BRITISH ARMY CRACKS MARETH LINE

RAF Follows Up Berlin Raid With Heavy Attack On St. Nazaire Sub Base

United States Bombers Make Daylight Assault on Communication Lines of Continent; Hit-and-Run German Raiders Active

London, March 29 (AP)—RAF Bombers resumed their assaults on German submarine bases last night, after the greatest raid of the war on Berlin Saturday night by blasting the base at St. Nazaire with a "concentrated attack," the Air Ministry announced today.

Two bombers did not return from the St. Nazaire raid, which was carried out in considerable strength and added new damage to a U-boat haven which has been attacked often and heavily in the past.

Squadrons of bombers, escorted by fighters, crossed and recrossed the southeast coast this morning, hinting at a continuation of the intensive blows directed at Germany and her satellites on the continent during the week end.

The German radio meanwhile announced that German bombers, retaliating for the Saturday night RAF raid on Berlin and a daylight raid yesterday by American Fortresses and Liberators on the railroad yards at Rouen, France, smashed at Norwich, England, during the night.

Hit and run German raiders appeared over the south coast this morning and made a direct hit on a school clinic in a coast town.

Rescue workers began digging in the wreckage for members of the staff and any pupils who might have been trapped there.

Authorities said two enemy aircraft were destroyed during night raids on Britain.

The great load of almost 900 tons of bombs hurled down on Berlin Saturday night was almost double the heaviest total of explosives and incendiaries the German air force dropped on London in its heaviest attack.

The German high command communique broadcast from Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press said Allied air attacks against occupied western territory caused "heavy losses" among the population.

The communique claimed destruction of 18 planes there and over the Norwegian coast, an area that the Allies did not mention.

Last night's RAF attack on St. Nazaire was the 46th of the war and the fifth this year. The base was hit by the RAF last Monday night and by the United States army air force (Continued on Page Six)

Vermont Endorses World Federation

Robert Lee Humber, who was attorney for one of the big oil companies in France many years and who was in Paris when the Germans overran that country in 1939, is making good progress with his movement for forming a World Federation of Nations. A message from him in New York today stated that the Vermont legislature last week passed a resolution endorsing the World Federation.

Vermont was the fourth state to endorse the plan. North Carolina, New Jersey and Maryland had already approved the plan.

Russians Slowly Advance Despite Muddy Field Conditions

Moscow, March 28—(AP)—The Red army fought on in the mud during the night, breaking up two Nazi efforts to crack its line along the upper Dones river and capturing four more villages in the slow drive toward Smolensk, the Russians said today, but the once flaming battle line apparently had subsided temporarily to a series of local and inconclusive engagements.

The mid-day communique reported that there were "no material changes on the fronts" and was devoted almost exclusively to isolated engagements involving relatively small forces.

The German communique, recorded by the Associated Press, said that only local engagements were fought in the central sectors of the Russian front yesterday, but that the Russians renewed attacks south of Lake Ilmen and near lake Ladoga. The fighting lasted all day, the communique said, and the Russians were repulsed with heavy losses.

In the push toward Smolensk, which had carried to within 32 miles of the great German base, the Russians reported one village was taken by the column which has been driving westward from Vyazma and three more by the column which for weeks has been moving southward from Bely, about 85 miles to the northeast of Smolensk.

The single village captured was taken during a night attack and success came after the Russians had mixed it with the Germans, using bayonets and hand grenades, the communique said. More than 100 Germans were reported killed and a small quantity of equipment was seized.

In a neighboring sector a Russian scouting party slipped behind the German lines and attacked a German infantry column moving up to the front, killing 70 Germans with machinegun and rifle fire, it was announced.

The Germans attempted to storm back into position, they had lost in earlier fighting south of Bely, but the Russians said the attack was frustrated and the Germans forced back to their original positions minus 150 of their comrades, who lay dead on the battlefield.

Daniels Appointed To Washington Post

Washington, March 29—(AP)—The appointment of Jonathan Daniels, Raleigh, N. C. newspaper man, as an administrative assistant to President Roosevelt was announced today by the White House.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said Daniels would operate in no particular field, but would serve in a "fact finding capacity" on jobs assigned to him by the Chief Executive.

Daniels has undertaken a number of confidential assignments for the President from time to time since giving up his position several months ago as assistant director of the Office of Civilian Defense.

He left the editorship of the Raleigh News and Observer to enter government work.

Daniels is the son of Josephus Daniels, who as secretary of Navy, was President Roosevelt's "boss" during the last World War. Mr. Roosevelt then was assistant Navy secretary.

British Royal Engineers Probe For Land Mines

Members of a British Royal Engineers field squadron use bayonets to probe for land mines along a road from Thala to Kasserine, Tunisia. Latest reports from the Tunisian battlefield held that the tide was swinging to the Allied side with Rommel's counterattacks showing decreasing power as the Allies strengthened their sledgehammer blows. Hand-to-hand fighting was reported by the Morocco radio, at several points along the Mareth line.

Air Force Downs 25 Enemy Planes In South Pacific

Sparring between surface naval forces in the North Pacific in the vicinity of the Aleutians was reported today, with the Tokyo radio broadcasting a communique claiming that two "enemy" cruisers and a destroyer were damaged in an engagement six days ago.

This announcement was at almost complete variance with a U. S. navy communique Sunday which said four Japanese heavy cruisers, and four destroyers conveying two large cargo ships west of the Aleutians were engaged at long-range by light U. S. forces four days ago and that the Japanese were put to flight.

The Japanese communique said the U. S. warships, consisting of a heavy cruiser, a light cruiser and several destroyers, retreated to the east.

In the Southern Pacific the Japanese also attempted a blow with a 40-bomber raid on Oro bay, a United Nations base in New Guinea, but a communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said 25 of the raiders and their fighter escorts were shot out of action, at least 13 of them destroyed. The Japanese succeeded, however, in sinking a small vessel during the attack.

On the offensive side, the southwestern Pacific air force continued to deal its series of daily assaults on such bases as Gasmata and Cape Gloucester in New Britain, Madang and Finschhafen in New Guinea (Continued on Page Six)

Entire Committee Plans To Resign

Washington, March 29—(AP)—Resignation of the entire planning committee of the War Production Board, until last week Chairman Donald M. Nelson's top policy-developing body, appeared likely today following Robert R. Nathan's decision to ask termination of his draft deferment.

Nathan, 34-year-old head of the planning group, took the step toward induction last week after the committee had been demoted in what several unquoted officials interpreted as a move to appease the armed services, whose antagonism the energetic Nathan has aroused. WPB's deferment committee agreed today to accept to Nathan's request and join him in recommending that his deferment be cancelled.

The other three members of the committee—Thomas Blaisdell, Fred Searls, Jr., and Marion Hedges—planned to submit their resignations to Nelson this week to give the WPB chairman a free hand in adjusting the WPB organization.

No Rationing Of Fertilizer

Raleigh, N. C., March 29—(AP)—Dr. Ralph Cummings, head of the Agronomy Department of N. C. State college, told members of the fertilizer industry and farm organizations today that fertilizer probably would not be rationed next year.

Enough materials should be available for normal demands, he said, but added that an expanded farming program likely would create abnormally high demands. For that reason he suggested that steps be taken immediately to help meet that situation.

Since liquid nitrogen is used in fertilizer manufacture, must be shipped in tank cars, already overburdened, it was suggested that next year's supply be ordered as quickly as possible to avoid last-minute delays.

Industries To Go On 48-Hour Week

Raleigh, N. C., March 29—(AP)—Approximately 25,000 North Carolinians in about 800 employment units will be affected by the 48-hour work week to become effective in some industries April 1.

This was disclosed by Mrs. Gertrude K. Clinton, State Director of the U. S. Employment Service and newly-appointed industry representative of the War Manpower Commission.

Most of the plants and workers affected are engaged in logging and sawmilling operations, she said.

CONFIDENTIAL TAX PLAN WILL PASS

Republicans Meet To Tighten Lines Behind Bill

Washington, March 29—(AP)—The House Republican Steering Committee met today to tighten party lines behind the Ruml tax plan, and Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the minority leader, reported "I now feel certain" the proposal to skip an income tax year will pass the house.

Meanwhile, the democratic leaders continued their running battle against the plan originally advanced by Bardsley Ruml of the New York Federal Reserve bank and embraced in modified form a bill by Rep. Carlson (R-Kas.); and various plans for a compromise that would abate a large part, but not all of one tax year, were in the air.

As the fourth day of one of the bitterest tax battles in history opened on the house floor, Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio) declared that "90 per cent of the American people" want the Carlson-Ruml bill, and that the "no abatement" measure submitted by a majority of the Ways and Means committee "has practically been abandoned by many leading Democrats."

Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.) Ways and Means member, said the minority force would resist "to the end" any attempt at a compromise—a trend which he said was gathering force on the Democratic side.

Knutson contended the Democratic side would not pass the bill (Continued on Page Six)

New Rationing Program Goes Into Effect Today

(A complete chart of the new point values will be found on page three of today's Reflector.)

By IRVING PERLMETER
Washington, March 29—(AP)—Wartime belt-tightening really hit home today as rationing of meat, butter and allied products began. New coupon costs on processed fruits and vegetables also went into effect.

The average American, who has been one of the world's biggest per capita consumers of meat, could buy pork, beef, lamb or mutton today only on the 16 points of the red A stamps in his No. 2 Ration Book.

Sixteen points will buy two pounds of steak this week—if it is available—but most people will want to use some of those points to buy other cuts of meat and also butter, lard, cheese, vegetable shortening, canned fish and salad oils.

Meal-planning problems of the housewife were doubly tough today because many of the coupon values of processed foods that she tried so hard to learn during the last four weeks were changed this morning.

On the bright side, she could buy prunes, raisins and other dry fruits and apple juice without coupons. She could also buy other fruit and vegetable juices and dehydrated soups at reduced coupon costs.

But the old standby of canned baked beans was higher in point value and other increases made it more difficult to buy canned fresh (Continued on Page Three)

Christian Science Service. "Reality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches and Societies on Sunday, March 28.

The Golden Text was from I Corinthians 2:9. "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God. For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us." (Romans 8: 16, 18).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The eternal Truth destroys what mortals seem to have learned from error, and man's real existence as a child of God comes to light. Erroneous belief is destroyed by Truth. Change the evidence and that disappears which before seemed real to this false belief, and the human consciousness rises higher. Thus the reality of being is attained and men found to be immortal." (Pages 288, 297.)

The Slady-Arco (German) Wireless telegraph system can be used only over distances comparatively short.

There is a big freshet in the river and the water continues to rise. Sunday evening the north end of the bridge had to be tied to prevent it being washed away.

The Monday morning shad were absent from market today. There was too much rain Sunday to let the "before-day-Monday-morning" skimmers use their nets.

Notes on Christian Youth Council By Sec. Peggy Rose Smith The Christian Youth Council held its last meeting on March 22 at the Memorial Baptist Church. William Keck, co-president, presided and the meeting was opened with a scripture reading and prayer.

The minutes were read and approved. After checking the roll, it was announced that five churches were represented. (Decline in attendance accredited to the bad weather.)

The Constitution committee continued its report; the discussion was led by Chairman Harper Darden. A lengthy discussion followed, but a motion was made by Ralph Fleming to the effect that this proposed constitution be adopted. This motion was carried by the vote of ten to one. The opposing vote being by a representative of the Presbyterian Church.

Plans for the Assembly Program were continued, and discussed. There is no chairman at present, but several are now under consideration.

Tentative dates for the Christian Youth Movement worship service were mentioned briefly, and the meetings will be held in the very near future.

The meeting adjourned at 9:15 with a prayer by William Keck. The next meeting of the Christian Youth Council will be on March 29 in the Eighth Street Christian Church. All members are urged to be present.

Ensign Herbert M. Wilkerson Ensign Herbert M. Wilkerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Winterville Nutrition Class Meets The Winterville Adult Nutrition Class held its weekly meetings last Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the Home Economics Cottage.

On Tuesday night, Mrs. Stella Wright, Home Economics teacher, gave an instructive talk on the importance of having a garden. Mr. James H. Mobley, Agriculture teacher, visited the class and gave valuable information on the construction of hot beds, cold frames, and the control of insects in the garden.

On Wednesday night, Mrs. Wright taught a lesson on food preservation. The open-kettle and water-bath methods of canning, and the need for the preservation of foods and the need for variety in foods, were discussed.

A demonstration on the new method for canning sauerkraut was given. This is the recipe: Shred cabbage. Pack into sterilized jars to within two inches of the top. Add one heaping tablespoonful of salt and two heaping teaspoons of sugar to the quart. Cover with boiling water and seal. It will be good krait in six weeks. Next Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the Nutrition Class the subject for discussion will be the "preservation of food", pressure cooker method.

Miss Jane Smith won a double deck of cards for making high score. The hostess's gift for her honored guest was a silver bowl.

Hill Home Out Today. Hill Home, popular drugstore, who has been confined at his home several weeks by illness, was at his store today greeting old friends and acquaintances. He is considerably improved.

Vesper Service. Dr. W. A. Browne, adviser for the Y.M.C.A. and a member of the geography faculty at East Carolina Teachers College, spoke at the Y.M.C.A.-Y.W.C.A. Vesper Service on Sunday evening in Austin auditorium.

Dr. Browne used as his topic "Religious Mannerisms," and in the talk brought out some of the differences in religious ideas and practices that groups have fostered at one time or another.

"We cultivate our religion to suit our wishes instead of making our wishes suit our religion," he told the audience.

Then turning to some of the "religious mannerisms" in ways of thinking that are practiced now, he said, "We have acquired, for example, the idea that some occupations are better than others, or that the interest of a few groups are more important than others."

Dr. Browne warned against failing to recognize values in others. In hating our enemies we may lose sight of the good in them. To get ourselves into the right ways of thinking, we must get into right ways of living, he declared.

Miss Alice Ferrell of Clayton conducted the devotional. Pianist was Miss Dorothea Massey of Pleasant Hill.

Vesper Service. Dr. W. A. Browne, adviser for the Y.M.C.A. and a member of the geography faculty at East Carolina Teachers College, spoke at the Y.M.C.A.-Y.W.C.A. Vesper Service on Sunday evening in Austin auditorium.

Dr. Browne used as his topic "Religious Mannerisms," and in the talk brought out some of the differences in religious ideas and practices that groups have fostered at one time or another.

"We cultivate our religion to suit our wishes instead of making our wishes suit our religion," he told the audience.

Then turning to some of the "religious mannerisms" in ways of thinking that are practiced now, he said, "We have acquired, for example, the idea that some occupations are better than others, or that the interest of a few groups are more important than others."

Dr. Browne warned against failing to recognize values in others. In hating our enemies we may lose sight of the good in them. To get ourselves into the right ways of thinking, we must get into right ways of living, he declared.

Winterville Nutrition Class Meets The Winterville Adult Nutrition Class held its weekly meetings last Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the Home Economics Cottage.

On Tuesday night, Mrs. Stella Wright, Home Economics teacher, gave an instructive talk on the importance of having a garden. Mr. James H. Mobley, Agriculture teacher, visited the class and gave valuable information on the construction of hot beds, cold frames, and the control of insects in the garden.

On Wednesday night, Mrs. Wright taught a lesson on food preservation. The open-kettle and water-bath methods of canning, and the need for the preservation of foods and the need for variety in foods, were discussed.

A demonstration on the new method for canning sauerkraut was given. This is the recipe: Shred cabbage. Pack into sterilized jars to within two inches of the top. Add one heaping tablespoonful of salt and two heaping teaspoons of sugar to the quart. Cover with boiling water and seal. It will be good krait in six weeks. Next Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the Nutrition Class the subject for discussion will be the "preservation of food", pressure cooker method.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

WHILE IT CAN BE MANAGED The way to stop an evil is to stop it as its source. The time to stop an evil is while it is still manageable. The reason why we are so often overwhelmed by bad habits and wrong ways of life is because we allow them to grow until they threaten to overwhelm our powers of resistance.

Brought down into everyday life, this means that the time to pounce on an evil tendency is before it has become chronic. The time to handle bad habits is before they have become inveterate. The way to make a resourceful man is to start early to develop a resourceful child. The best known method for cultivating self-control is by seeing to it that from the earliest years a child is taught obedience.

Put out the incendiaries of bad temper, illicit passion, envy, and temptation to be dishonest while they are sputtering on the ground. Don't let them explode into circumstances of a prodigious and tragic nature.

DOCTORS' DAY

Tomorrow has been set aside as National Doctors' Day and such an observance is well, for our physicians are a group of individuals upon whom we always depend but at the same time take them for granted with no thought except that they will be found ready and willing to minister to our needs when we call them.

Scientists and doctors have worked for centuries to discover causes and cures for human ailments. They have often worked in obscurity and poverty, and often when their discoveries conflicted with popular dogmas, they suffered persecution. But they have never halted their search for the truth. They have never ceased striving to lift mankind to a more lofty physical plane.

Today, because the men of medicine knew not the meaning of the word defeat, we have the answers to most of the dread diseases. The public will never see casualty lists of the medical profession sacrificed that those answers might be learned—the profession is too busy to keep full records of all its members who die from the hazards of research. Neither is there a record of the medical men who gave their lives during epidemics because they drove themselves to exhaustion and fell victims to the diseases of their patients. Rare is the doctor who does not mercilessly abuse his health in midnight calls; who does not respond when needed. And how often does the person with a stomach ache appreciate the services of an expert physician? Usually they are too busy whining about their own pains to think of the doctor.

We Always Suspected

In the present emergency when a large number of our doctors are serving in the armed forces, thereby greatly increasing the burdens of those who remain behind to care for the health of the people on the home front, we as individuals can help greatly by giving some thought and consideration for the doctors. We can help conserve the strength and health of our doctors thereby making it possible for them to carry on under these emergency conditions.

Naturally you do not want to endanger your health or the health of your loved ones by not calling a doctor when you need one but too often doctors are required to make numerous visits when the patients are able to visit the office. By permitting the doctor to remain in his office as much as possible, he will be able to care for the needs of a greater number of

Because he is a former Senator only a few months out of office, and was popular with many members of Congress, Brown has probably heard more complaints of his agency than any other war-time executive. For that reason, he's probably closer to civilian reaction than any other person in a similar position in Washington.

Chapter 24 Don met them in the entrance hall. "Been looking everywhere for you!" he called. "Fuzzy has been insisting Jim knows an American dance we ought to learn. The Tom Jones, is it? They're all waiting for you."

It was quite a feat, teaching both orchestra and dancers the new rhythm. Landa was breathless when it was over, and she and Jim were surrounded by a congratulating group of crewmen.

Everything was suddenly cozy—like a party up at school. Landa thought, watching the crewmen with Jim and Don drinking punch and talking nonsense. Jim was telling tall tales like the night they had been frightened by the sub on the little freighter.

"So you weren't going to say goodbye," she accused him. "I said it to Don," he grinned unsteadily. "I thought that would be just as good."

"Well, it wasn't," she retorted. She turned and walked in silence beside him along the jungle path. She slipped her small brown hand in his. Between them flowed a sudden peaceful current of understanding—a surging buoyancy. They came out on the white strip of beach to the water's edge.

"Goodbye, Jim." Her eyes turned toward his were misted with tears. "Goodbye," he grinned down at her and patted her arm. She could feel the tension and the effort behind the gesture, "And just remember if you ever get restless down here," he added, "that you're living the kind of life ninety-nine guys out of a hundred would give their eye teeth to live. Good luck."

"Good luck to you," Landa whispered. She had turned toward the jungle path when she heard his exclamation. She whirled back. He was standing by the dinghy looking out at the sea. "What is it?" she asked. "Do you see anything?" he demanded.

Ossie Bluege To Manage Washington This Season

Former Senator Third Baseman Takes Over New Duties

By JUDSON RAYLEY
College Park, Md., March 29 (AP)—There is only one manager making his major league debut this year and it belongs to Oswald L. Bluege of the Washington Senators.

The one-time great third baseman of the Senators replaced another Washington favorite, Stanley Levrone (Bucky) Harris, who moved into the National League to lead the Philadelphia Phillies, and now the fans in the capital are waiting to see how the new act in their home talent show turns out.

Bluege is a quiet, colorless individual not given to extravagant opinions or actions, but he knows baseball and he believes that he has an improved ball club over the one which Harris had to mastermind last year.

His appraisal of the Senators' chances at this early date is: "We have a better team, so we ought to do better."

"We have problems to work out in the pitching staff and in the infield, but if we get the right answers we may get places. Our team is one of the fastest in the major leagues and it has one of the best outfields."

"As far as the pitching is concerned, we have four rookies from Double A minor leagues. You can't guarantee that they will win, but you have to say that they have a chance."

"Now that we've got Gervy Preddy from the Yankees I think our infield will do all right. I expect to play at second base. He can play any position and I don't know whether he would rather be there or at third. But I consider second base the vital spot. I want somebody there who can make double plays."

"However, I'll probably use George Myatt at second a lot in spring training. I know what Preddy can do, but I've never seen Myatt play. He will have a chance at both second and third."

"I think I can go along with Johnny Sullivan at short. He made a lot of improvement after he came up from Chattanooga last summer."

"It will mean a lot to us, of course. (First baseman) Mickey Vernon can come back and hit again like he did in 1941."

"Our outfield is set with George Case, Stan Spence and Bob Johnson—and I like Gene Moore, too." Bluege, who came to the Senators as a third baseman in 1922, wound up 18 years as an active player in 1939.

The newly-arrived WAACs at Fort Sill, Okla. are likely to keep the regular soldiers busy defending their athletic laurels. The group includes first leader Eva Evans who was city tennis champion at Portsmouth, Ohio, had a 100 bowling average and was in all-star basketball player in the 1942 tri-state tournament as well as several other athletically inclined ones... When Capt. Bob Kennedy of the Iowa Navy Pre-flight school, former Sox third baseman, filled out his sports preference card this spring he listed basketball, track, football and swimming—but not baseball... The card, of course, was ignored... It takes more than the size of his bill, Morgan, former Oregon footballer to make the Marines think twice when Bill arrived at Parris Island S. C. there wasn't a uniform to fit his 240-pounds... "Here's the latest uniform we have," he was told. "We'll fit you into it. That will be easier than making one."

Announce Schedule For Piedmont League

Richmond, Va., March 29—(AP)—Business in the class B Piedmont league apparently was ready to begin today following a meeting yesterday in which the circuit's directors adopted an official 130-game schedule to open on May 4.
The surprise of the meeting was

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Your old golf clubs must serve you for the duration, so be careful of those irons, particularly. Manufacturers are not making them while the war is on. But save for that new set through your purchase of War Bonds and you will have the cash when the peace comes.
The directors' decision to stage an all-star game at Richmond on August 9 between picked squads representing the eastern and western divisions of the six-team loop.
Opening day games:
Richmond at Durham.
Roanoke at Lynchburg.
Portsmouth at Norfolk.
Only the Richmond Colts will not have to move after the opening day's play. The Colts remain at Durham, N. C., while Roanoke and Lynchburg pick up their togs and move to Roanoke and Norfolk and Portsmouth.
President Ralph H. Daughton, of Norfolk, said the regular schedule would close on September 6. Labor Day.
Today at the front some brave American soldier died for you and for freedom. What have you done for freedom today? It's your purchase of War Bonds which will help that soldier and your country and bring the war to an earlier close. Buy more and more War Bonds every payday. "You've Done Your Bit—Now Do Your Best."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, March 29—(AP)—Reporting on the basketball season at the Jacksonville, Fla. naval air technical training center, Yeoman Carl G. Anderson says that some 1,500 sailors and Marines competed on 150 intra-mural teams and about 500 more played on outside courts... "While the south is no basketball hotbed," he adds, "the navy is doing its part to scatter seeds for future growth"... And when you think that Florida alone has hundreds of other military establishments, nearly all with court teams and leagues, it appears that there'll be more to the heralded post-war sports boom than just a few more folks going to games... It may mean real popularity for some sports in sections that never paid much attention to them before.
