Reds Crack Another Nazi Line Before Novorossisk

Scattered Pockets Of Axis Resistance Being Wiped Out; Fall Of Tunis and Bizerte Sealed Fate Of Axis Forces; Large Scale Evacuation Impossible

By EDDY GILMORE
Moscow, May 8.—(AP)—An extremely violent battle was reported in progress today southwest of Neberd-jayevskaya, which is only nine miles from Novorossisk, as the Germans rushed up reserves, tanks, and motorized artillery in an attempt to halt the Soviet advance toward the Black Sea port.

In the face of growing resistance, Red army units, which turned southward after separating the Germans and the Rumanians north of the Kuban river from those in the south, were driving hard to follow up the force of their first thrusts in the direction of Novorossisk.

The German communiqué said that the Russians were repulsed in the Kuban in "violent hand to hand fighting" and that 30 tanks were destroyed. Lively local fights were reported along the central Donets east of Kharkov, south of Orel, and west of Velikie Luki where the Russians are less than 90 miles from Latvia and near the borders of White Russia. The Germans said they destroyed 99 Soviet planes at the cost of four.

There was no indication the city was surrounded but the Russians were on three sides and smashing hard on the arc.

The Germans regrouped their sagging forces yesterday and threw several heavy tank-led counterattacks against the Red army advance.

A major struggle developed for an important hill southwest of Neberd-jayevskaya, with the Germans scoring a temporary minor setback.

At this point Russian Stormoviks and divebombers swooped in to dump tons of incendiaries on the Axis infantry and wheeled guns, throwing them into flight.

A front dispatch said that prisoners captured in the Russian drive told that a whole platoon of the 73rd German infantry division had been shot for abandoning their positions against orders.

The Soviet armies also captured several strategic hills as they pushed towards the Black sea northeast of Novorossisk.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, reported that German right wing units in an easily-defended range of high mountains and that it will be difficult to dislodge.

NAME SHIP FOR MRS. COTTEN

Liberty Ship Carries Name Former Pitt Resident

Wilmington, May 8.—The SS Sallie C. Cotten, named for one of the leaders of the "women's movement" in North Carolina during the latter part of the Nineteenth Century, was launched at the yard of the North Carolina Shipbuilding Company yesterday afternoon at 1:30.

Mrs. James Hale Jr. of Westfield, N. J. granddaughter of Mrs. Cotten sponsored the Liberty ship. Her attendants were Mrs. Lyman Cotten of Chapel Hill and Mrs. Russell B. Wiggins of Winchester, Mass.

The North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs was represented at the launching by Mrs. J. Henry Highsmith of Raleigh, president and Mrs. James M. Hobgood of Farmville, state chairman of the Sallie Southall Cotten Loan Fund. Among others attending the ceremonies were Mrs. C. L. Bragg, president of the North Carolina Sorosis; Mrs. Andrew Howell, president-elect of Sorosis and a number of prominent members of the Wilmington club.

Mrs. Cotten is affectionately called the "mother" of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs and her life and ideals have been commemorated in the Sallie Southall Cotten Loan Fund which last year amounted to more than $34,000 and has helped 248 girls obtain a college education.

She was born in Virginia in 1846 and came to North Carolina in early childhood. She was graduated from Greensboro Female College in 1863 and married in 1866 to Robert Randolph Cotten of Cottendale Plantation, Pitt county. She was the mother of nine children. For 62 years her home was a social and cultural center in North Carolina.

She died in 1928.

AIRMEN BLAST JAP POSITIONS

Tempo Of Raids In South Pacific Increases

Allied Headquarters in Australia, May 8.—(AP)—May is fast becoming the month of bombs for the Japanese at their bases on the jungle and mountain country of Dutch New Guinea.

Ranging by daylight over distances too great to have the protection of escorting fighters, Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney's bombers have rained death and devastation on the enemy in that area almost daily since May 1.

The latest blow was struck Friday by Australian-piloted Catalinas against Babo, which is more than 700 miles north of Darwin across the Arafura sea—a sea dotted with Japanese-controlled island airbases. Fires which could be seen 70 miles away raged after the raiders blasted at the Babo airbase on which were Japanese bombers and fighters.

Only three days ago Liberators fought their way through storms to deliver another daring daylight attack on Babo far inside the 100-mile long and 20-mile wide MacCluer Gulf, starting fires and catching enemy planes on the ground.

Two other groups of raiders this month have risked the even longer flight to Manokwari on the north side of the mountain-ribbed country, more than 800 miles above Darwin. Thursday Manokwari, once the Dutch administration center for north New Guinea, was visited in daylight by Liberators which blew up storehouse and set fires from which smoke rose 8,000 feet. Manokwari where the Japanese have been active since they opened a cotton experimental concession in 1938, also was visited May 1 by Allied big bombers which spotted a 5,000 ton cargo ship off shore, bombed it and left it sinking.

I.), authors of the tax bill adopted by the house in Washington Tuesday, meet in a happy mood after the bitter battle in which the Ruml plan, incorporated in another bill sponsored by Rep. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.), right, was defeated by a 4-vote margin. Ruml plan backers were reported ready to take their fight to the senate.

Few Miners Still On Strike Today

Others Threaten To Resume Walkout Unless Wage Agreement Reached Before End Of Truce

Pittsburgh, May 8.—(AP)—Fourteen hundred striking coal miners went back to work today near California, Pa., but 500 men at another Pennsylvania mine quit, leaving more than 2,600 workers in three states still idle in the face of President Roosevelt's indication that he did not expect a strike since miners now are government employees.

A spokesman for the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation said workers at its Shannopin mine at Bobtown, Pa., failed to report to the 7 a. m. shift.

Employees of the Vesta No. 4 mine at California refused to enter the pits—returned to their jobs early today after a meeting last night with district 5 officials of the United Mine Workers.

John P. Busarello, district 5 president, declared he was "glad they're back." He was worried sick about the Bobtown mine in district 4.

Two of Ohio's largest mines shut down today as 1,200 miners refused to work because of what a union official said was a dispute arising from last week's general stoppage in the bituminous fields.

Adolph Pacifico, vice president of district 6 United Mine Workers of America, said 600 men at both the Willow Grove mine at North and the Rail and River mine No. 6 near McClelland refused to enter the pits after operating committees said the men $2 each for being out of the pits April 29 and 30.

Employees of the Willow Grove mine operated by the Hanna Coal Co. quit yesterday and last night while the Rail and River No. 6 miners failed to report on today's shift.

Gay Malleman, outside organizer of the Poshan Point, Ohio, said a brief stoppage occurred on the night shift, but that a full stoppage was reported for work today.

Allies Now Mopping Up In North Africa

RUMI TAX PLAN SPONSORS WIN

Measure Gets Committee Approval By 13 To 6 Vote

By JACK BELL
Washington, May 8.—(AP)—With the modified Ruml skip-a-year plan firmly entrenched behind a 13 to 6 vote, the Senate Finance Committee hurried today to incorporate it in a new current collection tax bill in time for presentation to the Senate next week.

Senator Clark (D-Mo.) has instructions to lay before the committee today a bill essentially similar to the Ruml-Carlson measure voted down in the House, which would put all income taxpayers except those with windfall incomes on a "pay-as-you-go" basis and abate all of their 1942 tax liabilities.

The committee vote yesterday was a major victory for the Ruml plan, but there remained the likelihood of opposition to it on the floor.

Chairman George (D-Ga.), Democratic leader Barkley of Kentucky, and Senators Connally (D-Tex.) Byrd (D-Va.), Johnson (D-Colo.) and LaFollette (Prog-Wis) were aligned against the plan. These veteran members were overrudden in the committee, however, when five Democrats—Clark of Missouri, Gerry of Rhode Island, Radcliffe of Maryland, Walsh of Massachusetts and Lucas of Illinois—joined with eight Republicans to support Clark's motion.

Walsh and Lucas insisted on provisions to prevent war contract brokers and others with greatly increased incomes from profiting too much by the abatement of a year's taxes.

Clark told reporters he believed that a provision of the Ruml-Carlson bill dividing taxpayers into two separate groups, those with incomes below $5,000 and those above, would have majority support. Under this provision, the 1942 levies of lower bracket income taxpayers would be wiped out. For those above the $5,000 level, either the 1942 or the 1943 tax, whichever is lower, would be eliminated.

The committee measure would start a 20 per cent withholding tax on wages and salaries July 1, to put persons in that category on a current basis. Payments already made this year would go down on the books as payments on the first half of 1943.

Provision would be made for other types of taxpayers to meet their 1943 liabilities currently on a quarterly basis, with special provisions for farmers and some others.

NEW ATTACKS ON ALEUTIANS

American Airmen Batter Jap-Held Kiska and Attu

Washington, May 8.—(AP)—American planes operating from new advanced positions in the Aleutian islands have stepped up their attacks on Japanese-held Attu Island, the Navy disclosed today, raiding it seven times Thursday.

The same day army fighters attacked the Japanese base on Kiska island which so far has been the most heavily bombed of the two bases, five times.

Apparently the American force operated from the base on Amchitka island, which is only 63 nautical miles from Kiska and 23 from Attu. Existence of the Amchitka base was revealed by the Navy yesterday.

Navy Communiqué No. 371 said: "South Pacific" rail dates are East Longitude.

"I On May 6th, during the afternoon a United States plane shot down one Japanese seaplane southwest of New Georgia island.

"2 On May 6th: "A formations of army Warhawk (Curtiss P-40) fighters carried out five attacks against Japanese installations at Kiska. Bombs were dropped in all the target areas, and direct hits were scored on enemy positions.

"3 On the same day formations of army planes carried out direct attacks against positions on Attu island. Liberators (Consolidated B-24) heavy bombers, Mitchell (North American B-25) medium bombers and lightning (Lockheed P-38) fighters participated in these raids. Hits were scored in all target areas, and several fires were started.

Nazis Rush In Reserves In Effort To Keep Black Sea Stronghold; Russians Now Within Nine Miles Of Important Seaport; 350 Axis Planes Destroyed

By WILLIAM B. KING
Allied Headquarters in North Africa, May 8.—(AP)—Allied troops hammered scattered pockets of resistance and pursued enemy detachments fleeing from conquered Tunis and Bizerte today in a battle which Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said would continue "as long as a single armed German is on African soil."

Six months to the day after Allied landing barges grounded on French North African beaches, the Allied communiqué said, significantly: "The advance continues."

French troops captured Pont Du Fahs and high ground to the east to roll up the right wing of the Axis lines still holding on the southern front—to contribute to the offensive in which Americans seized Bizerte and the British First Army took Tunis yesterday.

British armor, hurling aside a force of 35 enemy tanks, captured Bir M'cherga on the Tunis road 12 miles north of Pont Du Fahs, and also Wra Ksar Tyr, midway between Bir M'cherga and Medjes-El-Bab to narrow the Axis' southern salient.

Reports from the battlefield indicated the disorganized enemy, seeking haven from the merciless air and ground bombardments, was heading for the mountainous Cape Bon peninsula in an effort to escape to sea. The final defeat expected to be a prelude to the Allied invasion of Europe.

Troops of the U. S. Second Corps—operating under a new command—quelled intermittent resistance overnight in the streets of Bizerte and British forces likewise mopped up Tunis.

One of the drives through Tunisia cut the roads of retreat of German and Italian forces in the Bizerte region and pockets were being wiped out in this and other areas by the speedy pushes of both the Americans and British.

Disclosing that Maj. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, 50-year-old infantry officer, had succeeded Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., the tank specialist.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By LEWIST MACKENZIE
At long last the Allies have reclaimed the North African shore of the Mediterranean, thereby achieving one of the most magnificent victories of the war could offer, for this theater is among the ranking strategic positions of the whole world.

There still remains mopping up to do in Tunisia. Weary, German and Italian soldiers—many of their officers having fled to continent—are holding out in some of the mountain fortifications. Details are lacking, but it is likely that a considerable force may be out on the tip of Cap Bon, hoping against hope that an unfriendly sea will relent and bring them evacuation facilities.

Still what's left to be done can be done handily. The day is ours.

This throws Hitler the world-beaters back behind the crumbling walls of Europe which he has all but wrecked. The paranoic genius of death and destruction finally is on the defensive, with the enemy pressing him on all sides.

Turn In Cans

All eating places today were urged by Miss Verona Lee Jenner, chairman of the Woman's division of salvage, to turn in their tin cans to the salvage depot on Washington Street, Monday morning. An intensive collection of tin cans has been under way here for the past few days and the committee wishes to get all of them in by Monday preparatory to making a shipment.

National Debt and Inflation

Babson Says Middlemen In Good Position

Babson Park Mass., May 8.—I am receiving many letters from readers who are concerned over the ultimate size of our national debt. They wonder how this huge debt will affect their business and investments. Hence, I shall devote my column today to a brief analysis of the situation.

What About Our Debt?
Our national debt now amounts to $135,000,000.00. By the end of 1943 it will approach $160,000,000.00. What happens after that depends largely upon the length of the war. As I expect the German phase of the war to run at least until November, 1944 and that it will take a year or more after that to finish

Explosions

La Linea, Spain, May 8.—(AP)—Three violent explosions shattered the calm of Gibraltar Bay at 6 a. m. today after which British naval tugs beached three merchant ships in the harbor. A reported attack by Axis submarines was not confirmed immediately.

The funds which will reduce our national debt cannot be pulled out of the air. They must come from something real. The only real property our nation has consists of its land plus its forests, its mines, its oil and other tangible goods embraced in the earth. In the age (Continued on Page Four)

Conrad Thibault Concert. Conrad Thibault, the popular radio baritone who will sing at the college on the evening of May 21, was a protege of ex-President Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge.

The Coolidge heard him sing in church choir in Northampton and him to train for a professional musical career, arranged for him to try for a scholarship at the Curtis Institute of Music, which he won, and later were instrumental in getting him a contract with the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company.

Specializing in concert and radio program singing, Thibault is not like a movie star of an opera singer who turns aside to make a personal appearance in occasional concerts. His voice is known to thousands throughout the land and history to the NBC Mattalath, Merry Go Round or the CBS American Melody Hour.

Missing Man's Poems Received By Mother

These poems were written by Carl Winston (Capt.) Sermons, Gunner's Mate 1st Class U. S. Naval Reserve, who was reported by the Navy on April 12, 1943 as missing following action at sea. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Sermons of Winterville, Route 1, and enlisted in the Naval Reserve in February, 1942.

After receiving his basic training at the Norfolk Naval Base and the gunnery school at Little Creek, Va., he was assigned to an armed guard ship crew on a merchant vessel. He wrote these poems on the back of a letter from his mother while on his last trip "Capt." was on the tobacco market both in Greenville and Kentucky for several years, but just prior to his enlistment was working for Lance Packing Company in Alexander, La.

SO I'M OFF TO THE WAR AGAIN To stand my watch, to man my gun, To chase each sub off, one by one, To watch the waves whose shiny hue Hide the enemy beneath their blue.

Come, the rain, I stand And darkness finds me vet on hand, Through rain or snow or calm or blow I'm out there to fight the foe.

On on I go, a son of the sea, To give my all for Liberty. THE ARMED GUARD When the stars are shining brightly, And the wind is piercing cold, You'll find us on watch unfleching, at our hold.

When the rain or snow is falling, And the waves are running high, You'll find the armed guard faces standing by.

When the sun is raging down, And we are covered with sweat, We'll be on hand to fight you down bet. Though the oceans are great and our forces small, we'll cross the sea To the boys in wide stretched battle zone. Who, like we, are fighting for their sweet home.

VERONA LEE JOYNER, H. D. A. EDNA KIRBY, Assistant

On Monday, May 10, the second load of tin cans will leave Pitt county. We wish every citizen could visit the schools of Greenville and the Pitt county salvage depot, located on Washington street to see the huge piles of cans that the patriotic citizens of the county have contributed. A few of you may still have hundreds of cans on your back porch now. If you have not put your cans in one of the above places, do so by 9 o'clock Monday morning.

Troops Practice With Barrage Balloons

In this series of four pictures, troops at the Camp Tyson, Tenn., barrage balloon training center practice with the huge hydrogen-filled bags which protect them. The troops carry the balloons with them, and should enemy planes attack, the huge "sausages" can be raised to snag low-flying planes. (Upper left) As land-explosions go off to simulate an attack from the air, troops march along with balloons overhead to frustrate "enemy" strafing. (Upper right) The troops have left the road and scattered out to "fire" on the theoretical "enemy" planes staging an attack. (Lower left) A jeep hauls one of the huge bags as the troops move on, and, (lower right) some of the balloons float lazily overhead as soldiers learn the art of handling them at the camp training grounds.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

NOW THE FOUNDATION

Dr. Russell H. Conwell, founder of Temple University, Philadelphia the one hundredth anniversary of whose birth was recently observed throughout that city in a series of memorial services, had a sound religious experience while serving as a colonel with the Union troops in the War Between the States.

In a certain battle he was severely wounded and left for dead. After being taken to a hospital near Marietta, Georgia, Colonel Conwell, however, began slowly to recover, and as he lay in the hospital the meaning and purpose of life and death pressed upon his mind in a way he had never known before. He sent for the chaplain and put to him these questions: "Is there a future life? If there is, what does the character formed in this life have to do with it? Will friends meet again in the other world and know each other?"

"I talked these things over long and earnestly with the chaplain," said Dr. Conwell in later years. "At last all becomes clear, and I have never for a moment doubted since. We may well believe that all over the world today, serious-minded soldiers in similar circumstances are thinking about such things, and we may well hope that they will have the guidance which Conwell had at the time he needed it. He saw the substance of true religion whereas before he had seen only the form. He began for the first time to appreciate the spiritual foundation upon which life's hopes and ambitions must securely rest."

WHILE THE BOMBERS ROAR

Twice within a generation it has been tragically demonstrated that the days of sailing ship isolation are gone forever. Wars are no longer bound by mountains, climate nor seas. The last echoes of isolation have been drowned in the roar of the bombers.

With recognition of the fact that isolation is an impossibility and that this country cannot shut itself off from future wars no matter where they may occur, it becomes a matter of sheer self interest to help prevent wars. The surest way to prevent war is by taking a hand in world affairs and stimulating international trade. Only through trade can the prosperous and fruitful world envisaged in the Atlantic Charter be realized.

In the United States, the machinery for bringing about expanded trade is already in existence. In the words of Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles: "It consists of the Trade Agreements Act of 1931, renewed in 1937 and 1940, under which the President is authorized, by procedure and within the limits stated in the Act, to enter into agreements about tariff rates, quotas, and the like, with foreign governments, and to proclaim the changes in American rates necessary to carry out our part of the agreements."

The Act must be renewed in June or we will have an effect served notice on the world that we expect to take no part in efforts to establish lasting peace; that as far as we are concerned peace objectives are words, nothing more. After victory, if we follow the path of isolation, we can retire to raise another crop of youngsters in time for World War III. Along with our imagined isolation, we will have depression and bankruptcy. Our great productive capacity will avail us little without world-wide channels of distribution. And industries which don't produce, don't supply jobs or taxes. The wreckage of our tanks, planes and ships will be scattered in every corner of the world. Our men will be there too, those who didn't come back. We will be "safely" at home with a war debt of several hundred billion dollars, minding our own business until the next war comes along.

Is this what Americans expect of the future? They will get it unless they make up their minds once and for all to swim with the rest of the world toward peace and sanity. At best it will be a long pull, but there is no better way to begin white the bombers' roar is still in our ears, than by wholeheartedly urging renewal of the Trade Agreements Act.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington — Unless you are a soldier on one of the fighting fronts I'll bet there's one publication you never heard of.

It's called Curley Caminita's Capital Roundup. The next-to-last word in the title is a misnomer for it covers everything from sports to literature. It has more than 80,000 readers and goodness knows how many listeners in Ireland, England, North Africa, India, the Solomons, Australia and several other places, not to mention scores of ships on the seven seas.

Curley Caminita is a toiler in the petroleum administration. He's a little fellow with more brains than stature, a mop of coal black hair, and a keen desire to do his bit.

few other men overseas who might like the column. Friends asked for copies that they could send in turn to their friends.

A few weeks later, another friend, Arthur Healy, an attorney in the customs and patents appeals court office, dropped in on Curley while he was working. Healy asked if he could help in the copying and mailing, and share the expense. Healy had been trying to get into the armed forces and couldn't. Caminita let him in on his strictly private enterprise. Aside from Healy, Mrs. Caminita and part of the time, Evelyn Eller Rhinehart, wife of the naval lieutenant, there's no other "staff."

Now, the Roundup goes to more than 100 persons. Many are overseas, but some are persons here who forward copies to friends or relatives in far places.

About four months after his first issue, Curley began to get letters. He found that his Roundup column was being carried in service papers, planted in canteen libraries, quoted on service radio programs. A few weeks ago, a checkup showed that more than 80,000 men were reading all or quoted parts of the Roundup. Curley's fanmail would make a Hollywood star go green with envy.

The last copy of the Roundup was 13 single-spaced typed pages and there isn't a thumb-spare in the margins. The title is that Curley Caminita in a few weeks is going to war — drafted. His plans are to carry on the column with Mrs. Caminita and a government bacteriologist doing the publication. Putting out the Roundup requires from 20 to 30 hours a week and no little money. Some "bombs" are suggesting providing the latter. It may be curious for one of the most amazing publications this war has produced.

generate, this land of ours is worked and made to yield capital largely through the efforts of the farmers. Hence, I believe in the fact that the farmer and other business owners, through increased taxes will have to take care of the bulk of our national debt. The other group which must help pay the debt are the wage earners who process the products of the land. The merchants and other legitimate middlemen will be pretty much exempt.

What About The Investor?
The investor — particularly the one who is living upon bonds and interest — will only get back. In fact as inflation rises and long before we make an honest attempt to minimize its evil effects, bondholders will especially feel the pinch. In spite of legislation commodity prices will continue to rise and the investor's so-called "unearned" income will continue to buy less. Furthermore, his taxes upon the dividends and interest which he receives will continue high. Unless the man who is now dependent solely upon such income for support can get some kind of a job to supplement his unearned income he will be out of luck.

The average wage earner who has invested in War Bonds at a discount will automatically increase his capital over a ten-year period and will be a little better off than the investor who has spent his income. Furthermore, wage earners are now approaching a peak and will decline as I pointed out in my article of two weeks ago and will be counterbalanced by higher inflationary prices. All attempts to fix rents, wages or prices by legislation or regulation is the bunk. In the end, both farmers and wage workers get only what they reap and that too bad, but that is true.

Who Is In The Best Position?
Considering all of our farmers, workers, investors, manufacturers,

HIGHWAY TO HER HEART

Chapter 3
Powell Ward got up and paced the office. His face was pink with exasperation. He came back and pounded his shining desk so hard the jade Chinese paper weight bounced. He glowered at it.

"What I want to know is—where the devil are those films?" Penny would have liked to know that, too. It was queer. Yet the information she really wanted most was about Bill. Nearly two weeks had dragged by since the news of his plane crash, and the only word that had come was from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Nothing from Bill himself. She looked at the battered camera. When had Bill's hands touched it last? Memories of her brother, his intent blue eyes squinting for new picture angles, his perpetually ruffled blond hair, his loose-jointed walk, crowded Penny's mind.

"Blasted carelessness!" shouted Powell. "Stupid police! What good's a camera without films? Can you print a camera? Can you syndicate it?" He paused, folded his arms sarcastically. "Maybe we can take a picture of it and have a lovely little caption reading, 'Exclusive shots of the new Alcan Highway taken with this camera.' Bah!"

The door opened. Cleve Rockwell came through.

"You sent for me?"

"Did I?" said Powell Ward. "Why?"

Cleve shrugged, flicked the ashes of the cigarette he was smoking on the manager's prize orient rug, and approached the desk, eyes narrowing.

"Bill Vance's camera," he said. "I'd know it anywhere. Bill loved it better than his right arm. Where're the films?"

"No films," said Penny.

Cleve's gaze noted her briefly, then passed to Powell Ward.

"How come?"

The manager exploded. "How do I know? The camera arrives. We open it. Nothing there."

Cleve thought about that. His eyes smoldered. His jaws hardened.

"There begins to be a peculiar odor about this whole affair," he said grimly.

Both Penny and Powell Ward stared at him. The manager's phone rang.

"Take it," Powell told Penny.

"Penny lifted the receiver. Words burned into her ears.

"Yes—yes," she said excitedly. "Bring it right in!" She returned the phone shakily. "It's a letter postmarked Hudson's Hope. Maybe from Bill!"

"Doggone," said Cleve. "Good old Bill. Wrote as soon as he could."

But it wasn't Bill Vance's handwriting on the envelope. With heart sinking, Penny noticed that at once. It was a queer, flattened, unfamiliar scrawl in pale ink. Barely legible. The envelope was yellow with age, rain-spotted and dirty. The Canadian stamp was askew.

The three of them gathered around the torn single sheet of ruled paper, puzzled over the slanting words.

"I rite for Mister Bill Vance," Penny read slowly. "He sick here in my shack. He say to tell boss he tak close pitcher and truck shots of big Canada and U. S. chiefs on Alcan Highway. Be sure set films. Luv jobbers, retailers and other types of businessmen, the merchandising group are most favorably situated. This is the group that buys from the manufacturer and sells to the ultimate consumer. They include the chain stores, department stores, and the smallest shop-keepers.

These selling household goods, paints, plumbing fixtures and every other article under this category. Did you ever ask yourself why salesmen have never formed a labor union? The answer is "because they get the cream automatically without a labor union."

In the sight of God, Vice President Wallace is absolutely correct in believing that we should build up the industries of foreign countries and lower our tariffs on goods coming into the United States from these countries. This, however, presents the very serious alternative of shutting off our own people, or the peoples of other nations, from earning a living. Already our wide-awake manufacturers have discovered that by having a plant in one foreign country they can sell the products of this plant to the people of a second foreign nation far cheaper than they can manufacture and export them in the United States and export them. The next step to be for them to harness this cheap foreign labor to make goods for importing into this country.

Advantages of the Middlemen
The merchant, however, under the capitalist system cares little whether the goods which he sells are made in the United States or in Europe or Asia; he sells something else. He receives a tax bill and mails a check in payment therefor; but this tax money does not come out of him. He merely adds it to the price of his goods and passes the tax along to the farmers, wage workers and investors. All this means that with a huge government debt and a capitalistic system, good merchants and their employes and those who invest in their securities should be the best off during the next 20 years.

tion, little has been done on them up to now—due largely to congressional opposition. That opposition still showed today as some officials and legislators indicated they doubted whether the larger program in prospect would be adopted without specific authority from Congress.

Farm state Senators who helped defeat price control subsidies months ago said they still opposed the policy as a general proposition, but several, including senators Rus-

SEE RELIEF IN OIL SHORTAGE

African Victory May Help Petroleum Situation

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Washington, May 8—(AP)—The smashing Allied triumph in North Africa—a vital stroke in ridding the Mediterranean of Axis resistance—may help to ease this country's oil shortage materially, Senators said today.

Even before the fall of Tunis and Bizerte was announced, lawmakers who have made the closest study of the supply and demand for petroleum products foresaw the possibility of an easier gasoline and fuel oil situation in the United States once the Axis is cleaned out of the Mediterranean area.

Senator Malony (D-Conn.) said army and navy officials had assured him there would be "some relief" in the home oil crisis when the Mediterranean is made safe again for Allied shipping.

In addition to the oil that might move from near eastern sources to the Mediterranean by tanker, Malony pointed out that a pipeline rated at 85,000 barrels a day capacity extends from the oil fields along the Persian gulf to the eastern end of the Mediterranean.

Termining himself no strategist, Malony conceded there might be a shortage of tankers of some other reason which would hold down the amount of oil which could be moved to the Allied fighting forces by way of the Mediterranean area.

Senators Reed (R-Kan.) and Clark (D-Mo.) said whatever amount of petroleum products could be brought in from the near eastern refineries would relieve the situation that much at home — unless the next Allied offensive requires even more oil.

Reed said considerable fuel oil could be saved by ships taking the shorter Mediterranean route to extend from the oil fields along the Persian gulf to the eastern end of the Mediterranean.

Both Penny and Cleve looked astonished.

"You mean you're going up yourself?" demanded Cleve.

"I'd come on this decision, even before you—ah—suggested it. It's the only thing to do. I'll make a thorough investigation, with the help of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. I'll get to the bottom of the disappearance of those films and bring them back."

"And Bill," said Cleve.

"Bill, too, of course."

"But darling," said Powell Ward tolerantly, "that's out of the question."

"Absolutely," said Cleve, patting her shoulder in a soothing, brotherly fashion. "That's rough country up there. No place for you, tot. Bill wouldn't."

"If you think for one moment I'm going to stay here, when I could be out there looking after Bill, you're both crazy," said Penny. "I tell you I'm going. Powell, you've got to let me. If you don't I'll break our engagement!"

Powell Ward looked helplessly into her determined gray eyes, and gave in.

ALLEN WINS FOR DODGERS

Former Greenville Hurler Pitched Air-tight Ball

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Branch Rickey has made some shrewd deals but none probably ever was more timely than the one he engineered in bringing Johnny Allen back to the Dodgers after disposing of him of his first official act as head of the Brooklyn club.

Although the 37-year old right handed had a 1942 record of 10 and 6, Rickey, after succeeding Lieut. Col. Larry S. MacPhail as head man of the Dodgers, lost little time sending Allen and $30,000 to Philadelphia for the much younger Rube Melton.

Allen declined to sign with the Phillies. Then, five days before the opening of the season, in a deal that never has been fully explained, Rickey summoned the baseball writers to his Montague Street office in Brooklyn and announced the Dodgers had re-purchased Allen.

The records show how smart that deal was. When Johnny went into yesterday's game with the Boston Braves in the seventh with the score deadlocked it marked his third relief appearance of the season. He pitched shutout ball for three innings as his mates went on to club out a 9 to 7 victory, and gave Allen his third straight success.

In eight innings of relief hurling, Allen has given up only eight hits, three to the Phils in 2-3-3 innings, two to the Giants in 2-1-3 and three yesterday. Prior to Allen's appearance the Braves had climbed the offerings of Ed Head and Les Webber after the Brooklynites had shoved across five runs in the second, three on Augie Gatan's homer. Eddie Joost almost matched that with a two-run homer for Boston yesterday.

With the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates kept idle by the weather, the Cincinnati Reds moved into the national league's runner-up spot, two and one-half games back of the Dodgers. They nosed out the Chicago Cubs 5 to 4 as Johnny Vander Meer received help from fireman Joe Bevis in registering his fourth pitching triumph.

The other national league game saw the Phillies go on their biggest scoring spree of the season behind the five-hit pitching of venerable St. Johnson. With Jimmy Wasdell driving in six runs on a homer, triple and single the Phils blasted three giant hurlers for 13 hits to win 13 to 3.

A pair of rookies, Charley Wensloff and Bill Johnson, paced the New York Yankees to their fifth straight victory, a 6 to 2 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics. Wensloff, who won 21 games with the Yanks' Kansas City farm club last season, pitched shutout ball for six innings.

Johnson, up from Newark in the international circuit, drove three runs across to capitate with his first major league homer in the fourth to run his hitting streak to eight straight games. Then, after having a double go for naught, he pounded another run across the platter with a single in the seventh.

Johnny Humphries outpointed Hal White in a ten-inning pitching duel as the Chicago White Sox eked out a 1-0 decision over the Detroit Tigers. Humphries, himself brought home the only run, after leading off with a walk, and moving up to second on a sacrifice. Luke Appling produced the game winning hit double to left center.

The Boston Red Sox waited until the ninth inning of their night

SPORTS ROUNDUP—ICM—New York, May 8—(AP)—A year ago the fight mob was saying that Henry Armstrong was too nice a guy to bring a comeback. He was so old and brittle that he probably fell apart if he tried to climb down from the shelf. Now they're calling him the fight promoter's savior—and with good reason. After winning 15 of 17 fights on the coast, not counting his bout with a tonsillectomy, Hank came east to draw $33,000 against Al Tribiani in Philadelphia, $105,000 against Beau Jack in Madison Square Garden, $19,000 against Saverio Turillo in Washington and last night $24,000 against Tommy Jessup in Boston. If he can get some real opponents he'll do better next time in those places. Right now Hank is booked to meet Maxie Shapiro in Philly May 24 and Al Weill is trying to line up a Washington scrap in June that he says will do $70,000.

The Old Gray Mayor—Bob Madry, best known hearabouts as a slick shouter of the glories of North Carolina football, came with the Washington Senators before 17,177 capital city fans to score two runs and take a 3 to 2 decision. Eddie Lake's double was the big blow in the late uprising. The Cleveland-St. Louis tussle was postponed.

Cleaning the Cuff
College talent scouts are reported hanging around Fowlerville, Mich., where Hollis Gerhing, Charley's cousin, is burning up the cinders in school track meets. The Richmond Colts managed to get in just one exhibition game this spring before the Piedmont league season began. They had shortages of both players and good weather. Arturo Godoy, the lammed latin, expects to know next week whether he can return to the United States to fight. Jimmy Conzelman, the demosthenes of pro football, will be the honored guest at the next Lambs' Gambol, coming in here at night after delivering a breakfast lecture to several hundred truck drivers in Boston. Forum Lions to Lambs, of course.

New York Cotton

New York, May 8—(AP)—Cotton futures moved in a narrow range today. Light liquidation and hedging were absorbed through trade price fixing against textile contracts. Traders anticipated a substantial increase in repossessions of cotton from the government loan account on the influence of the CCC stabilization program. Futures closed 20 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, May 8—(AP)—Wall Street had another change of heart today and, with many of Friday's profit taking customers returning to the buying side, stock market favorites recovered fractions to more than a point. Rails, weakest in yesterday's sell-off, led the comeback after a slightly mixed opening. They were followed by stocks, motors and specialties. Large blocks of low-quoted issues kept the ticker tape busy and transfers for the two hours were in the vicinity of 1,000,000 shares. While a number of pivots failed to join the revival, advances were well in the majority near the close.

HITLER'S CHILDREN IS SUPER-SENSATION

Tim Holt and Bonita Granville are the two young people trapped by the implacable Nazi system in the powerful drama "Hitler's Children" opening tomorrow at the Pitt.

With his black Scottie, Fella, sitting close against his side, President Roosevelt listened to an army band concert from the rear platform of his train April 23 at Fort Riley, Kas. The President visited there Easter Sunday on his inspection tour of military centers and war industrial plants that took him through the south and middle west.

Cadet Robert A. Keyworth (above) of Norwalk, Conn., stationed at Maxwell Field, Ala., looks at a picture of the mother of his unborn son, to whom he wrote a letter about the thoughts of a young man in a world at war. "It may be that you must read these lines alone and this is my reason for writing them," the letter read in part. "I speak to you across the years which lie between us. This fight we pursue is for you who will follow, for in the winning of it, many of us will have lost all that gives life its savor. . . . Have faith. In this I find all my strength, all my courage, all my hope." The letter was published in the Maxwell Field magazine "Pre-Fight." Associated Press photo from U. S. Army.

News that her husband, Lieut. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, in command of all U. S. Forces in the European war theater, had been killed in an airplane crash in Iceland, was received in Miami, Fla., by Mrs. Andrews at the home of her brother, Col. Henry T. Allen. She is shown here at a happier time with her daughter, Mrs. H. Sinclair Williams, and granddaughter, Allen Reavis Williams.

To Study Farm Labor Problem

Raleigh, May 8—(AP)—Harry Caldwell, state farm labor director, has asked representative tobacco growers of the state to attend a conference here Monday morning on the farm labor problem. Last year the peak tobacco season came at the same time as the harvesting of cotton and grains. Because of the labor shortage a lot of peanuts and hay could not be harvested. The aim this year is to prevent a similar occurrence.

Allies Now . . .

(Continued from Page One) chialist, in command of the Second U. S. Corps for the campaign across mountainous North Tunisia, Gen. Eisenhower praised both. "Naturally I am highly delighted with the developments which have brought us into Bizerte and Tunis," the Allied commander in chief said, "but so far as I am concerned as long a single armed German is on African soil there is still a battle and I want to destroy the rest of his resistance."

The surprisingly abrupt conquest of Tunis and Bizerte, achieved by a massing of overwhelmingly superior forces of men, tanks, guns and planes, came one day short of six months after the Allied landings reached French North Africa. With liaison severed between the survivors of Bizerte and Tunis garrisons and the southern front yielding before attacks of the British First Army and the 19th French Corps, the campaign was in its final bloody stage.

Allied airmen who provided unprecedented aerial support for the ground offensive sank 14 small craft, set a destroyer aflame and damaged several other vessels in the gulf and harbor of Tunis and sank three more vessels at the entrance to Tunis harbor at La Goulette, the communiqué said. "Light and medium bombers, fighters and fighter bombers of the tactical air force kept up intense attacks on roads congested with enemy troops, destroying many vehicles and starting numerous fires," the communiqué said.

Armored elements of the British First Army entered Tunis at 2:00 p. m. yesterday after having advanced some 23 miles in 36 hours against stiff resistance, including many mine fields. "In the north, troops of the Second U. S. Corps had cleared the important town of Ferryville by 4 p. m., and at 4:15 p. m., their forward elements entered Bizerte," the bulletin said. Isolated groups of Axis soldiers fought overnight in the narrow streets and thick-walled houses of Tunis and Bizerte in an effort to win a few hours' reprieve for columns fleeing eastward in a crowded jumble along the few northern roads still in enemy hands.

made the initial entry, sweeping in from the south under artillery fire. The flowers of the French were removed about 10 minutes after the capture of the city so the tanks could reply to a few German guns still manned in the marshes east of the canal which links Lake Bizerte and the Mediterranean. Long lines of prisoners streamed to the rear.

Reds Crack . . .

(Continued from Page One) them. The struggle in the Kuban delta currently is three-phased: First is the drive for Novorossisk with the Russians southeast and northeast of the city although it is not disclosed how near. It is uncertain whether they have driven forward to the road which connects Novorossisk with Anapa, a port to the northwest. Second is the operation from northeast of Novorossisk to the south bank of the Kuban river where the Soviet troops are driving toward the Black sea and a major breakthrough would entirely isolate Novorossisk except by sea, where the Red fleet is waiting for an evacuation attempt.

The third operation is north of the Kuban river between the river and the Sea of Azov coast, an area containing the highway leading to the Kerch straits. The Red army is taking more villages and roads in this sector, picking off one group at a time and pushing westward. Despite the heavy pounding by Soviet aviation, however, the Germans manage to feed infantry reserves and tanks into the battle areas, chiefly at night.

A delayed dispatch from Bizerte by Harold V. Boyle, Associated Press correspondent, said happy French residents of that naval base showered flowers upon American airmen which led the "thrust into the city, went with joy and waved their fingers high in the V-sign of victory. A company of U. S. tankmen and two companies of tank destroyers
