TUNISIAN WAR ENTERING FINAL STAGE

FINE RESPONSE TO BOND DRIVE IN PITT COUNTY

Two-Thirds Of Allotted $900,000 Quota Is Subscribed

Pitt county's quota of $900,000 in the Second War Loan campaign started by the government today to raise 13 billion dollars has been two-thirds subscribed according to official announcement this afternoon. The more than $600,000 already subscribed of the quota takes into consideration Pitt County's quota of bonds subscribed by the state and those subscribed by the county.

Commenting on the success of the first day of the drive Chairman J. H. Waldrop said: "This does not mean that we should stop selling bonds, because we have just started. The reason our county is better than two-thirds underwritten at the close of the first day is because Pitt county has so many patriotic, true and loyal Americans and the various committees throughout the county had received advance orders from a number of subscribers."

W. H. Woolard, regional chairman, expressed appreciation to the subscribers who have not waited until the campaign was under way or for any unusual solicitation, but have come through with their subscriptions in a fine way. Subscriptions have been received from a large number of individuals, firms, corporations and estates, subscribing for large amounts.

The sale of bonds will continue until the nation's quota is underwritten. Some of the bonds now being offered will in all probability sell at a small premium as soon as the subscription books are closed.

Declaring that this war loan drive offers an opportunity to every citizen to show his or her patriotism, Chairman James T. Little said today: "The sale will not be a success in Pitt county until every man, woman and child, who is able to subscribe for a large or small bond, has made their subscription. Being rationed on a few luxuries and necessities is not enough. We still have more to eat, more to wear, and better means of transportation than any nation on earth today. We want to also make financial sacrifices and buy War Bonds to the limit of our ability. Our government is not asking us to give—but to lend on the best security in the world. They give their lives, you lend your money and receive interest."

Daniel C. Roper Dies At Capital

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Daniel C. Roper, President Roosevelt's first secretary of commerce, died at his home last night after an illness of several months. He was 76. Roper, a native of Marlboro County, South Carolina, had been in virtual retirement since 1939, when he served briefly as Minister to Canada.

After four years as a school teacher Roper turned to politics, winning election to the South Carolina State Legislature at the age of 25. When he became secretary of commerce in 1933, a post he held nearly six years, Roper brought to his cabinet job a long and varied experience in politics and law.

In 1930 he was a member of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and, in 1941, of the sixth Ecumenical Conference. He served as chairman of the Democratic Party's Organization Bureau during President Wilson's second campaign for election and later became commissioner of Internal Revenue.

With him when he died were Mrs. Roper and three of their seven children. Funeral services probably will be held Wednesday.

Superior Court In Session This Week

Judge Henry L. Stevens of Warsaw convened a criminal term of Superior court here today. A long docket confronts the Duplin County jurist. There are fewer important cases to be tried than in a long time. Solicitor Dave Clark stated Jack Kilgo is foreman of the grand jury.

The court moves along with justice and efficiency when Judge Stevens presides. He is popular with court officials and members of the bar.

BUY WAR BONDS—Lions Meet Tonight The Greenville Lions' Club will meet at the Woman's Club tonight at 7 o'clock for the weekly supper session. Vice President C. R. McBrayer will preside for President Frank M. Brown, who is recovering from an eye operation in a Baltimore hospital. He is expected to return to his home here within the next few days.

Halifax Decorates RAF Fliers' Graves

In the midst of his busy tour of industrial and military centers in the South, Lord Halifax, the British Ambassador, visited a cemetery at Montgomery, Ala., to place a wreath on the graves of Royal Air Force fliers killed in accidents while training at air fields in that area. On the flag pole above the graves hangs the Union Jack.

Japanese Launch Aerial Offensive In Pacific

RUSSIAN FRONT IS UNCHANGED

Spring Thaw Halts All But Minor Activities

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, April 12 (AP)—The Russian front, which bombed Koenigsberg Saturday night, was led by Capt. Alexander Molodchy, who sent a message to Joseph Stalin once while over Berlin in a bomber. It was disclosed today as the spring thaw halted most major operations on the front and turned Russian attention to the air.

Capt. Molodchy's message to Stalin was sent on the night of August 26 last year while four-motored Russian bombers were dodging anti-aircraft fire over the German capital. The Russian press related then the message said: "Comrade Stalin, Moscow. We are over Berlin. Order fulfilled."

Both sides apparently were putting more emphasis on aerial operations as a result of the slush and mud underfoot and there was no reason to assume that Russian air raids on German cities would not continue.

Russian Stormoviks kept up their attacks on enemy supply columns today and it was reasonable to believe that this activity would increase in scope as the Germans moved up equipment and supplies for the summer fighting.

Allied Fliers Down 23 Enemy Planes In Attack

By The Associated Press

A new Japanese aerial offensive which "may attain a considerable scale of effort" has been launched in the southwest Pacific. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The announcement was based on an attack by 45 Japanese raiders on Oro Bay, south of Buna in New Guinea, the second large-scale aerial effort the Japanese have attempted in five days.

Twenty-three of the planes were shot down in a stratosphere battle with Lightnings and Kittyhawks. It was announced, and the Japanese did little damage except to score two direct hits on a 2,000-ton allied merchant ship which was beached. Allied aerial losses were described as insignificant.

There was no allied announcement, however, concerning the size of the allied shipping concentrations. The Japanese have claimed to have sunk 10 transports among other ships in the Guadalcanal action.

The Navy yesterday, in a recapitulation said allied losses in the latter battle were a destroyer, corvette and tanker, a small fuel boat damaged and seven planes shot down, while Japanese plane losses had mounted to 39.

MacArthur's bombers meanwhile continued their milk runs over Japanese bases from Timor to the northwest of Australia to New Ireland in the northeast, doing special damage at Timika in Dutch New Guinea, Baucau in Timor, Madang in northeastern New Guinea, and damaging an 8,000-ton merchant ship at Kaikana.

New Draft Rules In Effect Today

Many Changes Made As Selective Service Boards Begin Reclassification Of Available Manpower

By CHARLES MALONY Washington, April 12 (AP)—Thousands of men who became "dads" between the summer of 1941 and last September 15 were given draft-deferment status as fathers for the first time in a new regulation announced by Selective Service today.

Local boards were told to classify as fathers all those whose children were born before last September 15. Fathers, now the only men deferred solely because of family relationship, cannot be deferred until further orders are sent to the boards.

Under previous regulations dependents acquired at a time a man's induction was imminent did not count toward deferment but this rule is now eliminated. Thus many fathers whose children were born during the period since drafting began late in 1940 and especially in the last two years of heavy draft calls, were subject to the draft because of the "imminence of selection" rule. Now, however, just so they became fathers before last Sept. 15 they have the same status as parents of three, four or more years standing.

The preferred draft-status of farmers, whose 2-C and 3-C classifications were left intact, was emphasized as the regulation was eliminated the nine-month-old 3-B classification, which had put all men having dependents and holding any job in an essential activity behind 3-A men of like family relationship in the order of call. Ordered reclassification to 1-A of all men outside of farming except those personally essential to essential activities and those whose induction would mean "extreme hardship and privation" to dependents. Reserved exclusively for fathers the 3-C classification, which has been open to childless married men and hardship-case single men engaged in activities outside both the essential and non-deferable lists.

Created a new classification, 3-D, for deferment of anyone whose induction would "result in extreme hardship and privation to a wife, child or parent with whom he maintains a bona fide family relationship in their home."

Selective Service spokesmen said farmers who have been in class 3-A, including childless married men, would be shifted automatically to 3-C for continuance of their deferment. The 2-C classification defers farmers without dependents.

Men who are personally essential to essential activities will continue to be placed in classifications 2-A and 2-B for deferment for six-month periods or until replacements are available for them. These need not have dependents.

The farm deferments are superior to others because they continue indefinitely without regard to availability of replacements. (Continued on Page Five)

AXIS LEADERS HOLD MEETING

Conclude Four-Day Conference On Conduct Of War

By The Associated Press

London, April 12 (AP)—Adolf Hitler and Premier Mussolini have just concluded a four-day conference in the shadow of the most alarming Axis prospect since the war began—expulsion from Africa and imminent allied invasion of the European continent.

The Axis leaders, according to the German radio, admitted their meeting was held "against a background of stern military events, especially in the Italian realm," but came up with the typical Axis statement that they had dedicated themselves and their people to "the complete annihilation of any future danger which might threaten the European-African area from the west or from the east."

The location of this twelfth war time meeting of the two European Axis partners in which Japanese representatives apparently took no part, was described by the Axis war headquarters, which could have meant almost anywhere in occupied Europe, even somewhere in Russia. Earlier reports had declared the meeting was to be at the Brenner Pass, on the Alpine border between Italy and Germany.

British Subs Sink Fifteen Axis Ships

London, April 12 (AP)—Fifteen more Axis vessels have been destroyed or damaged in the Mediterranean by British submarines, the Admiralty announced today.

The British submarines, continuing to harass enemy shipping attempting to supply Germans and Italians fighting for their lives in Tunisia, were declared to have sunk eight vessels. These were listed as two medium-sized tankers and five small supply ships.

Seven other vessels, including three large supply ships and a large tanker, were attacked and hit by torpedoes," the Admiralty announcement said.

Roberts Announces For Judge Of Court

Judge J. W. H. Roberts, judge of City Recorder's Court by appointment after Judge Louis C. Skinner resigned to accept a commission in the U. S. Navy today announced his candidacy for election to the office subject to the primary-election on May 3.

Roberts is a member of the Pitt County Bar Association. Since becoming judge of the court his work has been outstanding. Very few of the cases he tried that were appealed have been reversed in the higher courts. He is a member of the Kiwanis Club and the Elks and other organizations and takes an interest in community affairs.

Invasion?

London, Apr. 12 (AP)—Broad-casting to continental France, the Algiers radio said tonight that the time for the signal of the Allied approach to Europe "is being distant."

"Pay attention to the BBC and to radio France (Algiers), which will give you the signal of our approach," the spokesman said in the broadcast, which was recorded here by the Associated Press.

"More than ever we say to you tonight 'A Bientot.'"

(An American equivalent of "A Bientot" is "We'll be seeing you soon.")

Place Value On Land For Airport

The 120 acres of land necessary for expansion of the city-county airport will cost the city and county more than $300,000 based on a report of appraisers made to the clerk of court today.

The report was a part of condemnation proceedings instituted to procure the land.

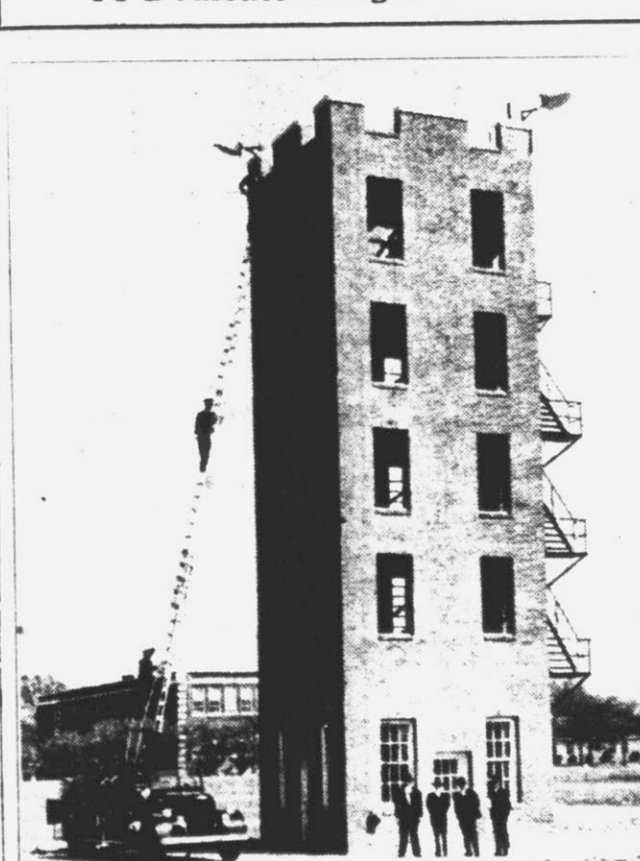

The tracts and appraised values follow: J. L. Perkins' land 33 acres $10,400; damage to two tenants $250; value of 11 buildings on Perkins' land $3,350. The appraisers ordered that the buildings be removed and placed individual values on the buildings in order that the city and county might make cash settlement for any of the buildings found to be more costly to move than to purchase.

The S. I. Dudley lands, 422 acres $12,660; damage to two tenants $250. Paul Balsafia lands, 32.7 acres $4,886.50; damage to one tenant $150. Streeter heirs, 8.9 acres woodland $220.

No appraisal was placed on the 26 acres of land belonging to the May heirs because the advertising of summons in this particular tract had not yet been completed.

The capture of Sousse, the base of Hannibal's operations in the Punic wars with Rome, was reported in dispatches from Allied headquarters. The Allied communique also announced the capture of Kairouan.

Nation's Greatest War Bond Sale Is Launched

Uncle Sam Begins Drive For 13-Billion War Chest

Washington, April 12 (AP)—A tremendous public response to its $13,000,000,000 bond drive, the biggest of history, was reported by the treasury today on the basis of the first few hours of sales.

A statement said banks, insurance companies and investors of all classes were reported purchasing bonds at a first-day pace greater than that achieved during the opening phase of the first war loan campaign last December.

Volunteer workers by the thousands set out to garner signatures, while newspapers, radios, and other information media proclaimed from coast to coast.

Uncle Sam needs the money to help pay for the war.

Money put into war bonds is not a gift but an investment—the safest in the world since it is backed by the government—that will pay interest.

Money put into bonds will help slapping down inflation which is forever lurking around the corner, waiting for a chance to blow living costs up. (Continued on Page Four)

Block Effort For Ruml Plan

Hull Appears In Half Of Trade Treaties

Washington, April 12 (AP)—The house ways and means committee voted today 16 to 9 today an effort by nine Republican members to reopen consideration of pay-as-you-go tax legislation.

The Republican's motion to reopen the bitter tax battle was offered by Representative Reed (R-N.Y.) while Secretary of State Hull stood before the committee awaiting to put in a plea for extension of the reciprocal trade agreements law.

Reed asked the committee to turn to the tax problem immediately after Hull had testified, and to defer reciprocal trade considerations until the committee reported a new pay-as-you-go tax bill to the house. (Continued on Page Six)

Americans And British Begin Closing In On Axis Forces For Final Battle; Air Forces Continue Merciless Hammering Of Enemy

By CARL C. CRANMER Associated Press War Editor Powerful Allied forces drove at a lightning pace toward the final or siege phase of the Tunisian campaign today as Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth Army warriors captured Sousse, only 70 miles south of Tunis, and Axis troops fled from Kairouan to the southwest before other columns.

Destroying stores as they evacuated Kairouan, the Arab Holy city and an important air base, and leaving ruined and abandoned equipment littering the roadsides, Marshal Erwin Rommel's badly pummeled men were being forced rapidly into a narrow square behind the mountains of Tunisia and Bizerte where it was believed they would attempt a final stand.

The capture of Sousse, the base of Hannibal's operations in the Punic wars with Rome, was reported in dispatches from Allied headquarters. The Allied communique also announced the capture of Kairouan.

Navy Now Accepts Men From 18 to 38

About 40 recruiting representatives of the Navy Recruiting Service this week will visit almost every North Carolina town and city which does not have a permanent recruiting station to enlist men and women of all ages for duty with the Navy. It was announced yesterday by Lt. Cmdr. Charles B. Neely, head of the states navy recruiting.

Recruiter in this vicinity will be Chief L. B. Scruggs, who will open a substation in the post office building at Greenville on April 12-13-14. All persons interested in the navy are invited to meet him for an interview.

It is now possible for men between the ages of 18 and 38, who previously were prohibited from volunteering for any service, to enlist in the Navy's Seabees. The Seabees are composed of men skilled in every phase of construction—and the Navy substitutes each applicant that he will follow to enlist in the construction battalions.

Most men are enlisted with petty officer ratings in the Seabees, and, after a 30-day indoctrination period, they are assigned to some naval base on a construction project. Much of the duty is foreign duty.

As a Seabees petty officer, a tradesman draws up to $126 per month base pay—plus all living expenses, clothing, and allowances for dependents. Ratings up to chief petty officer are awarded at time of enlistment.

General service is open to 17-year-olds, and to men between the ages of 38 and 50. Recruiter Scruggs said that the navy has opened its 50-odd trade schools wide to the young volunteers, and a special effort is being made to enlist a many 17-year-olds as possible. Once the youngster has reached his 18th birthday, however, he must enter the service through his draft board, and his eligibility to volunteer for the navy has expired.

Women who desire information on the WAVES should contact Recruiter Scruggs when he arrives in Greenville. The need for women in the service is so great that promotions now are faster than ever before—and with each promotion comes a raise in pay.

Starting pay in the WAVES is good, and the lowest WAVES petty officer rating pays a total of over $160 per month. Also, there are many commissions available to women who possess college degrees.

Office hours for Recruiter Scruggs in Greenville will be from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Wishful thinking will give us almost anything we want out of the Axis conference at Hitler's headquarters, but it strikes me the only definite conclusion we are justified in drawing is that the Nazi high command is getting set both militarily and politically for summer operations.

That fits in well with a question which most people are asking—is Hitler likely to spring one of his surprise offensives when the good fighting weather arrives on the continent?

Any answer to that must be speculative, but we can say that it won't be easy for him to stage a major offensive because the Allies hold the initiative on all fronts.

In short, the Fuehrer's position has become defensive. To pass from defense to offense is one of the difficult operations of war. The Nazi chief's greatest worry is that he doesn't know where the Allies are going to strike after they have finished the Tunisian job. He must be on the qui vive on all fronts.

The way things look now the Russians are set for offensive action as soon as the ground is dry enough. So Hitler knows he probably will have to defend that front.

He also can be dead certain that the Allies will strike in at least one other area—against Italy, through the Balkans or through western Europe—and they may hit on more than one place at the same time.

It's sure, too, that whether the Allies try to invade France, their fierce aerial bombardment will continue with increasing force.

What then, in view of all these circumstances, are the chances of Hitler trying to extricate himself by a sudden great counter-blow? If the Allies should decide to try an invasion of France across the English channel, and were successful (Continued on Page Four)

THEY GIVE THEIR LIVES YOU LEND YOUR MONEY!

TO THE READERS OF THE DAILY REFLECTOR:

The 13 billion Second War Loan is the responsibility of every one of us.

As Americans, we must lend our government every dollar we can during these next few weeks, no matter how much or how little our paychecks are, each of us must do his part.

The money is urgently needed to back up our armed forces now on the offensive with the weapons they must have to win and win quickly.

We are asked to give up our luxuries and even our comforts to match in a small way the sacrifices our men in the armed forces are making on the fighting fronts.

Remember: They give their lives—we are only asked to lend our money.

Vesper Service

Six students from the retiring Y. M. C. A. cabinet presented a vesper program on "Christianity in a Modern Age" Sunday evening at the college vesper hour.

Samuel Crandell of Stokes, outgoing president, spoke on "Christianity in the Home". He discussed the fact that parents probably have more influence on children than anyone else and that the kind of life parents live is going to be the determining factor in the kind of life their children live.

Has Christianity any place on the battlefield, was the question J. C. Shepherd, of Lexington, newly-elected president, tried to answer in the second division of the program. He gave several examples of young men who have found Christ on the front line. Out there each man feels the need of strength from a higher power. In battle, he stressed, one need not fight people, but wrong principles.

A special selection was sung by Donald Perry of Washington, retiring secretary, accompanied by Camille Jernigan of Aulander, W. B. Harris of Greenville, president, Sam Strickland of Rich Square, conducted the devotional, and Edward Brown offered the closing prayer.

Miss Ruth Gold, of Wilson, is visiting friends in Greenville.

W. H. Dell went to Washington Saturday and returned this morning.

Christian Science Service - "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches and Societies on Sunday, April 11.

The Golden Text was from Psalms 67: 1, 2. "God be merciful unto us, and bless us, and cause his face to shine upon us; that thy way may be known upon earth, and thy saving health among all nations."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon were the following from the Bible: "I, even I, am he that blotteth out thy transgressions for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sins. He that is our God is the God of salvation; and unto God the Lord belong the issues from death" (Isaiah 43: 25, Ps. 68: 20).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science text-book: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Sickness, sin and death, being inharmonious, do not originate in God nor belong to His government. His law, rightly understood, destroys them. All reality is in God and His creation, harmonious and eternal. That which He creates is good, and He makes all that is made. Therefore the only reality of sin, sickness, or death is the vital fact that unrealities seem real to human, erring belief, until God strips off their disguise. They are not true, because they are not of God" (Page 472).

Managing Your Meat Rations - Think aren't they just used to be on the kitchen front. Planning meals for the family in wartime has become a challenge to every homemaker. You start to fix one of your favorite dishes and find you haven't a can of pineapple in the house. You go to the grocer with your list all made out...then have to change your menu at the last minute because you can't get this or that for the points you want to spend. Maybe you were a little upset at first, but you put on your best "this-is-war-and-I-must-make-the-most-of-it" expression and substitute fresh turnip greens for the canned peas you had planned. But some good things are coming out of food shortages and rationing. You, like thousands of other American women, are discovering new foods. Your family is probably eating vegetables that you had never thought of serving before. You're trying new recipes, and to your surprise some of them are just as good and often better than your old standbys, and they take less butter or other ingredients you thought were so necessary. You are much less wasteful than you were in pre-war days. In fact, your garbage can has gone on a much-needed vacation. Leftovers find their way back to your table in new guises. And another thing rationing has done...it has let you find out that many of the fruits, vegetables and other foods you served only occasionally before often have more nutritive value than those that had been a habit in your household. All in all, you have learned that even when you can't buy as much of some things as you would like, you can feed your family a nutritious, well-balanced diet with a little more planning and with more careful shopping and cooking.

Here are some general suggestions that will be of help. First of all make the most of the meats and other protein food not under ration. Poultry is one of the meats not rationed. So if you have been in the habit of thinking of roast chicken or turkey as strictly a holiday dish, better change your mind. Serve poultry as often as you can to save your points for other things.

Fresh fish is another of the unrationed foods that should find its way to your table often. Just remember...people along the coast have always liked fish. There must be a good reason for that. Use local varieties of fish when you can, you mustn't be shy about trying new kinds.

Another way to make your meat supply go a long way is to stretch the good meat flavor in mixed dishes. Use meat extenders...that is, mix your meat with bulky, mild-flavored foods like cereals, bread, vegetables, and sauces. Loaves, patties, pot roasts with vegetables, stews, meat pies, soups, chowders and stuffings are the answer? You can make these dishes of meats that are low in point value, and if you make them properly they are delicious.

While we are thinking about low point values in meat, let's talk about the variety meats. Variety meats are the heart, liver, kidney, brains, tongue, sweetbread, and the other meat specialties. These meats are so perishable-for shipping to our military food program, so you can get them on the market at comparatively low point values.

Now for some food that you can use as meat alternates. To fill in you'll want to call on eggs especially because they aren't rationed as well as cheese and dried beans, peanuts and soybeans. Cottage cheese and other soft cheese are not under rationing. Like meat these foods all make a good stick-to-the-ribs dish around which to build a meal. They all contain protein, along with one or more of the other food values found in meat...and usually extra food values of their own. Every homemaker can still have well-balanced, appetizing meals if she does careful planning.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

STRENGTH FOR THE ICM CONCERNING POPULARITY

Rudyard Kipling once accounted for the popularity of a certain great national leader by saying, "All the years I have known him I have never once heard him say that he was cold or hot, wet or dry, sick or well, but I have never known him to forget a man who was."

The popular people are the ones who can forget themselves. Men will follow a leader anywhere if they have the feeling that he cares more for them than for himself. Whether it be in the army, in the world of business, or in the church, men like to feel that their accredited leaders have only one thought, and that is the welfare of those whom they lead.

A man is almost never followed purely because he is able or distinguished along some line. That indefinite thing called popularity stems from self-forgetfulness. The people who never know whether they are hot or cold, wet or dry, sick or well but who are tremendously sensitive to the welfare of those round about them will be popular whether they seek popularity or not. Our hearts go out to people whom we believe in some way to be interested in us and in our continued welfare.

So the sum of the matter is that the more we do for others, the more we do for ourselves; and the less we think about ourselves, the more will others think about us.

IT'S YOUR WAR TOO

On the farflung battlefields hundreds of thousands of Americans today risked their lives and some gave their lives for the cause of freedom and the preservation of American homes and other American lives as well as those of our allies. It may be days, weeks or months before today's casualty lists are made public but among those who lost their lives there may be your son, brother, husband or a very dear friend. While this is going on in the battlefronts, we would like to ask "What have you done today toward helping win the war?"

The government today started a drive to borrow 13 billion dollars from our people to help finance the war. Have you purchased any of these bonds or are you making regular purchases from your earnings? This is one way in which you can lend material aid to our men on the fighting fronts at this time.

There are many other ways in which you can help the war effort right here on the home front. You can serve in one of the various branches of the Red Cross, knitting for service men or making bandages that will surely be needed to care for the wounded on the battlefields. You can make a few more sacrifices in the way of not wasting vitally needed materials in order that there might be a sufficient supply with which to carry on a victorious campaign against the enemy. The government still needs scrap of all kinds especially copper and brass; it still needs waste fats for explosives and it still needs old silk hosiery for powder bags for the big-guns. These are just a few of the things you might be doing today and every day to help win the war.

Our men on the battlefields are willing to make the supreme sacrifice in order to win the war. What are you doing? Remember it's your war, too.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—The House of Representatives has just administered a public spanking apiece to two of its freshmen members.

Although the oldsters wouldn't admit it openly, the reason for the spankings is quite simple that the two youngsters violated one of the oldest traditions of Congress—that freshmen should be seen and not heard and the less seen the better. The two recipients of legislative chastisement were Representatives Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut and Representative Will Rogers, Jr. of California.

The ornamental Mrs. Luce's spanking came when her amendment to the ill-fated tax bill reached at vote. It was a voice vote. There were 387 congressmen and women on the floor at the time. The chorus of "noes" shook the steel girders of the chamber roof and there was not one single "aye"—not even a courtesy "aye" from members of her own delegation.

Only the fact that Mrs. Luce had been called out of the city saved her from the embarrassment of registering the lone favorable vote to the amendment for which only a few days before she had made an impassioned appeal.

The padding given young Rogers was a good deal less subtle than that it came when he crossed swords with Representative Martin Dies of Texas. Now, no matter how much controversy Mr. Dies may stir up in or out of Congress, he is one of the more popular and respected members of the House. If you don't believe it, look at the generous votes by which the big, husky Texan's famous committee on un-American activities has been perpetuated from session to session.

Mr. Dies, in the course of debate on a bill, alleged that Mr. Rogers had recently gone on the radio and charged that Dies was frequently quoted in Axis propaganda broadcasts. Mr. Dies declared not only that this is not true but that he soon would make public facts gathered by his committee at the Federal Communications Commission which monitors foreign broadcasts proving that it isn't true.

When young Rogers took the floor a few minutes later, there were angry mutterings of "prove it" from both sides of the House. He read a portion of a letter from FCC Chairman James Lawrence Fly to Mr. Dies, dated February 2, 1942. Then he asked that he have unanimous consent to print the letter and extend his remarks in the Congressional Record Representative

Clare E. Hoffman of Michigan objected—and it only takes one such objection.

It is hard for the layman to appreciate the enormity of that licking. The Congressional Record is the congressman's platform. It's the place where he defends himself, attacks his enemies, airs his views and talks to his constituents. To deny him the use of its is almost to cut out his tongue.

Representative E. E. Cox of Georgia topped off the spanking with this observation: "I did not witness the delicate operation which the gentleman from Texas performed on the gentleman from California, but I am sure the gentleman from Texas manifested that usual skill which is his. I could give the gentleman from California some advice, but I won't attempt that. I will make the observation, though, that if he stays in Congress long enough, he will learn a use some discretion in choosing the bull that he takes by the tail."

ful in landing an army, then the likelihood is that Hitler would deploy his forces for holding operations on all fronts. There would be small likelihood of his staging any big offensive. His hope would be that his submarine campaign might extricate him from his difficulty by producing a stalemate.

Barring an invasion of France there's always a chance that the Germans may have one more try at smashing the Russian southern army and breaking through into the lower Caucasus. Hitler might attempt that as a great gamble even if the Allies invaded Italy.

However, it's highly improbable that the Nazis could muster enough strength to destroy the Red army defending the gateway to the Caucasus, and at the same time stand off the pressure on all other fronts. Sooner or later Hitler must come to the position of holding defensively on all fronts.

indicated that city, where three hours from the beard of the Prophet Mohammed are supposed to be kept, was abandoned shortly after American, British and French spearheads had thrust through the mountain barrier at Fondouk and begun a race toward the coast.

A second Eighth army column advancing on Kairouan from the south had bypassed Faid Pass, scene of the first American defeat in Tunisia, and trapped whatever Axis forces were left in that stronghold.

French troops also gained more ground to the north in the Ousselat territory, while Lieut. Gen. K. A. N. Anderson's British First Army made further advances in the Medjez-El-Bab area, 35 miles southwest of Tunis.

Americans of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr. took Faid Pass without opposition.

Some armored remnants of Marshal Rommel's forces were knocked out in the engagement northwest of Kairouan and 10 tanks were destroyed.

The terrific pace of the British-American air offensive of the past few days was increased even further, and 41 enemy planes were shot down yesterday at a cost of 14 Allied planes.

Thirty-one of the enemy losses were big three-motored Junkers 52's which the Germans have been using to transport fuel to their hard-pressed forces. Eighty-nine of these lumbering targets had been accounted for over the Sicilian straits in the last six days.

Allied air patrols hammered furiously at the Enfidaville ridges, 27 miles north of Sousse where Rommel apparently was arranging to make a desperate stand. Spitfires

HORSE PRAIRIE BY CLEM COLT

"Oh, a deal, is it?" Jones inquired thinly. He twisted up his forehead in a corrugated frown, but the gambler continued to sit there and grin and Tubac grew vaguely uneasy. Plainly this was no ordinary timber and, if sounded right, might reveal a few things Jones could use in his business. So he dragged out a smile that was bland as the gambler's. "What kind of a deal?" he asked, and Blackwater Bill chuckled slyly.

"Just a deal," he said, "that'll put the skids under that slick banker, Haines. We'll fold that bank up like an accordion."

"How you figurin' to do it?"
"It's just the kind of dumb play he loves, and he'll gulp it down hook, line and sinker."

Jones said: "It must be gold, the way you're guardin' it!"
"Dead center, Mr. Jones; I can see you're a man of perception. Gold it is. When you bait your hook for a banker, gold's the only thing you can use."

Tubac grunted. "Don't make a story out of it! Just give me the works an' get a wiggle on."
"Hmmm. Great notions aren't hatched in a moment. And, besides, I said a 'deal.'"

Blackwater Bill leaned forward. "I want a half interest in this ranch."

Jones grumbled. "I'll give you a half—if the deal comes off."

"Now look—" said Blackwater suavely. "The first thing to do is for you to take all your money and put it in the bank."

"In the bank!" Jones cried, and looked the gambler hard in the eye. "You must think I'm green—"

"You want to bust that bank or don't you?"
"Sure I—But—Well, go on."
"You leave it—"

"Yeah," Tubac said sarcastically. "I'll leave it all right."

"You put all that money in the bank—every penny you can get your hands on. A thousand, if you can. I've got a few hundred that I'll chuck in, too. As you've so rightly suspected, under normal circumstances you'd never see a cent of it again. Haines would manage that, somehow. But—" and Blackwater Bill smiled thinly, "the circumstances aren't going to be normal. Before Haines gets around to pulling anything we'll yank our money out again and leave his bank with crepe on the door!"

Jones shook his head. "Mebbe I'm just an ignorant saddle bum but that play don't look very bright to me. Even if we're lucky enough to get our mazzama out of his clutches, how's that goin' to bust his bank? He'll still have as much as he had before—as he's got right now."

"I guess you're forgetting, I said the circumstances won't be normal. When we pull that money out of there we'll start a run that'll make that wing-footed god look anchored."

"You musta been smokin' rattleweed to think up anything hair-brained as that! No thank you, Mister Blackwater Bill. My money's a heap safer right in my pocket!"

"You talk like a fool," declared the gambler scornfully. "I tell you this is a sure-fire thing. It can't miss! First, we put the money in the bank. After an interval we take it out—whether we get it or not makes little difference. We present our receipts and demand the money. Have you got that digested?"

Jones nodded.
"Fine," said Blackwater and leaned forward. "Now here's the joker. After we deposit our money, and before we go back to draw it out, we arrange matters in such a way that Haines has a need for his ready cash elsewhere. Quick's he's used it we ask for our money. Is it plain to you now?"

"It's plain," Jones said, "that I'll lose my money—"

"You might. I don't think you will, but you might. Even so, what's two or three thousand? Ain't it worth that much to bust Haines flat—and maybe that Stampedede crowd along with him?"

There was a glint in Blackwater's eyes as he said, "I happen to know Haines has put considerable money into X and L Mines—bought all the stock he could get. On margin. If the market fluctuates—"

"It won't," Jones predicted. "I know them mines. They're at Pearce an' sound as a rock!"

"As a matter of fact, they're sounder," smiled Blackwater. "But the stock and the mines are two different things."

"I know all about stocks!" Jones cut in grimly. "I learned about stocks from an expert! But it takes hard cash to force stock—"

"We don't have to force it up. All we've got to do is sell Haines the impression it's being forced up—"

"An' how are you goin' to do that?"

"Just you leave it to me. Once Haines is convinced someone's monkeyin' with that stock he'll move heaven and earth to save his shares. He knows those mines are good well as you do! That's what I'm counting on. He'll not want to see his shares wiped out, even if it means he's got to dip into his bank for the money to save them. And when he dips—"

Blackwater Bill spread his hands and smiled.

Jones, staring bug-eyed, suddenly laughed. "You're a genius!" he cried, slapping his thigh. "I believe it'll work—"

"It will work all right. Now the first thing to do," said Blackwater briskly, "is to get our deposit money into the bank—how much of a stake have you got altogether?"

Tubac got out his wallet and thumbed through his pile. "Twenty-five hundred eighty-seven dollars an' fifty-four cents."

"And mine tots up to fourteen hundred. I'll put in a thousand and with twenty-five hundred from you we'll have a grand investment total of thirty-five hundred dollars. That should be enough to cook him. Here you are," said Blackwater smiling. "You better grab a bite and star right back—"

"To town?" asked Jones incredulously.
"Certainly!" Blackwater eyed him glumly. "You will be in no danger whatever. They won't be expecting you back so soon."

on the Japanese in Burma. A delayed dispatch from a U. The navy today announced two more attacks on Munda and a heavy bomber raid on Kahlili in the Shortland area of the Solomons. Fighters twice attacked Kiska in the Aleutians, the communique said.

INDIANS HAVE PLENTY NOW

Two More Players Change Their Minds Over Week-end

By LARRY SMITH
Indianapolis, April 12—(AP)—Twenty-four hours ago Roy Cullenbine and Rookie Hank Edwards were the only outfielders in the Cleveland Indians' camp and manager Lou Boudreau had disclosed he would open the American league season with a pitcher in left field if necessary.

He had decided that Al Milnar, Allie Reynolds and Steve Gromek would alternate, depending on whether a left or right-handed hurler was facing the tribe.

Today Boudreau could boast of four fly-chasers—a situation which, in the case of the Indians, virtually amounts to an over-abundance of manpower.

First came the announcement that holdout Jeff Heath had left a Seattle, Wash., shipyard for the ballyard. The hard-hitting gardner agreed to terms in a telephone conversation with Vice President Roger Peckinpaugh.

Pickinpaugh indicated the management had increased its salary offer, but that the figure agreed upon represented a compromise. It was believed to be $12,000 as compared to the $15,000 Jeff received last year.

The next development was Oris Hockett's return to camp. Hockett returned last night after jumping the team Saturday, but refused to divulge any reasons for departure to his home in Dayton, O.

Training Camp Briefs

By The Associated Press

Muncie, Ind. — The Pittsburgh Pirates got the day off today after lurching out of their spring-long batting slump and defeating the main forces of the Detroit Tigers, 13 to 2. A game was carded with the Louisville Colonels today but manager Frankie Frisch cancelled it and gave his charges a vacation.

College Park, Md. — Bob Johnson, Washington's slugging left fielder, still has manager Ossie Bluege believing that the newest acquisition will provide the needed punch for the Senators this season. Johnson got 3 for 6 — two of them doubles — and batted in four runs as the Senators unleashed a five-run flurry in the seventh to beat the International league Orioles, 12 to 6, at Baltimore Sunday.

Seymour, Ind. — The Chicago White Sox and Cubs filled an open date on their spring exhibition schedule today by coming here and clashing in another of their information games for the benefit of the soldier fund at the Freeman air base. Catcher Clyde McCullough, who ended his holdout siege Saturday, may see action for the Cubs.

Brooklyn — The Brooklyn Dodgers, winners of three straight over the New York Yankees, still were talking about Arky Vaughan's glittering play that robbed John Lindell of a hit as they embarked for Camp Dix, N. J., and today's struggle with the New York Giants. Vau-

New Draft Rules . . .

Both farm classifications are restricted to those "necessary to and regularly engaged in an agricultural occupation or agricultural endeavor essential to the war effort," but liberal interpretation has opened them to most full-time farm workers.

Elimination of the 3-E classification put men in essential activities on the same footing as those in other work—except work specifically declared to hold no deferment rating whatsoever, even for men with several children—unless they are essential individuals.

This appeared to reverse the policy of the War Manpower Commission, which has charge of Selective Service, to persuade shifts to the more essential lines of work, but spokesmen said the same—and quicker—results could be obtained by expanding the non-deferable list.

Furthermore, they said, the postponement afforded by 3-B rating might have been slight since many local boards have exhausted their supply of childless married men in 3-A and have begun reclassifying such men out of 3-B into 1-A. They added the same condition would have prevailed when the calling of fathers began.

Boards were instructed to: Consider whether men reclassified out of 3-B should be put in 3-C, 3-A, 2-C, 2-A or 2-B before putting them in 1-A.

"Bear in mind" that they can put a man in 2-A or 2-B even if neither his line of work nor his particular job is on the national list of essential activities and job-occupations, since the list is "only a guide" to help determine essentially.

Continue, "insofar as possible," to call single men ahead of married men, regardless of when the marriages took place. Calling of fathers is expected to begin generally around July 1.

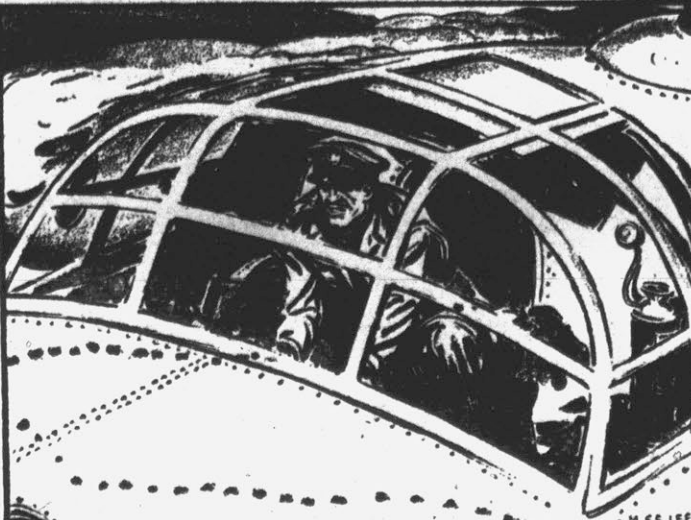

The current rate of inductions is about 12,000 a day. There now are about 15,000,000 registrants aged 18 through 37 in the various draft classifications. Another 80,000 to 100,000 became 18 each month.

Approximately 9,250,000 of the present registrants are men in the family relationship classification—3-A, 3-B and 3-C—and about 6,250,000 of them are fathers.

The 3-A class contains about 7,000,000 men, the 3-B class 2,000,000 and the 3-C class 250,000. Many in 3-A and 3-B will, however, be shifted to 3-C as reclassifications go forward.

In the confusion Gildoy stepped off the bag and was tagged, then Mersch decided to go back to second but couldn't make it.
