Russian Forces Continue Drive Toward Novorossisk

Five German Counterattacks in Kuban Area Repulsed; Nazi Dead Mounts to 10,000 In Few Days Of Fighting; Red Air Force Aiding In Drive

By EDDY GILMORE Moscow, May 7.—(AP) The Red army, smashing forward in increasingly violent battles which have cost the Germans nearly 10,000 dead, has driven a wedge between the German and Rumanian forces operating north and south of the Kuban river in the Caucasus and is tightening its net about Novorossisk, front line dispatches reported today.

Aided by strong air forces, the Soviet troops cut one road after another in the Kuban valley, severing Axis supply lines and avenues of escape.

One dispatch said the Russians cut an important road and captured a height dominating the approach to a large city, the name of which was not given.

Red Star, the army newspaper, said the Germans were pouring in more reserves, along with more units of tanks and planes.

Immediately northeast of Novorossisk the terrain is extremely difficult, full of terraces and steep hills. The Germans and their Rumanian satellites, are dug in deeply here and are fighting fiercely, it was said.

German prisoners told their captors that the German officers had orders to shoot every man who fell back.

A dispatch to Izvestia, the government newspaper, said special groups had been organized to bury the Axis dead and that one of these groups buried about 2,000 soldiers yesterday.

West of captured Krivskaya the Red army managed to drive one part of a large Axis force to one side of the swamp and river and pursued another force down the opposite side of the river.

Pitt Out In Front In Sale War Bonds

Pitt county people have "come across" generously in buying War Stamps and Bonds since the sale started March 1, 1942, said W. H. Woodard, president of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company and Pitt county war bond chairman since the bonds were first offered.

"We exceeded our April quota of $166,907 of 'E' bonds and sold $129,791 worth and we have exceeded monthly quotas ever since we started," Woodard said incidentally, "the 'E' bonds are those you pay $18.75 for and receive $25 in 10 years, etc."

"In the national campaign to sell 13 billion dollars worth of bonds our people did their part under the leadership of J. Herbert Waldrop vice president and cashier of the Guaranty Bank and Trust of this county and special chairman for that drive," Woodard stated.

"In our plan to keep over the top in selling war bonds only the 'E' bonds count in our total score. The campaign for sale of the 'F' and 'G' and other bonds is over. The work we now have to do is to sell the regular 'E' war bonds and help to win the war," Woodard said today when he announced that the war bond quota for this county in May is the same as in April, $166,907.

Aluminum Firm Officials Charged With Sabotage

Number Of Workers Also Included In Indictments

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—Attorney General Biddle announced today that the National Bronze and Aluminum Foundry Company and seven of its top officials had been indicted at Cleveland, Ohio on charges of violating the sabotage law and conspiring to defraud the government.

Biddle said the charges were based upon allegations that the defendants had conspired with 21 company employees—named as co-conspirators—and with others to supply the Packard Motor Car Company with defectively cast aluminum superchargers for Rolls Royce airplane engines being made for the government.

The indictment in nine counts charges that the defendants "deliberately" welded and plugged in violation of specifications the attorney general said, and these violations were concealed from Packard.

It is charged also Biddle said that the alleged conspirators removed heat and serial numbers from rejected castings, repaired the castings and returned them to Packard with new numbers. He said that the defendants also are accused of misrepresenting the source of test bars supplied to Packard.

Seven counts of the indictment as announced by the attorney general charge that the defendants "with reason to believe that their act might injure, interfere with and obstruct the United States and its associate nation Great Britain in preparing for and carrying on the war against Germany, Italy and Japan," and "deliberately" made and caused to be made the castings "in a defective manner."

"The indictment charges," Biddle said, "that in carrying out the conspiracy the defendants gave workers instructions as to the time of day when castings destined for Packard were to be welded usually (Continued on Page 3)

Japs Make Progress In Drive On Chinese

ALLIES MAKE FURTHER GAINS IN NEW GUINEA

Airmen Blast Jap Forces; Jap Subs Sink Five Allied Freighters; New Drive In China

By The Associated Press General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today that Allied troops had captured the village of Bobdubi, only five miles from the big Japanese base at Salamaua, New Guinea, while Allied planes roared 20 times over the nearby area pouring cannon and machine-gun fire into enemy troops.

The thrust represented the closest penetration to Salamaua in the campaign, but there was still no indication of a major Allied offensive to take the base. Previous sorties have been chiefly hit-and-run raids to demoralize the Japanese and probe for weak spots in the enemy's defense.

Dispatches from Allied headquarters said the coup threatened to cut the line of supply to Japanese forces entrenched at Mubo, 12 miles south of Salamaua.

Meanwhile Gen. MacArthur disclosed that Japanese submarines had sunk five Allied freighters in the waters east of Australia but a communique said the vital flow of Allied reinforcements and supplies to the southwest Pacific "continues virtually undiminished."

United Nations airmen stepped up operations after a spell of bad weather blasting the enemy base at Manokwari, Dutch New Guinea, and destroying nine Japanese float-planes in the Aese islands farther south. A bogal landing with many troops was also sunk.

In the Burma campaign British headquarters reported an ominous Japanese thrust to the Maungdaw-Butheung road, north of the enemy base at Akyab, and said close fighting was in progress.

This apparently meant that the Japanese had reached the main British defenses where Field Marshal Sir Archibald P. Wavell's forces had dug in to await the Monsoon rains after falling back from the Mayu peninsula.

Maungdaw near the Bay of Bengal coast and Butheung, 35 miles inland, both lie about 60 miles north of Akyab.

FDR Pleased At Second War Loan

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt praised the American people and the Treasury Department today for the success of the newly completed second war loan drive for $13,000,000,000 and said final figures showed sales of $18,300,000,000 in bonds.

He informed a press conference that in approximately two years over $10,000,000,000 has been put into the "E" type war bonds and 50,000,000 Americans have subscribed to them.

Declaring that a grand job had been done by the Treasury and the public, the chief executive analyzed some of the figures from the latest campaign and said its success had deferred from July until late September or early October a huge money drive and had lessened to some extent the need for extra savings.

"Treasury officials earlier in the day reported the third drive might be launched in August."

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Mussolini and his stooges are giving a realistic exhibition of cowardice, their last move.

Word from Tunis—lying only 90 miles from Sicily—by that the Allies today continue to press in about the cornered Axis forces in the Bizerte and Tunis sectors by the coup de grace. Many ominous signs warrant the Italians in leading an Allied invasion of their homeland as Tunisia falls.

Indeed, the Paris radio says a big Allied convoy has sailed from Gibraltar. It's reported to include 20 transports loaded with landing barges and armored vehicles.

Meantime unrest is seething in the Balkans. The Turks are polishing up the buttons on their uniforms—just in case.

Small wonder Duce should be quaking.

On the anniversary of Mussolini's creation of his empire in 1936, he has declared to his people: "The great enterprise is not finished; it is simply interrupted. x x x"

Union Officials Predict End Of War Labor Board

Describe Board As 'Tottering On Its Last Legs'

By KENNETH L. DIXON Washington, May 7.—(AP)—The War Labor Board—a key bulwark of President Roosevelt's hold-the-line order against inflation—was being propelled rapidly today toward a new stabilization crisis.

Its three-man panel continued hearings in the coal wage dispute which threatened war production.

The United Mine Workers' walkout, but the board's jurisdiction made no pretense of seeking either representation or participation.

And elsewhere the signs of storm multiplied.

An American Federation of Labor spokesman said the board was "tottering on its last legs."

Board members who sought to increase their power to handle wage disputes, with the right to remove "inequalities" solemnly reported they got no encouragement from Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes in a several-hour session yesterday.

Without such power some sources said regional and perhaps national-labor members of the board soon might be forced to resign due to union pressure.

These sources pointed to brief walkouts reported in several sections of the country, terms of which were to be decided by the board.

There was no sign that whatever decisions resulted from the board's (Continued on Page Three)

U. S. AIR BASE IN ALEUTIANS

New Field 12 Minutes Flying Time From Kiska

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—United States forces have established an air base only 63 miles from Japanese-held Kiska island in the western Aleutians, the Navy announced today, on Amchitka island.

This island is 149 nautical miles nearer Kiska than the previously westernmost point of advance in the Andranof islands.

Establishment of the Amchitka base, accomplished in late January, cut the flying time to Kiska, for a bombing plane averaging 300 miles an hour to 12 minutes. This has made possible the heavy daily raids carried out when weather permitted since March 1.

Announcement of the new base was made in a communique which reported that on Wednesday Army planes raided Kiska six times and attacked Attu, Japanese base further to the west, four times. Kiska has now been raided 215 times in the last two months.

Wants Speed Limit For Year After War

Raleigh, May 7.—(AP)—It will be at least one year after the end of the war until the present 35-mile an hour speed limit is relaxed if Major J. T. Armstrong, head of the State Highway Patrol, has his way.

Major Armstrong, commending Governor Broughton's proclamation lowering the speed limit from 60 to 35, said today he believed the new rule should run until, aged automobiles and inferior tires were off the road. That, he said, he believed would be at least a year after the cessation of hostilities.

He said he hoped that the speed limit never would return to 60 miles an hour, but would be fixed at 35.

Twenty-Five Axis Ships Reported Sunk In Tunisian Straits

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, May 7.—(AP) Main Axis defense positions around Tunis have been overrun by British First Army troops, already in its suburbs, and the Second U. S. Army Corps has captured Ferryville and penetrated the outskirts of Bizerte, it was announced late today.

Heavy fighting raged about the capital as the Germans and Italians sought to check the offensive, but the city offers few facilities for a prolonged defense.

Americans captured Ferryville, supply and repair depot on Lake Bizerte eight miles south of the naval base, at 1 p. m. (9 a. m. EWT) today, said a dispatch from the field.

Reconnaissance units of the Second U. S. Army Corps stabbed into the suburbs of Bizerte, Tunisia's main port and naval base.

British First Army detachments made the plunge at Tunis, the capital.

Allied air forces unloaded tons after ton of explosives on roads choked by retreating enemy.

Among those in the rout were some of Hitler's proudest German troops.

Heavy fighting was reported in progress in both sectors as the U. S. Second Corps and the British First Army capitalized on deep penetrations through collapsing enemy positions all along the northern Tunisian front.

"Our troops have continued their victorious advance," a special communique said.

Reconnaissance elements were said to have made the penetration of the Bizerte suburbs. Many more prisoners were taken, it was announced.

Armored units of the British First Army captured Le Bardo, on the highway at the western edge of Tunis, the communique stated.

Allied planes, completely dominating the sky, maintained heavy attacks upon Axis transport columns. (Continued on Page Three)

President Sends Letter To Stalin

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today that Joseph Stalin would carry a personal letter from the President to Joseph Stalin.

The chief executive fended off all attempts of reporters at a press conference to gain information on the contents or on whether Davies would bring back a reply. He said Davies, former ambassador to Russia, does not know himself what is in the letter.

There have been conjectures that the President might propose a meeting with the Russian leader similar to that he has held with Winston Churchill, British Prime Minister.

Mr. Roosevelt told the reporters, however, that their guesses always had been wrong in the past.

Davies will not be gone very long and will come right back. Mr. Roosevelt said. He said he assumed his personal envoy would learn the contents of the document in Moscow, discuss them, and then return.

Fears No Strike Of Coal Miners

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt gave a clear indication to a press conference today that he expects no strike of coal miners against the government.

"Are coal miners employees of the government," a reporter asked him, "and if so can they strike against the government?"

He said he would reply in the affirmative to the first part of the question and on the second he remarked that he had been in the government a great many years and could not recollect any strike by government employees against the government.

He was asked too whether he claimed for the government to continue operation of the mines it has taken over until a new contract is signed and peace assured in the industry.

He said he had heard nothing until today, about stopping the running of the mines.

Local Employment Office Shuts Down On Payments

By CHESTER WALSH Compiling with the order sent out from Washington to "work or fight," R. F. Pease, manager of the Greenville office of the N. C. Employment Service, "bore down" on about 250 Negro women most of them formerly part time employed in domestic service in homes, and who have been or are now drawing unemployment compensation benefits.

"My job here is to carry out the law to the limit and I'm going to do it but I need the cooperation of Greenville housewives who are employing servants and know that they are unjustly drawing money from the State," he said.

There are no white women drawing unemployment compensation now, and there are only a very few white men, and they are old and entitled to it, a checkup of the office records revealed to this reporter today. Very few Negro men, less than half a dozen, are drawing benefits, but there are 250 Negro women who have been drawing compensation who are going to miss it. They work a day or two here and there, swear they are unemployed and have been drawing benefits. When these Negro women come in to apply for compensation or to receive checks we have plenty of jobs waiting for them. We offer them their choice. They must take work somewhere. When they decline we are referring their names to the district claims deputy of the State Compensation Commission, and he will give them the works. (Continued on Page Four)

GAVE HIS LIFE TO SAVE SHIP

Navy Reveals Heroism Of Submarine Commander

Washington, May 7—(AP)—A submarine skipper whose last gallant order, "take her down," headed his own death sentence was credited by the Navy today with successful attacks on three Japanese ships, the last of which the sub rammed in a dramatic night fight for life. It was in this final action somewhere in the distant Pacific that the officer roared the conning tower of his submerging submarine to his death rather than expose the craft of crew to enemy gunfire. He had been wounded a few moments before and knew that the time required to get him safely into the submarine might mean the sub's destruction. For this sacrifice, commander Howard W. Gilmore, 40, of New Orleans, La., has been awarded posthumously the Congressional Medal of Honor by President Roosevelt. The story was told by the Navy today, partly in a communique and partly in an accompanying account of the final fight. The communique, which also reported American air raids against Japanese positions in the central Solomon Islands, listed the three last ships attacked successfully by the submarine under Gilmore's command as a medium cargo ship, sunk; a gunboat, damaged and probably sunk; a medium cargo ship, damaged. "Commander Gilmore gave his life in the action against the gunboat listed above," the communique said. "As he lay on the bridge wounded by enemy machine gunfire he ordered his submarine submerged to save it from destruction." The gallant commander, first submarine officer to win the medal of honor in this war, was on his fourth war patrol against the Japanese. Previously his submarine had been credited with sinking a total of 25,946 tons of enemy shipping and in addition with having struck boldly into an enemy harbor and attacked three enemy destroyers caught unaware there, sinking two and damaging one. Three exploits had been reported by the Navy but they never had been identified with Gilmore. In fact, he operated under the anonymity which shrouds many submarine operations. But the full story came out today about Gilmore's last action and the famous last order—"take her down." The incident occurred, the Navy said, "early this year."

School Auditorium Is Southern Garden

The high school auditorium has been elaborately decorated for a junior-senior prom tonight. It is beautiful. The auditorium has been transformed into an old southern garden, with the balconies clustered with wisteria. The nooks and corners have a background of lattice-work and rambler roses, while above there is a white canopy studded with stars. Myriads of tables, white covered and adorned with cut flowers encircle the auditorium. The stage is attractively decorated as a background. Potted plants provide a background of greenery to enhance the enchanting scene. Festivities begin tonight at nine o'clock. Good music, singing and dancing will feature the annual school event. The public is invited to visit the school and inspect the decorations.

Family Takes School Honors

Winterville, N. C., May 6—The children of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Cox of this community have made an outstanding record for themselves throughout their school career. Grady, a son who graduated with this year's class, was chosen by both faculty and student body as the outstanding senior of the year and had his name engraved on the plaque in the school building which bears the name of honor students. He was also salutatorian of the class. Margaret, who graduated in 1939, was also salutatorian and had her name on the plaque for honor students. Another son, W. B., was Valedictorian of the class of 1937, while George Alton, now in the sixth grade, has consistently led his class with averages in the nineties.

Praise Girl Scout Camp Pamlico River

By IVEY C. SNYDER This kind of weather suggests camping, boating, swimming and all sorts of outdoor fun. Camping is fun, of course, and more than that it is an institution in our society which can do so much toward training young people to assume responsibility. Particularly during these times should young people get away from the tension and confusion of a war-torn world and pursue wholesome adventures and recreation under guidance of trained leadership in living and learning by doing. Learning to live with people in national surroundings, where there is a chance for resourcefulness and growth in independent thinking and action "Camp does for girls what nothing else can," writes a mother whose daughter is in camp for the sixth successive season. Greenville girls and others of nearby towns, are particularly fortunate in having a grand camp nearby, with such excellent leadership. Girls should enroll early. It is considered wiser to have enrollments this year for two weeks instead of one as last summer. No good program of guidance can well be put into effect in one week. Let's go girls!

(Continued from Page One) hearings in the coal case would receive anything but a cold shoulder from UMW President John L. Lewis, who has termed the WLB "prejudiced" against the miners. President Philip Murray called an extraordinary meeting of the CIO Executive Board for next Friday at Cleveland to discuss what he called the "crisis" in the government's wage and price administration, and the AFL Executive Council will convene here on May 18. The assertion that the board was "tottering" came from Philip Pearl, editor of the AFL Weekly News Service, who charged that the President and Byrnes dealt the WLB "a fatal blow" several months ago by undermining "its power, prestige and authority" in an effort to "stop Lewis. He said the UMW chief had outmaneuvered the administration by sidestepping the WLB, "knowing its machinery was geared to kick him in the face" and that it was doubtful whether the board could recover. The one who talked with Byrnes came away with little hope of substantial concessions in the hold-the-line order, and contended much of WLB authority had hinged on their getting power to iron out inequalities. Although their proposal to Byrnes, made more than a week ago, did not involve scrapping of the "little steel" formula, they sought permission occasionally to go beyond its 15 per cent increase in wages over the levels of January 1, 1941. The board estimated last month that nearly 10,000 applications for voluntary increases would be rejected by the President's order ruling out inequalities as a basis for raises. In the hopes that the order might be relaxed, the board has deferred action on wage issues involving inequalities, during the past week or 10 days.

(Continued from Page One) umms which clogged the roads of retreat. Powerful air attacks helped the ground troops to cut their way ever closer to the enemy's major centers. "Because of complete air domination," said a statement issued by the RAF and the U. S. AAF, "the tactical air force was able to throw practically the whole of its weight against enemy armor and German defenses in front of Tunis, enabling our own troops to advance and capture all their objectives with a minimum of casualties." A broadcast by Grant Parr, NBC reporter attached to Allied headquarters, said 25 enemy ships had been "sunk in the Tunisian straits," this suggesting another powerful sweep against surface transports which might attempt to withdraw the Axis survivors. "The spirit of the German troops appears to have been broken," Parr said. Capt. Ludwig Serorius, Nazi military commentator, said in a Berlin broadcast recorded by Reuters that French native troops had penetrated the inner fortifications of Bizerte. This went even beyond the Allied account placing Allied detachments in the outskirts. "The Nazis boast said American scouting parties made the penetration of the suburbs." In aerial action yesterday American Flying Fortresses, Mitchells, Marauders, Lightnings and Warhawks sank a dozen vessels, including a destroyer, and damaged 15 others. As some of these were heading toward Italy it might be said the Axis had started a partial evacuation, though all indications are that it will not be able to even attempt getting out the bulk of its forces in Tunisia. An order of the day by Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, read to Allied troops before the battle opened, said the final phase of the campaign had arrived, that "we have regrouped our victorious armies and are going to drive the enemy into the sea." The deputy commander in chief called upon the soldiers to give every ounce of their skill, strength and endurance. "Forward then to victory," he said. A German military spokesman said the "decision is approaching in Tunisia" with Axis troops outnumbered 10 to one, according to a Transocean dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press.

Biddle said there had been no accurate total of the allegedly defective castings supplied thus far but that it was estimated that in one five-day period he defendants had saved approximately $30,000 by welding castings which otherwise would have been rejected. The maximum penalty under the sabotage charge is 30 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine on each count. One count, charging conspiracy to violate the maritime sabotage statute, alleges that the violation extended from December 8, 1941, the day after Pearl Harbor, "to the present," Biddle said. A Justice Department statement described the National Bronze and Aluminum Foundry Company as one of the largest manufacturers of aluminum castings in the United States. It said the cast superchargers were designed for Rolls Royce Merlin engines to be installed in fighter planes costing between $50,000 and $100,000. The department quoted Packard engineers as stating that castings lose at least 20 per cent of their tensile strength as a result of welding. It said also that the welded portions of the superchargers do not expand under the heat generated

It transacts business in a manner that would reflect credit on any big corporation. Business transacted last night included hearing Attorney Dick Bundy in behalf of his client, Lawrence Hines, Negro taxicab driver, who was alleged to have driven a taxi without a permit; approving maintenance of the city rationing office by Mrs. J. C. Tyson; ordering extra street lights in the "Bama section"; acknowledging a report that the new air raid alarm siren was in operation; approving Sanitary Inspector Welch's report; instructing Fire Chief George Gardner to attend a firemen's school in Charlotte; ordering city automobile tags for 1944, disposing of minor routine business matters and approving current bills. Opening of the municipal swimming pool and employing workers there was left to the Parks and Playgrounds Committee and Chairman L. B. Fleming. The aldermen reviewed post-war plans for improving highways entering the city; had a "rejoicing" off-the-record session over completion of plans for the county-city airport for the Marines; heard requests from a number of citizens and appointed M. L. Wright to the Citizens' Cemetery Planning Committee to succeed Bancroft Moseley and Mrs. Richard Evans to succeed Mrs. Thomas Rivers. "The city's financial affairs are in excellent condition, the various departments are harmoniously cooperating, especially the police and fire departments; cordial relations exist between our white and colored citizens; the schools are doing a great work under wartime conditions, and altogether, we have a right to be proud of the patriotism of our people," Mayor Bruce Stagg said when the meeting concluded.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS BRAINS

The most valuable commodity in the world is brains. Sometimes it appears that brains do not bring a great financial return, but since good judgment and penetrating insight are factors of our mental equipment, certainly we can say that good brains are remunerative.

Every achievement is mixed with brains. The man who designs a graceful airplane, or builds a beautiful house, or writes a book, or makes a fortune does so by mixing certain qualities with brains. Some-one reading these words may feel rather sorry for himself, feeling that he has a rather meager intellectual equipment. But the truth of the matter is that most people have more brains than they give themselves credit for having and many times more than they use in their daily employment.

When we begin to mix brains with and efforts, we raise drudgery to the level of art.

OUR STATE GUARD UNIT

That was a fine piece of work by the local unit of the State Guard in answering the emergency mobilization call last night. Despite the fact that the practice call came as a complete surprise to the members, the first guardsmen entered the armory within four and a half minutes after the first alarm had sounded, and when the roll call came 25 minutes after the first blast of the alarm, 37 of the 47 men composing the unit were in line to answer present. The State Guard is one of our finest wartime organizations for protection of the home front, yet most of us take it for granted without giving any thought to the fine service the men are rendering.

When the government called the National Guard into active military duty the home front was left without organized military protection and the State Guard was formed to prepare itself to render any service that might be necessary as a result of any emergency. The men who compose the unit are from all walks of life in our community. They carry on their daily jobs and give one night a week to drill in addition to many hours each week to study, to better fit themselves to do a good job should the need arise. They remain subject to a call at any time, and yet they are rendering this protection to the community and state without any pay whatever.

Last night's quick mobilization here revealed that within less than 30 minutes of the sounding of the alarm

Look Who's Applauding

the major portion of the unit could have been enroute to the scene of trouble and the realization that we have this kind of protection right here in our midst should furnish our citizens with a sense of security that we could not enjoy if we did not have the State Guard unit.

We think it is a mighty fine organization, and we congratulate its members on the quick manner in which they responded to last night's call to duty.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington — Decoration Day is just around the corner. That means everyone who has a flag should display it on that day. What I'm wondering is whether anyone knows that Congress has laid down the law about displaying and honoring the flag. For example if Decoration Day is rainy, too windy or otherwise affected by "inclement weather," the flag should not be flown at all, and that until noon on that day, it should be flown at half mast. That last law is probably violated more often than any other in the whole flag code.

Decoration Day is just one of several when the flag is to be flown. According to law, just as important days are New York's Inauguration Day, Lincoln's Birthday, Washington's Birthday, Army Day, Easter Sunday, Mother's Day, Flag Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Constitution Day, Columbus Day, Navy Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas — plus any other day the President shall designate — and all state birthdays and holidays.

There is a score of other regulations. The U. S. flag can't be draped around a float, for instance.

Most interesting, however, is the fact that the old flag salute for its villains — raising the right arm to parallel the brow, with the palm open — is no longer good form, or even permissible. That, says Congress, is too much like the fascist and Nazi salutes. The Schickelgrubers swiped it from us, therefore we will no longer have any part of it.

Just what will happen to you if you don't obey these laws is NOTHING, except that you had better not try to look your neighbors in the face. Congress has provided no penalties, but if you consistently violate this statute, watch out for the FBI. J. Edgar Hoover's boys will want to know why.

There's a story going around here that the British have already formed two post-war plans:

1) If the United States really strings along in determining global peace policies; 2) If it doesn't. That should give the "nationalists" — as they now call themselves — food for thought, but no less food than the "internationalists" have to chew on. The question is simply whether we will have the Versailles Treaty all over again — or something better.

One of Washington's favorite yarns for the moment is about the fellow who took his car in for inspection. His brakes, lights, tires, etc., were okayed. He started to drive out to the place where he would get his "okay" windshield stamp. His motor conked out; his car caught fire. Attendants rushed out with fire extinguishers but found they wouldn't work (not having been inspected, we presume).

The fire department finally arrived, sprayed the charred wreckage and departed. The owner was sadly investigating salvage possibilities when up marched the inspector and slapped a sticker on the heat-cracked windshield. It said: Inspected and approved.

Local Employment

"Working and drawing money from the State has become a racket here. It is against the law, and we are going to break it up. We will appreciate the women and the men of Greenville cooperating with us in this matter. The law has teeth in it and can be enforced. We are prepared to do our part. We will now learn whether the people here will cooperate or not. We are checking and double-checking and plan to clear up the local situation," Manager Pease stated.

Many Negro women have been convicted in police court here of falsely swearing about their jobs and have been convicted and given jail sentences, with judgment suspended provided they paid back to the State the unemployment compensation benefits they had collected.

For an interesting experience — while the war is going on, drop into the employment office some morning and listen to the "tales of woe" the Negro women tell about being out of work and unable to work. There is nothing private about it — no more so than the tax books of the court records. We looked 'em over.

HIGHWAY TO HER HEART

by MAXINE SHORE

Chapter 2 The news about Bill Vance's plane accident up in Canada hurricaned through the offices of Spot News Picture. Bill was a general favorite. Penny Vance, pale, maintained an outward calm, but it wasn't easy. Every time she came out of Powell Ward's gold-lettered door into the main room, she was deluged with sympathy.

The world had gone frighteningly bleak. The only thing that seemed at all real was when Cleve Rockwell loomed up once to take her hand cradling it. "Don't let that telegram scare you Penny. Bill's my best friend. I'd know inside if he weren't going to come out all right."

Penny lifted gray eyes to his, managed a shaky smile. "I — I g. guess I would, too, Cleve."

He patted her shoulder with such awkward tenderness that Penny gulped and bolted back to her own office. She was afraid she was going to cry. She couldn't hold back any longer.

Before she could even sink into a chair, however, Powell Ward's buzzer sounded. Rallying obediently, Penny groped her way in to answer. "We've got to get hold of those pictures!" he greeted her, without looking up. "Send a wire to the police authorities, Penny, at — where was it? — ah — Hudson's Hope, and find out what's happened Bill's camera and films."

"C-camera and f-films?" faltered Penny. What about Bill? Something in her voice made him raise his eyes. "Oh — and of course, tell them to give all possible aid and medical attention to Bill!"

Penny sent the telegram. She did other things, too, that she couldn't afterward remember clearly. Doggedly, desperately, she kept busy. Took dictation. Typed letters. Telephoned for Powell.

"It's very sensible of you to go on as usual," he told her approvingly. "Worrying won't help Bill, you know, Penny."

What would help Bill — lying somewhere far off up there in the wilds? Where, exactly, was he? Who was with him? The morning was blur of misery. Lunch time came. Food? How could she eat anything, when her only brother was injured, perhaps fatally?

"Sorry I can't take you to lunch," Powell said, helping her into her coat, "but I've got an appointment with Judd Chaumer. Had it for over a week. Wouldn't dare break it. He's too important."

"That's all right," said Penny faintly. He kissed her. "Run along now and have a good hot meal. You'll feel better, sweetheart."

Everyone else had gone by the time Penny reached the elevators. Everyone but Cleve Rockwell. Gratefully she realized he'd been waiting for her.

"Got a lunch date?" Penny shook her head. "Well, now you have," Cleve tucked her arm through his. Going down to the street, Penny stole a wondering glance at Cleve's darkly tanned face. His eyes weren't teasing now — they were grave. His lips weren't crooked with their usual devil-may-care mockery. This was a new Cleve, considerate and gentle. A Cleve she'd never seen before. She felt all at once a little shy with him, as with a stranger — yet comforted, too, about Bill.

They ate in a cozy little place with gay tablecloths and waitresses in bright peasant costumes. There was music to match. Penny felt her strain diminishing. She could even enjoy the excellent food a little. Finished, Cleve sat back across the table from her and lit a cigarette. He regarded her through wreathing smoke.

"You know, tot, I think you're growing up some."

"Tot? Penny froze. "Could be," she said coolly. "At least, that's the impression that seems to be getting around."

Impulsively, he leaned forward. "No, I mean it. You're turning out to be rather lovely." He reached a lean brown hand across to take her small soft fingers in his. Caught off guard, Penny's heart stirred, began to thump. So Cleve Rockwell was beginning to wake up

"Is that we do not want to be distant press agents dumping useless material on your desks, but that you are as much interested in the cause of breaking the Roosevelt-Hopkins-Frankfurter hold on the government as we are. We are all Americans together who dread the thought of perpetuating one man in the White House; and of seeing the continued mixing of politics with war administration."

The clippings' fourth-term editorial said that when President Roosevelt submitted the "forced draft" in 1940, it was freely forecast that should he be elected, he would again be a candidate for a fourth term.

GOT AN ORPHAN OF THE STORM? THE STORM that is sweeping the world today has caused some automobile dealers to close up shop. Well—we're ready to take care of them. We have a well-equipped shop. We have expert men. We have a lot of time-tried experience and know-how. And we have taken particular pains to inform ourselves on the special needs of cars other than those we sell. PHILLIES HAVE GOOD CLUB NOW

Bucky Harris Doing Splendid With Celarities

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Phillies, who have been the butt of many bad jokes, are now making the bad jokes say "but..."

The Phillies are in the National League cellar, as expected, but... Manager Bucky Harris and owner Bill Cox have succeeded in collecting a reasonable facsimile of a baseball club. At least it looks more like a ball club than the door mat of recent years.

They have beaten the first place Brooklyn Dodgers in three out of nine games and, considering the masterminding that Harris has had to do to even get a team on the field, this is a minor miracle.

The one-time "boy wonder" of the Washington Senators has had to do slight-of-hand tricks, yet he says if he had had the lineup he now has, and the same breaks had occurred, he could have won all three games from the Dodgers in Philadelphia last week instead of losing them. The scores were 4-2, 4-3 and 4-3.

At any rate the Phillies halved a four game series just completed in Brooklyn, winning a tight, ten-inning tussle yesterday 3-2. John Podgajny held the Dodgers to five hits and in the tenth Glen Stewart tripled and came home with the winning run on a fly.

Their victim was Buck Newson, who previously had won two without a setback. He pitched six-hit ball and fanned nine, but it wasn't good enough. The Phillies now have won four of 11 games. Last year they won only three of their first 15.

In the only other National League game yesterday the St. Louis Cardinals were cuffed again by the Chicago Cubs, 5-1, and lost their exclusive hold on second place. Hiram Bithorn, scoring his third victory against one defeat, pitched seven hit ball and had a shutout till the ninth.

The New York Yankees sent the Boston Red Sox away from Yankee stadium bruised and groggy from four consecutive one-run defeats. The American league leaders baged a doubleheader 2-1 and 5-4 to conclude the series.

The first game was a duel between Ernie Bonham of the Yanks and Lefty Oscar Judd, but Charley Keller settled it on Bonham's favor with a triple in the seventh, scoring on a long fly by Joe Gordon.

However, the nightcap was a nightmare. Rookie Tom Byrne started on the mound for the Yanks faced five men and failed to get any of them out. Before Bill Zuber could come to his rescue he had forced two runs across with a walk and Tony Lupien singled off Zuber for two more. This ended the scoring for the Sox, who made only four hits, and the Yanks didn't get a run till the seventh. But in the eighth Dike Newsome loaded the bases and all scored, relief pitcher Mace Brown forcing in the tying run with a walk. A wild throw by Brown in the ninth gave the Yanks the deciding run.

The St. Louis Browns downed Detroit for the first time this season in a classic 1-0 contest in which the winning run was scored in the ninth on George McQuinn's triple and a fly Dennis Galehouse of the Browns and Lefty Hal Newhouse of the Tigers each pitched five-hit ball.

Roger Wolff also hurled a shut-out, stopping the Washington Senators 7-0 for the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Cleveland Indians entrenched themselves more strongly in second place by beating the Chicago White Sox 6-3 behind the steady pitching of Southpaw Al Smith.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, May 7—(AP)—Harvard's announcement that it won't play intercollegiate football next fall surprised exactly nobody hereabouts. And, as an old Princeton grad, we might comment: "It's not the first time—and we don't mean during World War One, either." Since they're playing a high school team at the end of spring practice, maybe the Harvard boys decided they'd found their class and might as well stay in it.

Box Office Blues
Old Harvard has no football coach. Old Harvard has no team. And therefore dear old Harvard's Grads Can't get up any steam. The thought of many vacant seats. Just make the crimson pale. And that's why dear old Harvard Won't play with dear old Yale.

Spring Practice
Taking a more serious look at the football situation, a recent note from the south points out that a lot of the colleges down that way would like to have teams but may not be able to support them unless they get contributions from the state treasuries. Report from the big ten is that Ohio State, Iowa and Indiana are the hardest hit by player losses so far, but a listing of the Buckeyes who may be back sounds like a pretty promising squad from here. Colleges in all sections have been reporting big string turnouts, but most of the boys just wanted to get themselves toughened up for military service.

Today's Guest Star
Gene Sullivan, St. Joseph (Mo.) News-Press: "Loo Novikoff still is on the west coast demanding more money before he will report to the Cubs, but practically nothing has been carried on the wires about him and the Chicago papers mention the fact only casually. Africa means something different from holding out in the national league."

One-Minute Sports Page
Toledo golfers, who raised $1,600 last year in a tournament to buy cigarettes for soldiers, are planning another big event June 21 for a war prisoners' relief fund. They hope to hit $2,500 this time. Jack Hurley, Chicago fight promoter, hung around the railroad station until 3:30 a. m. the other day waiting for manager George Moore to arrive so he could put in a bid for Henry Armstrong's services. Harry Mendel, who got a lot of experience feeding six day bike riders and helping to guide Tony Galenlos career, opens a food and drink emporium in Paterson. N. J. tomorrow. Cookie Atkins is planning several big outdoor fights in Washington this summer, since the American league wouldn't let Clark Griffith keep the ball park busy every night.

Service Department
Pvt. Francis Smith, one of the army fighters from Carlbad, N. M., who took part in the derby eye show at Louisville, is in a tough spot if he fails to obey his second's orders. His second is Col. William Lewis, commanding officer of the post. Lieut. Andrew Curlee, former Auburn basketball and baseball star who had received several decorations for bravery, recently was killed in action while leading a flight of bombers in North Africa.

Fights Last Night

By The Associated Press

Russian Forces . . .

Sadovoy, Melkhovskiy and Biagodarov, all north of Krymskaya, divided still another large group of Germans and Rumanians. It was said. The Soviet troops pushed westward toward the Kerch strait and the Sea of Azov after capturing basic points and preventing the Germans from regrouping. (The midnight communique as recorded in London by the Soviet Radio Monitor said that 1,500 more Germans had been killed in the newest fighting.

Today's noon communique, broadcast by the Moscow radio and recorded in London, said that in the region northeast of Novorossisk, "our troops continued to fight the enemy. In other sectors of the front there were no significant changes." (The bulletin said Soviet artillery smashed more than 50 gun positions and wiped out many enemy blockhouses while the land forces were continuing their push north-east of Novorossisk. Two German tanks also were knocked out, it was stated.

(German broadcasts said the Russians were attempting to flank the north end of the battle zone with water-borne troops sent from Rostov across the Sea of Azov, and claimed that German bombers destroyed 11 Soviet barges in that region, and that 18 boats carrying Russian troops were sunk in an attempt to cross the Kuban river at a point in the Taman peninsula.

(A Russian broadcast recorded by the Soviet Monitor in London said that Russian bombers scored hits on munitions-filled German trains at the railway junctions of Dnieperopetrovsk, Kremenchug and Bryansk Wednesday night.

(The Finnish communique said that the Russians returned to raid Kota, on the Gulf of Finland, last night, dropping about 100 bombs although the main fleet of 30 Russian planes were refueled.

(Another German radio broadcast said that German coastal batteries sent Soviet warships scurrying back into Leningrad harbor Jack Skinner.

Chicago, May 7—(AP)—Wheat prices dropped about a cent today in a persistent downturn as selling from houses with southwestern connections met little buying power. Liquidation apparently was based upon more favorable growing weather for crops in some sections of the hard wheat belt.
Oats were steady at the start, but slumped later along with the bread cereal. Rye exhibited a weak undertone throughout the session, although trading was relatively light. Corn remained at ceilings, with only a few small lots of the September contract changing hands.
Wheat sank rapidly near the end and closed 1 1/2-2 cents lower. May $1.44, July $1.43 1/2. Corn was unchanged at ceilings. May $1.05, oats were 1/4-3/8 lower and rye lost 1 1/2-1 3/4.
