Nazi Forces Reeling Back From Terrific Red Assaults

Russians Are Now in Kiev; Artillery Shells Rail Escape Line From Crimea; Last Formidable German Barriers Before Upper Dnieper River Front Smashed

London, Sept. 22.—(AP) The gilt church domes of Kiev, glistening in brilliant sunshine, now are visible to Soviet troops through crystal clear autumn weather, dispatches from Moscow said today.

Thus the Red army had another goal of its great summer offensive in sight, the capital of the rich Ukraine.

The German Information Bureau said in a Berlin broadcast today that the Germans had evacuated the harbor of Anapa, tiny Kuban port on the Black Sea. Anapa is about 25 miles northwest of Novorossiisk, which already has fallen to the Russians.

Adolf Hitler's badly mauled German divisions reeled back to their eastern defense wall on the Dnieper river as the Red army scored new advances along the whole length of a 750-mile front.

Dangerously weakened by the incessant hammer blows of Russian artillery, tanks, infantry and planes, the once invincible German legions apparently were being broken up into isolated units and nowhere, according to the latest Moscow bulletin, were they able to halt the surging Red army tide.

The last formidable barrier before the Dnieper on the central front was battered down yesterday when a savage Soviet drive slashed across the Desna river line between Bryansk and Kiev. With the capture of Chernigov, most important German base on the lower reaches of this river, the way was open for Red army forces to strike directly at Kiev and Gomel. The latter, 80 miles northwest of Chernigov, is the gateway to White Russia.

At Chernigov, the Russians were 30 miles from the Dnieper, 25 miles from the southern border of White Russia while the German front was less than 160 miles to the west. Stalingrad, high water mark of the German advance, is more than 600 miles southeast of Chernigov.

Another thousand odd towns and villages were liberated by Russian advances yesterday, while upwards (Continued On Page Three)

War Bond Auction Sale; Many Prizes

By CHESTER WALSH The Greenville Merchants' Association, cooperating with the Pitt County War Bond Committee in the Third Victory Loan Drive, is sponsoring a bond-buying rally and auction sale at the courthouse next Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Prizes to be auctioned off with War Bonds. Two well known tobacco auctioneers will sell the bonds, which will be delivered at the time of purchase. There will be music and other entertainment and a large crowd is expected.

C. R. McBrayer is chairman of the merchants' division of the War Bond Committee. He requests that merchants and others donating prizes to go with the bonds write their names on the packages. Many of the prizes will be of interest to farmers.

"We are hoping that Pitt county people will buy enough War Bonds to quota to meet the county's quota of $2,100,000," Herbert Waldrop, Pitt County War Bond chairman, said today. "Pitt is one of the State's leading counties in growing tobacco and we have the best tobacco market. I would like to be able to say when the campaign is over that our people did more than their part and that every farmer and everybody else in the county owns at least one War Bond." Waldrop said.

Treasury Submits New Tax Plan To President

By DONALD KOVACIC Washington, Sept. 22.—(AP)—A tax program that would take at least another dime out of every dollar of taxable individual income — but refund about 13 cents after the war — has been presented by the treasury to President Roosevelt for his opinion.

To keep lower bracket taxpayers on a pay-as-they-earn basis under such a program, the 20 per cent withholding levy would have to be shifted to at least 30 per cent. The treasury's plan calls for individual income taxes to yield at least $6,000,000,000 of the $12,000,000,000 in new 1944 revenue demanded by Mr. Roosevelt. The remainder would be accounted for from equal increases in corporation

Sardinia May Give Allies Air Bases

This is how Italian control over the island of Sardinia may ultimately provide Allied air bases from which fighter planes and bombers could attack German dominated southern France, northern Italy, and the Rome area. The dotted line is the approximate land front in southern Italy after the U. S. Fifth Army occupied Battipaglia and Altavilla.

Officials Puzzled Over MacArthur's Statement

Washington, Sept. 22.—(AP)—General Douglas MacArthur has usual military and naval news sources professedly puzzled today by his statement from Australia that he would subordinate his role in the war to that of the United States.

Predict Drive Into Balkans

By ERNEST AGNEW London, Sept. 22.—(AP)—An Allied invasion of the Balkans this year, followed by a full-scale assault on western Europe next spring, now seems probable in the light of Prime Minister Churchill's war review in Commons yesterday and developments on the fighting fronts.

Despite a vast improvement in the Allied shipping position and General George C. Marshall's assertion in Omaha that American military forces are ready to accry the attack to the enemy with "power and force," there is a general feeling in London that a front in western Europe cannot be opened before next year unless the German army suddenly cracks wide open. RAF Planes Blast Greek Airfields

Cairo, Sept. 22.—(AP)—British planes from the Middle East bombed German airbases near Athens in Greece and on the island of Crete and Rhodes in the eastern Mediterranean Monday night. Allied headquarters announced here today.

Used Truck Sales Must Be Certified

Sellers of used trucks are required to execute a "certificate of transfer of used commercial motor vehicle" at the time of sale, except if the sale is made to a dealer, states O. P. A. District Price Officer, W. A. Kavanaugh of Raleigh, to comply with revised maximum price regulation 341 which applies to all sales of used trucks.

This certificate, states Mr. Kavanaugh, designated as OPA form 694-457, is available from dealers and from the local War Price and Rationing Board, and is to be signed by the purchaser and the seller when the sale is complete and then presented by the purchaser to the Pitt County War Price and Rationing Board when he applies for his gasoline rationing coupons for use in the vehicle which he has purchased.

ALLIES GAIN NEW VICTORIES IN NEW GUINEA

Kaipit, 60 Miles Above Lae Taken; Air Activity Continues

By BOB EUNSON

Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Only two days after the fall of Lae, New Guinea, airborne troops of Gen. Douglas MacArthur seized a village 60 miles to the northwest while waves of American bombers wrecked airdromes, bridges, trucks and roads along a path of future conquest for 350 miles north.

The seizure of Kaipit by transport-down Australians last Saturday night, following quickly the overrunning of Lae the previous Thursday, was disclosed in a communique today.

This new stroke, which the Japanese futilely tried to crase by counterattacks, and the latest air strikes with 97 tons of bombs and 120,000 rounds of ammunition all the way from south of Madang up to Wewak, clearly indicated the determination of MacArthur that his victories at Lae and Salamaua shall yield quick dividends.

The Japanese airforce, obviously concerned by the upsurge of MacArthur on the New Guinea ground front and the hammering dealt by Adm. William F. Halsey's growing air might in the Solomons, struck back on both arms of the 750-mile battle arc.

Captured Kaipit is inland on the Huon peninsula behind the Markham valley positions which airborne troops seized September 5 to set in motion a pincer movement which swallowed up Lae in less than two weeks. It is not far from Bena Bena which some time ago was raided repeatedly by Japanese planes. These raids never have been explained but indicated the presence of Allied forces at Bena Bena.

The Australians who were landed on a grassy field at Kaipit Saturday night and Sunday now have driven Japanese out of that immediate area.

On Monday, more than 50 Mitchells and Flying Fortresses without a loss strewn 54 tons of bombs and 120,000 rounds of strating bullets among the Japanese command areas around Astrolabe bay, some 70 miles above Kaipit. Four important bridges on Japan's coastal supply road were blown to bits. (Continued on Page Two)

RAF Planes Blast Jap Burma Bases

New Delhi, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Royal air force fighter planes, swarming over central Burma on offensive patrol yesterday, blasted Japanese rail and river transport in widely separated areas, a British communique said today. No planes were lost in the sweeps.

Successful attacks were made on the railway north of Toung-oo, where two troop trains were strafed and heavily damaged. Japanese troops fled to nearby cover to escape the low-flying patrols. The engine of one train blew up while the other was left enveloped in steam and its tender on fire. The communique said.

Guatemala Buys Bonds

New Orleans, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Six Estrada Granados, Guatemala's consul general here, said today his country had purchased $2,000,000 in War Bonds during the Third War Loan drive.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Associated Press War Analyst) British Prime Minister Churchill has the knack of hitting the nail on the head, as he again demonstrated yesterday in his report to the House of Commons.

Outstanding was the Premier's warning of the need of cordial relations between the Anglo-American allies and their Russian colleague—a subject which long has been driving many timid statesmen to the hatter's cellar. He broached the matter by announcing that not only will there be a conference of representatives of America, Britain and Russia "at an early date" but that this will be followed by a Roosevelt-Stalin-Churchill parley.

Mr. Churchill thus approached a great issue which is causing increasing anxiety—that is, the need of ironing out important differences in viewpoint between the Anglo-American partnership and the Soviet Union. These problems are largely political and unless they are solved they will bode no good to a post-war world which will be entering a new epoch in the progress of mankind.

Marshall Promotion Hints New Allied Drive In Europe

Washington, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Disclosure that Gen. George C. Marshall has been nominated for supreme command of British and American troops around the world made it fairly obvious today that the hour for storming Hitler's European fortress is approaching with express train speed.

Japs Prepare Home Defense

London, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The Japanese government has decided to prepare "for the moving of government departments, industrial establishments and the civilian population from Tokyo as well as other important cities in the interest of improving their defense." The Tokyo radio said today.

The broadcast listed a number of drastic measures, including total mobilization of the civilian population and the abolishment of age limits to make all persons liable for national service, which it said were announced today by Premier Hideki Tojo and the government information office "in view of the decisive phase upon which the war will enter during the coming months."

In addition to the evacuation of the Japanese capital and other important cities, the Japanese government has decided to prepare "for the moving of government departments, industrial establishments and the civilian population from Tokyo as well as other important cities in the interest of improving their defense." The Tokyo radio said today.

Evacuation Of Tokyo And Other Cities Planned

Announcement of the appointment of the most extraordinary military assignment in history — climaxing a flareup of discussion over high command shifts — is expected, barring any last minute hitches, to be made soon by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

Bridgehead Extended 20 Miles; Three Towns Captured; Germans Destroying Naples; Allied Aircraft Blast Nazis Attempting Flight From Corsica

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Huge fires and demolitions scarred Naples today as the Germans hastily threw a defensive ring around the city to retard Allied armies steadily pressing outward from the Salerno bridgehead.

The great metropolis of nearly a million persons in southern Italy was described officially as overhung with smoke.

A military spokesman said the enemy was establishing a strong defense line on the approaches to Naples from the south and east, but the extent of their demolitions in and near the city appeared evidence that the Germans hoped to hold back Allied attack toward the city from the Salerno area.

The Fifth Army meanwhile fought its way steadily east and northeast from Salerno with American troops capturing the towns of Campagna and Montecorvino-Rovelli while the British chased fleeing Germans from the town of San Cipriano.

On Corsica French soldiers and native patrol pursued a German garrison estimated at 12,000 men toward the eastern shores while American Liberator bombers blasted at the principal avenue of German evacuation from the island — the Corsican harbor of Bastia and the Italian port of Leca.

The military spokesman said he had "nothing to add" to Winston Churchill's statement yesterday that American troops had landed on Sardinia; but the belief prevailed here that whatever units were sent to that island intended only to cooperate with an Italian division which already at Premier Pietro Badoglio's command took control and compelled the Germans to flee.

The French high command said today an American unit is helping French forces drive the Germans toward the northeastern corner of Corsica, and already more than 1,000 of the enemy have been slain. Several hundred German prisoners have been seized, said the communique.

Mayor Proclaims Religious Week

Co-operating with nationwide observances of Religious Education Week, Sept. 26 through October 2, Mayor B. B. Sugg today issued the following proclamation: "Whereas our community, together with the whole nation of which it is a part, is engaged in the two-fold effort to win the war and establish a just and lasting peace;

Whereas the moral and spiritual resources which qualify us for this task are rooted in the teachings of religion;

Whereas, a large proportion of our future citizens are now growing up outside the direct influence of these basic religious teachings;

Now, therefore, I, B. B. Sugg, Mayor of the city of Greenville, hereby proclaim September 26, and continuing through Sunday, October 3, as the Thirtieth Annual Religious Education Week, and request all citizens of our home community with their families to continue or to renew or to establish their allegiance to the churches of their choice and to seek for themselves and make opportunities for religious teaching and worship which are essential in establishing the spiritual foundations of freedom."

War Production Climbed To New High In August

Washington, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Munitions output spurred ahead in August, scoring its biggest gain since April, the War Production Board reported today, and now "appears to be getting its second wind."

Chairman Donald M. Nelson's monthly report said overall arms production went up 4 per cent in July, while the total of warplanes delivered jumped from 7,373 to 7,612. Heavy bombers gained 11 per cent and fighters 5 per cent.

Deliveries of naval vessels hit a new all-time record, climbing 10 per cent over July, and total work done on naval ships, ordnance and equipment passed the one-billion-dollar mark for the first time. Destroyer-escort deliveries ran 20 per cent ahead of schedule. Aircraft output, while gaining only 3 per cent in number during the month, went up 7 per cent in value and weight—a fact which Nelson said "dramatizes the trend toward heavier models, especially bombers."

"Production would have climbed even higher but for design changes," Nelson said. However, he added, "our production rate has now grown to a point where interruptions for design changes can be made without seriously threatening the flow of planes to the fighting fronts."

Nelson said plane producers have achieved "what is of paramount importance"—the most urgently needed quality. The most urgently needed quality. The most urgently needed quality. (Continued on Page Two)

BARUCH FOR FATHER DRAFT

Senate Moves Quietly To Shelve Wheeler Bill

Washington, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Bernard M. Baruch told Senate and House military committees today the armed forces are "entitled to the fulfillment of every demand" including whatever force they ask for prosecution of the war.

Testifying on the Wheeler bill to postpone induction of fathers until January 1, Baruch declared that if Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, says a specified force is required by "strategic planning," "give him what he wants."

"If you don't do that, then throw him out," the veteran adviser to War Mobilization Chief James F. Byrnes suggested.

Credit Association Buys Victory Bonds

The Greenville Production Credit Association has invested $3,000 of its funds in United States Treasury bonds offered in connection with the Third War Loan drive, Robert A. Darr, secretary-treasurer, announced today.

"For over a year this association has been issuing bonds, having been designated by the United States Treasury as one of the issuing agencies," Mr. Darr declared. "During the Third War Loan drive we are offering our services in issuing bonds to farmers and the general public. Of course, after the drive we will continue as one of the government's authorized agencies to issue bonds."

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL S. DOUGLAS

DON'T EXPECT TOO MUCH

We hear a great deal today about the marvelous world we are going to have after the war. To read some prognostications it would seem that as a result of the struggle a new world of ivory and alabaster, of mechanical perfection, of indescribably rapid transit will suddenly emerge into being.

It is to be hoped, of course, that we shall have learned something from this war and that the world will be vastly better because it has been fought. But it is not reasonable to think that by the death of millions of men and the pulverizing of scores of cities we are going to produce a Utopia, and do it overnight.

The world will probably be better after the war, but it will be only a little better. Many of the advantages will be neutralized by disadvantages. The new problems which arise "may" be offset by the benefits we get from the marvelous new inventions. There will be a period of readjustment which perhaps will make all of us squirm uncomfortably for quite a spell.

This war had to be fought because a group of gangsters led by a maniac plunged a deluded nation into a career of plunder. But the righteous necessity of the situation does not alter the fact that we will pay a high price for victory. We cannot enrich the world by destroying property, nor can we make its life better by killing millions of men. God will bring good out of the evil, but the process at best will be slow.

AIRPORT PROSPECTS PLEASING

The news yesterday that the government would like to enlarge the county-city airport if the county and city would acquire the additional land necessary was received most favorably by local residents. While official action by the city and county boards is necessary before final answer can be given, there seemed to be little doubt in the minds of our people that favorable action would be forthcoming quickly.

Most of us were jubilant when the first contract for work at the field was let by the government because we realized that we would have a good airport for civilian use after the war ends, but now that there is an opportunity to get an even larger field with greater possibilities for the handling of post-war air traffic, we should let nothing stand in the way of doing our part to make it a reality. The amount of money the city and county will have to put into additional property will be small indeed compared to the benefits our community will receive from it in the future use of the field.

Already several airlines are making inquiries about Greenville and its facilities for post-war air transportation and the better and larger the field the greater opportunities we will have of being on the main line in the post-war set-up.

We Are Near Der End Of Der Rope

FROM REPUBLIC AND GAZETTE LINDGATE REG-MANNING

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON, ICM Washington—To anyone who has followed the political history of the United States, the way in which both parties are lining up for a vigorous post-war world policy to preserve the peace must be the most heartening phenomenon to come out of this war.

When Secretary of State Hull took the air recently to declare for a post-war alliance of all nations, "with a readiness to use force, if necessary, for the maintenance of peace," it became apparent that this nation's political leaders are fully as united for winning the peace as they are for winning the war.

Nobody here doubts that Mr. Hull was speaking for the administration. No such important address would have been made without sending it over for the President to read and initial "Okay, F. D. R."

It is interesting chiefly because it came on the heels of Mackinac conference of the Republican "council of 49" where GOP leaders also put themselves on record for this nation's participation in a world alliance to maintain peace.

It is true that the council wrote into the resolution a reservation for the use "of other sanctions than force," if possible, but that shouldn't be taken too seriously. It came out of a star chamber session where conservatives definitely held the whip hand. After all, it isn't the 1944 Republican party platform and it's a fair guess that when that plank is laid down the followers of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Wendell L. Willkie, who have been outspoken in favoring an international police force, will have something to say about it.

Regardless of that reservation, it's apparent now that both parties are solidly behind post-war foreign policy in which the United States would take its proper place.

(1) In a world league of nations. (2) In a world court. Since, according to the public opinion polls and the last election returns, it may be assumed that Dewey and Willkie are speaking for millions of Republicans who think as they do, the third point on which the party leaders are virtually united may be added—namely, an international police force to see that peace is maintained.

When the time comes, there's going to be plenty of dispute over details. Make no mistake about that. Even today, leaders of both parties get their dander up when you mention such things as "League of Nations," international police forces, etc., but it's the terminology, not the principles, that they object to. The "League of Nations" as we know it has been discredited and "police force" has an ugly sound in any language. There certainly will be new terms for a new world alliance, but some sort of a world alliance there will be and for the first time in the history of these United States, our political leaders are virtually unanimous in the belief that we should become a part of it.

That certainly settles one point for the boys in the fox holes who are asking "What are we fighting for?" and caddy enough, almost all party leaders I have talked to are agreed that it was the persistent clamor for an answer to that question which has brought about this unity.

In the Wake of MURDER

By ADELIN McELFRESH

Chapter 6 Dawn found Jane wide awake. She had lain for hours, tossing and tumbling in Lucinda's old-fashioned Jenny Lind bed, trying in vain to juggle things out. Visions of Billingsley's clients and the other men and women who had called on him trotted through her mind like so many obedient sheep, but she couldn't see any of them as a murderer.

It must be someone else. Someone who knew of Billingsley's A.F. connections. Perhaps one of his fellow conspirators. She had read of things like that happening. But why had Brad seemed so reticent about the whole thing? Surely, as a government agent, he must have some opinion.

She reminded herself to ask Uncle Ed how Brad happened to be on the Chronicle staff. He must—since Uncle Ed knew of his official status—have come here to trap someone. He and Uncle Ed must be working together. Had someone beat them to it?

Sometime later, she must have drifted off to sleep; Lucinda had gone when she was awakened by the cold winter sunshine dancing across her face. The house was quiet except for the occasional groan of the steam radiators.

Jane snuggled against her pillow, pulling the comforter and blankets closer. The wind must be blowing, the way those branches bowed and purred against the sky. It was too nice a day to be so quiet with murder. But Jane knew it would be. There would be an inquest in the afternoon.

Jane dressed carefully, killing as much time as possible. She dreaded returning to her apartment. Too many happy memories had been shattered last night, along with the Ming vase. An hour's work disclosed wonders. The apartment hadn't been too badly wrecked, just contents of drawers strewn all over the three rooms and cushions upside down. She deposited the Ming vase—what was left of it—in a box in the corner of her clothes closet. Even a murderer couldn't take away the memories given her by that vase. Dad, poor darling, always with a yen to see what lay beyond the blue horizon. She smiled at the little brown box, conscious of the tears that sprang to her eyes, remembering all the places they had seen together.

Now dad was gone. Joe was gone. And she was mixed up in a murder. A spy murder, at that. Finally, when it was almost lunch time, Jane forced herself to go to the office. There would be things that had to be done and she was the only one to do them.

But no work was possible. Police Chief Jim Thompson and his chief investigator, Perry Smith, were nosing around the office suite, literally taking the place apart. They greeted her with sour faces. "Not a thing, Miss Carter," the chief said. "Not even a fingerprint."

"You," Smith offered, "the killer musta wore gloves." "Oh," Jane didn't know what else to say. She didn't want to stay here, not another minute. She had worked too hard to think that she could work. The shock was still too fresh. Already last night's butterflies were fluttering in the pit of her stomach.

Thompson shrugged into his overcoat. "Know where there's another key to this place?" he asked. "The watchman is carrying the one we used." "I have one. Here."

So he wasn't going to leave her. He was going to lock the door again. "But I was going to stay," she thought. Why did I say that? "The chief shook his head. 'Not today,' he said. 'Tomorrow, maybe, after we've gone over it again.'"

"Oh, then you're not satisfied?" "Not by a damn sight," Smith ejaculated. "The chief ignored her question. 'Would you like to ride downtown?' he asked. "Thank you I would."

Inside of ten minutes Jane was in Ed Black's office, but he was out so she went into the news room to talk to Lucinda Eddy. "Hi, girls," Brad greeted them minutes later. "What's cookin'?" "You, if you don't watch your

More than 400 Japanese planes have been wiped out since mid-August at Wewak, the last large New Guinea base remaining in enemy hands. The Japanese air force lost three fighters out of a formation of 25 which inflicted some damage and casualties in a raid on Nadzab, the airstrip 20 miles back of Lae which MacArthur's paratroopers occupied 17 days ago.

The enemy paid his biggest price of 20 planes in a raid reported today made by 30 divebombers and 20 fighters last Saturday on American positions at Barakoma, Vella Lavella island, in the Solomons. In that sector, Japanese planes also hit weakly at the Munda airfield on New Georgia and at American positions on Guadalcanal.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Votrass of Berkeley, Va., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Angela Votrass, to Mr. George N. Koutroulas of Wilmington. The wedding date has not been announced. Mr. Koutroulas is a brother of Mrs. Chris Kares of Greenville. He lived here a number of years. He is now in the Navy, stationed at Norfolk. Promoted. Macon Moye Dail, son of Mrs. Harvey Dail of Greenville, has been promoted from sergeant to staff sergeant at Camp Sibert, Ala. Methodist Student Retreat. The Council of the Methodist Student Association held its annual fall retreat September 18-20 at the Methodist Student Center, 409 Holly St., under the leadership of Miss Mamey Chandler, student counselor. An evaluation was made of the program carried out last year, and objectives considered for the coming year. The theme of the retreat was "Christian Living For These Days." Special emphasis was given to the spiritual preparation essential for leadership in the student program. Several vacancies on the council, caused by entrance of members into the armed forces, were filled. The council for the year 1943-44 is as follows: President, Mickey Boyette; vice-president, Dorothy Lewis; secretary, Sybil Beaman; treasurer, Sam Strickland; chairman of commissions, worship, Jessie Earp; personnel, Elizabeth Kittrell; assistants, Margaret Johnston, Robert Martin; world friendship, Alma Simmons; literature and training, Dorothy Lewis; recreation, Edith Wilkerson; publicity, Edna Powell; music, Genevieve Hodgins; community service, Dorothy Jean Creech. To Meet At Woman's Club. The Kiwanis Club, which has been holding its weekly supper meetings at various places during the past several weeks, will meet Friday evening at the Woman's Club. Dr. J. M. Barrett will have charge of the program. Dr. W. I. Wooten, State legislative representative, will be guest speaker and will discuss the Wagner Labor Act. The King's Daughters Meet. The Patient Circle of the King's Daughters held their first fall meeting Tuesday evening, Sept. 14, at the home of the president, Mrs. W. R. Jones, with a fair attendance. The prayer of the order was used for the opening. For the devotional the president read a selection from the Silver Cross, "Not to the Strong." This article brought out the fact that it does not take great numbers to do things, but much depends on the faithful ones. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Randolph acted in her place. Many needy cases were brought before the circle and plans were made to take care of them. The circle also voted to give donation to the Laughinghouse bed. In closing, Mrs. Perkins read a very effective selection, "Saying Grace." Tea and wafers were served by the hostess.—Reported. Methodist Prayer Service. Prayer service will be held in Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church tonight at 8 o'clock. Birth Announcement. Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Crawford announce the birth of a son, Bobby Allen, on Monday, September 20, 1943. Lamp Shades. We have a complete stock of silk lamp shades and bridge lamp shades in beautiful colors. Baker & Davis, 215 E. 4th.—(Adv.)

COLLEGE STUDENTS TO LEARN SHOPWORK AT NYA

The new students, freshmen and transfers, who were registering today at East Carolina Teachers College, were the first to hear the announcement made this morning by President Leon R. Meadows and Supt. J. H. Rose that all the students on the campus will have the opportunity at no cost to themselves to take various kinds of shop work now so much in demand for the war effort. The work referred to will be given at the former N. Y. A. Center by teachers paid by the United States Government, and will be open to the college students through cooperation of the city schools. It will include intensive courses in radio, sheet-metal work, woodwork and airplane development. Both President Meadows and Supt. Rose pointed out the contribution such training could make to defense work and the value of additional real knowledge of some field of the sort to preparation for teaching, and recommended that all students who could possibly arrange their schedules to do so, take advantage of the opportunity being courses in radio, sheet-metal work. Upperclassmen will hear of the work when they register tomorrow.

GIVE REPORT OF ACTIVITIES OF COMMUNITY ART CENTER

Reports of summer activities carried on by the Community Art Center, made at a meeting of the board of directors during the week-end, showed a total of 11 art exhibitions displayed during the summer in the gallery in Sheppard Memorial Library, and at the Woman's Club Service Center, with four illustrated lectures from the American Federation of Arts, and children's classes in clay modeling in which 82 children were enrolled with a total attendance of 289. Registered attendance of visitors at the gallery was 231, with no register kept of visitors who saw the exhibits on the main floor of the library. At the Woman's Club, registered attendance of service men during June, July and August was 3,222. For the illustrated lectures, presented by the Art Center in the library auditorium, the total attendance was 74. One of these slide lectures, on "Latin American Painting and Sculpture," was shown also in the gallery of the children's classes in clay modeling. Increasing use of the arts workshop at the Woman's Club was reported, with numerous interesting pieces of clay work, drawings, etc., being made each week-end, by the Plans for the fall program at the Art Center, as outlined, include the current show of paintings by the North Carolina artist, Westley White; a music evening on September 28, when recordings of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony will be presented, with program notes; a show of paintings from the 1943 water color and graphics show of the Southern Art League; afternoon class in clay modeling for junior and senior high school students, to begin in October.

The resignations of Mrs. J. S. Picklen, Mrs. Wallace Bourne and Charles Bisette as board members were accepted with regret.

Claude T. Fleming Died This Morning

Mr. Claude T. Fleming, 51, died at his home, 403 Harding street, at 6:45 o'clock this morning after three weeks' illness.

Funeral services will probably be held at the home Thursday. Mr. Fleming was born and reared in Davis county. He served overseas in World War I and came to Greenville in 1919. Since that time he has been farm manager for J. E. Winslow Company. He was married in 1921 to Miss Eva Sermons of Pitt County. He was on the Board of Deacons of Immanuel Baptist Church and was a member of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion.

Surviving are his wife, a son, C. T. Fleming, Jr., of the U. S. Army, now stationed in Farmingdale, Long Island, New York; and a daughter, Margaret Fleming of the home; five brothers, Dr. F. H. Fleming of Coats, Prof. W. E. Fleming of Fuquay Springs, W. S. Fleming of Raleigh, R. E. Fleming of Smithfield, and C. C. Fleming of Durham; and a sister, Miss Belle Fleming of Winston-Salem.

Fifth Army ...

Occupation of Potenza, which is a junction point of five main roads, gave the Allies control of the entire inland highway and rail systems south of a line extending eastward from Salerno.

Frontline reports told how Fifth Army troops, steadily beating a path through the rugged mountain barrier north and northeast of Salerno, were encountering fierce enemy artillery and mortar fire.

To the east of Salerno, however, Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's victorious troops met only small enemy rearguard detachments and the Germans there appeared depending primarily upon extensive mining and demolition to hinder the American advance and to give their own troops the opportunity to withdraw.

The British forces which formed Clark's left flank in the original Salerno beachhead are now on the west end of the Allied line as the Fifth army swings northward in a pivot action. These troops and the Americans on their right found portions of the Salerno plain littered with the battered remnants of German tanks, guns and trucks and other equipment.

A military spokesman, declaring "the first phase of the Salerno battle now is definitely over," added "we have inflicted upon the enemy heavy losses in personnel killed and captured and in equipment."

Many prisoners taken in attacks which already have wiped out the last vestiges of German lines to the east of the original beachhead were found to be non-German even though from enemy combat units. Ordinarily in the past, even in Tunisia, Poles, Czechs and other non-German Europeans who had been impressed into Hitler's armies were relegated to non-combat roles and the military spokesman drew the only possible inference: "it would appear to indicate a serious German manpower shortage."

The spokesman reported fighting particularly stubborn in the hills across north and northeast of Salerno in Terrain which gave the enemy strong defensive advantages. At some points, he declared, all equipment for Allied troops must be manhandled up steep sides of mountains and through gorges because even tracked vehicles are unable to travel Terrain "more difficult than anything we encountered in Tunisia or Sicily."

Control of this mountain barrier would give Gen. Clark positions looking down on the broad lowlands leading directly into Naples. The frantic German demolitions showed the Germans well aware of the fact.

Nazi Forces ...

(Continued From Page One) of 7,000 Nazi troops were slain and 10,000 captured, the Russian communique said. Soviet guns destroyed 80 enemy tanks and 34 more were listed in the enormous quantities of war equipment said to have been left by the Germans in their precipitous retreat.

In addition, the Soviet air force, credited with 63 Nazi planes destroyed over the front yesterday, blasted concentrations of railway trains at Gomel, Viesek and Dzhankot on the central front last night, setting many of them afire.

In their drive to push the invaders from Russian soil, the Red army spearheads within 18 miles of Smolensk, which was slowly being flanked on the north and south.

Kiev, the great German bastion on the central sector of the long front, was menaced by Soviet thrusts from three directions.

In the south, Red artillery was shelling Melitopol, on the Crimean railway, from emplacements three miles away. Front detachments said that on the lower stretches of the Dnieper, Cossack patrols were so close at some points that they were breaking through at night to water their horses in the river.

Capture of Melitopol would cut the only rail avenue of reinforcement, supply or escape of the German garrisons in the Crimea.

Russian columns striking toward Dnepropetrovsk, Ukrainian power city on the Dnieper, had captured the railway junction of Sinenikovo, 25 miles to the west and another spearhead had gained 15 miles in a drive down from the northeast.

Zaporozhe, an important railway city on the great bend of the Dnieper between Melitopol and Dnepropetrovsk, was menaced by a Soviet column which had cut the Crimean railway just a few miles to the south.

Predict Drive ...

London newspapers conjectured that such an offensive might be launched simultaneously from eastern Italy—where Churchill said he does not expect more than a delaying battle by the Germans—and from the newly-acquired Aegean bases.

Considerable interest was aroused by his statement that the RAF alone is maintaining in action nearly 50 per cent more first line aircraft than Germany, which came as the first official indication of current British air strength.

The German air force is estimated to have about 5,000 first line planes, of which 2,000 are in western Europe and Germany.

Editorial writers were almost unanimous in declaring Churchill's view the best he has delivered, and commented on its optimistic tone, but all emphasized his warning that "the bloodiest tasks lie ahead."

Increase of anti-aircraft defense forces, especially the "air protection" in industrial regions.

Special measures for the protection of government buildings and factories in Tokyo and other big cities of the country.

Strengthening of government control over all industry.

Centralization of traffic on land and water.

In one of the gloomiest broadcasts to come from the Japanese capital, the announcement said the aims of the measures were:

"The Japanese nation in all its classes and profession must fully understand the seriousness of the present internal and external situation and must be inspired by an unbending will to victory.

The nation's entire strength must be concentrated on the armaments industry, especially on the strengthening of the Japanese air force. "Strict self-sufficiency of Japan and Manchukuo as regards food supply must under all circumstances be assured.

Plans for a thorough-going consolidation of the defenses of the Japanese motherland, must be drawn up without delay."

The mobilization of students would no longer be deferred, the broadcast continued, and the employment of woman labor will be extended.

High School Lines Up For War Bonds

The Greenville High School, with an impressive program this morning swung into line to help to make the Third Victory Loan Drive in this county a success. An intensive campaign to sell War Bonds and Stamps will be carried on in the home rooms and during recess.

Ralph Fleming, president of the Student Council, explained. J. Herbert Waldrop, Pitt County War Bond chairman, spoke briefly, explained the importance of buying War Bonds and Stamps and urged the young people to do their best.

The program included an invocation by Rev. George W. Perry, an inspiring talk by Supt. J. H. Rose, songs by the Glee Club under the direction of Miss Olga Shindler, music by the High School Band, with Harold the McDougle leading. Principal O. E. Dowd presided.

Hart Pays Alimony; Released From Jail

Eugene Hart of Ayden, who was jailed last week by Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill for contempt of court in failing to pay his wife, Mrs. Dessie Mayo Hart $200 back alimony, has made that payment and was released from custody.

In Superior Court last week judgment was rendered against Hart requiring him to pay $100 a month beginning October 1 for the support of his wife and children. $300 for attorney fees and the court costs. His attorney filed notice of appeal to the Supreme Court. He has 60 days in which to perfect the appeal.

Hart secured a divorce from his wife in Reno, Nev., on the charge of abandonment. About the same time she instituted proceedings against him charging abandonment and non-support. A jury gave a verdict in favor of Mrs. Hart.

American Legion Holds Meeting

Pitt County Post 39 of the American Legion in regular meeting last night held at the University of North Carolina, accepted an invitation to be guests of M. H. Whichard and S. A. Whitehurst at a barbecue supper in October, made plans for Armistice Day and transacted other business.

F. A. Johnson, chairman of the service men's cigarette committee, reported that 130,000 cigarettes had already been forwarded to the men on the fighting fronts. He reported, however, that contributions had dropped off recently and the Legionnaires were requested to urge the public to drop their contributions in the containers in various business places throughout the county.

Go-getter citations from the State Department of the Legion were presented by W. T. Kyzer to Paul A. Scott, Arthur B. Corey and J. Hicks Corey. The citations were for meritorious service in procuring memberships during the past legion year.

Tommy Liverman, of Winterville, who represented the post at the recently held Boys State, reported that he enjoyed the occasion and received much worthwhile instruction.

Included in the report of Membership Chairman Arthur B. Corey was the fact that one of the new members was Ollie P. Pollard, Jr., veteran of World War II who has just received a medical discharge from the service.

M. H. Whichard extended an invitation on behalf of himself and S. A. Whitehurst, for the Legion to enjoy a barbecue supper at its October meeting at Whichard's home near Stokes.

P. L. Goodson, post chairman of war bond sales reported that the work was progressing nicely and he urged that every member of the post either purchase a $200 worth of bonds or try to get someone else to purchase that amount in order to help put the county over the top in the present drive.

Commander Paul A. Scott, who presided over the meeting announced that he appointed an Armistice Day committee this week to begin to make plans for a public celebration here on November 11.

Baruch For ...

The chairman of the War Industries Board of the first World War defined his own attitude as a "simple" one which he outlined as follows:

"Support those we have entrusted with responsibility, perhaps the gravest that our beloved country has ever known. The armed forces, speaking through the commander-in-chief, are entitled to the fulfillment of every demand.

"That obligation becomes greater when it is made at the insistence of our chief of staff, Gen. Marshall, who has had my respect and admiration for 25 years, and Admiral King, whom I regard also, as an exceptional man."

Marshall told the committees last week that if failure to draft fathers reduced the supply of physically fit men to the point that army quotas for manpower could not be met the war would be prolonged.

Baruch said he believed in granting authority and means when responsibility is delegated and while there must be reasons given for the methods employed, "after all, the best proof of method is the result, and we have no quarrel with our war achievements in the past 22 months."

"Remember this," he said solemnly, "records stand, opinions die. A quiet move was underway in the Senate today to shelve the Wheeler bill.

Though informal and still incomplete, a poll showed a sharp trend away from the proposal which once had the overwhelming approval of the Military Affairs Committee.

By agreeing to delay debate on the bill until Tuesday, the Senate apparently spiked any chance for congressional action, either way, before the Oct. 1 deadline set by the War Manpower Commission for the general induction of fathers.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 22—(AP)—Quiet selling in leaders today cancelled a part of the gains achieved by the stock market in the last week. Volume was approximately 650,000 shares.

Displaying a rather soft tone near the close were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Goodrich, American Can, Westinghouse, Dow Chemical, Philip Morris, Good-year, and Douglas.

Pepsi Cola moved against the trend for an advance.

Bonds were steady.

Afternoon Session Pitt County Court

The following cases were tried during the afternoon session of Pitt County Recorder's Court yesterday.

Four cases sent up from magistrate's courts were dismissed. They were Thurston Cherry, colored, reckless driving and assault with a deadly weapon; Jasper (Buck) Cherry, colored, assault with a deadly weapon; Elbert Brown, colored, assault with a deadly weapon, and J. C. Moore, colored, assault with a deadly weapon.

Will Ernest Edison, colored, assault, 30 days, suspended on payment of costs.

Carlton Heath, assault with a deadly weapon and driving drunk, six months on roads, suspended on payment of $50 and costs, lose driver's license for 18 months and not to ride in any vehicle except a bus for six months.

Marshall ...

The speed with which climactic military operations are developing furnished the theme for much of Prime Minister Churchill's speech to Parliament yesterday. Churchill, who spoke with a sure knowledge of what we have in trained men, planes, ships and other munitions, disclosed that the offensive in the Mediterranean is running ahead of schedule.

Of Italy's surrender he said that

Yanks Still Need Five Games to Win

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The major leagues settled down to business again today for two weeks of solid sending before the season closes and the New York Yankees took up the now serious task of clinching the American League pennant.

In winning the championship in six out of seven years before the present campaign the Yankees usually have managed to nail the flag up long before this.

Consequently the present delay is aggravating to the Yanks and their followers, even though there is little doubt that they will reach the king row eventually.

New York needs a combination of five victories or Washington defeats to eliminate the Senators. On the form the Yanks have shown earlier these should not be beyond their powers, but the Detroit Tigers with whom they were to open a four-game series today, have been one of their toughest foes over a period of years.

The Yanks are not trailing any club in a season's series, but with the Tigers they are no better than even—nine victories apiece.

Hank Borowy was expected to go to the mound for New York today in quest of his sixth successive triumph and was likely yet to get Rookie Rufus Gentry for an opponent.

The Senators, seeking their tenth consecutive victory, were booked for the first of three night games with the St. Louis Browns while the Cleveland Indians, still mathematically in the race, opened their last eastern invasion at Boston.

In the National League Brooklyn tackled the St. Louis Cardinals in a battle to hold second place against the Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates. The Reds have a chance to gain ground, playing the last place New York Giants in a double-header.

no one expected it to be "so rapidly achieved." Corsica and Sardinia, he said, were won "in the pick up," although great and elaborate plans had been made to battle for them.

These windfall victories, the Prime Minister made clear, have advanced the Allied timetable in the Mediterranean offensive, which he linked directly with a cross-channel invasion of France and the low countries by describing it as an "essential preliminary" to that main attack. He said the massive attacks across the channel would begin "at the right time."

Authorities here expect that Marshall as Allied commander with immense armies and air forces at his disposal will brook no delay in making sure that the attacks come at such places and times as will keep Germany off-balance and in retreat. It has been said of him that one of his cardinal principles is never to give the enemy a chance to recover his footing once he has lost it.

While Churchill made no reference to the Allied command in his speech, he sketched into the background of the job many of the factors needed to assure success in Europe. Foremost of these, he brought out, is a four-to-one superiority in airplane supply over Germany.

The Royal Air Force alone, he said, is maintaining in action 50 per cent more aircraft than the enemy and it is now possible to saturate German air defenses.

Americans Win Air Victory Over Japs

Chungking, Sept. 22—(AP)—Fifteen Japanese bombers and two Zeroes were destroyed and seven other bombers and two fighters were probably shot down Monday when a squadron of about 30 enemy bombers escorted by fighters attacked major installations of the 14th U. S. Army Air Force in China, a communiqué from Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stillwell's headquarters said today.

On the same day Mitchell bombers attacked docks and shipping installations at the Yangtze river port of Kluikiang and scored a hit on a 225-foot Japanese destroyer. The Allied planes returned safely.

Violated Hunting Law

In Magistrate H. L. Jenkins' court today, Henry Feaden of Belyov was found guilty of hunting squirrels out of season and without a license and fined $10 and costs on complaint of J. O. Teel, county game and fish protector. The open season for hunting squirrels begins October 1.

TAR HEEL Sports Review

By SCOTT SUMMERS
Raleigh, Sept. 22—(AP)—Don't be surprised if most of the state's higher institutes of pigskinny come up with new attendance records for this year's football game ... Gas rationing or not, what with all the service men on hand and more folks with spare change than usual, it looks as though they'll be stackin' 'em in the aisles... Some 12,000 turned out for Duke's opener with little-heralded Camp Lejeune, and if that's any indication they'll really swamp the turnstiles for the North Carolina-Duke tussles and other games that are expected to be right fair brawls... Too, baseball and other sports have set new attendance marks... Why should football be different?

Here 'N' There
Catherine Bailey, gal sports editor (or is it editor) of the Shelby Daily Star, reports that a ride in the baggage rack on a bus is a big help if you like to eat-off the mantle ... She tried it, on a trip to Camp Croft... Who was most praised by Duke Coach Eddie Cameron, for his job against Camp Lejeune's Marines last Saturday?... None other than Pat Preston, who was Peahead Walker's dream tackle at Wake Forest last year... Greensboro will have a team of its own this year ... Basic Training Center No. 10 there is joining the pigskin ranks, with such candidates for the team as Charley Tripp of the University of Georgia (he was Frankie Sinkwich's chief helper in the outfit that carried through to a 9-0 Rose Bowl win over UCLA), Gene Meeks of the University of Kentucky, and Grady Hatton of the University of Texas... And there are others.

Deer Ride

It happened in Pisgah forest about eight years ago, Leroy Timmerly of the Asheville Citizen-Times reports... A hunter felled a deer ... As he was standing astride what appeared to be a dead carcass, his knife cut to slit the deer's throat to bleed it, the animal jumped up and carried the hunter on a wild ride through the forest... The buck finally rammed into a tree and fell dead... The hunter lost his watch, knife, and a few other articles, but
