Allied Warplanes Smash Jap Installations Over Wide Area South Pacific

Nine Enemy Island Bases Blasted; Large Fires And Heavy Damage Left In Mandang Area Where Harbor Installations and Airdromes Were Smashed

(By The Associated Press)

Allied warplanes poured 63,000 rounds of cannon and machine-gun fire into Japanese positions in northern New Guinea and blasted nine enemy bases in the islands above Australia. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The heaviest assault fell upon the Mandang area, along the Japanese supply route to their base at Salamaua and Lae, and dispatches said the raiders left big fires and that a single fighter group made 27 strafing passes over the region.

Other targets included Finschhafen, Mubo, Kavieng, Timika, Dobo and Saumlaki points of increasing Japanese activity as the enemy tightened his grip on the South Seas area.

On the Burma front, British headquarters announced that there was "nothing to report" in fighting north of the Mayu peninsula, where the Japanese have been driving toward the Burma-India frontier.

By contrast, Imperial Tokyo headquarters asserted that Japanese troops had encircled British-Indian forces at the frontier and that the group was being annihilated.

In the skies, the British command said, RAB bombers pounded Japanese shipping and highway traffic in a series of raids over southern Burma and attacked Japanese-occupied villages on the Mayu peninsula along the Bay of Bengal.

Meanwhile, American P-51s shot up Japanese-held Port Baxard in Kwangchow territory, on the south China coast, streaming 10,000 rounds of heavy calibre machine-gun bullets into the Japanese commander's headquarters, warehouses, airdrome, radio station and ground troops.

FBI Head Urges Law Enforcement

Washington, April 10 (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, called on law enforcement agencies today for a "counter-offensive" against increasing crime which, he said, threatens a "breakdown on our home front."

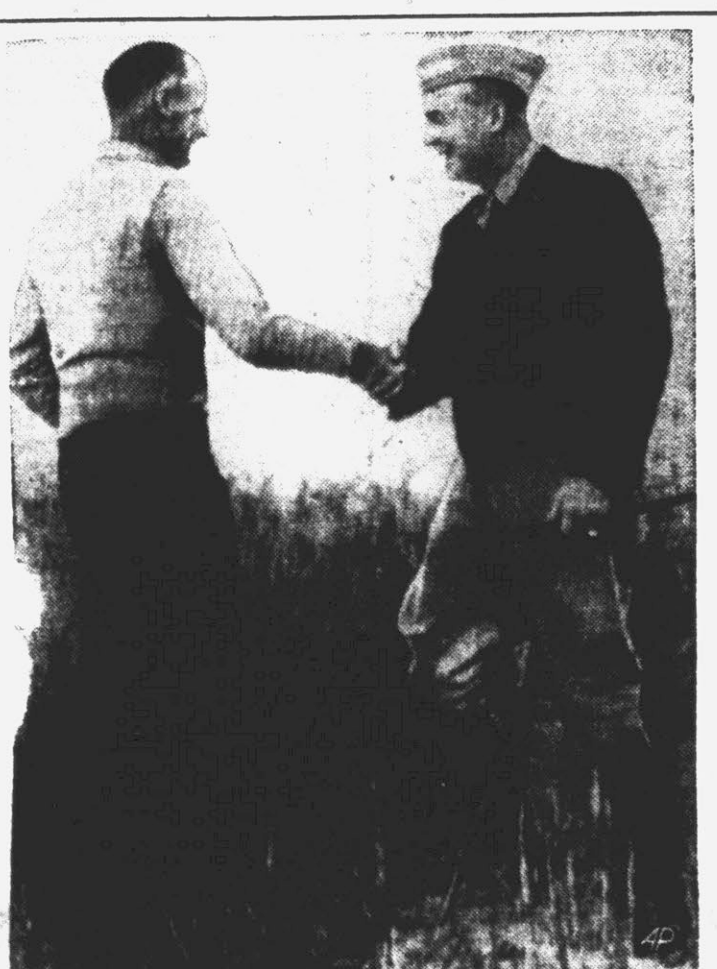

"Crime figures last year were truly alarming," Hoover said in a speech prepared for delivery at a graduation exercises of the FBI's annual academy, attended by specially-selected local police officers.

"Something has happened to our moral fibres when the nation's youths under voting age accounted for 15 per cent of all murders, 35 per cent of all robberies, 58 per cent of all car thefts and 50 per cent of all burglaries," Hoover said.

Arrests of girls under 21 "for offenses against common decency" increased 76 per cent, he said, in asserting that "now is the time to start a counter-offensive to keep the home front clean, wholesome and strong."

SUB SINKS SHIP OFF THE COAST

Washington, April 10 (AP)—The first sinking of a merchant vessel off the American east coast by an enemy submarine since last summer was announced today by the Navy.

A medium sized United States merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine early in April off the East Coast of the United States, the Navy said.

"Survivors have landed at Miami, Fla."

The last previous announcement of a sinking on the East Coast was made by the Navy in August 1942.

Officials declined comment on whether the new attack represented the beginning of a new campaign by U-boats in American waters.

The possibility was discussed that this might have been the work of one submarine unrelated to the general (Continued on Page Six)

RAF BOMBERS STAGE RAIDS OVER GERMANY

Duisburg And Other Points Hit; Ships Sunk Off Norwegian Coast

London, April 10 (AP)—Duisburg and other industrial points in Germany's Ruhr Valley were the targets for Royal Air Force explosive and incendiary bombs as the RAF continued its day-and-night hammering in another raid last night, an Air Ministry communique announced today.

Enemy shipping off the Norwegian coast also was attacked earlier in the night by coastal command aircraft, which torpedoed one tanker. Two coastal command planes are missing, it was announced.

The Air Ministry disclosed that reconnaissance photographs showed 15 separate buildings of the previously well-bombed Krupp armament works, including three main workshops, were damaged heavily in the last RAF raid on Essen the night of April 3-4.

In a billet rolling shop and adjoining premises alone more than 16,000 square yards of buildings were destroyed and other buildings reported damaged included two machine shops, an open hearth steel works, a rolling mill and stores. Two railway stations also were destroyed and an engine roundhouse was damaged.

It was said the pictures undoubtedly "throw some light on Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels' visit to Essen yesterday when he appealed to the German people to hold on."

It was the 58th raid of the war on Duisburg, large inland port which last was blitzed on the night of March 26. About 12 miles west of Essen, it has many important war factories, and is one of the biggest railway junctions in the Ruhr.

The RAF's new round-the-clock bombing of the continent was resumed Thursday night with a heavy raid on the Ruhr area, but the objectives that night were not announced.

Four Focke-Wulf 190's were shot down and several others severely damaged by Spitfires and Typhoons on offensive patrols in the Cap Gris Nez area of the French coast shortly before dusk yesterday, the Air Ministry news service said.

All of the Allied fighters returned safely.

One of the RAF pilots was a Norwegian who got his first kill of the war—it came on the third anniversary of the Nazi invasion of Norway.

After damaging and dispersing the German group—like scalded cats—one pilot said one squadron of Typhoons turned their guns on three enemy minesweepers off Le Havre, scoring many hits.

Pullman Slayer's Trial Postponed

Albany, Ore., April 10 (AP)— Circuit Judge L. G. Lewelling today postponed the trial of Robert E. Lee Folkes, Negro dinner car cook charged with the murder of a naval officer's bride, because Defense Attorney Leroy Lomax was ill and unable to appear in court.

Lewelling did not specify the length of the trial postponement, which interrupted direct testimony by Attorney Harold Wilson who was called to the witness stand yesterday.

Mayor Urges Support Of Second War Loan Drive

"As Mayor of Greenville I ask my fellow citizens to join to the full extent of your financial ability in the Treasury Department's Second War Loan Campaign which opens April 12.

"I feel sure that when the final returns are in our community will stand high among cities and towns of our size and resources in the county for our accomplishments in this great patriotic drive.

"The Government is asking the people of this country to lend 13 billion dollars to help prosecute this war. All of us know how vital this money is in our common cause. We have sent our fathers, sons, brothers and friends off to fight. We must provide the money to put the finest weapons and other munitions in their hands so that they can end this war as quickly as possible.

"The Second War Loan Campaign is more than a mere transfer of our money to the Government for a period of good interest rates. It is a demonstration of our will to victory and our desire to back up our men on the fighting lines. The Treasury Department has recognized this basic patriotic aspect of the Second War Loan Campaign by offering a series of securities designed for every pocketbook.

"There are the familiar War Bonds, tax certificates, and other long term and short term securities. Democracy never has given a finer example of its strength than in this patriotic Second War Loan appeal.

"Working man and business man, professional man and industrial housewife and war worker—all may send their dollars off to fight alongside our troops.

"If there ever was a time when we should as a community sound a patriotic note in a public undertaking it is in this campaign. And so I ask everyone—homes, businesses, factories, stores, schools and public buildings—to display the flag on April 12.

NEW DEBT LIMIT TO BECOME LAW

Bill To Repeal Salary Limit Also Nears Deadline

Washington, April 10 (AP)— Legislation to raise the statutory debt limit to $210,000,000,000 and rescind the President's order limiting salaries to $25,000 after taxes may become law at midnight tonight with or without presidential signature.

When asked about prospects for action during the day before the ten-day deadline expires tonight, press Secretary Stephen Early said the President has a habit of issuing explanatory statements in such situations and he indicated such a statement might be forthcoming today.

In the past Mr. Roosevelt has issued explanatory statements in instances where he has signed measures (Continued on Page Six)

Ask Display Of Flags on Monday

All local business houses have been requested to display the flag on Monday. The day is a North Carolina holiday, "Halifax Day" and also marks the opening of the Second War Loan.

The request for display of the flags in connection with the war bond drive is for Monday only, the first day of the campaign.

Farm Organizations Displeased At The President's Latest Order

Washington, April 10 (AP)—Compulsory savings by the public and rolled back food prices bobbed up today as possible cogs in the government's machinery for carrying out President Roosevelt's new and drastic anti-inflation edict.

Against this however was stacked the contradictory assertion of farm organizations that prices to the grower must instead be increased to stimulate production.

Speculation on the inflation topic fanned out into these timely advanced and highly speculative ideas.

1—Those who have long believed off an estimated $16,000,000,000 excess income, renewed guesswork on whether the administration plans to recommend to congress a compulsory lending or saving tax.

2—Other high government circles dropped a few hints that poultry, egg and fresh vegetable prices might be among the first to be cut by OPA if this track is followed in the fight against inflation. It also (Continued on Page Five)

Babson States His Principles

Baltimore, Md., April 10—Stock values have risen approximately 40 per cent in the past ten months. I believe that even further profits, particularly in peace stocks and certain other situations, will be available before the year ends. Investors must appreciate that the prices of stocks today and for some time past are subject both to world and to domestic conditions. The outlook for specific industries also depends upon the earnings, management, dividend record and other basic factors. In view of the extent of the recent trading in low-priced issues, I feel it advisable to emphasize a few principles that may lead to success in investing.

British Take Port Of Sfax In Big Drive Against Axis

Rommel's Forces Are Fleeing Too Fast To Even Sow Mine Fields; British First Army Engages Von Arnim Outside Tunis; Americans Push North

By ROGER GREENE (Associated Press War Editor)

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British 8th Army captured the key port of Sfax at 8:15 a. m. today, Allied headquarters announced, after seizing Mahares, and Graiba in swift pursuit of the beaten German Africa Corps. Dispatches said the victorious 8th Army veterans had gained about 40 miles in 24 hours.

Graiba lies 17 miles west of Mahares on the road to Maknassy, where U. S. troops were driving toward a second junction with the British 8th Army.

Prisoners taken since the breakthrough through the Mareth Line now totaled well above 20,000, it was reported.

In fleeing Sfax, third largest Axis-held Tunisian city with a population of more than 40,000, Marshal Erwin Rommel appeared to be surrendering all of central Tunisia and headed for a new mountain defense line in the Enfidaville area, only 40 miles south of Tunis.

Dispatches said a huge column of Axis motor transport, moving bumper to bumper, was caught by Hurricane bombers as it moved over a ridge near Enfidaville.

Heavy Allied bombers were reported blasting Rommel's weary remnants and a Morocco broadcast said planes from Allied aircraft carriers were also bombing the coastal road.

A bulletin from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said the Allies launched a new drive Thursday against Rommel's "escape corridor" from the Fondouk sector, 80 miles northwest of Sfax.

The communique said American and French troops, thrusting toward Kairouan and the sea, seized high ground on the north and south (Continued on Page Five)

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The Pacific war remains in a state of relative calm, a condition likely to persist to greater or less degree until the Allies are prepared for an all-out offensive.

The Japs are busy consolidating gains. Any attacks which they make are for purposes of defense and not because they want more territory.

Allied forces are checkmating brilliantly here, and hitting aggressively there, to keep the enemy from digging in and to weaken his striking power. Broadly speaking, however, the United Nations are doing a holding job until equipment is available for the big smash.

When will the day of reckoning come? It may be it will have to wait until Hitler has been rendered impotent.

It isn't the all-out offensive against the Japs which we have to worry about. When Hitler has been mastered the United Nations fighting machine will roll all right.

Now is the time when Allied misjudgment might be disastrous—not after we have our full strength massed in the Pacific. We shall be invincible on that day. We aren't now.

During this time of preparation it's imperative that the cause of the United Nations be in skilled hands. He must be a man of extreme patience, be able to get the most out of his inadequate equipment, have foresight in strategy and tactics, have leadership in handling both Church Women Use Eggs Finance Work. The Women's Society of Christian Service at Chapman's Methodist Church, near the Craven county line in the Vance county, is doing outstanding work in their religious activities in the community.

They finance their church work with money obtained from the sale of eggs laid on Sundays. The society has helped to furnish the church; it pays the electric bill; it visits the sick and renders aid where needed; it lends a helping hand here and there. The women have accumulated hundreds of dollars from Sunday eggs and have spent the money for a good cause.

Each member who owns chickens donates all eggs laid on Sundays to the society. The members sell them and turn the money over to the treasurer, Rev. W. H. Brady, pastor of the church.

Mrs. John H. Barrow is president of the society, Mrs. Roy W. Lassiter is secretary and treasurer. The society meets at stated times.

Violinist To Give Concert Tuesday

A. L. DITTMER (By Bernice Jenkins)

"I think we should have as many concerts as we can in order to keep up our morale, to give us things of enlightenment to come to, and just to enjoy getting together," is the friendly answer of Mr. A. L. Dittmer, when asked his opinion concerning his violin concert to be given in the Austin building at East Carolina Teachers College on Tuesday evening at 8:30.

Accompanist for the program will be Mrs. Guy Smith, organist at the First Presbyterian Church and an accomplished pianist. Mrs. Smith used to play for artists who came for a performance without bringing an accompanist. She taught piano from the college before her marriage. This program will be one of the features of the Greenville Woman's Club Art Festival, and the club is co-sponsor of the concert, which will be free of charge to the general public.

Mr. Dittmer, who has been in the E. C. T. C. music department for five years and has been head of the department for three years, studied violin in Europe under the famous master, Johann Scheffer. He has since studied in the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y.

Since coming to Greenville, Mr. Dittmer has given "quite a few" violin concerts in Eastern North Carolina. He has appeared in concert in New Bern, Rocky Mount, Windsor and Elizabeth City.

For his coming concert Mr. Dittmer has chosen his selections "mostly from people who are still living." Included in the program will be a selection from Edvard Grieg, in Philadelphia. From Fritz Kreisler he has chosen "Caprice Viennoise" and "Schoen Rosmarin." An old southern tune selected from "Canebreak" is Samuel Gardner's contribution to the concert. "Falling Leaves" by Albert Stoessel, professor of music at New York University, is also included.

Of special interest to local people is the fact that Mr. Dittmer is including a selection from Albertsupply.

Spalding (noted violinist who played in concert here last fall. "Alabama," a light dance tune which borders almost on swing, is taken from Spalding. Comparing himself with Spalding, Mr. Dittmer makes this modest statement: "I wish that I might be able to practice at least four hours each day for about two years so that I might approach the class of Spalding." He considers Spalding "one of the best musicians ever presented here."

According to Mr. Dittmer, Jascha Heifetz is the best of the contemporary violinists. He thinks that Yehudi Menuhin, who did so well as a youngster in this country, "will undoubtedly be the greatest" in the future.

Modest and unassuming, but with an accurate evaluation of his own abilities, Mr. Dittmer, who has been forced to work his way through life and "pay my own way," would like "a little more time" to prepare for his concert. He was forced to play with an injured finger at the recent presentation of the opera "Martha" at the college and his hand is still not in the best of shape.

Mr. Dittmer shares the opinion of much of the general public that "not so many of the artists presented here help answer the needs of the audience" and that "some of the concerts are a little above the heads of some of the audience." With this opinion he will help little in fulfilling his desire of "playing selections they understand and are interested in."

BUY WAR BONDS. Presbyterian Announcements. "The Lord's Supper" will be observed at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service. All members of the church and their friends are urged to be present.

The pastor, Dr. Robert S. Boyd, will speak on the subject, "The Meaning of the Supper." Text Exodus 12:26b. "What mean these things?" All elders of the church are asked to meet in the ladies' parlor at 10:45 for the reception of members, and final conference in arrangements for the supper.

Sunday afternoon at 3:15, Dr. Boyd will preach at Hollywood school house, following the Sunday school hour. Rev. Dr. Haney, pastor of the Christian Church, will preach at Meadowbrook Church at 8 p. m., following the Y. P. study hour at 7 o'clock.

The new circles for the year of the Woman's Auxiliary will meet Monday afternoon at 3:30 as announced elsewhere in the newspaper. Tuesday, at 10 a. m., Albemarle presbytery will meet in this church for a one-day session. Lunch will be served to the visitors at 1 p. m., by the Auxiliary. You are asked to entertain delegates for 6:30 dinner in the home. If you can have guests please notify Mr. W. S. Glass, or Dr. Boyd, today.

Mid-week prayer service will be held at the church Wednesday at 8 p. m. Choir rehearsal following at 8:45. Our mid-week services have been well attended recently. Get the habit and attend this service.

New Secretary College Alumni

Mrs. May Johnson Eure Tyndall, of Ayden, has been elected to the position of secretary of the Alumni Association of East Carolina Teachers College and will arrive on the campus about the first of May to begin her duties and will continue, in this beginning period of her service, through the first term of the summer school. This is the important announcement just released by Mrs. J. C. Holland, State president of the association.

Mrs. Tyndall, who received her A. B. degree in June, 1938, was a major in grammar grade education and for the past two years has been teaching in the elementary grades in Deep Run, and in 1938-39 held a similar position in Grimesland.

As a charter member and the first president of the Ayden chapter of the association, Mrs. Tyndall demonstrated her leadership and loyal service in the Association. Each year since her graduation she has taken an active part in both her local chapter and the Association at large, so that she is well informed on the nature of the organization and experienced in many phases of its work.

In her senior year in college Mrs. Tyndall was chosen among the "superlatives" of her class as the member with the "most personality." It is this striking personality, her friendliness, intelligence, and poise which also make her well fitted to take over the responsibilities of alumni secretary.

Mrs. Tyndall is affiliated with the Ayden Christian church and was formerly a member of the Ayden Junior Woman's Club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Eure of Whiteville.

Mrs. Tyndall succeeds Miss Estelle McClees, the association's first secretary, whose resignation last June to return to her former position as a science teacher in Elizabeth City left a vacancy that has been difficult to fill. The committee that secured Mrs. Tyndall's services was appointed by Mrs. Holland last June, and was composed of Mrs. J. L. Marcom of Raleigh, Miss Virginia Blount of Roanoke Rapids, Miss Maria D. Graham of the Faculty Advisory committee to the association, and Mrs. Holland, ex officio chairman, of Raleigh.

Receives Letter From Son.

The mother of Pfc. Wilson Nichols of the Fountain community, recently received the following letter from her son who is on duty in the southwest Pacific:

Dear Ma: Just a few lines to let you know that I'm well and ok. I hope this finds all of you the same. I just got back from church. We have church services every Sunday and we have a big crowd. We don't have a big brick building as you have back home—just an outdoor church with cocoanut logs for seats, but we enjoy it just as much or more than people do back home. Most of the boys have seen action and they are glad to go and thank God we pulled through ok.

Well, things are ok here now. We boys in the "Americal" are wild savages, so Tojo says. That's a lot of baloney. Just a crowd of boys fighting to destroy Tojo as quick as possible and get back home. Well, I'll close for this time. Tell everyone hello and to write. Your loving son, WILSON.

MESSAGE SENT TO EISENHOWER

Gaule Extends Good Wishes Of French People

London, April 10—(AP)—General Charles De Gaulle, leader of the fighting French, sent a message to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of the Allied armies in North Africa, pledging that in the present North African struggle, "the French go with you—with you personally and with the gallant Allied armies under your command."

The fighting French leader's communication apparently was aimed at dispelling the feeling in some quarters that there were differences between De Gaulle and the Allied commander in North Africa.

The fighting French made no effort to conceal their disappointment recently at Gen. Eisenhower's request that De Gaulle delay his scheduled visit to Gen. Henri Giraud, high commissioner for French Africa.

Gen. Eisenhower did not announce his reasons for asking delay in the trip, but Prime Minister Churchill suggested the explanation in a statement last Wednesday.

Gen. Eisenhower "in deprecating the visit by De Gaulle during the battle crisis in Tunisia, which requires the undivided attention of the Allied command."

Not long after General De Gaulle's cordial message was dispatched to Eisenhower, Gen. Georges Catroux, fighting French liaison officer, arrived in Britain from Algiers today to report on his discussions with Gen. Giraud for negotiation of all French forces opposing the Axis.

The message was Gen. De Gaulle's first public expression since his headquarters announced last Monday the requested postponement of his trip and expressed regret over the delay.

Makes Appeal For Small Income Group

Charlotte, April 10 (AP)—A plea for "simple justice" for the ordinary taxpayer whose income has not increased since Pearl Harbor was made here tonight by Former Governor O. Max Gardner, regarded as a probable candidate for the U. S. Senate in 1944.

Citing a rise of at least 25 percent in taxes for this type of taxpayer, Gardner said: "No ordinary taxpayer in the reasonably low brackets whose income is the same today that it was before Pearl Harbor is required to pay a Federal income tax at a rate in excess of the rate prevailing prior to Pearl Harbor, except perhaps the victory tax of five percent and a reasonable increase in the normal taxes."

Gardner added that "the congress and the country are going to be compelled to take notice of this vast unorganized group of our citizens, no matter whether they wear a white collar or a soiled collar, and no matter whether they are engaged in little business or big business."

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

HOW DO YOU MEASURE SUCCESS?

What constitutes success? Can we estimate it in terms of dollars, of achievement of fame?

The question, of course, answers themselves. We know that many rich men are failures, and many poor men are very successful. Some public figures who looked very big to men a hundred or a thousand years ago look very small to us today. Many a man who has been honored by cities and empires with a great funeral has died with the sickening realization that in spite of what others thought of him, he knew himself to be a failure.

Our Lord in one of His parables described a good man coming to his just and final reward and being greeted with these words, "Well done, good and faithful servant... Enter, thou into the joy of thy Lord."

DO YOUR PART

The Second War Loan officially gets under way throughout the nation on Monday and Americans are asked to lend the government 13 billion dollars to aid in the war effort and help hasten the day of an Allied victory.

We realize that already many of our people have purchased war stamps and bonds and are continuing to do so regularly, but the present rate of purchases is not enough to meet our government's needs if our men on the fighting fronts are to have the weapons and materials with which to defeat the enemy.

You may feel that already you are making sacrifices to win the war but there is probably not a citizen of this community who cannot do without just a little more in order that our men on the firing line might have enough. The slogan of the drive is "They GIVE their lives—You LEND your money." After all, the part we are asked to play is small compared to that of the men in the armed forces. The greater the response we make to this appeal from our government the sooner

Don't Be Too Hard On Him

Blunderer-Dawdler-Waster! Why don't you pitch in and get things done?

— HE'S REALLY ONLY A REFLECTION OF YOURSELF, Y'KNOW!

Victory will be achieved. The preservation of freedom would be cheap even if we were asked to GIVE our money in the cause of victory but the government is only asking that we LEND our money, and we have the full assurance that it will be paid back in full with interest.

We repeat, this is mighty little to ask of those of us on the home front while our men are willingly giving their lives on the battlefields.

We can and we must each do our part.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington — If you want to be a hero in this war, stay out of Washington. After 15 months of war and more than a year of national defense before that which is longer than World War I lasted, Washington not only has failed to produce a hero, but it has seen the heads of most of its potential heroes lopped into foxholes.

War Department and doing a banking job, but for all you now hear of him, he might be No. 1 man in the President's list of those with a passion for anonymity.

Whatever became of Floyd B. Odium, New York financier who was going to solve all the nation's economic problems? Frankly, I don't know. Where is Ferdinand Eberstadt? Don't ask me. Leon Henderson, who fought valiantly for price control in the battle against inflation, is supposed to be vacationing somewhere in the south, but on the government rolls there's only a big black line through the name of the ex-OPA chief.

Donald Nelson, head of WPB, has recently seen most of his reins turned over to Charles E. Wilson, Food czar. Claude W. Wickard has seen his powers pass to Chester C. Davis. Name one member of the cabinet who has grown an inch in stature since Pearl Harbor. Certainly not the aging Secretary of State Hull or Secretary of War Stimson. There is no criticism against the personal efforts of either, but neither have they emerged as heroes. Secretary of Labor Perkins has watched most of her peacetime powers pass to others. Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt has been under fire constantly, as has Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones.

The list could go on and on. One possible exception at the moment is Economic Stabilizer James E. Byrnes, but the "second president" for all his influence will probably continue to act more behind the scenes. That doesn't make for glory. If there are going to be any Herbert Hoovers and Bernard M. Baruchs in this war, they're a long time coming to the front.

What's the reason? I have asked a dozen old-timers who saw the last war through here. Most often their answers fall into two groups:

punishment that the Hendersons, Gimburs, the Thurman Arnolds, the William Jeffers, the McNutts and others have taken, many competent industrialists have preferred to ignore the call to Washington.

Probably the only man who has emerged as a hero of World War II on the production front is Henry J. Kaiser, but that wizard of the West Coast is no more a part of the Washington scene than the Golden Gate bridge. If you don't believe it, ask him, and then watch out for the splitters.

BUY WAR BONDS—BABSON

Even though the outlook for the industry may be excellent, be sure, too, that the directors and officers own an adequate share of their company and, hence, share investment responsibility with their stockholders. Labor is such a factor in all management problems today that companies having low wage costs in proportion to their total operating expenses should be sought. Examples are chemicals and hydroelectric utilities.

Personally, I like a stock that constitutes a 100 per cent equity. This means buying into a company that has no outstanding bonds, notes or preferred stocks. Some of the grocery and other chains are illustrations of this group. Many companies, during the past year, have reduced their bonded indebtedness or bought in their preferred stock. Such companies wisely are getting set to weather future storms.

A consideration of dividends is also of importance in judging the worth of a stock. Companies whose dividends do not exceed one-half their net earnings should be safe. Those with long, unbroken dividend records which have survived more than one year of depression may generally be counted upon to continue their good performance. The best examples in this group are the fire insurance stocks. Several have been paying dividends for 100 years.

Regardless of the position of the stock market, some stocks can usually be found which are unduly depressed. Any stock selling at its historic low usually has only one way to go from there and that is up. In other words, buy basically good stocks when someone else chucks them on the dump heap. Tire and rubber stocks were a good example of such a condition when they slumped so badly after Pearl Harbor, but they have since recovered. Perhaps real estate securities are now the best illustration of this depressed group.

Long growth companies represent another type of stocks which are always attractive. In the early twenties, the automobile stocks qualified. The chemical industry has long been recognized in this group. But today it is so generally stamped that most stocks in this class are not listed. The air transport companies may be a good example. Those companies closely allied with the new industry of electronics—such as General Electric and Radio Corporation of America—may yet be worthy of consideration in this group. Air-conditioning companies may have a future.

Chapter 5

Jones snorted and went into the store. Women were all alike. No matter how young or good-looking you found them, all they ever thought about was getting their hooks into you. All you had to do was smile and the bells for the wedding would shout the tidings.

It made Jones blush just to think of it. And her such a sweet smelling filly, too. It just went to show a man wasn't safe till the grave-digger's dirt rattled down on his coffin.

Jones stepped up to the counter. A trio of hard-faced men were lounging against it when Tubac got out his wallet. Giving them barely a glance he said: "Got that stuff I ordered fixed up for me yet?"

"Ye got nothin' here."

"I'm aware of that," Jones said, giving McGillis a slantwise stare. "But I ordered a whole bunch of stuff, this mornin'—yes! By grab, an' what for it too!"

"Ye may a' ordered them, mon—but not o' McGillis."

Tubac Jones hitched up his belt and laid his sixshooter down on the counter. "I shoulda known better'n to trust a Scotchman with an Irishman's handle. Pony up them things an' be quick about it."

"You could see by Jones' eye that he meant it," McGillis hesitated. "Ye didna come so I put them away," he said.

"You can go fetch 'em out again," McGillis put the flats of his big-knuckled hands on the counter. "Goods put up and nae called for are confiscated—"

Tubac's stare flashed cold as a gun bore. "In about two seconds I'll confiscate you!"

Sue Lambert, somehow, discovered her mind wasn't entirely on her work back at the bank. In the first place, Tubac Jones' general opinion of matrimony wasn't to be very well regarded by any woman; in the second place, Tubac Jones, himself, was proving to be the kind of personality that leaves an impression on people. Good, bad, or a mixture—it was still an impression.

Sue Lambert hadn't been in Stockton too long, but she'd kept her eyes open. That's why she couldn't help admiring the way Tubac Jones put his rights—or even what he thought to be his rights—above everything else. Even above his personal safety.

And Sue had learned that personal safety could be a rather precarious privilege in that part of the country.

She thought of the Holeman Grant and the Stampede Stock and Cattle Company. Tubac Jones was fresh and a bit too impetuous, but he was clean and he had ambition. Suddenly she wished the cards weren't so stacked against him. She wished she could help him some way. A whimsical smile came to her face; well, maybe she could, some day. There were a few things Sue Lambert knew.

Dawn was not far off when Tubac Jones came in sight of the cabin Sam Holeman had erected on his Horse Prairie grant. Lamp-glow made pale cracks of light around the window shades of the ranch house windows, and Jones, cutting a wide circle round the place, approached the house cautiously. A horse stood on dropped reins alongside the porch.

There was a menacing glint in Tubac's eyes as he jerked out his gun and kicked open the door. But he fell inside was a stranger to him; he was a tall, gaunt man with a sharply aquiline nose and a lean face handsomely contoured with heavy blond eyebrows and military mustache.

Fifty, perhaps. He was dressed in the garb of a riverboat gambler, with a black frock coat and black string tie with its ends tucked in a powdered silk vest.

producers, are practical examples. I understand that the two companies which have the most oil underground in the United States are Humble and Ohio Oil.

Finally, do not forget that some day the war will be over. Even long before then peace stocks will have enjoyed a substantial rise. Already they are outstripping in their advance the war stocks, and even the "averages." Examples of good peace stocks are almost too numerous to give. Just pick up any industry or company that is now suffering because of the war. Perhaps the soft drink, mail order, household equipment, department store, metal container, gold mining, building materials and air transport stocks belong to this group. But there are others. Above everything else, whatever your investment policy insist upon diversification. If you have only one thousand dollars to invest, divided it among ten stocks.

"Quite," replied the stranger coolly. "Are you, by any chance, the owner of this ranch?"

"I'll pass for the owner till some tougher buck shows."

The man shrugged his shoulders. A kind of vague twinkle looked out of his stare. He got up with a bow that was graceful and smooth. "Blackwater Bill, at your service, sir. A gambling man rather down on his luck—"

"Yeah," Jones said. "Never mind the spiel—I know the rest of that line by heart. You find yourself 'temporarily' strapped—"

"I'm afraid," said the stranger with quiet dignity, "you've rather jumped to conclusions, sir. I am not without funds. I can still pay my way. What I need is a rest—"

"Then you better keep right on ridin', mister, because you'll get no rest around here," Jones said.

"But this seems ideal."

"Looks like deceivin'. This place is known as the Holeman grant; it takes in the whole of Horse Prairie, an' there's a good many guys that would like to have it an' some of 'em." Jones said grimly, "ain't above cuttin' notches to git it! In other words, mister, there's a range feud brewin'."

"Then perhaps I could be of some assistance to you. In my younger days I studied law."

"Nothin' doin'," Jones said with finality. "There ain't no use arguin', I don't want to seem inhospitable, mister, but there's apt 't be a lot of lead flyin' round—"

"I'd welcome the chance to risk that," said a faint, knowing smile curved Blackwater's lips, and Tubac stared at him sharply.

"Just what the hell are you up to?"

The gambler said, "I could be quite a help to you, Jones, if you'd let me—"

"So you know my name, do you?" Tubac growled. "What else do you know?"

The gambler sat back down in his chair and stared at his finger tips thoughtfully. "I know Haines' bank's got you in a cleft stick and is just about fixed to stamp your rattles off—"

"Oh! Is that so?"

"Well," Blackwater grinned, "isn't it? What about that lease of Lot Decker's that H. Grab claims is six years old? How are you figuring to get around that?"

Jones eyed the man, startled. "How'd you know about that?"

"The fact at issue," the gambler said. "Is that you just plain can't get around it—unless I help you."

Tubac rested a hip on the table. "I guess you don't know so much at that. I've filed papers been cut from the book," smiled the gambler. "So your filing don't amount to a row of bent pins. You've got just one chance to beat that lease. If you want to play this smart I'll make a deal with you."

BAD FOOT MAY KEEP PECK OUT

Hunting Accident Cripples Brooklyn Player

By JUPSON BAILEY
New York, April 10 (AP)—One of the best major league prospects ever to get up to the big show without a chance of staying is Harold Arthur Peck of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Peck was one of the stars in the Milwaukee Brewers last season and led the American Association in total hits. He was such a prize that even though he shot two toes off his left foot in a hunting accident last September, Larry MacPhail bought him for a fancy price.

Peck's problem now is this—his foot has not yet mended sufficiently for him to earn an outfield berth with the Dodgers and when it does get well he must report for induction.

This seems like a hopeless circle for the immediate baseball ambitions of the 2-year-old swatter from Kenesaw, Wis.

"I still feel quite a bit of pain," he said today, "but I wear a special shoe with sponge rubber in the toe and I do a little running every day. I don't know how long it will take to heal, but I expect to play baseball somewhere this year."

"I was classified 1-A last fall before the draft board knew about my foot. When they examined he didn't give me any new classification, they just told me and my doctor to report back as soon as the foot was well. I figure that I will be able to get around on it for a couple of hours a day in a ball game before I will be in shape for the army. I have to wear a special dress shoe, too, and I wouldn't be able to do much marching for some time."

Peck is married and the father of a nine-month-old daughter. He was classed 3-A last September 3 when, with four games of the association schedule remaining, he took advantage of an off day to go hunting near his home—and sent a shotgun blast into his foot.

MacPhail, then President of the Dodgers, took the gamble that he would recover and turned over an infielder valued at $7500. Charles Brewster and agreed to pay an estimated $15,000 if the Dodgers decided by May 15 to keep Peck.

This decision now is up to Rickey, who was amazed to find that his predecessor had bought a player whose future was so uncertain but agrees Peck is an outstanding prospect.

Presumably if Rickey decides against returning Peck to Milwaukee he will option him to Brooklyn's Montreal farm club in the International League because the Dodgers have eight able-bodied outfielders.

LOOKING OVER THE GIANTS—Horace Stoneham, owner of the New York Giants baseball club, his daughter, Valleda (left), and Jeanne Moloy, a friend of Miss Stoneham, watch the squad in a spring workout. The Giants, conforming to the "stay-at-home" training program of the big leagues, worked out on the old Rockefeller estate at Lakewood, N. J.

series today. It is likely that President Ed Barrow of the Yanks will miss some of the action. . . . Frankie Crosetti, veteran infielder of the club and its only holdout, is expected during the day although Barrow has no definite word that he is enroute.

St. Louis — The world champion St. Louis Cardinals are no better than a 50-50 bet in the seven-game city series with the Browns that gets under way today.

Indianapolis — Manager Bill McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds picked Ray Starr and Elmer Ridd as his hurlers today against the Cleveland Indians, who boast five 300 hitters in the spring games. Chubby Dean, Allie Reynolds and Roy Poat were Manager Lou Boudreau's mound selection to oppose the Reds.

Lafayette, Ind. — Although the opposition is of the minor league variety, Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox has nominated three of his best pitchers — Bill Dietrich, Eddie Smith and Lee Ross — for mound duty against Indianapolis.

New York — The New York Giants who have gone unbeaten through a series of spring game with service and minor league nines, collide with the Boston Red Sox today. The Sox have been scored upon only once in their last 35 innings of play.

Louisville, Ky. — Jimmy Wilson, pilot of the Chicago Cubs is so elated over the progress of his veteran pitching staff that he already has picked Claude Passeau to hurl the major league opener against Pittsburgh April 21 with Bill Lee down for the second game and Hi Bithorn for the third. Today the Cubs tangle with Louisville of the American Association.

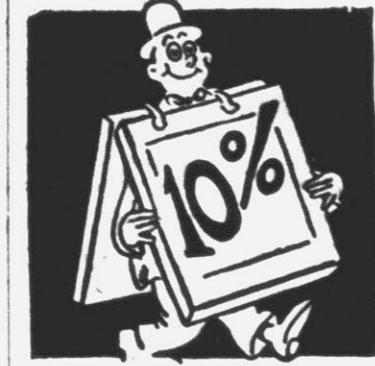

Training Camp Briefs

Muncie, Ind., April 10 — Pittsburgh and Detroit took the field today for the first of their nine-game exhibition series which winds up at Detroit on April 19.

Manager Frankie Frisch of the Pirates nominated Rip Sewell and Lloyd Dietz for today's encounter while Steve O'Neill of the Tigers, picked Rookie Frank Overmire and Johnny Gorsica.

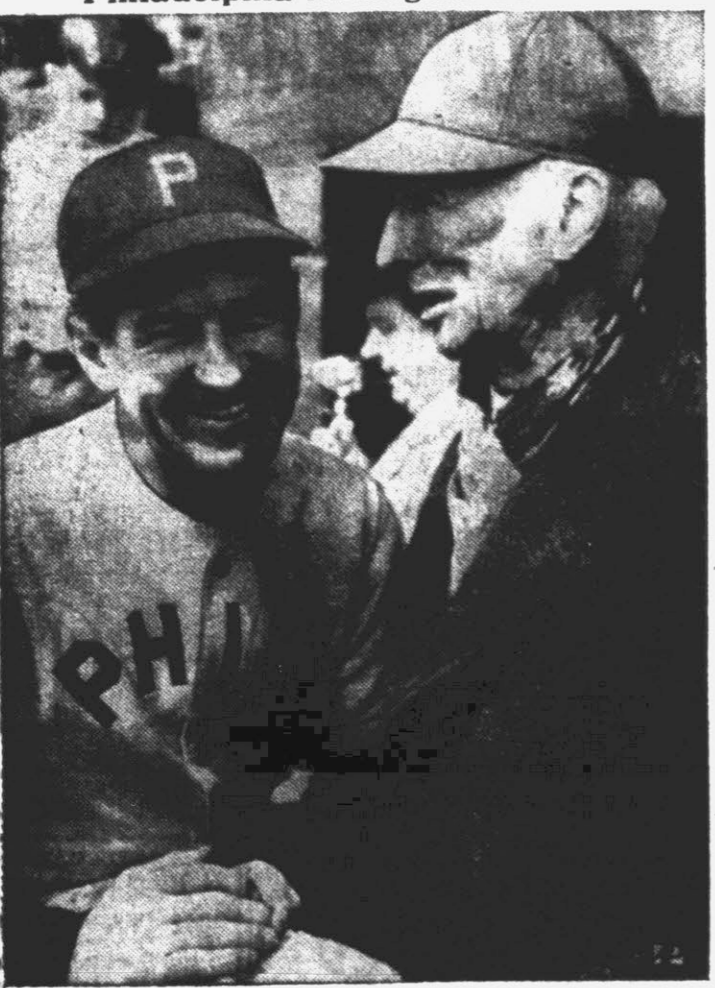

Philadelphia — With the Philadelphia Americans one up, the Phillies and the A's resume their city series today. Johnny Podgajny will start for the National Leaguers with St. Johnson chucking the final chapters. For Connie Mack's nine, it will be Lun Harris and Jess Flores.

New York — Although the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees resumed their intra-city

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, April 10 (AP)—The other day, Al Del Greco, the Hackensack, N. J. sports scribe, came up with the suggestion that golf clubs suffering from the shortage of professionals might do worse than to hire some of the better feminine golfers to take their places. . . . There's no kidding about that shortage either, though eventually the supply of golf courses may run short, too. A lot of the men who served their apprenticeship learning to make golf clubs have found that handling tools in war plants is right down their alley. . . . So, along with Rosie the Riveter and Susie the section hand, why not Pauline the Golf Pro?

Well, Why Not? About a half dozen top-flight women golfers have turned pro—Helen Hicks, Patty Berg and Betty Hicks Newell for example—and Joe Dey, the U. S. Golf Association secretary, figures that any gal who can qualify for the women's championship is a good enough golfer for the job. . . . "They're really good," he says. "And women seem to take more lessons and show the effects of instruction more than the men."

On the negative side, there's the question of whether they could teach golf—especially to men, who play a harder-socking game than most gals—whether they'd want to give up their amateur status for temporary jobs, and what would the crabby quartet think about it, anyway. . . . As Dey remarks, "It's a question of would you want to take instruction from your wife?" . . . Brother, you may not want to, but you do.

No Shortage Twenty six thousand fans at Jamaica, Twenty six thousand to see the nags run. Tires and trains and shoes all are rationed. But still the folks got there and bet a mill-yun.

One-Minute Sports Page The Canadian censor now has passed the news that Flight Sgt. Sigurd Hannes of the Royal Norwegian Air Force—you remember "Sigurd of Little Norway" who turned in some remarkable ski jumping feats a year or so ago—has been killed in action on a sweep over France.

Is Luckman, Mr. Brains of the Chicago Bears "T" party, is the principal lecturer at the Purdue football clinic today. . . . Abe Greene and the New York Boxing Commission are getting together on the featherweight title situation, which may mean the sidetracking of Jackie Callura.

Today's Guest Star Ken Alyta, Waterbury (Conn.) Republican. "We see that Connie Mack plans to abandon his scorecard system of directing his outfielders this season. From the looks of their roster, the Athletics won't give Mr. Mack or the scribes much Allied Warplanes . . .

(Continued From Page One) and three other vessels in a mid-week Japanese air raid on shipping off Guadalcanal—and thus countered Tokyo's claim that 15 Allied warships and transports were sunk or damaged. The Navy said 34 of 99 Japanese planes in the attack were shot down.

A brighter outlook for the Allied war effort in the Pacific next year was envisioned by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, who said the United States is now producing fighting ships on a heroic scale and is at the beginning of an ultimate victory.

Knox said the fleet's tonnage would increase 66 per cent this year and declared: "We will make further additions in 1944 to insure the obliteration of Japanese sea power."

In the north, the British 1st Army rolled up a 10-mile advance and captured 1,000 prisoners in the last four days, the communique added.

The capture of Six, 22 miles north of Mahares and 70 airline miles south of Soussa, marked a retreat of more than 100 miles by Rommel's broken columns from the Mareth Line in the last 12 days.

Dispatches said the Axis chief-tain was heading flight up the Tunisian coast on the last 100 miles to a rim of mountain defenses above Soussa. . . . Simultaneously, a CBS broadcast from North Africa quoted General Montgomery as telling his troops: "Let us get on to the third attack

MASK FOR DOBBIN—It looks like a deluxe feed bar for fueling on the run, but it's really a new-style gas mask developed for U. S. cavalry mounts, providing pure air at a walk, trot or gallop.

RAF Bombers . . .

(Continued From Page One) as broadcast from Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press, acknowledged losses to civilians and damage to buildings from the latest British night attack on western Germany, and said at least eight of the raiders were destroyed.

The British attack on German shipping along the Norwegian coast also was reported by the Nazi communique, which said it was entirely unsuccessful and cost the Allies two torpedo-carrying planes.

Forced Savings . . .

(Continued From Page One) was suggested privately that along with that program the price of live hogs would be cut.

Whatever administrative orders ensue, congressional farm leaders took a "wait and see" attitude as exemplified by Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) who told reporters he intended to support the President's executive order "so long as everybody is treated alike." Farm organization chiefs however enjoyed a month ago.

The topic of inflation temporarily overshadowed the tax problems before congress though the house was embroiled in a behind-the-scenes scrap over pay-as-you-go collections again. Republicans threatened to balk a proposed two-week Easter vacation unless they get a chance to vote on the Ruml plan once more but ways and means Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) insisted on giving priorities to other subjects.

The senate kept up its own tug of war over which committee — the Truman war investigating or the military affairs — should visit the battle zones for a first-hand inquiry. It began to look at though each would stand its ground and possibly take turns at making the trip to possibly North Africa.

Top legislative action came in the house with passage 270 to 107, of the Hobbs bill which lists robberies or extortion in Interstate Commerce as liable to prosecution under the Anti-Racketeering law.

Our Farm Folks by VERONA LEE JOYNER, H.D.A. EDNA KIRBY, Ass't. Chicod Club Meets. The Chicod Club met April 2, in the club building. Due to outside work which prevented our former president and secretary and treasurer from filling their offices, they were forced to resign. In the absence of our vice president, Mrs. M. W. Smith served as action president. At this time, new officers, Mrs. N. A. Clark, as president, and Mrs. W. F. Carroll as secretary-treasurer were installed, and Mrs. Clark took charge of the meeting.

The minutes and treasurer's report were read and approved. There were 16 members present. We decided to buy the War Bond, which had been voted on before through Chicod school, thereby keeping the credit in our community. A motion was made and carried to donate $5.00 to the American Red Cross.

Dues were collected from the members present for the year fund. Our president, feeling that a standing committee would be in value to our club and community, the following were appointed to serve: Mrs. M. W. Smith, chairman; Mrs. W. L. Haddock and Mrs. Harvey Smith.

The following reports were given: Mrs. E. G. Hardee, chairman for service men's supper, gave a report on the supper. The food that was left was sold, which brought $4.00 and donations left, amounted to $6, which gave a total of $10.

Mrs. L. J. Edwards gave a very interesting book report on "Rationing at Dusk," by Emily Loring. This book was especially interesting to us because the setting was in our own Tar Heel state.

Miss Annie Carroll gave a very helpful report on "Food Conservation." She reminded all of us of the necessity to conserve our surplus food supply, more now than before.

In the absence of Miss Joyner, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. E. G. Hardee, who led a very interesting and informative discussion on the subject of the month, "Clean To Save."

Our hostesses, Mrs. Roy Gaskins and Miss Beatrice Gaskins then served a delicious frozen salad plate with salted crackers, nuts and coffee.

—Mrs. W. P. Carroll

Factious Club Meets. The Factious Club met Monday with Mrs. J. R. Overton and Mrs. J. A. Lee at the home of Mrs. Overton. Twenty women attended, including two new members, Mrs. H. W. Parker and Mrs. Delia Moore, and one visitor.

Mrs. W. F. Little, president, called the meeting to order, and Mrs. Walter Langley lead the group in the singing of "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean," which was followed by the Collect.

Club members took soybeans to plant in the Victory Gardens. Red Cross garments were turned in.

The demonstration was "Clean To Save," which was given by Miss Joyner, assisted by Mrs. G. E. Cherry. Everyone present gained much information after the demonstration. The 17 members who had made a new dress since the last club meeting modeled it.

The hostesses served lemonade with cake, after which the meeting adjourned.

Langs 4-H Club Meets. Lois and Dorothy Jones were the hostesses to the Langs 4-H Club on Thursday night, April 1. Following the joint business meeting, the boys and girls were divided for project study.

As a result of the March Clothing lesson, the girls modeled dresses and aprons that they had made. These girls have learned that they can be well-dressed if they buy wisely and sew at home.

The Pierce 4-H club met Friday, April 2, at the community building. Dorcas Summrell, president, presided and called the meeting to order with a song followed by the Club Pledge. Miss Kirby talked to the girls about Household Duties and gave an interesting demonstration "Cleaning Can Be Fun."

Mr. Winchester talked to the boys about their project work. Our club is growing more each month and every boy and girl is enjoying the work. We learned new games during the social hour.

Helen Joyce Whitehurst

Red Oak 4-H Club Meets. Ethelnye and Lillian Joyner were hostesses to the Red Oak Club, on Wednesday night. The attendance was very good. Blanche and Joyce Jackson, of the Winterville Club, were guests.

The program, "Cleaning Can Be Fun" was given to the girls. Mr. Winchester talked to the boys. During the social hour many games were played. Delicious refreshments consisted of chicken salad, crackers, cakes, nuts and a drink were served. Everyone was delighted to have Joe T. on of State College, present for the meeting.

BUY WAR BONDS To Fire Workers For Absenteeism

Dover, N. J., April 10 (AP)—Pictorial Arsenal officials said today more than 200 employees in the arsenal's loading department would be discharged because of absenteeism. Investigators visited this week homes of workers absent without permission, and more than half could not furnish legitimate excuses, officials said. They said those discharged would not be given releases and therefore would be unable to obtain employment at any other war plant.

Lieut. Col. J. H. White, chief of the administrative group, said: "Any worker who is collecting pay for sick leave when he is not sick is guilty of stealing from the government."

BUY WAR BONDS Predict Big Food Crop. Raleigh, April 10—(AP)—Back from a tour of the state, Agriculture Commissioner W. Kerr Scott said today that in spite of manpower shortages, farmers were planting an unprecedented amount of food crops.

However, he said, farmers were concerned over the labor problem and over the shortage of machinery. "The North Carolina farmer," he said, "is trying to do his part."

Kiwanis Club Has Interesting Meet

By CHESTER WALSH Prof. Ralph C. Deal of the college faculty and one of the leaders in the War Finance Committee's Victory bond drive, was guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club's supper session last night. He explained the plans of the government to raise money for the war and urged the Kiwanians to cooperate. President Joe Taft presided.

The Kiwanis minstrel quartette, James Ray Pittman, Aubrey Tilley, Ed Parkinson and Pat McLahorn, entertained with songs. T. Max Watson of Forest City, and John G. Clark, of this city, district state highway commissioners; Ensign Carl Pierce of the U. S. Navy; Ed E. Rawl, B. Vernon Cox of Winterville and Louis S. Harrison, were guests.

The cast for the minstrel to be given at the college on May 14 rehearsed after the meeting. "Tige" Gardner and Eli Bloom are directing rehearsals.

BUY WAR BONDS To Present Broadway Hit At The College

Miss Ellen Rion Caldwell, teacher in the mathematics department at the college is directing "Ladies in Retirement." Broadway hit of two years ago, which will be presented at the college next Thursday and Friday evenings.

Having seen the play on Broadway and having had an interview with the star, Flora Robson, noted English actress, makes Miss Caldwell especially capable of directing the play. Her other experiences with play directing include dramatic courses at Randolph Macon College, Columbia University, and work with high school dramatic groups in Nashville, Tenn. since coming to ETC last fall Miss Caldwell has encouraged dramatics on the campus and she assisted Denton Rossell in directing the opera "Martha" which was successfully presented last quarter. In return, Mr. Rossell is acting as technical director for "Ladies in Retirement."

"We are trying to follow the Broadway production as closely as possible and in our effort to do this we have built new sets and are renting some of the same costumes worn in the original production," said Miss Caldwell. The Chi Pi Players, who are presenting the play, rented the costumes from Brooks Costumers of New York. The Brooks company bought the costumes from the Broadway producer after the play ended its run on the New York stage.

eral strategy of the German spring offensive in the Atlantic. However, Secretary Knox and other Navy officials have repeatedly said that even though the under-seas menace was wiped out along the East Coast last summer after a costly six months fight the U-boats might be back at any time.

One objective of a return to American waters could be to attempt to divide American forces between protecting overseas shipping and protecting coastal shipping. Such an attempt would have even less chance of success this year than last year, authorities said, since the American force of planes, blimps and anti-submarine boats is now considered reasonably adequate to deal with any large scale U-boat operations close to shore.

has made much progress and is reported to be in better financial condition than in a long number of years, despite the fact that there has been no increase in the tax rate. In addition to the better financial condition of the city itself the owners of businesses, and business property now enjoy a lower fire insurance rate as a result of improvements made in the fire department which bring it up to requirements of the Southeastern Underwriters Association.

One of the outstanding accomplishments of the present administration is the county-city airport which has been leased by the Navy Department and which, at an early date, will be converted into a Marine flying base. The Civil Aeronautics Authority is now completing details for the spending of $500,000 in improvement of the airport itself and the Navy Department will procure additional lands and erect barracks and other facilities for the housing of the men to be stationed here. Mayor Sugg has been greatly interested in the airport and it is due in a large part to his personal efforts and his unwillingness to take "No" for an answer that the government finally decided to take over the project.

Mayor Sugg is a native of the Greenville community and for more than 30 years has been engaged in the tobacco warehouse business here. In addition to his religious and civic activities he has been closely associated with all business of the section, as president of the State Bank and Trust Company. Another of his chief interests has been that of the farmers and he has given much time to the farm organizations and matters pertaining to bettering conditions of the farmers throughout the section.

The noon communique did not mention fighting in the sector south of Izyum but the Red army presumably still holds its original bridgeheads all along the river.

There still were no large scale efforts on the western front but in the sector south of Izyum the Russians advancing toward Smolensk captured a high of vital importance as more actively was noted.

Rain hampered action in the Pribaltic delta where the Red army still held the initiative in numerous small and sharp battles in the mud-flats and the swamps. Rain hampered action in the Kaban Delta where the Red army still held the initiative in numerous small and sharp battles in the mud-flats and the swamps. Rains which probably have drenched large sectors along other fronts have kept them quiet.

From the Red fleet came a report that Stormovik bombers sank a large German transport ship crowded with troops at an unidentified place on the Black sea coast.
