-2, winner over Texas A. and M., steps out of the southwest conference for a tilt with Pensacola Air Base, but league affairs will send Rice against Texas and Baylor against Texas A. and M.

The big six will have a full slate, featuring Nebraska-Oklahoma Missouri-Iowa State and Kansas-Kansas State.

In the far west, Santa Clara's unbeaten Broncos, who have whipped three Pacific coast teams including Champion Oregon State 7-0, last week, meet another, strong U.C.L.A. region State ties into Washington State in a conference tussle, with Washington meeting California and Stanford facing Southern Cal in others.

Tulsa, unscathed on after four starts, tries St. Louis on a Friday program that also includes Auburn against Villanova and the North Carolina pre-flighters against Temple.

By HUGH FULLETON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, Oct. 19.—(AP)—One of the big questions to be settled at the A. A. U. meeting this winter will be how to create more track and field competition, which has been fading out in athletic club circles ever since the last war. The only solution in sight is an appeal to the district associations to help stir things up and to the clubs to return to their old status of athletic clubs instead of being just social organizations. Closing of the stadiums hereabouts was a serious blow to indoor track, but A. A. U. officials hope to borrow the colleges' outdoor board tracks to run a few informal meets. "When I competed never mind how many years ago," explains Secretary Dan Ferris, "every regiment ran a couple of meets and used athletics to attract recruits."

Today's Guest Star
Flem R. Hall, Fort Worth (Tex.) Star-Telegram: "The story behind the decline of football at the University of Kansas appears to trace back to the president of the school. It seems he is a Harvard man who wants to make Kansas the Harvard of the middle west. As far as football is concerned he has succeeded."

Service Dept.
Frank Shaughnessy, the International League president, has two sons in the Canadian Army, one in the United States Navy, two doing war work and three more who expect to enter the services soon. "Shag," a former Canadian Army major who has been turned down on both sides of the border because of his age, says "I'm a better man than any kid of 21 and they're recognize it sooner or later." Ensign William M. Shanahan, former varsity football center who died in the Pacific war theater, is the seventh alumnus of St. John's College of Minnesota reported killed in the war. Pvt. Blinks Bushmaier, former Vanderbilt football and track star, was the "class" of 448 soldiers competing in the Keesler Field (Miss.) track carnival last week. He won the high and low hurdles and the broad jump.

Warning Note
Sports writers and typographers who have been troubled this year trying to spell the name of Johnny Strzyski, Marquette's star sophomore back, can get ready for some real moaning next year. Johnny's former high school running mate, Ray (Billy) Polczynski, is a stand-out in the Marquette freshman backfield.

Monday Matinee
Tip from the midwest is that Bob Cowan, Indiana sophomore back, may grab the headlines from Billy Hillenbrand. Bob weighs 185, is a left-handed passer and a track man. The Eastern Amateur Hockey League will buy the equipment for the Curtis Bay Coast Guard team and pay all operating expenses, but any profits from its games will go to the Coast Guard. Coach Holmes C. Turner, whose Richmond Masonic home grid teams have won 70 out of 87 games in the past 12 seasons, is strong for the "T" formation, but he doesn't want any misunderstanding about it. "It's the very same formation I played under the old Fredericksburg College 30 years ago," he explains. And Hiram College, which does hire 'em) is taking no chances on a player shortage this season. The school provided a full football uniform for its water boy—just in case.

Last Laugh
Sec Taylor of the Des Moines Register comes up with this one about the game in which Illinois overwhelmed Butler U., 59-0. A Butler player was hurt and the referee took time out to have him replaced. The sub who came in failed to report until an official walked over to him as a broad hint. "Finally the kid said, 'I'm going into the game'.... 'I know,' replied the official, but for whom? The sub looked over to the sidelines, where his predecessor was being lugged away, and replied: 'for the deceased.'" rowed for 18 hours across Manila bay. They then struck across the mountains south of Manila, working their way southward by night until they finally found refuge in the wilds near Taal volcano, where they separated.

Osborne began a two-months existence as a fugitive living on native foodstuffs, wild fruits and vegetables and always seeking a means of escape.

Gause, an airman assigned temporarily to service with ground troops during the battle of Bataan, was en route to the front lines shortly before the capitulation. He unexpectedly encountered a Japanese armored truck and jumped into a river bed and hid there all night. The next night he quietly picked his way through Japanese troops sleeping feet to feet on mats scattered along the river.

His luck finally failed him, however, after swimming along the coast he walked ashore and was captured by the Japanese.

"I figured that if I was going to get away I'd better go before the Japs got organized and rounded up the prisoners under guard," he said. "So I made a break for it and swam to a boat anchored some distance off shore. They spotted me while I was swimming and fired a few rifle shots, but missed. "I was exhausted and slept in the boat for a few hours. Then I cut loose a rowboat tied alongside and started rowing away. They opened upon me with machine-guns but missed again."

Gause counted 40 machine-gun bullet holes in his boat when he reached Corregidor island.

When the surrender of Corregidor appeared imminent, Gause took a motorboat and headed for the Luzon mainland by night. A storm upset the boat, but he hung on until daylight and then swam ashore.

Later he learned from natives that another American was seeking to escape and through them arranged a meeting. It was months, however, before he and Osborne finally came together.

They began planning their flight from Luzon and ultimately secured a motorboat with a cranky Diesel engine from the Filipinos, who were afraid to run it. They rigged a sail for added power in case of emergency.

On August 15, with the American flag flying boldly from the masthead, they set sail on a voyage which was to last 58 days.

said the Vichy government, unsuccessful in its efforts to recruit enough workers to satisfy German demands, had agreed to naturalize the secret police agents to facilitate their work.

Pierre Laval's legionnaires and members of the pro-Nazi French Popular Front of Jacques Roriot will cooperate with the Gestapo men, who will operate in small flying squads, the agency declared.

This reported move coincided with an announcement by the Paris radio that registration of all men between 18 and 50 for forced labor would begin today in the unoccupied zone under a decree issued by the Vichy government on September 19. Women between the ages of 21 and 35 also are subject to call "to effect all labors which the government may judge useful in the higher interests of the nation."

The Vichy radio, meanwhile, broadcast a warning to Frenchmen declaring it was their duty to answer German calls for manpower in order to avoid "fresh painful military action and avert new catastrophes."

Laval himself, was reported back in Vichy after an urgent week-end conference with German officials in Paris concerning disorders which broke out last week at Lyon, Chambery, Amery and Amberley as a result of his efforts to sell his countrymen into bondage.

A Vichy announcement said one Frenchman had been executed by a firing squad at Lyon Saturday for "an attack against the external security of the state."

In Norway, dispatches from Sweden said, the Germans have ordered all Americans placed under arrest, presumably to prevent their working with Norwegian patriots engaged in sabotage.

The same sources said all shipping entering the Norwegian port of Stavanger had been placed under strict control "as a precaution against a generally-expected Allied invasion or landing."

In Holland, the Germans were reported to have executed 15 more Dutchmen for recent acts of sabotage and were said to be speeding a mass evacuation of the population from coastal areas where invasion defenses are being strengthened.

From the Vichy radio came a report that Karl Hermann Frank, German Secretary of State for Bohemia and Moravia, had ordered the relatives of "all Czech agitators who have taken refuge in London" be sent to concentration camps.

MacArthur's headquarters reported that the tempo of ground fighting in New Guinea was stepping up as Australian jungle troops began encountering resistance in their push toward the Japanese base at Kokoda. Within 12 miles of their objectives, the Australians met Japanese counter-attacks, all of which were repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy.

Closer home, in the Aleutian island area, the Navy reported two Japanese destroyers were hit during a low altitude attack by Army "Marauder" bombers on Oct. 16. When last seen northwest of Kiska, both destroyers were on fire and being abandoned by their crews.

College Offers Season Tickets.
Season tickets for the entertainments offered this year by East Carolina Teachers College, and single tickets for Albert Spalding's concert will be on sale tomorrow night, 7:30 to 9:30, at Warren Drug store. The chart for reserved seats will also be there so that holders of season tickets can secure their seats.

Thursday of next week, October 29, the season will open with a concert by Albert Spalding, America's noted violinist. There will be one other attraction during the term, the Ball-Java Dancers, a group of dancers, that have peculiar timeliness now for they give authentic dances from the Far East.

The other two artists on the program who will come later in the year are moving picture stars as well as singers with beautiful voices who have been very successful as concert singers. Rise Stevens is a leading soprano with the Metropolitan Opera Company and sings in the movies with Nelson Eddy. She will be remembered chiefly perhaps as the star in "The Chocolate Soldier."

College Vesper Service

A student of East Carolina Teachers College, Miss Evelyn Stewart, spoke on the subject "Allegiance to Christ" at the Y-W-M-C-A vesper service Sunday evening in Austin Auditorium.

She pointed out that in this day men have pledged their allegiance to all kinds of "isms" and creeds, but that there is only one who merits his wholehearted allegiance and that is Christ. Mankind belongs to Christ doubly; first, through the divine right of creation, and then through His supreme sacrifice of love on the cross. "We must choose whom we will serve for we cannot serve God and follow the way of the world," said the speaker. "Christ himself said, 'Whosoever is not for me is against me.'"

Miss Stewart brought out the fact that Christ did not select his disciples from the loafers on the street but rather He chose busy people to carry on His work. He chose men who did their work with diligence, knowing that should they accept this way, they would do His work with diligence.

Miss Stewart, whose name is in Windsor, transferred to E. C. T. C. at the beginning of her junior year. While on the campus, she has been active in religious work, this year having been chosen president of the Christ doubly; first, through the college Baptist Student Union.

Series Of Sermons At Catholic Church

The series of sermons to be preached in Saint Peter Catholic Church in Greenville during this week was begun yesterday morning. The mission is being conducted by the Reverend Father Ambrose Smith, Order of Preachers, Director of Dominican Southern Missions, of Columbia, South Carolina. The theme of the subjects is taken from the Sermon on the Mount which was preached by Jesus Christ to the multitude gathered about Him. Sunday morning at eight and ten-thirty o'clock Masses the visiting missionary preached on the subject "Poor in Spirit." Special prayers for President Roosevelt, for Congress and for the Supreme Court were offered last night at the beginning of the services. After the evening sermon, "Pure Hearts and Souls," the congregation knelt for a quarter of an hour praying for all soldiers, Sailors, Marines, Coast Guards and Nurses now engaged under the Flag of our Country fighting for a complete victory for the United States and for a lasting just peace for the World of Nations. The congregation gathered again this morning to attend and to offer the Holy sacrifice of the Mass at 6:45 and 7:30. Between the Masses there was an instruction preached by the Missionary followed by prayers for the civilian citizenry of the United States. This afternoon at 4:30, Father Smith will conduct a mission service for the elementary grade school children of the parish. Tonight at Eight o'clock the mission services will include in addition to the Vesper Prayers, the opening of the Question Box and the announced sermon, "Waiting for Peace," by Father C. J. Gable, the pastor of Saint Peter's Church under whose auspices the mission is being conducted. Invites cordially all of the people of Greenville to attend any and all of the morning and evening services.

Chicago Police Get Desperado

Chicago, Oct. 16—(AP)—Irwin Kadens, 32, termed a "three-state crime wave" by J. Edgar Hoover, was captured today, when he attempted to hold up a currency exchange at 406 1/2 Madison Street, on the west side.

The operator of the exchange called police who arrived in time to beat Kadens into unconsciousness.

Police of the nation were warned by Detroit authorities on Sept. 30 that Kadens was "one of the most desperate criminals at large today." They advised participants in the manhunt:

"Kadens will stand for no questioning by police officers. He has been answering the first question with gunfire."

According to Hoover, Kadens, a law-abiding husband and father of two small daughters, deserted the army at Camp Grant, Ill., on July 14 and on Aug. 16 burglarized the home of a Detroit policeman, taking a pistol, uniform badge and handcuffs.

Thereupon, Hoover related, Kadens embarked on a reign of terror that included one kidnaping, five rapes, 17 robberies and 16 automobile thefts, many from taxicab drivers. His crime career covered seven weeks. He had no previous criminal record, Hoover said.

Bomber Crash Kills Eleven

Des Moines, N. M., Oct. 19—(AP)—Eleven air force flyers were killed in the crash of a four-motored bomber on Sierra Grande peak in northeastern New Mexico Saturday.

Such a plane, with 11 aboard, was reported missing on a training flight from an air base at Rapid City, S. D.

Wreckage of a bomber was found by two Spanish-American sheep herders on lonely Sierra Grande peak last Saturday after their curiosity had been aroused before dawn that morning by a light on the mountain.

Harold A. Hill, newspaperman of Ration, N. M., said the bodies had been hurled out of the big plane and wreckage was strewn 150 yards. The impact wrenched the motors from the craft and hurled one more than 200 feet. The bomber did not burn, but gasoline spilled from the tanks caught fire.

house at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning. Heads of business firms are urged to remain at their places of business and see to it that all scrap about their establishments is placed on the sidewalk where it can be picked up by the trucks. Housewives throughout the city likewise are urged to have their scrap ready when it is called for.

All civilian defense workers will aid in the collection and Chairman Charles A. White urged each of the wardens to remain in his own zone and aid in the house-to-house canvass and lend all assistance possible in getting the scrap together in readiness for the trucks.

The school band will have a part in the drive by playing patriotic music in various sections of the city during the collections as an inspiration to the citizens and the workers.

Dennis Dupree, Negro county farm demonstration agent, and W. H. Davenport, principal of the Negro schools of this city, promised complete cooperation on the part of their race in Wednesday's drive and declared that every effort would be made to collect every piece of available scrap metal in the Negro sections of the city.

"We want to collect this scrap, not just for the sake of trying to win a prize for Pitt county or to make a showing for our county, but because our government needs it now," declared J. H. Rose, in urging every citizen to have a part in Wednesday's drive. "And when the Wednesday drive is over," Mr. Rose continued, "there will still be some scrap left in this county and we want to keep right on collecting it until every piece of it is made available to our government."

the communists said, but it added that a German concentration of infantry preparing for attack in that area was dispersed by Red army artillery fire. German attacks in other sectors of this area were repulsed, it was reported.

Red army troops resisting the German drive toward the Grosny oil fields in the Mordok region wiped out three companies of German infantry and destroyed 11 tanks in repulsing an attack there, the mid-day communique said.

The fighting in the Caucasus, at Mordok and Novorossisk, the German-occupied naval base on the Black Sea, was pushed into the background by the dramatic defense of Stalingrad.

Once again the Germans were reverting to their frontal assaults in the city and its immediate suburbs. The Russians reported they destroyed 45 German tanks in the course of bitter fighting, 17 of them in a furious battle for possession of a factory, probably the Red barricade gun works.

It was in this factory area that the Germans earlier had driven a wedge into the Russian position. Yesterday, the Russians said 1,000 Nazi officers and men were killed in a costly and unsuccessful attempt to widen this advantage.

In another sector, the Germans sent tanks and infantry supported by aircraft thundering at the Russian positions, but the Red army troops held firm and destroyed 22 tanks, eight guns, 30 mortar batteries, 10 tanks and about three battalions of enemy infantry, the communique said.

Northwest of the city, where the Russians have been battering at the flank of the German forces assaulting the city, fighting of local importance and reconnaissance activities were reported, a their desperate effort to possess Stalingrad before winter arrives to hamper operations, the Germans apparently were counting on a direct assault to smash and disorganize the Soviet resistance.
