Sky Battle For Southern Italy Now In Full Force

Crushing Pre-Invasion Bomber Raids Soften Defenses; Warships Pour Tons of Shells into 'Hell's Triangle' On Toe of Italian Boot; Sardinia Bombed Again

By BELMAN MORIN Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Aug. 21. (AP)—The sky battle for southern Italy has fully begun, with the Allies shifting the focus of their overwhelming bomber power to the objective of knocking out the strategic railway connections with the north.

Where Invasion Blows May Fall. Patriots in occupied Europe (shaded area) have been told to prepare for an Allied invasion (arrows) which observers declared could fall from the Mediterranean area.

While American warships, moving at will along the Italian toe, poured concentrated fire into the left side of the 'hell's triangle' of the lower peninsula, Allied headquarters announced today that heavy new blows were struck by day and night bombers at already battered railway lines of the defenders in the Naples area.

Russians Rush To Slam Escape Hatch On Nazis

ORDER FRENCH GIVE UP ARMS

Invasion Fears Cause Drastic Axis Measures

London, Aug. 21.—(AP)—German occupation authorities in France instituted new measures of security today amid increasing Axis tension at the prospect of Allied invasion of the continent.

Escaped Convict Recaptured Today

Raleigh, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Alvin Mansfield, 39, who escaped from the Pitt county prison camp last Saturday, was recaptured today in Concord, Prison Director Oscar Pitts said.

Nocturnal Prowler Gets Load of Shot

According to police investigation, Jerry McLashorn, 17, is at Pitt Hospital, slightly wounded by a shotgun allegedly fired by Ed Barton, teen-age boy who with Walter Briley, another lad, was sleeping in the tent housing the roller skating rink in the western part of the city last night.

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Just before I sat down to write this column a New York banker stopped me in Rockefeller Plaza and asked the question which seems to be fairly seething in every mind, and certainly was occupying my thoughts as I walked along the street.

NAZIS USING FORTRESSES

Some Of Captured Planes Seen in Operation

By GLADWIN HILL U. S. Eighth Air Force Headquarters in Britain, Aug. 21.—(AP)—German airmen are flying captured American Flying Fortresses alongside our formations over France and Germany, but thus far have made no attempt to interfere with our operations, it was disclosed here today.

What the enemy's plan is has not emerged—perhaps the hope is to sneak one or more ships into the raiding squadrons and open the guns against all those about.

The American system of identifying fortresses among each other is being changed at irregular intervals, however, and the formations fly so closely together that there is little opportunity for a successful effort to sneak into them.

Of that 50 per cent, perhaps 20 per cent could be put into operation again without too much difficulty. Reconnaissance photographs have shown Flying Fortresses on the ground at German experimental flying fields.

The figure of 20 per cent as conceivably capable of being put into use again is admittedly general and perhaps high. It does not take into account that the Fortresses have their own system of self-destruction and of course it is not known here in how many instances this has been used effectively.

There also is the possibility that fortresses landing in an occupied area will be smashed by local patriots in cases where our airmen are unable to destroy them.

French Women Die In Nazi Salt Mines

Algiers, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Hundreds of French women deported to Germany have been forced to work in salt mines and are dying at the rate of 300 a month in some camps, the newspaper Echo d'Alger said today on the basis of information from persons arriving from France.

Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The combined chiefs of staff have given final approval to a United States merchant ship construction program calling for more than 20,000 deadweight tons of shipping in 1944.

General Thanks Post For Men In Service

Paul A. Scott, commander of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion, announced today that the Legion had received a letter from Maj. Daniel W. Bender, retired, of the U. S. Marine Corps, San Francisco, Calif., expressing appreciation to the people of Greenville for sending cigarettes to men in the armed forces overseas and acknowledging a recent shipment of 10,000 cigarettes.

JAP DEFENSES CRUMBLING IN SOUTH PACIFIC

Fleeing Japs Abandon Guns And Equipment Before Salamaua In New Guinea

By WILLIAM F. BONI Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The Japanese are in headlong retreat before bomb-battered Salamaua.

Their mountain front line cracked wide open, they have abandoned heavy guns in precipitous flight toward the last defenses barring the Allies from that highly-prized air base on New Guinea's northeast coast.

Bombard almost daily for months by Allied planes, shelled by accurate mountain artillery and under relentless pressure of American and Australian jungle troops, the enemy at last has been routed from long-held ridge positions as near as 20 miles from the coveted airfield.

Heretofore the Allies have inched forward, now on the right at Tambil Bay, now on the left around Bobdubi in jungle country crossed only by trails. Yesterday they surged forward in a general advance.

The enemy, poorly equipped and in dire need of reinforcement, is in full retreat to his inner citadel of defenses at Salamaua itself, said today's communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Machinists and artillery were abandoned along with more than 550 buried dead. Our troops are mopping up.

Finns Demanding Peace With Russia

Stockholm, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Another cabinet shakeup is being discussed informally in Finland as the demand intensifies for some steps to make a separate peace with Russia.

Blackout Signals May Be Different

Raleigh, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Don't be surprised if the signals confuse you in North Carolina's next test blackout.

Capitalism or Communism or What?

Babson Park, Mass., Aug. 21.—Letters continually come to me asking my idea as to what changes in the social and economic structure are ahead. These letters have increased since Vice President Wallace made his recent Detroit address. As this is a nice cool day, I am making a guess as to what developments may take place or at least the route that such developments may follow.

Allied Landing Forces Found Island Deserted

During A Lighter Moment

Gathered at Quebec for an all-important conference, President Roosevelt and the Earl of Athlone (seated right), governor general of Canada, smile during a lighter moment of conversation. Standing are Canadian Prime Minister Mackenzie King and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who is also apparently amused.

Roosevelt-Churchill Talks Are Expected To End Tuesday; Roosevelt Speaks Wednesday

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL Quebec, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The pattern for victory appeared today to have been cut by the Quebec war conference.

NEW TAX PLAN IS PROPOSED

Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A double-barreled war financing program based on "induced" savings and higher individual and corporate income taxes was advanced today by an influential lawmaker who estimated it would bring in about $40,000,000,000 a year.

Planes Halt Jap Advance In Burma

New Delhi, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A recent Japanese seizure of the initiative ground in northern Burma was implied today in a U. S. tenth air force communique which said two days of intense operations by bomb-carrying Warhawks in support of Allied troops were believed to have halted all Japanese advances in that area.

Surface Ships Believed to Have Evacuated Japs Under Cover Of Fogs; Occupation Occurred August 15 Following Series Of Raids And Naval Bombardments

Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—American and Canadian troops have occupied Kiska without opposition at that once-strong Japanese sea plane and submarine base in the Aleutians.

In reporting this victory today, the navy said landings on the narrow beaches of the rock island were made on August 15 and "no Japanese were found."

Indications were, the navy said, that the Japanese only recently had fled from their positions laboriously built in the rocky terrain and along the beaches.

"Presumably," the navy's communique said, "the heavy bombardments by our ships and planes that have been carried on for some time and the danger to their supply lines by our capture of Attu made the enemy positions on Kiska untenable."

Those bombardments, unreported in the last three weeks, were among the heaviest ever made on enemy positions in the Pacific.

Army and navy bombing planes during the period from August 1 to August 14, the navy said, struck 106 times, dropping ton after ton of bombs on the Japanese at Kiska.

Measure Would Offer Inducements For Savings

Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A double-barreled war financing program based on "induced" savings and higher individual and corporate income taxes was advanced today by an influential lawmaker who estimated it would bring in about $40,000,000,000 a year.

Pool Will Not Reopen

The municipal swimming pool will not reopen this season, it was announced today. The pool was closed two weeks ago after it was flooded during a storm and some damage was done. The pool usually closes before schools open. The city schools will open Monday, August 30.

Blackout Signals May Be Different

Raleigh, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Don't be surprised if the signals confuse you in North Carolina's next test blackout.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT We, the members of the Woman's Missionary Society of Memorial Baptist Church of Greenville, N. C., wish to express our appreciation for the life and influence of one of our cherished members, Miss Mattie Lawrence, who answered the call of the Master of all life to come up higher on the early morning of June 21, 1943.

Her life was a blessing and inspiration to many. Though a sufferer for many years, she was a radiant Christian, full of faith and good works. She loved the Lord and the duties of His creation. She was unable for several years to attend the services of the church she loved, but she did not lack in interest and her contributions and gifts were among the first for the support of the church and its various agencies. Her devotion to her home and her two sisters was one of the beautiful things to be remembered about her life.

It was good to have had her in our midst and her going should draw us nearer to our eternal home. We desire a copy of this appreciation be sent to the family, the Biblical Recorder, The Greenville Reflector and a page of our records to be dedicated to her memory. MRS. N. C. BROOKS, MRS. R. B. LEE, MRS. J. L. FLEMING.

To Wed Soon

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Fullilove Myrick of Silver Springs, Md., announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Anne, to Lieut. William Johnson Nichols, Jr., of the U. S. Marine Corps, to be solemnized on Saturday, August 28, at Grace Episcopal Church, Silver Springs, Md. A reception for the wedding party will be held immediately after the ceremony at 702 Woodside Parkway, Silver Springs.

Miss Myrick is a graduate of the University of Maryland. Lt. Nichols joined the Marines in 1942. He was promoted to staff sergeant and later was sent to officers' training school at Quantico, Va. He was one of 20 who graduated from a large class, although he underwent a major surgical operation while attending classes. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Nichols of College Park, Md., and Farmville, N. C.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR August 21, 1903

Tobacco Men Enthusiastic Rocky Mount, N. C.—Between two and three thousand farmers gathered here today from all over the eastern tobacco growing counties to attend an important meeting to consider ways and means to remedy the existing low prices of leaf tobacco.

After several hours of speech making, a committee appointed to report plans to remedy the evil complained of, made its report embodied in a set of solutions providing for the establishment of local stock companies to buy, store and manufacture tobacco, while it is below the cost of production.

To Give Concert At College. The members of the octet appearing at East Carolina Teachers College on Wednesday evening, August 25, have interesting backgrounds.

May Joe Perky is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and is one of the most versatile musicians in the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra. Not only is she an excellent violinist, but she plays the piano quite as well, and she has an excellent voice. In addition to these accomplishments she has an acquaintance with various other instruments of the orchestra. She has had wide experience as a soloist. From her earliest youth, Mrs. Perky was given the finest musical advantages; both her father and mother are musicians. At the University of North Carolina, where she graduated last year, her musical studies were under the direction of Dr. Swalin.

Deborah Luboff, a native of Asheville, has studied in New York City and in Paris at the Conservatory. She is a graduate of the University of North Carolina where some of her studies were under the direction of Dr. Swalin. At the present time, Mrs. Luboff is teaching in Durham. She is the wife of Sgt. A. G. Luboff of Camp Butler.

L. A. Harper, Jr., is a native of New Bern. He is an extremely versatile member of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, for in addition to being a violinist and violist, he is also a first class hornist.

Mrs. S. M. Edwards of Raleigh, is a former student of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

Major Kutschinski, the solo violinist of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, is one of the best known musicians in the state. Major Kutschinski is head of the Music Department at North Carolina State College. He is one of the busiest men to be found anywhere; but it always seems that Major Kutschinski has time to help others; he is admired throughout the state for his affable personality as well as his musical talents.

The cellist of the octet is Charles Medlin of High Point. Last season he was a scholarship student at the University of North Carolina.

Sgt. A. B. Luboff, double bassist, was a former member of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra.

Mayor, Guy Smith Sing Kiwanis Meet

By CHESTER WALSH

Mayor Bruce Sugg and Guy Smith made a bid for metropolitan opera fame at the Kiwanis Club last night when Program Manager Eli Bloom called on them for a duet to demonstrate that Kiwanians can sing, even when there is no minstrel show going on. The mayor has vocal talent and proved it by taking the solo part in singing "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," with Guy Smith providing the obligato in a resonant baritone. Their number was the hit of the evening and there were some other excellent numbers. Eli Bloom said the theme of the meeting was "Make Me a Child Again—Just For Tonight," and wasn't quoting Shakespeare.

Alderman Berry Bostic, who some time ago had a long distance phone call from a famous Hollywood star—May West—to sing over the radio "Singing School" led off in the humorous ditty, "Leap Frog." John Glover and Charley Blair (while eating soda crackers) sang "Happy Birthday" to Ed Rawl and Arthur Tripp. The club sang "Smiles" and "beamed" when Bloom announced that the soloists would each be rewarded with a kiss to be bestowed by Mrs. Bill Tyson of New Bern. Mrs. Ray Tyson was accompanist (at the piano).

The dignity of the courts was enhanced when Judge Dink James and "Little Lamb" Ed Rawl sang "Reuben, Reuben," with the Kiwanians singing the obligato. The songfest concluded with "Dixie," by the club. When the soloists lined up, the kisses they were to receive were moistened and wrapped in tissue. Vice President "Dick" Bundy in the presence of Joe Taft, who was in the country on "important business."

A "ladies night" program was announced for Friday, October 15. The directors appointed a committee to nominate delegates to the Carolina District convention to be held in Durham on October 13 and 14.

B. S. Hodges Back From New York City

B. S. Hodges, manager of Efford's Department Store in Greenville, who has been in New York and on other northern markets the past week, returned here today. Hodges has had unusual success in New York, where the store has been improved and the volume of business has considerably increased. He is a member of the Lions' club and takes part in other community activities.

Greenville is a natural and logical shopping center for Eastern Carolina and its prestige is recognized," Hodges said today, adding, "It's good to be back home in one of the best cities in this country."

District Sanitarian Visits This County

According to Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Pitt county health officer, A. B. Ferguson, district sanitarian, visited the department a few days ago.

Mr. Ferguson succeeds E. B. Roach, who has been transferred to the Piedmont section. While in Greenville, Mr. Ferguson in company with H. A. Hendrix, county sanitarian and J. T. Welch, Greenville city sanitarian, made a number of inspections. These inspections included hotels and restaurants, meat markets and abattoirs, the city home, city and county jails, and in keeping with a recent rule requiring inspections of hospitals, they also inspected the Pitt General hospital.

Mr. Ferguson felt that many of the places inspected were not up to the standard but he also thought the sanitarians were doing a satisfactory piece of work in the light of war-time conditions.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT On June 18, 1943, Mrs. Sally Wheeler, wife of the late H. W. Wheeler, went to her eternal rest. She was a member of Memorial Baptist Church of Greenville, N. C., for many years.

Quiet, gentle and unassuming in manner, she left behind those who loved her the association of the feeling that here was a true, genuine lady. It was good to see her in the workshop service of the church, sitting with one or both of her stalwart sons. Her life was surely a blessing and benediction to many.

We, the members of the Woman's Missionary Society wish to express our sympathy to the family in their loss. Committee: MRS. N. C. BROOKS, MRS. J. L. FLEMING, MRS. R. B. LEE.

LETTERS OF APPRECIATION RECEIVED FROM SERVICE MEN

By Lucy Cherry Crisp Recently a number of letters of appreciation from service men have come to various staff members at the Service Center here—letters that really belong to the community rather than to any one person or any one group of individuals. A few quotations from several of them will serve to give the main theme and content repeated in various words in all of them.

"I can't help but feel very low at times when I know that in leaving here I'm also leaving Greenville and all the swell folks I've met and could not help but like. They have a way there of making a service man feel he's lived there a long time and every time he returns it's like returning to your own home town and meeting all the folks you've known for years. I feel almost as if I belong there whenever I think about it. The girls or hostesses, should I say, are just like the ones I went to school with, and yet you people are afraid that we'll forget you. Though some of the fellows don't want to know they still remember you in their hearts."

As if in corroboration of that last statement, a brief note arrived from the Pacific war zone, from a New River marine who has been gone now for six months or more, testifying to the fact that one ma-

Promoted

Frances L. Little, daughter of Mrs. Naomi Little Hart, and the late Rev. J. H. Little of Macleesfield, has been promoted from Ensign to Lieutenant (jg) in the navy. She graduated from Winterville High School in 1934, took her nursing degree at Gallinger's hospital in Washington, D. C., in 1938 and attended George Washington Institute at Washington. She entered the navy in October, 1941, was commissioned July, 1943, and now on duty with the naval air station at Hawaii, T. H.

She has two brothers residing in Pitt county, Russell Little of Winterville, and Clarence J. Little of Ballard's Cross Roads.

Things in general are coming along fairly smooth. We're in a swell country. The people are all very nice. However, you just can't beat that Greenville hospitality anywhere you go. I'm longing for a visit back to Greenville and the Woman's Club. "The home away from home," as I always thought of it.

And again, from California, a paratrooper writes, in words that justify all the efforts anyone has made to help make our town a "good liberty town" for all men in our armed services.

"Somehow I think you know how much Greenville means to me, Greenville and the people who live there. In all of the other towns I've been in, there may have been people like the ones in Greenville. But somehow I don't believe there are. For the people in Greenville have something exceptional. To me, it means the home I've never really had, and it gives me a reason for fighting in this war."

"Up until the time I started coming to Greenville I was in all aspects the 'black sheep' in our family. Now—well, Mother was very surprised at me. I think she had to change her whole opinion. But that isn't important. What is important is that I keep faith with the ideals I have acquired from Greenville. For I expect to make my home there after this conflict is over. Thanks for everything, and mostly for returning my faith in other people."

Nazi Government Locates at Paluen

Bern, Switzerland, Aug. 21—(AP)—The Gazette de Lausanne said today that transfer of Nazi government bureaus to Vienna had ceased after the bombing of the nearby city of Wiener Neustadt Aug. 13 and that the principal ministries were now installed in Paluen, Saxony 150 miles southwest of Berlin.

The German ministries of Foreign Affairs, Economy and Interior, as well as the administrative organizations of major industries were reported moved to Paluen. Members of the diplomatic corps were said to have taken quarters in the suburbs.

In a dispatch dated at the German frontier, the newspaper quoted eyewitnesses as saying the Wiener Neustadt attack (by U. S. Liberator bombers of the Middle East command) caused consternation among the people of the Danubian city 27 miles to the north.

Fires and smoke were reported still rising the following morning.

War Bonds should mean something more to you than just "a good sound investment." Figure it out yourself.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

A PRAYER

We pray for peace, O Lord. Not for a peace purchased at the cost of compromise, but peace which will strike it possible for men to breathe the air of freedom and plan for the morrow with the knowledge that only the merciful hand of God will stay them in their planning.

We ask that a deep confidence in Thee may be the portion of those whose sons are in the forefront of battle, that they may consign their loved ones into Thy hands, that they may continue to love liberty and honest dealings among men more than they cherish life—either for themselves or for their children.

Guide our leaders. Let them think only of the people they serve. Keep thoughts of self out of their calculations. Let them be dominated by the mighty passions of those for whom a great cause is as a roaring fire and for whom justice is as the rolling down of mighty waters. Let us be righteous in our national life and broken peoples of the earth without guile and in the spirit of Christian kindness.

In small things and in great be our counselor and our guide. Let us consider no circumstance in our life too petty to bring it to Thee for blessing, nor any trouble too great for Thy hand to grasp and manage.

Make us one with our fellowmen, facing with us the sorrows and frustrations which dart back and forth across life's pathways. Especially give us a sense of fellowship with those whose faith we share. Make us conscious of our needs and confident of Thine ability to fulfill the same. In Christ's name. Amen.

REAL CONSERVATION

Americans are learning the meaning of conservation. They are learning from an exacting teacher—war. War has in a matter of months switched this country from a nation of abundance to a nation of scarcity, as far as civilians are concerned. And when there is scarcity, there must be conservation. Automobile owners cannot burn up their cars with speed as they were wont to do a few years ago. Housewives cannot carelessly demolish household appliances, or toss out surplus food.

The new effort to conserve must reach further than slow driving and eating the last crust of bread. It must reach into one of the most important existing fields of conservation—fire prevention. Several hundred million dollars worth of property is destroyed each year by fire. The bulk of that loss is sheer criminal waste, brought about by indifference and carelessness on the part of individuals. This carelessness can be eradicated by education; by learning that preventing a property-destroying fire is as great a step toward conservation as driving your auto slowly to save tires. Fire prevention authorities have emphasized that: "The development of a safety awareness that will control the daily actions of the individual is necessary if preventable fires and conflagrations are to be reduced to a minimum.

Until our individual conservation efforts are effectively directed toward curbing fire hazards in the home, in the factory, on the farm and every place else where life and property are involved, we have not learned the lesson of conservation.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

Washington—Answering the mail orders:

B. DeB. Sitka, Alaska — Contrary to popular misconception, the Order of the Purple Heart is not given every man wounded in action.

By order of President Hoover, the citation was revived on the occasion of the George Washington Bicentennial celebration, Feb. 22, 1933, and the words of the original commander-in-chief, in creating the order, were used: to persons in the United States Army who "perform any singular meritorious act of extraordinary fidelity or essential service."

The misconception undoubtedly arises because the order specified that citations prior to Feb. 22, 1932, should be for members of the A.E.F. who had received the meritorious service citation certificate, or who had been wounded in action under conditions which permitted them to wear the wound chevron.

These four fundamentals—soil, babies, education and religion—must be met one at a time in order that we do not "bite off more than we can chew." My forecast, therefore, is that the first problem to be tackled will be the soil problem.

By soil I include farms, home gardens, natural resources and improvements, all of which go to make up real estate. Due to high taxes farmers now have not the money to build up their soil and prevent its loss by erosion. As a result the nation is losing every day the soil equivalent to 200 forty-acre farms.

Fair Assessments a Protection

Real estate values and real estate owners—as well as the public—should be protected by fair and equal tax assessment. This can be accomplished only by legislation whereby the taxable body—town, city, county or state—must, upon request of the owner, take over said property at said assessed value any time on proper notice. This is the only way to prevent unfair assessments although said assessments can be readjusted each year. Why more ambitious politicians have not tackled the problem of present ruinous assessments is beyond my understanding.

Fair assessments by themselves, however, may not be enough to equalize opportunities and protect those who are diligently using property to raise families or crops. I, therefore, forecast that the time may come when real estate can be purchased or sold only at the assessed values. This would prevent both unfair foreclosures by banks and greedy lenders, and it would enable young people to buy farms and other property at fair prices.

"After-the-War" System

We hear much discussion regarding what is going to be put "behind the dollar" after the war. Some economists are using a commodity dollar, the value to move up and down according to the cost of living; others recommend a production dollar based more upon the nation's improvements; while others present still different plans. I hope that the world will return to a reasonable gold standard—at least until we straighten out this present economic problem.

"Land Value Dollar"

The first step toward a "land value dollar" must be fair assessment of the quality of the soil, natural resources, and upon the number of children, including their education and religion. This "land value dollar" is probably a long way off, but my guess is that all countries must finally come to it.

People will not always stand for Capitalism as it now relates to land holdings. On the other hand, the Russian system where all land and improvements are owned by the

By Eleanor Atterburg

Chapter 8

As Bette ran toward the flaming wreckage, she was aware of others running, too. Of shouted commands. The roar of a jeep's engine just behind her. "But no one could do anything to stop those relentless flames. The tremendous heat held the ground crew at bay. "Do something! Can't you do something?" Bette heard her own voice beseeching. "One of the mechanics shook his head grimly. "Can't. God knows I wish we could." "But—how did it happen? How could it happen?" "Accident. Static electricity igniting vapors, maybe. Can't tell till we can get in there." He looked back at the wreckage. "Maybe not even then."

"And—the men?" "The man's eyes met hers and the look there belied his casual. "That's war, man."

Bette nodded, tried but she couldn't find strength to ask the one question she must have answered. Scott? Was there any chance that he— "Then Sue was standing beside her, her lovely face white and drawn. Thank God Scott wasn't in the one," she said hoarsely. "Bette closed her eyes in a moment of thanksgiving. She might have known Sue would know where Scott was. They'd all need sedatives before this grisly business was over. Sue told herself grimly that night as she carried the duties of her own part of the work and looked after Sue's too. But you couldn't let it get you down, she lectured herself as she made her rounds of the wards. You had to keep your chin up, keep fighting. When Sue was a little older, she'd appreciate that. She wondered then for the hundredth time if she hadn't been wrong to consent to Sue's coming to the girl had been so anxious to "be in the light."

But a little later as she stood beside Sue's bed watching her sleep deeply, peacefully as any child, her heart softened as always. She was so very lovely. She could only hope that life would always be considerable to consent to Sue's coming to the girl had been so anxious to "be in the light."

She turned instinctively to the window though the night was still so dark she could see nothing. She looked back at the empty cot beside Sue's. No use going to bed. She wouldn't sleep until she knew the squadron was back. She picked up her coat, slipped out, and walked quickly across the square toward the one faint glow in the window of the radio engineer's office. Hardly conscious of her own purposefulness, she went straight to the door, pulled it open. She had to know what was happening.

Plenty! The young operator grinned at her wryly. "They've all unloaded their eggs and are on the way back. No interference from the Nips—yet. You'll be hearing the planes pretty soon now."

She stayed on, grateful for the man's friendly companionship, taut with listening for the first sound of a motor high in the skies. When it came, she ran out into the clear, cold night to watch them in. Wheeling out of the skies like great gulls, they swooped gracefully onto the field. One by one in perfect order. "Where's Scott, MacQuaid?" she asked when the last flyer walked in from the field.

One of the pilots shook his head. "Don't know. He was on my tail until about 20 minutes ago. Then I heard him radio his fuel tank was leaking. Didn't see him after that."

Bette darted back to the radio office. The operator confirmed it unconsciously. His face grim, he was saying— "I got your location. How long—hello! Are you there?" He looked up at Bette a moment later. "Hope they jumped in time," state crushes private initiative. Fascism is an attempt at a happy medium whereby the land is owned privately but the government tells its people what to do with it, how to use it, when to sell it, etc. This fantastic Russian system will not work in the long run.

What Do Readers Think?

I have already too much correspondence from readers, but I am now curious to know how readers feel regarding the assessments on their property. As this column will appear in some 350 papers scattered throughout the forty-eight states, I am this week asking readers to answer this question: "Would you prefer to sell your property now at the assessed value or buy more property in your community at the assessed value?" Just write me a postal card either: "I would like to sell"; or "I would like to buy."

Sky Battle . . .

Several trains were hit as the bombs crisscrossed the tracks, cars burst into flames, a violent explosion crumbled the walls of large buildings nearby. incendiary bombs turned a military warehouse into a giant torch, and the gas works and utilities suffered damage. Mitchell bombers were equally successful in blowing out a railway overpass at Benevento, 40 miles northeast of Naples, cutting a subsidiary line which runs across the peninsula from Naples.

he growled as he snatched up a phone, reported to the C. O. "Jumped!" Bette echoed the word with terror. "Oh—no!"

The radio operator looked at her sharply. "You mean oh yes! If they jumped in time, we'll probably find them. Can't be far out. Had a report from him not ten minutes ago. But if they went down with the plane—" His shrug finished that thought all too eloquently.

But he did jump in time, Bette's heart insisted. He must have. But the long hours until daylight and the report that he'd been located stretched into an eternity of mental anguish.

"They've found him. He's all right. They'll be bringing him in any time now," she burst into Sue's room with the news.

Sue, startled out of deep sleep, sat up. "Who? What are you talking about?"

Bette told her then, rapidly, of the night's dreadful waiting.

"Oh, I'm glad I was asleep through it all," she said at once. "I couldn't have stood it." The flush on her lovely face deepened and impulsively she flung her arms about her sister. "Oh, Bette darling, I love him so. He's so terribly wonderful!"

Bette hugged her close, pressed her own cold cheek against Sue's dark head. "Do you Sue?"

"And I know he's in love with me, too, Bette," the girl confided eagerly. "He hasn't said a word—ever. He hasn't even kissed me. But—still I know he cares. I can tell. And when this ghastly war is over—if it ever is—just think, I'll be living in that gorgeous house I've always dreamed of. Scott's terribly rich you know. And I'll never have to do another stroke of work. Oh, Bette, I know I'm going to be so happy!"

Bette nodded, whispered, "I hope so, Sue," and wondered why she wasn't believing that. It seemed almost sacrilege to talk of mansions and idle luxury in the midst of death and destruction.

"You do like Scott, don't you Bette?"

"Of course. Why do you ask?" Bette asked instantly to distract attention from her own tell-tale flush.

"Oh, you've always acted so—sort of stand-offish with him. I thought maybe you didn't like him. And—" she smiled deliciously, "if he's to be your onliest brother-in-law, you'd better like him!"

Bette could stand it no longer. "Of course I like him!" he said brusquely while her heart mocked at the irony. "And now you've got to be on duty in half an hour and I've got to get some sleep. Run along."

She slept, finally, but only after her pillow was tear-drenched and her heart had seemed to break little by little, agonizingly.

When that moment arrives we are likely to get a solution of the mystery of where the Nazi bomber force—if any—has been hiding out these many moons. Many observers incline to the idea that Hitler has been holding his badly depleted fleet in reserve for just this great emergency upon which hang the immediate fortunes of Germany.

That strikes me as a logical assumption. While we don't know the exact condition of the Nazi air navy, we do know that some time ago the Nazis cut their bomber production down to a skeleton in order to permit the manufacture of more fighter planes. This means, of course, that the Nazis have gone on the defensive, since fighters are a defensive weapon.

Pending the time of invasion, the Anglo-American Allies are going ahead with their job of softening up Germany by bombing of an intensely and destructive power never seen before. We thought the Hit-

In the "Hell's Triangle"—an area pointed roughly by Naples, the heel and the toe—light bombers and fighters kept all vulnerable points of the railroads and highways under a continual bombing and cannonading, picking out junctions, bridges and mountains where bombs might cause avalanches.

These round-the-clock patrols slighted few boats and little fighter opposition. Two trains were bombed near Locri, and rail and road junctions at Gioia Tauro, in the same area as that bombarded by the warships, were hit.

The naval announcement said that after capitulation of the Lipari prison islands north of Sicily to an American naval expedition on Aug. 17, it was found that the islands "had been used by the Germans for military purposes."

Talk Of Ball Men Now Turns To World Series

Yankees And Cardinals Conceded Winners Of Major League Pennants

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

With the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees leaving so little to be said about the major league pennant races, baseball men already are turning to discussing the world series and wondering where Mort Cooper will fit into Billy Southworth's strategy.

The ace of the world champions has fallen four times against American league hitters—twice in the all-star games and twice in last year's world series.

This has caused a lot of observers to question whether or not he will be the chief of staff for the Cardinals in the forthcoming classic. Southworth himself has been reluctant to admit that there is any team in baseball which his star cannot tame.

But last night the skipper of the Redbirds indicated that maybe he, too, had decided Cooper is not invincible.

The big righthander worked for the Cardinals against the Phillies and pitched five-hit ball that took him into the ninth inning leading 5-1. But when the Phillies loaded the bases against him with one out, Southworth quickly called in Howie Kist to relieve Cooper. Kist, who only needs to walk to the mound to beat the Phillies, made the next two batters pop up and saved Cooper's 17th victory.

The Yankees, who have not yet been able to draw as far ahead of the American league as the Cardinals have done in the senior circuit, looked like pennant-winners in conquering the Cleveland Indians 5-3 with a 14-hit attack and thus made possible capturing their 11th consecutive series in today's finale.

The Washington Senators, however, trounced the Chicago White Sox by the same score, 10-5, in a night game to maintain their distance behind the Yanks. The Senators made eight runs in the eighth inning.

In the only other American league game Detroit need out the Boston Red Sox 1-0 on a single by Rudy York in the ninth inning.

TOSSER—The old fashioned sport of tossing rope hoops over a peg appeals to Film Actress Lynne Barcott and she makes a pretty picture while enjoying the outdoor sport.

Both Frank (stubby) Overmire and Joe Dobson pitched five-hit ball.

Turret (Rip) Sewell, who has become famous for his "parachute pitch," tumbled to defeat as the Pittsburgh Pirates dropped two games to the New York Giants 3-2 and 7-4.

The second-place Cincinnati Reds were edged out 3-2 in 12 innings at Boston when Whitey Wietelmann singled home a run to end a pitching battle between Al Javery and Johnny Vander Meer.

Whitlow Wyatt pitched six-hit ball as the Brooklyn Dodgers curbed the Chicago Cubs 6-3, but he failed to stop husky Nile Nicholson, who hit his 19th home run and second in two days with one out.

Pinch-Hitting For Hugh Fullerton

New York, Aug. 21—(AP)—Lightweight Champ Bob Montgomery sent his manager, Frankie Thomas, flying from Philly last night to tell Mike Jacobs that unless Jack Jacobs returns a return match agreement, there'll be no title bout between the two September 10. ... So the Beau is flying up from St. Petersburg this morning to make with the John Hancock. ... Seems Jack insisted on a 90-day return clause for their first fuss, which Bob won.

So the Bobcat wants the same on eye. ... Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke probably will make her tennis "comeback" in the nationals next month. ... Private Ellsworth (Bud) Haver, who did the short-stopping for the Middle Atlantic league's Huntington (W. Va.) team before Uncle Sam put the finger on him, turned out for the Hancock team here the other day and said he'd like to take a whirl at pitching. ... The coach agreed and Bud served up a no-hitter against Camp Kilmer his first time out.

Bashed Beak Bits
A Jimmy Bivins-Melio Bettina September scuffle and a Beau Jack-Lulu Costantino October outing are about sealed, signed and delivered for Cleveland. ... Izzy Mattes, the Louisiana commissioner, sent up an $1,806 check as the boxing service athletic fund's "cut" from the Terranova-Callura featherweight fess in New Orleans this week. ... Jimmy Caesar, the prospector-skater, and Bib Wright, who does the Adagio dance in Sonja Henie's ice show, fight it out for three rounds in the cellar of the theater before each performance. ... The other performers stopped sending for the cops when they discovered Jimmy is the former Oklahoma City amateur champ and Wright was a Michigan State College starter—and they will like to wash a nose once in a while.

Today's Great Star

Frank Ward, (Youngstown (Ohio) Vindicator): It's too bad these football coaches can't save all that waste fat they'll be boiling off the gridders for the war effort.

Bennett's Around

An hour before last night's Bobby Ruffin-Cleo Shans fight in Madison Square Garden, there was no fight. Ruffin's fistic "family" beefed about the officials and the gladiator was paid a personal visit by General John J. Phelan himself before it was straightened out. ... Then Ruffin went out and won easily. ... Signs of the times: Claims on horses are way up on all tracks. ... John Aborn of the Providence Journal reports eight were picked off on an eddy's card that way this week. ... When Lt. Frank Kimbrough, big Jaw's big brother from Texas, took over Fordham Jim Crowley's North Carolina Pre-Flight coaching job, he found Ensign Clark Janagin, his former Hardin-Simmons line coach, on his staff.

Germany Seeking Hungarian Aid

Istanbul, Aug. 19—(Delayed)—(AP)—Reports reaching Turkey from the Balkans said today that Germany was bringing heavy pressure against Hungary for immediate help either on the eastern front against Russia or in southeastern Europe.
The German demand, the reports said, was for eight Hungarian divisions. If the help is forthcoming for use against Russia the Nazis would withdraw a corresponding force from the east to use in southeastern Europe.

EXPLAIN LAG IN PRODUCTION

Lack Of Manpower is Given As Chief Reason

Washington, Aug. 21—(AP)—The War Production Board now comes forth with a report from 600 manufacturers—whose war output has been behind schedule—to show why that happened.

The three main causes they gave were lack of manpower, materials shortages and design changes. The survey, just completed, was made by WPB's 13 regional offices among manufacturers from coast to coast.

"Complacency" over good war news as a reason for the production lag appears when mentioned at all, far down on the list of reasons. But ever since output started to fall behind schedule in the spring, a certain few government officials have repeatedly charged "complacency" as a top factor.

This present report, so far as can be learned is the only national round-up of reasons obtained by WPB.

Lack of manpower was given as the biggest problem in 60 to 70 per cent of the cases reported. This lack included both common labor and skilled labor. Behind that shortage there were sometimes other reasons, such as low starting rates.

That in turn may not be always the management's fault, for sometimes the War Labor Board which controls wartime wages, may have imposed a limit on those starting rates as an anti-inflation measure.

The material shortages, it was emphasized at WPB, meant lack of processed materials rather than raw materials and that again depended on several factors.

For instances: A plant in Detroit might have had to hold up its completed product for lack of steel castings obtained from a Cleveland plant. But that Cleveland plant might not have been able to get its casting finished on time because it lacked sufficient men for the job.

The design changes are in a special class, not likely to be remedied, since they depend on battle experience which best shows what must be changed in war weapons.

Labor shortages as the reason for production failures to meet schedules headed the list in Boston, New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Seattle, Portland, Detroit and Atlanta.

Absenteeism among workers was reported in a number of cities but it was far down on the list of reasons. One conclusion was that absenteeism "tends to increase as the number of women workers rises and is more prevalent in very hot weather."

Lucite, from which airplane turbines are built, is a coal-derived plastic.

and setting others afire. Kiska's fall could rate as one of Japan's more expensive defeats, for in addition to establishing a large garrison on the island, the Japanese had poured supplies in for months before the blockade became sufficiently effective so that the only materials received were those smuggled by submarines.

It was costly, also, in ship losses, for 29 warships and 30 non-combatant vessels were sunk, probably sunk or damaged in the Aleutians. Of the combatant ships put out of action, seven destroyers were sunk, three probably sunk, and five damaged. Seven cruisers were damaged, one submarine probably was lost and three were damaged. Two other warships undesignated by type were sent to the bottom and one was damaged.

The non-combatant ship losses included one transport sunk, one probably sunk and four damaged. Five cargo and supply ships sunk, three probably sunk and 13 damaged, and three miscellaneous vessels damaged.
