DISSOLUTION OF COMINTERN IS REQUESTED

Action by International Communist Executive Committee Bespeaks Growing Cooperation Between United Nations

By EDDY GILMORE Moscow, May 22.—(AP) In the midst of the daily increasing cooperation between Soviet Russia and her allies, the executive committee of the Communist International has asked its centers in all parts of the world to dissolve.

The resolution said the forms, methods and regulations of the Comintern have become obsolete and in some cases have actually hindered workers of the world in their battle against Germany and her satellites.

The action was considered here an open admission that the Comintern, which had stood for solidification of the workers of the world under the Communist banner, should dissolve and that the workers in each country should get down to the job of beating Adolf Hitler.

Many foreign observers in Moscow saw in the decision one of the most significant gestures yet toward complete cooperation among the nations whose primary objective is the defeat of Nazism.

Explaining the action, the committee's resolution declared there was no time now for a formal convention of the branches throughout the world in war time and recommended that they cease their duties under prevailing regulations.

"Even before the war it became clear that together with the increasing complications in internal and international relations of the various countries, any sort of international-center would encounter insuperable obstacles in solving the problems facing the movement in each separate country," said the resolution as broadcast from Moscow and recorded by the Soviet Monitor in London.

"Deep differences of the historic paths of development of the various countries," it added.

Poppies Arrive For "Poppy Day" Sales

"The poppies have arrived!" This was the word that flashed to members of the American Legion Auxiliary here today and brought many of them to the Legion Home to begin the work of arranging the little red flowers for Poppy Day, May 29.

The poppies, many hundreds (or thousands) of the exact number can be given if desired) of them were in boxes shipped from Fayetteville where they were made by disabled war veterans under direction of the North Carolina Department of the Auxiliary.

Shaped patiently by hand, each little flower is a replica in crepe paper of the flowers that bloomed on the battle fields of the first World War. Each is slightly different, but as Mrs. S. O. Worthington, Auxiliary poppy chairman explained, all have the same deep meaning.

"Flanders Fields are on the other side of the world from Guadalcanal and a quarter of a century distant in time but the little poppy of Flanders speaks for the dead of both battles," said Mrs. Worthington.

The poppy is the memorial flower for all who have died in America's struggle against world slavery, whether or whenever they fell. We wear it to show that we remember them, honor them and are continuing to fight in the cause for which they died.

The poppies are being sorted and counted ready to go into the baskets of the Auxiliary volunteers who will distribute them throughout the city on Saturday, May 29. Contributions received for them will aid the Legion's and Auxiliary's work for disabled veterans and families of service men.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Determination of the Allied War Council in Washington to speed war materials and other supplies into China is a God-send for that country.

This presumably will involve an extension of the American job of transporting staff by air across the mountains between India and China—one of the toughest assignments of the war. That's about the only way to move goods pending the reopening of the Burma road, or the completion of fresh roads through the wilderness.

The Chinese have been so hard up for fighting equipment that their success in withstanding utter defeat is one of the wonders of the world. They

Shopping Goes On In Food District

High boots, a bicycle or a hard-to-find rowboat were needed equipment for shoppers in the business area of Logansport, Ind., as flood waters continued to rise. Factories in some parts of the city were forced to suspend operations because of the high water. (Associated Press photo from S. Navy).

Reds Continue Drive Against Novorossish

EARLY ANSWER IS EXPECTED

Stalin's Reply to FDR Letter May Be Ready Soon

Moscow, May 22.—(AP)—Premier Stalin's answer to President Roosevelt's personal letter may be in former Ambassador Joseph E. Davies' hands for delivery to Washington in a matter of days.

At a press conference yesterday at which he described his meeting with the Soviet Premier at the Kremlin, Davies said Stalin smiled after the long translation was completed, and said he would take it up with Davies in a day or two.

Davies also indicated he was prepared to do nothing more than act as messenger between the heads of the American and Russian governments. "I am not here to conduct any negotiations," he said in answer to a question.

There was still no definite indication of what the letter contained. ("Speculation in Washington based on Prime Minister Churchill's recent statement before Congress that he and Mr. Roosevelt hoped in the not far distant future to achieve a meeting with the Russian leader, was that the letter was designed to bring about such a meeting.")

Davies told newsmen he talked with Premier Stalin for more than two hours. Stalin was described as a smiling host "who doesn't look like a man who was worried." He was dressed smartly in khaki and boots, wearing a single decoration, the silver star and red ribbon—in the order of Socialist labor.

"He looks better than when I saw him last in 1938," Davies said. "Stalin was interested in conditions in the United States and asked about the route I took."

Polish Prisoners Are Murdered By Nazis

London, May 22.—(AP)—The Polish Telegraph Agency quoting an underground radio report it said was broadcast from somewhere in Poland reported today that the Germans dragged 94 Poles including five women from Warsaw's Pawlak prison on the night of May 7, shot them, and then threw their bodies into a ghetto building the Germans had set ablaze.

for lack of arms and equipment. About the only weapon they have had with which to wage war apart from determination and courage has been space to trade for time.

Meantime their resources have been so small that the military command hasn't found it feasible to engage in major offensive operations.

China hasn't been saying much about food or raiment. The economic position is dependent on the military situation. With the Japs in possession of most of the centers of production and trade, the economic structure of unoccupied China must be full of holes. The Chinese need equipment with which to re-organize military positions.

Russian Detachments Also Victorious Before Leningrad

London, May 22.—(AP)—Russian heavy artillery continued the assault on Novorossish's inner defenses last night, smashing two enemy tanks, eight machine-gun points and several dugouts, and blew up an ammunition dump, the Soviet mid-day communique said.

There was no indication in the communique, recorded here by the Soviet radio monitor, that the Germans have renewed their sharp counter-attack attempts to break the Russian siege of the strategic Black Sea base.

Thirty-four German trucks filled with about 300 officers and men were destroyed on the western front in the Smolensk area by Red units, it said.

Soviet scouts attacked German sappers who were laying mines south of Balakleya. Killing all who had attempted to resist and taking prisoners, the communique said.

Occasional artillery and mortar fire was exchanged west of Rostov-on-Don, where 10 enemy dugouts and several mortar batteries were reported to have been destroyed.

In a sharp engagement on the Leningrad front, Russian detachments were said to have killed more than a company of Germans, and destroyed pillboxes, dugouts and supplies.

Airpower To Speed Conclusion Of War

London, May 22.—(AP)—Major General Pollett, British inspector general of the U. S. AAF, who was an observer in yesterday's U. S. raid on Wilhelmshaven said today that "when adequate forces are available to hit Germany in six or eight places at once the war will be brought to a speedy conclusion."

He took in the Flying Fortress "Wham Bam" piloted by Capt. Russell Schleich of San Francisco.

The action came as the House Banking and Currency Committee considered War Food Administrator Chester Davis' request that the borrowing authority of the Commodity Credit Corporation be boosted by another $1,000,000,000.

Extends Guffey Coal Act Washington, May 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has signed a bill extending the Guffey coal act until August 23, a stopgap arrangement to give congress time to consider more lasting legislation.

The act provides for minimum prices of soft coal, thereby to keep the industry stable.

There were other points of danger in the immediate area however, with the Illinois river on the rise along a 200-mile front and the Missouri river roaring out of its normal channel as it neared its junction with the Mississippi near Alton.

While flood conditions harassed thousands of families in other parts of the flood area—in Indiana, Arkansas, Kansas and Oklahoma—the immediate concern was in the

HIGH FINALS BEGIN SUNDAY

Huggins To Preach Baccalaureate Sermon

Sunday night at 8 o'clock M. A. Huggins of Raleigh, State Secretary of the North Carolina Baptist Convention, will preach the baccalaureate sermon to the members of the 1943 graduating class in the Greenville High School auditorium.

Mr. Huggins has been secretary of the Baptist State Convention for 10 years and is in charge of the benevolent program, orphanages, hospitals, missions, etc., of the Baptist church in North Carolina. He is a very entertaining speaker and well known for his work among the young people of the state.

The invocation will be given by Principal J. Roy Wilkerson and the benediction will be pronounced by Rev. J. D. Simons. Music for the service will be furnished by the Greenville High School Glee Club who will sing "Break Forth O Beatitude, Heavenly Light" and "The American Prayer."

Commencement exercises got under way Friday night with the very successful presentation of the Senior Play "Professor, How Come You?" The ninth grade will have a play.

Casualties Among Newspapermen High

New York, May 22.—(AP)—Casualties among newspapermen covering the war total 20 per cent, compared with the army's battle casualty rate of less than five per cent, says Editor and Publisher trade magazine of the newspaper business.

"Press casualties," the publication noted in an article yesterday, "now total 12 dead, three missing, 60 wounded or injured, 29 captured and still held, and 10 interned and still held. In addition, 30 were hospitalized for illness, 30 were captured and released, and 49 were interned and repatriated."

By The Associated Press. A group of soldiers engineers and civilian defense volunteers, started today along a 100-mile front of the mighty Mississippi river, choked by flood waters from scores of tributaries ready to meet the imminent dangers from the ever-rising "father of waters."

From Alton, Ill. southward to Cape Girardeau, Mo. some 4,200 troops patrolled the river front area, guarded by army engineers.

While flood conditions harassed thousands of families in other parts of the flood area—in Indiana, Arkansas, Kansas and Oklahoma—the immediate concern was in the southern sections of Illinois and Missouri. The homeless total in the entire area was well above the 100,000 mark and the damage to crop and property by the floods reached millions of dollars. The number of dead was 14—eight in Indiana, 3 in Missouri, 2 in Oklahoma and 1 in Illinois. Thousands of soldiers were in the flood area and were aided by 25,000 civilian defense volunteers.

The American Red Cross in Washington announced in Washington property damage in the flood areas of the Missouri and Mississippi valleys and will extend financial aid to families. Officials have estimated about 100,000 persons were homeless in Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

It also was disclosed in Washington that Major General Eugene Raybold, chief of Army Engineers, will make a personal inspection of the flooded areas in Oklahoma and Arkansas and will report his findings to the House Flood Control committee.

AIR WARFARE AGAINST AXIS IS INCREASED

Americans Blast Southern Europe In Pre-Invasion Raids; RAF Smashes At Berlin And German Shipping

By ROGER GREENE Associated Press War Editor Allied warplanes left fresh rumormongering in Italy, Sicily, Sardinia and Pantelleria today and marked up a three-day toll of at least 285 Axis planes destroyed in the pre-invasion offensive against southern Europe.

Allied headquarters in North Africa announced that American bombers and fighters alone destroyed 66 enemy aircraft in Sicily and Sardinia yesterday, blasting 19 Axis planes out of the skies and smashing 67 more on the ground.

In addition, Cairo said U. S. heavy bombers destroyed 10 more enemy fighters during a double-barreled attack on southern Italy.

In the north, RAF Mosquito bombers struck at Berlin again for the third successive night—the sixth attack on the Nazi capital since May 13—while other British planes shot up trains in German-occupied France, sank two large vessels in a five-ship convoy in the English Channel and laid mines in enemy waters.

It was the 10th straight night of attack on Hitler's Europe.

Synchronized with the sixth successive night attack, but a defensive anti-aircraft barrage drove off the lone Nazi raider. Apparently no bombs fell in the capital.

In southern Europe, American four-engine bombers roared across the Mediterranean yesterday in another heavy assault on Italy's anti-invasion ramparts, smashing at San Giovanni and Reggio Calabria on the toe of the Italian boot across the strait from Sicily. A Fascist communique listed 104 killed and 112 injured in the two towns.

U. S. gunners shot down at least 10 Axis planes attempting to intercept the raid and all the big American planes returned safely. It was officially announced.

Synchronized with the U. S. assault on the Italian mainland, other powerful fleets of Allied raiders hammered relentlessly to soften Italy's outer island defenses, setting fire to airbases in Sicily and Sardinia and shattering targets on the coast.

More Fighting In The Balkans

London, May 22.—(AP)—Fighting is raging over a large part of Bosnia and Montenegro in the Balkans, with particularly bloody clashes at Montenegro, where the Germans hastily reinforced Italian forces after Yugoslav patriots killed or captured one entire Fascist garrison numbering 713 men, the Yugoslav government-in-exile announced today.

The Italian garrison was reported destroyed by forces of Gen. Draza Mihailovic, which moved down the Moraga river and encircled the town of Bios last Sunday.

The announcement said the patriots now were threatening the garrisons, the main Montenegro garrison of the Italians, eight miles from Bios.

Another 309 Axis troops were reported killed in the Biopolje-Mojkovac area, 40 miles northeast of Podgorica between May 12 and May 16.

War Prisoner Escapes Little Rock, Ark., May 22.—(AP)—A 23-year-old German war prisoner has escaped from a camp near Fort Smith, Ark. The FBI announced.

Agent-in-charge, Fred Halford, said the prisoner was Karl Schimmler, a 5-foot-11-inch, 145-pound, blue eyes, blond hair, ruddy complexion. The man has a wound scar on the right arm and speaks very little English, Halford said.

Army Engineers Aid In Fight Against Floods

Coal Miners Return To Work After WLB Report

Panel Findings Leave Way Open For Wage Boosts

By The Associated Press The number of idle miners in the nation's coal-fields dwindled today, with only about 3,800 workers still out of the war-vital fuel pits—but elsewhere the all-over labor picture was clouded by conflicting developments.

The back-to-work move came as a three-man fact-finding panel of the War Labor Board issued a report in Washington on the soft coal wage controversy, in which it left open the way for granting substantial pay concessions to the miners.

The panel's lengthy report discussed all disputed points in the controversy—wage increases, portal-to-portal pay, overtime, and other issues—but made no recommendations.

Meanwhile, some 3,000 miners returned to work in Pennsylvania yesterday, and another 3,000 voted to return to their jobs today or Monday, the president of United Mine Workers District No. 2 predicted all central Pennsylvania coal fields would be in operation by Monday.

The biggest stoppage in coal production was in Ohio, where 2,500 men were out at four mines. It appeared that decision time finally was at hand in the long and bitter coal wage controversy. John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers boss, has challenged WLB's jurisdiction in the dispute and was reported considering court action to force a resumption of bargaining with the operators— independent of the board.

WLB aides said that the UMW chairman believes the board has violated the National Labor Relations Act by ordering the operators to stop negotiations until both sides agree to proceed under WLB auspices.

Canning Sugar

Washington, May 22.—(AP)—Housewives will be able to get sugar for home canning by using stamps 15 and 16 in Ration Book One, the Office of Price Administration has announced.

The revised program wipes out a play of applying to local ration boards for coupons, as announced previously.

Each stamp becomes valid on next Monday and is good for five pounds each for canning sugar until October 31.

Families who require more than 10 pounds of sugar a year for home canning will apply to the rationing boards, the OPA explained. The 10-pounds-per-person allowance secured by using Stamps 15 and 16 will provide each person with 40 quarts of canned fruit, the OPA estimated.

This allotment of sugar for canning does not interfere with the regular sugar allowance, it was pointed out, and an OPA spokesman said Stamp No. 15 would become valid June 1 to August 15 for five pounds.

Campaign On Attu Nearing Disastrous End For Japs; Blow To Jap Food Supply Is Seen; MacArthur's Airmen Destroy Enemy Planes In South Pacific

By The Associated Press While Tokyo boasted that a real fight "from now on" was developing on Attu, latest reports indicated today that American troops were moving in against the last nests of Japanese resistance with the trapped enemy survivors left no choice except to surrender or die.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox declared that the 12-day old campaign was successful and that it was only a question of time before the Japanese remnants bottled up at Chichagof harbor, at the northeast tip of the island were

Washington, May 22.—(AP)—American forces on Attu island have slashed remaining Japanese troops there into three groups, the Navy reported today, and the final phase of the campaign to restore the island to American control is now under way.

The three enemy areas were listed in a communique as Chichagof harbor at the northeastern tip of the island, Chichagof valley which runs southwest from the harbor, and the northern shores of Lake Nicholas, which is southeast of the harbor.

Attu village, presumably the center of the enemy's Chichagof harbor position, was wiped out by army planes yesterday, the Navy reported, and a fuel depot and other installations were severely finally overwhelmed. Knox stated emphatically that American warships controlled the surrounding waters and that no sea-borne escape was possible.

Tokyo's forecast of a tighter Japanese defense was based on the assertion that the Japanese garrison had "given up" its advanced posts in order to shorten its lines.

With Attu under the Stars and Stripes, Washington quarters expressed belief that Japan would suffer a serious blow to her food supply through American control of important fishing grounds in the North Pacific.

These quarters said a campaign to close the ground to the enemy would probably be one of the first moves of the American command as

Swartz Elected Safety Official

By CHESTER WALSH "I have never seen a more serious minded group of men than that at the annual industrial safety conference at Charlotte," said Mayor Bruce Sugg in his office at the City Hall today. "Nearly 500 persons representing every phase of industry and safety groups spent two days there in earnest consideration of safety measures which will contribute to human life and limb and toward winning the war."

Greenville was honored in the election of new officers. C. M. Culverson, safety director of the Southern Bell Telephone Company of Charlotte was chosen chairman for next year. Martin Swartz, general superintendent for the Greenville Utilities Commission, was elected vice-chairman, the mayor stated.

"Mr. Swartz was given signal recognition at the conference as a member of the Program Committee, was chairman of the electrical and public utilities section, and took an active part in the deliberations."

Mayor Sugg Supt. Swartz and W. A. Darden, superintendent of distribution represented Greenville at the meeting.

SOLONS BLAST FOOD MEETING

Congressman Says Secret Sessions 'Diabolical'

By WADE WERNER Hot Springs, Va., May 22.—(AP)—Like the boy who was invited to the party but couldn't get by the butler, a pair of riled Republican representatives left a stormy ultimatum on the doorstep of the United Nations food conference here today.

And one of them charged that the parley's secret sessions cloaked from public gaze what he termed "one of the most diabolical things ever perpetrated on the American people."

Representatives Bradley of Michigan and Smith of Ohio told reporters they had been barred from executive sessions—and that almost

Says Strikers Losing The War

Albuquerque, N. M., May 22.—(AP)—Roscoe Waring, national commander of the American Legion, declared that the strikers at Chrysler plants are "doing something to help lose this war." If a soldier acted similarly, Waring added, "He'd be in front of a firing squad in 24 hours."

Waring, addressing New Mexico Legion members last night, criticized activities of some congressmen, John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, and weakness in government officials.

"There are too many congressmen," he said, "who are not discharging their duty in deciding how and when our taxes are to be collected but at the same time telling the military how to fight the war."

BUYING INVESTMENT STOCKS

Three Methods — Urges Diversification

New York City, May 22.—When in New York my mind naturally turns on Wall Street where I make my headquarters while in this city. Today I especially desire to write on the purchase of stocks in view of the letters that are coming in to me from amateur investors. Many who were cleaned out in 1929 or 1936 are again itching for another trial. Many more who have never before bought any stocks are now beginning to nibble. Therefore let me this week explain three chief methods of buying stocks.

Short Turns Dangerous Unfortunately, a large percentage of the buying of stocks is for a "short term," which may be called the first method. This applies 100 per cent to the trading by men and women who hang around brokerage offices. Far too many people who do not visit brokerage offices also look at the stock market as a place to gamble rather than to invest. As they are used to winning or losing quickly at horse races and elsewhere they expect quick profits or losses in the stock market. In many cases they get in and out the same day; perhaps a majority get in and out within a week or a month at the latest, while nothing exceeding three months would be looked upon as a "short term" purchase.

Naturally, these people do not bother with a broad line of stocks. They select some one or two which some one picks for them as "win-

Miss Lovelace was presented silver and crystal in her chosen partner.

The hostesses served a delicious course.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR, May 22, 1903

Unless rain comes very soon there will be incalculable damage done to all growing crops, especially the tobacco crop. This has been the longest protracted spell of dry-weather we have ever had at this time of the year.

Greenville's cotton exchange is not doing business in opposition to the New York exchange but the former can tell the latter how to make a noise.

well will preach at the Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church. On Monday at 11 a. m. a conference on evangelism will be held at the Presbyterian Church, lunch will be served to visitors at one o'clock and Altemarle presbytery will hold its mid-summer session opening at 2 p. m. Next Saturday, May 29, is "Poppy Day" for disabled veterans of both wars. Buy a poppy and help them.

Senior High Play. Last night at 8 o'clock the curtain went up on one of the most beautiful and most amusing most entertaining farces that has been presented in Greenville in many a day. It was the Senior Play—"Professor, How Good You?" by Anne Couiter Matiens, featuring Gene Skinner and Lottie Thomas in the leading roles.

It was no amateur performance for the efficient and painstaking efforts of Mr. Howard Mims, the director, had ironed all traces of "amateurism" out of the production. It takes space to give each member of the cast a word of praise for their excellent performance, yet it would be unfair to make special mention of one without including the entire cast.

Gene Skinner, as Keats Perry, the Professor, the must-be-married character, was splendid in his difficult role. His true love, Vicky Randolph, (Lottie Thomas), who could throw everything from a tin to a bottle of ink, was "tops" in her role, especially when the professor sneered her down to earth and gave her a kiss that really was a kiss.

The most difficult role to play on any stage, whether it be the "Old Palace on Broadway, or the Bronx or Chockos" is the part of an old man, or the old man, especially by youth, which was so perfectly portrayed by Virginia Samson and Pat Corey as Grandma and Grandpa Perry. Boggs (Gene Skinner) doesn't have to worry about a future job because he would make a No. 1 butler for any family. John Appleby (Mitchell White) whose strenuous job it was as principal throughout each act and a perfect job especially when he returned in the end as Professor Perry's unknown wife with his three unheard of children (Polly Wilkerson, Lema Rose and Milton Foley), who were very realistic in their brief appearance. Priscilla Moxley (Edna Mendenhall) Valeria Whitman (Shirley Warner) and Tootsie Bean (Ann Harter) as the three misadventured young girls brought forth many laughs with their perfect performances. Last, but not least, was the tough brother of Tootsie Bean—Burrer Boy (Ben Dalton) (Milton Howard) who put "Lil Abner" the Zoot Suit Hero in the shade with his Farmville Zoot Coat and half of a hardware store for a key chain—and could he claim "Chocolate Chiffon Pie" in the Professor's kiss?

There are a lot of adults in Greenville who missed a great treat last night by allowing so many vacant seats to remain idle at the High School Auditorium.

In Mr. Thibault's first group, composed of familiar numbers "The Sluttering Lovers" and "Old Nag Ned" with their humor and touch of the dramatic stood out.

Of a group of French and Spanish numbers, "El Tumbador" was showing the characteristic Spanish rhythm, was notable.

The Negro spiritual, "Shadrach, Meshack and Abednego" gave the singer's baritone voice good opportunity, as did also his "Old Man River" in his group of songs from well known operettas.

Appreciating his audience's enthusiasm, he sang many numbers, among them being "My and My Day" and "As Time Goes By". I was a boy and you are a baritone during high school. Can you imagine a boy of 16 singing the baritone parts to the "Espana" and the "Messiah"? he asked the group with a twinkle in large expressive eyes. Mr. Thibault declared that now he doesn't see how he did it. When quizzed as to his preference in audiences, he instantly answered, "I love a live audience." The singer said he was not interested in working in movies because they take too much time away from concerts. Even with two broadcasts a week I have gotten as far as Dallas to give concerts, and back in plenty of time "American Music Hour" and the "Manhattan Merry-go-round" were the two radio programs referred to. "It's all music" to him, regardless of nature and place rendered but he believes the concert stage is the best medium for expression.

While a student in the conservatory he was understanding a major part in an opera. On the night before the first performance the baritone singer did not show up, and later it was found that he was sick.

"Where's Thibault?" they cried. "I was frightened to death, I hadn't studied the part because I thought it too difficult for my voice. For the next day and a half I rehearsed the part and learned the part. Doing the part in justice, he was given to get parts in other operas afterwards. He has not sung in opera since 1933.

"Certainly, I'm married," he replied to the question. "I like to look at all my mail personally—with the help of my wife. We answer it," he said laughingly.

Thibault sang with a dance band for three years, likes musical comedies, to dance, and gets "a bang out of hockey and basketball." He eats a good meal a few hours before each performance. "I can do that because I don't have stage fright any more. There used to be butterflies but not any more."

Trying to pin him down to saying he preferred one branch of service over the others, the reporter replied, "No, I like them all the same." And then an afterthought, "Of course, I do have a favorite—the WAVES. I sang to a thousand a few weeks ago at Hunter College, and they made quite a pretty audience."

Tall, dark and vivacious, Mr. Thibault showed interest in the musical department at the college. He wanted to know about the faculty, students and classes. "This is a lovely campus and just the time of the year to see it," he said.

This concert closed the year's entertainment series at the college, which has included the Bah Java Dancers, Rise Stevens, and Albert Spalding.

The committee in charge, with Miss Ola Ross as chairman and Miss Memie Jenkins in charge of publicity, was composed of Miss Marguerite Austin, Miss Estelle Davis and Evan Griffin, student government presidents, and Misses Lois Greene, Lorraine Pritchard and Jeanne Freeman.

Range of Subjects At Art Gallery

By LUCY CHERRY CRISP. The wide range of subjects—to say nothing of the excellence with which many of these subjects are painted—offered in the current show at the Community Art Center gallery insures something of interest for visitors of various ages, tastes and ideas.

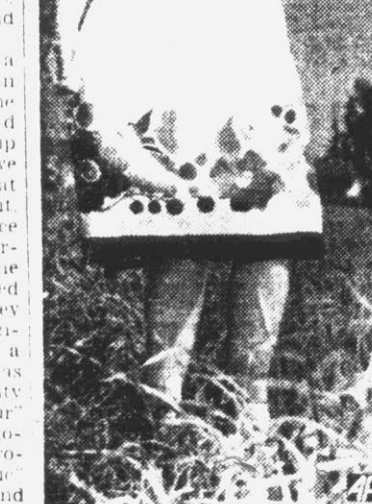

Children among the gallery visitors this week have been, naturally, those reproductions to Lucille Blanchard's colorful "Outdoor Circus," and to the skating scene in "Winter on the Catskills" from the gay and spirited brush of Doris Lee. They have been much amused, also, by the forlorn and flapping scarecrow in Arnold Blanchard's "New England"—which is a very different New England from the one of orderly villages and Cape Cod scenes we are accustomed to see portrayed.

More appealing to older gallery visitors are the rich beautiful colors of Henry Mattson's "Landscape," and Sidney Laufman's "Plowed Field," the deserted sunlight of Henry Strater's "Winter in the Verde Valley," or the clear water colors of Edward Hopper and William Zorach.

These reproductions of the work of living American artists, circulated by the American Federation of Arts under the title "The American Scene," are the work of Jelle in Vienna—which accounts for their excellence. So well are the paintings reproduced that, looking at some of the oils, you feel certain that you could reach out and touch the actual rough paint on the original canvas.

As a chapter member of the Federation, the local gallery is privileged to select two of these reproductions for its permanent collection. Mrs. R. L. Hunter, Miss Kate Lewis, and Mrs. Georgia Pennell Heame are serving a jury to select the two to be requested for our gallery's collection.

"The American Scene" will be on display here through next week. In addition to the pictures shown in the gallery, several are on exhibit on the main floor of the library, in the Children's Reading Room among them Aaron Bohrod's bit of pointed rock in titled "Landscape near Chicago."

PINAFLOW — Songstress Trudy Erwin, looking like a breath of spring, wears the latest in cotton pinafrows with a wide border of flowers and leaves for color. The neat jacket effect can be varied by wearing different colored blouses.

Mrs. Edward Withers Harvey, Jr. of Greenville, whose marriage took place in an evening ceremony on May 12 in the Willard Presbyterian Church. Prior to her marriage the bride was Miss Emily Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. McNair Johnson of Willard. Mr. Harvey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Withers Harvey of Greenville.

Harvey-Johnson. Willard, N. C., May 22 — The Willard Presbyterian Church was the scene of a wedding of charm and beauty Wednesday evening, May 12, at eight o'clock, when Miss Emily Johnson became the bride of Edward Withers Harvey, Jr. Rev. W. P. M. Currie, former pastor of the church, officiated assisted by Dr. R. S. Boyd.

As guests assembled, Mrs. Clifton Knowles, pianist and Mrs. Knott Proctor, soloist, of Greenville, presented a program of nuptial music. The church was decorated with floor baskets of white roses and lilies. The bride wore a gown of white tulle and lace with fitted bodice and full skirt extending into a long train. The sweetheart necklace was outlined with seed pearls. The imported veil of illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls. The veil fell to the back the entire length of the lace train of the gown. The bride carried a bouquet of purple orchids and lilies of the valley tied with white satin ribbon and maline.

Miss Hazel Bowen attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a dress of blue marquisette with three-quarter length fitted sleeves and long fitted torso. A peaked ruffle of self material outlined the sweetheart neckline. She wore a blue velvet bow in the back with a nosegay of yellow roses tied with yellow satin ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ned Carville of Columbia, S. C., sister of the bridegroom, Miss Mary Elizabeth Parrish of Goldsboro, Miss Hazel Willford of Greenville, and Miss Juanita Bass of Black Creek. They wore blue marquisette dresses fashioned with white satin ribbon, pink carnations and blue Dutch iris, tied with satin ribbon.

Little Hannah Dixon Proctor of Greenville was the flower girl. She wore a long yellow dress with a three tiered gathered skirt, and carried a nosegay of sweetpeas and sweetheart roses.

Little Buddy Johnson of Willard dressed in a Tuxedo carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

Mrs. Johnson, mother of the bride, wore a dress of periwinkle chiffon with inserts of Viennese lace. She wore a corsage of pink sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Harvey, mother of the bridegroom, was dressed in black lace and wore a corsage of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson entertained at a formal reception at their home. Guests were greeted on the front porch by Mr. and Mrs. Willmer Prett, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Trader and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Boney. They were met at the door by Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Farrior and Dr. Charles Dearing presented guests to the registrar, Mrs. R. W. Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Veach received in the music room where Mrs. William Farrior and Mrs. Robert Sheffield rendered several musical selections. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ward introduced the guests to the receiving line which was composed of the parents of the bride and groom, the bridal couple, and members of the wedding party.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Southerland invited guests into the dining room where Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Veach and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Taylor received. Punch was poured by Mrs. Ned Savage. Cookies, mints and nuts were served by Mrs. William Phelps, Mrs. Kathleen Sylvania, Mrs. R. N. Pearsall, Mrs. Hannah Ackerman, Mrs. W. F. Farrior, Mrs. Charles Brooks, and Misses Helen Brown, Eleanor Dillard, Amelia English, Dorothy Nicholson, Margaret Jane McGowan and Mary Ann Farrior. Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bollinger showed guests to the gift room where Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Dillard, Mr. and Mrs. B. Van Bavel, and Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Southerland presided. Goodbyes were said by Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carr.

For traveling the bride changed to a beige costume suit with heliotrope hat and gloves. Her other accessories were black patent. She wore three purple orchids taken from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Harvey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. McNair Johnson of Willard. She is a graduate of East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, and is a former teacher of Penderlea High School.

Mr. Harvey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Withers Harvey, Sr. of Greenville. He attended Davidson College and is distributor for the American Oil Company in Greenville.

After the rehearsal on Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. Johnson entertained at a cake cutting for the bridal party and friends of both families at their home. The table was covered with pastel blue cloth with lighted tapers forming the background for crystal wedding bells filled with miniature corsages and tied with tulle and forming a semi-circle around the three tiered wedding cake. About seventy-five guests were present.

A number of entertainments were given in Mrs. Harvey's honor prior to her marriage. Mrs. R. W. Powers, Mrs. Fred Savage and Mrs. C. O. Bollinger were joint hostesses at the home of Mrs. Powers, Wednesday, May 12 at a luncheon for the bridal party and out-of-town guests.

Mrs. Joe Ward, Mrs. William Phelps, Mrs. Graham Horne and Miss Hazel Bowen were hostesses at a bridge supper on May 7. The bride received crystal in her chosen pattern.

On May 6, Mrs. Harvey was entertained at the home of Mrs. Ned Mills in Watha by her former high school pupils, who presented her with a bedspread.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the Harvey-Johnson wedding were Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Harvey, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cummings, Dr. and Mrs. Robert S. Boyd, Miss Anna Belle Boyd, Mrs. John R. Boyd, Miss Agnes Fullilove, Mrs. D. M. Willford, Miss Hazel Willford, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wilkerson, Mr. Billy Brown, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Lipscomb, Mr. and Mrs. J. Knott Proctor, Miss Hannah Dixon Proctor and Knott Proctor, Jr., all of Greenville.

Mrs. Dana H. Horton and Miss Mildred Horton of Washington, N. C., Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Morrow of Burlington, N. C., Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Barnes of Wilson, Mrs. Ned Carville of Columbia, S. C., and Miss Juanita Bass of Black Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Farrior, Miss Mary Ann Farrior, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Pearsall, Mrs. Edgar Nicholson, Miss Dorothy Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Betts, Mr. T. T. Murphy, Mrs. Natalie S. Johnson, Mrs. G. T. Pullen, Miss Jew Horne, Mr. J. T. Brown of Burgaw.

Mrs. Fred Savage, Mr. and Mrs. Ford Rivenbark of Wilmington.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Garrison, Mr. Johnnie Carr Garrison, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Southerland of Rocky Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Brown, Eldon and Helen Brown of Magnolia.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barden, Miss Evelyn Barden, Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Blanchard, Mrs. Alice G. Carr and Mrs. Alice Herring of Rose Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyden Southerland of South Mills.

Rain Was Blessing For Growing Crops

Rain over a wide area of Eastern Carolina yesterday brought life to growing crops and was a blessing to recently transplanted tobacco plants, farmers in town today stated. There were busy scenes over the countryside today while farmers were resetting plants wherever necessary. Transplanting of the tobacco crop is practically completed in this section.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

FAITH, NOT WORKS

The plainest teaching of the Bible is that we are saved not by works but by faith. Nothing we can do will bring about our salvation. Good works have their place, but they are the fruits of salvation, not the roots of salvation. We are saved not by our own efforts but by the grace and good will of God.

Such being the case, the thing we have to do to enter into that fullness of life which theology calls salvation is to accept the grace which God is so willing to give us. The patriarch Abraham, long past the age when men can expect an heir, was assured by the Almighty that his seed would become as the sand of the sea. We are told that Abraham believed God. But the Hebrew word here really means, "Abraham said amen to God," or "Abraham amended God." He staggered not at the promise, though unbeliever but said amen to it.

It seems inconceivable that in our sinful state God will reach down and bless us with new life but the Bible tells us that He is eager to do so, and all we have to do is to accept His gift. We have to say "amen" to Him, and He will set in operation the spiritual processes by which our lives are transformed. It must, of course, be honestly done with a complete resignation to God's righteous will. But when we do so, God responds with the gift which only He can confer.

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

At this time when our county schools have just completed another year's work and our city schools are preparing to present diplomas to graduating seniors on Tuesday, it is most appropriate to give thought to the value of our schools to the community, the nation and the world. We have paid no other tribute to our public school system than that recently paid by W. J. Sanders of Visalia, California, as follows:

"I believe that this is a moral universe with laws as inexorable and immutable as those of the physical universe or those of machines.

"I believe that mind is more important than matter, because mind gives matter meaning and value, and without mind matter would be both meaningless and valueless.

"I believe that ideas, just another word for ideals, are the motive power of the universe—of man, of matter, of machines, and of God Himself.

"I believe that mind, the seat of ideas, for that reason must be trained and inspired, as an ignorant or evil mind can be the most dangerous and destructive force in the universe.

"I believe that formal education is the readiest present means by which mental, moral and spiritual training can be given.

"I believe that the public schools are the chief instrument by which the youth of the country can be educated and directed toward their small town and rural storekeepers and their customers have been hardest hit by an uneven distribution of consumer products.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington — From a tiny room in the War Production Board's mammoth building, an amiable little white-haired man of 60 quietly supervises the flow of a multitude of products to the folks at home.

Arthur D. Whiteside, newly-appointed director of civilian supplies, wincing at being called a "czar," but WPB Chairman Donald Nelson has given him sweeping powers to see that essential articles and services are made available to consumers.

He recommends to WPB what raw materials, manufactured articles and repair facilities should be allotted for civilian needs. All consumer goods and services, except food, housing and transportation are under his direction.

He has to keep posted on the requirements and supplies of countless products ranging from castor oil, caskets and coffins to washing machines and furnaces. He will recommend what goods and how much of them ought to be rationed.

Whiteside, long-time president of the business reporting firm of Dun and Bradstreet, is rated a big-league business analyst but in appearance as a village druggist. Incidentally, he points out that

Buying For The Long-Pull

The second method is to buy stocks when they are comparatively cheap as at present, be prepared to keep them for from one to two years and then sell them out at a good profit. This sounds very simple and would work perfectly if, when selling, the investor would be content to leave his money idle in the bank for a year or two until stocks again fall to low prices; then re-invest and do it over again.

Mr. Whiteside is a veteran government handy-man. Back in World War I, he worked with Bernard Baruch on the War Industries Board. He was only 36 when he went to London and Paris with the American delegation to the Peace Conference.

He was one of the four division administrators of NRA and served as chief of the Iron and Steel Branch of the Materials Division of OPM, forerunner of WPB.

He is a fresh-water fishing enthusiast and loves to pull in striped-bass from Vermont lakes. A summer in humid, over-crowded Washington will be no treat for this man who likes the woods and waters and a small town's informal comforts.

When buying for the long-pull, one should diversify and probably employ some long-established investment advisory service for making selections. Purchasing stocks on this long-pull method should be done intelligently. All purchases should be based upon careful study and research. It is very sad to see men invest quickly and carelessly money which they have been years accumulating by hard work and careful thrift.

The third method is used by the man who buys each year a very diversified list of securities with the intention of never selling unless he makes purchases and sales by an approved automatic formula. He is content to rely on a 6 per cent net return knowing that money doubles itself every 12 years under such conditions. He further has a religious faith that the world is constantly getting better; and he is never disturbed by bad news, low prices or even panics. He gives much thought to studying financial reports in making his selections but after once making a purchase seldom looks at current stock market prices. He does not borrow money, he buys a very broad list depending on the law of averages for his security, income and profits. He usually invests money when he has it, irrespective of whether prices are high or low.

It is not up to me to advise in this column which of the three methods is preferable for any one reader. The answer depends upon the age, temperament, health, dependents, financial resources and many other factors in the case of each individual. This one thing I do say, however: Decide which of the three methods you wish to follow and stick to that method. Most of the losses in the stock market are due to trying to combine these three systems of investing. This means that the man who has not charac-

HIGHWAY TO HER HEART

By MAXINE SHORE

Chapter 14
Wolf bounded into the clearing of the Cree encampment ahead of his mistress, Penny, relieved to see that the tepees were still there. Smoke curled from a cooling fire. A squaw, a young girl about 16 and several children were gathered about it.

"Hello," said Penny somewhat timidly.
Looking up from the blackened pot in which she was cooking some sort of stew, the squaw smiled reply. The young Cree girl grinned at Penny out of long dark eyes. The brown-skinned, nearly naked children squealed with delight as the marmoset pup tumbled among them, yapping.

"I brought back the pail you lent us for tea last night," said Penny, offering it as she advanced.
The older Indian woman said something in Cree and the girl rose obediently to take the container from Penny.
"Thank you," she said.
Penny was at a loss how to continue the conversation. Their eyes were upon her questioning. How did you go about explaining to people who didn't know much of your language probably that you needed their aid?

Penny said, "We're in trouble." They stared at her blankly.
She tried again. "We need help." Intelligence glowed in the squaw's wrinkled brown face. She grinned delightedly and began laughing from the pot she gave Penny.
"I'm not hungry. It's not food we need this time."
Pointing downstream toward their own camp where Cleve was, she pressed her shoulder and groaned. "Man—sick. Hurt bad."
This they understood. "Sick—yes." Encouraged, Penny went on. "We want to go to Moose Creek."
Both Indian women nodded. "Moose Creek."
"No canoe." As well as she could, Penny pantomimed the story of their disaster in the river, running in phrases he captions on foreign films.

When she finished, the other two nodded sympathetically, then broke into voluble Cree. They appeared to be discussing something. The girl was pleading, the squaw hesitant. Finally, the latter gave in apparently, and nodded agreement.
The girl laughed joyfully and turned to Penny, who had been waiting impatiently, prayerfully.
"I go with you. At Long Portage is canoe. We take to Moose Creek."
Penny was weak with thankful ness. She could hardly wait to return to Cleve and tell him the good news.
The Cree girl, Marie To-ma, said it was about five miles to Long Portage. Five hard long miles still to travel on foot, but at the end of them the blessed certainty of respite, a canoe.

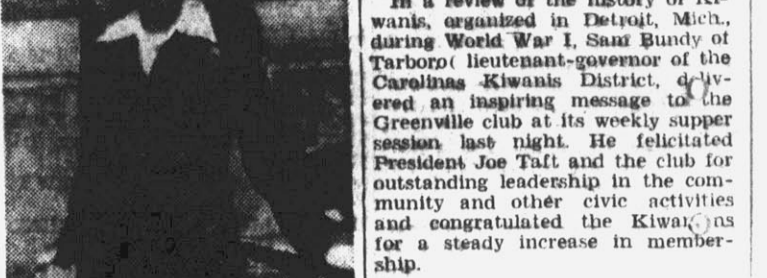

"Think you can make it, Cleve?" asked Penny anxiously.
His face came drawn with pain but he said cheerfully, "Of course, I feel better already. Let's get started."
He didn't look better. In fact—Penny faced it—he looked worse. But at least today she and Marie To-ma could relieve him of all the burdens. He wouldn't have to carry anything. All he'd have to do was bear his aching, pain-seared body along on swaying legs.
Penny kept beside him, Marie and Wolf were a good distance ahead most of the time.
Cleve said, eyes fogged with pain. "They belong to the wilderness, those two."
Penny nodded. "And we don't."
"They love it. They understand it. That makes bounding."
She thivered. "I don't think I could ever learn to love it—not after what it's done to us."
"A penthouse with Powell will look pretty good to you, won't it?"
"Right now," said Penny, "even a cold water flat in New York would look like heaven."
Cleve stumbled over a root. One hand caught Penny's shoulder to prevent his falling.

They went on—up and down and around. It seemed to Penny that the ups and downs and arounds were more than the aheads. Her feet were blistered, rubbing raw. Her face was fiery. Was she getting feverish, too?
"Sunburn," said Cleve, glancing at her. "You're rose-red, lot."
After a mile or so, however, Marie To-ma led them off through the woods, away from the river, to an easier trail. It was better here in the cool pine-shadow, moving along on a level. It was good, too, to see Marie To-ma's like, buoyant young form gliding in front of them, effortless as a breeze.
"We're making better time now," said Penny encouragingly.
"Yes."
There was such strain even in his voice that she glanced at him sharply. She could tell that every step was an almost superhuman task for him.
"Cleve, lean on me."
"No."
"Don't be ridiculous," said Penny. "You can't go on much longer. We'd better rest."
"How far—how far to Long Portage," he asked jerkily.
"Not too far now, I'm sure," said Penny. "I'll ask Marie."
At Penny's hail, the Indian girl came back smiling. Wolf at her heels.
"Just one mile now," she said. Her dark eyes took in Cleve, sagging against the broad trunk of a pine. Then she looked at Penny inquiringly.
"Your man—he make it?"
"I think so."
But would he, Penny wondered. Cleve's lids, heavy with fever and pain, snapped up to reveal his determination.
They came finally to Long Porter, self-control and courage had better confine his investments to United States government bonds, Series E, F, or G.

Kiwanians Enjoy Breezy Meeting

By CHESTER WALSH

In a review of the history of Kiwanis, organized in Detroit, Mich., during World War I, Sam Bundy of Tarboro, lieutenant-governor of the Carolinas Kiwanis District, delivered an inspiring message to the Greenville club at its weekly supper session last night. He felicitated President Joe Taft and the club for outstanding leadership in the community and other civic activities and congratulated the Kiwanians for a steady increase in membership.

A service flag with three stars, one each for Capt. Bill Stewart, Clyde Howell and Tom Wilson, members of the club who are now in the armed forces, was presented by Charles Blair, J. Hicks Corey, chairman of the Minstrel Committee, reported receipts for the show at well over $1,200 and promised a detailed report at the next meeting. Ed Rawl reported that all-board space had been donated for the club for posters urging the purchase of War Bonds. LeRoy Bell reported that arrangements had been completed with Jack Kligo, local manager of Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company for the delivery of cigarettes to the armed forces in China.

Miss Lorraine Pritchard, talented vocalist from the college, sang two numbers, with Miss Eleanor Eberhart, of the music faculty as accompanist. Dave Moore, Jr., directed the program. "Tige" Gardner led the singing of Kiwanis songs, with Mrs. Ray Tyson as accompanist. David Evans and Rufus V. Keel and Stanley L. Daughtrine of the district soil conservation office were special guests.

A delegation of 30 members of the club will attend the inter-club meeting at Goldsboro on Monday, May 31, when Charles Erwin of Chapel Hill, district governor of the Carolinas District, will speak.

FLIER—Maj. Gen. Roy S. Geiger, USMC (above), won fame as commanding general of the First Marine aircraft wing and senior aviation officer in the Guadalcanal area. His officers played an important role in shoving back the Japs.

Am I a child? Cleve struggled up. "I think, after all, I'm strong enough to make it, tot. Give me a hand and—"
Penny pushed him back. "I never heard of such nonsense!"
The effort had made him pale. Suffering grooved his face.
"Well," he admitted, "maybe you're right." He reached a lean hand to her. "Take good care of yourself, Penny."
"You too, Cleve."
"My best to good old Bill."
"Yes."
"And, tot—it's just the whim of a sick man but—how about a farewell kiss?"
"Oh, no!" Penny stepped back, the words bursting from her involuntarily. She was remembering that other kiss vividly.
"I see," he said. "Powell."
She turned and walked out.

THREE GAMES IN MAJORS

Entire National League Rained Out Yesterday

In the hullabaloo over Bill Cox' revival of the Phillies, it may have been overlooked that Connie Mack's Athletics aren't doing so badly either.

A quick glance at the American League standings shows the A's in sixth place today, but a second look reveals also that the standings are so tight that Philadelphia—and the Chicago White Sox as well—are only two games out of second place a month after the belated start of the 1943 season.

The Athletics haven't a 300 hitter on the club—Bobby Estalella and Jo-Jo White dropped below that mark last night—but they've come up with a couple of prize-package pitchers who mean a lot to a club in these days of low-hit games.

There's Jesse Flores, the Pijole flipper from Guadalajara, Mexico, who's won five games and lost only one so far. And last night Orrie Arntzen, a newcomer from Williamsport of the Eastern League, added his name to the list by outdueling the Veteran Johnny Niggeling of the St. Louis Browns in a floodlight pitching duel. Still another may be Donald Black, up from Petersburg, Va., who has turned in a couple of good efforts although he hasn't won a game.

The Athletics' 2-1 triumph over the Browns was a highlight of a three-game major league program which produced a total of only 36 hits and seven runs. The A's made just two hits off Niggeling and Arntzen was in hot water frequently because of wildness—he gave eight walks. But there was no scoring until the Browns' Mike Chartak belted his third homer of the season in the eighth inning and the A's came back to push over two runs in the ninth, scoring the winning tally when Catcher Rick Ferrell muffed a third strike.

Chicago's White Sox kept pace with the Athletics and dropped Washington a few points out of second place by winning another floodlight contest, 1-0 behind the three-hit hurling of Johnny Humphries while Detroit's Tigers crashed 4th place from St. Louis as the result of their 2-1, 13-inning conquest of the Boston Red Sox in the afternoon. Cleveland's idle Indians moved into second.

Humphries let only one runner get as far as third base and counted the game's only run when he nicked Dutch Leonard for a double in the fifth inning and scored on Thuram Tucker's single.

Tony Lupien's two-base miff of Joe Hoover's pop fly in the 13th paved the way for Detroit's victory as Tex Hughson limited the Tigers to seven hits. Roger Cramer followed up the error, made after two were out, with a game-winning single.

The entire National League card was postponed, but the Phillies again managed to get into the spotlight. Owner Bill Cox revealed he made an offer to Lefty Gome, former Yankee great recently cast adrift by the Boston Braves, and he listed a Saturday night game, a major league rarity, after last night's tilt was called off. The Cleveland Indians, determined to meet the Yankees under the lights, also booked a game for tonight after a postponement last night.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, May 22 (AP)—It has been said that there's nothing like a good depression to help baseball, so maybe the prosperity of these times is reflected in the experiments this season with starting times for ball games. The "depression" theory is that when men are out of work they have plenty of time to visit the ball park but when they're working hard they can't get away afternoons. So far this season major league clubs have played afternoon, night, twilight and morning games—the last two presumably for the benefit of war workers. Now, with doubleheaders piling up, the Dodgers and Reds have scheduled a daylight-and-dusk doubleheader for June 30 and the Phillies and Braves a morning and afternoon bill June 15. How about a continuous performance next?

The Old Daze
A lot of you likely can remember when there weren't so many places to go and when a holiday always meant one game in the morning, lunch at that place across the street from the park and another game right afterward. And on July 4th you tossed firecrackers at the umps and likely as not hung around to toss rocks at the carryall in which the visiting team was riding to its hotel. Well, you're riding to the park in streetcars again, so maybe the rest will come back.

Cleaning The Cuff
When the Great Lakes Sailors play the University of Illinois today, there'll be a reunion of two rival coaches. Lieut. Mickey Cochran caught for the Tigers and Wallace Roetiger played in the outfield for the Cardinals in the 1931 world

Non-Attendance Record
A lot of ball clubs have been polling the fans about starting times, but the most novel poll was conducted in Oakland, Calif., recently (result hasn't reached here yet). The idea was to start a doubleheader at one p.m. and count how many people left after the first game. If many departed, that was supposed to prove that swing shifters, who had to get to work about four, liked the idea of having a game early enough for them to see.

Ben Epstein, Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette: "The Chiang Kai-Shek of Pine Bluff is Robert Hing. The 15-year-old Chinese who cut capers in the backfield for the Colts last year has been elected president of the Pine Bluff Junior High school student council. Well, the zebras always did boast an all-state Hing back."

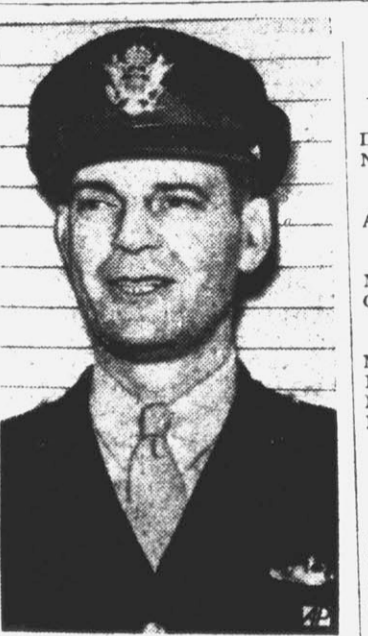

Service Dept.
Harris Horder, former six-day bike racer who joined the American army in Australia, was the tail gunner in a Liberator bomber that shot down six of 12 attacking Jap Zeros over New Guinea recently. Must have thought they were trying to steal a lap at 6A. The Bakers and Cooks softball team was the first Fort Sheridan outfit to challenge the new organized WAAC squad. If they lose, the soldiers probably will dare the girls to try a cooking contest. Pvt. James Farley, who plays for the 15th Signal Training Regiment baseball team at Fort Monmouth, N. J., isn't related to the former postmaster general, but he plays first base, too.

"Invades" Food Conference

Representative Fred Bradley (R-Mich.), who launched a one-man "invasion" of the United Nations Food Conference, is stopped by military police at the entrance to the Home-Stead in Hot Springs, Va., where the conference is being held. Bradley showed his Congressional identification card and was allowed to enter. He said he came to Hot Springs to learn about restrictions placed on reporters covering the conference and to find out if a Congressman could attend the sessions. Conference Chairman Marvin Jones assured him that any Congressman who wished would be given credentials to attend all meetings as an observer.

Dust Bowl Region May Again Be Cultivated

By OVID A. MARTIN Hot Springs, Va., May 22 (AP) — Ploving up of the now-pastured Great Plains land where the dust bowl of the thirties drove thousands out in a mass migration may be an immediate result of the United Nations food conference here.

The parley to plan for a better-fed post-war world already has impressed United States delegates and advisory agriculture department officials that the need for food to win the war and for feeding continental Europe will be tremendous immediately after the impending Allied invasion.
