Allied Forces Complete Occupation of Gona And Continue Drive On Buna

Jap Forces In New Guinea Are Being Crowded Into Ever-Narrowing Beach-head; American and Australian Troops And Planes Battering Remaining Jap Garrisons

(By The Associated Press) Melbourne, Dec. 10.—Complete occupation of the Gona area of New Guinea by Allied forces directed in the field by General Douglas MacArthur himself, was announced today.

The Japanese thus lost the northern anchor of their stubbornly defended but ever-narrowing beachhead in Papua, a foothold already cut into segments by Australians and American jungle fighters.

Official reports showed that American forces striking at the lower end of the salient were making progress against defenses of the Buna village sector and a Japanese airfield.

Bitter fighting raged for possession of the airfield, advances from the front said Allied detachments were entrenched in two places at one end of the landing strip and Japanese held the other.

U. S. and Australian air forces cooperated in heavy machine-gunning and bombing attacks upon the enemy positions.

The narrow zone between the airfield and the seacoast was battered with Allied explosives yesterday.

Prime Minister John Curtin made the first announcement of the Gona conquest in the midst of a review before the House of Representatives in Canberra, the federal capital.

His victory news came 16 days after an Allied headquarters communique had announced the original Australian entry into Gona, testifying to the resistance put up by the Japanese.

Gona's fall left the Japanese pinned down in a narrow strip of coast centering on the Buna area, some 12 miles to the south.

The Japanese first landed at Buna on July 22 and from the Gona-Buna beachhead started their invasion drive which carried across the Owen Stanley mountains to within 32 miles of Port Moresby, Allied base, before they were halted.

Earlier today the regular communique from Allied headquarters in Australia announced that Allied troops had thwarted the Japanese attempt to break out of the Gona trap under cover of darkness, killing 95 of the enemy and capturing four. Eighteen more were killed and three captured in another clash a short time later. More than 40 Japanese had been reported slain in this area in recent weeks.

The same bulletin reported that Allied forces had gained further ground in their attack on the Japanese and that they were continuing to press home their attacks with strong air support.

Allied headquarters also announced that American Flying Fortresses and Liberator bombers had scored a signal victory over a formation of Japanese fighters in a furious duel off the coast of New Britain, shooting down 10 planes and damaging four others so badly they probably crashed.

"All our planes returned," the communique said.

There was no further report concerning the whereabouts of six Japanese destroyers which were (Continued on Page Eight)

Greenville Women Work War Plants

Following up yesterday's story in the Reflector about the good work the National Youth Administration (NYA) is doing at its headquarters here for 25 counties, a report was received today that three Pitt county women trained at the NYA center have been placed in remunerative jobs in war plants in different parts of the country.

Training and board and lodging is provided free for the girls and women at the NYA center.

Miss Nellie Mae Rice, Route 2, Greenville, has accepted a position as machinist at the American Hammer Piston Ring Co., Baltimore.

Miss Belver Ramsey, Route 3, Greenville, has gone to work on the final assembly line at the Glenn Martin Airplane Co., Baltimore.

Mrs. Lena M. Ramsey, Route 2, Greenville, was placed in a position at the Glenn Martin Airplane Co., Baltimore.

Hundreds of girls and women have been trained in various trades and are now helping in the war work and earning a good living. Mrs. Mattie Moye Gaylord, local representative of the NYA, stated.

Missing

Greenville friends of the family of Mrs. J. B. Spilman learned today that her son Bernard W. Spilman of this city, who has been serving for some time with the Maritime Commission, has been officially reported by the Navy Department as missing.

Mrs. Spilman's present address is 3124 S. Giebe Road, Arlington, Va.

RAF BLASTS TURIN AGAIN

Sixth Raid Of Month On Italian City Last Night

London, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Royal Air force bombers flew last night into the smoke still rising from the destruction wrought Tuesday night at Turin, mangled Italian arsenal city, and loosed explosives ranging up to four-ton block-busters in a one-hour assault which left large new fires spreading in the industrial areas.

Great damage was acknowledged in the Italian high command communique broadcast today from Rome.

The Air Ministry said that three bombers failed to complete the round trip from Britain across the Alps, but said "a strong force" participated—suggesting 200 or 300 planes.

Guns of a four-motored Lancaster were credited with destroying an enemy fighter.

Despite the smoke pall over Turin, the bombardiers could pick out their objectives, the Air Ministry said.

The last bomber left an hour later, large new fires were spreading in the industrial areas, the Ministry added.

The Italian high command said the raiders hit many buildings.

"Numerous fires were started and damage on the whole was great," its communique reported.

The number of victims from the preceding (Tuesday night) raid are 75 dead and 112 wounded. The losses of last night are not known yet.

Both firebombs and explosives were employed in the effort to deal the coup de grace to Turin, once great industrial center on the river Po.

Turin, royal arsenal city, had been heaped with destruction and fire only the night before and the return last night for the sixth raid in less than a month testified to the RAF's determination to smash Italian industry in one phase of the effort to knock Italy from the war.

Observers on the southeast coast said the planes streamed across the English channel for 90 minutes last night and were subjected to heavy anti-aircraft fire from German batteries on the French coast upon their return this morning from the roundtrip crossing of the Alps.

Air alarms were sounded in Swiss centers and the Swiss Telegraph Agency said that the Swiss minister in London had been instructed to make a "very firm" protest against RAF flights over the nation.

It said he was told to call the British government's attention to "the urgent necessity" of respecting Switzerland's neutrality.

Sell War Bonds At Pitt Friday Night

T. Y. Walker, manager of the Pitt Theater, is arranging for an auction sale of War Bonds at the 9 o'clock show at the theater Friday night. Some "interesting events" are planned to intersperse the sale.

Complete announcement of the War Bond auction sale at the theater will be announced tomorrow. Walker has taken an active part in the sale of War Bonds on numerous occasions.

Youngsters Will Begin Registering Tomorrow

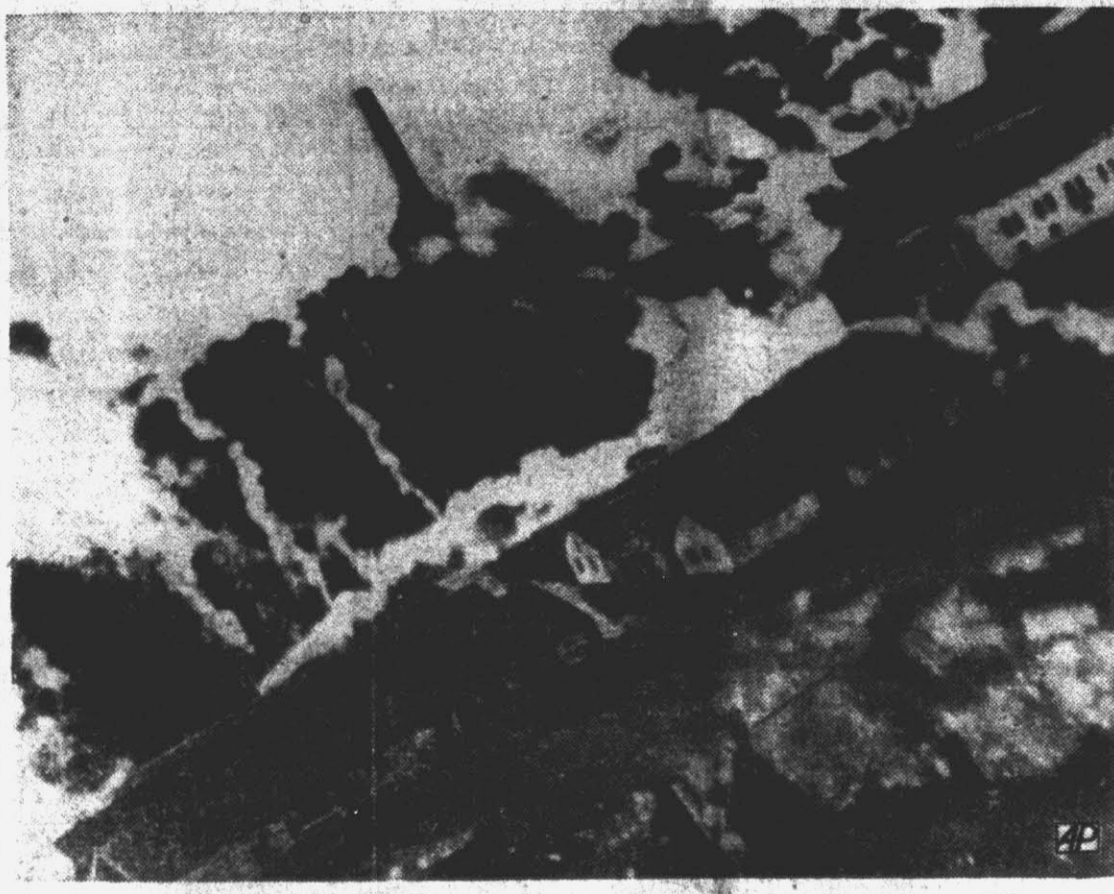

Pitt county youths who have become 18 years old since June 30 will register at the Draft Board offices in the Municipal building here according to the dates set forth in the following story from Washington.

Washington, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Youths who have become 18 since last June 30 start registering tomorrow for induction into the armed forces.

Selective Service estimates there are more than a half-million in this age group, but many of them already have enlisted.

The schedule, calling for three one-week registration periods for youths grouped by their birth dates: December 11 to 17, inclusive—

RAF Bombers Blast Radio Tube Plant

Dense smoke clouds rise from the Philips Radio Tube factory at Nazi-held Eindhoven, Holland, after a 100-plane RAF raid on the plant considered the largest of its kind in Europe. Smaller pillars of smoke indicate where fresh loads of incendiaries have fallen. This picture was radioed from London to the United States.

SUIT IS THREAT TO FREE PRESS Urges Business To Plan For Post War Period

Says AP Suit Should Be Thrown Out Of Court Rommel's Paper

Mrs. Lee Folger, of this city, has not been in correspondence with Axis Marshal Rommel but at least she has received a letter written on stationery of the headquarters of the Commander of the African Corps. The letter, however, is from her husband, Captain Lee H. Folger who is with the American forces in Africa.

Mrs. Folger stated that the stationery was given her husband as a souvenir by an Australian captain whose forces had captured some of Rommel's effects and that Captain Folger had made use of it to write notes that he was well and fine.

"If press and political freedom are to live, this suit should be thrown out of court," the New Englander said in a speech prepared for delivery in the House.

"The people stand to be the big losers. If, by any chance, this suit is lost, the people will have been deprived of one of the safeguards of Democracy."

The monopoly suit against the Associated Press seeks to accomplish a total governmental control, to constitute a greater monopoly, as it, under its guise of relief for the public, would allegedly destroy a lesser.

The WAR TODAY

By DeWITT MacKENZIE Wide-World News Analyst

With the British Eighth Army in Libya, Dec. 10.—Over at El Ashella where the Mediterranean cuts deeply into the coast of Cirenaica to form the great Gulf of Sirte, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Axis forces are nervously expecting another attack by the Allied army which already has driven them in flight across 700 miles of desert.

The Axis troops are dug in on a strong line which they prepared many months ago. That line is calculated to withstand great pressure but nothing is more certain than that Rommel's eyes are continually searching the skies.

It was the Anglo-American air forces which played a major part in smashing his defense at El Alamein and precipitating his debacle there.

This Allied air force with its superiority of power over the enemy is one of the British Eighth Army's greatest assets in the campaign to drive the Axis from northern Africa, and the share which Uncle Sam's airmen are taking in this battle represents one of his proudest contributions to the war.

The leadership of the Briton who commands the Allied air forces is a matter of lively concern to Americans.

It was with keen interest that I shook hands with Air Vice Marshal Sir Arthur Coningham, generalissimo of the desert skies in these parts.

I reported to you yesterday that Coningham had told me our boys were "doing magnificently" and I promised to amplify this statement today.

I asked how our Yankees were doing on this front. "Magnificently," he exclaimed. "Their work has been quite splendid. That cannot be overemphasized."

"How about cooperation between the two forces?" I inquired. "Is there any clash?" "There are no differences whatever," he declared. "We are work-

Ski Troops and White Tanks Smash At Nazis

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Red army has spearheaded seven miles deeper into enemy lines on the central front near Velikie Luki, recapturing 13 settlements, while the Germans still have failed in their six-day effort to regain the initiative on the Stalingrad front. Soviet dispatches reported today.

Attacking with ski troopers supported by tanks painted white to blend with the snow, the Russians apparently are stabbing at Nazi communications on the central front which extends northwest of Moscow roughly from Rzhev to Celikie Luki. On the Stalingrad front, although slowed down by violent German counterattacks during the past several days, the Russians were reported still pushing gradually forward as their offensive there entered its fourth week.

Russian reports said the Nazis apparently were trying not only to smash the Soviet offensive but also to mount one of their own, presumably in the belief that the Red army is exhausted after an advance said now to have retaken 63 towns.

Some of the Germans' counterblows have been in parts of Stalingrad itself, Red Star said, but they have been content with purely defensive fire in the factory district.

It said the Germans had exposed themselves in trying to wrest the initiative from the Russians and had suffered heavily from trench mortar fire turned on them virtually like a spray from a hose.

Although Axis forces have been separated on the western banks of the Volga and Don and driven from both rivers in some sectors, they were said to be showing no signs of faltering in defensible positions despite a grave strain on their communications.

In the Velikie Luki area, far west of Moscow, the Germans were reported to have thrown a regiment of infantry, with the support of several dozen tanks, against Soviet forces which had cut a highway.

Dispatches from the front said that the Russians repulsed several counterattacks, and threw their ski troopers into the fray. Artillery and trench mortars were used to pound the enemy into retreat and then the Germans were driven from a nearby settlement.

Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, reported that in a battle west of Rzhev the Germans fled in disorder for the protection of a forest when Russian troops breached their defenses. Soviet ski troops pursued the enemy moving many miles before they reached cover.

It asserted that the Russians did not lose a single soldier in this engagement but that the Germans lost 117 dead in addition to prisoners and trophies taken by the Soviet troops.

Pitt County Sailor Knows Horrors War

Roland Dawson, seaman first class, has been in the United States Navy for the past four years.

He was in Greenville today, renewing acquaintances and greeting old friends. Dawson was shocked at the large number of men who have gone away to war from Greenville and other Pitt county towns.

Observing the departure of about 170 Pitt county men from Greenville this morning for induction into the army at Fort Bragg, Dawson was obviously silent. His only comment was: "Some will come back. The others will be spread all over the world before the Fourth of July."

Incidentally, since Dawson entered the navy he has helped in the rescue of hundreds of seamen and others from the ocean after their ships were sunk by submarines. He is now stationed on a submarine chaser. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Dawson of the Grifton community.

The committee was informed, he said, that 12,520 NYA supervisors and clerical workers were required for the training of 53,603 persons for war industry jobs. He added that 55,000 NYA training stations either were in operation or could be opened for operation on short notice.

"I think both of these agencies ought to be liquidated," Byrd said after the committee's closed session ended. "The essential activities of the NYA ought to be transferred to the department of education, which is conducting a similar training program, and the FSA activities transferred to the Farm Credit Administration."

Byrd said the committee had been informed FSA had sold a number of its resettlement projects at an average price representing only about one-third of their original cost.

Committee Pigeonholes Wartime Power Request

Washington, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee today formally pigeonholed President Roosevelt's request for broad wartime authority to suspend tariff laws and regulations.

The action came after several members of the committee conferred with House speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.).

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) reported that the committee had decided that there was "no reasonable possibility" that the bill could be enacted before the 77th session of Congress expires on January 3.

Doughton declared that even if bill, it was unlikely that the House could muster a quorum for its consideration, and that in any event, the legislation would then have to be considered by the Senate.

The committee's unanimous action came on a motion by Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn.) to postpone further consideration of the bill indefinitely.

Asked if the bill was now "dead," Doughton declared: "I would say rather that it was passed over without prejudice for the new Congress to consider if it wants to."

However, some other members of the committee expressed belief that the committee's action spelled permanent defeat of the measure in its present form.

There had been considerable opposition to the measure, especially on the grounds it would grant the President broad powers which the Legislation would then have to be considered by the Senate.

Killed In Action

Lt. JOHN C. JOHNSTON U. S. Army Air Corps

Second Lieutenant John C. Johnston, of this city, was killed in action in the New Guinea area, on November 30 according to official notification received here by his mother, Mrs. F. V. Johnston.

Lt. Johnston, who was 22 years old, was a graduate of Greenville High School and studied at East Carolina Teachers College. While a student at the college he received his civilian pilot license at the local airport prior to entering the army in October, 1941. He received his wings and commission in the Army Air Corps at Spence Field, Moultrie, Ga., on May 20 this year and was instructor at an air base in Florida before being sent into foreign service.

In addition to his mother, survivors include two sisters, Mrs. E. H. Gray, of LaGrange, and Miss Margaret Johnston of this city; four brothers, Major Franklin V. Johnston, Jr., U. S. Army, Ensign Alton R. Johnston, U. S. Navy, and James M. and Wesley Johnston; an aunt Miss Addie Johnston, and an uncle, J. B. Johnston of this city.

When the eighth army smashes into the enemy's Libyan line, these soldiers' blows will leave no doubt that it has hit in force again—and that might be any day.

Reports of Allied air blows, both destructive and successful, were reported with evidence plentiful and well-varied warplanes, indicated that air mastery was swinging back to the Allies.

British headquarters reported that Allied twin-engine fighters—probably American P-38 Lightnings—had pounced on an enemy air convoy northbound from Africa and had shot down two German transport planes near Lampedusa island, between Sicily and Tunisia.

Both Axis communique reported heavier skirmishing between armored patrols in the Tebourba area. The Italian communique said an Allied armored car attack west of Tebourba was repulsed and the German communique said eight Allied tanks were set ablaze in another thrust southwest of the town.

Advices from the front last night, however, said the weather was un-favorable for large-scale land or air action and it appeared that for the moment, at least, the key to the situation lay in the hands of the elements.

The advice, said the latest operations were limited to patrol skirmishes, marked by tentative British and American thrusts at the Axis defenses on the outer approaches (Continued on page seven)

URGES END OF NYA AND FSA

Byrd Says Agencies Should Be Liquidated

Washington, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Liquidation of the Farm Security Administration and the National Youth Administration was advocated today by Chairman Byrd (D-Va.) after the joint committee on non-essential expenditures had heard the government was losing $1,600,000 yearly on resettlement projects.

Earlier Rep. Thomas (D-Tex.) expressed the opinion that the House Appropriations sub-committee on social security and labor, of which he is a member, would refuse any further funds for the NYA.

Byrd told reporters that officials of the budget bureau testified that 152 resettlement projects still required $600,000 yearly in FSA "overhead" and that there was a $1,000,000 annual loss in their operation.

The committee was informed, he said, that 12,520 NYA supervisors and clerical workers were required for the training of 53,603 persons for war industry jobs. He added that 55,000 NYA training stations either were in operation or could be opened for operation on short notice.

Harold Stator Wins Army Lieutenancy

Robert Harold Stator, who was cashier of the Dickinson avenue branch of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company of Greenville, has graduated with a class of 3,600 men at a United States Army Officers' Training School at Miami, Fla., and was commissioned a second lieutenant. He was assigned to duty with Headquarters of the Second Service Command at Fort Worth, Texas.

Lieut. Stator is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stator of Bethel. He was inducted into the army during the summer. He went from here to Fort Bragg for induction and was later sent to Texas. His advancement in the army has been rapid.

Miss Camille Stator, Lieut. Stator's sister, of Bethel, and Miss "Whit" Gurley, school teacher at Bethel, attended the graduation exercises of Lieut. Stator's class in Miami. They are temporarily "frozen" on transportation home because of a war order restricting transportation. J. Carroll Waldrop, an uncle of the army officer, stated today.

Unconfirmed Reports Say Attack Has Already Begun On Rommel's Forces In Libya; Air Reinforcements Have Strengthened Allies For Contemplated Attacks In Tunisia

(By The Associated Press) London, Dec. 10.—Allied forces apparently were set today to launch mighty new drives against the Axis in North Africa at any moment in both Libya and Tunisia, under formidable and ever-growing air power.

Reports by the Morocco radio that the Americans and British already had sprung anew to the attack on both sides of the Axis' narrowing last foothold on the Mediterranean's African shore apparently were premature.

Advices from Tunis, however, indicated that the Allies there no longer were hampered by the pinch for air support and that the crucial battle for the last 20 miles, the approaches to Bizerte and Tunis, might explode at any moment.

On the opposite side of Africa, a British communique said the eighth army was "allowing the enemy no rest in the El Alghelia area."

This was the strongest language used officially, since the British paused before Nazi Marshal Rommel's long-prepared line but it referred, still, only to patrol and artillery activity and British military sources in London said it did not mean that the westward offensive again was under way.

When the eighth army smashes into the enemy's Libyan line, these soldiers' blows will leave no doubt that it has hit in force again—and that might be any day.

Reports of Allied air blows, both destructive and successful, were reported with evidence plentiful and well-varied warplanes, indicated that air mastery was swinging back to the Allies.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
December 10, 1902

End of the Century Book Club
The annual celebration of this club was indeed a fair accomplishment Tuesday night, when a delightful banquet was given by its members to its lesser contingents, the husbands.

Mrs. L. C. Arthur had generously tendered her handsome and commodious residence as the place of meeting and the various members, accompanied by their said husbands and a few visiting friends, were arriving from 8 to 9 p. m. until about fifty guests were assembled.

The spacious grounds were prettily illuminated, while the interior of the house gave ample evidence of the careful supervision of artists of no mean reputation. A band from Richmond discoursed entrancing strains of music that came

"O'er the ear
Like the sweet South
Breathing upon a bank of violets,
Stealing and giving odor."

The dining room was thrown open at 10 o'clock and the tables with handsome floral decorations, beautiful china and silver met the eye. And speedily a feast of good things was offered the material man who, while not too deeply impressed with poetic features of the occasion to partake thereof with evident relish, expressed their verbal appreciation of the same in sundry flattering or interesting short speeches.

The evening ended with cordial expressions of appreciation of the studious courtesy and hospitality of the delightful host and hostess.

On the question of labor unions, Crawford said a common objective was increased war production but that on the other hand "we have not agreed, nor will we, to cooperate with labor in encouraging the present trend toward compulsory unionism expressed in current policies of the War Labor Board."

Crawford also questioned briefly "a social security plan which anticipates every individual's need from cradle to grave and which persuades him that he need make no provision for his own protection," an interpretation which he said had been placed on the British plan outlined in the recent Beveridge report.

Judge Roberts Will Hold Court Friday

Judge J. W. H. Roberts, who has been confined to his home by illness for the past week, is recuperating satisfactorily and will preside over the Friday session of Police Court at the City Hall.

Last Monday's session of court was continued until Friday. There were fewer law violations last Saturday and Sunday. With the city stores closed the first half of the week police and other law enforcement officers were called on to make very few arrests.

Included in tomorrow's docket in Police Court are about 20 cases against men and women suffering with venereal diseases who violated a state law when they refused to take treatments.

Convictions For Coffee Hoarders

New York, Dec. 10.—(AP)—In the first trials of their kind in the nation, seven New York restaurants were convicted yesterday by an Office of Price Administration examiner of failure to declare coffee stocks properly in recent rationing registration.

The aggregate of coffee undeclared was 2,647 pounds and at one place investigators found 1,037 pounds undeclared, the OPA said. If the trial examiner's finds are upheld in Washington, the offending restaurants may be penalized by loss or suspension of their right to buy any rationed commodities.

French Train Is Sealed In Tunnel

London, Dec. 10.—(AP)—An RAF mosquito bomber, shuttling between the entrances of a railroad tunnel 40 miles northwest of Paris in a dusk attack yesterday, apparently sealed a train inside, the Air Ministry said today.

The flier, it said, neatly laid one bomb at a mouth of the tunnel and then, noting that a train was entering from the other side, bombed that entrance also.

The Ministry said the train was bottled up, at least temporarily, and did not appear from either end during the 10 minutes that the mosquito hovered over the tunnel.

NEWS OF GREENVILLE HIGH

By CORA REDDITT

West Accident
All who saw the accident in which Charles West was hurt were asked to report to Mr. Wooten this afternoon.

Red Cross
Old furniture is being collected by the Red Cross to furnish a day room for students at Camp Davis. Such items as chairs, lamps, wicker set, etc., are wanted. Della Frances Perry, Catherine Jolly and Mary Rose Crisp will be glad to collect these. The first of next week will be the last time to bring decks of cards and games for the service men. Please remember to bring the magazines for the Service Men's Club to the Woman's Club tomorrow.

One More Week
A week from today at this time and school will be out for two weeks and a day. The school will be out Thursday at 4 o'clock, rather than Friday, because of week-end traveling. School will be resumed Monday, January 4.

Glee Club
The senior mixed chorus is practicing Christmas songs. The glee club will participate in the school's program on Thursday, and the town's program Sunday night.

Seniors Meet
Seniors met the first of the week to discuss the Christmas program they are sponsoring next Thursday. The program as planned by a committee was accepted and committees were appointed to carry out the plans.

The Daily Reflector

Every Afternoon Except Sunday Established 1862 DAVID J. WHICHARD, Jr. Owner and Publisher DIAL 3356

Strength FOR THE DAY

IS ANGER EVER JUSTIFIED? There are few things in the world which cause more trouble than does anger. And yet anger in itself is not wrong. We are told that on a number of occasions our Lord was angry.

ANOTHER MILESTONE Today marks the beginning of another year for The Reflector as a daily publication, our 49th. It was on December 10, 1894, that The Daily Reflector, with the late David J. Whichard as editor and publisher, first made its appearance in Greenville, carrying in its editorial columns an expressed wish to be of greater service to Greenville and Pitt County and a promise to strive at all times to prove a valuable asset to the community.

Forty-eight years might seem a long time to some of the younger generation but The Reflector was no youngster even at the time it became a daily. For thirteen years prior to that time it had operated continuously as a weekly publication after six previous years' operation under the name of the Greenville Express. So in reality the present Reflector and its predecessor dates back nearly 70 years to 1875 when it was started by L. Thomas who was joined early in 1876 by the late J. R. and D. J. Whichard.

The history of the paper is a long and colorful one and its files carry almost a complete record of Pitt County happenings during this nearly three-quarters of a century. It took courage and a pioneering spirit for one to establish a newspaper of any kind in a country community back in those days. It took even greater courage to change to a daily newspaper 48 years ago when Greenville was still just a village compared to its present size, but despite its hardships and struggles The Reflector has continued as a regular visitor in the homes of Pitt County, endeavoring at all times to live up to what was expected of it and to be of worthwhile service to the community, getting most of its reward out of a realization on the part of its operators that they had made a diligent effort to prove of value to the community.

The Reflector today begins another year with the same desire and determination to be of service to the community as that which prompted its founders to venture into the newspaper field back in those years long ago. With no desire to boast, we take just pride in having seen many improvements sponsored by this paper come into being during the years of our operation. We have faith that our community can still become a greater and better place in which to live and we will never falter in our efforts to help in every possible way toward the upbuilding of this fine community that we are privileged to serve.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

Washington—One of the Washington papers carried stories the other day to the effect that Army officers in charge of clearing land for a new airport hereabouts were burning cords of fine firewood after refusing to sell it to farmers and suburbanites shivering through the fuel shortage.

The point in retailing all this is that I spent two hours the other night with a government official who claims that these and similar things are all that are wrong with the United States war effort. As is often the case these days, he must remain anonymous, but he does deserve a direct quote: "If we could just get those little cockleburns out from under the American public's saddle blanket, we could win this war in a week."

However, this government official had no solution to this problem other than to continue exposing these petty annoyances and forcing the little bureaucrats who cause them into other jobs or out of the government altogether.

In spite of all the raspberries it has been handed, Congress still is the best instrument for a pincer attack on those workers in the war effort who take the wrong direction.

The WAR TODAY

ing as a unit and self interest doesn't enter the picture at all. We have a job to do and we are doing it." The air commander paused and grinned, then continued: "General Strickland (Brig. Gen. Aubrey C. Strickland, chief of the U. S. fighter command in the Middle East) toddles over to my caravan with a can of pineapple juice. I put a little spot of gin in it. That's the sort of cooperation that exists. We are a happy and, I think, competent family and the result is an efficient machine."

When your people first came to this front, I said to them: "I wish you to profit by the three years of experience we have had. Yes, profit by all our mistakes and by our successes. There is no use in your having to go through the process of putting your hand on the stove in order to learn that it is hot."

Two Girls and a Man

Chapter 15 Clark On The Trail Carlos got Rita a chair and forced brandy between her blue lips. "What hit you?" he exploded. Rita smiled faintly. "I don't know—I've never been so silly." She struggled to rise but he pushed her back. "Oh no you don't," he bellowed. "You don't throw a fit like that and then hold out the story. You haven't sold first world rights to it, have you?"

Carlos gave a humorous snort "Sure—with a casual way of aiming at mention of his name." "Five thousand other girls would do that probably," Rita forced a smile. "But if you're planning a campaign for Clark Pasquin—with me in it—I'm leaving as of right now." Determinedly she gathered up her hat, and gloves from the desk. Carlos watched her leavetaking with growing concern. But he didn't weaken until she had gone out and closed the door. Then he ambled rapidly after her.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Stop Spending, and Save for the future. That has been good advice since biblical days. You cannot buy tires today, but you can start saving to buy that new set of tires when they go on the market again.

Your regular investment of ten percent or more of your earnings in War Bonds through your Payroll Savings Plan will provide the necessary funds to buy those tires later and help win the war now. Let's "Top that Ten Percent by New Year's."

eyes, which did not look near-sighted, stared hard at Carlos. In that moment he forgot every trick of stage technique he knew—his mouth fell open, and remained that way for what seemed a full minute to Carlos.

"What is your secretary's first name?" Clark's voice was sharp; now he was eager on the trail. Carlos drew his shaggy brows together. "She's only been with me a day or so—ah—let me see—"

The Nazis Turned Their Backs—Another Swore

Captured in the rout of Marshal Rommel's Axis forces and placed in this huge disposal camp at Alexandria, Egypt, a German prisoner (left) catches up on his sewing. His fellow-prisoners, under orders from their Nazi commanders, turned their backs to the cameraman. Because the German officer (right) wore at an English captain, he gets more attention from the British than the rest of the prisoners. Instead of entering the disposal camp, he is marched to the guardhouse, wine bottle dangling at his side.

Shipyard Employees Launch Liberty Freighter

An all-North Carolina Shipbuilding Company launching was staged at Wilmington, N. C. recently when workers purchasing war bonds selected the sponsors and maids of honor for the christening of the Joseph Alston, 42nd Liberty freighter to slide down the ways of the war-born yard. The bond-buying employees elected three girls from a field of seven in a contest that took on the color of a political contest with 13,900 votes being cast. The girls are shown with Governor J. M. Broughton at the scene of the launching. They are, left to right: Mrs. Doris Hall; Miss Mary Johnson, maid of honor; Miss Mary G. Caig, sponsor; Miss Hazel Smith; Miss Naomi Murry, maid of honor; and Mrs. Frances Weaver.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Pacific coast entry in the Rose Bowl game, regardless of what team is picked, likely will hand over a big wad of dough to some war relief organization. Details won't be announced until the Coast conference holds its meeting this weekend, but the plan calls for Georgia and the other coast colleges to collect their usual cuts with the "lucky" team that gets in bowl bid doing the contributing. Looks from here as though that calls for some fast thinking by Georgia and all the other colleges that have received bowl bids. And the P. G. A. is drawing up plans for a nationwide charity exhibition program for next year that will make this year's fund-raising efforts look sick. Bing Crosby and Bob Hope again will be the big attractions for non-golfers.

Unappreciated Prophet

Ed Shugrue of the Bridgeport (Conn.) Post reports that he recently received a letter from Pvt. Pat Beale of the Marine who is collecting autographs of sports writers from all over the country. A bit proud, Ed showed the letter around the office only to have his boss chime in with the unkindest cut of all—"I never knew the leathernecks were also collecting autographs."

One-Minute Sports Page

One reason why visiting basketball teams will stay at a hotel right across the street from Madison Square Garden this winter is that they're not sure the Garden will be able to heat the dressing rooms. Although Eddie Shore had to move his hockey team out of Springfield, Mass., the fans still like him so much that about 600 of them made a 60-mile trip to New Haven recently to see Shore's Buffalo outfit play there. Another story out of the Chicago baseball meetings is that Clark Griffith tried to trade Bruce Campbell not knowing that Bruce was in the army. Three of the eight schools in the Northern Minnesota Junior College conference gave up basketball this year because of transportation and lack of players, but Ely Junior college decided to keep on with only eight candidates for the team.

Sinkwich-Of The U. S. Marines

Today's Guest Star

Whitey Grubler, Atlantic City (N. J.) Evening Union: "The Office of Defense Transportation suggests the major leagues explore some means of curtailing travel in 1943. That's easy. Why not cut out second base?"

Service Dept.

Soldiers at Drew Field (Fla.) are studying flies as well as flying. Paul Waner, Paul Derringer and Butch Henline have been conducting a caseball clinic there. Jim Langhurs, who had quite a day when he led the Iowa Seahawks against his Alma Mammy, Ohio State, has been named the most valuable player on the Pre-flight School football team. Fight Manager Freddie Sommers, who just received his 1-A classification notice, claims "it will be more pleasure to fight for Uncle Sam than to fight with Uncle Mike." When Ensign Leslie MacMitchell, former N. Y. U. miller, got a brief furrow, he not only did a bit of running to shake off his sea legs but admitted that he recently went roller skating, horseback riding and dancing all in one day. Pvt. Jackie Fields, former welterweight champ now stationed at the Butler (Pa.) barracks, walked into the kitchen the other day for a spot of R. P. duty. When he introduced himself, the Sergeant in charge said: "Because you're a former champ, we'll give you a new batch of spuds to work on instead of old ones."

They Gotta Play Students

Reporting that Pomona College will train 200 in the 18-21 age group at the army's expense in an air corps basic pre-meteorological course next year, the student publicity bureau notes: "One reason why we're looking forward to the football season; they'll be eligible but maybe too smart."

Negro Principal Saves Girl's Life

On Tuesday morning, December 1, the principal of the Pitt County Training School at Grimesland, Prof. O. A. Dupree, probably saved the life of one of his students, Edna McNeal. The story follows: The windstorm Monday night blew down most of the light poles from the railroad to the school campus. Prof. Dupree went to the school building before light, and as he went across the campus, he discovered what had happened. He patrolled the campus until after the bell had rung. Then he left the wires to get the Boy Scout Director, Prof. Moye, to gather his Scouts and put them on duty. While Prof. Dupree was away on this mission, he saw a group of students approaching the wires. He shouted from a distance of about 300 feet, telling them not to get near the wires, but they did not hear him. While he was still shouting to them, one of the girls, Edna McNeal, walked against a live wire and was almost knocked unconscious. There were two wires down and it happened that the McNeal child struck both of them with her leg, thus forming a circuit through her leg. In the meantime, Prof. Dupree saw what had happened. He ran to the girl as fast as he could, picking up a large board from the playground as he went. Amid the screams of the half-electrocuted student and the frantic efforts of other onlooking students, Prof. Dupree kept calm, and with the help of the board, was able to push the wire away from Edna's leg and rescue her. Edna was in a serious condition. She was rushed to the local physician, Dr. C. H. Spiggle, who pronounced her injuries serious but not dangerous. She received two bad burns where the wires touched her leg, but is recovering rapidly.

men who have passed their 38th birthday will not be accepted as candidates although those who had been ordered by December 5 to report for induction will be taken for training.

The order in which 19 year old youths will be classified for induction will be determined by their birth dates with the oldest coming first.

Those traveling during their registration period will register with a draft board in the place where they happen to be, but their cards will be forwarded to their home boards. Youths who become 18 after December 31 must register on their birth dates. This group is expected to average about 100,000 a month.

Any 18 or 19 year old registrant attending high school who is ordered to report for induction during the second half of an academic year may have his induction postponed until the end of the academic year upon written request to his draft board.

The status of men 37, who are subject to induction although they may reach their 38th birthdays long before their military training is complete, also is uncertain. Unofficially, the army's attitude was reported to be against accepting men who will be able to obtain discharge within a year.

A number of problems arising from suspension of voluntary enlistment and adoption of 37 as the maximum age for army selection still awaits solution, War Department officials said.

Additional of the new registrants to the list of draft eligibles will postpone to some extent the induction of children of married men, but their addition has been offset in part by the recent stoppage of induction of those 28 or older.

"Boy, it's cold at this air-raid post"

"Well, it's your own fault, Bill. You wouldn't be shivering if you'd changed from Summer underwear to middleweight HANES WINTER SETS, as I did."

He's right. These garments keep you warm outdoors without being too hot indoors. Particularly comfortable if you're conserving fuel with a cooler house this winter.

You also have the gentle athletic support of the HANESKNIT Crotch-Guard. Conveniently placed opening. Flexible waistband. You're really unaware of underwear.

HANES UNION-SUITS (See Figure B.) For men who need even warmer underwear. Fluffy and comfortable. Tailored to exact chest width and trunk length—they won't pinch or pull. Ankle-length legs. Long or short sleeves.

The HANES Label assures you quality garments at moderate prices. We are making every effort to keep you supplied. But if you cannot obtain your favorite style of HANES underwear, remember that much of our production is going to our Armed Forces. P. H. Hanes Knitting Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

SANTA SKEPTIC

By LUCRECE HUDGINS

THE STORY SO FAR: Michael Woffington Bartholomew was just telling his friends, for the umpteenth time, that there was no Santa Claus when suddenly, smoke and hot air started coming from his mouth and he couldn't speak. It was the witches' spell!

Chapter Four

Michael Runs Away
When the smoke and hot air burst from Michael's lips he was so astonished he couldn't even try to speak again. He simply stared at the smoke which was drifting slowly up over the house. And the children who had waited to hear him tell why there was no Santa Claus stood and stared at him.

For fully a minute not one of them moved. Then the children began slowly backing away, still keeping their eyes fastened on Michael as though afraid he might start breathing fire any instant. Michael turned and ran into the house.

"It was nothing," he told himself fiercely. "Just the cold. Anybody breathes hot air on a cold day. 'Til just warm myself here by the fire and then I'll be all right."

He stood by the open fire in the living room warming his hands and feet. Pretty soon he was warm as a mouse in a blanket and he forgot about the terrible thing that had happened. He went out into the kitchen where he smelled hot gingerbread fresh from the oven.

Abigail, the cook was just cutting the gingerbread and when she saw Michael she winked and said, "Would you like a piece?"

Michael started to say yes but when he opened his mouth to speak the kitchen was filled with steam and smoke and the hot air simply rolled out of his mouth.

"Mercy me!" screamed Abigail. And dropping the gingerbread on the floor she ran shrieking from the room. Michael's mother, hearing the noise, came running downstairs and Abigail, weeping and trembling with terror, told her what had happened.

When his mother came into the Kitchen Michael was standing there staring at his feet. "You ought to be ashamed," said his mother. "Scaring Abigail like that. Now you go to your room and wait until your father comes home."

When his father came home and heard the story he was very angry. "Why do you play tricks like that?" he asked Michael. "It isn't like you."

Michael wanted to explain that it was something he couldn't help at all but when he spoke the same thing happened again. His father was furious. He waved the smoke away and threatened to whip Michael if it happened again. Then he said there would be no supper for Michael that night and he went away leaving the poor boy sitting on the bed afraid to open his mouth at all.

The next morning when he awoke Michael felt much better. "Perhaps it has gone," he told himself. However, he was very careful to say nothing at breakfast and when he reached school he would talk to no one. But when Miss Trum started the geography lesson she called on Michael to tell her the name of the longest river in the world.

And when Michael started to tell her the school room suddenly was filled with smoke and hot air. All the children screamed with laughter but Miss Trum was angry. "I am going to tell your father," she said, and sent Michael home from school.

When Michael walked out of the school yard he was filled with shame. "My father will beat me and I will be sent to bed every night without supper," he thought unhappily. "But, worse than that, from now on my friends will always laugh at me."

The thought of all his classmates laughing and pointing at him and calling him names filled him with more misery than he could bear for he was very proud.

"There is only one thing for me to do," he thought wretchedly. "I must run away where no one will ever again see my shame."

And he stumbled through the streets of Poopo-Poona, out of the West Gate of the Kingdom and into a world where he never before had been.

He said the government "already holds the power of life and health over radio," and gives orders to the motion picture industry, leaving the newspapers as our bulwark, frank, free and fearless."

"The very nature of the Associated Press organization," he said, "guarantees objective reporting, an unbiased and uncolored report of each of the events about which it tells. That is what the New Deal hates."

"The right of association of men or of newspapers with associates of their own choice in free speech or a free press is a fundamental right as fundamental as the Bill of Rights itself. What profits it the liberty of citizens if the free speech right is sustained but no one permitted to come and hear? or what of a demand that news shall be gathered, printed and made public only when done in connection with American right is threatened in this suit against the Associated Press. If it is lost, the whole American people are the losers, not just the Associated Press."

Pumpley voiced the opinion that all newspapers, whether members of the Associated Press or not, should "give the people the truth about this suit because if the government should win it, they would suffer the greatest injury to their liberty and freedom that has ever been inflicted upon them." He predicted that when fully aware of the facts, the people would "protect themselves by demanding whatever action may be necessary to maintain the AP as it operates today."

to Bizerte and Tunis.

There was little in these reports to indicate how the situation was shaping up, but there appeared reason to believe that the Allies were making use of the lull to overcome the deficiency in air strength from which they obviously have been suffering in the forward areas.

A Reuters dispatch from North Africa said that fresh units of the United States and British air forces were arriving constantly at the front to support the ground troops.

"The RAP has now completely caught up with the first army," the news agency asserted. "Spitfires, Lockheed Lightnings and light bombers are overhead."

Alan Humphreys, a Reuters correspondent at the front, said he had heard the commanding officer of a ground unit calling fighter planes to a certain spot where they were needed "just as if phoning for a taxi."

A delayed dispatch from Noland Norgard, Associated Press correspondent with the U. S. 12th air force, told of the heroic job being done by American army transport pilots to speed men, fuel, supplies and equipment to the fighting zone.

Norgard quoted Major James L. Lee of Carlton, Minn., chief of the transport command, as saying that the pilots were "doing the impossible every day, flying under conditions which would drive airline pilots back home crazy." Lee told how one group of transport planes helped move a British air base 200 miles nearer Tunisia overnight, flying ground personnel, gasoline and equipment over terrain it would have taken a truck convoy days to traverse.

In some areas, where it is impossible for the transports to land near the front, they are keeping advance Allied troops supplied with food and ammunition by parachute, Norgard said.

Reports of discussion between German and Italian troops began to crop up on the Tunisian front as they had earlier in Egypt and Africa.

An Allied headquarters spokesman in North Africa said that in some sectors the Germans and Italians were not on sneaking terms.

Draws Four Years On Assault Charge

Raleigh, Dec. 10—(AP)—John Baldwin, 48, of New York, was sentenced today in Superior court to four years' imprisonment on two charges of deadly assault upon Irene Tyson. The case was an outgrowth of a free-for-all fight at the Tyson woman's chicken farm near here the night of November 11.

Baldwin pleaded guilty and Solicitor William Y. Bickett not pressed two charges of highway robbery brought by the state against the New Yorker.

The defendant did not take the stand but told Judge Q. K. Nimocks that he and Sonia Kennedy, who was killed in an automobile accident as she fled from the chicken farm, planned to be married. He previously told officers that he lost $9,800 at the farm.

Originally the proposal, requested by Mr. Roosevelt in a special message to Congress, also included powers to suspend immigration laws but that portion was cut out after much opposition arose.

Army, Navy and other government officials testified before the committee in favor of the tariff proposal and said the President intended to use the powers only where it was necessary to further the war effort.

Cattlemen and other groups opposed the legislation, expressing fear it would pave the way for a

THE ROMANS HAD A WORD FOR IT

There is no restriction on many of our most tasty meats. There are such meat delicacies, for instance, as oxtails, lambtails, sweetbreads, tongue and the variety meats, hearts, livers, and kidneys. Europeans have made them famous with epicurean artistry. The trick in cooking these "delicacies" is to season with imagination. The ancients used to say that heart gave one courage. Today we say that heart contains vitamins necessary for health. It's the same thing. Why not treat the family with one of these little known but unrestricted delicacies, Oxtails Jardiniere, with today's meal of the week?

OXTAILS JARDINIERE
Have two oxtails cut into joints. Dredge with flour, brown. Season with salt, pepper and paprika. Add: One pint B-V broth (made by dissolving 2 level teaspoons Wilson's B-V in a pint of hot water), a bouquet of celery leaves and parsley, one bay leaf, and 6 black peppercorns. Bring to boil, then bake in moderate (350° F.) oven, about 3 to 4 hours. One hour before finishing, add white onions and carrots. When cooked skim off surface fat and thicken gravy.

"Camouflage" Enters the Kitchen
There's kitchen glamour in many of these unrestricted meat "delicacies." There's flavor, nutrition and good eating in a serving of tongue, brains, oxtails or pork feet. They aren't counted in your voluntary meat ration of 2 1/2 pounds of meat per person each week. If your family isn't accustomed to eating these meats, then educate them with a bit of camouflaging technique. It goes just as well on the home front as on the battle front.

ANOTHER DELICACY DE LUXE
Have your dealer slice a beef heart, then cube like a steak. Let stand several hours in a mixture of 2 tablespoons salad oil, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 3-4 onion slices, a cut garlic clove, a bit of parsley, half a bay leaf and pepper. Turn occasionally, rub mixture into meat. Lift out, drain and dry. Dredge with seasoned flour, brown on both sides with Bakerite, add the mixture and simmer until tender and nearly dry. Serve smothered in pan gravy.

Yes friends, learn to use more of these famous meat delicacies. They are as rich in minerals, vitamins and high quality proteins as any meats. Enjoy meat and meat flavor at its best—there is none better than those that bear the proud name of Wilson's Certified.

Grain Market
Chicago, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Wheat prices rose more than a cent a bushel to the highest quotations since last May and corn was up as much to top levels since August as buying broadened in the grain market today.

Good demand for cash grain and a scarcity of supplies whetted buying of futures, especially December contracts which call for delivery of actual grain this month.

Wheat closed 1/2-1 1/2 cents higher than yesterday, December $1.29 1/2, May $1.32 1/2-$1.32; corn 1/2-3/4 up, December 87 1/2, May 91 1/2-1 1/2; oats 1/2-3/4 up; rye 1/2-1 1/2 higher; soybeans 1 1/2-1 3/4 higher. At one time December rye showed a net overnight advance of as much as 2 1/2 cents.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent scanty passages with starting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Evacuating Italians.
Ankara, Turkey, Dec. 8.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Travelers arriving at Istanbul said today that civilians in the Italian ports of Brindisi and Bari, on the Adriatic coast have begun moving into the interior, since the destructive raid by United States heavy bombers on Naples last week. The ports are across the Italian peninsula from Naples.

N. Y. Stock Market
New York, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The stock market pattern continued ragged today.

Transfers were around 650,000 shares.

Johns-Manville hit a new year's top. Supported at intervals were Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Woolworth, International Nickel Westinghouse, International Harvester and Douglas Aircraft.

Among fallers were Santa Fe N. Y. Central, Union Pacific, Anaconda, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Dow Chemical, Standard Oil (N. J.) Texas Co., J. C. Penney United Aircraft and Eastman Kodak.

Navy Ship Launched At Tampa

The navy's destroyer tender, U.S.S. Piedmont, slides down the ways at Tampa, Fla., as one of seven naval vessels launched there December 7, first anniversary of the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor. The Piedmont is said to be the largest naval ship ever built at a Gulf of Mexico port.

'Miss Victory'

Mrs. Barbara Ann Clark (above), 21, a war plant worker from Flint, Mich., was almost smothered with roses when she was chosen "Miss Victory of America" at a Pearl Harbor rally in Chicago. She was selected from 12 finalists among women employees of 1,000 war industry plants.

Roosevelt Offers Job To Sen. Norris

Washington, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Sen. George W. Norris (Ind.-Neb.), defeated veteran from Nebraska hinted today that President Roosevelt had offered him an important position in the government.

After lunching with Mr. Roosevelt, the senator told questioners. "I am not looking for a job. I don't want a job and I wouldn't take a job unless there was some place where I really could do some good."

Allied Forces . . .

The destroyers had approached in two lines, four miles apart, with three miles between the leading and trailing vessel.

The attack on the squadron was described today by Lieut. Calvin Glendenning of Minneapolis, pilot of a Liberator bomber, who told how the planes circled out of range of the destroyers' anti-aircraft fire before unloading their bombs.

"The ships made a beautiful turning maneuver in an effort to avoid our bombs," he said. "We made

Organize Victory Club At Grimesland

The school district of Grimesland has begun the organization of a Victory Club. Everyone who is interested in participating in activities displayed to keep up the morale of the home front and in contacting the men of this district who are in some branch of the service are invited to attend the meetings of the club. The next meeting will be held in connection with the P.T.A. at the school auditorium, December 15, at 8:00 o'clock. The chairman of the club is Mr. J. L. Outlaw and other members of the committee are Miss Annabelle Wood and Miss Tone Lane. Committees have been formed to cover all phases of the work which will be undertaken.

CHILDREN'S COLDS

FOR DIRECT RELIEF from miseries of colds—coughing, phlegm, irritation, clogged upper air passages—rub throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub. Its poultice-and-vapor action brings relief without dosing.

ALSO, FOR HEAD COLD "sniffles" melt a spoonful of VapoRub in hot water. Then have the child breathe in the steaming vapor.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS . . .

"Judge, there's been quite a bit of talk going around about prohibiting liquor in various spots around the country . . . around the Army camps for one thing. What do you make of it?"

"Well, Henry, I size it up about like this. It looks to me like the folks who are doing the talking are shooting a little bit higher than most people seem to realize. Sort of like the salesman who gets his foot in the door and before you know it he's sold you a bill of goods. Wouldn't surprise me a bit if that they're really aiming for it to take in the whole country again. We all know it didn't work the last time. All we got was bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor . . . plus racketeers, gangsters and the worst crime wave the country ever saw."

"Seems to me we've all got our hands full to win this war without starting up an argument we just got through settling a few years back."
