Seventeen Jap Bombers Shot Down Over Guadalcanal

Allied Forces Dealing Smashing Blows On Japs In South Pacific Area

Seven U. S. Fighter Planes Lost In Encounter; Ground Forces Continue To Push Japs Back; American And Australians Surround Japs On New Guinea

By HAMILTON W. FABON Washington, Nov. 12.— (AP)— Destruction of 17 Japanese bombers and fighters which tried to attack American positions on Guadalcanal in the Solomon islands was announced today by the Navy.

Seven United States fighters were lost.

In addition to the planes definitely destroyed when the American fighter planes intercepted two enemy dive bomber formations over Guadalcanal on Wednesday, five Japanese bombers and fighters were reported as probably destroyed.

Those definitely shot down raised the total of Japanese planes listed in navy communiqués as having been shot down or otherwise destroyed to 566 in the Solomons campaign.

A navy communiqué said the first attack on Wednesday was made by ten enemy dive bombers and 12 fighters.

Our interceptors — Grumman Wildcats — shot down six bombers and five fighters.

The day's second attack, also by dive bomber formation, was made by 25 bombers and five fighters. This time the Wildcats bagged six bombers.

Three additional enemy bombers and two fighters were reported "as probably destroyed during the encounter," the navy said.

No detail of the loss of seven United States fighters was given.

On ground and in the air American and Allied troops are slamming hard at the Japanese in the south Pacific, inflicting heavy damage on equipment and driving back enemy land forces on New Guinea and Guadalcanal.

The aerial attacks for the most part are of a harassing nature intended apparently to prevent as— (Continued on page three)

Senate Group Proposes Lengthening Work Week

Washington, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The Senate Defense Investigating committee, strongly advising against compulsory manpower controls, today recommended lengthening of the work week to 48 hours, with any additional overtime to be paid in government bonds.

In a report sharply critical of the administration's failure to evolve a comprehensive program, the committee urged that the problem of changing sufficient workers into war industries be approached by government direction of employers' hiring policies "rather than in coercive measures applied to the individual employer."

The report, prepared under the direction of Chairman Kilgore (D-W.Va.), of a subcommittee, proposed that the work week be increased to 48 hours "wherever practicable," with the additional overtime pay given to workers in bonds which they could cash only after the war

New Record

Richmond, Calif., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Henry K. Kaiser's shipyard here will launch the 10,000-ton liberty freighter Robert E. Peary late today (6:30 p. m. EDT)—Exactly four days and 15 1/2 hours after her keel was laid, yard officials announced. That would make the Peary less than half as long a building as the ten-day time required to construct the present record-holder, a similar ship launched by another Kaiser yard at Portland, Ore., in September.

SPEED ACTION ON DRAFT BILL

Effort To Send Bill Back To Conference Fails

Washington, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Senator Pepper (D-Ala.), failed in the Senate today to send the teen age draft bill back to a conference committee for elimination of a provision deferring essential farm workers from military service.

Asserting that the nation's manpower program had been "muddled administratively" and Congress now was about to "muddle it legislatively," Pepper moved to disagree to the conference report, already adopted by the House, but his motion was ruled out of order. He announced he would vote against the report.

Pepper voiced objections to the farm labor provision, which would direct local draft boards to defer essential agricultural workers after Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex.) announced he was abandoning attempts to force adoption of an amendment requiring a year's training before 18 and 19 year old selectees could be sent into foreign combat.

This amendment was eliminated by conferees and O'Daniel said he would not oppose that action further. He charged, however, that "labor racketeers" had brought about the need to draft teen age youths by "creating a manpower shortage" through restrictions on working hours which "created more jobs for them to sell for money."

Backed by declarations from the general staff that younger fighting men were needed at once to investigate the steadily growing army, Senator Gurney (R-SD) called up the report and sought to speed it to the White House.

OPA Officials Will Be Guests Kiwanians

The Kiwanis club will meet at the Woman's club Friday evening at 6:30 for the weekly supper session. A special program outlining the work of the Office of Price Administration will be given. OPA officials will be special guests of the club. The usual supper will be served. President Claude Ward will preside or could use only in meeting federal taxes. "Suspending the 40-hour week in non-war industries with the proviso that employers be permitted to pay overtime to the extent paid in 1942, should be studied as a possible answer to several labor shortages in our civilian industries," the report said.

Declaring the War Manpower Commission had failed in its seven months existence to formulate a national program, the committee said it was impossible to determine until questions of policy had been settled whether any legislation was needed.

"The public knows there is a manpower problem because it is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain any kind of help and because industries are slowing down for lack of labor," the report said, adding:

General Clark And Staff Conferred With French Three Weeks Before Occupation

By WES GALLAGHER (U. S. Correspondent with the A. E. F. in North Africa) Allied Headquarters, North Africa, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower disclosed today the story of one of the war's most unexplored exploits by a commando-escorted staff of American officers who made a tour of French North Africa and gained essential military information three weeks before the American occupation began.

Major Gen. Mark W. Clark, the American commander-in-chief's 66-year-old right hand man, was the leader in this mission, as surprising as any created in the imagination of an E. Phillips Oppenheim.

On the mission with Clark were: Brig. Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, 43, of Honesdale, Pa.; Col. Archibald L. Hamilton, 48, of Maine; Col. Julius C. Holmes, 45, a former member of the American diplomatic service, Capt. Gerald Wright of the U. S. Navy, Washington, D. C., and Commando Captains C. J. Courtney, R. T. Livingstone and Lieut. J. D. Foot.

"About three weeks before the campaign opened it became evident there was a large group of Frenchmen in North Africa anxious to cooperate with America and it became essential to send a staff of professional officers to contact and make use of these men and obtain essential military information," said Gen. Eisenhower in telling of this modern "message to Garcia" that led to speedy conclusion of the 77-hour occupation campaign.

"Clark and all men on the mission volunteered enthusiastically. They traveled by airplane, one of which was named the Red Kremlin, automobiles, submarines and trains.

The spy thriller began one rainy night when the mission secretly left London by train. Then by devious means it reached Africa.

By agreement, a light was to be flashed in a house in a certain part of North Africa at a selected hour to give Clark and his party the all-clear signal and advise them to make themselves known.

At the appointed hour no light was shown and the party, always in extreme danger, had to wait around until the second rendezvous hour.

The light finally appeared and the Clark party showed itself out of the dark to the owner of the house who had taken the precaution to send his Arab servants away.

"The house was filled with French military officers in uniform, though they had come in civilian clothes," said Clark.

"We conferred all day and night (Continued on Page Five)

U. S. Subs Sink Seven Jap Ships

Washington, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The Navy announced today that seven Jap ships, mainly cargo carriers, had been sunk and a destroyer damaged and believed sunk by U. S. submarines operating the western Pacific. The vessels were listed in the communiqué as a large transport, a large tanker, a large cargo carrier, a medium cargo carrier, a small medium auxiliary vessel, a small cargo ship and a small patrol vessel.

Of the successful attack on the destroyer it said only that the vessel was damaged and believed sunk.

These latest operations reported by American under-sea raiders slashing at Tokyo's supply lines raised to 141 the number of enemy vessels they have sunk or damaged in the Pacific since Pearl Harbor.

The WAR TODAY

By DeWitt MacKENZIE Wide-World News Analyst

(This column, conducted as a daily feature by DeWitt MacKenzie, war analyst, is written today by Glenn Bab. Mr. MacKenzie, now touring the war zones, is travelling.)

The focal point of this global lightning war shifts hundreds of miles in a single day. Yesterday it was Morocco and Algeria. Today it is Tunisia. The indications grow that a race for that key to the Mediterranean is developing between the formidable air fleets of Hitler and the newly launched American-British combination of mechanized land forces and air and sea power.

The war thus moves to one of history's most singular and decisive battlefields. Modern Tunisia was built near the site of ancient Carthage and along that shore was fought out the last bitter-end struggle of the Punic wars. Then, as now, two forces contending for mastery of the known world clashed. One was destroyed with a completeness that has few parallels.

This doubtless is only the vanguard of the forces the fuhrer will seek to throw into Tunisia before the American armored columns plunge across the western border or

NAZIS WEAKEN ON RED FRONT

All Attacks Being Repulsed By Russians

By HENRY C. CASSIDY Moscow, Nov. 12.—(AP)—A sharp reduction in German air activity over the Stalingrad front was reported today in Soviet military dispatches, which noted that the Nazis were using outdated planes and dropping only small bombs. (This might indicate a shifting of first line air units to other fronts, perhaps southern Europe.)

During the past 24 hours, barely 200 flights over the lines were observed, the newspaper Pravda said by comparison with a previous daily average of 1,500 to 2,000 daily.

The German raids were aimed at Russian communication lines. Damage inflicted on towns and villages on the east bank of the Volga was small, and no deaths were caused, the dispatches said.

Two companies of Nazi infantry were decimated by Russian gunfire at one point within the city, at another a group of enemy troops was wiped out in an attempt to penetrate Soviet defenses and in a third place Red army men surrounded a block of buildings and killed 131 Nazis with hand grenades, the midday communiqué declared.

"Northwest of Stalingrad," the bulletin added, "two battalions of German infantry attacked our

Mother Appeals For More Workers

Realizing the need for greater efforts on the home front in the way of workers for the Red Cross Surgical Dressing Room and other Red Cross work, a local mother of a son in the fighting service today issued an appeal to the people of Greenville and community to pitch in and do their part in the much needed war work.

The appeal follows: "Yesterday, or so it seems, they were here, all those tousle haired boys, bringing our papers, running errands, playing football. Now, far from all they ever knew away from home and family and the familiar faces of everyday, they fight to save for us our way of living.

For us at home there is so little we can do. We feel quite noble and patriotic if we accept a few privations without grumbling. It is only when we measure ourselves and our response against the heroic stature of our boys that we see how small we really are.

This is war. Men are injured and have to be treated. The volume of supplies needed for hospital use is enormous and cannot be filled by commercial firms. Here is where we can help. Every woman who has two hands can give at least a few hours a week to making surgical dressings and while the number each individual makes is small, the total of our united effort is amazing.

Let's stop using a little spare time for the Red Cross and set aside definite hours for what should be a privilege as well as a duty."

This year's goal is $8,000 and will be distributed through nine local organizations and agencies.

ASKS FOR TWO PRAYER DAYS

Thanksgiving And New Year Proclaim New Days Of Prayer

Washington, Nov. 12.—(AP)—In an unusual proclamation, President Roosevelt called upon the American people today to observe both Thanksgiving and New Year's as days of prayer.

Devoid of the "whereases" of customary presidential proclamations, this one stated with a quotation from the 92nd Psalm: "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord."

After reciting the 23rd Psalm, Mr. Roosevelt said in his proclamation: "Inspired with faith and courage by these words, let us turn again to the work that confronts us in the time of national emergency; in the armed services and the merchant marine; in factories and offices; on farms and in the mines; on highways and airways; in other places of public service to the nation; and in our homes."

The last day of prayer proclaimed by Mr. Roosevelt was last New Year's Day.

Mr. Roosevelt said it was fitting to recall now the reverent words of George Washington, "Almighty God we make our earnest prayer that Thou wilt keep the United States in Thy holy protection and that every American in his own way lift his voice to Heaven."

Across the uncertain years of space and time, the chief executive declared, our hearts echo the words, "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord" for the days are with us again when, at the gathering of the harvest we solemnly express our dependence upon almighty God."

Need More Quarters Visiting Servicemen

Public reaction to the recent proposal that the Vines house at Fifth and Pitt streets, be taken over to provide rooms at nominal cost to service men visiting the city and have a central place for the relatives of service men to visit them when they come to town is favorable.

The Advisory Board of the Salvation Army is giving serious consideration to the plan and others interested in the service men's welfare are also investigating the feasibility of the plan.

More than a dozen service men slept in the city hall at the municipal building last week-end when they could not rent rooms. The Advisory Board will appreciate suggestions and recommendations.

Doughton Says New Tax Sources Must Be Found

Washington, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means committee declared today that any congressional search for new revenue in 1943 must turn to fields other than taxation of individual and corporate income.

"If we are to get any large amount of new revenue," he said in an interview, "it will have to come from a new source. Individual and corporate incomes are being taxed just about as high as they can stand."

He said that a treasury request for billions more—as contemplated by Secretary Morgenthau—would force consideration of a sales tax "along with an enforced savings plan." Both proposals were considered and rejected by the committee this year.

A checkup with other members of the committee disclosed some sentiment for substitution of a sales tax for the new five per cent "vice-split on sales."

Minority Leader Martin (R-Miss) already has declared that the Republicans would seek a reduction of the 15 to 30 margin in favor of the Democratic majority on the Ways and Means committee, and the 10-5 tax for the new five per cent "vice-split on sales."

The marriage of Miss Janie Reid Phillips and Mr. Ernest Broadhurst was solemnized on Wednesday, November eleventh, at four o'clock in the afternoon in Immanuel Baptist Church. The Reverend A. Hartwell Campbell was the officiating minister. Only members of the immediate families were present.

Tall vases of large white chrysanthemums, fern and seven-branched candelabra formed the altar decorations.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. H. C. Haynes presented a program of pre-nuptial music. Traditional wedding marches were used. Ushers were Mr. Jack Broadhurst and Mr. Joe Broadhurst, brothers of the groom.

The bride and groom entered the church together, unattended. The bride wore a becoming dress of robe crepe with black accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of orchids.

Mrs. Broadhurst is the only daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Phillips and the late Mr. D. W. Phillips of Grifton and Ayden. She attended Peace Junior College in Raleigh and received her degree from East Carolina Teachers College. At present she is an employee of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company.

Mr. Broadhurst, son of Mrs. Nettie Broadhurst and the late Mr. E. W. Broadhurst of Greenville, is chief clerk with the Norfolk Southern Railway.

The proceeds have gone to the Junior Red Cross, Community Chest, Parent Teacher Association and other worthwhile causes.

While the school is cooperating one hundred per cent in the collection of scrap metal and rubber for war materials and purchasing War Stamps to buy bonds and bullets, it has also made another outstanding contribution to Uncle Sam, which is the induction of approximately forty former West Greenville School boys who are now in the armed forces.

West Greenville School will continue to do its part to defeat the Axis.

Many States Represented.
(By Lucy Cherry Crisp)
One question that interested people ask now and then concerning the Service Center at the Woman's Club is this: "What part of the country do most of the boys come from?"

The answer to that question, according to the register for last week-end, is an astonishing one, even to the hostesses and various committee members who work at the club regularly each week-end.

Thirty-eight of our forty-eight states were represented on that register last week-end. In addition, there was one man from France, one from Alaska, one from Washington City, and one humorist—or realist—who gave his home address quite simply as "Heaven." But there were not "quotes" about the word as he wrote it.

States represented were: Alabama, Arkansas, Arizona, California, Connecticut, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, New Mexico, New Hampshire, North Carolina, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Texas, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Washington.

This, then, is a partial answer to the question "where do these boys troops in an inhabited locality. Soviet artillery and infantry repulsed the Germans, killing 400 of them. Soviet infantry penetrated into enemy trenches held by Rumanians and killed 80 of them."

In the Caucasus, the Russians said that their troops had repulsed a tank-supported attack by two battalions of German infantry southeast of Nalchik, killing 200 of the enemy.

On the bitterly cold central front west of Moscow Soviet troops were reported to have slain 400 Germans in sharp encounters in which they destroyed three enemy guns, seven blockhouses and 30 dugouts by artillery fire.

Seventeen Jap . . .

saults on Allied positions and forestall the bringing up of reinforcements or supplies.

But on the ground, official reports indicate the action is a strong offensive, pushing back the Japanese attempting to recapture Henderson airfield on Guadalcanal, and encircling enemy positions on the northeast coast of New Guinea.

At Oviv on New Guinea, Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur's headquarters reported the enemy had been forced from his main positions with heavy losses.

A flanking movement there by Australian troops has cut off the Japanese retreat and "he is endeavoring to cut his way through to the rear," the Allied high command communique reported.

But American troops are on hand to prevent that maneuver, flown by aerial transport to the vicinity of Buna, 55 miles northeast of the Oviv battleground in the Owen Stanley mountain area.

Simultaneously on New Guinea another force of Allied jungle fighters wiped out enemy troops surrounded south of Gorari. No details were given, nor was there any indication of the number of enemy casualties.

The aerial warfare again reached beyond the south Pacific to the far north Aleutians and resulted in the shooting down or destruction of 16 enemy planes, and possible damage to warships, cargo vessels and shore installations.

At Kiska, there has been virtually no action for several weeks, army bombers attacked and damaged two Japanese cargo vessels. One of the planes was damaged by anti-aircraft fire but returned to its base.

Army planes also roared down on Holtz bay on Attu island near the end of the Aleutians archipelago and destroyed seven float-equipped Japanese fighting planes. They encountered no opposition.

Twice Allied reconnaissance units in the south Pacific found and attacked destroyers, but in neither case was it possible to observe results. One flight in the New Guinea area bombed a destroyer off Lae and another unit came upon five destroyers eastward of the New Georgia Islands.

A third aerial attack on surface craft took bombers from the high command into action against shipping off Bougainville in the northern Solomons. Those craft apparently were aiding in the general Solomons action, possibly carrying supplies. Shore installations there also were bombed.

In the Solomons, pilots of two Grumman "Wildcats" took their navy fighting planes through a formation of 15 Japanese "Zeros" 27,000 feet over Guadalcanal. Their daring attack brought down one of the enemy planes.

Also on Guadalcanal, army planes joined in the battle with Japanese invaders, and a check by the navy of an attack on an enemy cruiser-destroyer formation last Saturday showed that eight "Zeros" and eight biplanes all equipped with floats had been destroyed. Originally only a total of 12 planes were reported shot down in that engagement.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

PREACHED BY EXAMPLE

St. Francis of Assisi once asked one of his little brothers to accompany him on a preaching tour. They went through the streets and crowded market place of the city and came back to their miserable little hut. "But I thought we were going to preach," said his companion, with considerable astonishment. "We were preaching," said Francis. "When the children teased us, and we met them only with smiles; when they jostled us in the market, and we were not rough with them in return; when some spoke rudely to us, and we answered gently; when we helped an infirm old woman carry a heavy burden—all the time we were preaching. There is no good going out to preach unless we preach as we go."

Our Lord said to His disciples on one occasion, "As ye go, preach." This was said to men who were sent out for the definite purpose of preaching sermons. But it applies also to lay men and women in their daily attitude toward their fellow men. What we are preaching more of a sermon than what we say. Preaching is not confined to the clergy and was never intended to be. Every Christian disciple is supposed to witness to the benefits of his faith. There is a way in which God expects all Christians, ordained or unordained alike, to be preachers.

We preach as we go—as we go among our fellows, as we go out to sell goods, to render some type of service, as we go through the routine duties of the home. There is witnessing here which pleases or displeases God, depending upon the spirit in which we do it.

LET'S PUT IT OVER NOW

While the response to the drive for funds for the Community Chest has been good so far, the goal has not yet been reached and it is the hope of those in charge to wind up the drive by tomorrow night.

The $8,000 being asked for the fund this year is not large, in view of the fact that the amount includes requests and needs of nine agencies and organizations. Most other cities in the state the size of Greenville have much larger budgets and they are over-subscribing their quotas. Greenville can and should do likewise. The people who are giving their time to making the solicitations are busy people and it is unfair to them to put them off when they call and make them call back. They are not asking you to give them anything but are giving you the opportunity to make an investment in a better community.

Come on folks. Dig deep and let's go over the top now in this drive. If you haven't been solicited and would like to make a contribution, call John G. Clark, campaign chairman, and he will see that a solicitor contacts you immediately.

IT'S UP TO US
The news that has been pouring in since the Americans and their British allies entered Africa last Saturday night has become even better for the people of the United Nations and it now definitely points to an Allied victory, but in our rejoicing let us not forget that this is just the beginning of the end and that even greater sacrifices and an increased effort will be necessary before victory finally comes.

Praise The Lord, And

That the Allies are now on the offensive in a big way is indeed a basis for rejoicing, but let us not forget at the same time to "pass the ammunition." More planes, more tanks, more ships and more weapons of every kind, more men and more money with which to purchase all the materials of war will be necessary before final and complete victory is ours. In this great undertaking every American has his or her part to play and how well we play it will have a great bearing on how quick we win. Let's make winning the war the first item of business for every American.

The WAR TODAY

(Continued from page one) the British fleet is able to bring overpowering strength against Bizerte. The Americans probably already are well along the roads through eastern Algeria, although up to this morning there was no definite word of their presence farther east than Bouge, 200 miles from the frontier and 280 from Bizerte. Some dispatches suggest that Hitler, compelled to fall back on his air power since he can not contest Allied command of the seas, will mobilize to the full his Luftwaffe first to seize the air fields, then land infantry and perhaps light armored units, then seek mastery of the skies against the big fleets of bombers and fighters the Americans and British are moving both eastward and westward along the African shore toward a mighty convergence in Tunisia.

There is one suggestion that Hitler may throw as many as 3,000 planes into the battle for the central Mediterranean. This may be beyond his means, but the chances are good of seeing one of the greatest aerial battles of this war, perhaps the greatest.

Hitler's drive to France's Mediterranean coast clearly shows he realizes that a decisive new phase of the war is opening, one that he can not afford to let go by default. At any rate the skies above the narrow waters—it is less than 100 miles from Cape Bon in Tunisia to Sicily—are sure to be dark with the air fleets.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Resolution passed by the Board of Directors of the Home Building & Loan Association of Greenville, North Carolina, November 5, 1942, on the death of Dr. Louis C. Skinner.

The members of the Board of Directors of the Home Building & Loan Association, of Greenville, desire to express their sense of loss in the death of Dr. Louis C. Skinner, and their deep appreciation of his long and faithful service. For thirty-five years Dr. Skinner was a member of this Board. In 1930 he was elected president of the Association, and served in that capacity until the time of his death. Always a loyal and staunch supporter of the organization, he devoted much of his time and effort to the advancement of its usefulness to the citizens of the community. Although a large practitioner, he was a man of other and varied interests. He was always enthusiastic over any plans for civic development or improvement and cooperated wholeheartedly in their furtherance. Most genial in his social contacts, he was loved by a host of friends. The Association has suffered an inestimable loss, and the members of this Board, who have known and worked with him for so long, feel a personal bereavement, in his passing.

Be it therefore resolved that this expression of appreciation and sympathy be sent to the family of Dr. Skinner, and that it be spread upon the minutes of this meeting.

DISCUSSING PROBLEMS OF INTEREST TO THIS COMMUNITY. IN ALL CASES NAMES MUST ACCOMPANY ANY COMMUNICATION

URGES SUPPORT OF COMMUNITY CHEST

In these times of seeming prosperity it pays us to be extremely careful as to the uses with which we put the vast sums of money now at our disposal. During these fat years we would do well to prepare for the lean years which are to follow. We should profit from the last depression. It has not been for such organizations as the American Red Cross, the Community Chest and other similar organizations there would have been much greater suffering during the year of 1940 and the years that followed. Our youth cannot and must not be neglected. We must administer to the needs of these young people and to the great numbers of unfortunates found in our midst. The best and surest way of meeting the largest number is through your contribution to the community chest. Hence, I am appealing to the Negro citizens of Greenville to do your very best when you are called upon to subscribe to the Community Chest fund. Remember that "God loveth a cheerful giver."

Council committee reports will be made by the chairmen. These reports will show gains in all phases of the scout program in 1942. Selection of the annual meeting site will also be made. This is a council-wide affair, usually a banquet, and will be held on December 11. The Greenville district is expected to be hosts for the meeting if present plans go through.

Miss Bettie Warren . . .

Miss Bettie moved to Greenville with her parents in 1869. In 1872 she attended Chowan College and in 1874 began to teach here. She was a teacher continuously for about 35 years, and one of her school houses was in Mrs. Violet Whitchard's yard, which later became the birth place of the Daily Reflector. About 1910 she and her sister, Mrs. Hearne, began operation of the Riverside Nursery and Flower Shop, which they continued to operate as long as they were physically able. She was a member of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

Miss Bettie was the daughter of the late Otten E. and Mary Edwards Warren, and her father was at one time the sheriff of Pitt County.

Juveniles Serious Problem To Police

By CHESTER WALSH
Police last night arrested Willie (Baby Face) Boyd, colored boy under 16, on a charge of shoplifting several pairs of gloves from McClellan's store on Evans street.

The boy had sold some of the gloves when he was apprehended by officers. Reports have been made recently of a number of small boys—white and colored—loitering in stores when they should be in school.

A police officer from one of the large cities of western Carolina here recently at a meeting, suggested that if the legislature will change the juvenile age from 16 to 15 years of age much of the crime among juveniles may be controlled. The problem law enforcement officers continually face is that of boys under 16 being trained to shoplift and commit other acts of larceny, knowing that when they are under 16 the youngsters must be tried in juvenile court. It is "only once in a while" that a juvenile guilty of lawbreaking may be sentenced to a reform school. They cannot be incarcerated in a jail when they are under 16.

At a recent meeting of law enforcement officers it was strongly emphasized that the juvenile criminal element is sponsored, tutored and encouraged by grownups, who benefit by the loot. A police official from Winston-Salem said that a boy or girl 14 years old now is as wise and more experienced than 18-year-old youngsters were when the juvenile laws were placed on the North Carolina books.

Tarboro Child Killed By Truck

Tarboro, Nov. 12—Bernard Perceval Cannon, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Cannon, of 409 Walnut street, was accidentally killed yesterday when he stepped out in the street on Albemarle avenue, was hit by the front fender of a truck owned by Flanagan Buggy Company, driven by E. L. Briley, and the rear wheel passed over his body causing instant death. The little boy was following the street scraper. Investigation showed the death was an unavoidable accident.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Cannon, one brother, James Edward, and one sister, Eleanor Lee Cannon.

RAF Blasts Jap Bases In Burma

New Delhi, Nov. 12—(AP)—British Blenheim bombers were reported officially today to have damaged two newly-arrived Japanese supply ships and set fires among docks in a series of heavy attacks on the port of Akyab on the west coast of Burma.

Strong resistance was encountered from enemy fighters, at least two of which were shot down while many others were damaged, a British communiqué said.

The raids were carried out Monday night and in daylight Tuesday the bulletin declared. On two of the attacks the bombers were escorted by fighters.

WILSON'S WEEKLY
World Famous
RECIPES by George Recker
Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

Determined as we are to share the meat, we wish to maintain that same standard of popularity past meals held with their grand meat flavor. We also know how important meat is in the American meal. And that all resolves itself into a bit of a problem. But, I can help you with the wealth of my past experience in the world of appetizing food. This new weekly column will offer a pattern menu that makes the most of meat, giving you both glorious flavor and wise nutrition. Follow these "Share-the-Meat" recipes and menus worked out in my test kitchen to meet your present-day needs, and I can assure you this voluntary "Share-the-Meat" plan will not prove difficult.

Share the Meat (Pattern Menu)

SWISS STEAK
(Served with fresh potatoes, whole carrots and whole onions)

GREEN SALAD
WHOLE WHEAT BREAD
FRENCH DRESSING
PECAN PIE

FAVORITE SWISS STEAK

Allow 1/2 pound per serving. Select round or arm steak cut 1 1/2 inches thick. Pound into steak a mixture of 2 tablespoons of flour, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon salt, per pound of meat. Brown well and slowly on both sides in 2 tablespoons heated lard. Add 1/2 cup water, cover and cook slowly on top of stove for 2 1/2 to 3 hours, adding more water as needed. Forty-five minutes before meat is done, add whole carrots, potatoes and onions. When meat and vegetables are cooked, make gravy and serve in separate bowl. Serve vegetables on platter around meat.

HOW TO VARY THIS MENU
Using this menu as a pattern, you can vary the main dish and have an equally delicious and nutritious meal by using instead of Swiss steak, an inexpensive but tasty flank steak with well-seasoned stuffing. Or, perhaps veal birds would fit your family's appetites. Or better yet, try an unrestricted meat heart, is superb when stuffed and baked.

BAD INJURIES BOTHER STATE

Tar Heels And Duke All Set For Saturday

By WOODROW PRICE

Raleigh, Nov. 12—(AP)—His squad sorely beset by injuries, Doc Newton, wily football mentor of N. C. State College, is face-to-face with the biggest problem to crop up in the big five this season. The question, in short, is this: Whether he should permit the Wolfpack to go all out in an effort to defeat Georgetown's big, husky Hoyas Saturday at Washington or play the game close to the chest and try to avoid any further player injuries.

Having a decided bearing on the matter are last week's bruising struggle with Miami University and next week's all-important game with Duke's Blue Devils at Durham. A victory over the Dukes would not only provide N. C. State with its first big five championship in many years but would also give the Wolfpack a claim to at least a portion of the Southern Conference crown.

However, State came out of its 2-0 win over Miami with a lengthy casualty list, wingback and fullback posts suffering extremely heavy losses. Another such bone-crushing encounter—and the Georgetown line averages something like 210 pounds—would leave the Wolfpack in no shape for the Blue Devils, who have shown they can be tough when they please.

Some of State's casualties will doubtless be ready for limited service against the Hoyas. If he uses them, however, Doc Newton will run the risk of losing them for the Duke game. Whether he will take the chance now is answered until Saturday.

The full injury list includes Ray Benbenek, senior fullback; George Allen, sophomore fullback; Rene Burtner, soph wingback; Dick Callaway, junior wingback; and several others who are nursing colds and minor hurts.

Callaway, who has a broken arm, is definitely lost for the remainder of the season. Benbenek was the latest to join those on the injury roll, a practice session this week, he hurt a knee that has been bothersome most of the season.

Duke and North Carolina held scrimmages yesterday in getting ready for their annual fall classic, which will be played at Chapel Hill Saturday. Shot Cox and Johnny Percora were outstanding for the Tar Heels, and spirit was reported running high in the Duke squad. Both teams are working on new tricky plays which haven't been sprung in previous games.

Wake Forest's Deacons, who play George Washington Friday night, failed to please Coach Peabody.

Walker in their attack and defense against freshmen using Colonial plays and spreads but Red Cochran, running, kicking and passing threat, and J. V. Pruitt were praised for their showing in scrimmage. Another injury-riddled club, Davidson, attempted to re-group its forces for a game at Charlotte with Washington and Lee's huskies.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, Nov. 12—(AP)—Mention boxing "style" to an ordinary fight fan and he may have a vague idea what you're talking about. . . .

Bring it up around the fight mob and you'll find they take it very seriously although explanations usually stop at saying that one fighter is "orthodox" and another isn't. . . . A good matchmaker, you hear, is one who pairs up opposing styles to make a good manager can teach his fighter a style that will cause trouble for an opponent. . . . For instance, after Max Schmeling flattened Joe Louis in their first encounter, Joe explained: "I couldn't fight him; she fought me sideways. . . . Later Al Weill figured it out. The Arturo Godoy could get along almost to the floor—and it worked. . . . And before you get out, somebody is sure to explain that tomorrow's Allie Stolz-Beau Jack affair at the garden should be a swell scrap because Allie is a stylish boxer and Beau a fast puncher whose style is to have no style at all.

All In Fun Employees at a Pittsburgh hotel are telling one about a blow-in-the-bottle grid fan who turned up last Saturday, waving an Ohio State banner and asking the way to the Pitt stadium. . . . Informed that the Pitt-Ohio State tussle was to take place in Columbus, he merely grinned and said, "oh well! Let's have a good time anyhow." . . . Maybe he had the right idea at that, considering how much fun there is in 59-19.

One-Minute Sports Page Bill Burke, the 1931 open golf champion, is working in the same Cleveland aircraft plant as ball-players Joe Vosmik, Roy Weatherly, Roy Mack and Al Milnar. . . . Add Detroit to the cities going in for big-time college basketball double-headers this winter with Oregon, State '5-3, Harvard, Washington states and Southern California due to appear at Olympia. . . . Eddie Walker, Chalky Wright's manager, is offering Kid Kaplan $300 to come down from Hartford for five days to train Wright for the Willie pep fight.

Today's Guest Star Bob Hooley, Columbus Ohio State Journal: "If Joe Gordon was floored" when informed he had been selected as the American League's most valuable player, he probably was knocked out when Judge Landis announced taping the Yankee second baseman $250 for his run-in with umpire Magerkurth in the world series.

Service Department Ben Sohn, former star guard at Southern California, and Frank Reagan, ex-Penn and New York Giants' back, are instructors at the Marine Officers' school at Quantico, Va. . . . Which indicates they have something besides muscles and clip-pings. . . . Petey Scalzo, former NBB featherweight champ, reports for induction at Camp Upton, N. Y. today.

And Jackie Fields, ex-welterweight boss, is at Camp Meade, Md. . . . When Lieut. T. Saffern Teller, chairman of the Officers' athletic committee at the Norfolk Naval Training station, sent out a questionnaire on what activities the officers preferred, 340 out of 501 voted for normal pistol and rifle shooting and only 95 favored Tommy's favorite sport, Golf.

Logical Conclusion In his latest epistle to the press, Jimmy Johnson describes his new heavyweight, Adam Spencer, as "a real descendant of Ham." . . . Which, as we see it, makes him half of a ham-and-egg fighter.

Senate Group . . .

(Continued from page one) "There have been scores and hundreds of public utterances from Washington telling about the manpower problem, criticizing the public for failure to co-operate in a non-existent program to solve it, and threatening a draft of labor or a draft of women or this or that form of compulsion. . . . In the absence of any over-all policy and program for mobilization of manpower, the subcommittee on manpower has decided that it would be a mistake for congress to even consider passage of any drastic compulsory legislation." . . . The committee said it was satisfied that when a definite policy that "makes sense" was announced, "voluntary cooperation will be forthcoming in full measure from the overwhelming majority of the American people."

Americans Visited . . .

(Continued from page one) until we had gathered all the information we wanted." . . . Meanwhile, Arab servants had decided that something suspicious was going on and had gone to the Axis controlled Vichy police. The conference of American and French officers received word that police were on the way.

"I never saw such excitement in my life," Clark said with a laugh. "Maps disappeared like lightning. A French general in military uniform changed into civilian clothes in a minute flat, and I last saw him going out the window. They were going in all directions." . . . Clark and his staff gathered up their papers and guns and hid in an empty wine cellar as police talked to the owner of the house over their heads.

One of the commando officers whispered, "I'm afraid if I hold this crotch back any longer I'm going to choke to death."

"I'm afraid you won't choke," Clark joked. The tall angular American general crouched in the cellar with a revolver in one hand and 15,000 francs in his pocket.

"If the police came down, I was undecided whether to shoot them or bribe them," he said. After spending an hour hidden away, the police departed, partly satisfied.

The mission members decided it was no time to linger and, gathering their papers together, they departed.

It was then that they lost their pants and shirts and practically everything else when their boats upset crossing some water nearby. "We lost almost every stitch of our clothes and I lost some $18,000 in gold," Clark laughed. "I wonder if Morgenthau (U. S. Secretary of Treasury) will get after me for that."

The party scrambled ashore with only their papers and underclothes, and hid in the woods through the day, alternately walking and shivering.

Finally they reached a secret destination where a transport whisked them out of North Africa.

Even then their mission remained secret. They reached London just eight days after the start of their journey.

"The fact that land resistance was not terrifically great anywhere and we did not have to land in a place where the opposition was great testifies to the success of Clark's mission," Eisenhower said. "I am exceedingly proud of all of them. They took great risks and accomplished their work. It was a modern message to Gaedda." . . . All the men taking part in the mission, including the commandos who played a large part in its success, will be recommended for decorations.

(An International News Service correspondent, whose report was furnished to the Associated Press by the military pooling of communications facilities, said Clark's mission brought back complete plans of all French military installations in North Africa, dispositions of troops who were friendly and could be depended upon, numbers of troops and equipment, and even arrangements for the airfields outside Algiers to be delivered to American air forces the moment landings began.)

at Vichy and dispatches transmitted by Havas, official French news agency, announced:

"Inasmuch as French naval chiefs at Toulon have pledged themselves to resist all aggression, German authorities had decided that Toulon shall be a separate region. Toulon will not be occupied, and French warships will be safeguarded."

Since virtually the only safeguard for the long idle fleet appeared to be its option to steam across the Mediterranean to join the Allies if Germans moved into Toulon, it seemed very likely that only such a threat had kept the Nazis out.

Havas, now German controlled, added that Hitler, himself, decided that the Germans should not move into this one bit of France—but even this dispatch dispensed of any effort to explain the fuhrer's magnanimity over this point.

Berlin broadcasts quoted German dispatches from Vichy saying the French radio had appealed for all French merchant ships to call immediately at the nearest Mediterranean port of France. It gave no indication what response the appeal had brought. French sailors, of course, know that Vichy broadcasts now are German.

An authoritative source in London said at noon (7 a. m. Eastern War Time) that the British had no information of any movement of French fleet units from Toulon.

He pointed out, however, that such a movement might have occurred without the knowledge of the Allies. He said it would be possible for the warships—ranging from battleships to sloops—to put up a good fight if the personnel chose to resist Axis attempts to board them.

Even as the prospect of a mighty air struggle took shape across the narrows of the Mediterranean, an Allied headquarters spokesman said there was no sign of a reply from the Bey of Tunis to President Roosevelt's request that Allied troops be allowed in the country other than a Paris radio report that the Bey had granted such permission.

The Paris radio denied Axis forces had landed in Tunisia, but this denial was dismissed here as false.

The Allied spokesman declined to say whether the American troops of Maj. Gen. Charles Ryder, pushing eastward in Algeria alongside the British First army, had yet entered Tunisia.

He said he could neither confirm or deny a radio report that the French commandant in Tunisia had welcomed the Germans.

Asked whether there was any information about Dakar, the Senegalese capital on the bulge of West Africa, the spokesman said grimly: "I think they are in a rather hopeless position." He refused to amplify the remark.

He asserted the Allied situation everywhere in French North Africa is "extremely satisfactory."

The German-Italian invasion of unoccupied France was reported in Axis broadcasts to have been virtually completed and the Italians began occupation of Corsica.

Political echoes persisted. But pro-Nazi Pierre Laval appeared to have prevailed upon the Vichy government to continue its opposition to the Allies.

Amid a welter of conflicting reports, the whereabouts of the main French fleet, long impounded at Toulon, remained a mystery.

Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of the North American AEF, himself appealed to French naval crews by radio to "join the United Nations in the fight for freedom" by sailing for Gibraltar.

Marshal Petain's protests against the Axis occupation waned and the Vichy radio announced last night that both he and his cabinet called upon colonialists in North Africa to fight the Allies "to the limit x x x in the interests of France and the empire."

But Algeria and Morocco were already secured.

Movement of heavy German forces from the Russian front toward Italy and the Balkans was reported at Ankara, the capital of neutral Turkey.

American and British troops raced eastward across Algeria together—their rear protected by the final capitulation of colonial forces—to meet Axis airmen and marines reported landing on the air fields of Tunisia, French protectorate and one-time pirate state on the seaward salient of western Libya.

Some London observers said the aerial clash might be the greatest of all time. It was apparent that the Allied forces were extending themselves in an effort to reach Tunis, the capital, and the nearby naval base of Bizerte and wipe out the invaders before they get established.

Ninety miles northeast of Tunisia across the central Mediterranean lies Sicily, Italian stepping stone for invasion which the Allies may eventually use to reach Italy herself.

Observers estimated that the Allied vanguard would be near if not across the Tunisian border by today. It was reported early yesterday in Benghazi, 280 miles west of Bizerte.

Field reports indicated that the Germans had about 1,000 airmen, with dive-bombers and fighters, and some Italian marine detachments already assembled for the effort to cushion the shock of the Allied drive upon Libya, a drive fully correlated with the British Eighth Army's victorious push from Egypt.

A possibility that Marshal Erwin Rommel would try to assemble the remnants of his African corps in Tunisia was among the angles considered in strategical discussions.

One estimate was that the Axis might put 3,000 of its newest and best planes into the air arena and the United States and Britain
