Russians Drive Battle Lines Closer To Nazi Base At Rostov

Stalin Praises Russians For Valiant Fighting And Calls Upon Army To Annihilate Germans; Onslaught Increases In Violence On All Fronts

London, Jan. 26 (AP)—Russia's armies pushed their battle lines ever closer to Rostov and deeper into the Ukraine today, spurred at once by the praise of Premier Joseph Stalin and his rallying cry that the invading Germans be thrown entirely out of Soviet Russia.

The premier's praise was contained in an order of the day broadcast by the Moscow radio and reported here by the Soviet Monitor. In it he cited the Red army for driving 245 miles in two months of the Russian winter offensive and capturing more than 200,000 prisoners while rolling the Germans back from the Volga and down the Don.

Premier Stalin signed the order as "the supreme commander." He singled out the armies on all the fronts in language that began like this: "I congratulate the Red army men, the commanders and political workers on their victory over the German Fascist invaders and their allies, Rumanians, Italians, and Hungarians.

"I declare my appreciation to the command and to the gallant troops. Forward to the routing of the German invaders and their expulsion over the boundaries of our motherland.

This praiseful exhortation came after the Russians in special and regular communiques, told of reclaiming all of strategic Voronezh from the Germans who had occupied its western section since the summer of 1942 when the Axis offensive began, culminating in the now-broken siege of Stalingrad.

The Russians also reported the capture of Belaya Glinka, in the northern Caucasus, putting one of their armies within 40 miles of Tikhoretsk, a rail junction 90 miles south of Rostov.

Other spearheads aimed at Rostov were said to be 56 miles to the east of the city and 70 miles to the north.

Forty miles south of Tikhoretsk another army which advanced up the railroad from Baku to capture Armavir now was reported threatening Kropotkin, another railway center. The advancing columns there were placed by latest dispatches at Novo-Kubanskoe, nine miles northwest of Armavir on the railroad. A flanking unit of this army, however, was reported to have

N. C. Farm Bureau Opens Annual Meet

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 16—(AP)—More than 600 farmers, here for the annual N. C. Farm Bureau convention, pledged today to meet wartime food production goals. About 200 of the delegates who attended the commodity conference on tobacco appeared to believe that an increase in blue-cured tobacco allotments this year would be welcomed. Some expressed the view however, that the increase would be on an over-all percentage basis and as a guarantee that production of food and other war crops should be tied to the tobacco increase.

TO TAKE TEST VOTE ON FLYNN

Committee To Ballot On Nominee Tomorrow

By JACK BELL Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—Signs multiplied today of increasing Democratic opposition in the Senate to President Roosevelt's appointment of Edward J. Flynn as minister to Australia and his personal ambassador to the southwest Pacific.

With the Senate's 38 Republicans expected to vote nearly solidly against confirmation of the former Democratic national chairman for the diplomatic post, growing indications of Democratic defections cast doubt on the outcome.

A dozen or so "no" votes from the Democratic side might swing the verdict against Flynn, depending on the number of Senators voting when the showdown comes, probably next week. Several more than that number of Democrats were not-committal in their attitude, a cloakroom survey showed.

The Foreign Relations Committee will ballot on the nomination tomorrow and while its verdict generally was believed likely to be favorable, one Democratic member who asked to remain anonymous said an adverse report would not be too surprising to him.

Some Democrats were reported planning to oppose Flynn's confirmation on the grounds that he was not an experienced diplomat and for that reason ought not to be sent to a critical war zone such as Australia.

On another score, Senator Clark (D-Mo) said he was not satisfied with Flynn's statement that he had "tentatively" resigned as Democratic national committeeman from New York.

"I was a bona fide supporter of the Hatch act," Clark told reporters, "and while it stands, I can't vote for him for a federal post while he holds a political connection of that kind. He'll have to resign before he gets my vote."

Flynn did not lack defenders among the Democrats, however, for Clark's colleague, Senator Truman (D-Mo) announced he would vote for confirmation, asserting that opponents "haven't got anything against Flynn except that he's a Democrat."

Many Resignations of Teachers Is Reported

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 26—(AP)—A report by Horace Sisk of Fayetteville, vice president of the North Carolina Education Association said today 146 school units of 170 in the state reported 579 resignations between November 1 and January 1.

Sisk, who also is chairman of the association's committee on teacher shortage, also reported that teacher resignations in the reporting units between January 1, 1941, and November 1, 1942, totaled 4,887, of which 705 and 63 women went into military service.

Tonight

By The Associated Press An important announcement is expected to be made public at 10 p. m. eastern war time, tonight. No indication of its nature can be given at present.

London, Jan. 26—(AP)—A report that Joseph Stalin was fully informed of recent Allied consultations, implying that he did not attend them, appeared today in the London press, which anticipated an official announcement about the talks within the next 24 hours.

Question Wisdom Of Centralized Government

Baltimore, Jan. 26 (AP)—Governor J. M. Broughton of North Carolina said here today that "centralization has about reached the saturation point in this county. Public opinion which has previously supported the federal government in its encroachments on the prerogatives of the states is now beginning to question the wisdom of a large and highly centralized government."

He told the Council of State governments in a prepared address that "public opinion in this nation is swinging back to the view that more should be expected of the states and less of the national government. This is a comforting trend for public sentiment can do more to preserve the rights of the

Fuel Oil Propose Law To Limit Sale Of Beer And Wine

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration today authorized emergency sale of 50 gallons of fuel oil to anyone in the 30-state rationed area — without coupons, if necessary.

The only string to the offer, officials said, was that the person must have applied for coupons for the season at a local ration board. The board is expected afterwards to deduct the 50 gallons from future rations.

OFA has numerous other emergency provisions, but has adopted the special 50-gallon plan, in addition, after conceding that sometimes people might need a few gallons to tide them over the time it takes to get any of the other forms of relief which local ration boards can give.

STATE OF SEIGE IN MARSEILLE Frenchmen Fortify Homes In Defiance Of Germans

London, Jan. 26—(AP)—Vichy authorities here proclaimed a state of siege in Marseille, the Vichy radio reported today, after dispatches from Switzerland told of angry Frenchmen fortifying their homes in the Old Port district of the city and firing on German soldiers ordered to evacuate the district.

The German News Agency DNB said in dispatches to Madrid and Lisbon that 40,000 persons had been arrested in the city. The Vichy radio, which placed the number of arrested at 6,000, was making an obvious effort to minimize difficulties in the old and historical city of Marseille, second largest in France.

Shortly after reporting the state of siege proclamation, the radio asserted that Marseille was calm and the evacuation of the Old Port district had taken place without difficulty.

A Reuters dispatch from Zurich said the Germans had brought up artillery to shell revolting Frenchmen into submission if necessary (Continued on Page Three)

Dies Of Skull Fracture Pittsburgh, Calif., Jan. 26—(AP)—Pvt. Thomas C. Matten, 42, Spartanburg, S. C., died of a skull fracture yesterday after he was found lying behind a fence near the Pittsburgh High School, his head bashed in. Police said he evidently had been slain.

NEW GAINS ON GUADALCANAL

Island Under Complete Control Of Americans

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—American forces have consolidated positions in Kokumbona, Japanese headquarters on Guadalcanal, and control the village and beach after killing 293 enemy troops, the navy reported today.

In a communique the navy told also of a force of Japanese dive bombers being intercepted and turned back by American fighter planes.

The text of the navy's communique, No. 262: "South Pacific (all dates are east Longitude)

"1. On January 25th: (A) A large force of Japanese dive bombers, twin-engine bombers and fighters, which was headed for Guadalcanal, was intercepted and attacked by U. S. aircraft. The enemy planes were driven off and no bombs were dropped on U. S. positions. Four Japanese 'Zeros' were shot down. No U. S. planes were lost."

(B) Two units of U. S. ground forces joined at Kokumbona on Guadalcanal after one unit had entered the village from along the beach to the east and the other had encircled a strong enemy pocket and entered Kokumbona from the south. The maneuver resulted in giving U. S. forces unrestricted use of Kokumbona and the beach to the east. Two hundred ninety three Japanese were killed and five prisoners were taken during the operation.

(C) Several dumps, three six-inch artillery guns, seven 77 mm. guns, four 75 mm. guns, one tank, several trucks, three 40 mm. anti-aircraft guns and various other field pieces and small arms were captured.

"Offensive operations against enemy resistance continue."

Robbers Bound Over To Superior Court

Wilson, Jan. 26—(AP)—Wallace Rigby and William Hare, both of Greensboro, were bound over without bond to Superior Court today by Judge O. P. Dickinson in Wilson General County Court on charges of holding up the Black Creek chief of police and robbing the ABC store there.

The men will be given a hearing next week. Rigbs drew a sentence of 20 years and Hare a sentence of 22 years upon their conviction in Pitt county last week of robbing an ABC store at Ayden.

Must Have Permit For Burning Brush

Pitt County Fire Warden N. S. Tyson today called attention to a state law requiring persons living in rural sections to secure permits to burn brush or open fires in the country beginning February 1. The law requires the permits as a safety measure against woods fires and the destruction of farm homes and buildings. When permits are secured adjoining landowners and neighbors are notified. This is in line with the national movement to prevent forest fires, especially during the war.

The following persons are authorized permit writers for those in Pitt county who plan to do any burning on their land: N. S. Tyson, Greenville; Willie Bell, Belvoir; Peck Whitehurst, Stokes; W. J. Taylor, Bethel; W. H. Sutton, Grimesland; J. A. Moore, Falkland; T. H. Bundy, Farmville; J. S. Eiks, Ballard's Cross Roads; Sam Harris, Winterville; Willie Garrison, Ayden; Jimmie Edwards, Stokesstown; Mr. Clark, Black Jack and Jack Edwards, Simpson.

Priorities Battle On Over Rubber Situation

Washington, Jan. 26—Announcement of a House investigation into charges by Rubber Administrator William Jeffers that "army and navy loafers are impeding war production" enlivened the capital today as it awaited an important announcement at 10 p. m. (EWT).

There was no hint allowed as to the nature of tonight's news, but Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Naval Committee was explicit about the Jeffers case as he told of plans for an investigation. "This is a serious accusation and we should have an inquiry to give Mr. Jeffers an opportunity to prove the correctness of his statement. We should also hear from army and navy officials," Vinson said. Jeffers made the accusation in a discussion at Baltimore last night. He amplified that he was criticizing, not the army and navy, but the "expeditors from the army and navy."

Mrs. Martha Virginia Brinson James (above), of Seattle and formerly of Norfolk, Va., was slain Saturday while she slept in her berth aboard a Southern Pacific train. She was 21 years old.

MESSAGE SENT IRISH PEOPLE

Ceremonies Held On First Troop Landings

Belfast, Jan. 26—(AP)—President Roosevelt in a message read here today at ceremonies commemorating the first anniversary of the landing of United States troops in northern Ireland, said: "From now on we think of you as a united, unrelenting, smashing attack."

The message was delivered at a ceremony at city hall by Maj. Gen. Russel P. Hartle, temporary commander of U. S. Forces in the European theater in the absence of Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. "One year ago the first great convoy of American troops to cross the Atlantic in this war was landed in Northern Ireland," the president's message said.

"They came to buttress the grim defense of the besieged fortress of freedom. "Things have changed greatly in these twelve months. "We no longer think of defense. That is past. "From now on and henceforth we think of attack, determined, unrelenting. (Continued on Page Three)

Norway Coast Is Object Of Raids

London, Jan. 26—(AP)—An authoritative British source said today that a small scale commando raid was made last Saturday night on the coast of Norway and was very successful, but further details were withheld. Only a small force was engaged in the action, he said.

Reuters reported a German news agency broadcast yesterday which said the British commandos had struck at Larvik on the southern coast of Norway. This broadcast said German defenses had repulsed an attack of seven British torpede boats, probably sinking two of them.

Important

An important meeting of air raid wardens, telephonists messengers, fire and police wardens will be held in the court-room of the City Hall Wednesday night at 7:30. Chas. A. White, commander of Civilian Defense, announced today. The meeting will be brief.

Seize Town Of Zauia, 30 Miles West Of Tripoli; Bad Weather Slows Main Tunisian Action; Observers Predict Heavier Bombings Of Axis Bases

London, Jan. 26 (AP)—Pressing relentlessly westward from Tripoli in pursuit of Marshal Rommel's forces, a vanguard of the British Eighth Army has occupied the small coastal town of Zauia about 30 miles west of Tripoli, while a fighting French column from the African interior has reached Tripoli to join the approaching battle for Tunisia.

British spokesmen emphasized that the official communique announced the occupation of Zauia placing the advanced elements of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's pursuing army still over 60 miles from the Tunisian frontier, toward which Rommel's troops were racing under fierce aerial harassment. The Fighting French of Brig. Gen. Jacques Leclerc announced in a triumphant communique that they had reached Tripoli to join their British Allies after a 1500-mile drive over the desert from the Lake Chad region of equatorial Africa. This column began its march northward 39 days ago and fought several battles with the Italian Libyan garrisons en route.

Bad weather restricted activity on the Tunisian front, both on the ground and in the air. The Allied headquarters communique reported briefly that "our forces continued to operate toward the north in the Quantin Valley," indicating that the Allies were maintaining pressure in this region where a recent German thrust has been halted.

The Italians claimed the repulse of an Allied attack yesterday and the capture of eight Allied trucks with their crews. Between Jan. 18 and 24, the broadcast Italian communique declared, more than 4,000 Allied troops and 13 tanks were captured and 70 guns destroyed in the Tunisia fighting.

Allied planes raided several points on Sicily during the day, the Italians reported, damaging buildings and killing at least two persons at Avola near Syracuse. A dispatch from Cairo said both Allied air and land forces now were concentrating their efforts on knocking out Axis airfields in southern Tunisia in order to blind Axis ground troops and stiffen bombing attacks on Allied communications.

Two important Axis airports in that area, at Medenine and at Ben Gardane, have been bombed heavily the past few days. While it was assumed that some of Rommel's forces already had joined Von Arnim, the vulnerability of the Axis corridor up the east coast of Tunisia was indicated yesterday when American troops, accepting a dare, broke through to Maknassy. Citizens Asked To Buy Tickets

Plans for celebration of the President's Birthday, Saturday, in the interest of the infantile paralysis fund, neared completion today with announcement by local chairman W. W. Lee that in addition to the dance to be held at the college there would be a square dance at the armory for those persons who did not desire to attend the regular birthday ball.

Chairman Lee pointed out that people from the rural districts would come to town late Saturday to shop or transact other business and that they could leave their cars parked and walk to the armory for the square dance or to the college for the regular dance.

In addition to raising funds from the two dances, Saturday has been designated as March of Dimes tag day and throughout the day persons on the streets and in the business houses will be requested to contribute a dime or more to the fund.

Service men from nearby bases will be honor guests at the dance at the college but it is necessary for local people to furnish the tickets for these men to attend the dance. Chairman Lee today urged that local persons who would like to purchase one or several tickets to be turned over to service men, make purchases or call in their orders now. The tickets are $1.00 each and it is necessary to know how many tickets are sold in order to know how many service men to invite.

There will be special radio programs tonight and again Thursday night in the interest of the campaign. Programs tonight will be 8:15 to 9:30 o'clock and again from 9:15 to 9:30. Another program will be given Thursday night from 9:15 to 9:45.

The WAR TODAY

By DeWITT MacKENZIE News Analyst

By GLENN BABB Joseph Stalin, who does not use words idly, calls today on his armies to drive on and expel the Germans and their satellites "over the boundaries of our motherland." Events may prove that this is more than mere sloganeering, that the Russian leader is stating his definite military objective for 1943.

The Red army, of course, has a long way to go to achieve it. The Germans still stand hundreds of miles east of the Russian frontier of 1941. In the north, where today's front is closest to Hitler's 1941 jumping off line, the distance is nearly 400 miles. In the south, where the Ukraine remains to be recovered, the distance is nearly 700 miles.

But there is no longer any doubt that the Russian drive has achieved a momentum that will be hard to stop. By their abandonment of Voronezh the Germans relinquished their last hold on the line of the Don except for the 60 miles at its mouth where they are being thrust back on Rostov. The Don line, in a sense, was the chief bulwark on which they relied to hold the fruits of their 1942 campaign.

Despite all the changes in weapons and tactics this war has produced, great rivers remain, especially in country like western Russia, the main barriers to be defended or broken through. Behind the Don the next major stream is the Dnieper and serious military au-

Bundy and James Worley were hostesses to a well-attended and most enjoyable meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary meeting Monday afternoon at the Recreation Club Rooms. Father Maurice was presented by Mrs. K. B. Pace who spoke on Communism by service. After listening to his stirring remarks on this subject, a brief business session was held.

It was announced that the $100 war bond had been purchased. The schedule for being hostess to service men on Sunday afternoon was completed for the coming month and a vote of thanks given to Mrs. Hicks Corey for her faithful service. Reports were given by Mrs. Sam Worthington, Mrs. Chas. Flye and Mrs. A. B. Conroy concerning the help given disabled veterans and their families. Mrs. J. L. Horne extended an invitation to the auxiliary to use the Vines House at any time during the acute gas shortage for their meetings. Mrs. Geo. Spearman called attention to the book campaign for service men and asked the auxiliary to give books and to lend all assistance possible to the library in making this campaign a success.

The auxiliary voted to extend sponsorship to the Greenville Youth Movement. They decided to help with some social gathering and in this way show active effort in the impetus for a greater youth movement.

L. Bedell was present and requested the aid of the auxiliary in getting more enlistments for the W.A.A.C.

During the social hour which followed light refreshments were served and several lingered for some time to look at the exhibits in Greenville's attractive living rooms.

At College Tonight. Rise Stevens, young and attractive Metropolitan Opera star who is singing at the College tonight, broke into the day of rest she was taking in Greenville yesterday to grant an interview to campus journalists and members of the college music faculty.

With her in Greenville are her secretary and her accompanist, who is of Russian descent, though from Austria. "In two months," he told the interviewers, "I shall be a full American."

The singer herself, now in her fourth season in opera, had just left Europe for South America when the Germans marched into Poland. Her accompanist left at the same time.

Though she is appearing in opera in New York three times each week, she has arrangements that permit her to take time for occasional concerts. Currently she is singing in three operas: Rosenkavalier, Samson and Delila, and The Mirage of Figaro, though she breaks this with various other roles.

Her work she says falls into three chief distinct types: opera, concert, and the movies; with the making of records also coming in for a share of her attention.

From Greenville, the singer will go to Columbia, S. C. and after one further concert in another city will return to New York for her engagements there.

Tickets for her concert will be on sale at the door tonight before the opening of the program.

College Assembly. "Every effort we make in our personal training must of necessity be directed toward things that will help win the war," declared S. Marion Justice, Supervisor of Vocational Education and Guidance of the State Department of Education, at the college assembly this morning. The speaker, who will be on the campus of East Carolina Teachers College this week working in cooperation with the home economics department on guidance problems, was introduced by President L. R. Meadows.

After discussing the many changes now taking place in fields of occupation for girls, he outlined the program of the high school Victory Corps, the requirements for membership in it, and the special service units into which high school seniors may go.

In college, he said, students may well re-examine their courses to see if they can transfer from other fields to those of mathematics and science, where the need for teachers is the greatest right now.

One contribution college faculties can make to the war effort, he suggested is the re-training of teachers now at work to help prepare them to handle such work as the pre-flight aeronautics so much in demand.

At College Tonight. Rise Stevens, young and attractive Metropolitan Opera star who is singing at the College tonight, broke into the day of rest she was taking in Greenville yesterday to grant an interview to campus journalists and members of the college music faculty.

With her in Greenville are her secretary and her accompanist, who is of Russian descent, though from Austria. "In two months," he told the interviewers, "I shall be a full American."

The singer herself, now in her fourth season in opera, had just left Europe for South America when the Germans marched into Poland. Her accompanist left at the same time.

Though she is appearing in opera in New York three times each week, she has arrangements that permit her to take time for occasional concerts. Currently she is singing in three operas: Rosenkavalier, Samson and Delila, and The Mirage of Figaro, though she breaks this with various other roles.

Her work she says falls into three chief distinct types: opera, concert, and the movies; with the making of records also coming in for a share of her attention.

From Greenville, the singer will go to Columbia, S. C. and after one further concert in another city will return to New York for her engagements there.

Tickets for her concert will be on sale at the door tonight before the opening of the program.

the college assembly this morning. The speaker, who will be on the campus of East Carolina Teachers College this week working in cooperation with the home economics department on guidance problems, was introduced by President L. R. Meadows.

After discussing the many changes now taking place in fields of occupation for girls, he outlines the program of the high school Victory Corps, the requirements for membership in it, and the special service units into which high school seniors may go.

In college, he said, students may well re-examine their courses to see if they can transfer from other fields to those of mathematics and science, where the need for teachers is the greatest right now.

One contribution college faculties can make to the war effort, he suggested is the re-training of teachers now at work to help prepare them to handle such work as the pre-flight aeronautics so much in demand.

According to Miss Kathrine Holtz-claw, head of the college home economics work, Mr. Justice will meet various groups of students in the department for conference while on the campus.

Knitters Gossip

The Ayden workers went over the top today, bringing in 1 turtle neck 2 regular navy, 4 regular army sweaters, 1 cardigan and 2 berets. Congratulations to the Ayden knitters. They have completed 106 garments since last March. The women in Ayden can sew too. They brought in today 33 pairs of children's pajamas, 12 bed jackets and 27 women's slips. Keep up the good work. Thirteen turtle neck sweaters have been completed to date. Those turned in today were knitted by Mrs. M. M. Askew, Mrs. W. E. Padgett, Mrs. L. W. Edwards, who broke the knitters record by making a turtle neck sweater in one week's time.

One of our knitters turned in her second turtle neck today. Miss Lucy Milton of the training school faculty is organizing a knitting class of high school teachers. This class will have its first meeting tomorrow night.

Greenville High Wins High Honor

By CHESTER WALSH

Scholastic talent and ability was again exemplified recently when seven senior students—a girl and six boys—of the Greenville High School successfully passed an examination for entrance to various colleges in the state in line with war time activities. Out of 400 North Carolina high school students examined, Greenville High had seven to pass the examination and qualify for entrance to some college before they graduate from the high school.

Students here who passed are Miss Josephine Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Gibson, who entered East Carolina Teachers' College; Louis Dupree, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dupree who is attending Coast Community School at Washington, D. C.; Charles Pace, son of Dr. and Mrs. K. B. Pace; Richard Stokes, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Stokes; Carlton Wilson, son of Mrs. Myrtle Wilson; Earl Denton, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Denton, who both today entered State College at Raleigh, all of Greenville, and Jack Carson, son of Mrs. D. C. Carson, of Bethel.

The seven students who passed the examinations may enter any college of their choice in the State. The government needs engineers and specialists. Dispensing with rules to permit senior high school undergraduates was done in response to request from the War Department. The students, if they succeed in passing in their first quarter at college will be given due credits and for securing their diplomas from the high school.

June H. Rose, superintendent and Roy Wilkerson, and teachers at the high school, today expressed pride over the good showing Greenville High students made in the state-wide examination. From present reports the local school made the best average in the State.

Limit Of Ten Cans To Each Consumer

By IRVING PERLMETER

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—If your supply of canned goods does not exceed ten cans for each member of your family you probably will not be deprived of any coupons when rationing of canned foods starts about March 1.

This probable limit—it may be trimmed down to eight or nine a person—has been adopted tentatively by the Office of Price Administration, it was learned today, to discourage hoarding.

It may prove to be one of the most controversial phases of the program, however, because in some regions, particularly isolated areas, it is the practice to stock up for long intervals.

Cans containing less than eight ounces will not be counted, although both size and contents will count on rationed purchases. Application of penalties for excess supplies will be one of the big tasks of the 1,500,000 school teachers and other volunteers who will register the public for food rationing in about three or four weeks.

On dates yet to be fixed, depending on the speed of printing and distributing books, instructions and other forms, on adult from every family will go to a registration place with two things—the family's No. 1 ration books (the ones used for sugar and coffee) and a total of how many cans of fruits or vegetables (excluding home-canned) the family owns. It will not be necessary to list each can separately—just the total.

Mrs. Burt James To Attend Conference

By CHESTER WALSH

Mrs. J. B. James, chairman of the Junior Red Cross in Pitt County, has been ordered to attend an Eastern Area Junior Red Cross conference at Alexandria, Va., on February 1. The conference will last three days.

Mrs. James has done outstanding work with the Junior Red Cross here. She has received messages of appreciation from the Marine Base for good things done for the hospital there. She did a grand job of operating with the schools of the county and here in Greenville. Those who have been working with her have functioned efficiently and enthusiastically, a leading business and professional man said today.

The Junior Red Cross, according to a feature story in a leading state newspaper last Sunday, has established a record for service in Greenville and Pitt County under Mrs. James' leadership.

The conference of key leaders in Junior Red Cross work at Alexandria will be for the eastern area.

London, Jan. 26—(AP)—The German high command asserted today that Russian thrusts on a wide part of the eastern front increased in violence yesterday.

"The onslaught of the Soviets against a large part of the eastern front increased in violence yesterday," said the broadcast communique, recorded here.

"In severe defense against the enemy, who was several times superior in number, the German armies withstood all attempts of the Soviets to break through or corndon them off."

Again the communique gave a black picture of the plight of the German defenders of Stalingrad, saying they were "concentrated in narrow space in the southern and central district of the ruins of the town." There, it said, they are "continuing a heroic resistance, supported therein by the air force under the most difficult conditions."

Fathers Toasted At Rotary Club Meeting

By WYATT BROWN

Girls toasted their fathers last night at the Rotary Club. It was father and daughter night for the Rotarians. Under the direction of Mrs. J. H. Rose, girls entertained with songs, dances and readings. J. B. Kittrell greeted the daughters for the Rotarians with a combination cheer and song done in his usual enthusiastic style. Kathryn Van Norwick, daughter and sister of Rotarians, responded with an eloquent toast to "Dad."

First, the girls sang a couple of songs and then every one joined in with a song. It was a parody written by a daughter on "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." Following the singing Janice Owens read a selection "Entertaining Sister's Boy Friend." Then came a reading by Betty Anne Young, "Who's Afraid?" Next Miss Helen Zerle sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" from the opera "Naughty Marietta." Mary Anne Duncan followed the sole with a reading "Boy Crazy." "Between Two Loves" and "A Coquette Conquered" were read by Jane Massey. The last number was tap dancing by Mary Anne Duncan, Katherine Youngblood, and Joyce Corbett.

At the conclusion each guest was given a gift. Guests of the club besides the daughters and entertainers were Dr. H. G. Haney, new pastor of the Eighth Street Christian church, and visiting Rotarian Bancroft Moseley. Greenville Rotarians who have gone into service are kept on the rolls as honorary members.

and that house-to-house fighting was in progress.

German occupation authorities had ordered evacuation and razing of the district, apparently as a defense measure against possible Allied invasion from North Africa.

German dispatches reporting the arrest of 40,000 persons said the move was "absolutely necessary because there were among them many criminals whose activities were against the security and interest of the state."

Thousands of persons, it was said, were being sent to Frejus, a town 75 miles east of Marseille.

Garment Workers Stop Work Today

New Year, Jan. 26—(AP)—Nearly 5,000 employees affiliated with the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, A. F. L., ceased work today following the breakdown of negotiations with five employer associations for a wage readjustment.

Union officials described it as a stoppage and said it might spread through the dress trade. New York City's largest industry employing 85,000 if arbitration was not begun or the War Labor Board did not intervene.

The 5,000 workers were from 75 to 100 shops. Should a general stoppage result, it would be the first since 1933.

In a statement the employers explained their position as follows: price ceilings in the industry are so low that the employers cannot increase wages without cutting in to capital. The employers asked the union to cooperate in getting price ceilings raised, but this the union refused to do.

Union officials said that the average weekly earnings of dress industry employees were about $32, but added that employees had only about seven months work each year. It was understood no definite increase had been asked.

American Pilots Down Jap Planes

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—American fighter pilots in China are shooting down 12 Japanese airplanes for each of their own planes lost, the former commander of the 23rd fighter group in China reported today.

Colonel Robert L. Scott, Jr., who holds the distinguished flying cross, air medal and silver star, all with clusters, for shooting down 13 Japanese planes and six probables, told a press conference that when an American fighter mission in China failed to bring down an average of one Japanese ship for each man in the mission, "we thought we had failed."

Organized in the field last July 4, the 23rd fighter group fought a battle that day with the Japanese and shot down 19 ships, without losing a single plane, Scott related.

Germans Raid Towns On The English Coast

London, Jan. 26—(AP)—German raiders coasted in across the southeast shore of England with the rising sun behind them and bombed at least two towns today, killing two women in one town and injuring three persons in an adjacent village.

A brief but intense anti-aircraft barrage was put up and the raiders made off quickly.

During the night there was some slight enemy activity over coastal districts of southeast England but it was announced officially that bombs which fell at one point in East Anglia dropped harmlessly.

"You Must Try L-K to Really Know What This Medicine Will Do"

"FOR YEARS I TRIED EVERYTHING I HEARD OF WITHOUT GETTING RELIEF UNTIL I TRIED DR. FOSTER'S L-K"

Enjoying the splendid relief L-K brought her and not wanting to keep her experience from others seeking relief from the same distressing symptoms that had caused her so much suffering, Mrs. Mary E. King, 1311 Florida St., Greensboro, N. C., beloved citizen, comes out with her strong public endorsement of this wonderful medicine.

"The distress I suffered after meals was sheer torture, and I lost weight and strength until I felt like giving up. Sluggish climatology caused terrible toxic pains, my back ached and I had to get up several times during the night. I never felt like eating. The food I forced down did not seem to help or strengthen me. My nerves would not stand the least excitement and often I would not get a wink of sleep before two o'clock in the morning. For years I tried everything I heard of without getting relief. It just seemed like I would have to go on suffering."

"DOCTOR FOSTER'S L-K went right to work and brought grand relief in many pleasant ways. I can now eat anything I want without the least bit of distress, and my appetite has returned in full force. L-K's laxative effect was splendid. I am not nervous and I can sleep sound without having to get up."

I feel duty bound to let other sufferers know about such a remarkable medicine as DR. FOSTER'S L-K.

only 35 miles from the coastal road, and seized 80 Axis prisoners.

French troops, holding their positions in the important Ousseitia sector of central Tunisia, threw back German attacks in the mountains to the east and with the arrival of U. S. armored troops, strengthened their hold north and northeast of the town, a French communique said.

Rommel was believed to have sent a sizeable force into the Mareth line, which once guarded Tunisia against the Italians, but this move was believed by most observers to be only a delaying action against the Eighth Army pounding westward toward the lines.

The position there was further threatened by the approach from the south of Fighting French forces under Brig. Gen. Jacques Le Clerc reported to be within 50 miles of the Mediterranean west of Tripoli. These troops had reached the Jebel Neftusa, a long range of hills stretching from Libya into Tunisia south of the Mareth line.

The greatest problem of the two Axis armies in Tunisia, will be in getting supplies. The two main ports open to them, Bizerte and Tunis, are in the extreme north and are under almost constant aerial attack by Allied planes. The harbor installations already are badly smashed.

Heavier Allied bombings of Sicily, the main Axis supply base for Tunisia, and all over Germany and Italy were expected by many observers. It is even possible now, they said, for bombers to leave England, blast targets in Germany or Italy and land in North Africa.

The airdromes on the north African coasts, they said, make excellent bomber bases as they are rarely made unuseable by mist or fog.

The American thrust at Maknassy apparently a small operation designed to test Axis strength, was made after German planes dropped the challenge: "Why don't the Americans come out and fight?"

Strength FOR THE DAY

FOLLOWING ORIGINAL IMPULSE

Astronomers were first puzzled by certain minute bodies that seemed to revolve in the pathway of the planets. At last the theory was advanced that these were fragments of the larger planets, dislodged from their original unity.

The human heart behaves in a similar fashion. The Bible tells us that mankind has fallen from the original perfection in which God created it. Yet man has in him the urge to be better, the desire to pursue the course which God originally laid out for him.

SOME WILL DIE.

A brief news item from a Western city reports an auto accident. The driver was burned to a crisp. In his car were found heat-sealed containers that had held gasoline.

A five-gallon can of gasoline in the home, in the garage or in the back of a car can bring almost instant death to anyone in the vicinity.

As spring and summer approach, the temptation will be strong to "save" a little gas for a trip to the mountains or the seashore. A percentage of those who succumb to this temptation will meet a horrible death.

Problem of the WIRE CAGE

BY JOHN DICKSON CARR

Chapter Four Brenda's nerves seemed on edge. "I hope it rains and rains and rains!" she said savagely.

Hugh followed her, leaving Frank to bring Kitty. But he did not catch up with her until she had reached the tennis court.

"Why did you run after me?" Brenda asked. "Do you want me to tell you all over again? I've had my answer already, thanks. All the same, I'd like to know what's got into all of us today."

"Yes, I know," she insisted. "Anyway, that's not what I wanted to tell you. You think you understand but you don't understand at all. I mean, it's about—the other thing."

"Danger again." She was looking at the ground, scuffing the toe of her white tennis shoe in the grass. "I meant what I did, Hugh. I meant what I did, no matter what I said, do you see? Only there are reasons why I've got to marry Frank and please everybody. I wasn't going to tell you what the reasons were, and I certainly couldn't tell you when there was anybody else about, but I can't help it. I'm going to tell you now, Hugh, the reason—"

"Well, well, well!" interrupted a light, far-carrying, amused voice, bursting through the opening of the poplars. "Brenda and I against you and Kitty," pursued Frank, and spun his racket into the air.

"That means it's a kick in the eye," grumbled the gentleman known as Nick. "All right, on with it." "I've now delivered the message Sir Herbert sent. I'm tempted to add something on my own. Would you like to see it, if you heard it, that this paragon of yours, this Mr. Frank Dorrance, is little more than an infernal young black-guard?"

"Nick's under-lip came out. "That's taking a bit on yourself, isn't it?" "I know. But you certainly don't seem impressed by anything I've already told you."

"Well, when do you expect me to do?" he demanded querulously. "Lecture the boy? All right; I don't mind. You can't tell me he's done anything actionable."

At the moment Nick neither looked nor felt his best. Since his sight was defective in one eye—one of the lenses of his spectacles was frosted, which gave a sinister and misleading cast to his face—he should never have tried to drive a sports car as fast as Frank Dorrance, only a week ago he had managed to squash a new Daimler as flat as an opera-hat against a tree in Highgate village.

"Let's get this straight," Nick continued. "Frank has been seen about with a shady bottle-party crowd who'll get into trouble as sure as guns. Because Sir Herbert Armstrong is a friend of mine, he sends a full-fledged superintendent to warn me about it. I appreciate it. But as for Frank getting into trouble—phaa!"

Hadley looked at him curiously. "I suppose you know everything he does?" "Just between ourselves, I don't care two hoots what he does, so long as he behaves himself in public. I'll tell you something. That boy's got character."

"Evidently." "Guts," said Nick. "Plenty of it. And I'll tell you something else. Just a month and three days from today, he is marrying one of the finest girls you'll ever meet: Bob White's daughter. And when they marry, they jointly inherit a cool fifty thousand pounds."

"A cool fifty thousand," repeated Nick, stressing the temperature popularly attributed to banknotes. "With any sort of luck, their first child will be born within a year. That child will be named Nicholas Young Dorrance. He will be educated at good preparatory and public schools, and then go to Sandhurst or Dartmouth; I don't care which; but Army or Navy it's to be. Definitely. Old Jerry Noakes had the bringing-up of Frank; and I won't say, mind you, that there aren't things in Frank's character I'd have made different; but this boy will be the one I bring up. And no mistake."

"I have no doubt," he said, "that the child will be a credit both to you and to his prospective father. By the way, what relation is young Dorrance to you?" "Frank? No relation at all?" "But you keep on saying he takes after you?"

"So he does. I don't want to bore you with the details," said Nick "but it goes back a good many years. There were three of us at college—blood-brothers, you know? Bob White, Jerry Noakes, and myself."

"Well, Bob White was the only one of us who had any children and also the only one who didn't get on in the world. He married one of the Bedfordshire Stantons, a girl I was rather sweet on myself once, and they had one daughter: Brenda. We all made a lot of her. I had got on pretty well, if I do say it myself. And Jerry Noakes was doing uncommonly well in the city. He adopted a nephew of his, Frank. Mind, I'll say this for Jerry: he did everything for that boy, and didn't do such a bad job of it. But I helped a good deal. Well, the next thing we heard—out of a clear sky—was that Bob White had shot himself and his wife died of drink. I took the girl, of course."

"Meantime, Jerry Noakes and I were laying plans. He took to Brenda as much as I did. He was going to get Brenda and Frank married. But before he died he altered his will. "He was leaving Frank and Brenda his money anyway, but now he left it to 'em on condition that they got married. The lawyer said he was loony in the head to make a will like that, but I stuck by Jerry."

The Effects of War on Our Country.

Many of the countries in Europe and Asia have been fighting for several years. They have made many sacrifices in order to help win this war. Our country has been sent thousands of miles away. They are fighting for our country and for us and are suffering a great deal and having many discomforts.

There are many effects of war in our country. First, it affects our homes. Many of our boys have been sent to one of the war fronts and are fighting for peace. We miss them more than anything else and it is one of the greatest sacrifices of the war.

Second, it affects our occupations. Many of the boys and men that were working at home are now in some part of the armed forces. Some of the people that farmed before the war are still farming, but many of them are working on defense jobs.

Third, our transportation is affected. Because of the shortage of gas and rubber we do not go off as often as we did before the war. We can not ride on buses as much now because of so many defense workers.

Fourth, our schools have been affected by the war. Some of the schools that are heated with oil have had to close. Many of the children have to walk to the school buses in order to save gas and rubber.

Fifth, our personal life has been affected by the war. Because of the shortage of gas and rubber we can not pleasure ride. We may not be able to go to shows and parties and wear silk hose and nice clothes, as we do in time of peace.

It takes all of those sacrifices and discomforts to help win the war. I think all of us will be more than glad to do anything to help make peace and get our boys back home again.

Problem of the WIRE CAGE

Chapter Four Brenda's nerves seemed on edge. "I hope it rains and rains and rains!" she said savagely.

Hugh followed her, leaving Frank to bring Kitty. But he did not catch up with her until she had reached the tennis court.

"Why did you run after me?" Brenda asked. "Do you want me to tell you all over again? I've had my answer already, thanks. All the same, I'd like to know what's got into all of us today."

Only there are reasons why I've got to marry Frank and please everybody. I wasn't going to tell you what the reasons were, and I certainly couldn't tell you when there was anybody else about, but I can't help it. I'm going to tell you now, Hugh, the reason—"

British Reported At Tripoli

The British Eighth Army, driving from the southeast, and Fighting French forces, advancing from the south, have taken Tripoli (1). The broken arrow on this map shows the way for a British air offensive, from that city's air base facilities, against Tunis. The black shading locates Gen. Rommel's Axis army, reported retreating toward the Mareth line between Libya and Tunisia. Meanwhile, fighting of growing intensity was reported between Axis and French troops on the central Tunisia front (2), and Allied planes were reported to have struck heavily at Sicily.

QUINT TEAMS LOSE TO ARMY

War Department To Call Up Students Soon

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Chicago, Jan. 26—(AP)—Mustered college reservists into army service may drain more than 100 athletes from the big ten conference by spring and is almost certain to break up the great Illinois basketball team at a critical stage in its close race with Indiana for the championship.

In fact, the tap on manpower may be opened so wide that the western conference may find it necessary to rescind the freshman rule before spring—or at the most by next fall in order to carry out its football schedule.

The order will immediately hit Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan, whose semesters or terms ended after Dec. 31, 1942—the War Department's deadline in calling up the first batch of students in reserve corps.

New terms began early this month at Minnesota, Purdue, Indiana, Ohio State, Iowa, Chicago, Northwestern and Notre Dame allowing competition of basketball with their present material. They may lose many athletes for track, however.

Illinois, only a third of the way through its 12-game cage schedule, faces the loss of forward Ken Menhe, guard Jack Smiley and center Art Mathisen—all key men in the regular lineup—before the middle of February. If they are called before Feb. 12, the defending conference championship team would be completely riddled for five important contests—two with Minnesota, and one with Wisconsin, Northwestern and Chicago.

RUNNER— Frank Dixon (above) of New York University is one of the nation's rising track stars. He runs the mile and cross-country distances. He is a freshman.

Gentleman Joe
Although Joe Choyinski, who died Sunday, weighed only 170 pounds in his fighting days, he took on such big guys as Jim Corbett, 230-pound Jim Jefferies, sailor, Tom Sharkey and Jack Johnson and did all right. ... And he claimed that in five fights with Corbett (including one with bare fists on a sand lot) he only was licked one. ... In his book on Gentleman Jim, ring historian Nat Fleisher quotes Billy Delaney, trainer of Corbett and Jefferies, as saying the Choyinski-Corbett battle on a barge at Benicia, Calif., was the greatest fight he ever had seen. "For cleverness, endurance and gameness displayed I've never seen his equal," said Billy. ... And Corbett called Joe "the salt of the earth, an all-around good fellow, gentleman, who was always on the level."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Jan. 26—(AP)—The three New York baseball clubs which can't agree on anything at times, agree that they won't let any of their players train by themselves in warmer climates after the northern camps open. ... "You know a ball player's idea of training," sports Secretary Eddie Brantek of the Giants. "They work out a few minutes then go play a round of golf." ... "We're going to urge them all to do some road work before they report," adds Ed Barrow of the Yanks. "We always do."

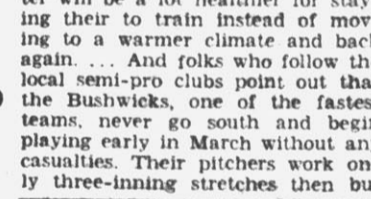

The Dodgers' Branch Rickey says he'd like to get five or six players together for preliminary work about March 1 so he could be sure how their conditioning is coming along.

Contrary Opinions
Babe Ruth's idea that northern training will "ruin" players and that the pitchers will only be good for a few innings at the start brought a series of snorts along the baseball beat. ... "What did he ever know about training?" was the general reaction. ... And you gotta admit the Babe never took his spring work too seriously. ... Dixie Walker, for one, figures that players who live in the north all winter will be a lot healthier for staying there to train instead of moving to a warmer climate and back again. ... And folks who follow the local semi-pro clubs point out that the Bushwicks, one of the fastest teams, never go south and begin playing early in March without any casualties. Their pitchers work only three-inning stretches then but

Service Dept.
Sgt. Jackie Wilson thought so much of his chances against Jack La Motta when they fought at Madison Square Garden recently that he bought tickets for more than 50 of his buddies at Mitchell Field, N. Y. ... Ralph Bishop, the Norfolk Training Station court star, was a member of the 1936 Olympic basketball team that toured Germany. ... Basil James, the jockey, is wearing an M. P. arm-band these days and bossing the would-be soldiers at the New York induction center. ... What a day he'll have if a racing steward ever appears in the line.

Despite the advent of tank warfare on the desert, camel-borne troops are still used for some forms of fighting.

yearly. A companion measure would fix a gallonage tax on wine, with part of the receipts to be used for providing grape and berry vines and seed for farmers desiring to grow products for the manufacture of wine.

Gulford's Reps., Cavness Turner and Shreve were joined in introduction of the bills by Reps. Lumpkin, Uzzell of Rowan, Burns of Person, Sumner of Washington and Marshall of Stokes.

The proposed Division would regulate the manufacture, transportation and sale of wines and encourage farmers to grow grapes, fruits and berries to be processed into wine. Individual farmers would be permitted to make and sell up to 60 gallons of wine annually. An agricultural agency would be designated by the governor to conduct research aimed to improve the state's production of grapes, fruits and berries.

The General Assembly was informed that Congressman R. L. Doughton had presented in person to Prentiss Brown, national OPA chief, the legislature's petition asking withdrawal of a OPA order allowing cut prices for oily carcass hogs. The order, the General Assembly complained, would slash thousands of dollars from the annual income of North Carolina farmers, many of whom grow hogs on peanuts and soybeans. This feed produces oily carcass hogs, but foes of the OPA order maintain such meat is as good as hard pork.

Motorists Handicap When Alarms Sound

By CHESTER WALSH The fire department was called to Scott's Dry Cleaning plant Third and Cotanche streets, about 1 o'clock today. A defective fuse caused the alarm. No damage was done.

Promptness of the fire department in arriving elicited favorable comment from business and professional men and others. "The fire department has always done splendid work in Greenville. Fire losses have been so nominal here that with the ample water supply, ideal alarm system and the good condition in which the men of the department keep their motorized equipment," a well known Greenville man said today.

This man, who keeps well informed on what's going on and takes an active part in community activities, was severe in his criticism of motorists who crowded in ahead of the apparatus and who followed it so closely that a fire truck could not move a yard without the aid of a traffic policeman.

"The fire department starts out under the handicap of public interference and obstruction of traffic when an alarm sounds," the man said. "The police could render valuable assistance to the fire department when alarms are sounded by directing traffic."

Winston-Salem, N. C., Jan. 26—(AP)—The funeral will be held tomorrow for W. J. Byerly, retired banker, who died in a local hospital Monday.

other year. Bloom said lend-lease was especially needed now "when the United Nations are on the march to victory." Meanwhile, Frank C. Walker, Democratic national chairman, accepted the resignation of Edward J. Flynn as national committeeman from New York, saying Flynn could not give adequate attention to that job while serving as minister to Australia.

Notice of the impending announcement came as Congress kept an eye on the priorities dispute while such other pressing problems as boosting the national debt limit to $210,000,000, obtaining increased revenues for the war, and the manpower situation.

As a Senate Agriculture sub-committee summoned War Production Board Chairman Donald M. Nelson to ask what he intends to do about the priorities controversy involving the synthetic rubber program, official sources said a final decision on the Jefferson-armed services duel will have to come from the President.

The conflict flared into the open yesterday when the rubber director told the council of state governments in Baltimore that the country will get war production "if we keep the army and navy loafers out of these plants."

Questions Wisdom...

(Continued From Page One) bitions of our federal government. There will be many old and new problems, the Governor said, and many of them "will be laid on the doorsteps of our state capitols where they properly belong and there will, I suspect, be scant inclination on the part of the national government to grab them. In fact, we may discover in the years immediately ahead that Washington is more disposed to pass the buck to the states than to raid their jurisdictions."

For more than a century and a half the American state has endured under our federated system," the Governor said. "It has weathered wars, external and internal, depressions, panics, square deals, no deals and new deals. It has inclination if not more powerful today than ever before."

The people, he continued, "delegated to the federal government those powers which they did not feel capable of exercising for themselves such as national defense, interstate and international trade, treaties, and the regulation of money. But they were careful to state those grants of power in definite terms. At least they thought they were. Subsequent supreme court decisions revealed that they had been a little loose in their phraseology. "x x x Poverty, illiteracy, unemployment, inadequate educational facilities, starvation wage and pitifully small returns for labor and sweat of the man of the soil are factors which have brought about the almost revolutionary change in the nature and scope of federal activities."

And, he said, if the state governments do not provide relief, the people will not hesitate to look to the federal government. There is a large and growing group "of theorists who believe our national government should take over all control and authority, leaving only to the sovereign state the police power and such other local regulations and control as relate to the intimate needs of the people. x x x Undoubtedly there are many of these theorists 'connected with the federal government, and some of them in positions of large influence.'" But, he said, it is inevitable that federal activities and powers should increase in time of war.

The future of the American state was never so bright, Governor Broughton said. The legal doctrine of state's rights may be as dead as the gallant boys from North Carolina who fell on the battlefields of this state four score years ago. But while we may have lost in technical while we may have lost in technical opportunities. The American state is still one of the irreplaceable pillars on which this federated republic rests."
