Eighth Army Repulses Rommel's Attempt To Break Through Lines

Three Nazi Assaults In Sedjenane Area Beaten Off; Air Activity Heavy Against Enemy Land And Sea Communications

By WES GALLAGHER Allied Headquarters in North Africa, March 12 (AP)—Allied bombers and fighters began softening Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's troop positions and supply lines in the Mareth area yesterday as British and American ground forces beat off three attacks by Col. Gen. Jergen Von Arnim in North Tunisia, it was announced today.

Axis infantry and artillery struck once, then again and again at British defenses near Tamera, seven miles west of Sedjenane in the North, but each time the enemy was driven back with considerable losses, field accounts said.

Military observers agreed that Von Arnim's only object in pressing the attacks was to keep the first army occupied.

Western desert air forces started the pounding of the Mareth Line with a raid by RAF Boston bombers while the series of Axis attacks in both southern and northern Tunisia came to a halt without any significant gain.

At the same time United States bombers and fighters struck again at Axis sea lanes and the Allies reported the destruction of 12 more Axis planes. Seven Allied aircraft were listed as missing.

There was no late report by noon today of Rommel's attack in the Kiska Islands—some 40 miles southwest of the Mareth Line, but authorities said a small-scale action carried out by 30 armored cars was believed to be making little progress. They regarded it as a defensive measure against long-range raids.

Escorted by Spitfires and Kittyhawks, the Boston started the aerial onslaught against the Mareth Line with a raid at the northeast end. Observers said fires broke out.

Marauders with P-38 Lightning escorts caught a convoy of Axis barges in the Sicilian strait, blew up one and damaged two others and shot down two escorting Junkers 88s and a Messerschmitt 110, it was announced.

Four other Axis planes were destroyed by Allied aerial squadrons protecting Allied ground troops near Ksar Rhodane, they were said to have been bagged in air raids upon Axis fields in the Tunis area Thursday.

To Increase Price Of Milk Monday

Local milk prices will be increased one cent a quart on Monday as a result of recent OPA authorization.

Under the plan the entire increase in price is to be passed on to farmers and dairymen from whom the local distributors purchase milk. This automatically increases the price received by the farmers by four cents a gallon.

The OPA in making the authorization pointed out that because of increased costs of production many dairy herds were being slaughtered because the dairymen found it unprofitable to operate at price level in effect prior to the authorized increase. Declaring that adequate milk supply was essential to the public health the OPA expressed the hope that the increased price to the producers would make it possible for them to meet the higher operating costs and continue in the dairy business instead of disposing of their herds.

GIVES RULING ON LABOR RATE

Attorney General Hands Down Number of Opinions

Raleigh, March 12—(AP)—When county commissioners hire out prisoners under authority by the court, the county board should determine the amount of compensation to be paid for labor of such prisoners, Attorney General Harry McMullan ruled today in a digest of opinions.

He also ruled that a county commissioner has no right to vote for himself to fill a vacancy in the office of sheriff. Such a transaction would be void as against public policy.

Other opinions handed down were: Where a city has not adopted one of its statutory plans of government and there is no provision of its charter making provision for a primary, there is no law requiring or authorizing a primary for the selection of candidates for municipal offices.

Fines collected for violations of a city ordinance must be paid into the school fund of the county under article IX, section 5, of the N. C. constitution.

A municipality is not liable for injury done to an aircraft spotter who serves in a tower erected on municipal property with municipal funds but which is operated under the auspices of the Aircraft Warning Service, and over which the municipality exercises no control.

In a criminal case, a justice of the peace is authorized to commit a witness against the prisoner in jail if the witness refused to give the recognition required by the justice of the peace.

No operators license is required for the operation of a motor grader upon the highways of the state in the course of road maintenance.

A person living in a rural district is under the same obligation to list and pay taxes on a dog as a person living in a city or town who owns a dog.

Cotton bought by a cotton merchant for resale, which he has on hand on January 1, 1943, should be listed for ad valorem taxation.

A niece is not entitled to receive "aid to dependent children" for her dependent infant aunt.

While a judge may suspend sentence upon payment of all or a portion of the costs and the defendant would be relieved of the punishment imposed by paying such costs, the defendant would remain civilly liable for the unpaid portion of the costs.

A police officer is without authority to arrest a member of the home guard without a warrant or other legal process for failure to report for drill.

WILL RECRUIT FARM LABOR

Recommend Appropriation For Migrating Workers

Washington, March 12—(AP)—Warning of possible "disastrous" effects unless adequate labor is supplied to produce food, the House Appropriations Committee today recommended an appropriation of $28,100,000 to recruit and place farm workers in needed areas under direction of State Extension Services.

The committee cast aside as excessive Agriculture Department requests for $65,075,000 to undertake the new program involving an estimated 3,500,000 workers—including foreigners, women and youths—and specified that the program not be handled by the Farm Security Administration.

In taking this action it rejected a budget bureau suggestion that the Secretary of Agriculture be given authority to allocate the appropriation to whatever agencies he believed should handle the work. Durin hearings on the bill the Secretary indicated that he believed the program should be handled largely by the FSA, which had operated a similar program last year.

Rickenbacker Sees Need Of Huge Army

Indianapolis, March 12—(AP)—Because of the various theaters of war, the United States will have to put 15 million men into uniform before victory is achieved by the United Nations, says Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

He said the United States was the only country among the Allied Nations having "plus" fighting manpower.

"It is going to take 15 million American men in uniform to win this war," Rickenbacker said last night at a meeting sponsored by the National Foundation for Education in American Citizenship.

Rickenbacker, returning to the city where he first won fame as an automobile race driver, was applauded by the meeting when he criticized what he termed "mass-terminations" when he was charged with destroying American incentive work.

Blast Positions In Aleutians Islands

Washington, March 12—(AP)—American bombers and fighters blasted Japanese gun positions and buildings on Kiska island in the Aleutians, the navy announced today, in a violent, low level attack against the Japanese outpost last Wednesday.

The Kiska raid was one of the heaviest delivered by the Aleutians air command in several weeks, although the Japanese base has been repeatedly pounded whenever weather permitted. It has been the target of five reported raids so far this month, counting the two actions disclosed in today's communiqué. Others may have been conducted yesterday.

SHORTAGE IN POTATO SEED

Farmers Being Hampered In Spring Plantings

Raleigh, N. C., March 12—(AP)—A serious shortage of seed Irish potatoes developed in North Carolina today to hamper farmers and victory gardeners, the N. C. State College Extension Service reported.

Prices for available seed potatoes zoomed upward in eastern North Carolina, increasing from $5.25 a bag last fall to $8 now. A 50-cent increase has occurred within the last 10 days.

The Extension Service said there was not a seed potato in Raleigh and dealers were pessimistic.

L. P. Watson, horticultural specialist, said the small farmer and victory gardener had been most seriously affected. Many large farmers in eastern North Carolina bought their seed last fall.

He said the seed shortage existed (Continued on Page Six)

MAY REDUCE INCOME TAX

Approve Plan For Reduction Of Four Per Cent

Washington, March 12—(AP)—The House Ways and Means committee today approved a plan to reduce by as much as 4 per cent the tax obligations of persons paying income taxes before they come due, thus encouraging individuals to go on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Word of this action came shortly after President Roosevelt expressed opposition to the Ruml skip-a-year tax plan on the ground that the net return to the government under that plan would be less.

Under the Ways and Means committee proposal a taxpayer remitting any part of the taxes on his current year's income by March 15 would be given a discount of 4 per cent on that part, by June 15—3 per cent, September 15—2 per cent, and December 15—1 per cent.

Thus if any taxpayer desired to estimate the tax obligation on his 1943 income and pay up before next March 15, in addition to paying his 1942 tax obligation, he would get the discount depending on how early the payment was made.

By this method, committee chairman Doughton (D-NC) said, it was hoped to provide an incentive for taxpayers to achieve pay-as-you-go—that is the payment of taxes in one year on the basis of income of the previous year, as at present.

HEAR REPORT ON AIR BASE

Engineer Presents Details To Board Of Aldermen

The highlight of the Greenville Board of Aldermen's meeting at the City Hall last night was the report of Harvey Wendorf, engineer of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, Atlanta, Ga., concerning surveying of the city-county airport on the other side of Tar river for paving runways and other work.

The engineer's report stated that the land is level, easy of approach, well drained and that additional land may be needed to make the runways the required length. It was shown that about 100 additional acres of adjacent land will be needed for the airport. This land will be acquired from three separate owners. Before the CAA can proceed with the work the city and county must own all of the necessary land.

It was explained that the engineer was speaking for the CAA, which will do the construction work.

The airport, when properly equipped it is understood will be used as a training base for the armed forces. City Engineer Henry L. Ebers was instructed to survey necessary adjoining land to begin work at once. Final plans will be submitted to the CAA by April 1.

Aldermen J. Arthur Collins, David Evans and Rufus Ecol were appointed on the Airport Committee.

The airport is leased to the United States Navy Department.

Development of the airport will require the labor of hundreds of unskilled workers. When construction is begun it will be rapidly pushed to completion, it is understood.

A comment made by a leading business man after last night's meeting was that war workers may not leave the project to go to work on another site to the point, and he added that it is quite certain that development of the airport will not take any labor from the farms.

Another comment was that a considerable portion of the labor required to do the work will be common labor on the runways paving project. The payroll incident to the project will be beneficial to Greenville. There is a likelihood of any housing shortage, a well informed citizen stated after the meeting.

Asks For Extension Coastal Air Lines

Washington, March 12—(AP)—Seven members of the house interested in extending an American owned Montreal-New York airline down the eastern seaboard to Charleston, S. C. reported after a White House call today that President Roosevelt was "very sympathetic" to the proposal.

Representative Clark (D-NC) spokesman for the group, said they urged the President to use his influence and get behind the Civil Aeronautics board to approve the project. The congressman said the project had been before the board since 1940.

The extension for which the congressman said the Canadian-Colonial Airways, Inc., owners of the existing line, has adequate equipment to establish, would cover Elizabeth City, N. J., Norfolk, Va., School Board, New Bern, and Wilmington, N. C.; Myrtle Beach and Charleston, S. C.

STUTTGART HIT BY HEAVY RAID

Germans Retailiate With Attack On London

London, March 12—(AP)—Heavy bombers of the United States army air forces pounded a railway yard and adjacent oil tanks in a daylight attack on Rouen, France, today following an RAF smash at the important industrial and communications center of Stuttgart last night.

The American bombers were accompanied by swarms of Spitfires which kept German fighters at a distance, fliers reported.

The RAF night attack, marking the eighth night visit this month to Germany, was a heavy one from which 11 bombers did not return.

A strong formation of Allied planes was heard flying high across the English Channel toward France today and vapor trails looped about the sky between Calais and Boulogne, as if dogfights were (Continued on Page Four)

Desperate Struggle Continues For Kharkov in South, With Axis Armies Reported Bolstered By 375,000 Troops In Effort to Take Base

By ROGER GREENE Associated Press War Editor Adolf Hitler's invasion armies were reported to have abandoned the key city of Vyazma, 130 miles west of Moscow, while in the south the bloody third battle for Kharkov reached a critical stage today as the Germans threw in masses of fresh reserves and gained new ground.

The German high command said Nazi troops were already fighting in the streets of Kharkov, the "Soviet Pittsburgh," which Red army forces recaptured February 19.

While the Nazi command admitted that Russian defenses were crumbling, latest Soviet advice declared that the Red army's lines were strong and unbroken despite the terrific hammering they were undergoing west and southwest of the city.

Frontline dispatches said the Russians were bleeding the enemy white, but conceded that the defenders were outnumbered by German reserves.

On the central front, a Berlin broadcast said German troops evacuated Vyazma "according to plan," after virtually blowing the town of 20,000 population off the map.

Vyazma was the last major defense barrier on the road to Hitler's old central front headquarters at Smolensk, 100 miles to the west.

London, March 12 (AP)—The Berlin radio broadcast today said a "major breakthrough" in the national defense line, according to a German official, had been reported, but that the Germans had recaptured Kharkov.

With its fall, the Russians now have strong flank protection for assaults on the German bases at Orel, 175 miles southeast of Vyazma, and Bryansk, 130 miles south.

DNB, the German news agency, pictured Vyazma as a scene of bomb and fire-blackened ruin after the withdrawal of Nazi troops, but said the ancient cathedral—once the headquarters of Napoleon—was spared.

German demolition squads blew up the water works, rail installations, airfields, and the motor road, the Germans said, and then Nazi planes dropped "hundreds of incendiary and explosive bombs upon the city."

While the Red armies pursued the Nazis along the Vyazma-Smolensk highway, other Soviet columns driving toward Smolensk from newly-recaptured Bely were reported to have seized 16 towns and villages and killed more than 600 Germans. Smolensk is 80 miles southwest of Bely.

In the struggle for Kharkov, approximately 375,000 fresh German troops were reported storming against the steel center from two sides, and the Russians declared the enemy was "trying at all costs to break through to the city."

In its communique the German high command said that in the battle for Kharkov German forces had broken through deeply echeloned (Continued on Page Six)

Meat And Food Rationing Begins Monday, March 29

By IRVING PERLMETER Washington, March 12—(AP)—Beef, pork, lamb and mutton will be rationed at an average of about two pounds a week for home consumption starting Monday, March 29. Rationing of butter, cheese, other edible fats and oils, and canned fish will start at the same time.

Through this long-expected action the government hopes to even up the civilian supplies, which have been curtailed by huge diversions to the armed forces and Lend-Lease. Local shortages are expected to disappear quickly.

Harold B. Rowe, in charge of food rationing, at the Office of Price Administration, said the allotments will be proportionately more generous than the limits put earlier this month on canned, frozen and dry fruits and vegetables.

"The meat rationing," he said, "probably will be more than many low income families will be able to afford, although less than the average purchases of middle or high income families."

In the light of existing rationing programs, the new plan will bring restrictions to the largest part of the typical American diet. Still unrationed on the basis of today's announcement, will be milk, cereals, fresh fruits and vegetables, baker goods and numerous specialties and (Continued on Page Four)

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Where do Hitler's warplanes go in the winter-time, and will spring bring them winging back from their mysterious migration? Secretary of War Stimson says it is a gratifying Allied superiority in the air has been an important factor in the United Nations' success in Tunisia. But, Colonel Stimson, why haven't the Germans reinforced their fleet in that theater? Day and night the Anglo-American bombers blast western Europe and Germany without drawing more serious retaliation than the Boche achieved over England early today. Berlin commentators explain this Allied assault is possibly only because the Luftwaffe has to be employed in Russia. That leaves a lot unexplained about a fleet which once ruled Europe. The Nazi air navy passed its peak maybe a year ago. I don't mean to say that the Luftwaffe has been knocked out. We undoubtedly shall hear more of it in due course, and probably shall find that it still packs terrific striking power. One important reason for Hitler's difficulty is that he has been compelled to wage a two-front war in the air. German air losses at the hands of the Russians have been appalling. Meantime British and American bombers have been destroying

Pitt County Chapter News

Members of the Canteen Corps class have completed their survey of commercial institutions which might be called on for use should the emergency arise for service of the Canteen units. The group in this class will complete their 20-hour course next week. Members will be appointed chairmen of units to serve with Mrs. J. T. Little as Red Cross Canteen chairman. Working with these chairmen will be members of the Canteen Aides Course who also complete their work next week. During the study of these two courses, members have taken practical training in the Public school cafeterias.

Uniforms have been ordered for all members of these two groups. The new pins have just arrived which may be worn by the Canteen Corps workers. This insignia is the standard Red Cross Service pin with the blades of wheat to the back of the Red Cross which designates Canteen Corps.

It is hoped that we may organize another Canteen class immediately so that we may assist in the school year since they are short of help. This can be of real service to the children of our community as well as to those who are attempting to make possible the cafeterias staying open for the remainder of this school term.

Plans are being made to recruit volunteer workers who might be called on to assist in case an emergency should arise and additional help were needed. This will not involve any class work, but merely volunteering for such a call.

During the next week, Corps members will solicit the use of Station wagon owners who may be called upon to furnish transportation for Mobile Canteen work.

SAYS JOBS UP TO CONGRESS

President Roosevelt Discusses Post-War Employment

By DOUGLAS E. CORNELL
Washington, March 12—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today that it is squarely up to Congress whether the nation would have a great post-war delay in providing jobs for men leaving the armed services and war industries.

The Chief Executive talking at his press conference, did not go into any of the broad recommendations for post-war programs drawn up by the National Resources Planning Board and submitted to Congress Wednesday.

But he did say, in response to questions, that the burden and responsibility for continued planning rests entirely in Congress—nowhere else.

The House has refused to vote funds for continuing the work of the planning board, but the Senate has taken no final action on the issue.

Mr. Roosevelt said that the board has listed about $7,000,000,000 worth of public works to take up unemployment which would affect a great many people upon demobilization and closing of war plants.

It is all very well for Congress to pass legislation, he asserted, but you don't start human beings to work on a project by passing an appropriation. You have to have engineering and specifications completed beforehand, he remarked.

Perfect WAAC

Take it from Col. I. M. Madison of the Army, the "most perfect" WAAC is Lt. Vera Joy Hoover of Philadelphia, (above) now stationed at Minneapolis to aid in recruiting WAAC auxiliaries. He disputed the claim of Fort Worth, Texas, that a recruit there had ideal measurements, and pointed out that Lt. Hoover is the standard 5 feet, 8 inches; weighs 140 pounds, has a bust measurement of 35 inches, and is without a fleish on her body.

To Head Hospital

Morganton, N. C., March 12—(AP)—Dr. John E. Saunders, Assistant Superintendent, has been named acting Superintendent of the State Hospital here succeeding the late Dr. F. B. Watkins. Dr. Saunders was chosen by the Directors to serve until the new unified board, authorized by the Legislature to assume control of all state mental institutions, takes control on July 1.

Service Men Praise Local Hospitality

Cairo, Ill. — What American Red Cross service means to the American fighting men stationed in far places is vividly conveyed in a letter from an Air Service Command lieutenant on duty in the South Pacific to a friend here. After recounting his observation of Red Cross activities before going overseas, this officer writes:

"Now I am at the other end of the world, and the A. R. C. is filling a large job here. In almost every town and city over here is found a unit of the Red Cross. At headquarters he will find a good meal, a hot shower, a comfortable bed to sleep in, and what is more amazing, a bed with real honest-to-goodness sheets, fresh clean sheets! Next to home there isn't a place in the world where a soldier feels as near to heaven as experiencing the above comforts after a couple of months out in the bush."

"The Australian ladies who work in these A.R.C. canteens certainly are wonderful. They have made and are making so many sacrifices. In addition, they are spending their time waiting on us Americans, trying to make us comfortable. Looking back at what I have written, I don't seem to have expressed very vividly or clearly just how swell a fellow feels when he walks up to a place 10,000 miles from home, sees a sign "American Red Cross" and knows that inside he will find the friendship and comforts of home."

Service Man Praises Aldermen Hold An American Red Cross Important Meeting

By LUCY CHERRY CRISP
Two letters received in Greenville homes this week have comments of interest to the entire community. The first, which came from a New River marine who had spent many week-ends here, was written just before his departure from Camp Lejeune, and read, in part, as follows:

"It seems funny not to be in Greenville this week-end, but we didn't get liberty. Received your two letters and the cigarettes which I certainly did appreciate. Thank you very much. I can't begin to thank you for the very wonderful hospitality you have shown me in your home. The City of Greenville has a warm spot in many a marine's heart for the good times and genuine good old-fashioned kindness we have received there. I for one will never forget. The Women's Club and its fine members should certainly feel well pleased with their work as it is a huge success based on the fact that it has given a lift to many a spirit that was pretty lonesome and blue. Marines in many states of this Union will certainly carry their memory for years to come."

And the second letter seems to pick up the story where the first leaves it, and is, in a way, a sort of validation of that closing remark "carry their memory for years to come." This second letter comes from a young marine officer who has come through the hell of Guadalcanal—and this is what he says: "Although I have not written you, please do not think I have forgotten of you many, many times during the past six months. Often during trying moments when one is better off to throw his thoughts outside the theater of war, I have reviewed the many happy and carefree hours I spent at your home. This sort of day dreaming proved a valuable asset to me and again I thank you for all you have given me."

"Please say hello to the people I knew in Greenville and tell the women at the club that these marines still talk about the week-ends they spent in Greenville and of the different people in whose homes they stayed. The work you women did made a very lasting impression upon the First Marine Division."

Aldermen Hold An Important Meeting

James Balafas, owner of the Busy Bee restaurant on Dickinson avenue, voluntarily surrendered his beer and wine license at last night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen at the City Hall. Complaint had been made against the cafe and the N. C. State Committee of the Breweries' Foundation and Police Chief George Clark had asked that the license be revoked. The Greek-American restaurant owner made a good impression on the Aldermen by voluntarily surrendering his beer and wine licenses. The Busy Bee cafe will continue its restaurant and rooming business.

Request was made of the Aldermen for permission to use vacant land adjacent to the Negro cemetery for "victory gardens" this spring and summer. Prof. W. H. Davenport, principal of the colored schools, presented the petition.

Routine matters concluded one of the most important aldermanic meetings held here in years. Mayor Bruce Sugg presided.

The following cases were tried in Police Court today: Melva Johnson, 1113 Evans street, making left turn at Five Points, traffic violation, called and failed to appear. Bond of $15 ordered forfeited and a capias was issued to bring her to court at the next session.

Louis Everett and George Teel, disorderly conduct and assault, each was given 30 days in jail, or to pay $7.50 each on court costs.

Percy G. Carr, colored, larceny, six months on the roads, placed on probation a year, to pay court costs and to stay with his mother and work on the farm.

James Washington, colored, allowing two persons on his bicycle, $5 on court costs. Oscar Dupree, colored, not guilty of larceny. John Daniels, 60 days on the roads.

Goal Is Set For War Loan Drive

Washington, March 12—(AP)—A goal of $13,000,000,000, largest in world history, has been set for the second war loan drive to be launched a month from today.

Announcing detailed plans for April war financing, the treasury department said last night it would seek $8,000,000,000 of the total from non-banking sources, and Secretary Morgenthau called on every American to invest "to the limit of his ability."

The first loan campaign in December had a $9,000,000,000 goal but actually raised $12,906,000,000.

Harrelson, Dean of Admissions, who is now on active duty with the Army.

Soy Beans in Victory Gardens
Now that the days are growing warmer it is time to do more planting of vegetables in your victory garden. Advise your neighbors to join you in this victory effort. We must eat right to work and win this war. Unless we produce our food we won't be sure of being well fed.

Edible soybeans seeds are available for only ten cents per package. Soybeans contain excellent material for building strong muscles, therefore, they are one of the best foods to use in place of meat. Plant them from May 1 to June 15 in rows about three feet apart and 2 or 3 inches apart in the row. Fertilize and cultivate as any other bush bean. They mature in the late summer and early fall when green vegetables are scarce.—Amelia S. Capehart, Negro Home Agent.

Cherry Lane H. D. Club
The Cherry Lane Home Demonstration Club held its monthly meeting March 9 with Mrs. Annie Ruth Moore with 14 members answering to the roll call. To women serving on the home front, the matter of making and conserving clothing is becoming more vital, so our own efficient home agent demonstrated to us the quick and sure method of making a dress.

Mrs. Capehart stressed the following points in her demonstration: Study pattern, know it; know your measurement and check with pattern; use pattern accurately; edge stitch; press as you go; use finishes that suit material. Remember, the pattern fits together if you will only use it right. Try this method. It will take the guess work out of your sewing.

On March 10, members of the H. D. Club met at the home of Mrs. Mattie Dixon with the president, Mrs. Geneva Brooks presiding. Club women reported their success in enrolling neighbors in the victory garden drive for 1943 in their community and adding three new members names to the club roll. In the victory gardens this year each club member took a package of the edible soybeans to plant.—Mrs. L. B. Dixon, reporter.

Nineteen club members answered to roll call at the home of Mrs. Queen E. Gardner March 11 with five new members added to the roster. What Will Win The War?

There are many statements, loosely circulated, to the effect that food, faith, hope, courage, production, unity, etc., etc., each is the one thing that will win the war. However, the truth is that Military Might will win — nothing else. The things mentioned above, and many others, are highly important, some vitally so. But let's not be distracted from the fact that FORCE is what we must have to win. Let's bend our every effort to build the greatest striking force of all time.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS
FEET OF WOOL

Nothing is easier than to fall away from high ideals and to begin to walk in the devious paths of opportunism. Seldom does a man forsake his ideals all at once. He begins to compromise just a little bit. He gives up his high ideals with reference to one aspect of life, and pretty soon he finds himself relinquishing his high standards all along the line. The forces which undermine our character do not operate like tornadoes—they operate like termites. Little by little the structure and stability of character are eaten out, and then comes the collapse.

Perhaps for years you have built up a savings account, and during all that time you have steadily refused ever to dip into it. Have you noticed that after you persuaded yourself it was all right to dip into the fund just a little for something you particularly wanted, that it became easier to dip into it the next time, and so on until the whole account was squandered? This is a picture of how, when we forsake an ideal in the smallest degree, it is very easy at last to relinquish it entirely.

George Morrison, that Scotch writer who had a way with words, put the matter this way: "The gods have feet of wool, and all that is divine in us departs not noisily but with muffled tread." Ideals slip away sometimes without our being conscious of their passing.

IT'S UP TO YOU.

Despite the announcement that pleasure driving has been placed on the "Honor System" the ban against pleasure driving has not yet been lifted and if too many people show a tendency to use their cars unnecessarily the ban no doubt will remain in effect and strict enforcement will follow. In leaving it up to individual motorists the government has taken for granted that every American wants to win the war as quickly as possible and is willing to voluntarily make such sacrifices as are necessary to accomplish this. Excessive and unnecessary use of your automobile is evidence that you cannot be trusted to carry your part of the burdens of war voluntarily.

THE SOONER THE BETTER

With surveys at the airport being rushed to completion we hope there will be no delay on the part of the city and county in acquiring the extra land that is necessary to enlarge the field to meet required specifications. The sooner this is accomplished the sooner the actual construction work at the airport will get under way.

The airport of course will be a military asset to the government during the war but the real good to this community will come in having a full-fledged modern airport when the war is over and the property reverts to the city and county. There is little doubt that air transportation of all kinds will be greatly expanded just as soon as the war is over and the community without an airport then will be an isolated spot.

Since the government has expressed its willingness to develop our airport, let's lose no time in doing our part by providing the necessary land for the project.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

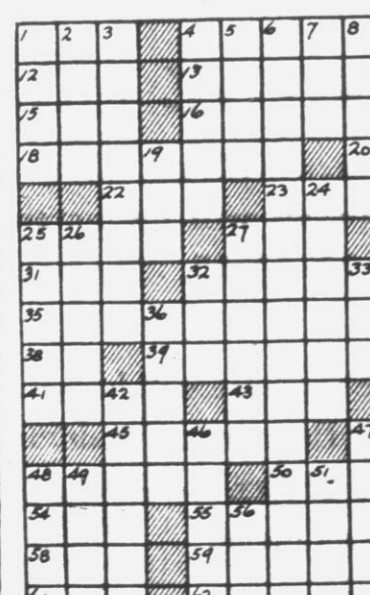

Washington—Will a President of the United States emerge from our generals of World War II? That interesting question was tossed the other day into a discussion of 1944 possibilities and although the group was made up of veteran politicians, none pooh-poohed the idea.

Out of every war in which the United States has been involved (with one exception) a military man has succeeded to the Presidency. That exception was World War I, but several oldtimers said that Gen. John J. Pershing could have been President but that he stayed overseas so long (with the army of occupation in Germany) that the 1920 political lines were all established before he could be brought into the picture. As it was, Pershing was discussed as a possibility and had he shown any inclination, he might have swelled the boom to nomination and possibly election.

As for the other wars, the instances can be recited by any youngster.

Washington emerged from the Revolution and probably could have established the "third term" precedent if he had chosen to do so. Out of the war of 1812 came Andrew Jackson. The Mexican War sent Zachary Taylor to the Presidency.

The Civil War brought to the White House Gen. Ulysses S. Grant. The hero of San Juan Hill, in the Spanish American War, Vice-President as well as President Theodore Roosevelt.

Some of the graybeards who were here at the time are positive that if "Black Jack" Pershing had had Presidential aspirations, the record would have been unbroken and every major war would have given us one or more Presidents from the military ranks.

Does that mean anything in 1944? Hardly. The 1944 presidential election issues are already being formed. If the war were to end next month, the military situation might be cleared up soon enough to allow some hero to enter the political arena. But if that hurdle were cleared, there probably would be none of such stature that his popularity would be an issue at the polls.

When considering Presidential possibilities, Gen. Douglas MacArthur immediately comes to mind, but the hero of Bataan and New Guinea has already made it pretty clear that he's not interested in politics. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is a possibility.

Considered solely as "national heroes" who could garner votes at the polling booths, neither of these has yet reached that point. The war is yet too young. MacArthur in the South Pacific theater and Eisenhower in North Africa both have undoubtedly been getting a taste of Meat And Food . . .

as relishes. From the customer viewpoint, the unrationed oasis of food will be the restaurant or other public eating place. These places will be rationed on their supplies, but will not collect coupons.

Details of the program were announced partly last night by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and partly this morning by Brown.

The 2-pound meat ration estimate made by Wickard was a calculation of the amount of meat that will be available for civilians to buy for home consumption, if divided up equally without regard to types of cuts. Since meat killed by farmers for their own use will be unrationed and since customers will not have to give up coupons to eat in restaurants, Wickard said the total civilian meat supply will average 2 to 4 pounds per person per week. Last year's consumption was a little over 2 3/4 pounds.

Actually every person, regardless of age, will get—at the beginning, at least—16 ration points to spend as he chooses on meat, cheese, edible fats and oils and canned fish. He may use more or less of his points, as he desires for meat instead of the other items, and the weight of meat he gets for his points will also depend on whether he buys steak or spare ribs.

Although the initial allotment will be 16 points per person per week, consumers will be allowed to accumulate and use their points during approximately a month's period. Thus, in the week beginning March 29, each person will be able to use only 16 points—the red "A" coupons in his No. 2 ration book. In the following week, he will be able to use any left-over points plus another 16 points—the red "B" coupons. He can keep on using these leftovers plus each week's new allotment of points until April 30, when all of the coupons of the first four weeks will expire together.

it can, without tariffs, compete with natural rubber, no obstacle should be placed in its way, "the Vice President said.

"I have no prejudices against synthetic rubber," he added. "With me, it is a matter of where we can get the most for our money."

There is no reason, Wallace argued, motorists should have to pay the cost of a tariff if that is necessary to continue post-war production of synthetic rubber on a commercial basis.

It must be remembered, he said, that while great strides are being made in cutting the cost and improving the quality of synthetics, equally great advances are being made in producing trees of higher yielding capacity.

Vandenberg quoted Wallace as having urged that only a few, small alcohol process plants be maintained after the war to keep this country abreast of synthetic developments and advocating that most of the rubber needs be filled by purchases of the cheaper natural product from Latin America and Asia.

in progress. The Air Ministry, in a terse communique, described the Stuttgart raid as a heavy one, which usually means participation by several hundred bombers.

The loss of 11 bombers on the mission indicated that a sizeable force took part in the assault. A large part of Stuttgart's population of a half-million is employed in precision engineering which is vital to Germany's war effort in the air and on the ground, an official statement said.

Only a few hours after the British bombers streamed back across the English Channel, German raiders in a sunrise attack soared over London's suburbs, dropping bombs in at least one area and machine-gunning trains and other targets.

By afternoon the death roll in the greater London area had reached 12.

In addition to the bomber attack on Stuttgart, the Air Ministry said Allied fighters on intruder patrols roved over Holland and Brittany. Two of the aircraft were missing.

Two waves of raiders—12 planes in each—flew up the Thames estuary and five planes sped out of the sun over a London suburb, firing

Chapter 10

"Did you have a good day?" Landa smiled dreamily at Don as their horses wandered side by side back through the narrow jungle path.

Don's hand reached across to cover hers on the pommel. They rode contentedly while the golden glare of sunset lit the jungle with eerie splendor.

"Last night I was afraid our island had grown too small for you." His voice held forced flippancy. "That I—perhaps—didn't measure up to the men you knew in the States. . . ."

Landa laughed. "If you only knew," she murmured, "how you'd have been mobbed by my girl friends if you had come up. Why didn't you? I asked you so often."

His smile faded. "Father was so violently against it," he admitted. "It didn't seem worth the battle."

"I know. . . ." The glare of sunset faded out swiftly. With it went some of Landa's elation. She felt again the surge of restless irritation sweep through her, and she said on quick impulse, "Don, I want to—talk about things. . . ."

"What things?" It seemed to her he was suddenly on his guard, but she went on. "Uncle Mike. I love him, too, you know, almost as much as my own father, Don. But don't you think now we're grown, we've a right to decide what we should do and what we shouldn't?"

"Naturally," Don agreed quickly. He regarded her with a troubled frown.

"I'm sorry about last night," Landa continued. "Maybe I was wrong. But I felt he was deciding for us without hearing both sides of the question."

"I know," Don agreed sympathetically. "But then he always has believed in flash judgments. And he feels so strongly about anyone invading our island, you know that."

"Yes," Landa drew a long breath, relieved that she and Don could discuss it without rancor. "But didn't you feel we ought to look into the need for this drug before we refuse to sell it?"

"His tanned hand closed over hers tightly. 'I will look into it, darling,' he promised eagerly. 'And will you try to have faith in me, even if I seem to humor the old man a bit?'"

"Of course," she smiled at his passionate relief as he lifted her hand to kiss it.

A week passed. Landa relaxed, content with Don's promise to investigate the buyers. She realized in her exhaustion the strain she had been under. Dutifully she followed O'Shannessey's suggestions in an attempt to hasten her adjustment to her island existence. She swam, rode, and painted.

Each night O'Shannessey, Don and Jim Blair arrived for dinner, one custom Landa insisted upon as she felt she could not bear to sit at her father's broad table alone. And each night Uncle Mike gripped her shoulder with a brawny hand, gave her a broad, genial, searching grin and boomed:

"When are we going to have that wedding, girl?"

She would smile back and murmur, "One of these days, Uncle Mike." But she could not bring herself to name the day.

It was at the end of that week on a night of blue-black sky and brilliant stars, while they were finishing their coffee in the candlelit dining room that O'Shannessey finished one of his Irish stories with a reminiscent grin at Jim Blair. "That was the same year I met McCormack."

Landa's eyes turned to meet Don's in a glance of secret humor. "But Uncle Mike!" she cried, "what have I never had the privilege—"

"Had the misfortune," Don corrected, with twinkling eyes.

"Of hearing you sing," continued Landa. She rang for the Indian serving girl, and ordered her to bring the servants into the patio to listen to Senor O'Shannessey's music.

The girl bowed and nodded her head with eager excitement.

"You see, you scallawag," O'Shannessey roared good-naturedly at Don, "what the servants think of my voice."

Don winked at Jim Blair. "Why not?" he shrugged. "They are appalled. They have never heard such noise from one throat and my father tells them it is music."

"If I had not had the wanderlust—the dream of this island," O'Shannessey's robust laugh ended in earnest confidence to Jim. "I would have been the second great Irish tenor." He helped move the grand piano to the living room window overlooking the patio. "I'm overjoyed, my girl, that you're here to play for me again," he told Landa as she sat down and drew out her music.

O'Shannessey selected "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and opened wide the windows onto the patio. He waited sternly until the ser-

Says Banks Ready To Meet Demands

Washington, March 12—(AP)—Reviewing the banking situation for the ten years ending this month, Chairman Leo T. Crowley of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation told President Roosevelt today the nation's banks have recovered to the "strongest asset position of record."

Crowley reported that with adequate earnings in prospect and deposits at a record high of $90,000,000,000, the banking system "is ready to meet any war demands which may be made." More than 70 per cent of bank assets today are in government securities and cash with the remaining assets "generally sound" with few notable exceptions, he said.

Every flyer has sworn to protect the secret of the Norden Bomb sight with his life. When the Bomb sight is not in his possession, safely in its canvas bag, it is under armed guard twenty-four hours daily. The Bombardier carries it to his plane. When his successful mission is completed, he carries it back to the guard room.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, March 12 (AP)—The secret finally comes out: When the National Semi-Pro Baseball Commission conducted its nationwide registration of players last spring, the oldest registrant was none other than Connie Mack. Wonder if the whole Athletics' club will drop around at the news?

Pro football coaches are breathing easier since they've learned that the newcomer at the Don Hutson residence is another girl, not a junior pass-snatcher. The Boston Olympics hockey team has a rule that players must give up their seats to service men in trains, which accounts for their making several Boston-New York trips standing up.

Star Pitcher

Ted Lyons, (above), Lake Charles, La., hurler for the Chicago White Sox, now a first lieutenant in the Marine Corps at Quantico, Va., gets set to pitch a hand grenade with his famous pitching arm while in training at the Marine base. (Note his grip.)

Observation Post.

The news that Eleanor Bingham, serving her first season as basketball coach at Lykens, Pa., high school, turned out two championship teams, makes us wonder if the feminine invasion of the coaching profession will mean the end of one of the coaches' oldest prerogatives... just think of what those pregame teams would do to the girls' makeup.

One-Minute Sports Page.

Harry Hillman, Dartmouth track coach, claims there's no use arguing about the four-minute mile any more. He says Gunder Haeg could do 3:59.5 on that fast Dartmouth track. The boom for the Browns as American League pennant contenders is collapsing, what with Walt Judnich gone to the Army, Glenn McQuillen ready to go by April and Vern Stephens on the "key list." Trainer Dutch Wilhelm, who is conditioning W. E. Boeing's derby candidates, Devil's Thumb and Slide Rule, at Columbia, S. C., says he wouldn't swap Carolina's training soil and climate for any in the country. After Bo McMillin's son, Mike, had been baptized, the Rev. Thomas Kilfoil told the Indiana coach: "He couldn't be yours. I didn't get a whimper out of him."

Today's Guest Star

Bill Montgomery, Jefferson City (Mo.) Capitol News: "The big league baseball scout, a cross between a pair of binoculars and a crystal ball, may be seen any time between now and the draft, removing its trusty brogans and pouring out the results of a day's prowling around the sand lots."

Spring Braining.

Tip: The first two lockers near the entrance to the Giants' Lakewood, N. J., clubhouse are labeled "Mize" and "Danning." Mel Ott's main reason for thinking the Army may reject Mize is that Johnny develops such big, painful bruises every time he gets bumped hard. Tony De Phillips and Gar Del Savio, who are on the Reds' roster this spring, hit 283 and 243, respectively, for the semi-pro Brooklyn Bushwicks last summer. After all that talk about their Bear Mountain camp, the Dodgers will do most of their work in the West Point, confining their activities at Bear Mountain to hitting practice, table tennis, dart throwing and the four movies a week they've been promised.

Service Dept.

Chief Specialist George McAfee, who hadn't played basketball since leaving Duke U., a few years ago, turned out for the Jacksonville, Fla. Naval Air Station team the other night and rang up ten points against Pensacola. Sgt. Hugh Mulcahy and Lt. Hank Greenberg bumped into each other in a Columbia, S. C. hotel coffee shop the other night and did a bit of barbering about baseball. Mulcahy, in charge of the 26th division recreation program at Fort Jackson, is organizing an all-service league which will move into the Columbia Sully League park, vacated by the pros. Top scores in the Camp Luna, N. M., basketball league are Lt. Cy Kaselman, former Philadelphia Sphas Pro star and Sgt. Bob Stekemann, who did most of his playing for Cincinnati's Withrow High School.

Mauriello Bivins To Fight Tonight

By SID FEDER

New York, March 12 (AP)—It's the kid's last night, so young Tami Mauriello has several special reasons why he wants his ten rounder with Jimmy Bivins in Madison Square Garden tonight to become a superduper production.

They collide in the fancier fireworks of a "double header" program, sharing the spotlight with the first New York showing of Corporal Barney Ross since he got back from scrambling Japs on Guadalcanal.

Naturally, there are going to be quite a number of Gus Pan's folks sitting in on the "double feature" and the Garden may break right out of its girdle before all the customers can fit. The changes are some 18,000 to 20,000 of Bash Boulevard's upper crust will be on hand, with a gate of about $70,000.

First, they're going to see Barney receive from former Mayor James J. Walker the Edward J. Neil Memorial trophy as boxing's "man of the year" for 1942. This is the trophy the New York Boxing writers presented to the little Corporal once before by proxy while he was still in the Pacific.

After that ising is on the cake, Tami is going to try to knock Bivins' ears off, chiefly because this is his last punch party before he trades in his zoot suit for one of Uncle Sam's khaki specials early next month. And since Jimmy is the only heavyweight to beat the Bronx belter since he grew up into the heavy cruiser class, you can see Tami is anxious to get even before he checks out.

Belated Christmas

Calendar or no calendar, March 6 was Christmas Day for Lieutenant Wilbur P. Collins, 23-year-old naval hero, and his wife. When Collins was delayed in his planned Christmas visit, his wife postponed the holiday. Here he looks over his wife's gift. He also looked over, for the first time, his five-months-old son. Collins did not learn until he arrived in the U. S. that he had been promoted, had been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry, and had become a father. His home is in Chicago.

Pinehurst, March 12 (AP)—Four more braces were run today in the National Amateur Quail Championship today over the Pinehurst Field Trial courses here. The meet will be concluded tomorrow.

The weather caused several casualties yesterday. The dogs apparently were not conditioned for the two-hour grind and were taken up or lagged badly before the finish. The casualties included Sioux Bacon Shals Jake, owned by W. R. Plowden of Sumter, S. C., Comanche Dentwood Bill, owned by Dr. R. W. Spicer of Winston-Salem, Village Doctor's Plowden, owned by J. E. Appalachian Loses To Maryville State

Kansas City, March 12 (AP)—An underdog team from Maryville (Mo.) Teachers upset Appalachian State of Boone, N. C., last night in the opening quarter final game of the National Intercollegiate Basketball tournament here. The score was 46-34.

Appalachian was handicapped by the absence of its star guard, Hoy Isaacs, who had a sprained knee. The North Carolinians led 19-17 at half-time but soon fell behind. Top scorer of the game was Belus Smawley, the App's player-coach, who had 13 points.

Says Schools Cannot Compete With Service

Atlanta, March 12 (AP) W. A. Alexander, head football coach at Georgia Tech, says it will be impossible for universities to compete with service teams this fall unless cadets are allowed to play for the colleges.

Alexander added he was unofficially informed that the navy will permit its cadets to compete in college athletics, but the army will not. "The effects of such a ruling will be keenly felt at schools where only army units are installed," he declared. "Those schools will be playing 16 and 17-year-old boys and common sense tells us these kids can't compete with teams produced by army camps."

"I've been meanin' to ask you for the last couple of weeks, Judge, what you think of this prohibition talk that keeps croppin' up every so often."

"I've heard some of it too, Henry, and I feel like this about it..."

"It comes from a comparatively small group of reformers... the same type that plunged us into prohibition during the last war. And, as we all remember, into nearly 14 years of the worst crime and gangsterism this country has ever known. Everybody had all the liquor they wanted only it came from bootleggers at exorbitant prices and the government was deprived of millions and millions of dollars in taxes."

"It seems to me, as I told my Congressman down in Washington last week, that we've got all we can do here at home to help win this war without wasting time arguing about things we know, from sad experience, won't work."

U. S. Troops Abandon S. S. President Coolidge

The navy has just released this picture of the S. S. President Coolidge after the 22,000-ton troop transport struck a mine in a south Pacific island harbor. The order to abandon ship has been sounded, and the soldiers are swarming over the side by ropes and cargo nets to escape the listing vessel. The ship was beached and finally sank with the loss of only five men out of more than 4,000 aboard. The loss of the Coolidge was announced by the navy December 12, 1942. Grain Market

Chicago, March 12 - (AP) - All grains were under pressure today, wheat and rye dropping more than a cent at one time, as a moderate amount of commission house selling uncovered a scarcity of buying orders. Wheat sank to lowest levels in about two weeks. Hedging from the southwest was a factor in the bread cereal downturn. Eastern houses sold rye freely and the market broke rather sharply when stop-loss orders to sell were uncovered on the way down. Oats weakened with wheat and rye. Wheat closed on the day's lows, off 1-1/2%. May $1.45 1/4-$1.46, July $1.45 1/2-$1.46, corn was unchanged at 95c, May $1.04, oats dropped 1 1/2% and rye broke 2-3/4%.

Dump Many Tons Of Explosives In Rangoon Area

New Delhi, March 12 - (AP) - Continuing their destructive assaults against Japanese installations in Burma, heavy four-motored bombers of the 10th United States Airforce poured "many tons" of explosives on an enemy airfield at Mingaladon north of Rangoon, and then shot down three Zero fighters in a 40-minute running air battle on Wednesday, an American communique said today. The big bombers were reported to have scored hits on airport buildings and runways before a dozen Zeros swarmed up to the attack. Without loss to themselves, the heavily armored American plane proceeded to shoot down three enemy fighters, to damage three others and to leave an additional four "probably damaged," the communique said.

Department of Agriculture appealed to Secretary Wickard to act immediately to get in new shipments. Forty wholesale houses, whose operators agreed on the estimate, closed for the week yesterday and announced that their stocks were exhausted. No replenishment was expected for several days.

Aldermen Hear Plan For Post-War Paving

John G. Clark, district state highway commissioner, made an interesting report to the Board of Aldermen last night of a recent trip to Washington, D. C., to attend a national highway meeting. Clark's report of a country-wide plan to spend huge sums of money for post-war highway and street paving and sewerage to absorb some of the labor released from the armed forces after the war was interesting and impressive. Counties and towns which submit proposed plans will have a fair share of the appropriations for the work, Clark stated.
