REPORT NAZIS ARE READY FOR SUMMER DRIVE

Meanwhile Russians Hold Air Supremacy And Continue To Pound At German Bases From Which New Offensives Could Be Launched; Nazi Feeler Thrust Turned Back

By WILLIAM MCGAFFIN Moscow, June 11.—(AP)—The Russian air force has established supremacy in the Kuban valley after two months of violent mass aerial combat over the Axis western Caucasus bridgehead, dispatches from the front said today, and this fact was declared to account for the comparative lull in fighting in that area.

An Lviv dispatch said that since the end of May four Sturmovik bombers have been able to punish German troops on the battlefield at will, without loss to themselves.

Military observers here said it was understandable that the German troops were not anxious to do battle if deprived of strong air support and that the German air force was unwilling to engage the stronger Russian air fleet, with its faster, higher-climbing planes.

One other explanation for the let-down in the Kuban was offered that the Germans had shifted their plans to concentrate on bombing vital targets such as the Gorki war production factories behind the center of the Russian line.

Furthermore, according to these observers, the Germans expected a Soviet attack on the central front rather than in the Kuban, and they may be holding their air reserves for use in that sector.

The Soviet midnight communiqué told of a German Junco yesterday with hundreds of tank and plane-supported troops against the Russian lines between Rostov and Taganrog, 35 miles westward. A temporary German gain was pointed back by a Red army counterattack that cost the Germans 300 men, three tanks and two planes, it was announced.

This is in the area along the northern shore of the Sea of Azov. The noon communiqué offered no further light on the engagement, but both the midnight and the noon war bulletins told of heavy fighting.

Bans Use Of Code By Axis Embassies

Montevideo, June 11.—(AP)—An announcement that the Argentine government had banned the use of coded messages by Axis embassies was enthusiastically welcomed today by members of the consultative committee for political defense of the hemisphere.

Previously, they expressed hopes that this decree would be the first step by Argentina toward true pan-American solidarity.

The vice president of Uruguay, Alberto Guani, who is chairman of the committee, told the Associated Press: "This is a big satisfaction for me, as the decree apparently shows that all American countries now are striving to side by the measures recommended for the defense of the hemisphere."

Other committee members recalled that the inter-American body had requested all American countries to shut off communications with the Axis.

Navy Spokesman Defends Elks Hill Oil Land Deal

Washington, June 11.—(AP)—A Republican Senator's charge that the administration skinned a "give-away" lease of oil lands with the Standard Oil Company of California brought from the Navy Department last night a rebuttal that the deal was a "good" one for the government and from its conservation angles, for the public.

URGES CUT IN LIVING COSTS

AFL Head Predicts Revolt Unless Prices Are Lowered

Washington, June 11.—(AP)—Predicting a "spontaneous revolt" of wage earners unless living costs are cut, President William Green of the American Federation of Labor (AFL) told a Senate committee today that a $2,000,000,000 yearly subsidy is necessary to roll back living costs to levels of 13 months ago.

The only alternative, the AFL chief said, is to increase the 15 per cent Little Steel formula controlling wage increases "per cent for per cent" of our failure to cut the cost of living down to the May, 1942 level.

"The workers of the nation feel that their government has gone back on its promise to extend them equality of treatment in the cost of living control," said Green.

Earlier members of the Senate Banking Committee before which Green testified, said they favored legislation restricting sharply the amount and number of subsidies that could be paid to compensate.

Clyde R. Hoyt To Speak Winterville

Clyde R. Hoyt of Shelby, former governor of North Carolina and a candidate for the United States Senate will be the guest of the Greenville Kiwanis club and the Winterville Ruritan club at the high school in Winterville tonight at 7 o'clock.

The distinguished North Carolina statesman will deliver a public address in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock. The public is invited.

ment's acquiring lands, actually the Navy had given away for a period of five years all of its carefully preserved oil lands in Elk Hills (Naval oil reserve), said Lanier.

He contended also that former officials of the California company now hold important positions in the government here.

A navy spokesman disagreed sharply with Lanier's description of the contract. He said Standard Oil was paid $1,750,000 for its equipment in the Elk Hills field, and also received the right to withdraw a maximum of 15,000 barrels of oil per day for the next five years. Efforts to sue for the contract, he said, was to give the navy control of the entire oil producing area of Elk Hills.

Ship Named For Governor Jarvis

A liberty ship, the S. S. Jarvis, named for the late Governor Thomas J. Jarvis of this city, will be launched at Wilmington on Sunday and an invitation has been extended to Greenville citizens to attend the launching.

A native of Currituck County, Governor Jarvis spent the major portion of his life in Greenville where he was engaged in the practice of law. In addition to serving as Governor of North Carolina he also was United States Minister to Brazil. One of his deep interests was education and his efforts had much to do with establishment of East Carolina Teachers College in this city.

NEW CRISIS IN COAL DISPUTE

Miners Threaten To Walkout In Protest Against Fines

(By The Associated Press) Washington, June 11.—A powder keg atmosphere hung over the nation's coal fields today as government fines on miners for their last walkout brought threats of a new strike.

War Labor Board coolness toward a wage increase agreement between the United Mine Workers and a Pennsylvania group of operators contributed also to the tenseness of the situation.

Interior Secretary Ickes, federal operator of the mines since May 1, ordered the fines yesterday. They follow terms of the old UMW contract, $1 a day for each miner for each day he is off the job without a valid reason. In this case, the men were away five days. The money goes to charity.

Although the miners were idle five consecutive days, it appears they would be fined only for absences on the first four days. The fifth day was a Saturday, and axes of Ickes said the contracts generally provide for a day's pay for a day's work.

Ludwig also expressed the belief air bombing "is the deciding factor that will break the Germans." He said German nerves will collapse under the continued united nations aerial attack and it won't be necessary to invade Germany.

Ludwig a German Jew and a naturalized Swiss, said he appeared before the committee "to tell you and to prove to you why the defeat of Germany is nearer than you think and what to do with the Germans after their defeat."

"After this bad man is not there, and the Junkers make you any kind of a friendly offer," he continued, "I fear that certain elements in this country (the U.S.) and even in this House would say, 'Now let us make peace and let us finish this business.' They are good people."

Attendance at this conference is restricted to law enforcement officers, and Chiefs of Police, Sheriffs and heads of law enforcement agencies are particularly urged to be present, together with as many members of their departments as they are able to send. The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Surrender of the Italian island fortress of Pantelleria represents first blood for the allies in their all-out aerial offensive against the Axis.

This strong point in the Mediterranean bottle-neck between Sicily and the African mainland has been blasted into submission. Troops are going ashore without suffering the terrible losses which would have attended invasion without such preparation.

The submission of Pantelleria removes a grave menace to allied shipping from the channel which the allies must control for further operations in the Mediterranean.

This provides a stepping stone in the direction of Italy. As things have been going, one would expect to see bombing of the great islands of Sicily and Sardinia stepped up now.

If the allies continue as they have started, they will proceed methodically with their operations. They will go as fast as is feasible, but

Italian 'Gibraltar' Surrenders To Allies

The Italian island of Pantelleria, 60 miles from Sicily, today surrendered to Allied forces after it had withstood 19 days of terrific bombings and five naval bombardments. A British commando force made a brief raid Monday night. Italian reports this week reveal that Allied bombings have done "considerable damage" in raids (broken arrows) on Messina and Trapani, Sicily.

President Urges Italy To Get Out Of War Now

(By The Associated Press) Washington, June 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt declared today that the surrender of Pantelleria was very good news and at the same time he appealed indirectly but strongly to Italy to get out of the war.

He told a press conference that the United Nations could assure the Italian people the opportunity of choosing the kind of non-Nazi, non-Fascist government they want established after Fascism has been put down, and the Germans have been driven from their territory.

It is the hope and intention of the United Nations, Mr. Roosevelt said, that Italy be restored to nationhood and take her place as a respected member of the European family of nations.

The chief executive made it obvious that he considered Mussolini and his aides responsible for the position of Italy in the war, rather than the Italian people. He said the present effects of the Anglo-American campaign against Italy was the inevitable result of the ruthless course Mussolini had followed in the past few years. In forming a military alliance with Germans, Mr. Roosevelt declared, Mussolini betrayed his own country in a struggle for personal power and aggrandizement.

Mussolini's acts were not those of the Italian people, he went on, but a succession of acts committed by the Duce's personal, Fascist regime. The people of the country, he said, are largely devoted to peace.

Mussolini's whole policy was illustrated, Mr. Roosevelt asserted by his declaration of war against France and Britain.

Harking back to the day three years ago when Italy took this step, the President recalled that he had termed it then a stab in the back.

The Allies, he said, have no choice but to pursue the war against Italy and Mussolini until they have achieved complete victory.

Only when the Germans have been driven from their territory, he said, will Italy be able to take her place as a respected member of the European family of nations.

White women and girls are to report at the high school; Negro women and girls at the Fleming street school, Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The federal government has given a carload of fresh snap beans to the city schools to be canned for the cafeteria, Supt. Rose announced today. The beans will arrive tomorrow in a refrigerator car. They will be unloaded Monday.

They would be helpful in case of a food shortage, Rose said.

Chinese Make New Progress Allied Airmen Blast Japs In Solomons And Burma

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies were officially credited today with new successes in fighting along the upper Yangtze river front as Chinese troops stormed and captured a town northeast of the main Japanese base of Lshang.

Dispatches told the Chinese occupied Wanchianchang after an all-night battle in which 300 Japanese troops were killed.

Other Chinese columns broke into a 100-mile important Japanese stronghold 90 miles northwest of Hankow, inflicting heavy casualties in street fighting.

In the southwest Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's bombers dropped 40 tons of explosives among more than 100 Japanese planes in a four-way attack on the enemy base at Rabaul, New Britain, setting 19 fires visible for 50 miles.

Little Island Capitulated Early Today

British Troops Occupied Italian Stronghold Within 22 Minutes; Surrender Removes Trouble Spot For Allied Convoy Operations In Mediterranean.

By RANIEL DE LUCE Allied Headquarters in North Africa, June 11.—(AP)—Aerial bombardment of the greatest fury the world had ever known compelled the little island fortress of Pantelleria to surrender unconditionally today, but British troops landing under the cover of naval guns had to fight 22 minutes against scattered enemy defenders.

The strategic stepping stone, some 60 miles from Sicily and 45 from Africa, was occupied at 12:23 p. m. (8:22 a. m. EWT) after a noon landing by assault forces 20 minutes after the display of white flags on Pantelleria's hills and a white cross on its air field.

The Axis garrison commander, it is believed, was unable to inform all his troops of the decision to capitulate because the actual fighting began and isolated gun posts fought on briefly.

British cruisers and destroyers hurled shells at scattered points of resistance as assault boats bore the British infantrymen ashore.

Blockade by aid and sea and a "creeping barrage" by hundreds of Allied bombers which laid waste the area about Pantelleria's harbor and town, devastated and completely destroyed reduced the enemy's defenses to pitiful weakness. (London estimated 8,000 were in the island garrison.)

Pantelleria depended partly for water on supplies from Sicily and the population was reported to have been stricken by a water famine.

It was the first time in history that an enemy island fortress gave in to an air force ultimatum for surrender. No destructive achievement in the record of the German air force matches this. The ring of fortified islands guarding southern Europe from invasion is ruptured.

ARGENTINA IS RECOGNIZED

U. S. And Great Britain Recognize New Regime

Washington, June 11.—(AP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson today said that the United States has recognized the new government of Argentina headed by President Pedro Ramirez.

Hull said at a press conference that Ambassador Norman Armour delivered the proper notice to the Argentine government at 11 a. m. today (EWT), or noon Buenos Aires time.

In reply to questions the secretary said that all the American republics which did not extend recognition to the new government yesterday probably would do so today.

He said it was understood the United States had collaborated with the other American governments over the question of recognition but that each government is acting on its own.

Anti-Strike Bill Passed By House

Washington, June 11.—(AP)—Compromise legislation to curb strikes in war industries and outlaws them in government-operated plants was passed by the House today. The Senate has yet to act.

The House action, 219 to 129, was on a conference report drafted by a Senate-House committee after the two branches disagreed on provisions of the stringent legislation, which is to remain in effect until six months after the war.

Opponents, claiming labor was being "pilloried and lynched," had sought unsuccessfully to strike out provisions requiring a 30-day notice period and a ballot of workers before a strike could be called in a war industry not operated by the government. Their fight bogged down under a standing vote of 155 to 81.

Rep. Marcantonio (Am-Labor-N.Y.) described the legislation as deliberately designed to outlaw the closed shop.

A provision written into the bill by Senate-House conferees he contended, specifically prohibits the War Labor Board from issuing closed shop or maintenance of union membership orders, a prohibition the House rejected last week.

Little Chairman For Fund Drive

Raleigh, N. C. June 11.—(AP)—The names of county chairmen to lead the national war fund campaign in this state next fall were released today by Governor Broughton, who reminded that North Carolina's quota was $1,886,681.

The fund is composed of 20 service men's and foreign relief organizations, including the U.S.O., which have joined together for the drive. The national goal is $125,000,000.

Governor Broughton is honorary chairman of the campaign; B. M. Hanes of Winston-Salem is state chairman; J. C. B. Ehringhaus of Raleigh, and R. Grady Rankin of Charlotte and Gurney P. Hood of Raleigh, assistant chairmen.

The governor said that "this will be the largest undertaking in the history of the state in voluntary fund raising."

The county chairmen include James T. Little, Pitt County.

Lay Plans To Collect Pay-As-You-Go Taxes

By GEORGE CULLEN Washington, June 11.—(AP)—The machinery for collecting 20 per cent after exemptions from the wages and salaries of all income tax payers beginning next month was set in motion today by the Treasury.

Immediately after the President signed the pay-as-you-go tax bill late yesterday orders were flashed to the internal revenue collectors throughout the country releasing millions of forms and instruction sheets for employers, who became the government's collection agents.

Although the legislation becomes effective July 1, its withholding provisions will not be felt by the majority of taxpayers until July 8 or later—July 10 for most people on a weekly basis.

This is because of a provision applying the 20 per cent withholding levy to payroll periods which begin on or after July 1.

The Treasury is reported to have prepared a comprehensive program of new levies to meet Mr. Roosevelt's request for an additional $16,000,000,000 in taxes and savings to help finance the war.

The Treasury proposals, said to have been presented to James F. Byrnes, war mobilization director, include suggestions for a spending tax, new excise levies and higher individual and corporate income taxes.

The new pay-as-you-go law grants a 75 to 100 per cent abatement on either 1942 or 1943 taxes. (Continued on Page Four)

Lamp That Don't Shine The early hours of Thursday night were shrouded in a thick darkness that could be felt in other words a fellow had to feel his way to be able to get along. There was not even a street lamp to dispel the gloom. The lamps seem fearful lest they might infringe on the right of way of the moon.

for the past two years has been a teacher in the Pitt county schools. Mr. Forrest is the son of Mrs. Hannah G. Forrest and the late William Thomas Forrest. He is now employed at the Garris-Evans Lumber Company.

Those attending the wedding were Mrs. Hannah G. Forrest, Miss Nettie Garris, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Garris, Mr. and Mrs. David Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Plato Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. G. Following the ceremony the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Moore, entertained at an informal dinner at the Proctor Hotel for the bridal party and relatives. The room was beautifully decorated, using a green and white color scheme.

Immediately following the dinner the couple left for an unannounced destination. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest will make their home in Greenville.

Our Greenville Girl Scouts are the typical college girls now. That's troops 4, 10 and 9—for they spent the night in Cotten Hall. They enjoyed playing in the college woods in the evening, then sleeping in a real college bed, and cooking breakfast out in the open. We regret that troops 3, 12 and 20 were knocked out of this fun. The rains came. Something will be planned a little later on to make up for this disappointment. They were grand sports and we appreciate their attitude regarding the sad turn of events.

Mrs. Nicholson Honored. Mrs. Don Nicholson was honored at a lovely party on Wednesday evening when Miss Jayne Taylor entertained at bridge.

The home was decorated with roses and larkspur. A corsage of pink roses designated the place of the honor guest.

Mrs. Billy Cruise, Jr., was winner of the high score prize and Mrs. Nicholson was remembered with a gift of crystal in her pattern.

The hostess served a delightful salad course.

Girl Scout Activities In Greenville

Your last chance is drawing near! The cookie sale will close Saturday morning at 12 noon. The few remaining boxes will be on sale at Blount-Harvey's. Prizes for selling the most boxes of cookies will be announced at the close of the cookie sale. Girls are requested to turn in their money before noon Saturday.

The Greenville Scouts appreciate the fine organization and work done by Mrs. Walter Harrington who has been responsible for the cookie sale.

Camp Hardee is bubbling over with enthusiasm and can hardly wait for June 30. She says for Greenville girls to hurry up their registrations—for she doesn't have so many vacancies left.

Pee-wee, Serena and Kit are lapping at the beach, just waiting to take a trip up the Pamlico—and Pappy, well, he is beside himself with joy. Come on girls, join in the fun. Let's go camping.

Our Greenville Girl Scouts are the typical college girls now. That's troops 4, 10 and 9—for they spent the night in Cotten Hall. They enjoyed playing in the college woods in the evening, then sleeping in a real college bed, and cooking breakfast out in the open. We regret that troops 3, 12 and 20 were knocked out of this fun. The rains came. Something will be planned a little later on to make up for this disappointment. They were grand sports and we appreciate their attitude regarding the sad turn of events.

Mrs. Nicholson Honored. Mrs. Don Nicholson was honored at a lovely party on Wednesday evening when Miss Jayne Taylor entertained at bridge.

Mrs. Billy Cruise, Jr., was winner of the high score prize and Mrs. Nicholson was remembered with a gift of crystal in her pattern.

The hostess served a delightful salad course.

OPINIONS BY ATTY GENERAL

Says Unemployed Can't Be Compelled To Get Jobs

Raleigh, June 11—(AP)—Attorney General Harry McMullan today ruled that municipal officials have no authority to compel unemployed persons to work during the present emergency unless they can be classified as vagrants or tramps.

Unemployed persons, who are vagrants or tramps within the meaning of sections 4459 and 4464 of the Consolidated Statutes, may be prosecuted and punished, he said.

In a digest of opinions, McMullan also issued rulings designed to clarify certain points dealing with the sale of beer and wine, laws and regulations concerning the operation of motor vehicles and others dealing with criminal law.

The digest:

A board of county commissioners has no authority to issue a license to sell beer and wine at retail to a person who is not a resident of North Carolina.

A license to sell beer and wine at retail may not be lawfully issued to an unannaturalized alien.

Municipal officials may not refuse to issue a license to sell wine and beer to an applicant because he has been convicted of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquors.

"We Are the Forces — What's Left of Us!"

Chapter 11
 THE road to Baguio left the gulf and ran level toward the foothills for a half mile and then started to climb and turn, following the course of a river that had cut a deep gorge in the mountains. In most places the cliffs on the inside of the road rose almost vertically, and on the outside dropped down steeply to the river. A retaining wall kept automobiles from plunging into the stream. Four or five times the road crossed the river on suspension bridges, and the last few miles into Baguio were a steep zigzag which had to be driven in second gear.

There were sentries and boxes of dynamite on the bridges. A few miles from Baguio a tollgate barred the road, and the conscientious gatekeeper was still collecting one dollar for admission to the national park, even with the war just over the hills. He couldn't have collected much that evening, for we saw no other cars on the road.

As we started up the road and rounded the first bend we saw a 75-mm. gun mounted on a truck equipped with wheels in front and tractor treads in the rear. It was manned by Filipino scouts. They had been fighting the Japs at Da Mortis in the morning, and a few minutes before we sighted them a dive bomber had located them and dropped three 100 pounders in the hill over their heads. We saw where the dirt and rocks had fallen into their truck.

"Those Japs are not so tough, sir," they said. "The Filipino Scouts and especially our regiment, the Twenty-sixth Cavalry, can defeat them at any time." I asked why they were not at the front. They said, "It is rather difficult to determine exactly where the front is, sir. We were ordered to withdraw to this position by our commander, Colonel Pierce."

WE DROVE up the winding road and over the zigzag and into the outskirts of Baguio. Through the pine trees we could see the wooden buildings of Camp John Hay on a near-by hill. It did not look badly damaged. There were some American army trucks drawn up at the side of the road with a few officers standing beside them. One of them had a blood-soaked handkerchief wrapped around his head. His left sleeve was cut off at the shoulder and his arm bandaged. In the twilight he looked like the drummer in The Spirit of '76.

He was Major Joseph Ganahl of Enfield Heights, Cleveland, a polo player and hunter. He and Major Williams and Major Noble and their Filipino Scouts had been fighting the Japanese advance from Vigan, down toward Lingayen, with a few mounted Japs.

"We've been fighting these fellows for the past two weeks and holding them pretty well. Day before yesterday the Japs hit us with a large force, including tanks, and we started to withdraw slowly down the coast road to the cut-off to Baguio. Last night they surrounded us. We found them holding a bridge behind us, but we shot our way across, then turned into a road to our left, away from the beach and toward the mountains. All last night they were firing at us with machine guns."

"At daylight this morning we could see their ships out there. A bunch of them landed on the beach and set up some 88-millimeter guns. We shot back and forth for quite a while with considerable damage on both sides. Finally, only one of my guns was firing and only about twelve of us were still alive and un wounded. The Japs were on the beach and on the road to the south of us, and we couldn't draw back through the mountains."

WE WERE sitting there, exposed, in the middle of the rice fields. Then their dive bombers came over, to add to the merry hell of it, and I stopped a piece of bomb and a fragment of a shell and a rifle bullet. Nothing serious, though.

"We decided our only chance was to try to fight our way out to the south. I put the survivors in the two trucks that were still running. There weren't many survivors, and most of them were wounded."

"We drove back onto the road without getting hit, and turned south. About a half mile up ahead the road passed through a cut-out in a hill, which rose to about twenty feet on each side. The Japs opened up on us from the top of the cut with machine guns."

"Our leading gun-truck was badly shot up and was limping along at only three miles an hour. The second one couldn't pass it on the narrow road."

"When we reached the cut-off we ducked low in the trucks and held our breath. Machine-gun bullets bounced down on us and a few of us got new wounds. We got through because the Japs were too stupid to drop a couple of hand grenades into our trucks. If they had been experienced soldiers we wouldn't be here."

Ganahl told me that story many weeks later in Bataan. That evening he was too exhausted to talk much.

"That night I asked him only one question. 'What happened to the rest of our northern forces?'"

He said, "Hell! WE are the northern forces, what's left of us?"

Colonel Collyer, who was one of the officers talking to Ganahl and who had just driven up from a lookout post overlooking Lingayen, told us that a few minutes before he had counted fifty-six Japanese ships off the coast. He said the main Japanese landings had been made at Bauang and at Da Mortis. We wanted to go to the lookout but had to make plans for the night.

WE DROVE on into Baguio, and it was already so dark that all we could see were wide streets and big homes surrounded by bougainvillea and other flowers, and a huge cathedral outlined against the overcast sky. I was cool for the first time in a month. We found our way to the home of Major Joaquin Garcia of the Philippine Army, who was in command at Baguio, and told him what we had seen on the way up. I asked him what was being done to stop the Japs.

"We have lost touch with Manila," he said, "and I have no recent orders. My last orders were to send four hundred recruits down to Manila to be enrolled and I am trying to get busses for them now. When they get past we will blow the bridges on both roads leading up here."

"That lower road, at least, looks like an ideal place to defend," I said. "We should be able to hold it forever with a few machine guns. The Japs can't climb over those hills."

"We should, my friend," the major answered, "if we had anything to hold it with. There were only a handful of troops under Major Moran at Camp John Hay. I have nothing but recruits. And don't overlook the Jap dive bombers. They've been swooping up and down that road all day, picking off our trucks and troops. Their dive bombers co-operate very efficiently with their infantry."

"We drove on over to the big, blacked-out Pine Hill and as we walked along the bar I immediately thought of the play Idiot's Delight. The bar and lobby were expensively and tastefully furnished and decorated, and the people sipping their cocktails in front of the fireplaces were very composed and very sure of themselves. There were about a dozen; a handsome English woman and her daughter and son-in-law; some suave, elderly people of the world-traveler type, and a doctor with a Teutonic accent and a face which made it immediately apparent why he had to leave Vienna."

They were listening disinterestedly to the Manila radio broadcast. They said, "Most of the Baguio people have gone on down to Manila. We are staying here, as we believe the Japanese will not bother to come. After all, there is nothing here for them." We didn't tell them that the Japs were only about eighteen miles away.

The manager apologized because a buffet supper was being served in place of the regular dinner. The supper was excellent, with cold turkey and goose liver, and several kinds of salad and wine, and we realized we hadn't eaten since morning.

TRADITION AND PROGRESS

We read recently of an automobile accident which had occurred because people piled too many bundles behind the back seat of their car and shut off vision through the rear window. This prevented the driver looking into the mirror above the dashboard and watching whatever was necessary for him to watch from time to time on the road behind.

Tradition is at one end and the same time a dreadful thing and a very noble thing. It is dreadful when it becomes hardened into unchanging ways of doing things. It is the disposition of certain minds only to look backward.

But there is a backward look which is necessary, if we would avoid disaster. Tradition is a fine thing if we use it to guide us helpfully in our planning for the present. The automobile driver who kept his eyes always on the mirror above the dashboard and so on the road behind, would soon plunge into disaster; but the driver who would never look into the mirror would probably meet the same fate.

NO TIME FOR EXTRAVAGANCE

Despite the new 20 per cent withholding tax that goes into effect July 1 Congress has already been advised that new forms of taxation must be found to raise an additional sixteen billion dollars. We know that prosecution of the war costs money and that victory to preserve our freedom is cheap at any price, but it seems to us that some steps should be taken to see to it that, as nearly as possible, we get a dollar's value for a dollar in our government expenditures.

IT MUST BE A COMPLETE JOB

Emil Ludwig in a statement today emphasizes that there can be no compromise with Germany and that the Allies should show no signs of being soft-hearted when the final collapse of the Axis does come. The people of the Axis nations must and will be given an opportunity to live following the war, but certainly any peace arrangements must include strict provisions that will prevent another occurrence of a world war. Unless this is done the sacrifices of the present war will be in vain. A quarter of a century ago the Allies were victorious in a "war to end all wars" and then lost the victory after the fighting on the battlefields had ended. This time let's see to it that we are "playing for keeps."

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

Washington — Capital observers feel there are some aspects of the appointment of James F. Byrnes as supreme director of the new Office of War Mobilization, the establishment of the office itself, and the naming of Fred M. Vinson as Byrnes' successor as economic stabilization director, much more significant than have been pointed out.

Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones.

Why has the President done this at this time? Certainly the home front is passing through its most important crisis. Besides, the President was never one to turn over any vital job to anybody unless he had something more important to do. The inevitable conclusion is that he does have something more important at hand and the only thing that could be it is the war effort on the battlefronts.

Some months ago, when the battle of Tunisia was just getting started the President pushed aside his war maps, locked the door against his military and naval advisers and plunged into the task of straightening out the home front.

The collapse of the Axis armies in Tunisia came much sooner than expected. War doesn't wait for home fronts to untangle. The home front had to be turned over to some one else. The natural selection was a home front war cabinet that so many had been clamoring for. With the exception of Judge Vinson, the cabinet was already at hand, already functioning. The new setup won't change things very much. Byrnes has gained some new prestige and the chances are, no matter what his wishes, he can no longer continue the "anonymous, behind-the-scenes" role that he loves so much. He also has gained some new authority, but not much. He no longer will have to operate through the commander-in-chief when he wishes to crack down on the Army and Navy for activities that disrupt the home front too much. On the other hand, he is going to have to delegate some of his old authority to Vinson — if the President, in his executive or-

(Continued from Page One) losses inflicted again on Nazi troops dug in before Smolensk and in the Sebks region northeast of Kursk. The Russians announced that their noon communique that Soviet bombers blew up a German troop train and supply depots in the Lisichansky region after infantry and artillery smashed back another German thrust probing the Soviet Donets river defenses in that sector.

A German military commentator, Lt. Gen. Kurt Dietmar hinted last night at the imminence of a new German summer offensive. "The front in the east has put on fat again," he said in a broadcast from Berlin, asserting that the German troop dispositions in Russia now offered a "platform for operations of offensive tendency."

LOSER TAKE ALL

Chapter 6 "Just me. Nobody 'cept me," old Gibbs told Ann when she asked him who else knew that Terrence spring was a fake. "Just me."

"But—why did she do it, Gibbs?" His gaze was steady. "I reckon she done it for you, Miss Ann. For you and Lydia. It were 'bout the year you was a-hankerin' after some big school and your mother wasn't 'sposed to let you go and Miss Gussie says she's got to do somethin'." So she did. She thought up the spring. He nodded his approval.

Ann was staggered. She had known her grandmother's fortunes changed with the discovery of the mineral spring but not that the mineral spring had been "discovered" by the simple expedient of inventing it.

New more than ever, she must get Terrence House herself and close it to the wealthy, idle guests who paid to bathe in and drink from a spring that didn't exist.

But until then she'd keep the spring going. She wouldn't let Grand Gussie down. She wouldn't let the town down either. For no matter what her grandmother had done she had done it grandly and Ann would preserve the legend.

She handed Gibbs a $10 bill. "When that's used up come back, Gibbs. I—I think I can give you a little more."

A little more, maybe. But how quickly the cost of minerals would deplete her small savings. When Gibbs was gone she turned to Mattilda.

"You need to be cleaned up, young lady," she said to the bird but she was too preoccupied with her own thoughts to try to give the cage a thorough washing. A fresh paper stuck through the small door at the side was more than the bird had had since Grand Gussie died.

Ann was sure of that, for no one would know to look for the hidden spring that let the cage literally fall apart for the kind of weekly cleanings her grandmother gave it.

But Ann knew. She had watched it done on several occasions. And she would do it herself when she had time to figure it out.

Now she was too distressed by the events of the last 24 hours to think of the cage.

She was not Grand Gussie's granddaughter by adoption. Neither was she heiress by will unless a will could be found. It looked as though Jerry Lane would inherit the big house by default.

Inherit the fake well, too. That was what troubled her. He'd sell the house to Mr. Baxton's clients, they'd discover the fraud and as likely as not would sue him. Then the whole secret would be out and Grand Gussie would be disgraced.

Ann couldn't let that happen. But she was letting it happen. The idea that she might appeal to Jerry's sense of fair play kept nudging its way into her consciousness but her pride rejected it. It was too much like asking favor of a conqueror.

Yet by morning she knew it was the only way open to her. She would appeal to him on a sentimental basis to let her buy Terrence House herself. If he was sympathetic she might be able to make some long time terms that a clerk's salary could eventually meet. Surely he'd be reasonable in selling her a house that by all rights should be hers in the first place.

"It's just that I'd always counted on having Terrence House for a home and I find I can't inherit it." "You admit you can't inherit it?" His formality appalled her. Yesterday he had seemed ready to meet her half way, to go more than half way if she made the right signs. But today he had retreated behind a cold exterior. "You're renouncing your claim?"

Oh, how impersonal he was, how unbending. Her face flushed at the memory of the accusation she had flung at him in Mr. Baxton's office. "The polite way for a gentleman to commit grand larceny—smart enough to hire a lawyer who did!"

Well, perhaps he had reason to resent her. Actually she had called him a thief.

"I'm not renouncing my claim," she said evenly, "because so far it seems I have none. But Terrence House means a great deal to me. Settlement." She was glad her conviction quavered. It would add conviction to the words she wanted to say. "It was my grandmother's home. I—I would like to make it my home, too."

"I didn't make the law," he said without warmth. "Then—I—I have a proposition to make to you."

"All right. Go ahead."

"If—if you do inherit it, would you be willing to let me buy it from you? Let me have it instead of strangers?"

SEEMS TO BE CLOSE RACE IN AMERICAN

Middle Standings Hop About Whether They Play Or Not

By JUDSON BAILEY (Associated Press Sports Writer)
The middle of the American League standings is as jammed as the middle of Times Square on a Saturday night.

There are four clubs that can't play a game without changing their positions, or something can't even remain idle without moving.

In two days the Detroit Tigers have dropped from third to sixth, the Chicago White Sox have risen from fifth to third, the Boston Red Sox have advanced from seventh to fifth and on Wednesday the Philadelphia Athletics took temporary possession of third place without even playing.

Jimmy Dykes' White Sox have been responsible for much of this of this disorder by winning nine of their last 12 games and parading right up the standings from seventh to their present position in third place, four games back of the New York Yankees and one and a half games behind the second place Washington Senators.

The Sox, once known for their feeble hitting, walloped the Detroit Tigers yesterday 11-5 with a 17-hit offensive that started with four runs in the first inning and finished with five in the ninth.

The Yankees meanwhile paddled the Athletics 8-2 with clusters of hits to boost Spud Chandler to his sixth victory and hand Jesse Flores, the rookie sensation who won seven successive games, his third setback in a row.

2-0 decision at Boston as Oscar Judd pitched three-hit ball for his sixth success against one defeat. Pete Fox hit the only home run of the day for the Red Sox' first score.

The last place St. Louis Browns narrowed the gap at the bottom of the standings by beating the Cleveland Indians again 2-1 in a night game and moved within two games of the seventh place Indians.

National League activity yesterday was limited to two games in which both the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers triumphed.

The Cards conquered the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-0 in a night game viewed by 13,356 fans with Lefty Metz taking charge of the show. He pitched six-hit ball, struck out nine and himself drove in the Redbirds' first two runs with a single in the second inning.

Brooklyn had to battle from behind in the ninth inning to win its game 4-3 from the Boston Braves and it was Max Macon who received credit for the victory, although Big Bobo Newsom pitched four-hit ball and fanned seven before he had to be relieved in the ninth.

Manager Leo Durocher returned to shortstop for the Dodgers for the first time since September 28, 1941 and drove in one of Brooklyn's runs with a single. Altogether Brooklyn made 14 hits, but Al Javery kept them scattered until the ninth, when he was batted out as the Dodgers bunched four singles.

Mike obeyed and as the various matchmakers turned up to watch the workouts, Walker pointed him out and asked for bids. Bellois will fight at MacArthur stadium in Brooklyn next week.

"It certainly is, Judge. Wonder how many people really realize it?"

Argentina Is ...

Asked whether he expected any change in Argentina's neutrality position in the war the secretary said that nothing of that nature had been taken up between the United States and Argentina either directly or indirectly. He added that of course the United States has had the advantage of the Argentine government's declarations of future policy. He described the decision to recognize the new Argentine government as one of the usual steps taken in such cases and somewhat of a routine nature. Asked whether the United States had acted in collaboration with the United Kingdom in its decision to recognize the United States had acted on its own initiative and added that the State Department had been in conference with the governments of other American republics.

London, June 11—(AP)—The British government recognized today the new government set up in Argentina under General Pedro Ramirez as president. An official announced that the British ambassador in Buenos Aires had been instructed to inform the Argentine government of British recognition of the administration set up after the revolt launched a week ago today. Italy and Germany, with which Argentina of all the American nations share intimate diplomatic relations already had taken steps to recognize the Argentine government.

Pantelleria ...

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied commander in chief, and Admiral Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham, head of Mediterranean naval forces, were aboard a British cruiser and personally participated in a naval bombardment of Pantelleria's harbor guns Tuesday. Enemy shells fell within 300 yards of them, it was disclosed officially.

Pantelleria's formal white-flagged surrender, effective once the Allied infantry landed, was made primarily to the Allied air force and before a single Allied soldier set foot on the rocky soil. The fall of the island—three years and one day after Italy entered the war—was announced in a special communique.

The climactic raids on Pantelleria yesterday and last night were described here as the greatest Allied air attack of the war in point of bomb tonnage dropped on a target of similar size. The island, 32 square miles in area and formed by a long dead volcano, lies 45 miles east of Cap Bon, Tunisia, about 80 miles by air south of Sicily and 220 miles by air from the toe of the Italian boot.

The special headquarters communique said: "The island of Pantelleria today surrendered and is being occupied by Allied forces. This surrender is the result of a series of continuous and intense air bombardments supported by naval bombardments. Two previous offers (summons) to surrender made to the commander were ignored."

A white flag was displayed on Hill 74 in the northern end of the island. It was announced early this morning. This information was conveyed immediately to the commander of the Allied forces on the African mainland and steps toward occupying the island were begun immediately. Many hundreds of Allied planes darkened the sky yesterday.

Thirty-seven enemy fighters were shot down in combat during the attack and two others were destroyed over the Tyrrhenian Sea, north of Sicily. From all operations, six Allied aircraft failed to return. This was the first time in the Mediterranean that air power almost alone had knocked out the enemy and it forced the surrender of an important outpost without landing of a single ground soldier.

The capitulation of Pantelleria, dazed and battered garrison came little more than seven months after AEF landing barges grounded on the beaches of French Morocco and Algeria. The movement toward the continent gave added point to a declaration by Prime Minister Churchill in the British House of Commons on Tuesday: "It is evident that amphibious operations of a peculiar complexity and hazard on a large scale are approaching."

(The Italian high command was silent on its loss. The regular Italian communique, broadcast from Rome and recorded by the Associated Press about 30 minutes before Pantelleria yielded, said the garrison, "although hammered by the pounding of about 1,000 enemy planes, again made no reply to a further request of surrender." Later broadcasts repeated that announcement.)

were frozen as of May, 1942." The labor leader heatedly told Taft that he would send the committee statistics to show that the AFL figures are correct. "Labor insists and demands," continued Green, "that the price of cost of living items be rolled back to bring wages and prices into a just and proper relationship and to assure economic stability for the duration of the war." He estimated that the $2,000,000,000 subsidy would reduce the overall cost of living by four per cent. Final economies, he added, would "far more than warrant the cost of the subsidy."

Asked by the committee for an explanation, Green said the government would save "at least $4,000,000,000 a year" and consumers $600,000,000. Phillip Murray, president of the CIO, was to follow Green to the stand to urge the $2,000,000,000 subsidy. Green and Murray presented the program to President Roosevelt eight days ago and declared later that he seemed generally receptive.

Washington, June 11—(AP)—Marine and army fighter planes shot down four Japanese Mitsubishi bombers in the southeastern Solomons Thursday, the navy reported today, and army planes attacked enemy positions at Vila in the central Solomons.

Navy Communique No. 406 said: "South Pacific (all dates East Longitude) "I. On June 10th:

The President received word this morning from General Dwight D. Eisenhower that Pantelleria, one of Italy's island bastions in the Mediterranean, had raised the white flag of surrender. Apparently surrender came because of a lack of water on the island, he said.

He thought it worth while, Mr. Roosevelt said, to point out the island had been taken without, apparently, any loss of life, although he did not know whether a landing had been made before the capitulation.

Italians called Pantelleria their Rock of Gibraltar, he said, and had done a great deal of boasting about how it dominated the narrows of the Mediterranean. Now, he said, it is in British and American hands.

The average weekly wage increase since last June 30 to March 15 was 15 per cent, Taft declared, adding: "So you can't assume that wages

The Olde Towne Inn received numerous messages of congratulation on providing a place where people may go to dine on a "sandwich and a glass of milk" or a "sumptuous dinner." "Our opening was a fine success and I want to say I appreciate it. The Olde Towne Inn is a place where an individual, a couple or a family with children will experience the comforts of home in taking their meals without the trouble of cooking them," the manager stated. "Our place is the only air-conditioned restaurant in the city. We are going to provide the best foods in a comfortable atmosphere. We invite the people of the city to visit us at any time," Mr. Wheatley said.

Complete disarmament of Germany must follow the war, Ludwig said, adding: "Leave to the Germans all that other nations have. But take away their weapons, supervise their education, and give them political guardianship, because they have shown the world they are not able to govern themselves. If you do not do that, if you continue to speak, in the Puritan sense, of the 'poor misled German people,' if you persist in trying to distinguish between Germans and Nazis, and write every day about battles against Nazis instead of Germans, then, within 20 years, your sons will sit around this oval table and write another declaration of war against Germany."
