Axis Suffer Paralyzing Blows From Allied Airmen

Smashing Air Blows Against Italy And Islands Continue
Axis Planes Downed In 24 Hours
Tactic Point In Sardinia And Sicily Blasted

By REILMAN MORIN
Allied Headquarters in North Africa, July 6.—(AP)—Allied air forces, spearheaded by U. S. Flying Fortresses which shot down 30 German fighters, struck paralyzing blows at Axis resistance yesterday in battles for air supremacy over Sicily and Sardinia, it was announced today.

The smashing aerial offensive against the Italian outpost islands went through its third straight day with bombers roaring over Gerbini, Marsala, Licata, Sciacca and Catania in Sicily and Villacidro in Sardinia—all of them bases for the defending Axis aerial fleets.

In 24 hours ending yesterday, 42 enemy planes were shot down against a loss of 12 Allied planes, it was stated officially.

More than 60 Liberator bombers based in the Middle East joined in the devastating raids, shaking Messina in Sicily with nearly 375,000 pounds of bombs, a communiqué of the U. S. Ninth Air Force declared.

Hits blanketing the ferry terminal installations in Messina "caused extensive damage," the communiqué said, and bombers were laid on railway tracks, a roundhouse, a warehouse, freight yards, oil tanks and barracks by the Liberators striking in three waves. One string of bombs "fell across the Lazaretto mole."

The Liberators downed three enemy planes and returned without loss themselves.

Flying Fortresses striking at Gerbini won what is considered one of the greatest single-mission victories of the entire Mediterranean campaign by knocking down 30 out of more than 100 German fighters attacking them.

One of the greatest individual victories emerged, too, when Staff Sergeant Benjamin Warner of San Francisco destroyed seven fighters. Despite the spectacular and seemingly suicidal tactics of the Germans, the Fortresses successfully reached and bombed Gerbini, where they showered explosives over the main airfield and nine satellite fields.

Less than 30 of the big four-engine craft participated in the raid. Outnumbered four to one, they shot down an average of one enemy plane apiece and destroyed an estimated 25 more parked on the ground.

Three fortresses were lost. They handed the Germans such a savage mauling that throughout the rest of the day only about 10 enemy fighters rose to meet success.

Most Of Miners Now On The Job
Pittsburgh, July 6.—(AP)—The nation's third big coal strike, which started on June 20, virtually ended today as United Mine Workers leaders reported less than 9,000 of the 521,000 miners remained idle.

They predicted these men would be back in the pits by nightfall or tomorrow.

Most of the holdouts were in UMW district nine of eastern Pennsylvania's anthracite belt, where eight collieries, totalling about 4,500 men, were still out of production.

UMW leaders reported only eight mines were down in the bituminous fields of central and western Pennsylvania, where production today was nearing normal.

"Everything seems to be normal here, with only two pits down," said Don Ginkery, federal coordinator for District 2. This had been the biggest holdout spot in the bituminous districts. Only 10,000 of 40,000 had worked Saturday.

Demand Senate Inquiry Of Wallace-Jones Eeud
By TOM REEDY
Washington, July 6.—(AP)—Six-foot-two Jesse Jones, the administration banker, and Vice President Henry Wallace, who out-wrestled soldiers at the stage door canteen, apparently were only warming up in their week-long verbal slugging match. Today, their appraisals of each other had hit a new high in recrimination.

The latest explosion—over the policies of Wallace's Board of Economic Warfare and Jones' Reconstruction Finance Corporation—widened the rift so far that perhaps only the firm and personal touch of President Roosevelt can help it. His trouble-shooter, James P. Byrnes,

NEW GAINS IN SOUTH PACIFIC

Americans Extend Holdings In Solomons Area

Allied Headquarters in Australia, July 6.—(AP)—The Solomons area of the Pacific offensive flamed with continued action both on the sea, where American warships daringly moved above the ground front into Kula gulf, and in the air over newly-liberated Rendova island, the high command reported today.

(Progress for U. S. ground troops in the central Solomons also was evidenced in official reports from South Pacific headquarters to the Pacific command.)

Fire at the enemy air base of Vila, Kolombangra island, on the west side of Kula gulf, and at Balroko Anchorage, New Guinea, on the east side were set both by the shells of the warships and bombs dropped by Mitchell medium bombers the night of July 4 and in the pre-dawn of July 5. Later, dive bombers dropped 1,000-pound bombs on Balroko which is above the menaced enemy air base of Munda, also in New Guinea.

Pitt Prisoner Paroled Today

Raleigh, N. C., July 6.—(AP)—Three persons convicted of second degree murder and another convicted of manslaughter were among the nine prisoners paroled today by Governor Broughton.

Those freed included: Willie Banks, Enock, convicted in Alamance in 1933 of second degree murder and sentenced to 12-1-2 to 30 years; Oscar Joyner, convicted in Putt in 1941 of manslaughter and sentenced to 6 to 10 years; June Curry, Alias James Lowe, convicted in Stanley in 1924 of second degree murder and sentenced to 25 to 30 years; Luther James Wilkins, convicted in Wilson in 1942 of assault with a deadly weapon and sentenced to 12 months.

Jones accused by Wallace of holding up BEW's purchases of strategic war materials, opened up both barrels last night. He used 7,500 words to tell what he thinks about Wallace—none of it complimentary.

In Wallace's absence, his second, Milo Perkins of BEW, took up the cudgels and shot back Jones and his RFP had acted like the fabled sleepers, Rip Van Winkle.

Jones addressed his remarks to the Senate Appropriations Committee. Perkins replied in a letter to the same group.

RAF RAIDS ON FRANCE TODAY

Berlin Reports Raids On Germany Last Night

London, July 6.—(AP)—RAF Spitfires destroyed seven German fighter planes in a sweep over northern France this morning, it was announced. None of the British planes was lost.

Allied planes, including many squadrons of fighters, roared over the channel toward the French coast in brilliant sunshine this morning as a Berlin broadcast was reporting raids on Germany last night by British bombers.

There were no immediate British announcements concerning any night activities over the Reich, but the Berlin broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, said enemy planes had carried out "nuisance raids" over western and northern Germany.

The daylight squadrons, flying high in weather so clear the French shoreline was easily seen from the British side of Dover strait, were observed heading for the area between Boulogne and Calais.

During the night an RAF plane damaged an armed vessel of about 500 tons in a low level attack off the Dutch coast, the Air Ministry news service said.

U. S. army headquarters announced meanwhile, that photographs had disclosed "satisfactory" results in the Sunday bombing of the Gnome-rhone Aero factory at Le Mans, France, by Eighth Air Force bombers.

The announcement said a considerable portion of the main building at the Le Mans factory was damaged.

July Fourth Was Quiet In City

By CHESTER WALSH
Greenville observed the Fourth of July more quietly than since the last year of the World War, old-timers said today. After an exceptionally quiet holiday, business places were closed; those remaining open were "just open," those in charge reported.

Police and sheriff's officers reported a quiet period. Traffic was so light on highways that state patrolmen had time to devote to special work they are doing in cooperation with the armed forces. No serious accident was reported here.

Monday was more serene than the quietest Sunday, one philosopher commented today while discussing the condition of the crop.

There were two deaths during the week-end from natural causes.

The Fourth this year was striking in contrast to the celebration last year, when an impressive parade of soldiers, local groups, civilian defense workers, the high school band and others engaged in a patriotic celebration at the court house. Ten thousand persons were on the streets to witness that parade and Fourth-of-July celebration.

Reopen Red Cross Dressings Station

The Greenville surgical dressing room will be moved from Evans street to the Austin building on college campus. It will be opened as soon as materials for bandages are received from the national chapter.

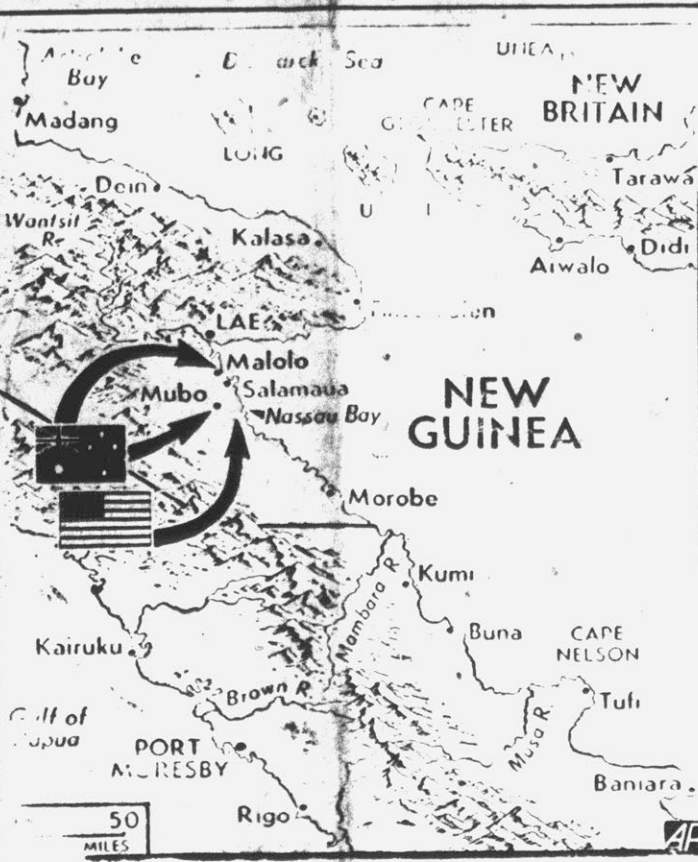

The Pitt county chapter is proud of its work rolling of bandages since the beginning of this activity last August under the leadership of Mrs. John Mitchell, Mrs. J. C. Waldrup and Mrs. J. S. Picklen, as co-chairmen, as is testified to by commendation of Red Cross headquarters for this branch of chapter service. The Farmville branch is now operating a unit there, and is doing splendid work.

Prior to the assignment of surgical dressings to the local chapter these bandages had been prepared principally by larger chapters. Due to expanded requirements of the armed forces, the needs for dressings became more acute, and Red Cross institutes for representatives of local chapters were conducted throughout the United States for educational purposes, with a view to tremendous enlargement of this department of Red Cross chapter usefulness.

Mrs. John Mitchell attended an Institute in Winston. Upon her return, the first unit of the chapter was opened in the new Science Building at the College. Another unit will be opened west of Evans street, provided the demand of volunteers is sufficient to do so.

Feeling that the surgical dressing department of the chapter is now well established, and that others can carry on these co-chairmen have tendered their resignations, which the chapter has accepted with regret, but with profound gratitude and appreciation for their splendid service.

Allies Move On Salamaua

U. S. forces which landed at Nassau Bay, New Guinea, have met Australian infantrymen who came east from Mubo, while other Australians harassed the Japanese at Malolo, making a three-pronged assault (arrows) on the enemy-held air base at Salamaua in action on the western end of the 700-mile Allied offensive arc.

Navy Again Victorious In Skirmish With Japs

Meager Details Indicate Kula Gulf Fight Not A Major Battle; U. S. Destroyer Sunk Sunday Night

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, July 6.—(AP)—The Navy reported today that on the basis of incomplete information, United States naval forces apparently had caused the Japanese very heavy damage in the battle of Kula gulf.

Details of the action, fought yesterday (Solomon Islands time) and apparently all over now, still were lacking, but there was no disposition in authoritative quarters here to consider it as a major encounter with decisive bearing on the Solomons campaign.

The impression prevailed rather that it was an action between fairly light surface forces of cruisers and destroyers. Whether bombing planes participated was not known.

A Navy communiqué said that "sufficient details have not been received to give the results of this engagement, but it is believed that while some damage was suffered by the United States force, considerable damage was inflicted on the enemy."

At the same time the Navy announced that the United States destroyer Strong was torpedoed and sunk Sunday night while engaged in a previously announced bombardment of Japanese installations at Vila and Balroko on Kula gulf, which lies between New Georgia island and Kolombangra island in the Munda airbase area.

The naval engagement, first announced last night, followed that bombardment.

The 2,100-ton destroyer Strong commissioned only last year, carried a normal complement of about 250 men. She was an exceptionally large vessel. She was commanded by Commander Joseph Harold Welles of East Boston, Mass. Whether he survived was not reported.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
The opening of the heavy German offensive along a 165-mile front in the Oreil-Belgorod sector—the bloody cockpit of the Russo-Nazi battle line south of Moscow—may signal the breaking of the great storm which has been hanging over Europe for weeks.

Whether this is a final all-out attempt by a desperate Hitler to crush the Russian armies isn't yet apparent. But it's a major operation which already has produced the fiercest fighting and it might easily develop into the big show-down.

In short, this may be the crisis which should disclose in the near future what the duration of the Hitlerian portion of the world war is likely to be. The Nazi chief will have to put his resources on parade.

The Germans probably have been impelled to undertake this belated offensive either for the purpose of forestalling a Russian drive, or because they have decided that they are fairly safe from an immediate Allied invasion of western Europe. Both factors may enter into the situation.

Part and parcel of this attack undoubtedly is the phenomenon of the sudden appearance of fresh Nazi aerial support for the Italians in the battle for Sicily. Apparently Herr Hitler's harassed intuition has done a sudden back-flip and made him revise his decision to leave it entirely to Benito Mussolini to stand off the Allied invasion which has been bearing down on him.

The Nazi chiefs' recent attitude has been that of abandoning his partner in crime as no longer useful to the Axis cause. Hitler's change of mind, if not of heart, is easily understandable in view of the opening of the Russian drive. He has decided to impede the Allied operations in the Mediterranean as much as possible while he is engaged in Russia.

BEGIN AIRPORT ON THURSDAY

CAA And Construction Company Personnel Here

Actual work on developing the county-city airport near Greenville will get under way on Thursday, according to W. H. Fox, who will superintend the job for Blythe Brothers Company of Charlotte, successful bidders on the contract.

Under terms of the contract the work must be completed in 75 working days from the date of official notice from the CAA, under whose direction the project is being built.

Additional equipment arrived at the site last night and this morning, and Mr. Fox stated today that grading and drainage work would get under way Thursday morning to be followed as quickly as possible by the paving of the runways.

Mr. Fox was busy this morning checking facilities and railroad representatives were on the job making arrangements for handling and placing of the materials for the paving which will begin to arrive here shortly.

A. H. Sorenson and J. P. Bishop, chief engineer and assistant, respectively, for the CAA, arrived here several days ago to supervise the work for the CAA. They will be joined this week by other personnel from their department to help in the supervisory work.

Mr. Fox stated this morning that more equipment and additional personnel of the construction company was expected momentarily and that within a few days the work would be going at full speed.

The Blythe Brothers contract calls for proper drainage of the field, and the grading and paving of three runways. This is to be followed by installation of lighting equipment.

The field is already under lease to the Navy Department. When (Continued on Page Six)

Vote To Limit Food Subsidies

Washington, July 6.—(AP)—By a one-vote margin, the Senate today approved legislation limiting the administration's rollback subsidy program to $525,000,000 in the next six months to keep retail food prices down.

The vote was announced as 32 to 31.

The action apparently cleared the way for final action on a measure extending the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) until Jan. 1, 1944.

The Senate's version of a House bill, which would have removed all restrictions against subsidy payments, added an extra $176,000,000 to the CCC for commitments on the 1944 food production program.

These funds, sponsors indicate, would be used for the purpose of the amendment said, could not be used in the rollback program.

Rankin Reports On Growing Leaf Crop

"Another very hot, dry spell, the third of the month, was followed by good rains during the last days of June and there was an immediate and decided improvement in the condition of the East Belt tobacco crop," R. C. (Bob) Rankin, supervisor of the Greenville tobacco market, states in his special report on the condition of the crop at this time.

The unusually hot weather, with several days of high winds, was beginning to have a serious effect on a big part of the crop. While some tobacco stood the heat very well, in other sections it was being uprooted prematurely, and losing bottom leaves. However, the good seasons of last week brought considerable improvement to all crops, even the stunted, light land tobacco that had begun to look hopeless.

"The 1943 crop is spotted. Martin county, with one of the best and most uniform crops in the East, will probably be above the average in quality and yield. Reports indicate an average crop in Greene, Jones, Cartaret and several other counties and a crop below average in Hertford, Beaufort, Onslow and others. Pitt county is an illustration of the spottedness. In Carolina township the crop is uniformly good; in Belvoir township just the opposite, while other townships in Pitt have a lot of fair to good and good tobacco with some very common. The crop almost everywhere is broken. The final outcome of the 1943 crop depends a great deal on seasons and future development."

"Except near Farmville and Tarboro, where there have been some heavy individual losses, hail damage has been very slight. Quite to the contrary, worm damage has been general and the worst in several years. Housing, which is becoming general this week, will be in full swing next week with the labor situation acute and a possibility of some tobacco being lost in the field."

COUNTY WILL REDUCE TAXES

Commissioners Set A New Rate At 65 Cents Per $100

By CHESTER WALSH
The Pitt County Commissioners, at a regular meeting Monday, rounded out the annual budget for the coming fiscal year, planned to reduce the county-wide tax rate from 70c on the hundred to 65c and announced that the tentative budget will remain open for 20 days when it will be officially adopted under the law.

Reduction of the county-wide tax rate 5c on the hundred indicates that the commissioners are using banking methods of handling the county's affairs. This is true, especially in view of the fact that the Federal government is increasing its tax rate and the State of North Carolina, with a huge surplus, is maintaining the old tax rates, it was learned today while checking over the records.

It will be interesting to the average taxpayer to know that Pitt County's main tax burden is for old debts. For example, 42c of the 65c county-wide levy for the coming year is for old debts. This proportion is being lowered as old debts are paid.

The remaining 23c will be used as follows: Four cents for health work, 10c for school maintenance (the State pays teachers' salaries), and 9c is for old age pensions. The Federal government pays half the State fourth and the county the other fourth of the pension funds, with (Continued on Page Six)

Arrest Men Under State Labor Law

Frank Stafford, colored, was arrested by Greenville police at the week-end on a charge of hiring laborers here to go to do farm work in Virginia. He was hired by a man named Robertson to round up laborers and have them transported to Little Creek Va. Stafford had a number of "T" gasoline coupons to use for school transportation of the men, police stated.

A warrant was also sworn out for Ed (Honey) Fleming, colored, truck owner, in connection with the alleged state labor law violation.

The men will be tried in Police court Friday morning.

The state law provides a fine of $1,000 or a prison sentence for violators of the labor laws.

Chinese Predict Jap Defeat In Two Years

Chungking, July 6.—(AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek told China today on the eve of the sixth anniversary of the outbreak of the conflict with Japan that the time limit for our defeat of the aggressor "cannot exceed two years."

"In the seventh year of our war of resistance," he said in an anniversary message, "an offensive that will deal crushing blows to the enemy will be started in various theaters of the world and there will be an unending stream of victories."

"Our war of resistance and the world war situation on this day have reached the highest peak of our uphill struggle," he went on.

"One step beyond will be smooth sailing for us."

His message was one of a series of confident predictions from Chinese leaders of a complete Allied victory and elimination of Japan as a military power.

Declaring that the situation in the Far East has changed greatly for the better in the past year, General Ho Ying-Chin, war minister and army chief of staff, said that the outcome of the struggle is now assured beyond all doubt.

While the United Nations are growing stronger daily, he asserted, Japan is facing an acute manpower shortage, is far weaker in sea (Continued on Page Three)

New German Offensive Hurdled Back Along 165 Mile Front; 10,000 Nazi Troops Killed And 738 Tanks Destroyed In 36 Hours Of Fighting

By WILLIAM McGAFFIN
Moscow, July 6.—(AP)—Vicious German thrusts by armored divisions and infantry have been flung back with heavy losses all along the 165-mile central front from Oreil to Belgorod, the Russians reported today as the long-expected Nazi offensive moved into its second day.

Despite terrific destruction to their armored units, amounting in some cases to as high as 50 per cent of total attacking strength, the Nazis kept boiling into the heavily defended positions. In only isolated sectors, however, have they managed to penetrate the defense lines, Red army leaders said.

The Russian midnight communiqué said that in the initial hours of the battle Red army units destroyed 586 tanks and 200 planes.

The midday communiqué reported an additional 152 tanks were knocked out of the fight, including a number of the new 60-ton Tiger tanks.

In one sector alone in the Oreil-Kursk area, the bulletin said, Soviet troops destroyed 50 out of a German unit of 100 tanks. The communiqué also reported 4,000 Germans had been slain in this area and 2,000 more in one sector of the Belgorod front.

Military experts said it was too early yet to speculate whether Hitler aims to try to capture Moscow to the north, or to push on to the south, or both.

Only three miles from Kursk, important commercial city held by the Russians, the armies are fighting over the river system of the Dnieper. The entire central front is a region of fields and forests, endowed with good black earth. Hundreds of lumbering tanks already have flattened many fields of ripening grain.

The Russian people feel that this is the last great test for the Red army. They are confident but soberly aware of the great effort involved.

Meanwhile dispatches reaching Moscow from the front told of the start of the battle just after dawn yesterday.

The Nazis, these advices said, used classic tactics—a smashing artillery barrage coupled with heavy air bombardment designed to destroy Russian men and guns and blast a path through the Russian line for the German infantry and armored divisions.

The Germans were firing with everything they had—long range batteries, medium range cannon, howitzers, multiple-barreled mortars and even short range weapons (Continued on Page Six)

Local NYA Center Ends Operatpions

Operations at the local NYA training center came to an end Saturday afternoon following notice from Washington that Congress had declined to vote appropriations for continuance of the program.

More than 160 young women in training for work in war plants at the time of the receipt of the closing order have already been transported to their homes and all work at the center has ceased.

A few members of the staff are still on the job winding up clerical affairs and making arrangements for such disposition of the machinery and other property as may be ordered.

The NYA center has been in operation here for two years during which time several thousand boys and girls have received training for work in the various war industries of this country.

The Cannery Cane Safely.
Are you sure that the methods of canning you are using are safe? Did you know that all corn, beans, squash, and other non-acid vegetables are dangerous when canned other than with a pressure cooker? (according to well known home economists) Let the cannery can your products for you, then you will be sure that they are canned correctly. The cannery is being operated as a community service to Greenville. Are you patronizing it?

The charge is only 9-12 cents a quart can. This barely covers the cost of the can, the labor, and the fuel. All products are canned in tin and are up to standard commercial factory methods. When you let them can for you, you have a good product safely preserved and they will not cost you any points.

Call 3130, Mrs. E. B. Ferguson, today for an appointment. Visit the cannery and see how well the work is done. Tell your neighbors and friends, help everyone to get all canned possible and be sure it is preserved correctly.

Mrs. Thomas Chavasse Phelps

In a formal candlelight ceremony on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the Hayes Barton Methodist Church, in Raleigh, Miss Anne Benbury Vickers became the bride of Lt. Thomas Chavasse Phelps of Greenville. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Henry I. Glass of Raleigh. Wedding music was rendered by Mr. Ben Thaxton of Durham, soloist and cousin of the bride, and Mrs. O. D. McLeod of Raleigh, organist.

Ushers for the occasion were Frank M. Park, Jr., of Greenville, Robert L. Hicks of Morehead City, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Tom W. Wilson of Greenville and Buckley Field, Colo., and E. W. Stalvey of Raleigh. Mr. Virgilus Kasey of Penns Grove, N. J., attended the bridegroom as best man.

Mrs. Laurence Hill Vickers of Morehead City, attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor. She wore a gown of blue marquisette over taffeta, made with sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and full skirt. She wore a Juliet cap of fresh flowers matching her colonial bouquet, which was of mixed summer flowers interspersed with stephanotis.

Honorary bridesmaids were Miss Frances Crowder of Raleigh; Miss Dorothy Mills of Morehead City; Mrs. W. A. VanNortwick of Morehead City; Miss Mickey Larkin of Washington, N. C.; Mrs. Charles W. Bradshaw of Sumter, S. C.; Miss Louise McLeod, Miss Ruth Biggs, Miss Kathryn McBryde, Miss Mary Elizabeth Caldwell, all of Lumberton.

The bride entered the church with her uncle, J. Ivan Clendenin of Raleigh, by whom she was given in marriage. Her wedding gown was fashioned with bodice of Chantilly lace, with sweetheart neckline, Queen Anne collar, and long sleeves which tapered to a point at the hand. From under a peplum of lace, the full skirt extended into a long train. Her full length veil of bridal illusion was caught with a dainty wreath of orange blossoms, and was edged with Chantilly lace. She carried a cascade arrangement of bride's roses and stephanotis centered with white orchids, against a black background of lace. The bride's only ornament was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Thurman G. Vickers, mother of the bride, was dressed in lime chiffon with a shoulder corsage of

Light Shines Through Darkness
In the meeting in the Baptist Church last night there is a lesson which might be learned to the exceeding great profit of every individual. There are men living who never thought to see the day when Baptists, Methodists, Disciples and Presbyterians would meet on common ground in a spirit of enlightened tolerance and brotherly love, for the purpose of welcoming a stranger within the gates.

Pease Explains Manpower Plan

Employers and workers in the Pitt county area, after about seven weeks of operation under the Employment Stabilization plan, are becoming more familiar with its provisions and on the whole are cooperating in its aims, it is stated by Manager R. F. Pease of the Greenville office of the U. S. Employment Service, an agency of the War Manpower Commission.

Many questions have arisen on the provisions of the plan and many employers and workers have contacted the office to get the answers, Manager Pease said. Inquiries are not as numerous as they were during the first few weeks of the plan.

"The chief thing to remember," said Manager Pease, "is that a worker employed in an essential industry cannot quit his job and accept a job in another essential industry without a statement of availability from his last employer, or from the U. S. Employment Service. If he is seeking a job further away than normal commuting distance, he must have this statement of availability from the local office of the Employment Service."

"Another point to remember," Manager Pease stated, "is that this stabilization plan is not a job 'freeze' order. It does permit workers to change jobs, but in an orderly, directed manner. Conditions under which a worker may request and receive a statement of availability are: (1) when he is discharged, (2) when he is laid off indefinitely or for seven days or more, (3) when the employment is not using his highest skill or at full time, and (4) when he has compelling personal reasons for a change."

"The object of the plan, after all, is to use labor at its highest skill and full time for the war effort locally," said Manager Pease. "If a worker cannot make his maximum contribution to the war effort in his home community and he must move, he should consult the local U. S. Employment Service office of the War Manpower Commission. The needs for workers in all parts of the nation are known in these offices, and much time and effort may be saved by checking before leaving on a wild goose chase."

Rotarians Plan For Coming Year

By WYATT BROWN

Plans for the coming year were outlined last night at the regular weekly meeting of the Greenville Rotary club. John G. Fleming who occupied the chair last night as president for his first regular meeting revealed what he called a "four square program" and reported on the convention at St. Louis J. B. Kittrell who is program chairman for this quarter gave some hints as to what lay in store for the members during the meetings.

John Fleming said his plans would call for four main things to be emphasized: membership, a community project, better programs, and improved attendance. Then he barged into a report on the convention of Rotary International in St. Louis three days in June which he attended as the Greenville club's delegate. The Greenville club belongs to Rotary International but the members of the local club do not belong to Rotary International. They belong to the Greenville Rotary club. The theme of the convention was "Rotary Serving in War and in Peace." Some Greenville people who heard Clyde Bolte when he spoke here at the Chamber of Commerce meeting over at the college early this spring will be interested to know that Bolte spoke to the Rotary Convention and John Fleming found that speech one of the most impressive.

J. B. Kittrell promised more fun and horseplay to enliven programs during his quarter as program chairman. He looks forward to greater participation of club members in the program instead of bringing in more outsiders. With a little training in public speaking he said he figured a congressman might be developed out of the club. Anyway he said there would be good, clean fun.

Guests of the club were Herbert Waldrop, Jr., and from out of town there were Tom Smith of Miami, Fla., L. G. Kittrell of Morristown, N. J., and Linwood Kittrell, Jr., of Morristown, N. J.

COCA COLA CAMPAIGN WILL BEGIN THIS WEEK

Bottlers of Coca Cola are using a total of 1612 newspapers in 1379 cities for a new advertising campaign launched this week, according to Z. M. Murphrey, head of the Coca Cola Bottling Company of this city.

Mr. Murphrey emphasized the universal coverage that is provided by newspapers and stated that more than 900 Coca Cola bottling plants throughout the country are represented in this nation-wide use of this medium of advertising.

The part played by Coca Cola in the daily life of American soldiers and sailors around the world and the fact that "Coke" is the recognized abbreviation only for Coca Cola, form the theme of this new program," said Mr. Murphrey. "Our armed forces have found Coca Cola being bottled at many points throughout the Allied Nations. They look upon 'Coke' as one of those little things that remind them of home."

In pointing out that the new advertising features "Coke," the friendly abbreviation of Coca Cola, Mr. Murphrey recalled the famous decision written by the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, of the United States Supreme court, to the effect that "Coke" means Coca Cola.

In this community Coca Cola is bottled under authority of the Coca Cola Company by Coca Cola Bottling company, Greenville.

We're Proud of Our Workmanship In Recapping and Extend to YOU

An Open Invitation to see how Quality Recapping is Done

Maybe you would like to see how new mileage is added to your worn tire. Maybe you are interested in seeing how a tire is inspected, buffed, how camelback is annealed to the casing by curing in specially designed molds. We extend to you a standing invitation to come into our shop and see the work actually done.

A Specialized Field Developed By Independents

Recapping is not new. Independents have been doing it for more than 30 years. They know every detail of recapping, how miles can be added to tires that would soon be ready for the scrap pile. Trucking companies have had their tires recapped for years because they found out it was more economical and gave more miles per dollar.

We can't give the mileage guarantee that we used to, due to the fact that we are preserving our stocks of crude rubber. But when the Axis powers quit, then we will again give new tire mileage. Meanwhile the number of miles you receive depends on how you follow the rules of sane driving as suggested by the Office of Rubber Director.

Get The Best For What You Pay

Recapping prices are pretty well established. But all recapping is not alike. You are entitled to get every mile for your dollar. We pledge to give you every honest effort plus the skill of many years, to keep you rolling during the emergency. We'll tell you when your tires need recapping service or repairs. The day of wasting is over—we must all do our part in conserving our resources, and tires are one of your prime possessions.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By RABBI L. DOUGLAS

LEAVE THE ISSUE OF EVENTS TO GOD

"Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow." (Matthew 6:28)

This was our Lord's advice to those who are overwhelmed with the circumstances of life. On the face of it, it seems absurd. It appears very much like an unwilling-ness to face reality. How can such counsel as this be of any value to us, as we face our daily problems and confront the necessity of doing certain required tasks?

We should, first of all, to realize that our Lord was not saying that we need not work. He was simply saying that in the midst of work, no matter how hard it may be, we are not to worry. That is what brings strain into life and makes it so overburdened that it indeed loses its relish. Someone has said that worry is anxiety about things which are not in our control and which God will take care of, if we let Him. Worry is fear about tomorrow, about the possible outcome of our plans, about the ills that may happen to us, about the misfortune which may overwhelm our loved ones. The core of the gospel is that for all such contingencies, God has made ample provision. It is our duty day by day to face life as we find it and to leave the issue of events to Him.

Worry has no driving power. In fact, it has quite the opposite effect—it acts as a brake on our efforts. It is when we get a real vision of God's care and faithfully make ourselves live in the light of that vision, and let God take the strain, that we find life happy and effective.

HORSE SENSE

As a sedative to numb the fear of public debt, the people have been told that no harm could result from the debt because the people merely owed it to themselves.

Harold C. Moulton, head of the Brookings Institution, has knocked the "owe it to yourself" theory into a cocked hat in a booklet entitled, "The New Philosophy of Public Debt." He shows that those who pay taxes to support the debt are not identical with those who receive the interest on the debt or the government bounties which the debt makes possible.

While the people may owe the public debt to themselves, the man who is taxed to pay interest on the debt will soon find that the tax collector will take his shirt if he does not pay his taxes, to pay interest on a debt which he "owes to himself."

Mr. Moulton blasts the idea that public debt can go on growing forever without doing any harm. His remarks shoot close to financial and economic advisors of the government, and to the National Resources Planning Board.

He makes it brutally clear that deficit spending and boundless public debt lead either to totalitarianism or to debt repudiation, and that without "a stable system of public finance... in the United States, and also in other countries, the foundation stone for international reconstruction will rest on quicksand."

His analysis is just plain horse sense which most everybody understood until they were hypnotized with the suggestion that prosperity could be brought about by priming the pump continuously with public funds. He does not try to prove that government debt is bad, but he does insist that it must be controlled.

The time will come when in spite of all the primings, the pump will suck air if the water supply is exhausted. The earnings of the people are the water in the financial well. Those earnings must come from individual effort and production which depend on prosperous operating industries and agriculture. The pump primers produce no new water.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—Purely Potomac rumors—but from sources which should know:

That the rationing of clothing is as certain as those well-known certainties, death and taxes—but that WPB will insist on its being held off as long as possible.

If the public will think of WPB as the producer, management, big business, or whatever they wish to call it; and OPA in terms of the consumers' representative, they will get a clearer picture of the whole situation. Basically, WPB's job is to produce for the war effort in ever increasing quantities; basically, OPA's job is to see that what's left for the consumer is evenly distributed at not too excessive prices. WPB, by the very nature of its personnel, is sympathetic to "business as usual" as long as it doesn't interfere with the production effort. OPA is very little interested in "business as usual" when it interferes with the control of prices and the equitable distribution of short-aged materials.

The rationing of shoes (the only real necessity made from leather) was the first step. Now, so the story goes, shortages in fabrics, starting with the now almost non-existent silk, and spreading through nylons, rayons, wools, etc., are either so acute or so running so close to the danger line, on paper, there soon will be no alternate but to ration all clothing.

The public has almost brought this about on two occasions by hysterical runs on the haberdashers, couturiers, and department stores. A third such "run" probably would precipitate it immediately.

Along with this same story from the capital underground comes the most amazing of all—that the shortages may even extend to cotton fabrics. The assumption of course is that the shortages arise in fabrication, not in cotton itself, but some who look at the future in terms of re-clothing the war-ridden nations will talk you down if you don't think that the shortage some day will be in raw cotton—one of our greatest surplus crops.

That somewhere behind the scenes in WPB is one of the first important stories of runaway production of this war.

It's the story of machine tools and the way it goes is that war production is not only overbought, but already glutted with machine tools except for a few highly complicated types. And that some WPB efforts to stop the flow have met with overwhelming resistance within WPB itself.

Whether this is true or not matters little. It will be true some day, not only of machine tools, but of every other item that the country is now turning out for the war machines. The greatest waste in any "successful" nation at war comes in the inability to shut off production when it has risen to the necessary peak.

Contracts, negotiated in the first flush of productive ambition to out-strip anything ever dreamed of before, can't be abrogated on a moment's notice.

It will take ten years, or maybe 20, to absorb, sell, destroy, or allow to rot all the surpluses of war material that will come out of this war.

 to help Mussolini, providing he is safe from invasion across France. This and might change the Mediterranean picture considerably in that it would make the Allied task of invasion tougher than has been anticipated.

A far more interesting point is what reaction the Nazi offensive in Russia may have on the Allied plans for ultimate invasion of western Europe. With Hitler heavily engaged on the eastern front we have a situation which rather invited Allied invasion of France. Quite likely Premier Stalin foresaw the development when he renewed his appeal the other day for an opening of a second front in the west. In any event, Hitler has opened the gates to the arena, and we are likely to see the conflict swell to a fierce pitch before British Premier Churchill's leaves of autumn begin to fall.

Ninety-six cents out of every dollar goes for War expenditures. The other four cents goes for Government expenses "as usual."

LOSER TAKE ALL

Chapter 26
 When Sarah refused to help make room for the flood refugees Ann replied, "Then I'll do it myself."

She edged through the crowd, ran up the stairs. She knocked at the first door she reached. It was Mr. Newton's.

"You'll have to move out for tonight," she told him. "We have some flood victims who need your bed. You can go downstairs, sit in the lounge chairs or anything you like. But please hurry."

"Hurry?" he roared pounding his cane on the floor. "Of all the insults I'll have you know—"

Ann didn't wait to hear what he would have her know. She knocked on the next door, gave the surprising news and rushed on to the next and the next. Those who pleaded they couldn't go downstairs she herded into Jerry's small suite on the third floor where they could air their grievances to one another.

Back in the lobby Ann saw one of the victims standing in the center of the floor giving orders to the others. Then she saw it wasn't a victim at all but Jerry Lane. He looked battered and bedraggled.

"The rooms are ready," she told him and the glow in his eyes was worth all the abuse she had suffered at the tongues of the paying guests.

"Coming up!" he replied. A smile of encouragement hovered around his mouth. "You've been great, Ann."

Great! She forgot she was almost as exhausted as the people she was helping upstairs, forgot that her own clothing was soggy with water. She put two and three women and children to a bed, made pallets for others on the floor. One frail little woman lay in solitary luxury on Mrs. Fay's chaise longue. The overflow went to the back wing with three children added to Mary Lee on Ann's bed.

Where's Dr. Renfrow? Jerry asked when he met Ann in the hall after all was quiet again at Terrence House. "There's a woman in Mr. Newton's room who needs a doctor."

"I'll call him," Ann volunteered. "He probably doesn't know what's happened."

She went to the lobby desk. Sarah still sat stonily behind it.

"Where's Dr. Renfrow?" she told her. "Do you know where he is?"

"He's at home," she said sullenly. "Getting some sleep. I just talked to him."

"Didn't you tell him about these people? We need him!"

"I told him everything!"

"Then he's coming?"

"No. He's not coming."

Not coming? She couldn't believe that he wouldn't come in an emergency like this. The nurse remembered that once before Sarah had made a decision for him and that Ann had regretted not contacting him herself.

"I think I'll call him," she said evenly. After a long time his voice answered.

"Bert? This is Ann. We need you terribly. The flood victims—"

"Sorry," he said with a twist of derision to the word, "I'll be over in the morning to see my regular patients if any of them are left." And he hung up.

Stunned, Ann turned away. She wouldn't have believed it if she hadn't heard it herself.

An hour later the defense plant doctor came for a few minutes. He gave special instructions for the few dangerous cases and warned that pneumonia was the greatest worry for all of them.

"I'll send you two or three nurses," he said when he left. "You'll need them by morning when the real effects begin to show. Right now a lot of them are running on nerve."

When the nurses came Jerry insisted that Ann go to bed. "I'll be up all right," he said. "I'll call you if we need you."

Back in her room she began to realize that the doctor was right about her, too. Once she sat down she felt completely exhausted.

She took off her wet clothes, shook her head over the plight of her suit. It would probably never look the same again. Then she chided herself for worrying about a suit when most of the people in Terrence House tonight had lost all their possessions.

She took a hot bath, some aspirin and laid blankets on the floor for a bed. But as she was ready to lie down she noticed a ball of fluff on top of a curtain rod. It was Matilda asleep with her head under her wing.

As Ann watched the bird awoke, cocked an eye at her and sailed down to alight on her shoulder. The cage Ann saw had been put into a corner of the room. Evidently Flora had had no luck coaxing the bird to return to it.

"Well, Ann would have to put Matilda in it for the night. She couldn't fly loose in the room."

She brought the cage to the middle of the floor. If she could find that spring it would take only a moment to clean it out and Matilda would be ready to travel.

If they still intended to travel! She had no idea what her plans would be tomorrow.

She felt again behind the filigree skirt. Suddenly her eyes widened. Her fingers touched a tiny knob and when she pulled the knob she heard the click of a latch.

Then the cage fell apart before her, leaving the base entirely separate from the wire top.

The ringing of the phone interrupted her.

"I've got Jack down here," Mr. Mason's voice said. "The doctor says he's got to get to bed quickly."

Leagues Looking Forward To Annual All-Star Game

Sluggers Hitting Stride In Preparation For Big Event

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now that baseball's booming fourth of July bombardment is over the major leagues can turn their attention toward next Tuesday's annual all-star game—and some of the stars already have.

In the holiday celebration yesterday no fewer than ten of the sluggers selected for the dream game at Philadelphia fired home run rockets for what might be considered signals to Managers Billy Southworth and Joe McCarthy that they are ready for all-star action.

The most spectacular fireworks was set off by Augie Galan of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who would like to start in centerfield for the National league next Tuesday night. He pulled the Dodgers out of a five-game losing streak by hitting a triple with the bases loaded in the first game and a grand slam homer in the second for a double victory over the Chicago Cubs 6-3 and 8-2.

Bill Nicholson of the Cubs, Stan Musial of St. Louis, Mel Ott of New York and Vince DiMaggio of Pittsburgh were other National league all-star nominees who punched round-trippers.

Musial's blow in the seventh inning decided the second game of a doubleheader at Philadelphia in the Cardinals' favor 4-3 and gave Howard Kist his seventh victory against one defeat after the world champions had been shellacked 15-2 in the opening contest.

The split shaved St. Louis' National league lead to three games. In the day's National league show, Pittsburgh punched six runs in the third inning to beat the New York Giants 8-4 and then was shut out 9-0 by Lefty Ken Chase on six hits in the nightcap.

Cincinnati at Boston was postponed because of the weather. In the American league the New York Yankees reinforced their grasp on first place by sweeping two games at St. Louis 3-2 and 8-5, but the first affair was not won until Joe Gordon smacked his ninth homer in the 11th inning.

As a matter of fact, the Browns thought they had bagged the game with two runs in the ninth and were in the clubhouse eating ice cream when they learned that they had not. They thought they had tallied the winning run on John Lindell's throw into the St. Louis dugout, but after first allowing the run, the umpires yielded to the protests of Joe McCarthy that Milt Byrnes was entitled only to go to third, and called the Browns back onto the field.

This proved a lucky break for unlucky Charley Wernhoff, who pitched five-hit ball over the 11-inning route and won on Gordon's four-master.

Besides Gordon, Chet Laabs and Vernon Stephens of St. Louis, Rudy York of Detroit and Bob Johnson of Washington, all American league all-stars hit homers.

York's blow with two on figured in Detroit's 10-3 triumph over the second place Senators in a morning game played before 10,514 fans at Detroit Johnson's, with one on, provided the margin of Washington's 6-4 victory in a twilight game played for 20,019.

The Chicago White Sox split two with the Boston Red Sox, beating Tex Hughson 4-2 in the opener with the help of four Boston errors which let in three unearned runs, then losing the second 6-1 on six-hit hurling by Yank Terry.

A pair of four-hit pitching performances by Don Black and Luman Harris gave the Philadelphia Athletics twin triumphs over the Cleveland Indians 2-1 and 7-0.

Sends Regrets

St. Johnson (above), leading Phillies' pitcher, has rejected assignment as batting practice pitcher in the National League All-Star game in a formal but sarcastic note to League President Ford Frick. The note said: "Mr. Silas K. Johnson regrets that he will be unable to attend your hunting and throwing party on July 13." The game is scheduled to be played in Philadelphia.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 6—(AP)—Ford Frick, National league prexy, wisely refuses to make any comment on Bill Cox's latest blast. . . . The Phillies' attendance figures show that Bill knows what he's doing and Frick also knows what Cox is doing. . . . And if the Phillies really refuse to have anything to do with protests, for or against, the one less headache for the guy who has to rule on them. . . . Although the arm-navy football game may be another small-time affair at West Point next fall, New York will have a big-time version of the same thing when Army plays Notre Dame, as usual. . . . The Irish figure to have a good team as a gift from the Navy and Marines.

Timie The Toiler

Last December, the Rev. Garis Long of Ashland, Ky., went for a quail hunt near Spartanburg, S. C. While he was hunting, his favorite bird dog, Timie, was lost and when all efforts to locate her failed, the Rev. Mr. Long had to go home dogless. . . . Last Saturday the minister took his family for a picnic near Ashland and who should turn up but Timie, a bit lean and weary after six months of wandering through the Carolinas, Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky to get home. . . . If the Rev. Mr. Long hadn't been a minister of the Gospel, suggests John McGill, Jr., of the Ashland "Independent," "he could have told these long-winded fishermen where to go."

Scrap Collection

As proof that Mickey Owen doesn't have "rabbit ears" when the Cards staged a huddle on strategy after Joe Medwick reached third in Sunday's game, Mickey became fidgety and wandered from the batter's box down to join the crowd. And apparently he didn't hear much, for the Cards diagnosed the squeeze play attempt and caught Medwick between third and home. . . . Tommy Kerrigan, who has been playing golf for 39 years, says the best round of his career was the 61 he shot at Siwanoy, his home course, last week. . . . Local track writers are calling Arne Andersson, the record-breaking miler, the "Svenska Venzek" because he used to chase Gunder Haegg. Just like Gene Venzek always trailed Glenn Cunningham. . . . Incidentally, Andersson will be welcomed here for the indoor track season if he can get transportation.

the county having to pay the cost of administration.

County records are exceptionally well kept. The average layman, without being a bookkeeper, can understand them.

Pitt's county-wide debt at this time is $1,574,000. During the peak of the depression years the county's debt was $2,525,000. Through good business management the commissioners have reduced this $951,000, but the books show that during the years following the depression the county has paid out approximately $1,000,000 for interest.

Fewer Deaths Over Holidays

By The Associated Press
A nation forced to stay put, to a large extent, over the three-day July 4 holiday week-end discovered today that wartime curtailment of highway travel saved scores of lives.

Thousands of Americans had to forego motor trips to favorite fishing spots or back to Uncle Jim's farm, but many were alive and whole to tell about being a wartime homebody instead of being received at a morgue or a hospital.

True, an Associated Press survey showed that at least 307 deaths occurred over the week-end but only 131 of these were traffic fatalities. There were 89 drownings and 87 deaths from miscellaneous causes. Forty-one states and the District of Columbia reported fatalities.

The 127 highway deaths were more than 100 fewer than a conservative pre-holiday estimate by the National Safety Council whose experts figured between 250 and 300 would die while driving. Last year, the first wartime July 4 holiday, there were 320 traffic deaths and in 1941 before gas-tire-auto restrictions there were 500.

This year, also, not a single firework death was reported.

Deaths by states from traffic accidents, drownings and miscellaneous causes, in that order included: North Carolina 5-2-0.

Declares Sikorski
Death Great Loss
London, July 6—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that the death of General Wladyslaw Sikorski, premier of the Polish government-in-exile who was killed Sunday in an air crash at Gibraltar, is "one of the heaviest strokes we have sustained."

At the same time the house was advised that Brig. Gen. J. P. Whiteley, a member of Parliament, was among the 15 persons killed in the crash of the Liberator aircraft which was bearing Sikorski home from an inspection of Polish forces in the Middle East.

Whiteley, who was 45, was a veteran of the World War and had been in commons since 1937.

Fifteen Believed Drowned
Halifax, July 6—(AP)—Fifteen workmen were missing today after the Halifax Shipyard, Ltd., tugger sank in Bedford basin following a collision with a freighter.

The men were part of a crew of welders and electricians aboard the tug enroute to a ship in the basin. It was reported unofficially that 27 men were on the 55-foot craft. Twelve were accounted for, seven of them picked up by the freighter.

Fail To Extend Guffey Coal Act

Washington, July 6—(AP)—A death certificate for government regulation of the soft coal industry, under the Guffey bituminous coal act drafted seven years ago in an administration effort to stabilize the coal industry, was signed in effect today by the House Rules committee.

By a majority vote, the committee tabled a stopgap resolution to extend the act's life beyond its present August 23 expiration date until Jan. 1.

Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) said the Rules committee's decision meant that the stopgap resolution could not be brought up before Congress leaves, probably later this week, for a summer recess. The lawmakers plan to return in September after the act has expired.

The contract for the Navy construction is not expected to be let until the present work is well under way or is completed, and so far there has been no official announcement as to just what the Navy construction will include.

artillery shelling division of Munda, the Japanese sent 40 Zeros yesterday in a continued effort to balk expansion of American action in that sector. Outnumbered United Nations fighter planes shot down two of the Zeros and dispersed the remainder while losing one plane, the pilot of which was saved. The Japanese now have lost 157 planes over Rendova in almost daily sky fights since the island was invaded June 30.

The Solomon's arm of the offensive virtually monopolized developments reported in today's communiqué. At the other end of the 700 miles arc at Salamaua, New Guinea, the only action reported was bombardment of the Salamaua air-drome and air attacks on enemy positions between Salamaua and the Nassau bay area, 12 miles down the coast, where Americans landed last Wednesday.

Another air strike in the Solomon's area was directed by torpedo bombers at the enemy seaplane base of Rekata bay, on Santa Isabel island above New Georgia.

were rolled out before the German front line.

Russian batteries countered with withering fire and as the artillery duels continued the Germans attempted various stratagems—such as suddenly switching targets—in an effort to confuse the Russian troops. The various ruses failed and Soviet artillerymen succeeded in silencing a number of German batteries, the Russians said.

During the artillery duels Red army infantrymen crouched in dugouts and slit trenches. When the German tanks and infantry began their advance toward the Russian lines the infantry resumed their places along the firing line.

The dispatches said the first wave to reach the Russian positions found that the heavy barrage designed to hack lanes through the Soviet lines had failed and that the Red infantrymen were still there.

The succeeding steps in the assault apparently found the Germans employing the familiar pattern of attack by tank units, followed by infantry with small groups of bombers supporting from the air.

The first enemy attack was begun early in the morning. A group of German infantry preceded by several tanks came out into no-man's land as the smoke from the artillery battle was rolling away. They were quickly repulsed by fire from the front line Soviet detachments, the Russians declared.

Twenty minutes later, however, they said, it became obvious that this attack was only to divert attention from a large scale thrust which began along a neighboring sector.

In the Orel-Kursk sector, the Russians said, 100 tanks broke through their defenses, but Soviet infantry barred the way to oncoming Nazi foot troops while artillery the rear shelled the tanks. The Germans were reported to have swung around on clanking caterpillar treads and rolled into swift retreat after 38 of the 100 tanks were damaged.

The Russians admitted the Germans succeeded in occupying two settlements in one sector of the Belgorod front but said they were dislodged by counter-attacks and retreated, leaving hundreds of dead on the battlefield.

The offensive which began yesterday was not unexpected by the Russians. For weeks they have predicted that it was soon to come and even said that it would begin in the Orel-Kursk-Belgorod area.

Axis Suffers . . .

ceding bomber formations. P-38 Lightnings downed five of these.

Bombers of the EAF and South African Air Force with other groups of U. S. planes ranged far and wide over Sicily and Sardinia. They reported meeting little fighter opposition but some anti-aircraft fire.

Villacidro and Sardinia and Catania in Sicily were raided by night bombers.

The 42 enemy aircraft lost in 24 hours included only those shot down by planes of the northwest African Air Forces.

Of the Messina raid, the Cairo communiqué said that "dense smoke clouds arising from the target area made pin-pointing difficult, but the entire area was exceedingly well covered with bursts of fires and explosions."

"Formations of enemy fighters attacked our bombers, three of these being destroyed with one other listed as probably destroyed and five as damaged."

Besides the 30 victories officially attributed to fortress gunners and five scored by Lightning pilots also over Gerbini, Allied headquarters announced that five planes had been destroyed by Malta aircraft and coastal squadrons had downed two more.

In contrast, the German communiqué as broadcast from Berlin jab at Crete.

and recorded by the Associated Press, asserted the British-American air forces lost 51 planes, mostly four-engined bombers, "in repeated thrusts against the Sicilian coasts yesterday."

(The Italian communiqué, recorded by the Associated Press, said the raids at Messina, Catania and Marsala caused "limited" damage and casualties. This communiqué reported an Axis raid on the harbor of Bizerte, a claim not immediately confirmed by Allied sources.)

The swarms of enemy fighters met yesterday over Gerbini gave new indications that the Axis has rushed aerial reinforcements to the Mediterranean theater, where the week-end saw the Allied offensive reach new peak of intensity with many air attacks on Sicily and Sardinia and a British commando-type jab at Crete.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO HOME CANNERS

The Glass Top Seal Fruit Jar Cap for Home Canning was developed as a Wartime product to conserve metal. It consists of a Metal Band, Glass Lid and Rubber Ring.

Because of the difference in the nature of these three materials this Cap must be used differently from any other fruit jar cap. If used properly it will give excellent results. If not used properly, results will be bad, including failure to seal and breakage of jars. Following are simple instructions for use of the Glass Top Seal Cap and must be followed carefully.

1. Do NOT use in Oven Canning.
2. If processing, (cooking in jar), leave 1 inch space in top of jar. If using open kettle, leave 1/2 inch space in top of jar.
3. Fit rubber around projection on bottom side of lid.
4. Place lid so rubber lies between lid and top edge of jar.
5. Turn bands tight, then loosen slightly (about 1/4 turn). Bands must fit loosely during processing (cooking). This is important and must be done to insure best results. If using Open Kettle, screw bands tight as soon as jar is filled.
6. After processing, screw bands tight to complete seal. Remove bands 12 hours after canning.

DO NOT TURN FILLED JARS UPSIDE DOWN
