Coal Crisis Ends As Leaders Agree On 15-Day Truce

Miners Slowly Returning to Work Following Appeal By President Roosevelt And Agreement By Lewis And WLB To Continue Talks On Wage Increase

By The Associated Press. Washington, May 3.—The coal crisis averted, miners started back to work today in a trickle that promised to grow into a stream by night-fall and to have the mines running fully by tomorrow morning.

A symbolic flag of truce, too, accompanied the return. For Lewis and other UMW officials asked the miners to resume work tomorrow morning on a 5-day temporary basis.

Most of those who have been on strike appeared delaying their return until Lewis' date of tomorrow. In Illinois, where today's return men showed up there were not enough of them to open the mine.

Three hundred and fifty men at Gallatin, Pa. led the return, entering their shaft at 6 a. m. in eastern war time. About half those in the Beehive coal industry of Fayette, Co. Penn., came in an hour later and officials said they expected full crews by tonight.

Eight major mines in Ohio reported a nearly normal complement and a district vice president of the UMW predicted that the afternoon shift would be normal.

Several hundred miners went back in the Harlan County, Ky. field, where union spokes men indicated that all the field mines would be turning out coal tomorrow.

Incidentally, Lewis reported in a routine Bureau of Mine paper today that coal on hand amounted, on the average, to a 43 days supply. Describing the position of steel mills and railroads as "particularly precarious," Lewis said some steel plants in Ohio had an average of only 24 days supply.

However, Lewis regarded the prospects now as sufficiently good to permit cancellation of the "freeze" on industrial shipments of coal. (Continued on Page Six)

SCOUTS WIND UP CAMPOREE

Youngsters Receive Much Praise For War Activities

By CHESTER WALSH. The Boy Scout "Camporee" at Third Street school grounds, concluded its program of war-time exercises with religious services Sunday morning, conducted by Rev. A. Hartwell Campbell, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church. The "Camporee" was a fine success. The more than 100 Boy Scouts conducted themselves like American soldiers. They demonstrated their ability to "fall in" and do duty like men. They manifested the "good neighbor" spirit and in every way lived up to the traditions of Boy Scouting. They expressed appreciation to Scout Executive James T. Uzzle and other scout executives, to the city for its cooperation and to businessmen and others for helping to make the camporee a success.

The boys measured up to their duties in a big way and deserve credit for it, said Charles B. Bissette, chairman of the Boy Scout Council. Mayor Sage said today "I'm for those who are out there doing something to develop our boys into better citizens. Businessmen, church and school leaders commended the Scouts for their good showing. The Scouts in camp gave a rising vote of thanks to City School Superintendent June H. Rose for use of the school grounds and for sanitary privileges to Dr. N. Thomas Ehardt, county health officer and Henry L. Rivers, head of the city street department.

The program of exercises was impressive. It began Friday night and continued through Saturday. The boys worked with more enthusiasm and appreciated the praise for their part in war work.

Boy Scout Council Member LeRoy Spitzer awarded the following trophies to winners in stunts and for camping merit.

Friday night, first prize to the Lion Patrol of Troop 33 for the signal light contest. Saturday, the Wildcat Patrol of Troop 36 for outstanding performance.

Credits for 2000 camping were awarded the following: Bill Robinson, Troop 10; Leon Laun, Troop 11; Guy Evans, leader, Wildcat and Panther patrols, Troop 36.

Red Ribbons, Flying Eagle and Dan Beard patrols, Troop 25; Lam Morris, leader, Wolf and Lion patrols, Troop 36; A. B. Stalworth, leader, Swallow, Fox and Beaver patrols, Troop 30; Bill Drum, leader, Bat Patrol, Troop 37; Carl Morris, leader, Eagle Patrol, Troop 172; Hollywood, Furney Tripp, leader.

Allies Lose Heavily In Jap Attack On Australia

Thirteen Enemy Aircraft Shot Down In Raid On Darwin Air-drome

Allied headquarters in Australia May 3.—AP.—A powerful fleet of Japanese warplanes—21 bombers and 30 fighters—struck savagely at the Allied air-drome near Darwin, Australia Sunday and inflicted heavy losses on Allied fighters in a fierce air battle.

Spitfires manned by Australian and British pilots rose in force to intercept. The ensuing battle raged over the Darwin area and the Arafura sea to the north. Thirteen enemy planes were destroyed or damaged, the navy communiqué said.

There was no elaboration. It was the first time, however, in a year of aerial warfare in the southwest Pacific that a communiqué had referred to allied air losses as heavy.

A Japanese communiqué broadcast by Berlin and received by the Associated Press said the attacking Japanese destroyed 21 Allied fighters without loss and severely damaged important war installations.

Three enemy fighters were destroyed, one bomber and nine fighters were damaged.

American fighters bombed Japanese Aleutian base at Kiska 13 times on Saturday, the Navy reported today, causing a heavy explosion at Newry, head of the mouth of Kiska harbor, setting several fires and damaging the airplane runway.

SOVIETS STALL GERMAN PLANS FOR OFFENSIVE

Nazis Lose Heavily as Reds Continue Air Attacks Disrupting Supply Lines

Moscow, May 3.—AP.—Red Army artillery raked German positions in the Kuban sector of the western Caucasus throughout the night although the Soviet midnight communiqué announced that German efforts to expand their bridgehead in that region had been abandoned after a six day drive in which the Nazis lost 7,000 men.

The mid-day communiqué said the Russian shellfire killed 200 more of the enemy and that 16 mortar and artillery batteries were silenced and ten German blockhouses were destroyed.

The German high command communiqué broadcast from Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press said the Russians failed yesterday in fresh attack on the Kuban bridgehead.

Several planes raided East Prussia last night and one was shot down, the bulletin said. It did not report the nationality of the raiders, but Red Army bombers have ranged across East Prussia on several nights this week.

A violent spring air struggle continued along the entire Russian front as Soviet bombers and fighters sought to disrupt any German plans for an offensive.

While announcing that there was no significant change on the front, the Russian noon communiqué reported that a battalion of German infantry attempted to storm the Soviet defense line south of Chuguev on the Donets river front southeast of Kharkov.

However, Soviet infantrymen met the attack firmly and with the aid of artillery beat back the Germans to their original positions, the bulletin said.

A skirmish was reported on the northwestern front where Soviet troops were said to have thrown back numerically superior forces, killing several scores of Germans. Otherwise, however, little action was reported in the communiqué.

On the home front, the Communist party newspaper Pravda echoed Premier Joseph Stalin's laudatory words on the part being played by the United States and Great Britain in the United Nations war on Germany, asserting that "recently the enemy has lost on his own skin the force of the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States."

Discussing the possibility of a second front in Europe, Pravda said the Military Commission today in its operations on our side on the European continent, like it will be today.

French Now Within 15 Miles Of Bizerte

Lewis Arrives For Conference

John L. Lewis (left), arriving at a hotel in New York Saturday for a conference between coal operators and miners in an effort to settle coal field strikes, told reporters, "I just don't have anything to say this morning. That was his reply to questions about the action of the War Labor Board in referring the soft coal wage dispute to President Roosevelt. Last night it was announced that the miners had reached an agreement with the WLB to continue work for a 15-day period, beginning tomorrow, pending further negotiations."

Advances also were made in other sectors.

The fortnight campaign, in which the U. S. Second Army Corps played an important part, exhausted both sides, but after a day of comparative rest yesterday the Allies struck forward again and the enemy defenses collapsed in many places.

U. S. and French units cooperated yesterday in the occupation of hills 12 miles northwest of Mateur. The enemy appeared to have suffered the more for French detachments and forward units of the Second U. S. Army Corps drove yesterday to the ridges known as Kef Rdjal Toula to tighten the pressure upon Mateur and Bizerte.

The hills are about four miles west of Lake Achkel, along the eastern shore of which runs the 18-mile highway linking Mateur to naval base. Col. Gen. Jurgen Von Arnim was reported withdrawing his advanced units in that region as a result of the pounding they have received from planes, field batteries and infantrymen in the Allied offensive.

At some other points also there was a slight withdrawal of enemy forces to more convenient or better-defended positions. However, the Germans are still far from cracking in their main endeavor. This is to (Continued on Page Six)

Allies Continue Forward Sweep After Day of Comparative Quiet

French General Predicts Month Of May Will See Complete Defeat Of Axis

By EDWARD KENNEDY. Allied Headquarters in North Africa, May 3 (AP)—United States and French troops occupied a group of hills 12 miles northwest of Mateur yesterday even while a lull was developing over most of the Tunisian front after two weeks of battle which has left both Allied and Axis forces spent and suffering from heavy losses.

The Algiers radio in a broadcast recorded in London by the Associated Press said Allied headquarters in North Africa announced Mateur had fallen.

Advances from the front this afternoon told of the American entry into Mateur, 18 miles southwest of Bizerte and 34 miles northwest of Tunis.

A French communiqué announced French troops and Moroccan goums made a further advance in the coastal area, bringing their forward elements only 15 miles from Bizerte, and rounded up more than 500 prisoners.

Advances also were made in other sectors.

Jeffers and Patterson Plan Tour To Settle Squabble

Washington, May 3.—AP.—Undersecretary of War Robert P. Jeffers disclosed today that he and Rubber Director William Jeffers will attempt to settle a program squabble by a personal inspection of rubber plants in the United States.

After relaying the senator's statement that the AEA officials in the air is threatened with a $100 million mortgage in 1943, Jeffers said that "I had discussed the problem and decided to make a field trip to get the view of the situation from the practical way."

The undersecretary's pronouncement toward Jeffers' contacts with the rubber directors program for constructing Buna S rubber plants was given preference over aviation plants at the expense of rubber plants in Jeffers' head office, said Senator Truman (D-Mo.), chairman of the Senate Committee on Appropriations.

Referring to a recent suggestion of Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) that Jeffers and Patterson seek terms from New Britain to Timor, the (Continued on Page Six)

Denies OWI Is Haven For Draft Dodgers

Washington, May 3.—AP.—Elmer Davis, head of the Office of War Information, told a House Military subcommittee today "some insinuations that OWI is a haven for draft dodgers" are "untrue and unjust to the many loyal men who work tirelessly and faithfully for OWI."

Of OWI's 4,000 employees, Davis testified as the committee resumed its investigation of draft deferments, 1,040 men are of draft age but over half of them have dependents, 190 have physical defects and about 100 are awaiting induction.

The British raiders shot down six of the enemy planes, but lost four of their own fighters.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE. General Gortals' pronouncement at the month of May will be a complete defeat of the Axis. The Axis seems like reasonable sense.

The Allies' forces, American, British, and French, have done a job in driving the Axis into vital sectors of the mountain and bloody business, but the Allies have tightened the noose, and they have thrown about the battlefield.

Literature Laws Declared Invalid

Washington, May 3-(AP)-The Supreme Court in effect overruled today a decision it delivered on June 8 and declared unconstitutional municipal ordinances imposing a license tax upon the sale of religious literature.

This action was taken in a five to four opinion read by Chief Justice Stone. It said that the Supreme Court decision delivered June 8 was vacated and judgment of state courts sustaining the ordinances were reversed.

Justice Reed, Roberts, Frankfurter and Jackson dissented.

Those voting against constitutionality of the ordinances were Stone, and Justices Black, Douglas, Murphy and Rutledge.

Give Figures On State Beer Taxes. Raleigh, N. C., May 1-(AP)-The Brewing Industry Foundation's North Carolina committee said today that the beer industry had paid $14,251,217.14 in state, county and city taxes in the 10 years it has been legalized in North Carolina.

The industry celebrated its 10th anniversary of legal selling in the state on May 1. It was legalized by an act of the 1933 Legislature.

Col. Edgar H. Bain, director of the foundation's North Carolina committee, organized to protect the public against abuses in the retail sale of beer, said the committee has assisted local authorities in the elimination of more than 275 objectionable retail outlets since its establishment four years ago.

Beer sales are authorized in 98 of the state's 100 counties, Mitchell and Yancey counties ban sales by special acts of the 1937 Legislature.

On Being A Real Person. Next to love, money and culture, personality is the most commonly desired possession in America, and because those who seek it most ardently are not successful, it is the subject of constant discussion and a steady stream of books.

The latest of these and one of the very best because it is far more than just a book on personality is by Henry Emerson Ford, who through long years of study, meditation, and practical living has identified himself with leaders in social and religious guidance.

Last week this book, "On Being A Real Person" placed in first place on the best-selling non-fiction list. It is a hopeful book telling what the combined effort of God and man can do. No psychiatrist in America has been more sought after for help than this humble minister of God. And when he consoles to the repentant person who has sinned that one of life's major business is handling difficulty, making the best of bad messes, that person is comforted, takes heart and becomes courageous for a while at least. When he stresses that it is up to the individual to rise when he falls, that strength comes in the

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

MESSAGES OVER THE YEARS

A friend of mine was reading a book some time ago when there fell out of the pages a discarded newspaper clipping bearing a date shortly after World War I. This article told the story of a veteran of that war who had died while undergoing an operation. Among the soldier's papers were found letters written to his son, then five years old, counseling him in the way he should go and instructing those who had charge of his estate to have one letter delivered each September on the son's birthday.

The first of these letters read as follows: "Dearest Boy of Mine: Your mother is now your daddy as well as your mother. Daddy has been taken away to see Sissy. And some day you will come to see both of us. Daddy is proud of his Dickie boy and knows that he will be good to his mother and take care of her always.

"Each year, until you are big, you will get a letter from your daddy. Dick on your birthday, and then you will get your last letter when you are married. A big kiss and good-bye."

Circumstances like this give us a vivid realization of the presence with us still of those who have passed beyond the veil.

IT COULD HAVE BEEN AVOIDED

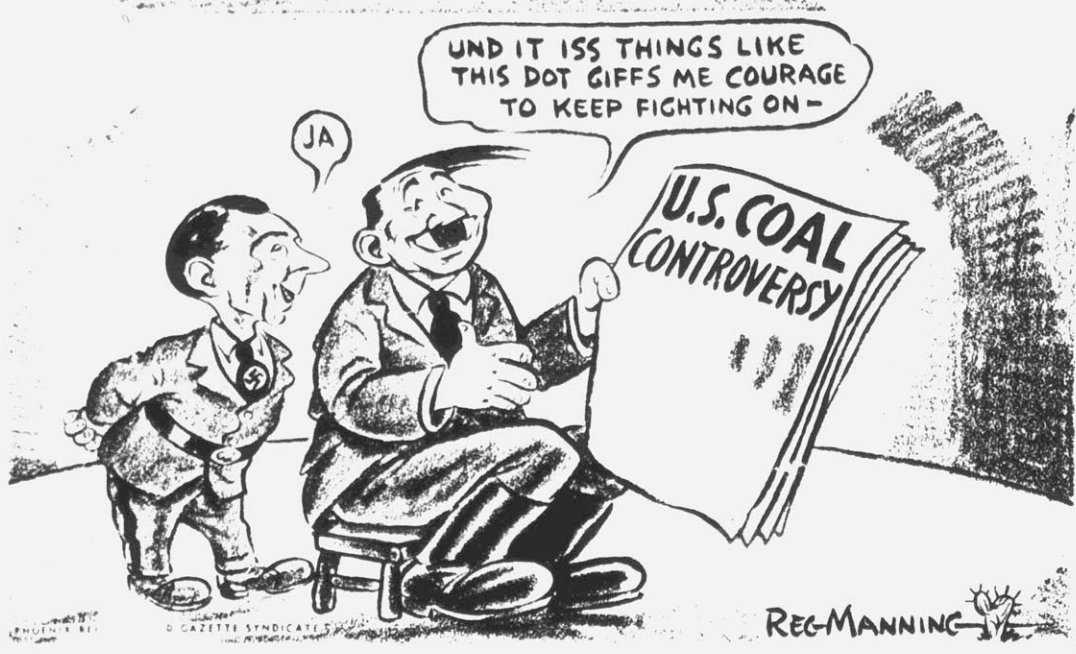

It is to be hoped that the coal miners will heed President Roosevelt's plea and return to their jobs immediately, for their failure to do so is a threat to our war effort and ultimate victory. The country today is in a critical situation that could have been avoided had Congress, at any time during the past 20 years, had the courage to adopt the universal draft act sponsored by the American Legion to take care of just such situations as strikes during wartime. The act would have provided for placing of all the nation's resources and manpower at the disposal of the war effort at any moment the country should become embroiled in war. Under the plan profiteering as well as labor could have been more easily controlled.

Our experiences since we entered the war should be sufficient to convince Congress and the administration that the plan should have been adopted long ago and no further delay should be permitted before it is placed on the law books and rigidly enforced.

TOMORROW MAY BE TOO LATE

How often the expression is heard today: "Be careful! You can't replace it." That warning has been applied to everything from pins to tractors. Never was the American public so waste-conscious. Yet, in one vital respect it is still far too careless. That respect is fire. Millions of dollars worth of property and thousands of lives are lost annually by preventable fires.

It is an ironical fact that the man who cares for his car like an only child, will very often not hesitate to leave that car in a garage alive with fire hazards. And the housewife who guards with similar diligence the welfare of the electric range or refrigerator, will blithely disregard the commonest fire hazards such as frayed wiring, trash in the attic, open fireplaces and carelessly strewn matches.

Fire can wipe out a home and every "irreplaceable" object in it in a matter of minutes. Some of those irreplaceable objects may be human lives. Of the 10,000 persons who were burned to death in the United States in 1941, two-thirds perished in homes.

Fire prevention, like charity, should start at home and spread in widening circles until each person is doing his utmost to prevent destructive fire anywhere in his community. Fire department officials are only too glad to point out potential hazards to the uninformed.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

"Second of two articles in the growing importance of air power."

Washington — It's no secret now that the global war in the air is shaping up into a definite pattern. Here are some main points:

- (1) Regardless of the length of time it takes to mop up Tunisia, the United Nations now are waging an air blitz from THREE fronts, and those three fronts form a triangle which have the Axis completely encircled. (From Rostock and Danzig on the north to Tarragona, Sardinia, Marseille and Bordeaux on the south, there isn't a square foot of Nazi-occupied soil that isn't now within easy range of United Nations bombers.)
- (2) That one-time scourge, the Luftwaffe, is badly crippled and the Nazi high command can no longer consider it any more than a defensive weapon. As such, its power must not be underestimated. It still can deal staggering blows and probably will get in a few, but not enough to check the RAF and the United States and Russian air forces.
- (3) Events of the last few months have finally awakened the drowsy U. S. Army and Navy high commands to the vital importance of airpower as an offensive weapon. There still are some bottlenecks, some ground generals and admirals who think that the war in the Pacific must be won island by island and the war in Europe foot by foot. There are few who won't admit that in a sense, they're right. But with airpower knocking out the war plants and supply lines, some of those continental miles can be taken with seven-league boots.

(4) The answer to the pleas of our Pacific allies and commander for more air strength in that theater isn't now going to be long delayed. The ANS in Europe is still No. 1 on our list, but by the brutal execution of those captured American flyers of the Doolittle raid on Tokyo and by massing air strength in the South Pacific outposts, Japan has brought about what no piecemeal heretofore had availed—the promise of Washington to do something immediately.

(5) Probably most important of all, the winter and spring of 1943 likely will go down in military history as the period when airpower, in so far as the U. S. military is concerned, at least, came into its own.

Don't get the idea that any of the foregoing implies an early end to this war. Nor does it mean that the use of airpower will disappear from the theater of controversy. Extremists among the airpower advocates undoubtedly will continue to shout that total victory can be obtained by planes alone. The more cautious will point to the Luftwaffe's failure to knock Britain out of the war or even to soften it up to a point where invasion was certain of success. Extremists on the ground side will continue to insist that airpower is nothing but long range artillery mounted on wings and only important in aiding men on land and ships at sea. Probably what is happening is a distillation of all these opinions into the really effective use of airpower as a striking weapon, but that's practically in the stratosphere compared to where we were a couple of years ago.

HORSE PRAIRIE BY CLEM COLT

Chapter 24
All was confusion at the top of the divide. Curses and shrieks resounded wildly, mingling with the crashing echoes of saddle guns. Hoarse yells tangled with choking screams; and then like magic, all the riders had gone.

Tubac sprang to his feet and re-joined Winch Face who was already, nervously, up in his saddle and anxious to be gone. "I got an idee bozzin' around in m' head that I reckon you'll be some interested in. I think I know where that gopher's headin' for. There's an abandoned mine up this way that used to be right much of a diggin's five-six years ago. It's up by Black Point, not four-five miles from where we are now. Be a first rate place to hole up a prisoner; an' I betcha that's where he's takin' her."

But there weren't any horse tracks, nor any horses, showing when they reached the mouth of the old Black Point diggings. "That don't mean nothin'," Winch Face muttered. "Natch'rally he'd hev enough savvy 't rub out his tracks. There's a cavern, just inside a ways, where they could leave the horses. I'm 'settin' we'll find 'em in there, too."

And so it proved. They were looking over the sweaty broncs when three shots rang out so nearly instantaneous as to seem one monster roar of sound. Winch Face dove for the side of the cavern to get himself out of line with the entrance. But Tubac fired from his hip at the flash. At once a shriek and a cry of "Tubac, Tubac" and Jones went instantly dashing forward to make sure the man wasn't shamming.

He wasn't. It was Carlin. He was very dead.

Winch Face was already off exploring and his voice, a moment later, came back on a sudden shout. "There's a door back here in the tunnel wall—padlocked, too."

Tubac, hurrying up here, struck a match. The door was a stout affair bound with strap iron and heavy bolts. "Here y'are—" Winch Face panted up with a pick and Tubac, taking it, stepped back and swung at the door with all his strength. But the planks must have been extra thick. The pick point was embedded in the door but the door didn't show any cracks.

"Well, here's for it," Tubac growled, dragging out his six shooter. "If them lobos've been sneakin' after us I reckon they'll jest have to hear it. We got to be gettin' outa here before them vinegarous trap us here. Go fetch our horses in an' pick yourself a place on the tail'n where you can keep an eye on the trail leadin' up here."

Tubac put the muzzle of his gun to the padlock and fired. The lock fell apart and he yanked the heavy door open. Sue's glad cry he had expected. But never for a moment had he thought to find Blackwater here. With an arm around Sue's shaking shoulders he sheathed his gun and shook Blackwater's silently surprised forehead.

"I figured they'd killed you sure!" Bill grinned in his quiet gambler's way. "They aimed to jest hadn't got around to it proper. There were a few little legalities they wanted me to fix up for them before they put a bullet through me."

"We got to be gettin' outa here!" Tubac broke in, suddenly remembering the gang he'd driven to cover. "They're gettin' pretty close by now; not for a second had he thought to have discouraged their pursuit but for the moment. "If you've so much as hurt one hair of your head," he told Sue Lambert, "I'll—"

Winch Face's shout drifted in. "They're a-comin'! An' brother, they are comin' fast!" They rushed to the tunnel entrance crowded up behind Winch Face where he lay behind the mine dump. They were trapped. The Stampede crowd was down below and every trail was blocked.

Large Crowds Turning Out For League Games

Managers To Shift Games This Week For Both Day And Night Workers

By JUDSON BAILEY
(AP Sports Writer)

Like the weather, the fans have taken their time to warm up to baseball this season, but yesterday they turned out in great throngs all around the major leagues.

The first full wave of doubleheaders scheduled at eight parks attracted a total attendance of 165,189 in New York having 47,686 at the Polo Grounds to see the Giants battle the Brooklyn Dodgers in a renewal of their curious cross-town feud.

There also was a virtual capacity turnout of 32,000 at Washington's Griffith Stadium to see the much improved Senators scrap with the New York Yankees.

All of this was pleasing to the magnates, but will not keep some of them from experimenting with weekday games to see if they can attract more fans by varying the starting times.

At Cincinnati General Manager Warren Giles of the Reds will start today's contest with the Pittsburgh Pirates at 11:30 a. m. to make it possible for night shift war-workers to attend. Tomorrow at Brooklyn the Dodgers' game with the Philadelphia Phillies will start at 5:30 p. m. to catch daytime workers.

Yesterday's big show provided plenty of baseball thrills—a mixed assortment of good pitching, good hitting and tight struggles.

The crowd in New York saw the Giants and Dodgers divide a doubleheader in which each game was decided by one run. The Dodgers took the first 3-2 to take their winning streak to six games. Relief Pitcher Johnny Allen hit a double and a single to lead Brooklyn's offensive. The Giants bagged the nightcap 2-1.

The St. Louis Cardinals swept a doubleheader from the Cincinnati Reds 7-6 and 6-3. Rookie Lou Klein drove in three runs to set the pace in the first game and Lefty Howie Pollet kept seven hits spaced to win the second.

Pittsburgh cleaned up on the Chicago Cubs with a pair of white-washings 3-0 and 1-0 as Wally Hebert pitched a three-hitter and Bob Klinger a four-hitter. Both were tough for the Chicago hurlers to lose.

The Boston Braves and Phillies split. Boston won the first, 3-1, as Ray Barrett pitched a seven-hitter and missed a shutout when Danny Litwiler hit his third homer of the spring. The Phillies took the second 6-5 in 12 innings with Litwiler doubling with the bases loaded for two runs after Boston had tallied in the top half of the 12th. Schoolboy Rowe appeared as a pinch-hitter for the Phils in the sixth and hit a grand slam homer to tie the score.

In the American League the New York Yankees divided a doubleheader at Washington. They won the first 11-3 as Ernie Bonham kept nine hits scattered and Charley (King Kong) Keller smashed a three-run homer. Then Fraid Pie stopped them in the second 4-1 with six-hit hurling.

Weather cut Cleveland's double bill at Detroit to one game, but the Indians won it 5-2 to take charge of second place.

The St. Louis Browns swept two at Chicago 5-1 and 3-2 in 11 innings.

The Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics halved their program, the Red Sox leading thru in the first 7-6 after Tex Hughson had been manhandled in trying for his third victory and the Athletics annexed the nightcap, 8-1.

Loss of Arm No Handicap To Baseball Player

The fact he has only one arm is no handicap to Pete Gray, regular outfielder for the Memphis Chicks in the Southern Association, who heads up the batting order. Left: He reaches up for a high ball. Right: With his glove tucked under his arm pit, he demonstrates how he grips the ball to throw it. After he makes the catch, he tucks his glove away, rolls the ball across his chest, and retrieves it for the throw. With Three Rivers in the Canadian-American league last year, he hit .381, playing in 42 games.

They had just seen the Count pick up $60,725 so easy it was like finding it in an old pair of pants hanging in a closet. He had romped in with the 69th Kentucky Derby by three lengths over second place Blue Sward, and by 36 lengths over the battered Burnt Cork kicking along in the rear of the field of ten.

So said one trainer. "He's a freak. Well, what is a race-horse supposed to be if not a good runner? And the Count can really ramble, can't he? Then what is a freak?"

Well, the other explained. "The Count's legs are too long and he runs with his head too high in the air for a real good racer. And while he's stuck enough through the mid-
