RAF DEALS HEAVY BLOW TO BERLIN

Italy Still Target Of Allied Bomber Fleet

Two More Key Railway Centers Near Naples Hammered Without Opposition; Island Of Sardinia And Southern Italy Undergo Merciless Bombings

By BELMAN MORIN
Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Allied bomber fleets have hammered two more key railway points near Naples without meeting a single Axis defender, while U. S. Liberators sweeping in from the Middle East struck Bari on the southeastern coast, downing 14 enemy planes in a blazing air battle, it was announced today.

None of the Liberators were lost. No enemy fighters rose to challenge U. S. medium Mitchell bombers a load of bombs by daylight into Battipaglia, south of Naples, nor British Wellingtons that pounded Bagnoli in Naples' environs before dawn today.

American Warhawks had a similar experience of no opposition in a sweep over Sardinia and a sharp raid upon enemy barracks and factory buildings Cagliari.

Strings of bombs ripped up the tracks at Battipaglia and some large explosions were seen on the sea side of the main yards. Warehouses were hit and fires started. Ground forces threw up a heavy curtain of anti-aircraft fire.

RAF and RCAF Wellingtons concentrated the attack upon Bagnoli in a few minutes. The pre-dawn half-light combined with bright moonlight and flares gave perfect illumination of the targets, and crews reported many direct hits. Ground defenses there were inactive, and the raid appeared to have taken the Italians by surprise. One crew saw a block-buster bomb explode in the middle of the railroad yards, with another following close to it.

The P-40 Warhawks struck their targets in Sardinia with bombs and cannonfire, and "as far as I could see, not a single bomb was wasted," said Second Lt. Ernest N. McConnell of Spring Hill, Ala.

Allied planes were lost in all these operations. The Liberators hitting at Bari yesterday above the heel of the Italian boot met a heavy force of fighter planes, with their gunners claiming 14 of them. This raid was directed against the airfield and freight yards, and hits were (Continued on Page Four)

Pitt County Man Dies In England

Dewey S. Crawford, 24, technician with an American artillery unit in England, died August 19 according to official notification received last night by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Crawford, who live two miles east of Ballard's Cross Roads. Details of the death were not given but a letter written by Crawford on the 17th was to the effect that he was all right, indicating that his death on the 19th was sudden.

Technician Crawford entered the armed forces April 20, 1942 and has been on duty in England since last October. He has two brothers in the armed forces, Clifton, who is now stationed in Idaho, and Travis, stationed in Arkansas. Other survivors besides his parents, are a brother, Bernice, and three sisters, Aileen and Nellie Ruth Crawford, and Mrs. Jarvis Allen.

Italy Takes Steps To Make Rome Open City

Bern, Switzerland, Aug. 24.—(AP)—A Rome dispatch to the Basler Nachrichten today quoted Vatican circles as saying that British and United States replies agreeing in principle to the declaration of Rome as an open city had been received by the papal secretary of state.

The Anglo-American replies, the dispatch said, listed conditions as chiefly a Vatican guarantee of the move and the establishment of a Swiss commission for the execution of demilitarization measures.

The dispatch said Italian government authorities reported they knew nothing of the replies, which were not mentioned in the censored Italian press.

ALLIES MOVE ON SALAMAU

Warships Take Part In Fight For New Guinea

Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Australian troops, emerging into the Francisco river valley after months of mountain fighting, probed the enemy's prepared defenses today within two miles of the Salamaua, New Guinea airfield.

Today's communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported the Australians crossed the river north-east of old Bobdubi to a position due west of the air strip.

It also disclosed that for the first time the guns of Allied warships have been brought into play in the showdown battle for northern New Guinea. Monday night, light warships, probably destroyers, moved more than 70 miles above Salamaua into the narrow part of Dampier strait for a close range bombardment of the dock and supply dumps at Finschhafen on the (Continued on Page Four)

Fuel Oil Users Must Register

Persons who have moved their place of residence since October last year and who desire to use fuel oil or kerosene in their present residence should apply at the Pitt County War Price and Rationing application blank necessary for filing.

Persons who used surrendered ration last year must apply now in their own name.

Filing should be done immediately so that all rationing might be mailed by September 1.

London, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Italy has formally advised the British and American governments of steps taken to demilitarize Rome with the view of having the Italian capital treated as an open city, a Stefani broadcast recorded by Reuters said today.

A Rome radio broadcast Aug. 14, recorded by the Associated Press, said the government of Marshal

Prices On Local Market Range From 10 To 45 Cents; Effort To Raise Ceiling Continues

With 1,250,000 pounds of tobacco on the warehouse floors the Greenville market got under way this morning with indications that the day's sales would average about 41 cents a pound. Prices were about as had been expected based on sales on the earlier belts with a range from 10 to 45 cents.

Nondescript tobaccos ranged from 10 to 14 cents; common and medium from 25 to 41 cents, and medium to good from 41 to 45 cents a pound. The 45 cents figure appeared to be the top price for legitimate company purchases according to Sales Supervisor J. C. Rankin, who stated that the market would likely clear this afternoon. Today's offerings were somewhat lighter than on last year's opening, when the day's sales averaged around 35 cents a pound.

All sales were halted for two minutes at 2:45 this afternoon as a mark of respect for T. W. Blackwell, director of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, who died in a Wilson hospital early today.

(By The Associated Press) Opening sales on the new bright blue-cured lighted belt averaged between 39 and 41 cents a pound today, with some of the largest markets reporting decreased offerings, compared with first sales last year. Large quantities of inferior grades were on the floors.

Prices leveled off about noon, with common and medium grades still predominating the offerings.

That farmers were waiting for renewed efforts to raise the weighted average ceiling above the 41-cent top now in effect was reflected on the Wilson market, largest in the belt, where only 1,500,000 pounds were offered, compared with the 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 pounds on opening day of recent years.

One row of 76 baskets unofficially averaged 39.65, and another of 69 averaged about 40.17 cents. The range was from 21.25 to 45. Quality was not common with lugs predominating. No tags were turned.

From Goldsboro and Rocky Mount, however, came word that offerings were comparable with last year. The first 22 piles at Goldsboro averaged between 40 and 41 cents with about 350,000 pounds on the floors. No tags were turned there, with scrap bringing between 8 and 15 cents.

In the first hour, Rocky Mount sold 200,000 pounds for about 41 cents, a high of 45 and a low of 25. Sales Supervisor Ed Johnson described the offerings as poor to fair. General satisfaction prevailed.

Kinston prices ranged from 25 to 47 cents for quality considerably off from 1942. Supervisor R. S. Wetherington estimated the average between 40 and 41.

Tarboro reported its unofficial range from 42 to 43 cents, with (Continued on Page Four)

Road Hogs Hold Up Marines War Work

By CHESTER WALSH
State highway patrolmen from Greenville early today conveyed a damaged United States Marine single-motored plane from Vanceboro to a point in Edgecombe county, where another highway detail took over to clear the highway to the state line, where Virginia patrolmen were to take up the convoy.

The damaged plane was sent from the Marine Base at Cherry Point to Virginia for repairs.

Presence of state patrolmen with the plane today averted two near-misses by careless and reckless motorists, a patrolman stated. "We had to send more than 25 cars to the shoulder of the road to get by, and the motorists showed no inclination to cooperate," a patrolman said. "It is surprising to observe how few people really know there is a war going on and that it is our job to help—at least to the extent of not blocking the army, navy, coast guard or air corps when they want to use the highways for war purposes," the patrolman added and he received a chorus of "amens" from a group of business men and others.

Motorists, seeing the truck bearing a damaged plane, drive right up, hinder traffic, hold up war work and take a chance of causing a wreck, members of the convoy said.

Allied Offensives Pushing Japanese Back In Pacific

The broken line on the above map encloses the Pacific areas the Japs have lost control of as a result of Allied offensives—eliminated by the occupation of Kiska. The solid line encloses the approximate Jap-dominated Pacific area. The Jap withdrawal from Kiska without a fight was seen as a possible counter-attack for an attack on Siberia (open arrow) or for defense against Allied attack, perhaps against Burma (broken arrow).

Roosevelt And Churchill End Quebec Talks Today

Military Decisions Of Utmost Importance Made; Tri-Partite Meeting With Russia To Be Arranged Soon

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

Quebec, Aug. 24.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill closed the Quebec conference today with a statement hinting a tri-partite meeting with Russia and declaring that "necessary decisions have been taken to provide for the forward action of the fleets, armies and air forces" of Britain and the United States.

The President and Prime Minister brought their meeting here to an end at a press conference on the terrace of the Citadel where they had been deliberating for eight days.

Nothing of the strategy directives that have been sent to military commanders in the field was disclosed. But the two leaders spoke with utter confidence of the future. In their formal statement, Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill said they had decided to confer again before the end of the year, "in addition to any tri-partite meeting which it may be possible to arrange with Soviet Russia."

They said full reports of the decisions reached here, so far as they affect the war in Europe, would be supplied to the Russian government. Churchill made it clear that the war against Japan had held an important spot on the Quebec conference agenda. Russia is not fighting Japan and the Prime Minister left the definite impression that she had not been invited to send representation here for that reason.

The two Allied leaders disclosed also that the question of the French Committee for National Liberation and said announcements might be expected in that connection over the week-end from many governments.

Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill said they had surveyed "the whole field of world operations," in the light of "many gratifying events," which had taken place since they met last in Washington in May.

Further conferences probably will be necessary, and at shorter intervals, they said, as the war effort of the United States and Britain "spreads and deepens."

The Pacific decisions reached here on the historic heights above the St. Lawrence they said, can only emerge in action.

"It may, however, be stated," the Allied chiefs said, "that the military discussions of the chiefs of staff turned very largely upon the (Continued on Page Six) continue their assaults, as they did last winter when they drove the Hitlerites back over vast areas.

What a change from a year ago, when Hitler drove clear through to Stalingrad. The enemy he wasted in trying to capture that industrial city represents one of the greatest blunders of his war.

So much for Khar'kov. The affair of the missing Jap garrison of Kiska is one of the strange stories of the war. The perpetual fog of the Aleutians still shrouds in mystery how it was that when the American and Canadian forces swarmed up the rocky shore to do battle, they found this important base as empty as Emperor Hirohito's honor.

Still, what matters is that the Nipponese have gone. We don't know how they went, but we know why they went. They were driven from the island by the terrific aerial and naval bombardments which had been going on for over a year. During that period American bombers blasted the island with over 5,500,000 pounds of bombs.

It was utterly hopeless for the Japs to try to hold the position, and so they shelled their suicide code for once and did the smart thing by clearing out. I think we are making the mystery too complicated when we try to get more than that out of it.

WELLES QUILTS STATE DEPT

Resigns As Result Of Differences With Hull

Washington, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The Evening Star said today that Sumner Welles had submitted his resignation as undersecretary of state after 10 years in the State Department.

An article by Constantine Brown, the newspaper's writer on foreign affairs, said that Welles' letter of resignation was on President Roosevelt's desk and that it would be acted upon soon after the President returns from Canada.

(The State Department reported that the undersecretary is at Bar Harbor, Maine, for a brief vacation and is expected to return to his desk later in the week.)

The Star story said that "according to his friends," Welles resigned at the request of Mr. Roosevelt.

There has been no misunderstanding between the two men, the article said. "But there have been increasing and apparently unsolvable difficulties between Secretary of State Cordell Hull and his No. 1 assistant."

T. W. Blackwell Dies In Wilson

Wilson, Aug. 24.—(AP)—T. W. Blackwell, of Winston-Salem, a director of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., was found dead in his hotel room here today.

Coroner V. C. Martin said his death was caused by a heart attack. Blackwell, who was about 59, came to Wilson for the opening of the tobacco market today.

REDS PURSUING FLEEING NAZIS

Russians Extend Pressure Along Entire Front

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

Moscow, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The Red army drove west and south through the smoking ruins of Khar'kov today pursuing the Germans who were thrown into full retreat back from the recaptured former capital of the Ukraine.

Frontline dispatches said the Germans applied torches to Khar'kov before being ejected from the city yesterday and also carried out wholesale demolitions, leaving behind them only a city of hollow walls.

The Russians were keeping up the heavy pressure from their new Khar'kov base, giving the Germans no time to recover. The Red army was expanding in a drive for reconquest of the Ukraine.

Poltava, the historic battlefield southwest of Khar'kov, where Charles XII of Sweden met defeat, appeared to be the next Red army objective.

Further south in the Donets basin another Russian push gained momentum after taking Donetsk—Ambrosievka, a railroad station 50 miles north of German-held Taganrog. The Red army pressed its assaults on this southern side of the German flank.

Red soldiers also were attacking on the northern flank in the Izium sector.

The Donets basin appeared likely to become the most important scene of the fighting in the new phase of the Red army's summer offensive.

Pravda said German resistance was broken after a three-day battle along the strong line of fortified populated points southwest of Voroshilovgrad.

Red army infantry and tanks were reported advancing along the railroad presumably toward Makeyevka and Stalino in the heart of the coal and iron region.

Advance units of scouts and engineers were penetrating deep into the enemy lines and disrupting communications.

After the Red army drove wedges in the German lines in the Donets basin front the enemy counter-attacked attempting to prevent broadening of the gaps but the Russians drove off the enemy and expanded. Pravda said.

Inside Khar'kov, which was completely occupied by noon yesterday, the city was already being converted into a springboard for a new Soviet advance. The Germans fired the city at 11 p. m. on Sunday and blew up all the bridges over the Lopan river but dispatches said all fires were extinguished yesterday and one bridge immediately restored.

Engineers began removing mines, some of which were still exploding.

For protection to the holders of these books the owners should fill out the information requested in blanks on the outer covers.

Announce Three Arrests On Charge Of Espionage

Washington, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The Justice Department announced today the arrest in Detroit of two women and a man on charges of espionage for gathering information for Nazi Germany.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said the arrests climaxed an investigation begun in 1939.

Hoover also announced the arrest on presidential warrants of two German aliens in Detroit.

The German aliens were not named, but Hoover said both were women and that they will be held for a hearing before the alien enemy hearing board in Detroit.

The Justice Department said those arrested on espionage charges

Raid Marks Opening Of Offensive To "Hamburg" Berlin; Smoke From Burning Capital Rises To 15,000 Feet; 58 British Bombers Reported Lost

By WILLIAM SMITH WHITE
London, Aug. 24.—(AP)—RAF squadrons smashed at Berlin last night in a raid twice as heavy as any capital ever suffered, casting down about 1,800 long tons (more than 2,016 U. S. tons) of explosives and incendiaries, and opening of the supreme offensive to "Hamburg" Hitler's seat of power was indicated.

Fifty-eight bombers went down before German anti-aircraft defenses in this historic assault, the Air Ministry announced, the largest number ever lost by the British in any one night.

Devastation was plainly on a scale comparable to the power of the attack. One returning pilot said the smoke boiled up three miles.

The Air Ministry's story of the operation did not mention the size of the raiding force except to say that the assault was twice as heavy as any made before on any capital and that it was "an entirely new strength."

The previous heaviest raid on any capital was the March attack on Berlin in which 900 long tons—the British standard of 2,240 pounds—were dropped.

"The assault was delivered in clear weather just before midnight and preliminary reports indicated that the bombing was highly concentrated," the bulletin added.

Fifty-five bombers were lost on the double attack on Pilsen in Czechoslovakia and Mannheim. The Germans, in a series of broadcasts, clearly indicated the size of the Berlin attack by telling of high explosives and incendiaries falling over a wide area from "large enemy formations." They asserted that at least 50 planes were shot down.

The RAF has dropped as high as 2,300 long tons of bombs in a single night before this, but never before has approached that figure in an operation of such length, complexity or significance.

Returning airmen told of relatively light Nazi anti-aircraft gunfire, but of stern opposition from German fighter planes.

"The Germans put up swarms of fighters," said one. "I have never seen so many before. There were about 20 belts of searchlights inside the capital and around it. These were cooperating with the beams (Continued on Page Six)

If he wishes to demonstrate how a passage should be played, he will take a violin near him and play the part as he wants it. Off stage, Dr. Swain is pleasant to associate with. He likes to tell stories, and he likes to hear new stories. He likes to talk about the orchestra with all its potentialities and opportunities for musicians.

Strength FOR THE DAY
By DANIEL L. BOURGAS

TOO MUCH OIL
A clock-maker explained to me recently why it is so necessary in the case of electric clocks to see that the mechanism has just enough oil and not too much. Certain of the wheels run in a bath of oil, and if even a half-teaspoon more oil is used than should be used, the extra weight of the oil slows up the wheels and the clock loses time. The clock needs a certain amount of oil, but nothing interferes with it so much as to have too much oil. The thought of course which immediately comes to mind is that many people are slowed up in life because of too much oil. They have things too easy in life, too many advantages. Everything is made too smooth for them. Up to a certain point this is good, but after a while these advantages constitute a load for the spirit of man to carry and forthwith they begin to slow him up.

Jesus remarked on one occasion that it was easier for a camel to go through a needle's eye than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of heaven. "How hardly shall they who have riches enter into the kingdom of heaven!" he said with high authority about these matters. It is indicated by the fact that well over half of his parables dealt with the right use of money.

But money is not the only advantage that slows people up. Sometimes people come to rely so much on their good looks and their pleasing personality that they constitute an impediment to the real progress of their souls. Too much oil.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME
By JACK STURTEVANT

Washington—The "preacher" of the U. S. Forest Service has retired. I don't know if H. N. Wheeler will like being called a "preacher," but any man who has delivered more than 400 sermons on forest conservation, fire fighting, game refuges, the value of big timber, woodland playgrounds and the scenic beauties of America's unspoiled nature, can't be described as anything else but an evangelist.

In spite of his 60-odd years, Wheeler is a tall man, straight as the old ramrod, well set-up, but not fat.

He came out of Dodge Center, Wisconsin, and last year celebrated his 50th anniversary as valedictorian of his high school class by going back to deliver the commencement address. He received his A.B. degree from Milton College, Milton, Wis., in 1907, got his M.A. from the University of Colorado in 1907, and three years later entered the forest service. He never left it until retirement the other day.

He was in charge of the Montezuma National Forest (Durango, Colo.), the Colorado (now Roosevelt) National Forest, Estes Park, Colo.; the Cleveland National Forest, San Diego, Calif., and was regional-public relations director for six states, with headquarters at Denver, until he was called in to Washington in 1924 to become the forest service's No. 1 evangelist.

Since then, he has traveled so many miles, he would make an Air Transport Command pilot seem like a stay-at-home. He was lectured to everything from a fistful of mountaineers to metropolitan Chambers of Commerce and coast-to-coast radio hook-ups.

He's credited with being directly responsible for addition of half a million acres to the Roosevelt National Forest; the first game refuge in California in 1912; and he wrote the bill creating the first game refuge in Colorado.

Wheeler also is responsible for the new general plan of forest look-out towers, although he admits the idea wasn't his. It originated with some now forgotten ranger in the Cleveland forest who built a look-out tower on a mountain top, without authority of his superiors. He was afraid the boys would think he was just a guy and didn't want to do his patrol duties.

Wheeler, in a general way, probably knows more than any one in the country about the nation's forests and those of Mexico and the West Indies as well.

Only a paragraph in the Forest Service bulletin called attention to his retirement. Washington is too busy to stop for retirement ceremonies these days. But some one should pause to reflect that the Nazis might be having a pretty easy time of overrunning the globe if it weren't for the foundations laid by some of the old government career men like H. N. Wheeler.

as to the number and location of certain plants of the Western Electric Company in Ohio manufacturing war materials.

Grace Buchanan-Dineen secured information as to the production capacity of the Ford Motor Company in manufacturing war materials. The safety of construction of such plants against sabotage, the safety of construction of the plants against air plane attack and bombing and the operation plans of the United States by which military airplanes departed from this country for the war theater.

The Justice Department said the arrests were the first under the war-time espionage statutes, which provide a death penalty or up to 30 years imprisonment. Previous espionage arrests were made under peace time statutes, which did not provide the death penalty.

Hoover said the activities of the group since this country's entry into the war centered about Grace Buchanan-Dineen, described as his "personal secretary," who, although a native of Canada, had been carefully trained by Germans in espionage work.

Hoover said she entered the United States on October 27, 1941, arriving in New York by Atlantic clipper. She first came to the attention of the FBI, Hoover said, as a mysterious "Miss Smith of Detroit," in November 1941.

Subsequently, Hoover added, she "cooperated fully with the FBI in receiving information desired by the German espionage service when it became apparent to her that she could not carry out the instructions of her Nazi employers."

Hoover said she had operated under the surveillance of the FBI, and all information reported to her and forwarded to her Nazi espionage superiors abroad had cleared through the FBI, and army and navy intelligence services.

Pietro Badoglio had decided to declare Rome an open city without further delay.

The broadcast added that such a decision had been communicated to the Allies through the Vatican two weeks previously.

It said the decision had been made because of the repetition of Allied air raids on the city. American bombers first attacked the Italian capital July 19, and returned there on Aug. 13.

Today's Stefani broadcast declared that steps had already been taken to neutralize defensive installations and orders had been given to anti-aircraft batteries not to fire on planes over the city, while Italian interceptor planes were directed not to defend the capital.

Stefani added that the Italian government had asked "the Swiss government and the Holy See to brook the governments of London and Washington that the Italian government had adopted the following measures:

"Defensive installations of the city of Rome have been put out of action and the order has been given to the anti-aircraft batteries not quality good. Growers apparently were satisfied. Between 300,000 and 400,000 pounds were on the floors there.

Washington reported fair to good quality and total poundage of about 225,000. The price range was from 20 to 45.

The Ahoskie market sold 50,000 pounds for an average of 42.7 the first hour and farmers seemed satisfied. Good quality ranged from 19 to 45 cents.

Smithfield reported an unofficial average of about 41 or 42 cents, with between 600,000 and 700,000 pounds, mostly of common quality, on the floors. No tags were reported turned.

Meanwhile, Governors Broughton of North Carolina and Darden of Virginia were on their way to Washington, along with agriculture leaders and state officials, to see if they couldn't get the OPA ceiling raised to 47 cents.

They will confer with congressional representatives of the three states tonight, and will meet with OPA and CCC representatives tomorrow to see if they can't get the ceiling raised.

Gov. Broughton, who refused to predict the outcome, said that the North Carolina blue-cured growers were entitled to more than the 41-cent average set for Georgia Florida growers because the Tar Heels grade and tied their leaf while the Georgia-Florida growers did not. This added to the cost of production, he said, and should be taken into consideration in setting the ceiling.

To Launch New Hornet Monday

Newport News, Va., Aug. 24—(AP)—The Navy's second aircraft carrier Hornet will be launched here Aug. 30 to replace the fighting flatfoot from whose flight deck Brig. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle and his army fliers took off to bomb Tokyo in April of last year.

The new ship's predecessor, which was also built at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company plant, was sunk in the Santa Cruz islands after striking savage blows at the Japanese for five months.

Commissioned on October 20, 1941, the first carrier Hornet lived only a year but her log showed five months of destructive warfare against the enemy. On the day she perished the task force of which she was a member shot down 156 Jap planes. All but 129 of her complement of 2,900 men were rescued.

Adams Rotary Club Speaker

By WYATT BROWN
The United States must give the idea of peace a new meaning in place of the former static meaning of quiet and lassitude warned Dr. Carl Adams, chairman of the International Service Committee, in his brief remarks before the Rotary club last night. The new meaning should be that peace comprehend the maintenance of an ideal or purpose in life or international relations.

In picturing International Rotary in the world today Dr. Adams said there are 210,000 Rotarians and 6-188 clubs. Only Denmark of the Axis occupied countries keeps its Rotary clubs. The others have had their charters officially revoked. He told how Rotary is divided into six regions and each region into districts. Greenville lying in the 189th district.

In contemplating the ideals of Rotary International Dr. Adams said he certainly found the ideals and principles of Rotary in the new idea in international relations called Lend-Lease.

The word "peace" got into the English vocabulary in 1150. Dr. Adams said he found from the social registry of words—the dictionary—the only stretch of peace was under Rome and it lasted for several hundred years but was a peace of force. At all other times there have been spots of peace over the face of the globe but there has usually been a war somewhere. That was the past when peace had its negative meaning, people now see it must have a new meaning since it has to answer social, political, economic, technological and geographical question for the world, Dr. Adams brought out.

The following Rotarians from Bethel visited the Greenville club last night: J. P. Harris, R. E. Riddick, C. G. Garrington, W. J. Smith, Jerry Manning, A. M. Whorter, M. M. Johnson, J. L. Curran, Jim Phillips, K. E. Manning. Guests of the club were D. W. Alexander, W. E. Thompson, Leon B. Fleming, all of Greenville and Bob Lighter of Greensboro. John G. Fleming, club president, presided.

RAF Wellingtons from the Middle East attacked barracks at Lindos on the island of Rhodes.

While the air war thus continued in full swing an Allied naval communiqué disclosed that two French light cruisers, La Fantasque and Terrible, are operating in close cooperation with other Allied forces in the Mediterranean.

The two French vessels, which were in North African ports when the Allies landed last November, were originally listed as destroyers. They are of 1,569 tons, carry five 5.5 inch guns in addition to other armament, and have a normal complement of about 230 men. On trial runs La Terrible attained a record speed of 45 knots.

A sister ship, La Triomphante, was last reported operating with fighting French naval forces. The class of which these vessels are a part originally consisted of six ships, one of which—L'Audacieux—was sunk in action with British forces at Dakar Sept. 28, 1940.

(Today's Italian communiqué broadcast by Rome and recorded by the Associated Press asserted that German planes raiding Palermo in Sicily hit 11 merchant ships and three warships, and two merchantmen totalling 9,000 tons, and two destroyers "may be considered sunk."

(Allied planes raided Carbonia, Bari, and localities on Naples' outskirts, the communiqué added, asserting that five were shot down).

In five days since last Thursday, Allied fliers have sent down at least 149 Axis planes in air fights.

The Allies ruled the skies at least temporarily over southern Italy.

Official records at headquarters here show that Axis air losses in nine months since the Allied landings in North Africa have passed the 4,500 mark. This includes 2,833 destroyed in aerial combat, and about 1,700 captured on airfields in Tunisia, Pantelleria and Sicily, but does not take in the enemy machines blown to pieces on the ground.

Photographic reconnaissance in the meantime, showed even more extensive damage to the Italian mainland railroad system than gleaned from previous questioning of crewmen.

A'S NEARING RECORD HIGH IN GAMES LOST

Double-Header Tonight May See Major League Record Broken

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Athletics seem to know enough about baseball to understand that record books can be opened either from the front or the back.

Whether this is "book larnin" or baseball skill isn't worth arguing, because you would have a hard time imputing any other kind of baseball talent to the awkward A's and, left to their own devices, they have a chance to set a modern major league record.

This record, of course, is for losing games. Connie Mack's mean-spirited troupe lost two more to the Chicago White Sox last night 7-6 and 7-0 to make 10 consecutive defeats.

This is just one short of the longest losing streak in the big leagues since the turn of the century, and the A's not only have a chance to tie this time-worn standard tonight, but to wipe it out. They are scheduled for another twilight-night doubleheader at Chicago.

If they hurdle this obstacle in record-breaking style, the 1943 Athletics will have carved a niche in diamond history and they might even pass the losingest team of all-time, the 1899 Cleveland club in the National league which tossed off 24 consecutive defeats.

The A's had a chance to win their twilight tussle last night. Going in to the ninth inning tied, Bob Estalella sparked a two-run homer that put them in front. This was too much for the Athletics, however, and in the last half of the inning, after Guy Curtwright had homered with one on to tie the score, relief pitcher Russ Christopher walked his rival moundman, Gordon Maltzberger, with the bases loaded to force in the winning run. In the second game Orval Grove pitched a six-hit shutout.

The New York Yankees bounced back against the Detroit Tigers to win 4-1 with Bill Zuber pitching six-hit ball and Joe Gordon and Nick Eiten each driving in two runs. Gordon's came on his 12th home run.

The Boston Red Sox beat the Cleveland Indians 9-7 in spite of home runs by Jeff Heath and Roy Cullenbine and a four-run eighth inning rally by the Tribe.

Washington's struggling Senators rallied for five runs in the tenth inning, to beat the St. Louis Browns 10-5 after Stan Spence had hit two home runs in the regulation distance, but the Browns beat their former teammate, Johnny Niggeling allowed only six hits to seven given by Nelson Potter, but he forced in one run with a walk and set up another with a wild pitch.

In the only game in the National league the St. Louis Cardinals breezed to a 14-5 triumph over the Boston Braves with a 19-hit attack in which all the Redbirds shared.

Manager Leo Bradley explained that the reason why Jackie Callura lost his featherweight title to Phil Terranova was that he stopped weaving when he was hit. In other words, instead of zigging when he should have zagged, he just didn't zig at all. ... Monte Pearson, former Yankees pitcher, is toying with the idea of taking up pro boxing. ... The only "town team" entered in Ray Mumont's 1943 national semi-pro baseball tournament represented Sharpsburg, Ohio, a community of 80 homes. ... The townspeople raised the dough to send their boys on to Wichita after they won a regional tournament at Winchester, Ind.

Henry A. Sullivan, Salem (Mass.) Evening News—"The coming football season promises to be remembered more for its long walks than its long runs." (May be so, Henry, but there'll still be a few players who can run).

In The Rough

When Ivan Dible was playing Wayne McCoy in the finals of the Topeka, Kas., country club golf championship a few weeks ago Dible's ball lodged against the rim of a sand trap. ... Ivan gave it a terrific whack with his sand wedge, and the ball curved upward and landed in the pocket of his sports shirt. ... Golf course lawyers at once raised the question of whether it was an unplayable lie or whether Dible had lost the hole because the ball had touched his person. ... The dispute was settled, explains Don Pierce, when Dible not only conceded the hole but dropped the match to boot—which, at least, gives Topeka's sports writing pro footballer the prize for the season's worst pun.

Army Flier Speaks Lions Club Meeting

Lieut. Vernon Tyson, United States Army Air Corps, who saw service in the African and Sicilian campaigns, who recently returned to this country, was guest speaker at the weekly session of the Lions' club last night. The Greenville pilot had a lifetime of experience in battles. He impressed his hearers when he told of the hardships men on the battlefronts have. The men in the service endured a temperature of 130 or 140 degrees in the day, uncomfortably cold nights and suffered for lack of water at times. Lieut. Tyson's talk was interesting and impressive. He is a son of Mrs. Ray Tyson of this city. He is spending a 30-day furlough here before going back on duty.

The program was entertaining and interesting. A fine spirit of fellowship prevailed at the supper meeting. President Godfrey Oakley presided.

As the summer days are coming to a close we must turn our minds towards fall and fall activities as we are making plans and planting fall gardens, it must be remembered that we need to save all seeds possible. Care should be taken how we cure and store them.

Quite often a most satisfactory garden can be planted at this time of the year. Here are some of the things to plant in your garden: mustard, spinach, turnips, kale, beets, cabbage, collards, and parsley. Use 3-8-7 analysis of victory garden fertilizer for fall and winter gardens.

Here too are a few things to be done at this time of the year—Cut tobacco stalks early and turn roots. Cut fire wood for winter. Spray apple trees for bitter and black rot disease. Prepare land for sowing small grain. Don't let hay crops get too old. Sow now for fall grazing. Be sure all livestock has plenty of water. Let work stock rest as often as possible and drink plenty of water.

A very happy afternoon was spent Thursday at the farm of Mr. William Evans, Ayden, Route 2, when 100 farmers and farm friends met at a picnic hour to enjoy a barbecue and other good things. The dinner was spread at the barns under shelters that stretched from one barn to the other. The barn yards were so clean they looked like a high school campus. The shelters were lighted with electric lights and a radio made music from the same current. One could hardly believe he was at a tobacco barn.

The hospitality of Mr. Evans and family was certainly fine. One could not help but feel at home. While the picnickers enjoyed themselves the Negro county agent and the Negro farm labor agent spoke on labor problems. The pictures of the group were made by Mr. Warren of this city.

One thing that is gratifying to all is how the farmers and workers have gotten along so well together. If anything went wrong no one knew it. Neither side talked about the other, all workers expressed themselves as wanting to go back and the farmers talked as if they wanted them back. —Dennis Dupree, Negro County Agent.

The biggest explosions were seen in the middle of Berlin, the fliers reported. German broadcasts insisted that both British and American bombers participated. There was no support here for that report, although American airmen likely went along in some of the British planes and the RAF possibly used some American-owned Liberators.

The Nazis first said 50 raiding planes were shot down, but shortly raised that to 80, saying they were "mostly four-engined bombers."

The attack had been expected for several weeks as a logical follow-up to the mass bombings which pulverized the German seaport of Hamburg in July. The last heavy raid on Berlin was staged by the RAF March 29, when 21 bombers were lost.

The German capital has been a target since that time for small forces of British Mosquito bombers, which have struck at the city eight times—the first time on May 19 and the most recent last Thursday night's attack on Berlin caused civilian casualties and damage in residential quarters. Several other places were attacked in addition to the capital said the broadcast.

Berlin apparently had been expecting the attack. Swedish newspaper correspondents in the German capital reported several weeks ago that the tremendous bombings of Hamburg had created great anxiety in Berlin and that the population feared the city would be next on the Allied blitz list.

The Swedish reports said that civilians, elderly persons and all German citizens not engaged in essential occupations were being evacuated from Berlin and that air raid precautions were being stepped up on all sides.

The night attack on Berlin was preceded by a daylight raid by American medium bombers on St. Omer, 22 miles southeast of Calais, France, where they blasted away at the freight yards and a German flying field. The raid was the first on the rail point in two months.

Roosevelt And . . .

Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill said that in the field of the conflicts against the Japanese, as in the European theater, they had received and approved unanimous recommendations of their combined chiefs of staff.

"Agreement was also reached," they said, "upon the political issues underlying or arising out of the military operations."

The President and Prime Minister apologized to the press for being unable to provide them with an exciting announcement on results of the war deliberations here and for their inability to describe it with a slogan or phrase which might mark it for the future.

Churchill voiced hopes, however, that events in weeks and months to come would justify the hard work which he said had been expended here in Quebec on the Allied plan for victory.

On the whole, the British Prime Minister said, things are better than when he met the President at Casablanca and at Washington last May. Another great operation has been successfully accomplished, he said, with all Sicily prostrate—but apparently enjoying it.

Churchill said he looked forward to great steps being taken to beat down the enemy one after another. Strong and healthy accomplishments have been achieved in Quebec, he added.

After referring to the superiority which the Allied arms had obtained in equipment and munitions and the growing successes against the submarine menace in the Atlantic, Churchill predicted that Britain and the United States would be able to bring the whole weight to bear on the foe—the blows to come with what he termed the superb operations of our ally, Russia.

The developments to be brought about by the growing power of Allied might, the Prime Minister said, should help the anxious, suffering millions of the world to come out of the dark valley through which they have had to toil for four long years.

Churchill hastened to remark, when prompted by Mackenzie King, that he was thinking of the British and the French, China, of course, he said, has been in the war for seven years. The Quebec conference, the Prime Minister declared, is a milestone on the path towards bringing the period of world tribulation to an end. No doubt, he said, there will be others.

Mr. Roosevelt chose in his remarks to stress the part the people of the Allied nations are playing in the effort to bring total victory. Conferences are important, he said, but so are the efforts of the people in the mills, factories, and fields.

Churchill applauded his statement. All in all, the President said, the conference has been a tremendous success.

He and Churchill, Mr. Roosevelt continued, had sat up into the early morning hours trying to prepare some spot news for the press conference and had failed utterly.

On his theme of the manner in which the people are assisting, Mr. Roosevelt said that the war was not being run by conferences alone, since the problem goes far deeper than that. The war effort in the field has gone extremely well, he said, but it is from the average citizen that soldiers get the things they eat and wear and the ships which move them.

There has been a magnificent effort in all of the Allied countries, the chief executive declared, and it must be kept to a high pitch.

Military, naval and air men can not win the war alone, Mr. Roosevelt added, but must have their work implemented by the people in vital industries.

Reviewing a bit of past history which preceded that which has been made here in Quebec, Mr. Roosevelt recalled how it took weeks and months to prepare some offensive action. When he and Churchill met in Washington in June, 1942, with things looking pretty dark, he said, the Allies were pretty much on the defensive around the world.

But at that time, the President
