Russians Continue Offensive Against Retreating Nazis

Autumn Rains Slackening Pace of Drive; Germans Reported Fleeing In Disorder Toward Dnieper River; Reds Within 80 Miles Of Kiev

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Moscow, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The Soviet army newspaper Red Star reported today that a Russian night attack broke the German intermediate line defending Lozovaya in the central Ukraine as the Red army pressed a general advance toward the Dnieper.

The autumn rains had started falling in the Ukraine, the dispatch said, bogging down roads and fields and slackening the speed of maneuvers, but the tanks and motorized infantry continued to slog forward in pursuit of the retreating enemy.

No further reports of the position around Bryansk were issued since yesterday's dispatches said the Red army marched to within view of the city. (The Germans have reported they evacuated Bryansk.)

The Soviet drive west across the Ukraine proceeded steadily despite the admitted difficulties created temporarily by the mud.

Lozovaya, 30 miles northeast of Pavlograd and 65 miles northeast of Dnepropetrovsk, was the last of the old Ukrainian bastions left to the Germans. It served as one of the main defenses south of Kharkov during the first winter offensive and was the scene of one of their counterattacks during the second winter. It was the high water mark of the Russian counter-offensives in the south.

Red Star said the Russians were advancing toward Lozovaya along the railroad running west from Slaviansk through Barvenkova, both of which have been captured. The Germans attempted to block the drive along the railroad to Lozovaya, the newspaper said, taking stand on an intermediate line on a river bank near an undesignated railroad station. Big infantry forces and numerous fire-points were detected there by Russian scouts.

Issue New Ration Book Next Month

Washington, Sept. 15.—(AP)—A nation-wide ration book for ration book No. 4, which the Office of Price Administration hopes will be the last ration book of the war, will be held within the last ten days of October.

An OPA spokesman, in disclosing plans today for distribution of the new set of coupons, said it was hoped the book would be used in conjunction with Book No. 3 and with glass or plastic tokens scheduled for distribution after Jan. 1.

The decision to hold another schoolhouse registration, instead of distributing the book by mail as was done with No. 3, is based on OPA's desire to get the new coupons into use in November. The books will be issued out at the registration, saving time, labor and expense.

Exact dates and places of registration in each community will be determined by regional and local rationing officials.

Calls For Eradication Jap Influence In Asia

Washington, Sept. 15.—(AP)—China's first major declaration of policy on post-war territory in the Far East, voiced by Foreign Minister T. V. Soong, called today for complete eradication of Japanese influence in strategic Korea and Formosa.

Japan annexed the Korean peninsula in 1910 but patriots have fought Nippon's domination ever since and even now have a "Free Korean" organization.

Formosa, an island between Japan and the Philippines, was ceded to China after the Sino-Japanese conflict in 1895. Soong says this area, equal to about Massachusetts and Connecticut, is essentially Chinese.

Soong laid down this tentative blueprint of Chinese aims at a

JAPS FACING DEATH AT LAE

Allied Forces Now Within Mile Of Airdrome

By OLEN CLEMENTS

Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Japanese faced with annihilation at Lae, New Guinea—a fate which has overtaken most of the routed Salamaua garrison—fell back today before Allied pincer forces from prepared positions on two sides of the big air base.

Thunderous artillery exchanges and aerial bombardments by both sides intensified the struggle. Allied forces landed from the sea above Lae on September 4 now stand only a mile from the southern end of the Malahang airdrome, the bigger of two at Lae. This force reached that point by seizing the village of New Yanga, half way between the airdrome and the Bushi river.

Americans and Australians who landed from big transport planes in the Markham valley September 5 have swept through two prepared positions west of Lae and are expected momentarily to engage in bitter fighting with Japanese in Heath's plantation, eight miles from the town. Enemy patrols already have been encountered near the plantation.

Eighteen miles below Lae, where the Allies have captured the airdrome and harbor town of Salamaua, General MacArthur's headquarters said "the enemy is completely routed and his forces destroyed." Only a few scattered groups succeeded in fleeing into nearby jungles.

"Their eventual annihilation is certain," today's communique stated. The opposing air forces exchanged blows but the most damaging one was delivered by the Allies against the Japanese New Guinea. On airmen in that area, 350 miles above the ground front, the Allies in five raids during August destroyed more than 360 enemy aircraft, many of them caught wingtip to wingtip on the ground.

Monday's bomb and fighter attacks in the airdrome at Dagua were situated in a similar line-up by Liberators which set between 20 and 25 of them ablaze. Ascertaining lightnings tangled with swarms of enemy fighters shooting down eight for certain and probably four others. Three Liberators were lost but all the Liberators reached home.

More Italian Ships Reach Allied Base

Nicosia, Cyprus, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Eight Italian vessels, including a gunboat and two minesweepers, reached this eastern Mediterranean port today, carrying about 200 Italians from the Dodecanese islands who told stories of fierce fighting going on there between Italians and Germans.

The refugees included a number of Italian military officers, who exchanged their automatic pistols for biscuits and tea—the first tea, many said, that they had tasted in three years.

The small armada flying the Italian flag, was escorted along the Cyprus coast by a British naval launch. With the gunboat and minesweepers were three auxiliary schooners and two small cargo ships.

Patrol Vessels Clash

London, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The Berlin radio reported today that German coastal patrol vessels had fought several short engagements with British motor torpedo boats off the Dutch coast early this morning and said two of the British craft had been damaged.

There was no immediate confirmation here of the reported action press conference yesterday.

He said Korea should be made independent and Formosa should become a part of the republic of China.

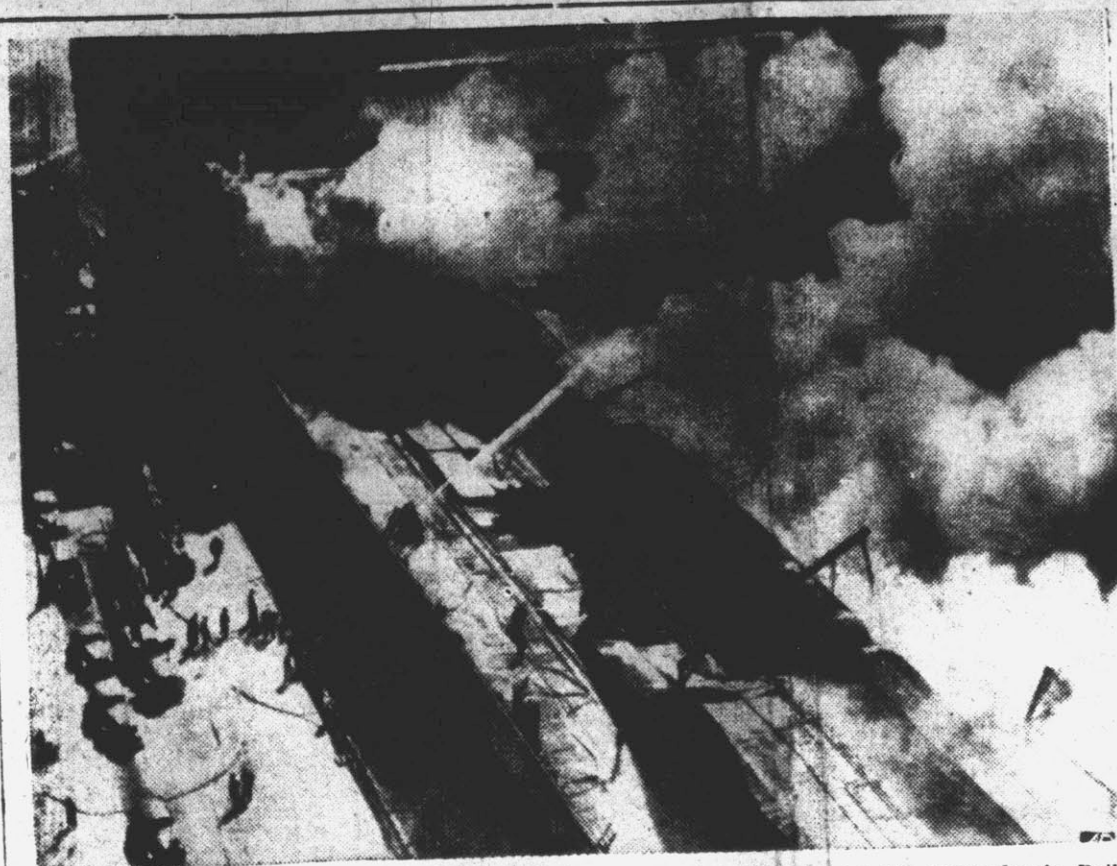

"We don't want to see Thailand even though they're fighting us," ruled by anyone but the Thais," Soong added, and China moreover has no desire to control Indo-China.

He said he wasn't prepared to discuss the future of Hongkong and Mongolia at this time.

He told reporters Japan was constantly bombarding Chungking with peace proposals, growing in liberality as the Allies exert more military pressure on the farflung Japanese outposts of empire.

PROPOSES NEW FOOD PROGRAM

Says Farmers Will Produce If Given Opportunity

Chicago, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Frank Gannett, Rochester, N. Y., publisher, proposed today a two-point program designed to improve the nation's food situation.

First, he said in an address written for delivery before the Chicago Executives Club, "produce all we can by eliminating all restrictions and obstacles that have decreased production."

"Remove every restraint on the farmer, give him the labor he needs, the machinery, the tools, the supplies. Tell him to go to it. Leave him alone and give him assurance of an even break, and I'll place my trust in the American farmer any day."

"Tell the farmer that he will receive, fair prices for his products—prices high enough to enable him to hire labor and buy supplies in a competitive market."

"The second point in my two-point program is to make shading of food easy."

"If we are to have price ceilings on food I believe they should be on the retail price and at levels that will reasonably cover cost of production and handling. No one is going to produce or distribute food at a loss."

"If we are to continue controls and regulations the whole business must be put in the hands of men who know agriculture and all its phases. And these men must have full authority."

Gannett charged that "there has been no well-thought-out food plan," that "instead of encouraging production, it seems that almost everything possible has been done" (Continued on Page Six)

New Attack On Hitler's Europe Seems Imminent

British Ninth Army Reported Moving Toward the Balkans

London, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Unconfirmed reports reaching London from Stockholm via Ankara today said that the British Ninth Army—a force which the Germans assert has been designated for an Allied drive into the Balkans—was on the move today from its Middle East bases facing the island pathway into Greece.

British military officials had no comment to make on the Ankara reports, published in the Stockholm Svenska Dagbladet, which said that the Ninth Army, commanded by Lt. Gen. W. H. Holmes, had embarked for an "unknown destination."

The dispatch coincided here, however, with authentic accounts of ferment in the Balkans of sweeping new successes by Yugoslav guerrillas, and reports of fierce fighting between German and Italian troops in the Dodecanese islands off the Turkish mainland.

The Algiers radio, in a broadcast recorded here by the Associated Press today again forecast that "important new military developments are imminent," and it was pointed out that the surrender of the Italian navy has cleared the Mediterranean for any assault against German positions in southern Europe.

Bases of the ninth army in Syria and Transjordan are only 400 miles from the island of Rhodes and less than 600 miles from Crete. Axis outposts in the Mediterranean.

A summary of accounts of Balkan unrest reaching here gave this picture: Yugoslavia—Foretelling German and Croat troops, partisan forces reportedly have occupied more than 100 miles of the Dalmatian coastline on the Adriatic sea opposite Italy. The WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Difficulties such as our troops are encountering on the beaches of Salerno are bound to cause worry among the folks back home, especially since casualties apparently have been severe, but there's no reason we shouldn't regard with complete confidence the general position of our battle with the Hitlerites in Italy.

Even if the Fifth Army units had to withdraw entirely from Salerno, as the living German propaganda machine yesterday said they were doing, it wouldn't represent a major defeat.

In order to have a correct picture of the situation we must know that the Nazis have no expectation whatever of preventing Allied occupation of Italy. Their tactics represent an act of desperation which is being carried out largely to try to restore in some degree their shattered prestige, and partly in the hope of delaying the Allies in undertaking other invasion operations.

Our troubles at Salerno haven't been due to the massing of great German strength but to the fact that the Hitlerites were well established with artillery on the hills overlooking the landing-stages. Our boys had to struggle ashore under heavy gunfire from the heights, and doing it they way up the sloping beaches in the face of fierce attacks from tanks and infantry.

It doesn't take a big force to defend such admirable positions as are held by the Germans. Actually they are said to have one infantry and two mechanized divisions—or parts of divisions—in the Salerno sector. Full divisions would represent between 35,000 and 40,000 men. Concentration of these troops on the heights has made it extremely difficult for us to create a heavy attacking force from our invasion unit at the beachhead. However, the Yanks obviously have done a sizeable job, for at last reports they were holding a 24-mile beachhead and were in possession of the city and were in possession of some 70,000 inhabitants.

Apparently in the early stages of the fighting we did have to withdraw from one point in the beachhead and sent it in at another place. So far as information from Allied headquarters goes this represents the sole excuse for Berlin's claims that we were withdrawing wholesale and were beaten. On the contrary, latest advances are that General Eisenhower is pouring reinforcements into the Salerno battle and that the sea is black with transports in that area.

HEARINGS ON FATHER DRAFT

Army Officials Oppose Change In Present Plans

Washington, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The army high command today sharply rejected congressional proposals that planned induction of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers be postponed or canceled.

Urging that Selective Service be permitted to go forward with its program for taking such fathers after October 1, Lt. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, deputy chief of staff, warned Senate and House Military committees that any reduction in the prospective draft pool would necessitate a change in the nation's strategic commitments.

An army of 7,700,000 by the end of this year is "the minimum force required for the tasks ahead," he said.

Undersecretary of War Patterson, following McNarney as a witness in hearings on the explosive issue, told the legislators that "production of fathers would 'go to pieces' if the deferment of fathers disrupted the present selective service schedule."

Specifically opposing the bill by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) to postpone father-inductions for the remainder of the war, Patterson said: "If the proposal were adopted, the men to be added to the military forces would necessarily be the non-fathers who are doing skilled work in munitions plants. In that case, our production of planes would go to pieces and with it would go our surest means of victory."

Declaring that a shortage of labor in aircraft plants "is cutting down the number of planes that might be produced for waging war against our enemies," Patterson said he believed the only solution to be enacted by congress of national service legislation for compulsory manpower controls.

While Patterson said there is no question that manpower, if correctly used, is adequate to win the war, he stated it would not be adequate if the 6,000,000 fathers of draft age were told that they "had no obligation, military or industrial, toward winning the war."

During McNarney's testimony, sharp statements by committee members developed over the question of specific data on men now in training. Senator Millikin (R-Colo.) asked that the high command give a specific answer to charges that adequately trained men are being kept unnecessarily long in army camps in this country. McNarney said he could not answer questions of this nature in open session. He was then instructed by Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) to produce concrete figures for committee members and other (Continued on Page Three)

Driver Killed In Highway Accident

Fred Lancaster, 18, was killed last night when the car he was driving turned over several times, hurling him a considerable distance and fracturing his skull. Leon T. Lancaster is a son of Mrs. Dennis Lancaster and the late L. H. Lancaster of the Black Jack community.

A coroner's jury found that Lancaster came to his death by accident in the car he was driving. Coroner Griffin H. Rouse stated.

SEEKS REPEAL VICTORY TAX

Says Tax Collecting Should Be Simplified

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY

Washington, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Repeal of the 5 per cent victory tax was proposed by a member of the House Ways and Means Committee today as a cure for the decimal point jitters suffered by many income tax payers.

Rep. Robertson (D-Va.) member of the committee which originated the tax, said there must be some simpler way of collecting the $2,000,000,000 a year netted from the victory levy.

Capitol Hill heard meanwhile that the administration probably would present to Congress Sept. 20, not a specific program to raise more wartime revenue, but several alternative plans for digging deeper into taxpayers' pockets.

The administration's tax procedures were reported to have been decided upon finally yesterday at a White House conference.

Robertson did not suggest a specific substitute for the victory tax, but some authorities were known to be discussing a 5 per cent sales tax as a possible alternative. However, congressional tax leaders privately expressed doubt that there is much prospect for enactment of a (Continued on Page Six)

Clark's Army Weathers Crisis And Gains New Positions; Reinforcements Land Along 27 Miles Of Coast South Of Salerno; British Withdraw In 67 Miles

By NOLAN NORGAARD
Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Allied troops have beaten off fierce German counter-attacks against the Salerno bridgehead in Italy but were forced last night to yield some ground gained earlier, in order to straighten their lines.

New support came to Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces—the strongest air attacks of the Mediterranean war and the thunder of naval guns offshore.

Today's Allied communique disclosed that savage, close-quarter combat raged along the whole Fifth Army from Salerno to Agropoli 27 miles south, with both sides throwing heavy reinforcements of troops and armor into battle.

British Eighth Army troops speeding up the west coast to support the landing drove through the village of Belvedere, 67 air miles from Agropoli, to close the gap between Allied forces to some 30 miles of coastline by land.

Heavy, sea-saw fighting swirled in the Salerno sector, and the northwest African air force hurled all planes at its command against the Germans, flying more than 2,000 sorties from dawn Tuesday to dawn today in the greatest air attack ever witnessed in this theater.

Not a single Allied plane was lost. The Nazis managed to bring up more troops to the Salerno sector despite the concentrated pounding of roads by Allied aircraft, and elements of at least one more division—the German 29th motorized—were identified in action against the Allies. At least three others, the Hermann Goering, and 15th and 16th armored divisions, already were in the battle.

Allied naval forces were landing reinforcements all along the Salerno-Agropoli front despite German interference, and the Naval communique announced occupation of Capri island west of Salerno on Sunday.

The land communique reported that "in some places our troops have been forced to yield ground, but new positions are being consolidated." Both sides made "determined counterattacks," it added.

The German attacks were strongly supported by tanks that were driven back repeatedly by blistering American and British fire. One U. S. combat team alone destroyed 13 tanks.

Frost Kills Third Canada's Leaf Crop

A heavy frost in the tobacco-growing sections of Canada last Saturday night damaged nearly a third of the crop. George Kittrell of Windsor, who goes to Canada yearly to superintend curing tobacco on a large farm, stated in a letter to the Reflector. Prospects for prices are not as bright as in the threatened sections in North Carolina and labor is higher than in 10 years, he added.

In the Canadian tobacco fields prices are paid $8 a day and city hall last night. Judson Blount, vice-chairman, presided for Chairman L. B. Garrison, who was absent. Routine business was transacted, the War Bond sale was endorsed, and the auditor's report for the past fiscal year indicated that the corporation's affairs are in excellent condition.

ART CENTER GALLERY OPENS FALL EXHIBITION

(By Lucy Cherry Crisp)
Today at 3 p. m., the Community Art Center Gallery, in Sheppard Memorial Library, opens its fall exhibition season with a one-man show of paintings and sketches by James Westley White of Greensboro.

Mr. White is in Greenville for the opening of his show, and will be at the gallery to meet visitors today from 5 to 6 and again from 8 to 9 p. m.

In some measure this show, which includes 27 oil paintings and a portfolio of European sketches, is a comprehensive show of the work of Westley White as a painter, comprising, as it does, examples of his painting done over a period of years. Mr. White is a North Carolina artist, more widely known, perhaps, as a singer than as a painter, for until recent years his work was mainly in the field of music. As baritone soloist he appeared in light operas, oratorios, and similar musical presentations, making his home in New York City. Returning to Greensboro several years ago, he has devoted his major time to painting, working in this field, as he puts it, chiefly for the love of painting, and painting each subject in the manner and technique which to him seemed to suit that particular subject. This accounts, no doubt, for the various techniques and styles of painting observable in the pictures comprising the current show of his work, which includes a number of flower subjects, landscapes, still life groups, and one large portrait. In the portfolio of sketches, delicately drawn in colored pencils, are 18 scenes from Paris, Salzburg, Dover, Venice, and other places visited by the artist during his stay in Europe.

Most of the oils are available for purchase, and copies of any of the sketches may also be secured. Orders may be placed through the Community Art Center. The gallery is open each afternoon except Sunday from 3 to 5 and on Tuesdays from 7 to 9.

A rear guard of the German first parachute division encountered earlier just north of Taranto.

Naval guns blasted heavily at German positions on the mainland in the Salerno area.

One American cruiser alone fired 455 rounds in a single day at enemy tanks and machine-gun nests.

German broadcasts, which yesterday had reported the Allies were evacuating their bridgehead, admitted today that the invaders were "offering resistance near the coast under cover of naval guns," and that "the Allies have got their teeth into Salerno and even the most experienced soldiers find it difficult to push them back into the sea."

Small pieces of ground captured and repeatedly in the day's fierce conflict. The Germans made their heaviest and most determined attempt to drive the Fifth Army into the sea by sharp thrusts from the villages of Excevilla and Armonia, situated on high ground overlooking the entire southern portion of the Allied foothold in the Sele river valley.

One officer described the fighting there as "exceedingly bitter." The Allied troops withdrew there slightly, leaving the enemy holding the two villages, but with very prospect that equally violent combat would begin at the first light of dawn today.

With complete coordination never before attained by any army, navy, and air force, Allied air-raft and warships joined in support of the Fifth Army and the air force threw in the full weight of its striking power which never before was concentrated on so small an area.

Hundreds upon hundreds of Flying Fortresses, medium bombers, fighter-bombers, dive-bombers and fighters attacked roads, motor transport, troops, and gun positions immediately behind the enemy's front lines and other night bombers arrived on the assault after dark.

Hundreds of big shells were poured into Nazi positions, where troops concentrated for counterattacks by American and British cruisers and destroyers steaming close inshore despite several hit-run bombing attacks and strong counter-fire from German artillery.

Despite all this, Clark's army still was confronted with a terrific fight in its efforts to expand a small bridgehead and gain firm footholds on the high ground beyond, from which the Nazis can now command the entire beach area.

"The enemy is attacking incessantly because he realizes this is his best opportunity," the Allied officer declared. At the same time, however, reports from the front told of great confidence among the Allied forces who he explained "have proven that they can beat the Germans and know they can do it again."

Despite all this, Clark's army's rapid progress, military men said several days must elapse before Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's force could possibly reach the Salerno bridgehead and become a factor in the fighting there. Particularly since it must bring up its own supplies.

In addition, the German high command undoubtedly realizes the danger of its own position. If the Eighth army reaches that area and throws its veteran warriors into support of the Fifth Army, thus it would appear likely the British would encounter even more extensive difficulties to retard it in the 80 miles of travel through rough country full ahead of it.

A substantial force including large elements of at least one German division is known to be retreating rapidly north to join the onslaught in the Salerno area.

Instead, it is apparently being pushed north to join the onslaught in the Salerno area.

In the Taranto area, Italian troops were said to be continuing to assist Allied forces in extending their hold on and around the heel of Italy.

(The German communiqué said that one Allied group was encircled and destroyed in Nazi attacks yesterday near Salerno and Eboli to the southeast. It reported a hit on an Allied cruiser by a German motor torpedo boat, and later Berlin broadcasts said 14 Allied transports totaling 49,000 tons have been sunk in 36 hours by Nazi planes. Eight fully-laden landing were sunk or set afloat, it added.)

A naval communiqué said the U. S. and Royal navies continued to pour shore troops and supplies at the beachhead "in spite of fierce enemy resistance and air interference."

Capri was occupied by an Allied force Sunday afternoon, and defense of the island was left with Italian naval and military authorities cooperating with the Allies.

MAN ARRESTED AS NAZI SPY

Portuguese Was Selling Information To Germany

Washington, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation announced today the arrest in Newark, N. J., of John De Silva Purvis, 43, on charges that he acted as a spy for Germany.

Hoover said Purvis transmitted information to his "principals" in Europe, and on two occasions received cash payments for his services.

Purvis, a Portuguese citizen, allegedly began his espionage activities early in 1942 when he was contacted by a crew member of a neutral vessel who had been recruited by the German intelligence service. Hoover said the Portuguese admitted under questioning he had received a letter by courier from a representative of the German espionage service in Europe and that he sent a reply back by the same person who delivered the message to him.

"Purvis was contacted by at least two couriers and one of them saw him on two occasions," Hoover said. One of the representatives of the German espionage system brought to the United States a personal letter addressed to Purvis containing certain identifying code words. He also brought a list of 16 specific assignments to be covered by Purvis.

The assignments, according to Hoover, included information on warship construction, damage at Pearl Harbor, losses in sea action, convoy information, information on American bases in Central and South America and on the African coast, including mine fields.

More Air Raids. London, Sept. 15.—(AP)—A formation of large bombers flew over London this afternoon, indicating the Allies might be resuming heavy raids after a week's lull presumably due to weather conditions.

American Flying Fortresses were last out Thursday when they bombed a Paris aircraft factory and French airfields. The RAF has made no heavy raids since the Munich attack on Sept. 6.

SEE FIGHT ON POSTWAR PLAN

Varying Opinions Indicate Verbal Fireworks

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Washington, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Congress appears heading toward a lively scrap over a postwar foreign policy commitment.

Democratic leaders are striving to avoid one, but they are none too hopeful.

Some legislators in both houses want to amend pending peace-maintenance resolutions to broaden their scope. Others seek qualifying reservations which, if offered on the floor, may develop a terminology tussle similar to that which plagued the Republicans before they adopted their peace proposal at Mackinac Island.

House action may come first as a resolution has already passed through the committee stage there and awaits floor consideration. It is the proposal of Rep. Fulbright (D-Ark.) a first-termer, favoring American membership in "appropriate" international machinery with power adequate to establish and to maintain a just and lasting peace.

This resolution has the unanimous support of Democrats and Republicans on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, but Chairman Bloom (D-N.Y.) said today he was sounding out members with amendments to see whether it should be brought up on the floor under procedure forbidding or allowing amendments.

"What's the use of bringing it out on the floor if they're going to weaken it or broaden it with amendments?" he asked, adding a united front on foreign policy is extremely desirable at this time.

Rep. Cole (R-N.Y.) said if the Fulbright proposal came up under an "open rule" permitting amendments he would offer a rider to prohibit any secret international commitments.

Rep. Fulbright, asserting he saw no reason for complicating his resolution with amendments, said:

"It's not the answer to all our difficulties, but it sets a new direction for our foreign policy. Details will be evolved. Political institutions are not blueprinted. They evolve step by step. We're saying here that we want to go in the direction of collaboration."

In the Senate where about ten resolutions are pending before a Foreign Relations sub-committee, Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) indicated this group will formulate its own proposal.

With a view to attracting at least two-thirds majority on the floor, Connally says his proposal will be broad and general. The word "force" may be used, it is indicated to give with Secretary of State Hull's recent speech favoring the use of force, if necessary, to keep peace.

Hart Case To Jury In Superior Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Superior Court today taking of testimony in the action of Mrs. Jesse Mayo Hart against Eugene Hart of Ayden for maintenance and support of their two children was concluded this morning. J. B. James of Greenville, of counsel for Mrs. Hart, made the opening argument before the jury. Judge Albion Dunn, of Greenville, attorney for Hart, followed. Jesse A. Jones of Kinston, of counsel for Mrs. Hart, made the concluding argument after the noon recess. Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill finished his charge to the jury late this afternoon.

Hart, it was testified, went to Reno, Nevada, to establish residence and instituted divorce proceedings against his wife for alleged abandonment. The Utah court granted the divorce. In the mean time Mrs. Hart had instituted an action against Hart, charging abandonment and seeking maintenance for herself and children. Her suit was instituted here before Hart secured his Reno divorce, it was claimed.

Says Nazis Will Not Crack Soon

Bern, Switzerland, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Europe must count on heavy fighting through the autumn and a fifth winter of war. Col. Lecomte, military commentator of the Gazette de Lausanne, predicted today.

A repetition of the November 1918 armistice is unlikely, both for psychological and military reasons, he declared.

"One can't predict from here to November, but one should recognize that the military situation of the Axis doesn't justify unconditional surrender," he said. "The situation is, in effect, that all theaters are less critical than on a comparable date in 1918."

In the west in 1918 the Allies had several million men in northern France and never succeeded in reaching German territory, Lecomte remarked.

"It would be strange if they succeeded in crossing the Rhine this year when today there is not a single Allied soldier in France."

Coal Miners On Strike In Britain

Nottinghamshire, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Fourteen thousand coal miners are on strike in Great Britain today in protest against the imprisonment of 18-year-old Sidney Page for refusing to obey a military order to work in the mines.

The strikers ignored the advice of the union president to return and said that they would remain out until the boy was released.

The strike began Sept. 12 and has spread until 14 pits are now idle.

Under the British law the ministry of Labor is empowered to direct a person to work in a war industry.

Rumania—A state of "near crisis" was said to prevail with the government of Premier Antonescu losing its control. Antonescu, in one account reaching London, was reported to have refused a renewed German demand for more troops.

Bulgaria—Alarm over the capitulation of Italy has heightened throughout the country, with agitation for a break with Germany reportedly increasing.

Dodecanese Islands—Ankara dispatches to London morning newspapers said that German forces, using dive-bombers and tanks, have defeated a garrison of 40,000 Italian troops holding the islands. The town of Rhodes was said to have been bombed.

Reports from Cairo, however, said that despite great confusion caused by the Italian surrender, the Germans still have the Balkan situation well in hand and will have to be pried out of their positions by Allied force. Cairo heard that German troops, contrary to information received here from other sources, were moving swiftly to occupy the Dalmatian coastal areas and positions in Greece previously held by Italian garrisons.

SCRAMBLE FOR SECOND PLACE

Senators, Dodgers, Indians and Reds Contesting As Runners-up

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

In the absence of anything resembling a pennant race, the major leagues are offering the next best thing—a spirited scramble for second place in both circuits.

The glamor and gold is not the same, but the struggle between the Washington Senators and Cleveland Indians in the American League and between the Brooklyn Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds in the National is just as torrid as if the stake were first place.

The Senators, who finished seventh a year ago, are earnestly seeking the second slot this season and in the last five days have put on a spurt of five consecutive victories. This drive, coupled with a double setback for Cleveland last night, was enough to place Washington again in the American League's runner-up spot.

Playing the Boston Red Sox in a night game, the Senators had their hands full, but a single by Gerry Priddy in the seventh inning knocked in the deciding run for a 3-2 victory.

At St. Louis the Indians, who previously had won four in a row and six out of seven games, were tumbled twice by the Browns 3-0 and 7-1 in a two-night doubleheader and dropped back to third place by a game and a half.

Steve Sundra held the Tribe to four hits and Vernon Stephens, shaking off his slump, hit two home runs to win the first game.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, who moved into second place last week-end on the crest of a winning streak that numbered 14 victories in 15 games, were blanked 3-0 by the Boston Braves and saw their margin over the idle Cincinnati Reds shaved to half a game.

In the only other senior circuit encounter the New York Giants and Philadelphia Phillies, who already were scheduled for a game at 11 o'clock this morning, struggled to a 4-4 ten-inning tie in a night game that was called by baseball curfew rules at 1 o'clock this morning after twice being interrupted by weather. As the result today's program at Philadelphia was made into a morning double-header.

The New York Yankees downed the Philadelphia Athletics 6-5 with an inept exhibition and Detroit divided a double-header with Chicago. The White Sox took the first 7-1 and the Tigers the second 7-5.

The way our informant sees it, you can laugh off those three pre-season games the Redskins lost. They couldn't do much scrimmaging with a 2-man squad, he explains, and they had to get ready in a hurry for the all stars with 80 men. ... But Sammy Baugh seems to have recovered from whatever ailment was bothering him at the start and is hitting his pass receivers in his best form. ... The older players are just beginning to get into shape and when they do, they'll be tough. The Skins may lose Jack Jenkins, who looks good, but they have a whale of a defensive player in Wilbur Moore. Their only competition in the east should come from the Giants, who'll be a lot better than last year since the rookies seem to be coming along just the way Steve Owen hoped they would.

year. ... Curly Lambeau has been boasting about the Packers' line but the inside dope is that the line isn't as good as he claims. Tony Canadeo's passing to Don Hutson is okay and so is a new back named Fritsch. It'll help the Packers when Goldenberg and Brock return. ... Detroit's Lions have a good passing club but so far their running attack hasn't looked so hot. ... Frankie Sinkwich may improve that department. ... You can lump the other clubs under the "I dunno" heading, but the safest bet is that they'll all have a big season at the gate.

BUY WAR BONDS

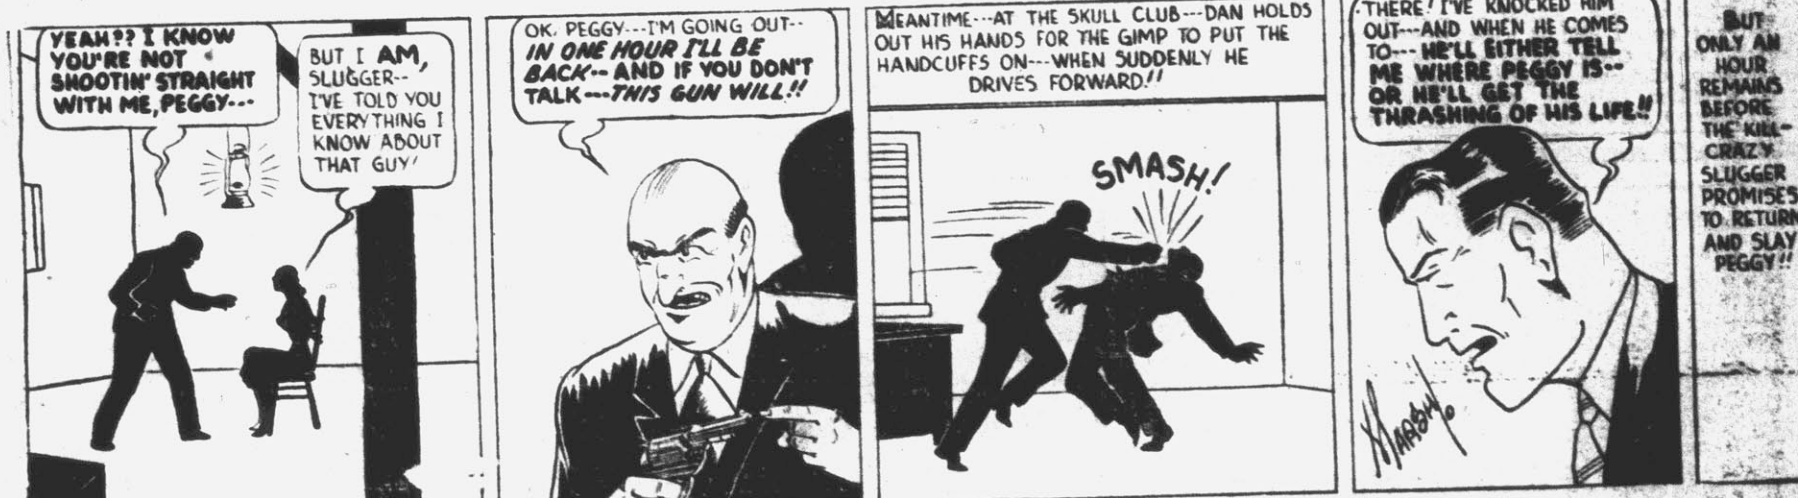

None of us will be completely happy until the day of Victory. The day our boys are back; our sons, brothers and husbands. We want our way of life to go on, and we're fighting to make sure it does. We want Jim or Bill (you know his name) to be sitting right there in his easy chair with his pipe or studying in his own room. We want to have friends in for dinner again ... and a big roast beef for them. We want to be able to take a long drive in the country, buy a new car, have fun, be happy. We want to live again on that sunny side of things of which Coca-Cola, itself, is such a symbol. There are so many things we want back. Yes, so many. None of them will come unless we win. All, and more, will come when we win. The War Bonds you buy will hasten the day ... the day of Victory.

TO USE TOKENS FOR RATIONING

Plan To Become Effective Early Next Year

Washington, Sept. 15—(AP)—Some time early next year you'll be digging tokens out of pockets or purses to get your rations of meat and fats and processed foods. While General Manager Chester Bowles of the OPA has announced the long-awaited decision to use tokens as change for food ration stamps, it'll be at least four months before they're ready.

There's much still to be decided about the tokens.

So far OPA has decided there'll be two kinds, red and blue—red for meat and fats, blue for canned and other processed foods—because the public got used to these colors in ration book No. 2.

But OPA still hasn't selected a material and has yet to approve designs and specifications for the tokens. They'll be made either of glass or plastic. Probably they'll be in a single denomination—one point each—and, therefore, all of one size. One of the problems is making them difficult to counterfeit.

The big problem, of course, is getting them manufactured. There'll have to be millions of them.

The tokens will be used in connection with ration stamps.

When the system goes into operation, a certain stamp will become good on a certain date for a certain number of red or blue points, probably 16 points. You'll turn in the stamp at the store on a purchase, get tokens in change.

It hasn't been decided definitely whether there'll be any expiration date after which a stamp can't be used, but OPA says it probably won't set a time limit. In any case, the tokens will be good any time you've got any, so expiration dates on the stamps wouldn't mean much.

OPA is well aware of the possibilities of individuals giving other persons some of their ration tokens. But it figures this factor will be canceled out by the elimination of expiration dates in this way: while gifts of tokens might bring additional purchases which otherwise wouldn't be made, the change is expected to put an end to the buying which people do simply because stamps are expiring.

Besides, OPA says the public ought to realize by now what happens when gifts of ration stamps result in purchases which otherwise wouldn't be made—the supply is reduced, therefore point values may be raised, and the person who gave away stamps has to pay more in

Elderly Negro Lost Five Days Is Found

Frank Perkins, 82, Negro, who wandered away from his home near the State Prison Camp some days ago and who collapsed in a field, was found yesterday in a serious condition from exposure. He was taken to Pitt General Hospital.

Perkins fell and was unable to get up. He remained in the field five days before a white boy discovered him and called for help.

On the left flank of these forces other Red army units battled their way west along roads from Krasnoarmeyskoye toward Pavlograd, German tank and infantry counterattacks were reported being repulsed in that sector.

The base of the Russian line on the Sea of Azov was broadened yesterday by the expansion of the occupation round Mariupol, 12 miles northwest to Volodarskoye.

In the northern Ukraine, the Soviets entered the immediate defenses of Nezhin after taking Kuznashkva, three miles east of that railway junction.

Seeks Repeal ...

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) called the Ways and Means Committee into a closed meeting tonight for a discussion with Treasury and congressional tax experts of the various proposals for simplifying the income tax return.

The meeting coincides with the deadline for the filing of some 15,000,000 returns on estimated income for 1943.

Many taxpayers have been puzzled by the double computation of income and victory taxes.

"It would be a great relief to all who must prepare payrolls, as well as to millions of taxpayers to eliminate the 5 per cent victory tax," Robertson said. "We can't escape the burden of paying war taxes. We can and should escape the burden of unnecessary red tape and complexities in the ascertainment of those taxes."
