

Little change in temperature this afternoon and tonight.

ALLIED BOMBERS SMASH AT GERMAN WAR INDUSTRIES

Ten Centers Blasted In 'Round-the-Clock' Bombing By Allied Airmen; Important Port of Naples Enveloped In Flames; Railways and Industries Destroyed

London, June 22.—(AP) Flying Fortresses flew unescorted into the Ruhr for the first time today to attack the Huls synthetic rubber plant at Recklinghausen while another formation attacked the former General Motors plant at Antwerp, a United States communique said tonight.

Twenty bombers were lost, but the fortresses shot down "a considerable number" of attacking enemy planes.

The daylight raids followed a pulverizing RAF night attack on Krefeld, an industrial city in the Ruhr. Recklinghausen is about 30 miles northeast of Krefeld.

"Bombing results were good and fires were started in both targets," the Eighth U. S. Air Force announced. The Huls plant supplies the German army with considerable buna rubber.

While the bombers were doing the heavy work, "many squadrons" of American, British, Dominion and Allied fighters carried out escorting and supporting operations, the communique said. Mitchell bombers, manned by the RAF, attacked the docks and shipping at Rotterdam.

The fighters on these operations shot down at least seven of the enemy. Four fighters were lost.

More than 700 heavy bombers raided Krefeld, making the attack one of the RAF's heaviest of the war.

The United States bombers also attacked Belgian targets. It was stated authoritatively that a large force of U. S. bombers attacked the Ruhr.

The bombing operations were supported by United States, RAF. (Continued on Page Six)

Crown Kings and Queens Tomorrow

By CHESTER WALSH An impressive 4-H Club pageant will be presented on the courthouse Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock under the direction of Miss Edna Kirby, assistant home demonstration agent, and S. C. Winchester, assistant farm agent. The court scene when the kings and queens are crowned promises to be dramatically impressive. The public is invited.

Leland Flanagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Flanagan of Farmville, will be senior king; Nell McGlohon, daughter of Mrs. Grover McGlohon of Winterville, will be senior queen.

Clay Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Morgan of Fountain, will be junior king; Janice Turnage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Turnage of Avden, will be junior queen.

Attendants will be local kings and queens from each 4-H Club.

Flower girls are Betty Lane Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Evans; Jo Ann Parks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Parks.

Crown bearers are Alice Lee Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Edwards; Jane Winchester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Winchester.

Troops Restore Order In Detroit Riot Area

By The Associated Press Detroit, June 22.—An army-enforced peace settled upon riot-torn Detroit today with the guns of the military in grim command of the areas where racial fights had spread death, terror and destruction.

Ordered by President Roosevelt in a formal proclamation to desist, and with steel-helmeted federal troops supporting his command, white and negro antagonists skulked into hiding after having caused the deaths of 23 persons, 20 of them negroes—during a calamitous day and night.

At least seven hundred persons were injured and approximately 1,300 arrested and still held this morning. Of the total under arrest police estimated about 85 per cent were negroes.

On streets where the blood of both negro and white had run, 1,100 soldiers marched in patrol to assist the state militia, state police and city police. Early today authorities said conditions were "quiet."

The troops, rolling up in trucks and jeeps and armed with rifles and machine gun, reached Cadillac Square, heart of the city, an hour before midnight. Word of their arrival spread quickly. Within 30 minutes, police said, the situation had much improved. By midnight the situation seemed under full control.

A related incident which occurred at the Fort Custer, Mich., army post last night was revealed today in a statement released by Col. Ralph Wiltamuth, post commander.

"Members of one of the Negro quartermaster battalions," the statement said, "attempted to secure arms and trucks at Fort Custer Monday night, but were promptly arrested. The men had become restless over the disturbance in Detroit and wanted to go to assist their families. Prompt action by military authorities quickly restored order. Five men were confined in the post stockade awaiting investigation."

President Roosevelt, in a proclamation from Washington, ordered that "all persons engaged in unlawful and insurrectionary proceedings" retire peacefully to their homes. He called on "all good citizens" to "uphold the laws and preserve the public peace."

At 2 a. m. (Eastern War Time) Brig. Gen. William Guthner of the sixth service command, in charge of the troops, reported no further serious trouble.

(Continued on Page Four)

ARMSTRONG GETS BRITISH AWARD

Brigadier General Frank A. Armstrong (right), of Nashville, N. C., among other U. S. Eighth Air Force members here receives the British Distinguished Flying Cross during "Bomber Night" ceremonies somewhere in England. Reading the citation is Captain H. Dawes (left).

Legion Selects Raleigh As State Headquarters

Stevens Named Commander; Waring Scores John L. Lewis

SLIGHT GAINS BY RUSSIANS

Air and Artillery Bombardments Continue

Hundreds of Children Enjoy Playground

Information About Fuel Oil Rations

Greenville Scouts Go To Camp Charles

The War Today: An analysis of the news.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By MAX HILL Our problems at home—accented recently by work stoppages and riots—are the best propaganda the Axis has to use against us.

They are doing their battles with our troops. Neither the Germans nor the Japanese have victories with which to bolster home morale.

But through our troubles at home their adroit propagandists are able to encourage the rank and file to ever more desperate efforts.

It is unfortunate that we continue to feed them ready-made criticism because in the long run the cost is going to be in American lives and materials.

Just prior to the war, a minor strike or disturbance in America was worth between one and two columns of copy in a Tokyo newspaper. The basic theme was that

PRESIDENT TO TAKE HAND IN COAL DISPUTE

Action Expected Within 48 Hours Unless Agreement Is Reached

(By The Associated Press) Washington, June 22.—Direct action by the White House was viewed today as possible within 48 hours unless the nation's 521,000 striking coal miners unexpectedly return to work before then.

Their latest walkout, the third in seven weeks, has already begun to choke the war-vital steel industry; coke production was cut in Alabama and Pennsylvania, some blast furnaces were being prepared to shut down and officials pictured the industry as close to the bottom of the bin in coal supplies.

Without presidential intervention, the only hopeful sign in the troubled coal situation was a series of conferences between Interior Secretary Ickes, government coal officials, Mines, and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers. They met yesterday, kept silent about what was discussed, and gave out only that the talks were continuing today.

Lewis and the UMW Policy Committee refused to interfere with the walkout which followed a two-weeks truce between the miners and the operators. The War Labor Board which rejected the miners' demands for underground travel pay and ordered the 1941 contract continued for two years, was represented as being just as firm in its stand.

Unquotable sources said the WLB served notice on Ickes that any understanding he reaches with Lewis must conform to the board's directive.

Besides the old contract terms, the board granted the miners an increase in vacation pay and allowed raises for equipment which would raise their daily pay about 25 cents. Underground travel pay, the board insisted, contained a "hidden" increase that would not be allowable under the hold-the-line government policy and was a matter for the courts to decide. Chairman William H. Davis said the miners, on a six-day week, could average $49.60.

Lewis said it was a "yellow dog" contract and would have nothing to do with it.

If usual procedure is followed, the WLB would certify the mine walkout to the President as a case of non-compliance, asking him to enforce its orders. This is done usually after the lapse of a few days.

Meanwhile, Secretary Ickes issued an order "freezing" the estimated 3,000,000 tons of railroad-borne soft coal in transit so it could be diverted where needed most. None of it may go to consumers having more than 10 days' supply and those less than that may apply to their railroad freight agent for aid in obtaining emergency fuel.

Rankin's Report On Tobacco Crop

The general condition of the tobacco crop, taking the east belt as a whole, is not as satisfactory as it was two weeks ago," R. C. (Bob) Rankin, sales supervisor of the Greenville tobacco market, states in an official report issued today.

"Following the extremely hot weather during the first week in June, rains fell over the entire belt, varying in intensity. Some sections received just the right amount of water and in these sections tobacco is growing and maturing satisfactorily with prospects of a good crop, but other areas had too much rain or as one grower said, 'too much in a short time,' and as a result this part of the crop doesn't look so good, especially on light land. Light land tobacco is sharpening up, turning yellow, and presents anything but a promising look. It is said that the heavy rains depleted the fertilizer supply and growers are not very optimistic over the final outcome of this tobacco.

"So far there has been practically no hail damage; however there are numerous complaints of cut, wire bud and horn worm damage. Such (Continued on Page Three)

Greenville Scouts Go To Camp Charles

Fourteen members of Boy Scout Troop No. 36, A. B. Stallworth, scoutmaster, left Greenville today for Camp Charles near Wilson. Deputy Sheriff R. W. Tyson and Scout Executive James W. Uzell accompanied them. They will remain in camp until Sunday or Monday. Troop 36 is one of the best trained Boy Scout troops here. The youngsters plan to do some intensive work while in camp.

Following is a list of the campers: Jimmy Ward, David Whichard, Jr., Bruce Skinner, R. W. Tyson, Tommy Deiner, Billy Ward, Carl Denton, Frank Deiner, Bobby Saied, Billy Tighman, Sam, Northrup, Jim Lanier, David Jones and Ray Jones. These Scouts took an active part in the recent Boy Scout camporee held near Third Street School and contributed much to the success of the outdoor adventure.

Full Fury Of Air Power Loosed On Italian Cities

Pattern For Offensive In Pacific

The appointment of Field Marshal Wavell as viceroy of India is believed to foreshadow an offensive (broken arrows) aimed directly at Japan. 1—From India through Burma; 2—From Australia and New Guinea; 3—From South Pacific island bases; and 4—By the American fleet.

Russia Issues New Appeal For Second European Front

PUSH PROBE OF NAVY OIL DEAL

House Committee Declines To Delay Investigation

Washington, June 22.—(AP)—Assistant Attorney General Norman Littell told the House Public Lands committee today that the contract between California and the Navy Department for joint operation of the Elk Hills "Calif." petroleum reserve "went beyond agreements involved in the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills oil scandal of the Harding administration."

Prominent Bankers Coming Tomorrow

Robert M. Haues, Winston-Salem banker, chairman of the United War Funds, a war time organization to coordinate the various recreation relief and other agencies, will come to Greenville tomorrow to preside at a district meeting at the Woman's Club. Guyney P. Hood, head of the state banking department, vice-chairman, and Millard Jones of Rocky Mount, district chairman and others will be with him. James T. Little of Greenville is Pitt County chairman.

The meeting here will be to outline plans for the coming drive for special war funds and to discuss means of carrying out the work in head of the state banking department and county officials will be represented at the meeting.

ODT Specialist To Spend Day In City

J. P. Hooks, representative from the Office of Defense Transportation, Raleigh, will be at the Chamber of Commerce Thursday for conferences with truck owners and others concerning their problems.

This personal service is rendered in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce. The ODT specialist will cheerfully answer questions and provide necessary information about motor truck transportation.

Fresh Eggs

That day-old Buff Orpington baby chick in the Reflector office today was hatched last night in a crate of "fresh eggs" Lonnie Stalon, poultry and egg dealer, bought from farms yesterday during one of his buying trips through the country.

While the poultryman was labeling the crates "Guaranteed Fresh Eggs" a still small voice came from the bottom layer of the crate, "Marmaduke," as Gus Stokes affectionately named the chick when he placed it under one of his setting hens, is a tooter. He had a comb and well developed spurs when hatched.

Says This Summer Is Time To Crush Hitlerite Germany

AIR ACTIVITY IN SOLOMONS

Washington, June 22.—(AP)—Air attacks on three Japanese bases in the Solomon Islands were announced today by the Navy which said also that a Mitsubishi bomber had been shot down.

Navy communique No. 421 said: "South Pacific: '1. On June 20: 'A)—During the afternoon, three Navy Wildcat (Grumman F4F) fighters intercepted and shot down a Mitsubishi bomber north of Florida Island.

"(B)—Bombs were dropped on Japanese positions at Kieta, Bougainville island, and Kahili, Buna area. Results were not observed.

"2. On June 21: "During the afternoon, Navy Dauntless (Douglas SBD) dive bombers and Avenger (Grumman TBF) torpedo bombers, escorted by Wildcat fighters, attacked Japanese installations at Munda, New Georgia island. Hits were scored on the anti-aircraft positions and several were silenced."

Munda is a Japanese air base in (Continued on Page Three)

Knox Says Preparations For Invasion Progressing

Washington, June 22.—(AP)—Navy Secretary Knox said today that preparations are moving "right along" for an Allied invasion of Europe.

Knox was asked at a press conference for comment on a new Russian insistence that an Allied army be thrown onto the German dominated continent. The Russians said that while the German army has been defeated several times during the past year and while the military situation is now generally favorable to the Allies there can be no victory without a second front.

Knox said he would make "no comment at all" on the subject of a "second front," a term that he has repeatedly avoided using. However, he said that preparations for an attack on Europe "are going forward right along."

"Obviously, we can't talk in specific terms," the Navy Secretary added, "but there has been no cessation of these activities."

Knox holds and frequently has expressed the idea that there are many fronts in the war today and that it is erroneous to call a prospective front in Europe a "second front."

In response to other questions, Knox said he knew of no Japanese interference with the movement of supplies from the United States to Russia across the Pacific.

Would Make Town Healthier Place

By CHESTER WALSH Mayor Bruce Sugg, Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Pitt county health officer, and J. T. Welch, city sanitarian, in the mayor's office today discussed at length plans for ending the support of the people of the city in making Greenville a cleaner city.

It was pointed out that stricter sanitary measures are needed during the hot months. Attention was called to the danger to the health of the city caused by open garbage cans and the dumping of garbage and other refuse on premises in the city. It was planned to call to the attention of the public the importance of keeping the city cleaner for better health, since so many physicians are in the armed forces.

Dumping of watermelon rinds and other rotting vegetables on the sidewalks is a violation of the law and offenders will be called to court for each offense, it is understood.

"This is war and we must act accordingly. Loose garbage on the sidewalks or on private premises will be abhorred by the summer and householders may avoid a visit to court by placing all garbage in closed containers," a Greenville man interested in public health, stated.

"Keeping the tall grass and weeds cut will help to eliminate mosquitoes," he added.

Knox Says Preparations For Invasion Progressing

Washington, June 22.—(AP)—Navy Secretary Knox said today that preparations are moving "right along" for an Allied invasion of Europe.

Knox was asked at a press conference for comment on a new Russian insistence that an Allied army be thrown onto the German dominated continent. The Russians said that while the German army has been defeated several times during the past year and while the military situation is now generally favorable to the Allies there can be no victory without a second front.

Knox said he would make "no comment at all" on the subject of a "second front," a term that he has repeatedly avoided using. However, he said that preparations for an attack on Europe "are going forward right along."

"Obviously, we can't talk in specific terms," the Navy Secretary added, "but there has been no cessation of these activities."

Knox holds and frequently has expressed the idea that there are many fronts in the war today and that it is erroneous to call a prospective front in Europe a "second front."

In response to other questions, Knox said he knew of no Japanese interference with the movement of

Ruhr Valley Attacked By American Fortresses Today Following Pulverizing Assaults by RAF Last Night; 44 Aircraft Lost Out Of 1,000 Plane Attack

By HAROLD V. BOYLE Allied Headquarters in North Africa, June 22.—(AP)—Twenty-five great fires, one covering an area a mile in diameter, were left blazing in the port of Naples and in the nearby air stores depot of Cancello by Allied bombers yesterday which began their attack before dawn and continued it into the afternoon.

In a similarly timed assault, British and American heavy bombers from the Middle East command raided the Italian toe cities of Reggio Calabria and San Giovanni, before dawn and again by daylight, demolishing a harbor mole and scattering destruction in the wake of Allied headquarters warnings that the air war is to be extended widely to Mussolini's factories and inland cities as well as to his ports.

Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle's twin-engine Mitchells also carried out the first medium bomber missions against the Italian mainland, and with their P-38 Lightning escorts blasted the railroad yards and other objectives at Salerno and scored 25 direct hits on railroad sidings and at Battipaglia. Both Salerno and Battipaglia are south of Naples.

British Wellington bombers, the blockbuster carriers, began the onslaught against Naples, Italy's greatest port, Sunday night with their cargoes of high explosives and incendiaries which started a number of fires.

"Then an armada of 100 Flying Fortresses picked up the task by daylight and smashed through the (Continued on Page Six)

British Wellington bombers, the blockbuster carriers, began the onslaught against Naples, Italy's greatest port, Sunday night with their cargoes of high explosives and incendiaries which started a number of fires.

"Then an armada of 100 Flying Fortresses picked up the task by daylight and smashed through the (Continued on Page Six)

British Wellington bombers, the blockbuster carriers, began the onslaught against Naples, Italy's greatest port, Sunday night with their cargoes of high explosives and incendiaries which started a number of fires.

"Then an armada of 100 Flying Fortresses picked up the task by daylight and smashed through the (Continued on Page Six)

British Wellington bombers, the blockbuster carriers, began the onslaught against Naples, Italy's greatest port, Sunday night with their cargoes of high explosives and incendiaries which started a number of fires.

"Then an armada of 100 Flying Fortresses picked up the task by daylight and smashed through the (Continued on Page Six)

British Wellington bombers, the blockbuster carriers, began the onslaught against Naples, Italy's greatest port, Sunday night with their cargoes of high explosives and incendiaries which started a number of fires.

"Then an armada of 100 Flying Fortresses picked up the task by daylight and smashed through the (Continued on Page Six)

British Wellington bombers, the blockbuster carriers, began the onslaught against Naples, Italy's greatest port, Sunday night with their cargoes of high explosives and incendiaries which started a number of fires.

"Then an armada of 100 Flying Fortresses picked up the task by daylight and smashed through the (Continued on Page Six)

British Wellington bombers, the blockbuster carriers, began the onslaught against Naples, Italy's greatest port, Sunday night with their cargoes of high explosives and incendiaries which started a number of fires.

"Then an armada of 100 Flying Fortresses picked up the task by daylight and smashed through the (Continued on Page Six)

British Wellington bombers, the blockbuster carriers, began the onslaught against Naples, Italy's greatest port, Sunday night with their cargoes of high explosives and incendiaries which started a number of fires.

"Then an armada of 100 Flying Fortresses picked up the task by daylight and smashed through the (Continued on Page Six)

British Wellington bombers, the blockbuster carriers, began the onslaught against Naples, Italy's greatest port, Sunday night with their cargoes of high explosives and incendiaries which started a number of fires.

"Then an armada of 100 Flying Fortresses picked up the task by daylight and smashed through the (Continued on Page Six)

British Wellington bombers, the blockbuster carriers, began the onslaught against Naples, Italy's greatest port, Sunday night with their cargoes of high explosives and incendiaries which started a number of fires.

"Then an armada of 100 Flying Fortresses picked up the task by daylight and smashed through the (Continued on Page Six)

British Wellington bombers, the blockbuster carriers, began the onslaught against Naples, Italy's greatest port, Sunday night with their cargoes of high explosives and incendiaries which started a number of fires.

"Then an armada of 100 Flying Fortresses picked up the task by daylight and smashed through the (Continued on Page Six)

British Wellington bombers, the blockbuster carriers, began the onslaught against Naples, Italy's greatest port, Sunday night with their cargoes of high explosives and incendiaries which started a number of fires.

"Then an armada of 100 Flying Fortresses picked up the task by daylight and smashed through the (Continued on Page Six)

Social and Personal

Shagin and Mrs. Louis S. Ficklen and daughter, Louise, are visiting Mrs. E. B. Ficklen.

Miss Charlene Moye is visiting Lt. and Mrs. Jack Moye in Columbia, S. C.

Mrs. R. C. Rutkin is in Reidsville to spend some time.

Billy Sugg has gone to Camp Seaway to spend two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greene and little daughter spent Sunday in Roanoke Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hadley of Winston-Salem, are spending this week in Greenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lee Clark of Wilmington, are visiting Mrs. Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Fleming.

Miss Bessie Raspberry of Bellairthur is visiting her sister, Mrs. George Crawford, 1611 Chestnut street.

Mrs. U. B. Williams and daughter Barbara of Fort Worth, Texas, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Jones.

Sgt. Fred Carter, now stationed at Fort Howze, Texas, is spending a brief furlough here.

Mrs. A. Wade of New Bern is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Cecil Jones.

Mrs. Sam Holmes, Beik-Tyler Co., has returned from New York and northern markets.

Mrs. W. W. Smith and sons of New Bern, are visiting Mrs. Cecil C. Jones today.

Mrs. O. B. Watson of Roanoke, Va., is spending this week with Mrs. H. G. Hasty. Mrs. Watson has a son who is in officers' training school at Camp Davis.

Miss Marie Whitehurst has returned from Wilmington where she visited her sister, Miss Isabel Whitehurst.

Social Calendar

TUESDAY
4:00 p. m.—Story hour at the Sheppard Memorial Library.
8:00 p. m.—Witha Council degree of Pochonitas meets.

THURSDAY
11:00 a. m.—Mrs. Bob Moffett will entertain at a Coca-Cola hour honoring Miss Jane Smith, guide-elect.
4:00 p. m.—Greenville chapter Greenboro College Alumnae will meet with Mrs. W. C. Harris.

6:30 p. m.—The Business and Professional Women's Club will meet at the recreation room on Fourth street.
8:00 p. m.—Junior Philathea Class of the Methodist Church meets with Mrs. Hicks Corey.

FRIDAY
6:30 p. m.—Kiwanis Club.
7:30 p. m.—Red Men meet.

8:30 p. m.—Rehearsal for the Yeargan-Smith wedding at the Eighth Street Christian Church.
9:30 p. m.—Mr. and Mrs. Lewis G. Cooper will entertain at a cake cutting honoring the Yeargan-Smith wedding party and out-of-town guests.

SATURDAY
5:30 p. m.—The marriage of Miss Jane Smith and Lt. Otis Leon Yeargan will be solemnized in Eighth Street Christian Church.
Miss Betsy Fountain of Fountain, is visiting Miss Mary Ruth Carter.

Playground Schedule.
West Greenville Playground—10 a. m. to 12 noon; 3 to 6 p. m.
Third Street Park—10 a. m. to 12 noon; 3 to 6 p. m.
Cotanche Street Park—10 a. m. to 12 noon; 3 to 6 p. m.; 7:15 to 9 p. m.; Sunday—3 to 6 p. m.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
June 22, 1903

Potatoes Items
We had it cold for the past week. Crops are on the drop. Potatoes are yet coming in and going out—prices good.

What has become of all the ice cream suppers? Have the cool nights frightened them off?
An excursion will be run from Washington to Richmond July 1. Those who wish to take a trip to the city of Richmond will have an opportunity to do so. Go boys and take your girl along.

Birth Announcement.
Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. Savage announce the birth of a son, George Thomas, on Monday, June 14, 1943, in Pitt General Hospital.

Lecture At College Tonight.
The public is invited to a lecture by Dr. Franz Polgar, on the subject of thought transference and memory feats, this evening at eight o'clock in Austin Hall.

Birthday Party.
On Saturday afternoon Jimmie Hawkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hawkins, entertained a number of friends in celebration of his tenth birthday.

Upon arrival the children were invited into the garden where lemonade and a birthday cake were served. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in play at the city park on Cotanche street.

Promoted.
Atlanta, Ga., June 22.—A Greenville Marine, Pvt. Noah L. Edwards, son of Mrs. Queenie Boyd Edwards of 113 Paris avenue, has been promoted to private first class.

He enlisted in the Marine Corps at Raleigh in October, 1942, and went through boot camp at Parris Island, S. C., before he was transferred to Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Birth Announcement.
Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Tripp announce the birth of a daughter, Jimmie Linda, on Monday, June 21, Mrs. Tripp was the former Miss Mavis Smith of Route 4, Greenville.

Returns To Hospital.
Friends of Mrs. N. A. Roebuck will regret to learn that she has returned to Taylor Hospital in Washington.

Philathea Class To Meet.
The Junior Philathea Class of the Methodist Church will meet with Mrs. Hicks Corey Thursday night at 8 o'clock. A large attendance is desired.

"MY FRIEND FLICKA" NOW A SCREEN HIT
The latest widely heralded novel to be made into a motion picture is Mary O'Hara's "My Friend Flicka," the new technicolor film which is slated to open Thursday at the Pitt Theatre.

Mary O'Hara's beloved story had one of the most unusual careers in the history of publishing. Topping the list of best sellers for many months, it also had the "sighful" distinction of being selected for reproduction in four of the nation's top-circulation magazines: Reader's Digest, Story Magazine, Red Book and Scholastic Magazine. In addition, "My Friend Flicka" was picked by the Book of the Month Club for its readers.

Swimmer Drowns
Spruce Pine, June 22.—(AP)—Joseph Edward Hejner, 12, drowned while swimming in the Toe river near his home.

Planes For Australia
Canberra, Australia, June 22.—(AP)—Prime Minister John M. Curtin declared tonight that President Roosevelt had promised Australia enough planes to increase the RAAF's strength by 60 per cent.

Harding Speaks To Rotary Club

By WYATT BROWN
The role of the college campus in the future of the world was discussed last night by Fordy Harding at the regular weekly meeting of the Rotary club. He was introduced by "Cousin" Hayward Dail, who reminded everyone that Fordy came from South Creek though Greenville usually took credit. Fordy took a few minutes before he started his speech and told about his recent class reunion at Chapel Hill.

When he left Greenville September 3, 1889 he took a buggy to the Ben Jess Wilson farm across the river (where the Northside Lumber Company has its buildings now) for there was no railroad into Greenville then. From across the river he took the train to Rocky Mount and then to Goldsboro. Since he missed the passenger train at Goldsboro he took a freight train to Raleigh. Out of 21 graduates of the class of '93 thirteen are living and eleven attended the reunion coming from all up and down the eastern states. Fordy said the class of '93 enjoyed a lively time and horse play and joking.

"Philosophy is usually considered a mysterious subject but to me philosophy is the system of cause and effect or that which brings cause and effect together," said Fordy Harding in the outset. Then with inspiring eloquence gracing the astute findings of his research into the connection of education with the accomplishments of man Fordy developed the thesis enunciated recently by Carl Adams of the East Carolina Teachers College faculty that the college campus will determine the future of the world.

Going back to the old Greek philosopher, Plato, showing his influence on the mind of his student, Aristotle, and the influence of Aristotle's wisdom on Alexander who ruled the world at one time, Fordy showed the influence of the body of existing learning passed on from the college campus to the student. "What is wisdom. It is not knowledge. Every man can have knowledge but all may not have wisdom. Wisdom is the proper application of knowledge," Fordy declared in showing the role of the college in the proper use of their store of knowledge. He called the colleges the Aristotles of today. Youth needs the colleges for they are "gigantic intellects without direction."

"I believe the philosophy of the ages will be simmered down and given to your son and your son. The armies will win a peace for the new civilization," Fordy declared in conclusion. The Rotarians were told about how the young people of the city have passed resolutions stating their position on Sunday movies during worship hours and how they are now seeking the cooperation of the adults to secure the ban of movies during the Sunday night worship period. Wyatt Brown presented the issue at the request of the club.

Guests of the club were Lois and Mary Anne Waldrop and Paratrooper Ernest Greer of Akron Ohio. Steve Wilkerson, club president, presided.

Lions' Club Enjoys Hour Of Fellowship

The Lions' Club at its weekly supper meeting at the Woman's Club last night welcomed President Frank M. Greer on his return from a Baltimore hospital much improved in health. This was the last regular meeting until the state convention to be held in Winston-Salem June 27 and 28. The retiring president presented the club with an array of flags of countries which make up Lions' International—all of them among the United Nations. Delegates to the state convention are President-elect Godfrey P. Oakley, Secretary-Treasurer-elect A. Hartwell Campbell, George A. Brown and Jimmy Smith. Alternates are Withers Harvey, Bob Lang, George Wilkerson, Billy Brown and Paul Scott.

A. C. Lochman of Charlotte was a guest of Lion F. C. Cross. Ed Batchelor, Jr., Billy Keck, representing the Christian Youths of this community, presented their views in regard to the continuation of movies during church hours on Sunday. They requested that the Lion's Club go on record as supporting their resolution. A copy was left with the club. The matter was referred to the Community Betterment Committee for study. Recommendations of this committee are to be given at the next meeting.

Traitor Denied Another Trial

Cincinnati, June 22.—(AP)—Holding "there is no reversible error on the record," the sixth S. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today for a second time denied a new trial to Max Stephan, Detroit restaurateur under sentence to be hanged July 2 for treason.

Reynolds Strike Settled Today

Winston-Salem, N. C., June 22.—(AP)—A settlement of a strike of approximately 2,000 leaf processing workers at the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company was announced here today by Robert Black of Winston-Salem, spokesman for a committee which represented the striking workers, following a conference of the committee, company officials and representatives of the U. S. Conciliation Service.

Black said the workers would all be notified to report to work tomorrow morning. Only a few showed up at the plants today, Black said. The strike began yesterday.

Held As Fake

Lieutenant Samuel S. Logan (above), USMC, of Paola, Kans., had parts of both his feet deliberately cut off by the propeller of a Jap Zero as he parachuted down in the South Pacific, according to a report from Allied Nations headquarters. (Associated Press photo from U. S. Marine Corps.)

Seven Arrested For Sabotage

Washington, June 22.—(AP)—J. Edgar Hoover announced today that seven persons had been arrested at Rochester, N. Y., on charges of sabotage in connection with allegedly faulty manufacture of incendiary bombs and hand grenades for the United States armed forces and their allies, at the Antonello Fireworks Company, Inc., Spencerport, N. Y.

Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said that the seven arrested were charged with "willfully failing to properly load the powder charge in the bombs and grenades," and it was charged that there were attempts made also to pass material previously rejected by the army inspectors.

Seek Compromise Over Subsidies

Washington, June 22.—(AP)—Possibility of a compromise settlement of the bitter congressional wrangle over subsidies shaped up in the Senate today as administration forces renewed cloakroom efforts to stave off a floor fight.

Speculation was that any agreement proposed would limit the amount and number of subsidies the government could pay out to force down food prices. Such a proposal was offered by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) but supporters of a projected $2,000,000,000 price rollback program objected that Taft's measure would authorize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to spend only $250,000,000 on subsidies in the next 12 months.

Nazi Deport Jews From Netherlands

London, June 22.—(AP)—Aneta, Netherlands news agency, said today that the last Jews in Amsterdam had been deported to Poland by the Germans, which it said completed the removal of Holland's entire Jewish population.

The news agency said that the Netherlands had approximately 180,000 persons, classified as Jews by Nazi standards at the time of the 1940 German invasion.

The mass removal was carried out on an alphabetical basis without regard to age or health, Aneta said. Many deportees were said to have died before reaching Poland, where many were hauled in cattle cars—80 to a car. Aneta said some survivors were reported executed in gas chambers.

In addition to the two pairs of shoes issued every American soldier on entering the service, three extra pairs must be available in reserve.

WGTC

TONIGHT
7:00—Fulton Lewis, Jr., MBS.
7:15—The Johnson Family, MBS.
7:30—Musical Music.
7:45—Confidentially Yours, MBS.
8:00—The Cisco Kid, MBS.
8:30—Music As You Like It.
8:55—You and Uncle Sam.
9:00—Gabriel Heatter, MBS.
9:15—Maurice Spitznagel, Orch., MBS.
9:30—The Return of Nick Carter, MBS.
10:00—News.
10:15—1100 Club.
10:30—1100 Club.
10:45—1100 Club.
11:00—News.
11:05—Sign Off.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24
7:00—News.
7:05—Yawn Patrol.
7:45—Lost and Found.
7:45—Musical Clock.
8:00—News.
8:15—Evelyn Tyner's Orch.
8:30—Morning Meditations.
8:45—Spotlight on Rhythm.
9:00—News.
9:05—Design For Wartime Living.
9:10—Local News and Announcements.
9:15—Melody Time.
9:30—Bob at the Hammond, TN.
10:00—Obituary Column of the Air.
10:05—Women in the News.
10:10—Musical Interlude.
10:15—Farmville On the Air.
10:30—Shady Valley Folks, MBS.
11:00—Stanley Dixon, MBS.
11:15—Kar! Zomar's Scrapbook, MBS.
11:30—Yankee Houseparty, MBS.
11:45—Ayden on the Air.
12:00—Hillbilly Roundup
12:10—News.
12:25—Tune Time.
12:40—Carolina Farm Features.
12:45—News and Markets.
1:00—10-2-4 Ranch.
1:15—Songs of the Islands.
1:30—Luncheon With Lopez, MBS.
1:45—Broadway Bandwagon.
2:00—Cedric Foster, MBS.
2:15—Ozie Waters, MBS.
2:30—Mutual Goes Calling, MBS.
3:00—Today's War Commentary.
3:05—Musical Interlude.
3:10—In the Woman's World.
3:15—We Met the Infantry.
3:30—Cheer Up Gang, MBS.
4:00—Walter Compton, MBS.
4:15—Uncle Sam Series.
4:30—Styles for Strings, MBS.
4:45—Requestfully Yours.
5:00—Lib and Bill, TN.
5:15—Headlines of the Army.
5:30—Highway Patrol, MBS.
5:45—Superman, MBS.
6:00—News, TN.
6:15—Babe Rhodes' Orch., MBS.
6:30—Sportscast, TN.
6:45—Sundown Serenade.
7:00—Fulton Lewis, Jr., MBS.
7:15—The Johnson Family, MBS.
7:30—Modern Airs.
7:45—Waltz Time.
8:00—Music Just For You.
8:25—You and Uncle Sam.
8:30—Take a Card, MBS.
9:00—Gabriel Heatter, MBS.
9:15—Maurice Spitznagel's Orch., MBS.
9:30—Soldiers with Wings, MBS.
10:00—News.
10:15—1100 Club.
10:30—1100 Club.
10:45—Chuck Foster's Orch., MBS.
11:00—News.
11:05—Sign Off.

Killed By Lightning

Wadesboro, June 22.—(AP)—Oscar Harrington, 58, a farmer living near Poikton, was killed yesterday by a bolt of lightning as he plowed in a field near his home.

Many Die From Quake

London, June 22.—(AP)—Bewjers reported from Istanbul today that 1,304 dead had been counted so far in the Turkish earthquake which shook Anatolia Sunday.

Try Our Want Ads

Cool! — Comfortable! — Quiet!
OUTSTANDING!
Nationally Known
PERMANENTS
At Real Savings!
$8.50 Eugene ..... $5.00
$7.50 Realistic ..... $5.00
Frederic ..... $5.00
Other ..... $2.50 to $10
Waves
MRS. JOHNSON
"Permanent Wave Specialist"
1509 Chestnut St. Dial 2610

We Close Wednesdays at 12:30

Wednesday Morning SPECIALS

72x99 and 81x99

Seamless Bed Sheets

Double and twin bed size. Snow White, good quality royal countess sheets for Wednesday morning only —

$1.15

Limit 4 to Customer

45x38 1/2

Crestwood Pillow Cases

Large size, fine quality muslin pillow cases. Our regular price 43c Wednesday morning only —

35c

3 For $1.00
Limit 6 to Customer

LADIES HOSE

Ladies fine quality rayon mesh hosiery. 300 needle construction. All newest summer shades and perfect quality.

Wednesday Only
2 Pair For
$1.00

Try Our Want Ads

Cool! — Comfortable! — Quiet!
OUTSTANDING!
Nationally Known
PERMANENTS
At Real Savings!
$8.50 Eugene ..... $5.00
$7.50 Realistic ..... $5.00
Frederic ..... $5.00
Other ..... $2.50 to $10
Waves
MRS. JOHNSON
"Permanent Wave Specialist"
1509 Chestnut St. Dial 2610

Blount-Harvey

SEE OUR SPECIALS

For
Wednesday Morning

PURSES

$1.00 to $3.95

DRESSES

$2.95—$3.95—$4.95

See These And Save
Wednesday Morning

WILLIAMS'

"The Ladies Store"

BE WITH US AGAIN THURSDAY NIGHT

JUNE 24

For a Delicious "Chicken Dinner"
Consisting of:

- Delicious Milk Fed Fried Chicken
- Cream Potatoes
- Hot Biscuits and Hot Rolls
- Green Peas
- Chocolate Cream Pies
- Ice Tea or Hot Coffee

All For 50c

OLDE TOWNE INN

Greenville's Only "Air Conditioned Restaurant"
Not Aircooled

Remember — Thursday Night — June 24

New Shipment

COOL SUMMER

DRESSES

to make you look and feel fresh no matter what the temperature.

Sheers—Bembergs—Eyelets
Come In And Let Us Show You

C. Heber Forbes

GENERAL — Brig. Gen. David A. D. Ogden, commander of an Army Engineer Amphibian unit, watches maneuvers of his landing boat fleet from the roped stern of a vessel.

AGREEMENT IN FRENCH CRISIS

Giraud and De Gaulle To Command Own Forces

Algiers, June 22—(AP)—Surmounting the greatest crisis in its short history, the French Committee of National Liberation agreed today for Generals Henri Giraud and Charles De Gaulle to remain in command of their respective armed forces while appointing a subcommittee which ultimately might unify all French forces.

A subcommittee of eight members, including De Gaulle and Giraud, is to be charged with the responsibility of eventually merging the two forces, it was said.

The plan answered the stipulation disclosed to have been made by the United States and Great Britain that Gen. Giraud remain as the supreme authority over the French military establishment in North Africa, a vital base for Allied operations.

The committee, which took nearly three hours to reach its decision this afternoon, now is expected to divert its attention to less controversial issues. It is to meet again Friday.

De Gaulle and Giraud were reported to have shaken hands heartily after the committee's agreement.

Informed sources said the United States and Britain had informed both Gen. Charles De Gaulle and Gen. Giraud that Giraud must retain full command of the French armed forces at least as long as French Africa remained a base of United Nations military operations.

The intervention, it was said, stemmed from the satisfaction of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's high command with Gen. Giraud's performance in getting a substantial French fighting force into the field in Tunisia early in the campaign and maintaining it there as an effective combat arm despite severe shortages of equipment.

Air Activity . . .

(Continued from Page One)

The central Solomons northwest of Guadalcanal and Kieta and Kahili are operations centers in the northwestern end of the island chain. All have been hit frequently by American bombers, and the attacks on Munda have been so heavy and sustained that the Japanese have been unable to conduct effective air operations from there.

Old Glory is believed to have been first raised at Portsmouth, N. H., on July 4, 1777, where John Paul Jones was preparing to sail on the "Ranger."

They Call It Pacific

by CLARK LEE

A Night With the 31st U. S. Infantry

Chapter 20

ON ONE of my many trips to Bataan, I made arrangements to go up to the front lines at night to visit the 31st Infantry. I found my way to the advance headquarters, located in a sand-bagged dugout on one of the side streets of Pilar. The commander was a major in the army reserve, who told me he had been a Houston, Texas, school teacher before he was called to active duty some months before the war started.

About 10 P.M. a young Filipino officer pushed aside the burlap bags at the entrance and came down the steps into the dugout. He was rubbing the sleep from his eyes.

"Third Lieutenant Gonzales reporting for duty, sir," he said. The major told him he was to drive up to Abucay Hacienda and was to take a passenger along. "You probably won't get any shells," he said, "but watch out. Their snipers have been working around here this afternoon and all the way up the road to the front. They are shooting from the trees."

Gonzales stumbled out into the darkness and I went after him, tripping several times on the roots of the big trees under which the dugout was located. The lieutenant found his car parked in an open space between two dirt huts across the street. He awakened the driver, who was in civilian clothes. Gonzales explained to me that the driver spoke a few words of English, a few sentences of Spanish, and for the rest talked to himself in some obscure dialect.

WE HAD trouble starting the ancient Chevrolet sedan. Finally it kicked over on three of its four cylinders, stuttering like an erratic machine gun. It had no muffler and the sound could be heard for miles around. The windows would not close. I had no jacket over my shirt and was shivering in the cold air.

We chug-chugged out onto the main road and headed north toward the front. We had no lights, but this driver could see perfectly in the dark. He pulled up at the side of the road to let some big trucks pass us in the opposite direction. They were towing five or six 155 guns on trailers. The country was flat and we could see the guns outlined against Manila Bay, which was a lighter expanse against the darkness of the night. Off in the distance between us and the front we could see the flicker of numerous fires along the road.

"Hey, What's up here?" I asked Gonzales. "Why are those guns going away from the front?" "They move every night," the lieutenant answered. "That is to trick the Japs who have spotted their positions the previous day. I have never been back there so far before. Maybe our front line is moving back, or the Japanese have broken through."

Just at this minute there was a tremendous sharp boom, which seemed to break right over our heads. It was followed by another and another. We realized it was shell-firing over us, but we didn't know if they were ours or Jap. We drove past the shadowy buildings of Abucay to a point beyond the schoolhouse and then turned off into a narrow side road through the fields. A short distance over to our right the sky was full of fire from machine guns. Some of them seemed to be hitting around us. "That is the front, sir," Gonzales said. "There was a line of low trees—ideal for snipers—along the road, which climbed gently uphill toward the distant, dim slope of Mt. Natib. It was pitch black but the driver only slowed down a little, shifting to second, and kept on. We drove for about three miles up the slope and came to a spot where the road leveled off. "We are almost there," said Gonzales.

JUST as he said it there was a sudden outburst of shellfire from somewhere near by. After my baptism of shelling the day before I didn't like the sound of it. We stopped the car and got out, ready to drop beside an embankment along the roadside. The shells seemed to be bursting over a ridge just up ahead of us. Finally we decided they weren't aimed at the road, and drove on up for a few hundred yards. "This is where we start to walk," the lieutenant told me. "Too bad you haven't got a steel helmet."

We stumbled on up the road, not daring to use even the lieutenant's blacked-out flashlight, and felt our way along a path which circled down through a clump of trees. I kept my hand on Gonzales' shoulder so as not to lose him. After we had inched our way along for a couple of hundred yards we heard a challenge:

"Hi! Who goes there?" We identified ourselves and the sentry led us across a wooden bridge, through a grassy clearing and to a tent pitched against the hillside. I introduced myself to General Lough, U. S. Army, and to General Lim, the first Filipino to graduate from West Point. Traces were streaking across the sky above the hollow in the hills which sheltered us, and the shells were still cracking near by.

"YOU picked a hell of a time to come up," General Lough said. "I knew you AP reporters got around, but I never expected to meet one here." I could see that he was wearing a bathrobe over his uniform. He explained that the 31st had been attempting for five days to regain a half-mile gap in our front line. With heavy losses they had finally recovered all but 150 yards. Two hours before my arrival the Japs had made their first night attack, hitting the 31st's lines after creeping undetected to within thirty yards of our outposts.

"We finally stopped them with machine guns. The pressure seems to be off just now," General Lim interposed. "That is our artillery you hear, firing just ahead of our front-line positions."

I stayed there for a couple of hours, getting the story of the 31st Infantry, the first and only American infantry regiment to fight the Japanese in the Philippines. A field telephone connected headquarters with the front lines, and twice while I was there the outposts reported new Japanese attacks. On the second thrust a party estimated at fifty to one hundred Japs broke through our front line and circled around onto the road behind us.

JUST after we received that news, Lieutenant Gonzales said to General Lough, "Sir, I must return now to headquarters to report the situation here."

"Okay," the general said, "but keep your eyes open going down that road. The Japs that broke through have probably taken the trees or dug in along the embankment. Don't stop for anything until you hit the main road."

I shook hands with Lough and with Lim and we drove on down the road through the igly blackness and after a short distance we heard a challenge. It was from a tank parked by the roadside—an American tank.

One of the tank crews shouted a warning: "Some Jap snipers broke through and are on this road. We are looking for them but haven't found them yet. Don't stop for anything until you hit the main road."

WE TOLD the chauffeur to try to run over the tree. The bumper scraped and jammed and we saw we couldn't make it. There was nothing to do but climb out of the car and move it. "Wait until I count three," I said, "then all jump out, swing the tree off to the left, hop back in, and get the hell out of here."

It couldn't have taken us more than twenty seconds to jump out, shove the tree aside, and run back to the car. Every minute I expected a flock of bullets in my back, but not a shot was fired. I still don't know how that tree got on the road. It might have been knocked flat by shellfire, or the Japs who placed it there may have been driven away before we arrived. We rode on back to headquarters at Pilar and pulled up outside the dugout.

Gonzales said to the chauffeur, "That's all for tonight. You can park here." Almost immediately the chauffeur was sound asleep.

means inflicting serious damage to our common cause.

"To delay a second front in Europe against Fascist Germany means to protract the war, which means a colossal increase in victims."

"On the other hand, the organization of a second front in Europe this year would bring about a quick termination of the war and consequently a colossal decrease of victims on the side of the anti-Hitler coalition."

Legion Selects . . .

(Continued from Page One)

er of Lenoir, vice president; Mrs. N. L. Alocree of Rocky Mount, chaplain, Miss Novella Leonard of Raleigh, historian, and Mrs. G. B. Yelton, national committeewoman.

The department voted to establish a permanent headquarters at Raleigh.

The action was taken upon recommendation of a committee headed by R. Dave Hall of Belmont, past state commander.

In the past state headquarters has been maintained in the home town of the department commander, necessitating a change from year to year.

National Commander Roane Waring appealed for nationwide and all-out support of the war effort in a speech in which he also criticized John L. Lewis severely for developments in the coal situation.

"We would handle Lewis," he declared, "and then, and then only, will the labor situation in this country be settled."

Speaking of the future, Waring declared, "when we write the peace, it will be a dictated peace—not a negotiated peace."

The United Nations, he asserted, "must not only remove the leaders of Germany, Italy, and Japan but must utterly destroy forever their ideologies, and before that is done our casualties, now already 90,000 will be ten times greater."

Bankers' Secretary Raleigh, June 22—(AP)—LeRoy Lewis, professor of speech at Duke University since 1935, has been elected secretary of the North Carolina Bankers' Association, succeeding Edward A. Wayne, who resigned to become vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond.

Would Disband Army Gradually

Columbus, O., June 22—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national Selective Service Director, suggested today that release of eight to 10 million men from the armed services only as they are needed in business and industry might "help relieve the pressure of possible post-war unemployment."

Speaking before the annual governors' conference, Hershey said that mustering out of men at a rate comparable with mobilization, or as they become needed in civilian jobs, would help to ease any strain after the conflict ends.

AND REMOVALS

WE WENT on down the road fairly fast and finally came to the level portion. The main road was only about a half mile ahead. Suddenly the driver stepped on the brakes so hard that we were thrown against the front seat.

Our front wheels were within a few inches of a tree which had fallen squarely across the road. There were trees on both sides and it was impossible to go around.

Santa Maria and all the saints," Gonzales said, "it looks like we have run into an ambush!" I was wishing to Heaven that I'd brought a tommy gun along instead of a notebook.

WE TOLD the chauffeur to try to run over the tree. The bumper scraped and jammed and we saw we couldn't make it. There was nothing to do but climb out of the car and move it. "Wait until I count three," I said, "then all jump out, swing the tree off to the left, hop back in, and get the hell out of here."

It couldn't have taken us more than twenty seconds to jump out, shove the tree aside, and run back to the car. Every minute I expected a flock of bullets in my back, but not a shot was fired. I still don't know how that tree got on the road. It might have been knocked flat by shellfire, or the Japs who placed it there may have been driven away before we arrived. We rode on back to headquarters at Pilar and pulled up outside the dugout.

Gonzales said to the chauffeur, "That's all for tonight. You can park here." Almost immediately the chauffeur was sound asleep.

(Copyright 1943 by Clark Lee; The Viking Press.)

COLORED NEWS

COLORED NEWS JC

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our many friends for their kindness and sympathy shown during the death of our sister, Icelon Thompson, daughter of Mrs. Cherry Carney.

The Family.

New Chinese Gains

Chungking, June 22—(AP)—The Chinese high command announced tonight the capture of a number of strategic points in the outer defenses of Owchikow, near the Yangtze river 40 miles south of Shasi, and said more than 200 Japanese were about it. It means anything to you personally? Then dig down and buy more and more War Bonds.

For Freedom's Side

killed in the advance.

Owchikow, also known as Lotus Pond inlet, is one of the last important Japanese-held strongholds south of the Yangtze and west of Tungting lake.

Try Our Want Ad

If you like MILD cheese flavor here's the kind to get

● Velveeta spreads like butter... slices when chilled... melts and toasts to perfection. Delicious! Contains milk protein, milk minerals, vitamin A and vitamin G.

THE CHEESE FOOD THAT'S DIGESTIBLE AS MILK ITSELF

MOTHER NATURE Wrote the Recipe for This Bread!

IT'S CHOCK-FULL OF NATURAL FLAVOR.

Three-quarters of bread's natural flavor is concentrated in the life germ of the wheat—and lost in the ordinary milling process!

You get all of that flavor in this different white bread, made from a different white flour in which the vital life germ is retained. Also contains important Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, E, and G, plus irradiated "Sunshine" Vitamin "D."

Try ALPHABET Bread tomorrow... and get the flavor-surprise of your life!

YOU CAN See AND Taste THE DIFFERENCE

MRS. MORTON'S BAKERY

Phone 4021

Retail Store 314 Evans Street

Sport Shirts

- Cool • Comfortable
- Smart • Serviceable

For real summer comfort, for practicality, for wear everywhere, these sport shirts are important investments. Several styles, choice of colors.

$2.95

Careful Tailoring, Large Pockets, Matching Buttons, Long or Short Sleeves.

MEN'S SLAX $3.95 up

EFIRD'S

Department Store

"Sells It For Less"

422 Evans St. Greenville, N. C.

1941 1943

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

TODAY'S Bus Traveler is a DIFFERENT Man!

He's a more serious traveler today — war-work-bound, for shipyard or factory, on important business to help win this war.

Gone are the days of travel for fun. Vacation togs are forgotten. With no time to waste. America is working — producing the tools of war.

Vacation travel will be here again some day... with it will come many new travel comforts and ideas... features that will make travel more pleasant for everyone.

Transporting man-power where it's needed and when it's needed is TRAILWAYS job today. But this enormous volume of wartime bus travel is taxing facilities to capacity.

That's why buses are crowded! So, when you DO travel remember this, and — plan your trip ahead.

CAROLINA TRAILWAYS

WITH US AS WITH YOU. UNCLE SAM COMES FIRST

Rankin's Report . . .

(Continued from page one)

complaints are almost general. There was some drowned and fopped tobacco following the rainy days, but the most of this will probably come out, developing into lighter leaf not so good in quality. Semi-cloudy weather immediately after the rainy spell limited damage of this nature. Ten days or more of very hot weather has brought tobacco to a stage where showers or light rains would be welcome.

"The portion of the crop laid by varies. Growers in Halifax, Hertford, and adjoining counties have laid by from 10 to 15 per cent of their crop. In Duplin and Onslow, some have completed 50 to 60 of this part of their crop cultivation.

"Several barns of tobacco were housed in Pitt county June 21 but it will be July 5 before any great amount of curing is done. Labor during the housing season may prove to be a problem. Labor is scarce and indifferent, especially in areas near government projects. Swapping help among neighbors will solve this problem for many, but if the crop comes in as fast as many expect it to, there is danger of some of it being lost in the field. Europe in 1943, to be late with it,

Russia Issues . . .

(Continued on Page Four)

third summer offensive—the 1942 drive was begun on June 11—and reports that he is moving substantial reinforcements into France.

He led some observers to predict that he has abandoned hope of knocking the Soviet union out of the war.

The special communique said that while the Red army has been strengthened with hundreds of new factories, German industry is powerless to replace its losses.

"Our Allies are increasingly helping the Soviet people with material," it said, and declared the Soviet alliances with the United States and Great Britain "have proved their strength during this year."

In its reference to a second front the announcement said:

"Absence of a second front in Europe saved Hitlerite Germany from defeat in 1942. As is known the Hitlerites used this breathing space for a new wide offensive against the Soviet Union in the summer and autumn of last year."

"To miss the favorable conditions which have been created now for many expect it to, there is danger of some of it being lost in the field. Europe in 1943, to be late with it,

1/2 PRICE

BELK-TYLER CO.

Greenville North Carolina

The Daily Reflector

Every Afternoon Except Sunday
Established 1893
DAVID J. WHIGHAM, Jr.
Owner and Publisher
DIAL 3358

Entered at the Post Office at Greenville, N. C., as second class mail matter.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
(Payable in Advance)

One Week	15
One Month	1.50
Three Months	4.50
Six Months	8.00
One Year	15.00

MEMBER ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited to this paper and also the local news published herein. All right of publication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

NATIONAL ADVERTISING
REPRESENTATIVES
Thomas F. Clark Co. Inc., New York, Chicago, Atlanta.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

HOW TO DEVELOP ORIGINALITY

Robert Louis Stevenson is said to have developed his remarkable literary style by copying the styles of scores of distinguished authors. For some weeks he would try audaciously every day to put what he had to say into the form used, perhaps, by Cicero or Spenser. Then again he would copy Voltaire and Tolstoy. Next he would choose some of the literary men of his own day and try to write in such fashion that a critic could not distinguish between his writings and the writings of these his contemporaries.

Raphael did the same thing in art. He never saw anything in the technique of any artist that he did not try to copy the technique absolutely.

The result both in the case of Raphael and Stevenson was not that they became mere copiers of others. Out of their slavish attempt to incorporate into their own work the best they found in the work of original. No one has ever painted just like Raphael, and no one has ever had literary style just like Stevenson. Yet the art of these men was the result of diligent attempts to copy the best they encountered in men everywhere.

If we are not afraid to learn, the whole world will come forth gladly and lay its treasures at our feet. Everyone has something to teach us, and the man with the sharpest ears and eyes develops the most pronounced originality.

All Rights Reserved—Babson Newspaper Syndicate

IT MIGHT WORK

There is word from Washington that talks of revolt against the Democratic National Committee on the part of some of the southern states is taken lightly by the party heads, for they realize that in the end "southern states will follow their custom of voting the Democratic ticket regardless."

That is our notion, is just how the national organization feels about the Solid South and it is because of that attitude on the part of the party that the south never receives any consideration either from Democratic or Republican administrations. The Democrats view the south as a certainty and the Republicans apparently feel there is little use to make an effort to break through the prejudices that have caused the south to remain in the Democratic fold all these years.

Maybe if the south did a little thinking and voting on its own initiative instead of blindly following the dictates of the national organization we would soon find ourselves removed from the position of being considered the nation's "Number One Problem."

WHAT WILL THE PRESIDENT DO?

It now appears that the President will take a hand in the efforts to settle the coal strike and get the miners back to work, but one wonders what form his action will take and what success he will have.

For months and months

those who are running our affairs knew that the coal contracts would expire in April and there would be trouble, but nothing was done to prevent it until it actually occurred. Since that time there have been strikes and truces with settlement no nearer than before, and with the war effort lagging because of the failure of the coal mines.

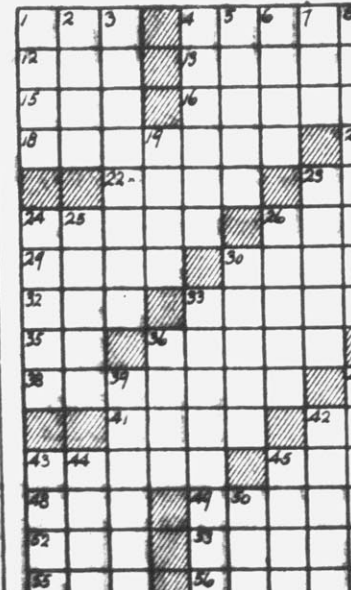

To date the coal argument has been a series of victories for John L. Lewis and we wonder if now the President is going to force a real showdown or if again there will be a sidestepping of the real issues and the quarrel patched up, with the miners returning to work temporarily only to walk out again later and throw the whole war production program into chaos.

We believe the people of our country are tired of the pussyfooting attitude of the administration and want to see some firm and definite action taken now to put this country on a war footing and keep it there until the victory has been won.

An opossum is one-half inch long at birth.

Crossword Puzzle

- ACROSS
- Dance step
  - Exhausted
  - Edged
  - Implement
  - Bummit
  - Roman goddess
  - Habituation
  - Era
  - Skull
  - Walking stick
  - Novel
  - Artlessness
  - Seasons
  - Hoarfrost
  - Triangular insert
  - Sap spout
  - Burnt sugar
  - Seep
  - Interlaced
  - Note of the wails
- DOWN
- Decline
  - Vigor
  - Like
  - Unkilt
  - Walt for
  - Distant
  - Words of a certain gait
  - Roman road
  - Sour
  - Ruminant animal
  - Using more words than necessary
  - Goddeas of peace
  - Flowed
  - Thing; law
  - Enamiation
  - Beverage

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STENNETT

Washington—When the Connally-Smith anti-strike legislation was laid on the President's desk, Mr. Roosevelt was "on the spot" as he has been few times before in the 10 years he has been in the White House.

There were only three possibilities: (1) to veto the measure; (2) to sign it; and (3) to allow it to become law after ten days, without signature. For all practical and political purposes, the last two could be grouped together, with the split-hair exception that in the latter case the President would be dodging the issue by allowing to become a law a bill for which he had no enthusiasm.

The President and his advisers must have seen that signing the bill would alienate labor. The A.F.L. through William Green and C. I. O. through Philip Murray protested it and appealed for a veto. A number of other independent unions joined in the parade.

To antagonize this great bloc of voters meant to jeopardize the fourth term or at least control of the 1944 ballots to such an extent that all the President's plans for prosecution of the war or promulgation of the Four Freedoms peace might be sidetracked in a new and hostile administration.

On the other hand, veto of the bill meant that it would be immediately interpreted politically as a fourth term bid. Commentators would figure that the President was afraid of labor.

To veto the measure meant several things more. It meant alienation of the votes in the purely agricultural states (many of them in the South and Southwest where political wounds are just now being healed); and going against the expressed opinions of many youngsters in the services. Some of the boys in uniform have publicly expressed dissatisfaction with the attitude of labor. They think that something must be done to curb strikes that interfere with the flow of vital war materials.

Furthermore, to veto the bill or sign it meant to play right into the hands of some of the more politically-minded members of Congress. If they had any sense of humor left about the very unfunny spot they were placed in, the President and his advisers must have gotten a chuckle out of scanning the names of 100 Democrats and 131 Republicans who voted for the bill in the House and the 3 Senators who cast their "yeas." Here were friends and foes alike and among the foes a good many who must have had a wicked glint in their eyes and a "How are you going to wriggle out of this, Mr. President," on their tongues.

Whether you are Republican or Democrat pro or anti-New Deal, you might well give a moment to pitying the poor President in a spot like that.

Troops Restore . . .

(Continued from Page One)

"The troops have met with no violence and have used no violence," General Guthner said.

General Guthner assigned to Detroit by Maj. Gen. H. S. Auerd, commanding officer of the Sixth Service Command, disclosed that more troops were being held in reserve and that soldier forces would be amplified today so that they could patrol the public transportation lines. Fights on street cars had become so extensive that some crew men refused to work. Mayor Edward J. Jeffries ordered all transport employees to return to the job today, however.

Federal troops came to the city upon Gov. Harry F. Kelly's request as rioting swelled to new peaks late last night with both mob fights and individual battles so numerous that police were virtually helpless.

In the nearly 24 hours of almost constant fighting, automobiles were upset and set afire, stores were pillaged, and windows wantonly smashed. One brickbat killed a negro woman.

Loot was extensive and many arrests were made for theft in the hospitals, nurses and doctors were hard-pressed to take care of the injured brought there in ambulances with sirens screaming and in private cars.

Climaxing three years of unrest between negro and white residents, the rioting began about midnight Sunday. A fight on the bridge over the Detroit river to famous Belle Isle, amusement spot, seemingly minor at first, spread ultimately into a bedlam.

There had been previous flareups in this smoldering situation aggravated in recent months by housing shortages and heavy influx of war workers from other sections of the country.

Knox Says . . .

(Continued from Page One)

get in with submarines any time but agreed that a garrison the size of that at Kiska could hardly be maintained permanently by submarine-borne supplies alone. He added that the garrison would feel the pinch particularly in ammunition.

Knox said the nation's aircraft carrier construction program is coming along very satisfactorily, adding that by the end of this year the nation will have, in carriers of all types, several times the number of such vessels in the Navy as at the end of 1941. As that time there were seven carriers in serv-

LOSER TAKE ALL

By Adelaide Hazeltine

Chapter 15

"Marry me?" Ann gasped in answer to Bert's question. "Why—why I'm not in love with you."

He leaned toward her. "You're in love with Lant."

She fought down the quick flush which came to her cheeks. "I'm not in love with anybody."

"Not in love with anybody? The words beat themselves into a ditty as she evaded any further attempts of Bert to make her commit herself. She supposed the food they ate was good. She could think only of Bert's intense face demanding that she marry him and her own insistent explanation that her heart was her own."

But it wasn't. It would never be her own again. A pair of clear blue eyes had claimed it forever. Claimed it and tossed it away like so much chaff on a summer's breeze. Claimed it and crushed it! For hadn't Jerry found the will only to withhold it? Hadn't he tried to be friendly only to stab her in the back?

And she moaned about love!

She spent Sunday morning at the trailer camp. Mrs. Mason was well past the crisis and Mr. Mason urged Ann to go home saying he could take care of his wife until Monday and by then she might be able to do for herself.

She jumped up with his stumbling words of gratitude fresh and warm in her memory.

At Terrence House she fussed over Matilda, tried tentatively to find the latch which allowed the cage to drop apart. Found instead a disturbing new thought.

Her appeal to Bert to help her find the will had netted exactly nothing. He had been clever enough to steer the conversation away from it and to the subject of love. Looking back on the evening now Ann realized it had been unsatisfactory for them both.

But that didn't lessen her determination to continue her efforts to get the will. If Bert weren't willing to risk looking in Jerry's room she knew a man who would be.

She jumped up, hurried down the hall and out the rear door. She went directly to the bluff, detouring enough to confuse any one who might be watching her.

Even though Gibbs had shown her the cave opening she had trouble locating it again. But at last she saw the screen of bushes and the entrance behind the big Boulder. She surprised Gibbs in the heater room.

"It's you, Miss Ann!" His face lighted with pleasure. "I ain't seen you for days."

"I've been busy." She told him briefly of her visit to the Masons and then about the will.

"I saw Jerry find it," she concluded. "Though it's possible he has destroyed it or carries it with him all the time. I want to go over his room to see if I can't find it. You did say something about being willing to help me?"

"Yes'm."

"I thought maybe you'd search his room for me."

"Go up there and see if he ain't got the will?"

"Yes. Look in his traveling bags or in his clothes."

Gibbs nodded with enthusiasm. "I'll sure do it, Miss Ann. This here very night, I'll look it over."

"Oh, thank you! I knew you'd help if you could."

"We got to catch a time when he ain't there."

"I'd thought of that. Right after dinner would be the best. He usually sits around the lobby for an hour or so."

"That's when I'll do it."

Suddenly it occurred to Ann she could make sure that Jerry didn't bother Gibbs.

"I have an idea," she said quickly. "After dinner I'll say I have something important to tell him and keep him occupied long enough for you to go through everything."

"That's it!" He gave her a toothless grin. "You're a good'un, Miss Ann. You know how to do it."

She took almost fanatical pains with her appearance that night before she went down for dinner. She couldn't decide whether to wear the gold jersey or the checked taffeta with the crimson bolero. She decided on the bolero and chose a less gossamer ribbon tamps to go with it. She brushed her brown hair until it glistened with life and dabbed her favorite perfume on the lobes of her ears.

She would look her most desirable, all right. She had to.

But when at last she was alone on the terrace with Jerry she wasn't so sure she had been wise. There was a new admiration in his eyes and a softening of the stern line he'd become accustomed to wearing on his lips.

"Well?" he said and the warmth in his voice both encouraged and alarmed her.

He had come willingly enough when she said she wanted to see him but now facing him, with the moonlight adding a touch of romance to the scene that was supposed to be a trick. Ann knew she must play her cards carefully.

"Well?" he repeated. Then added, "When a good looking girl says she has something on her mind, I'm always interested."

"Is that meant to be a compliment, Mr. Lane?" She was sparring for time and she had a feeling that Jerry knew it.

"The name is Jerry," he said evenly. "Or is this a formal occasion?"

"I—" she faltered. "It's a— a lovely night, isn't it?"

"Is it? There was a challenge in his tone. A challenge and was it a hope? "That's not what you brought me out here to say, is it?"

"I— I panic seized her. What could she say to him? "I tried to do— to apologize for last night."

To the Continued

the Court House door in Pitt County, North Carolina on Tuesday, the 22nd day of June, 1943 at 12 o'clock, noon the following personal property of the estate of Ben Edwards, to-wit: One 1939 Model Mercury Ford Car.

One Johnson Outboard Motor. One Wood-burning Heating Stove. One Small lot of Fishing Tackle and equipment.

Terms of sale, cash. This the 1st day of June, 1943.

R. B. GREENE, Executor Estate of Ben Edwards. Harding & Lee, Attys. June 4-1w-2wk.

NOTICE OF SUMMONS

North Carolina vs. The Society of Christ Our King, Inc. The defendant, The Society of Christ Our King, Inc., will hereby take notice that a civil action entitled as above has been instituted in the Superior Court of Pitt County for the purpose of foreclosing the lien of taxes and tax sale certificates for the years 1937, 1938, 1939, 1940 and 1941 held by the City of Greenville in the total amount of $760.48, on the property located on Ford Street, and three lots on North side of 4th street, Greenville, N. C. and described in the complaint which has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court herein.

And the defendant will further take notice that it is required to be and appear at the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County, N. C. within thirty days after the service of this summons, and either answer or demur to the complaint filed herein, or the relief therein demanded will be granted.

Witness my hand this the 25th day of May, 1943.

E. F. TUCKER, asst. Clerk Superior Court May 25-1-w-4wks.

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE

Having qualified as administrators of the estate of C. J. Harris, Sr., deceased, late of Pitt County, North Carolina, this is to notify all persons having claims against the estate of the said deceased, to exhibit them to the undersigned on or before the 14th day of June, 1944, or this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery. All persons indebted to said estate will please make immediate payment.

This the 14th day of June, 1943.

FLOYD P. HARRIS, RFD 4, Greenville, N. C., and DAISY H. MOORE, 1200 Evans St., Greenville. Administrators on the Estate of C. J. Harris, Sr., deceased. June 15-1w-6wk.

SALE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY OF THE ESTATE OF BEN EDWARDS

By virtue of the authority vested in me, as Executor of the estate of Ben Edwards, notice is hereby given that I will expose to public sale at

Two Kisses For A Real Hero
Pic. Jack Sugarman of the Marines, knocked out by malaria in Guadalcanal after being credited with killing 132 Japs, is greeted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Sugarman, as he arrives at his home in Media, Pa., for a furlough. Sugarman compared Guadalcanal hardships with conditions at home and said civilians are doing more gripping than soldiers with whom he has served.

date hereof or this notice will be pleaded in bar of recovery on such claims.

This the 12th day of June, 1943.

ANNIE M. PERSON, Executrix of the Estate of T. A. Person, Greenville, N. C. S. B. Underwood, Jr., Atty. June 14-1w-6wk.

EXECUTRIX NOTICE

Having qualified as executrix of the estate of J. F. Parker, Sr., deceased, late of Pitt County, North Carolina, this is to notify all persons having claims against the estate of the said deceased, to exhibit them to the undersigned on or before the 5th day of May, 1944, or this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery. All persons indebted to said estate will please make immediate payment.

This the 5th day of May, 1943.

Mrs. Leona F. Parker, Executrix of the estate of J. F. Parker, Sr., deceased. May 5-1w-6wks.

NOTICE OF LETTERS TESTAMENTARY

The undersigned having this day qualified as Executor of the Last Will and Testament of Ben Edwards, late of the County of Pitt and State of North Carolina, notice is hereby given to all persons indebted to said estate to make immediate payment to the undersigned Executor, and all persons holding claims against said estate are required to file their claims itemized and duly verified with the undersigned Executor within twelve months from the date hereof or this Notice will be pleaded in bar of recovery on said claims.

This the 28th day of May, 1943.

R. B. GREENE, Executor estate of Ben Edwards.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

Having this day qualified as executor of the estate of Addie Smith Cox, this is to notify all persons having claims against the estate to file them with the undersigned executor, G. H. Cox, Washington, North Carolina, within twelve (12) months from the date of this notice or this notice will be plead in bar of recovery. All persons indebted to the estate will please make immediate settlement.

This the 18th day of May, 1943.

G. H. COX, executor of the estate of Addie Smith Cox. May 20-1w-6wks.

SUMMONS BY PUBLICATION

North Carolina—Pitt County vs. Charles Howard vs. Helen Howard

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE

Having this day qualified as administrator of the estate of Robert T. Hodges, deceased, this is to notify all persons having claims against the estate of said deceased to exhibit itemized and verified statements of account to the undersigned or his attorney, on or before the 5th day of June, 1944, or this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery. All persons indebted to the said estate will please make immediate payment to the administrator or his attorney.

This the 5th day of June, 1943.

GROVER HODGES, Administrator of the estate of Robert T. Hodges, deceased. Arthur B. Corey, Atty. June 11-1w-6wk.

Husbands! Wives! Want new Pep and Vim?

Thousands of couples are weak, worn-out, fatigued because they need medical from the Vitamin B<sub>1</sub>. For new pep, vim, vitality, try (extra) Vitamin B<sub>1</sub> today. Trial size costs 10c. Buy 30-day supply for $1.00. For still better results ask to see "Lectures" and for sale at all drug stores everywhere.

Recapping Won't Wait!

AFTER YOUR TREAD WEARS THROUGH IT'S TOO LATE TO HAVE YOUR

—TIRES RECAPPED—

Better take a look now at them, or better still, bring them to us for an expert examination, we will tell you the truth about your tires.

The Best In VULCANIZING And RECAPPING

All Work Done By Experts

Sutton Tire Retreading Co.

Wade St. Dial 3834

HARD LUCK ON GIANTS' TRAIL THIS SEASON

Not Much Success On Playing Field And In Trading Of Players

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
The New York Giants not only haven't had much luck on the playing field this season, but also haven't had anything resembling a good break in their trades.

Early in the spring they obtained Ernie Lombardi, National League batting champion, by giving up a rookie catcher and infielder, Connie Ryan. It will be remembered, Lombardi has been just ordinary for the Giants, while Ryan has sparked the Braves, and, on the day after the deal was made, hit a home run that beat New York.

More recently the Giants gave Herbert (Babe) Barna, a sometime slugging outfielder, to the Boston Red Sox for Lefty Kendall Chase, a pitcher with considerable American League experience.

Barna, who had been a lack-luster performer for the Giants, entered the Red Sox lineup immediately and began clouting extra-base hits. His blows have been directly responsible for at least two Boston triumphs within a week.

The Giants were criticized for taking Chase, who, on the day before the deal was made, walked 11 men in four innings and who had not won a game this season. But they bided their time and waited for the proper spot to unveil a southpaw.

This occasion came yesterday in a twilight game against the Brooklyn Dodgers and for a while it seemed Manager Mel Ott was about to win an honorable mention for master-minding.

For five innings he shutout the Dodgers on one hit while his teammates gave him a 1-0 advantage over Bobo Newsum. But in the sixth the Dodgers tied the score and in the seventh they chased Chase with six runs on five hits and captured a 7-1 decision.

The game had to be called at the end of the eighth because of darkness and the feeble light in the seventh may have helped the Dodgers' rally, but in any case Chase hasn't won a ball game this year and the Giants haven't had much luck either on the field or in the market.

In the only other game on the major league program the St. Louis Cardinals maintained their 21-2 game edge over the Dodgers by taking a 6-2 verdict at Cincinnati in a game that was halted by weather conditions at the end of seven innings.

Howie Krist held the Reds to five

General Chennault At Bat

Major General Claire L. Chennault (right), with his eye on the pitcher, waits for the pitch during a baseball game at a China base. Chennault, commander of the Fourteenth Air Force in China, often plays ball with the fliers of his command.

Third Streeters Win From Training School

Third Street put a stop to Training School's winning streak this morning by overpowering the East-siders 26-9. This was the first defeat for the losers since the league opened.

Training School scored first with one run only to have Third Street come back for seven. Then the runs really began to stream across the plate. Training School came back for the last time during the game, for after this outburst they were held scoreless by Garrett during the remainder of the game and the winners scored at will. Garrett with a hamper, triple and single, M. White with a homer and two singles, and S. White with three singles led the batting for the victors. Julian White and Joe Lupton were best for the losers.

The game was called at the end of the fifth for lunch. Training School ..... 9 6 7 Third Street ..... 26 17 4 Batteries: White and Batchelor, Garrett and Hardy.

West Greenville will play Third Street at the stadium tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The sucker fish is native in only two parts of the world, North America and China. hits, but it took a four-run uprising in the sixth inning to settle the struggle in St. Louis' favor.

Fights Last Night

By The Associated Press
Washington — Beau Jack, 135, Augusta, Ga., stopped Max Starr, 130 1-2, Edgewood Arsenal, Md. (6).
Knoxville, Tenn. — Tony Galento, 238, Jersey City, knocked out sailor Fred Blasie, 218, St. Louis (2).
Baltimore — Buddy Walker, 192, Columbus, Ohio, stopped Lee Oma, 180 New York (6).

BASEBALL RESULTS

American League
No games scheduled.
National League
Brooklyn 7, New York 1.
Cincinnati-St. Louis night.
Others not scheduled.
Piedmont League
No games scheduled.

STANDINGS

American League
	W	L	Pct.
New York	31	20	.608
Washington	30	25	.545
Cleveland	27	27	.500
Boston	28	29	.491
Detroit	24	26	.480
Philadelphia	27	30	.474
Chicago	22	27	.449
St. Louis	22	27	.449

National League
	W	L	Pct.
St. Louis	33	19	.635
Brooklyn	34	24	.586
Pittsburgh	28	24	.538
Philadelphia	28	25	.528
Cincinnati	27	25	.519
Boston	22	28	.440
New York	21	33	.389
Chicago	19	34	.358

Piedmont League Through Sunday
	W	L	Pct.
Portsmouth	39	12	.765
Richmond	30	18	.625
Lynchburg	25	25	.500
Norfolk	19	26	.422
Roanoke	19	27	.413
Durham	12	36	.250

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 22 — (AP) — Sketch of a swell guy: Greg Rice lay on a rubbing table in a steamy-hot dressing room under Randall's Island stadium. He had just taken the licking of his life in a race with Sweden's Gunder Haegg and his string of victories had been snapped at 65. What's more he was sick. The trainers virtually carried him in to take a shower and breathed in short, quick gasps as he lay there, wincing under the applications of alcohol. Under the conditions, you'd think a fellow had a right to be a bit peeved at everything. But Rice managed to display a big grin all the time and when the reporters, well-wishers and autograph hounds crowded around, he'd sit up painfully, shake hands and say "thanks" and you knew both the grin and the thanks were genuine. He's a tough little guy to beat in a race, but it's a tougher job trying to get an alibi out of him.

In another corner of the room, one of Rice's superior officers was trying to explain the attitude of the maritime service toward his running. "He'll perform his regular duties and won't have much time to train," the officer said. "So I doubt if he'll run against Haegg again. After all, it would look bad for our physical program if Greg went on taking beatings, but he can't very well take time off to train and make a long tour. He wouldn't be a real petty officer in the maritime service if he didn't perform his duties. He might get the time off if he asked for it." The officer seemed to leave the question open, but we know what Rice's attitude would be. He stated it a few days ago in telling of his difficulties in getting into shape for the race. "I'm very serious about the maritime service. I don't have much time to train but I wouldn't have it any other way." Since then he has been ordered to sea for a month.

Quote, Unquote
Last word by Haegg (as relayed by an interpreter): "He says he likes to sit around and talk with newspapermen as much as anybody but he doesn't think it's a good idea when he's in training." It can

Perfect Ending

A wrestling match at Philadelphia will be sponsored by the charity committee of the trimming industry. What could be more appropriate?

GIRLS' SOFTBALL LEAGUE TO GET UNDERWAY

All girls and women who are interested in playing softball this summer are asked to meet Thursday night at the Cotanche Street Park, behind the swimming pool, at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Nick Proctor will be in charge of the league and anyone who wants to play who cannot be at the playground Thursday night, can get in touch with her during the day at any one of the play areas open in the city, or after 6 o'clock call 2815.

It is hoped that all girls and women who are softball enthusiasts will take advantage of this opportunity for some outdoor exercise and good clean fun and a good crowd of Greenville's women athletes are expected to take part.

Mrs. Proctor states that if a league can be formed and the girls are interested in a city-wide tournament, awards will be given to the winning team. So come on, girls, let's make the competition keen and get our team organized.

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE

Having qualified as administrators of the estate of G. A. Clark, deceased, late of Pitt County, North Carolina, this is to notify all persons having claims against the estate of said deceased to present them to the undersigned, on or before the 16th day of June, 1944, or this notice will be plead in bar of their recovery. All persons indebted to said estate will please make immediate settlement.
This the 16th day of June, 1944.
JOHN G. CLARK,
W. C. CLARK, Administrators of the Estate of G. A. Clark.
J. W. H. Roberts, Atty.
June 16-17-6wk.

WANT ADS PAY

NOTICE OF SUMMONS BY PUBLICATION

North Carolina—Pitt County
In the Superior Court.
Before the Clerk.
A. M. Moseley and wife, Nell S. Moseley; Mrs. Willie P. Moseley; Mrs. Frances Moseley French and husband, H. N. French; Bennett W. Moseley, Jr.; Guaranty Bank & Trust Company, trustee for Bennett W. Moseley, Jr. and Guaranty Bank & Trust Company, executor of the Estate of B. W. Moseley, deceased.
-vs.-
Mrs. Lillie J. Hardee; Mrs. Marie Spain and husband, Jack Spain; Doris Hardee; Mrs. Lillian Bost and husband; W. S. Bost; Mrs. Margaret Brown and husband, Caswell Brown; Mrs. Emma Frances Dixon and husband, Joseph Dixon; Jane Hardee; Ann Hardee; and Bancroft F. Moseley.

The defendants heretofore named, and each of them, will hereby take notice that a special proceeding has been instituted in the Superior Court of Pitt County and entitled as above for the purpose of selling for division among tenants in common a tract of 252 acres of land, known as Nobles land, situated in Chicod Township, and described in Book B-11 at page 229 in and husband; W. S. Bost; Mrs. Margaret Brown and husband, Caswell Brown; Mrs. Emma Frances Dixon and husband, Joseph Dixon; Jane Hardee; Ann Hardee; and Bancroft F. Moseley.

Witness my hand this the 17th day of June, 1944.
E. F. TUCKER, Asst. Clerk Superior Court Pitt County.
Harding & Lee, Attys.
June 18-17-4wk.

You'll get the same Thrill we did

... when we unwrapped the new General Tire from American-Made rubber!

We'd heard about it, of course. We'd hinted about it to you in some of our ads.

But here it was! A General Tire from American-Made rubber. Yes, sir, here was the actual proof of all the months... the long days and nights... that General Tire's chemists and engineers have devoted to the licking of America's rubber problem.

The tread is General's famous Silent-Grip design. The same extra strong cords are in the body, as always. The same General Tire craftsmen who have always given you General's quality are building it.

Scores of people have been in already to see our display of General Tires built with American-Made rubber and more are coming every day.

We're sure that you, too, want to see first hand what American engineering ingenuity has accomplished. That's why we're inviting you to come in now, or anytime soon, and let us show you the General Tires that everybody will be able to buy someday.

McSutton
President

SUTTON'S SERVICE CENTER, Inc

TENTH AND EVANS STREETS

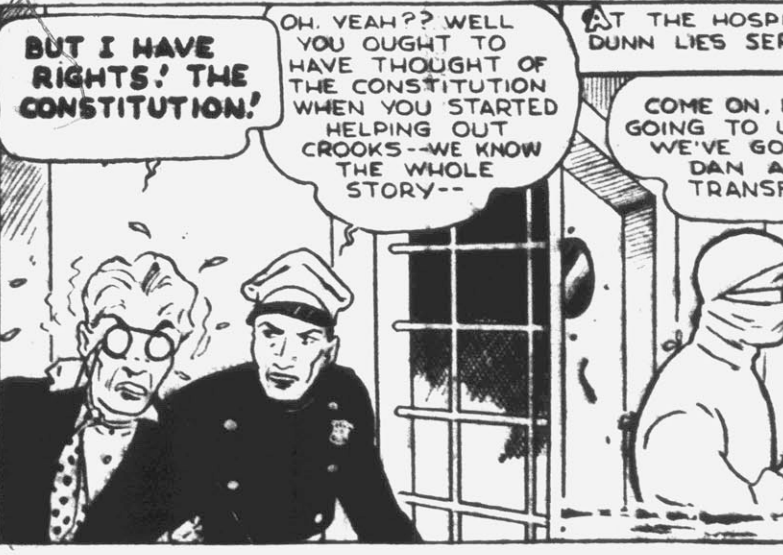

Headquarters for General Tire Quality Recapping by Experts Who Know How
(NO CERTIFICATE REQUIRED FOR PASSENGER TIRES)

THIMBLE THEATRE — Starring Popeye

Now Showing: 'The Green-Backed Monster.'

DAN DUNN — SECRET OPERATIVE 48

SMELL THIS!

BLONDIE — by Chic Young

Cookie And The Five Little Pigs!

Cookie And The Five Little Pigs!

WANTS

Wants 1 1/2c per word, minimum charge 35c for 25 words...

Frank CITY PLUMBING CO. logo and name

WILL PAY HIGHEST PRICE FOR local grown wheat, rye, barley...

BARRED ROCK AND WHITE Rock baby chicks, $9.00 per 100...

J.B. Oakley & Son COMPLETE INSURANCE SERVICE

We Clean and Press Men's Suits, Ladies' Coats—Dresses...

Ernest Willard INSURANCE ANY KIND - ANYWHERE

NOTICE—WE WISH TO INFORM our regular customers that we now have a full supply of Purina poultry, hog and dairy feeds...

FRUIT JARS—PINTS 60c. QUARTS, 75c. half gallon 90c. We also have a limited supply of tin cans...

WILL PAY CASH FOR GASOLINE model aircraft engine in running condition. It should have timer, sparkplug and coil...

FOR SALE—WOOD'S YELLOW and Tokyo Soy Beans. Keel Supply Co., Dial 4046—1719 Dickinson Ave.

FOR RENT—TWO ROOM UNFURNISHED apartment, 1022 Chestnut St.

FOR SALE—POTATO PLANTS and collar plants, $2.00 a thousand each. Askew's Fruit Stand.

WANTED—WOMAN TO DO housework and take care of children; white or colored; room and board; good wages. Box 174, Ayden.

MOUNT OLIVE PICKLE CO. is now buying CUCUMBERS in Greenville at Keel's Warehouse

WE HAVE A LIMITED SUPPLY of seed corn and cowpeas. Keel Supply Co., Dial 4046—1719 Dickinson Ave.

BEACH COTTAGE FOR RENT—located at Shady Banks, 25 miles from Greenville. Completely furnished including Kelvinator, gas range and hot water...

LOST—ON SATURDAY BETWEEN Curtis Perkins' store and the corner of 10th and Evans streets—gold 17-jewel Bulova watch...

ASPHALT ROOFING—35-lb ROLL $1.00; 90-lb. roll $2.25. We also have 45x55 lb. roofing. See us for your needs. Pitt F.C.X. Service, Dickinson Ave. Phone 2214.

WANTED—ALL PEOPLE SUFFERING from kidney trouble or backache to try "Kidgo," 97c. Money back guarantee, at Warren Drug Co. June 8-Tue-Fri

FOR SALE—SEVEN BIG BONE Poland China pigs, 6 males, 1 female, 9 weeks old. Entitled to registration. See O. L. Joyner or M. R. Long.

ANNOUNCEMENT—MARJORIE Woolard Seigler is now connected with the Le Anne Beauty Salon, 109 East Fourth Street. She was formerly manager of the Greenville Beauty Shop. She invites her friends and patrons to visit her at the Le Anne Beauty Salon. 22-21

NEW OR OLD PUMPS—I WILL fix an old pump, $5.00; put down new pump, $12.00; overflow pump, $65.00. Charlie Grimes, near V. C. Fertilizer Plant. 22-61

FOR RENT—THREE ROOM apartment to couple. Immediate possession. Call N. G. Raynor, Dial 2756. 22-31

Log Market

Raleigh, June 22—(AP)—(NCDA)—Richmond hog market steady with top of 13.50; Rocky Mount 10 cents lower with top of 13.25.

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, June 22—(AP)—(NCDA)—Raleigh egg and poultry markets steady. U. S. extras large (clean white) 41; grade A hens, all weights, 20 to 25.

Grain Market

Chicago, June 22—(AP)—Wheat futures fluctuated nervously over a range of almost a cent a bushel today. Cash interests were sellers, while shorts and milling interests were buyers on the declines...

All deliveries of wheat finished at virtually the days highest levels, unchanged to 1/2 cent above the previous close. July $1.42 1/2-$1.42. September $1.42 1/2-$1.42...

New York Cotton

New York, June 22—(AP)—Cotton futures opened unchanged to 15 cents a bale lower.

Table with columns: Open, Close, Prev. Cl. for various cotton grades.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, June 22—(AP)—The stock market fiddled with selective and modest recoveries today.

Turnover was around 700,000 shares. Lagards were Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, American Can, Loews Paramount, U. S. Rubber and J. I. Case.

FINAL STOCKS

Table listing final stock prices for various companies like Al Chem and Dye, Alleghany, etc.

WANTED—SHIRT FINISHER AND hand ironer at once. Apply Eureka Laundry, Clark St., Greenville. 22-31

SPECIALS FOR WEDNESDAY—Potato rolls, cinnamon buns and ginger bread. People's Bakery.

WANTED TO RENT—APARTMENT or house. Call 4061.

SALESMAN WANTED—MUST BE experienced and have own car. Good proposition for right man. Phone 4061 or call in person at 316 Eastern street after 6 p. m., Wednesday. 22-21

FOR RENT—FOUR ROOM upstairs unfurnished apartment. "College View." Move today. $30 monthly advance. L. J. Smith, Real Estate—Insurance.

Table listing various commodities and their prices, including Bendix Aviat, Beth SI, Boeing Airp, etc.

Justice Department's request for continued deferment made him "suspicious."

"What is there about the report which is so mysterious?" Lemke asked. "I am getting suspicious. It seems about time we found out what this is all about. I don't like this mysterious buck passing."

Meanwhile, Keith Kane, legal advisor to the Navy Department, told the committee the navy considered the contract an excellent one and in the public's interest.

Kane said Knox's cancellation of the contract followed advice he received from Attorney General Biddle and Byrnes.

Slight Gains . . .

(Continued from Page One) sharp contrast to that of June 22, 1941, when Hitler sent his armored forces across the Russian frontier to launch the bloodiest fighting in history.

In the Belgorod area, northeast of Kharkov, Russian soldiers penetrated German positions across the Donets river and returned with prisoners, said the communique, which was broadcast from Moscow and recorded by the Soviet Monitor here.

Four German planes were shot down in that area by Russian fighters, the communique said.

North of Chuguyev, 40 miles southeast of Kharkov, the Russians said their artillery dispersed and partly annihilated about two German companies, destroyed enemy guns and demolished fortifications.

The Russian air force was reported to have bombed a railway station behind the German lines south of Kalakieva in an attack which started eight fires. A German stab across the Donets river in the Balakieva area was said to have failed when Red army soldiers encircled the advancing group and wiped them out.

Artillery action also was reported in the Karelian area on the northern front and in the Smolensk area of the western front.

Full Fury Of . . .

(Continued from Page One) afternoon at the same smoking targets.

Weaving through 30 to 40 enemy planes, two flights of the huge-winged B-17s rained bombs throughout the Naples industrial area, hitting roundhouses, locomotive repair shops, the royal arsenal and torpedo factory stores and oil dumps.

In a companion assault at Concello approximately 50 per cent of the railroad trackage was left useless and several buildings were smashed by direct hits.

Operating like an aerial scissors, the Middle East command's American Liberators came in from the south yesterday for the attack on Reggio Calabria and San Giovanni, dropping nearly 275,000 pounds of high explosives and incendiaries, 2 The Liberators swept in on the heels of heavy RAF bombers from the Middle East who bombed the same targets.

At Reggio Calabral numerous bomb bursts were seen in the railroad yards and along the water-front.

"Our formations met unusually heavy fighter opposition and underwent aerial bombardment," said the Cairo announcement, which said 20 enemy aircraft were shot down and probably eight others destroyed in fierce battles. None of the American planes was lost.

(Cairo dispatches said the Axis has concentrated heavy fighter forces in the toe of Italy to combat the incessant raids on both sides of Messina strait, and that yesterday's formations encountered about 50 Messerschmitt 109s and 110s, March 202s, Focke-Wulf 190s and Heinkel 113s.

"The enemy planes renewed their tactics of gathering in formation ahead of the Americans and trying to drop bombs on them, the dispatches said. When their bombs were exhausted they dived, spitting machinegun bullets and cannon shells.

Three more fighters were brought down by the Northwest African forces, for an Allied total of at least 23 enemy planes yesterday, compared with the loss of two Allied planes.

The royal arsenal and torpedo factory at Naples were left burning by the attack, and aerial photographs showed a belt of flame a mile wide from a hit on an oil dump.

Spitfires from Malta were over Sicily yesterday, operating against road transport, and intruders from the island base went out against rail communications in southern Italy last night.

(The Italian communique, as broadcast from Rome and recorded by the Associated Press, also listed Annunziata, south of Naples, as one of the objectives of the four-engine plane formations.

"Rome said "there was considerable damage" in the scattered attacks and civilian casualties included 10 dead and 72 injured at Annunziata, 14 dead and 45 injured at Salerno, and 15 dead and 70 injured at Battipaglia.

(The communique asserted that 13 Allied planes were destroyed—12 over the mainland and one over Cagliari.

On the eastern end of the Mediterranean, long-range fighters again crossed the Aegean and attacked two schooners and two sailing vessels anchored in the harbor of Kyllene off the west coast of Greece, the Cairo communique said. Smoke was seen rising from one.

Naples has been a frequent recent target for both day and night attacks, presumably because it represents a major supply base for the Axis forces garrisoning the invasion stepping stone of Sicily.

The attention the port has been getting suggests it might fit into the bombing pattern outlined yesterday by Lt. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, commander of the North African Air Forces.

Spaatz declared that any barrier against the advance of Allied forces could be reduced by air attack and added that the United Nations now have the resources to put the required number of planes to the task. He said destruction of such a barrier was merely a matter of mathematical calculation.

The American flying leader expressed gratification at the way this principle had been put to a successful test over captured Pan-telleria.

(A Berlin broadcast, quoting a Rome dispatch, indicated yesterday that the Allied bombing may be giving the Italians a transportation manpower problem.

(The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, said 532 railway men had been killed or wounded seriously in raids on railroads in Sicily, Sardinia, Calabria and Apulia. The announcement was made in connection with an Italian move to proclaim railroad men "heroes of the day.")

Capt. Thomas W. Farebee of Mocksville, N. C., bombardier, escaped death when he happened to look up at the precise second that a flak fragment tore through the nose of his plane and knocked out his bombsight.

"We were over Naples with the bomb bay doors open," Farebee said. "I looked up for a fraction of a second when an explosion occurred. There wasn't much noise. I went on and dropped my bombs."

"It was the longest day of the year but I bet it seemed longer than that to the Italians," said a co-pilot, Lieut. Glenn V. Sennett, San Jose, Calif., a former baseball player with the Red Sox of Greensboro, N. C. "I could see direct hits on the stores depot, railroad yards and station. The stores depot particularly looked to be smothered by bomb bursts."

(Continued From Page One) Dominion and Allied fighter squadrons.

The Ruhr is about 50 miles long and 40 miles wide, and it produces roughly about three-fourths of German coal, four-fifths of her coke and about two-thirds of her iron and steel.

The daylight attacks on German installations continued in the afternoon when strong forces of planes believed to be British, were seen streaking across the southeast English coast toward northern France. One explosion sent up a large column of black smoke near Boulogne. The British attack on Krefeld was one of the heaviest of the aerial offensive.

The British lost 44 bombers—the heaviest for any single attack this year—but the Air Ministry communique which described the raid as "very heavy and concentrated" and delivered in "great strength" indicated that the assault approached the 1,000-bomber class.

Coast observers said the daylight raiders crossing toward northern France in two waves were Fortresses of the United States Air Force.

Fifty-two bombers were lost in the 1,000 plane attack on Bremen on June 5, 1942, and 44 were lost over Cologne on May 30, 1942. In the first of the 1,000 bomber attacks. Two weeks ago 43 bombers of the "greatest attacking force yet sent over Germany"—all four-engine planes—failed to return from an attack on Dueseldorf and Muenster. These were the RAF's greatest losses.

Krefeld is an important textile and railway center four miles west of the Rhine and near the Netherlands border and is noted for its manufacture of special steels for aircraft armor plate and its output of sulphuric acid for explosives.

The raid was the 22nd on Krefeld since the beginning of the war, but the first in 1943. It was last hit in October.

The German communique, recorded from radio Berlin by the Associated Press said numerous blocks of buildings and two hospitals were destroyed at Krefeld in an explosive and fire raid which caused much damage, "especially in residential quarters." The Germans said they destroyed 39 bombers.

German planes were shot by Berlin to have attacked individual targets in the London zone and on the south England coast last night. The German command also said three British planes were shot down by naval patrol vessels off the Dutch coast.

Preliminary reconnaissance reports from the raid on the Schneider munitions plant Saturday night at Le Creusot, 170 miles southeast of Paris, belied German claims that most of the damage was done to the town itself, the British Air Ministry said. Rolling mills, armor plate shops, the locomotive works and other buildings were damaged seriously, it said.

The cluster of German industrial centers within a 20-mile stretch of the Rhineland, represented by Krefeld, Duisburg and Dueseldorf, has now been visited by a total of 135 catastrophic raids, the Air Ministry said.

Krefeld, with a normal peacetime population of 170,000 is the site of heavy steel industries, coal mines and important chemical works. Special steels, including crankshafts and armor plate for aircraft are made there.

The city is located just within the German border, about 25 miles southwest of Duisburg and some 20 miles northwest of Dueseldorf.

It was the RAF's second successive night raid on Germany and the first attack on the Rhineland since June 16, when Cologne was hit. Fourteen bombers were lost in that raid.

"Last night our bombers in great strength attacked the industrial city of Krefeld," said an Air Ministry communique.

"Preliminary reports indicate that the attack was very heavy and concentrated," it added.

Fighters on intruder patrols over

France and Belgium also attacked railway targets and the airfield at Poix, the communique said.

The Berlin radio said the RAF had attacked targets in western Germany last night but did not mention Krefeld and attempted to minimize the weight of the assault, characterized them as "terror raids directed mainly against the civilian population."

The Germans, meanwhile sent the heaviest attacking force in several weeks against London and British coastal objectives, damaging some property in London and causing a number of casualties.

More than a score of Nazi night raiders headed up the east and south coasts and then scattered inland, but observers said that not more than two or three reached the greater London area.

PITT

PITT TODAY & WED. On the Spot—Thrills! TONIGHT WE RAID CALAIS with ANNABELLA JOHN SUTTON Coming Thur. & Fri. "MY FRIEND FLICKA" In Technicolor

STATE

WED.-THUR. The hushed-up story of world's secret battlefront "UNDERGROUND" with Jeffrey Lynn plus "Pluto and Armadillo" Cartoon WAR ACT NEWS

LINOLEUM RUGS ALSO BY THE YARD We have a big collection of Linoleum Rugs and Linoleum by the yard. A wide range of patterns and sizes.

Rugs in the following sizes 6x9 — 7 1/2 x 9 — 9x9 — 9x10 1/2 9x12 — 12x12 — 12x15 A complete assortment of Gold Seal Linoleum by the yard in many patterns. Treadlite inlaid Linoleum in different styles and patterns.

Inlaid Linoleum 2 yards wide We have a big collection of small linoleum mats in many pattern for your selection. All of Linoleum is installed by men with experience. CASH OR TERMS Home Furniture Store Corner Eighth St. and Dickinson Ave. Dial 2879 "Pitt County's Most Popular Furniture Store"

PENNEY'S Half-a-Day Bargains

A SAFE PLACE FOR YOUR CLOTHES: THEY NEED ONE, TODAY! Today, every good garment is a treasure. You must take extra special care of it. Dust, and moths and careless handling take a toll of your clothes that you can measure in dollars and cents! Clothes that have entertained a family of moths are lost for good. Dusty clothes get a tired look, and need cleaning oftener. The answer: a moth-discouraging dustproof wardrobe. Use it in a clothes closet—or set it in a hall or bedroom, if closet space is scarce. Its small cost will pay for itself many times over in clothes protection! This is the kind of thing we at Penney's get really enthusiastic about—things that save you money—something that gives you extra service. We've always been keen about things that mean economy. For 41 years we have preached and practiced thrift—in our store-keeping, and for the benefit of our customers. An understanding of thrift comes in handy these war days. There are so many ways that a store like Penney's can help you save!

Other Wardrobes at $2.49 and $4.98 Take Care of Precious Woolens! STORAGE CHEST $1.69 The perfect way to store blankets, comforters and woolens compactly—inexpensively! A big deep chest finished in washable wood grain, with wood supports for extra strength! Complete with moth vaporizer. 32" x 21" x 21"

A story from the heart of America—to thrill all America's heart! ACCLAIMED by 40 million readers—it comes to the screen 2 Days THURS. FRI. You'll love it! MARY O'HARA'S MY FRIEND FLICKA in Technicolor! Here are fierce dreams, proud courage, fighting love in a mighty, moving story with RODDY McDOWALL PRESTON FOSTER RITA JOHNSON Shows 1:00 3:00 5:00 7:00 9:00 plus DISNEY CARTOON "Memories of Australia" Novelty NEWS