Russian Forces Repulse Nazi Counterattack And Drive Steadily Forward

Encircling Movement At Kremenchuk Is Threatening German
Position Along Lower
Dnieper; Nazi
Forces In Caucasus
Fleeing Across The Kerch Straits To The Crimea

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Moscow, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Unleashing concentrations of troops and tanks in the battle for the Dnieper river, the Germans counter-attacked strongly today in a bid to maintain their bridgeheads on the eastern bank.

Frontline dispatches said the enemy, holding favorable positions, was launching 10 to 12 counterattacks daily with powerful air support. The Communist party newspaper Pravda reported that at one point a Red army was put in a "critical situation" at one time, but Soviet artillery came to its relief.

No further progress was reported immediately in the directions of Zaporozhe and Dnepropetrovsk, two major objectives on the lower Dnieper.

Zaporozhe lies on the east bank of the Dnieper behind a solid ring of fortifications. The main part of Dnepropetrovsk, the suburbs of which already have been reached, lies on the west bank.

(Today's German communiques, as broadcast by Berlin, said German troops, engaged in heavy fighting on the Dnieper, were not lost, but wiped out their losses with counterattacks.

The communiques added Russian attacks at several points on the west bank of the central Dnieper were frustrated. It reported Russian bombers raided Constanta, Rumanian Black Sea port.

A sharp new Red army advance was reported in White Russia where dispatches said a considerable area was occupied in the Gomel and Mogilev sectors. After the northern part of Chernigov province had been cleared of the enemy the Russians moved north along the Unzha-Kharkov railroad toward Mogilev.

Occupation of Krichiv would cut a knot of five railroads. Apart from Mogilev and Gomel themselves, this is the most important railroad junction in southeastern White Russia.

The Germans battled stubbornly in the Novoschiv sector just south-east of Gomel.

Red Star, the army newspaper, said the enemy launched several strong counterattacks with infantry, tanks, motorized guns, in that sector but was repulsed and forced to retreat anew.

Numerous swamps and streams in White Russia are lined with mines. (Continued on Page Two)

Big Allied Raids On Japs In Burma

New Delhi, Sept. 29.—(AP)—American and British air units struck again at Japanese supply lines in central Burma yesterday with attacks on rail installations and river transport, headquarters communiques announced today.

American Mitchell's raided Myittha, a highway hub and supply point on the railroad running between Mandalay and Myingyan to the southwest, demolishing several buildings and starting fires.

Other U. S. Tenth air force formations caused heavy destruction in rail yards at Taungtha, south of Myingyan. They dumped one bomb squarely on the railroad station. All of the American planes returned safely.

The British war bulletin said RAF Beaufighters blasted enemy transport along the Chindwin and Irrawaddy rivers in one of their most successful patrol operations of the past fortnight.

Fighting Men Want More Frankness In War News

By EUGENE BURNS
Pearl Harbor, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Greater frankness in news presentation today will prevent cynicism and lack of confidence in our leaders later, U. S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. (R-Mass.) said in an exclusive interview after war front visits where "I saw the reaction of four fighting men to halfhearted optimistic news reports."

He will report to Congress that "our fighting men are mad because of the false optimism of our news."

"It's a general condition of our news reporting, our communiques, our radio commentators and our desk writers," he said.

He noted that censors perhaps

ASK BIGGER ALLOWANCES

More Aid for Servicemen's Dependents
Approved

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Endorsing legislation to boost government payments to dependents of enlisted men, the war and navy departments today opposed suggestions that wives be required to prove dependency before receiving aid.

Speaking for the two departments, Maj. Gen. Miller G. White, assistant army chief of staff in charge of personnel, told the House Military Committee he was in general accord with a bill passed by the Senate to increase the allowances and make them available to dependents of all enlisted men.

"The dependency allowances are a part of the pay of a soldier," General White said, in opposing a suggestion by Rep. Thompson (D-Tex.) that the government exempt financially independent wives.

He supported a provision to speed up the payments by requiring that the government pay the entire first month's allowance without any deduction from the enlisted man's pay. Under this, White told the committee, first payments could be sent out in less than 15 days after a man leaves home.

"The greatest single cause of hardship," he said, "has been the delay in making the first payment to the family of the soldier. We urge very strongly that the government assume the responsibility for the entire initial payment."

He estimated the cost of the legislation for the remaining nine months at $100 million.

Driver Killed By Explosion

Concord, N. C., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Alvin Booth, 34, Kannapolis gasoline tank driver, died here early today of burns suffered last night in the explosion of his and two other tank trucks and three large storage tanks at a local service station.

Four other persons were hospitalized for injuries received in the blast and fire which followed. All were spectators except one.

The initial explosion occurred as Booth was draining gasoline from his tank truck into a storage tank at the A. C. Widener's filling station. The blast set off explosions and fires in two other tank trucks, a 20,000-gallon storage tank and two 17,000-gallon tanks. All were destroyed, together with the filling station and a building occupied by

Dives Plane 840
Miles Per Hour

A United States Fighter Base, Somewhere in England, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Second Lieut. Robert H. Knapp of Norwich, N. Y., was believed today to have achieved a speed of approximately 840 miles per hour in a dive during an air fight over Emden, Germany, last Monday.

If true, then Knapp, pilot of a P-47 Thunderbolt fighter which helped escort Flying Fortresses in a raid on the German city, probably has flown faster than any human being ever has traveled before.

While flying as wingman to Second Lieut. Robert E. Ealey of Ardmore, Col. Knapp went down with his plane from 20,000 feet to attack a Focke-Wulf 109.

When his plane achieved a speed so great that the "plain" curled on its elevators, and his controls locked, Knapp thought he was doomed, he reported to fellow officers of his command. But at 5,000 feet the plane came out of its vertical dive and Knapp was bale to regain control.

overlook the fact that, unlike the last war, the news they censor gets back by radio within 24 hours to the men who make the news, who are wounded and who have fallen comrades.

"Our present news censorship as I saw it at the front enrages and disillusions our fighting men in the truthfulness of their leaders and at home it breeds apathy," Senator Lodge said.

"Whom our news censorship and propaganda helps I do not know. If anything, it helps the enemy by getting us to underestimate him. Our fighting men rapidly are learning that our propaganda which

Coal Shortage In Germany
New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The British radio said today that severe restrictions had been placed on the use of coal throughout Germany.

As reported by United States government monitors, the broadcast said no public buildings in Germany except hospitals will be heated this winter. No coal will be released for heating private houses until a date to be announced.

ASKS PASSAGE WHEELER BILL

Downey Says Airpower
Is More Important Than Large Army

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Senator Downey (D-Calif.) told the Senate today that the high command had failed to recognize the capacity of the American people to create "a destructive airpower which might have brought Germany to dust and to defeat months ago."

Predicting "quick surrender or terrible destruction" for the Nazis with airpower's effective use, the Californian appealed for passage of the Wheeler bill to delay induction of pre-war fathers into an army, which he said "is already too large."

With the administration growing more confident of sufficient votes to return the bill to the military committee, Downey took the floor with a 59-page speech bristling with criticism of the army's chiefs.

Germany "now weakens so fast," he said, and Allied airpower grows so rapidly that "efficient use of our bombers and fighters will reduce the Nazis to quick surrender or terrible destruction."

Under those circumstances, he asserted, "A larger land army is a wasteful burden and a tragic futility."

"Up to 1943, at least," Downey declared, "the high command has diverted the nation's resources and manpower principally to a vast army most of which never can, and never will, be used. Until this year, it has grudgingly and meagerly provided for airpower."

He asserted that only 30 per cent of the nation's military power has been concentrated in aircraft while more than 90 per cent of the industry inflicted upon the enemy has been due to bombers and fighters.

Dixon Deed Case Next On Calendar

Hearing of an action instituted by heirs of J. C. Dixon—farmer of Chilod Township who died in 1942 at the age of 92 against Scott Dixon, a son, to have certain deeds (made in 1934) set aside on the grounds of alleged mental incapacity, is expected to begin in Superior Court tomorrow afternoon or Friday morning. Thirty-two witnesses have been subpoenaed.

The plaintiffs are L. D. Dixon, J. C. Dixon, Jr. and Walter Dixon, the late J. C. Dixon's sons, and M. L. Riggs, a grandson. Mrs. Ada Jolly, a daughter, and Mrs. Maybelle Rieves, a granddaughter, the defendants are Scott Dixon and his wife, Mrs. Leona Dixon.

Harding and Lee are counsel for the plaintiffs, Judge Albion Dunn and Arthur B. Corey represent the defendants.

The bill of complaint alleges that J. C. Dixon was 84 years old in 1934 when he made the deeds to his son, Scott Dixon, and that he was mentally incapable of transacting business at that time.

Jones Seeks Greater Support For Farmers

Food Administrator
Says Subsidy Necessary
To Assure Production

Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—War Food Administrator Marvin Jones asked Congress today to extend the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation and increase its borrowing power by $500,000,000 so that the government might make and fulfill guarantees to farmers of somewhat higher prices for 1944 crops.

Such guarantees would be made through subsidies to support prices.

Appearing before the House Banking and Currency committee, the food chief said WFA's 1944 "all-out" food production program would be based upon the assumption of increased farm costs.

"In order to increase production," Jones said, "we want to be able to meet that rise in production costs in our farm price supports."

In my judgment, the best way to get production is to have a definite support price that will last through the season. It should be high enough to cover the added risks and hazards that go with increased production. And it should be announced early.

"That the government would stand ready to buy any surplus of a commodity that might not flow into the regular channels at the time, and to absorb whatever loss may be necessary."

CCC funds would be used to support farm prices and to cover any losses which might occur. The life of CCC will expire January 1 unless extended in the meantime. The requested $500,000,000 additional borrowing power would give CCC around $1,000,000,000 to finance next year's farm program. The agency already has $500,000,000 available for this purpose.

Corey Damage Suit Goes To Third Day

In Superior Court this afternoon the plaintiffs were still offering testimony in the suit of the administrators of Mr. and Mrs. James Henry Corey of Greenville, who were killed when their car and a Carolina Coach Company passenger bus collided on East Fifth street last February 22. Lewis G. Cooper is counsel for the Coreys. Judge Dink James and Thorp and Thorp of Rocky Mount, for the bus company. Judge J. Paul Frizzelle is presiding.

The case, begun Tuesday morning, is not expected to get to the jury before late Thursday or Friday morning, it appears.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)
Capture of Foggia in southern Italy represents one of the major triumphs of the Mediterranean war for it's the key to vast new fields of Allied endeavor.

Possession of Foggia will permit us to unleash a fresh tornado of bombing and fighting planes. It should greatly expedite the conquest of the Italian peninsula, for it will go far towards breaking the back of German resistance there. An early development should be Nazi evacuation of the Naples region.

But our gun-sights can be raised to more distant horizons. From Foggia we can reach into Germany to vital centers which heretofore have been difficult to bomb. We've destroyed a huge portion of Hitler's industrial structure, and now much of the balance is within our range. The Balkans lie open to the flying fields of Foggia—a matter of the utmost importance at this moment when the cockpit of southeastern Europe is squirming to escape Hitler's clutch.

POSTWAR PLAN PIGEON-HOLED

Senate To Delay Action Until After
Moscow Talks

Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee decided today to pigeon hole the house-approved Fulbright "last peace" resolution and to draft its own declaration of post-war foreign policy.

Without specifically mentioning the Fulbright proposal, Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) announced that the subcommittee of eight, which he heads as well as the full committee, would "draft a resolution on the subject of post-war foreign policy."

Connally did not say when the subcommittee would act, but both he and Senator George (D-Ga.) recently have said they did not think

French Make New Gains In Corsica

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The Germans now hold only a 15-mile strip along the east coast of Corsica, in the Bastia-Borgo-Polelli area, the French high command announced today.

The Nazis had speeded up their retreat from the strategic Mediterranean island, evacuating the mountainous area between Corte and the sea. Piedicroce, an important center of enemy resistance, was captured yesterday, the communiques said.

Roxboro, N. C., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Lawrence Jones, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jones of Roxboro, was instantly killed last night in an automobile accident three miles from here on the Semora-Milton highway, and Reginald Rogers, 23, of Roxboro, is hospitalized here with unteterned injuries.

London May Be
Scene Of Talks

Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—London, instead of Moscow, may be the scene of the forthcoming American-British-Russian conference, Secretary of State Hull has indicated. He definitely expects to attend the meeting and in view of his dislike for air travel, indications developed today that the conference might be shifted from Moscow to shorten his trip.

Hull will join Foreign Minister Anthony Eden of Britain and Premier Molotov of Russia in an attempt to promote greater cooperation among the three allies, both in the field of actual warfare and in the realm of post-war planning.

The conference is expected to prepare the way for another later in the year among President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin.

Do you remember that night a couple of years ago when Hitler in one of his bombastic speeches defied the United States, dared Britain to invade France, and as a special mark for his prowess, proclaimed that Leningrad "is surrounded and no one will free it again and it will fall into our hands?"

Well, the Russians now as part of their great offensive against the Nazis are beginning an operation which, it strikes me, is calculated to be the pay-off for Hitler's crime against the city of the Red revolution. I refer to the capture of the strategic city of Smolensk and the continuing drive westward. It's as fascinating a display of tactics as we are likely to encounter.

One, Red force is headed northward along the Smolensk-Vitebsk-Dvinsk railway towards the little "Baltic" state of Latvia, which is only 200 miles away. Other Russian contingents are pushing southward, in a turning movement against the German line. Now if the Muscovites have the reserve strength to develop this moment, it will cut off the Hitlerites in that whole northern zone which has its apex in Leningrad. It also will place Leningrad

Fall Of Naples Imminent As Fifth Army Advances

NAPLES CITY OF HORRORS

Italian Population Being Enslaved Or Murdered

By DON WHITEHEAD

With the U. S. Navy in the Gulf of Salerno, Sept. 26.—(Delayed)—(AP)—The once beautiful port of Naples is now a ravaged city of horrors.

Desperate German troops—ruling the tortured city by terrorism—are spreading destruction, machine-gunning women and children and forcing soldiers and civilians alike into slave labor battalions with death for those who refuse.

This is the story brought from Naples by terrified refugees who escaped in fishing boats, risking drowning at sea rather than face the fury of their one-time allies.

Many of the refugees were not so lucky. The Germans tossed hand grenades into their boats as they attempted to slip away from the harbor or machine-gunned the frail craft.

The apparent aim of the Germans, infuriated by the Italian armistice with the United Nations on the eve of invasion, is to wreak vengeance on the Italian people and to destroy Naples as much as possible so that nothing of value remains when Allied troops take the city.

The port is rapidly becoming a shambles, refugees say, and harbor facilities are being blasted. Ships are burned day and night. The harbor entrance and the waters are mined to delay the navy's making use of the harbor as a supply base for invasion armies battling to take the city.

Great clouds of smoke drift over the city and make the smoke pouring from Vesuvius seem a puny effort. The rumble of demolitions is plainly audible on the island of Capri, which is becoming a haven for hundreds of refugees.

One refugee, who asked that his name be withheld for fear of reprisals against his relatives held by the Germans, told this story:

"There are many bodies of dead Italians lying in the streets of Naples. Some of them were shot down for no reason except that they were walking the streets. I saw a German shoot an Italian soldier who still had a rifle. A young man ran to pick up the rifle and he was killed too."

"I saw a German soldier flip a cigarette butt into the street. A youth stooped to pick it up and he was shot. There is an absolute reign of terror existing. Food stores are being looted and the people are starving in the streets, afraid to come out on the street."

"The Germans are forcing every able-bodied man to 'volunteer' for today."

Buy War Bonds And Help End Conflict

"We cannot stop fighting War Bonds until we stop fighting the enemy if we are going to back up the men in uniform who are out there on the battlefield doing the fighting for us," said J. Herbert Wald, drop Pitt County War Bond chairman.

"There are a lot of people who have not bought bonds. They will feel much better when the victory is won if they can say they had some part in helping to win. The men are still out there still fighting for us and we are still selling War Bonds. They are a good investment and pay good interest. They may be used for currency after the war is over," he added.

Wald reported today that he had recently received checks for War Bonds to be credited to Pitt County's quota from a number of big corporations having branches here. They were State Bank, Norfolk Southern railroad, Colonial Stores (Pender), Pitt Theater and Rose's stores.

Foreign Aid Operations Now Under Single Head

By JACK BELL
Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's delegation of direction over foreign economic operations to Leo T. Crowley was interpreted in Congress today as assuring legislative control of the purse strings when the time comes to make extensive appropriations for the relief and rehabilitation of peoples freed from the Axis yoke.

A high administration official said that one of the principal objectives of the move placing four separate foreign economic agencies under Crowley, who already headed the Office of Economic Warfare, was to simplify dealings with Congress when appropriations are sought.

This admittedly was secondary to the desire to have one directing and responsible head for American operations in each foreign area to prevent overlapping activities such as have brought complaints from members of the Truman War Investigating committee.

But the importance of asking Congress to appropriate to a fully influenced War Mobilization Director for James F. Byrnes to insist that the Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation operations be brought under Crowley's wing, along with OEW, lend-lease, and the State Department's Office of Foreign Economic Coordination.

ALLIES BLAST JAPS AT WEWAK

Sixty Planes and Seven
Ships Destroyed Monday

Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The bloody battle for Finschhafen roared toward its finish today, with Australian soldiers exacting a heavy toll among the Japanese defenders and the supporting bases of the enemy for 300 miles to northwest along the New Guinea coast bombed into impotence.

More than 60 planes were destroyed at Wewak by Allied bombers and fighters Monday. Three tankers and four merchant ships, just arrived in the Wewak harbor with supplies which could have been intended for overland movement south, were blasted to the harbor bottom.

The coastal road leading from Wewak down to Finschhafen was strafed at Hansa bay by Allied fighters.

Less than a mile north of Finschhafen, veteran Australian ground troops struck hard at Japanese positions on high ground, inflicting heavy casualties.

Other Australians have fought their way to the banks of the Ileb creek west of Finschhafen. The enemy's air and supply base, which is separated by only 70 miles of water

Institute Habeas Corpus for Marine

Arthur B. Corey, attorney for M. F. Jobbe of Chicago, Marine from New River who is being held for trial in Superior Court on a charge of assault with intent to commit rape, will shortly institute habeas corpus proceedings before Judge J. Paul Frizzelle for his release.

Jobbe is charged with assaulting Miss Margaret Roelck in Cotanche Street Park last Friday night about 11 o'clock. He was arrested shortly afterwards. At a preliminary hearing in City Recorder's Court probable cause was found against him and he was held under $3,000 bond. Jobbe took the stand at the hearing (an unusual procedure in such cases).

NEWS OF GREENVILLE HIGH

Student Council Meeting

The Student Council held its second meeting of the year last night in room 34. Miss Riddick, faculty advisor for this year, urged the representatives to keep reminding students to buy war stamps during the home room period. Ways by which they could promote the sale of war stamps in the high school were suggested and discussed. Dick Worsley, chairman of the War Stamp committee, reported that up until yesterday we had sold a total of $342.25 worth of war bonds and stamps in the high school. It was decided that reports to the home rooms will be given on Wednesdays at home room period. After a treasurer's report the meeting was adjourned.

Help Farmers

Yesterday eleven boys were excused from their afternoon class in order that they might help the farmers harvest their crops. This morning there were five additional calls from farmers for students who could help them in the afternoon. There will be 50 or 60 volunteers needed for this work. Students who are interested should give their names to Mr. Dowd. Students volunteering for this work will be doing a patriotic duty as well as earning some extra money for themselves.

Caroline Club Opening

With the formal opening of the Caroline Club last night the social season was beautifully and fittingly inaugurated. It was undoubtedly the most successful and enjoyable event that has taken place in Greenville in years. The flower of the beauty, grace and chivalry of this old Southern town gave the scene a distinguished air, and the splendid arrangement made by the club officials gave thorough enjoyment to every one present. Many invited guests were present, also the wives and daughters of the members. The cuisine and service of the club are both above reproach, and Greenville thinks itself extremely fortunate in having such an institution in its midst, in which we heartily concur.

barbed wire and anti-tank barriers. Red Star's dispatch said, but the Red Army continued its swift advance.

Along the middle Dnieper the Red army steadily extended its occupation of the eastern bank. The Kremenchuk escape gap for the German forces below Poltava appeared closing rapidly after the Russians took Glinobno, 20 miles north of Kremenchuk, and Gradizhsk, 15 miles northwest of Kremenchuk.

The number of German troops enclosed in that pocket has not been estimated, but it must have been considerable in view of the stiff resistance they offered at Poltava. Numerous towns and villages opposite Kiev on the high west bank of the river also were occupied and Red Star reported Russian artillery and aviation was hammering large concentrations of German men and machines at the Dnieper crossing.

At the southern end of the front the Germans were forced back to the tip of the Tuman peninsula after the Russians occupied Tanyuk. Dispatches said the Red army was pressing down both banks of the Kuban river, routing the enemy out of their last foothold in the Caucasus and driving them across the Kerch strait to the Crimea.

Processed Food Stamps Extended

Raleigh, Sept. 29.—Blue stamps "X", "Y", and "Z", the last blue stamps in War Ration Book Two, will be used by consumers for buying processed foods from October 1 through November 30, the Raleigh Office of Price Administration announced today.

Stamps "U", "V", and "W" expire on October 30. This provides the usual overlap period of 20 days for using old and new processed food stamps.

The next series of stamps to be validated for use in buying processed foods will be in War Ration Book Four which will be distributed to consumers before end of October.

Housewives who are now using three different ration books find marketing simpler when all rationed foods can again be bought with two books.

Book One, now used for buying sugar and shoes, will not be used for buying food after October 31. Stamps in Book Two expire on October 30, and with the end of blue stamps in Book Two on November 30 only Books Three and Four will be needed to buy rationed food.

Stamps "X", "Y", and "Z" are validated, effective October 1, 1943.

Tar Heels Will Wed In England

London, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The first wedding between two non-commissioned members of the U. S. army and the WAACS in England has been set for October 10 at the U. S. Corner base where the bride-to-be, Pfc. Mary Elizabeth Elliott of Kingston, N. C., has been stationed.

She is marrying Sgt. Wallace R. Best of Raleigh, N. C. They will have a 48-hour honeymoon, after which they will return to their respective stations 100 miles apart.

The bride will be given away by Maj. Jacob W. Frederick of Washington, Ind., and the maid of honor will be Pfc. Dorothy Whinery of Anoka, Minn.

The best man will be Maj. William H. Buell, the fiancé's commanding officer. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. J. M. Napier. Pfc. Olive Spencer of Allentown, Pa., will play the organ and Pfc. Jane Elsie Hastings of Washington, D. C., will sing.

Lions Club Helped County Meet Quota

The Greenville Lions Club at its meeting Monday night reported that the club members had bought and sold $29,375 worth of War Bonds. Willard T. Kyzer, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke interestingly about Greenville, presenting a review of the things which have made the city one of the most progressive in the state and commented on the fine spirit of cooperation prevailing among different local groups. Billy Hodges had charge of the program. Godfrey Oakley, president, presided.

Visiting Lions from Pinetops, Williamston, Tarboro and Greensboro were welcomed.

Wants Pennies Changed.
Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Senator Buck (R-Del.) is fed up with "bad pennies" with which, he reports, the nation has been short-changing itself.

Announcing he was prompted by personal vexation, he introduced a bill which would withdraw the zinc one-cent piece with the new coating and require change hereafter of pennies colored, shaped and designed to be readily distinguishable from dimes.

The Railway Mail Car stationed at the New York World's Fair, which never moved, was for the purpose of acquainting the public with the functioning of this important branch of the postal service. Letters were taken from the car and handled in the ordinary way. The fact before 1976, and through the courtesy of Pitney Bowes Postage Meter Co., Inc., colonists established their own postal systems.

Amy Officers Will Need 400 Workers

Two hundred carpenters and 200 iron workers (reinforcing bars) are needed at once on a critical government job in Wilmington. Carpenters are paid $104 an hour, 60 cents a week with time and a half over 40 hours. Iron workers receive $120 an hour, 60 cents a week, with time and a half over 40 hours. The workers are needed on a floating drydock project. Those interested should consult the local employment office for release to Wilmington, a message today from V. T. Loftis company, contractors, Wilmington, stated.

Fall Of Naples . . .

fighting at the town of Sala which already had changed hands many times in recent weeks of the furious struggle.

This time Clark's troops seized it for keeps and swept on triumphantly. The Germans, realizing that any further attempt to make a stand in that area was futile, began to retreat.

Reports from the front emphasized that the enemy's withdrawal was orderly and thorough as no suggestion that the Allies were taking any large numbers of prisoners. The Germans appeared to have realized far ahead of time that they must ultimately yield before the sledgehammer blows and accordingly made plans well in advance for a swift retreat.

On the Eighth army front a military spokesman reported that German parachute troops who were captured complained bitterly that their only job had been to fight a rearguard action. One said that only 17 men were left in his company as the result of recent fighting.

With the advance moving ahead from the south and east, there was adequate evidence that Field Marshal Albert Kesselring long ago decided that Naples would be undefendable once the heavy, drawn-out mountain fighting ceased.

The capture of Castellammare gives the Allies a valuable shipping center and naval base capable of handling warships up to 330 feet long. The town has a population of 45,000.

The air offensive against troop concentrations and supply lines of the retreating Germans was hampered by bad weather, although some Allied squadrons which carried out offensive patrols encountered a few enemy fighters and shot down one of them.

Fighters and fighter-bombers attacked a train and a small motor transport convoy, the communiqué said, while other Allied airmen continued to patrol the battle area. No Allied planes were lost.

A German communiqué said continuous rains prevented major operations in southern Italy, but added vaguely that "movements of our own took their anticipated course."

On the Adriatic coast the British Eighth army kept up its hot pursuit of retreating German forces after capturing the big enemy air base at Foggia.

Repairs to the base and its 13 airfields were being rushed in preparation for an all-out air assault on Nazi targets in southern Germany, Italy and the turbulent Balkans.

FDR CONFERS WITH LEADERS

Will Send "Food" Message To Congress Soon

Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Congressional leaders reported after a conference with President Roosevelt today that he expects to send Congress a message on "the food situation" in the near future.

Senate Majority Leader Barkley asked whether the message would deal with the subsidy program, replied it would "embrace the whole food situation and farm production situation for 1944."

With Barkley at the White House were Vice President Wallace, Speaker Rayburn and House Majority Leader McCormack.

Barkley said the discussion included several other subjects among them the Fairtrade revolution, now before the Senate, which would put Congress on record for full American participation in postwar planning.

Barkley said there was "just a general discussion" of the resolution.

Asked whether the possible assignment of General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, to command of all Anglo-American forces had been mentioned, the Senate leader replied, "Well, there's always more or less facetious kidding about anything that constitutes a controversy." He said Mr. Roosevelt did not disclose future plans for Marshall.

There was no mention of manpower, a national service act or taxes, Barkley said.

Eyes For The Blind

New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—An announcement that the Daughters of the American Revolution would undertake to supply a seeing-eye dog for every service man blinded from injuries in the present war was made today by Mrs. Raymond C. Goodfellow, New Jersey state representative of the society.

months of the fiscal year at $393,000,000.

Passed by the Senate on July 8, the measure would leave unchanged the present total payment of $50 to a dependent of a wife of an enlisted man but would boost from $62 to $63 the allowance for a wife and one child, with an increase from $10 to $11 for each additional child, one of the increased payments would be taken from the service man's contribution, which would remain at $22 monthly for class one dependents, or wives and children.

The Senate bill also upped the allowance for secondary dependents, such as brothers, sisters, and parents, provided the service man involved has been their chief support. It curtails the payment to secondary dependents who receive a "substantial" part of their support from soldier, but of whom the soldier and the chief support.

RUBBER KILLS ATLANTA MAN

President Kiwanis International Shot To Death

Sept. 28—(AP)—Henry Heinz, 63, Atlanta banker and president of Kiwanis International, was shot to death by a masked gunman at his home last night. His son-in-law, Dr. Bryant K. Heinz, 40, rushing to the Heinz home to answer a call for help, was wounded in a gun battle with the police when each apparently shot the other for the slayer. Police Capt. L. J. Carroll said that Patrolmen W. M. Miller and M. J. MacCallister reported they answered the alarm shortly after Heinz, president of the Citizens and Southern National Bank, was slain. MacCallister went to the rear of the house and Miller entered the front. The former said a man began firing from a woods back of the house and he returned the fire, hearing the shots, raced out and joined his partner. In the range of shots, Dr. Vann, a dentist, was wounded, the officers said. Heinz, daughter of the late Candler, Sr., Atlanta capitalist, police, they said, that she was ailing to retire when she heard the firing in the sun parlor of her home. She said she found her husband, a Negro, and ran to get a gun, while she was gone, she heard two shots. Reaching, she said she found Heinz on the floor, a bullet through his head. The intruder had disappeared.

Returned To Death In Truck Crash

Sept. 29—(AP)—Two men returned to death shortly before today when two large trucks crashed and burst into flames several miles south of here on U. S. Highway 15, State Highway Patrol Capt. Byrd said. The terrific heat of the wreckage prevented passersby from attempting to rescue the occupants and the men were still in the wreckage hours later. One of the trucks, operated by Associated Transport Company of Burlington, was believed to have been driven by a man named King, thought to be from Baltimore, Md. The other, operated by the Vance Trucking Company of Henderson, N.C., was believed to have been driven by Alston of Henderson, a Negro. Witnesses said a tire blew out on one of the trucks, causing the collision.

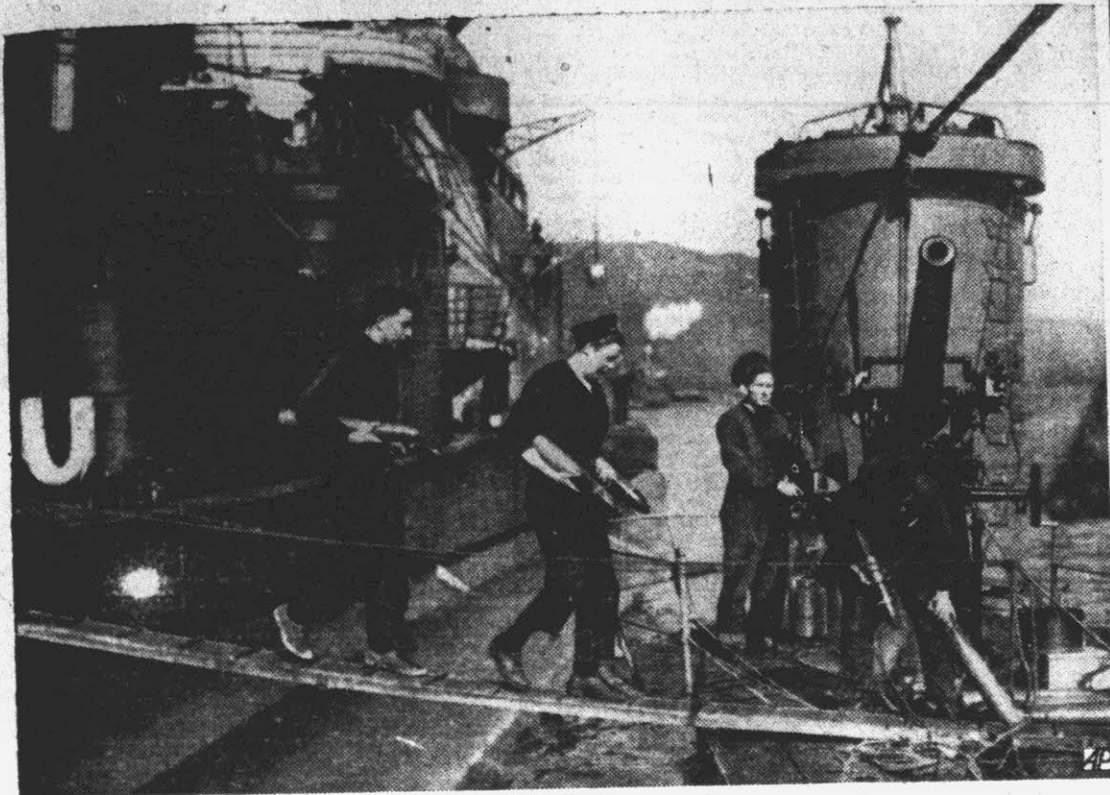

Tire Quotas For October Reduced

Washington, Sept. 29—(AP)—An October quota which will cut by 15 per cent the number of new passenger cars available for rationing was announced today by the Office of Price Administration. Reflecting the low level of new car stocks, the quota is 645,000 tires compared with 829,650 for September. On allotments assigned by the Office of Rubber Director, the October quota is set in line with recent OPA action to reduce rubber demand by raising mileage requirements. Starting Oct. 1, only owners who need to drive 600 or more a month qualify for new tires.

Have a Coca-Cola = Welcome, Short-Snorter

...or how to bring folks closer together

When short-snorters (trans-ocean flyers) meet and compare their autographed dollar bills, the invitation Have a "Coke" is fairly sure to follow. In three short words people strike the spark of comradeship. From the family fireside to far-flung fronts, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes—has become a symbol of those who see things in a friendly light.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

THE RENEWED FLAME

A traveler in Asia Minor writes that at dawn women may be seen going out of doors and looking up at the chimneys of their neighbors. They want to see the one out of which smoke is coming, and thither they go to borrow live coals with which to start a fire in their own houses.

This incident reminds us of dark and cheerless days which sometimes dawn in our own experience when all fire upon our hearthstones has died out to the last ember. Then it is that we appreciate, finding some one who has in his heart the glow of comfort or the fire of enthusiasm which will enable us to get the fires started again.

Dr. Rainsford, the famous New York preacher, declared that it was the kind words of Phillips Brooks and the opportunity to preach in the Bishop's pulpit which enabled him to rise after a humiliating failure and make a success of his life. Many a person has been able to say just the right word at the right time to a dejected spirit which turned the feet of that person into pathways of happiness.

What a heavy burden this nation is bearing, with millions of her sons in the armed forces. And there are probably thousands of people who wish for more spiritual assurance with which to face the challenge of these hard days. It is a great thing when we find a friend in whose heart there burns a living faith, or a preacher whose message every Sunday is full of riches of God's grace. Such people have coals of living fire to give their dispirited friends in the dark hour of trouble.

WHAT ABOUT YOU?

The figures on the Third War Loan drive are good. Pitt County has gone over the top in its allotted quota but there are still a number of individuals who have not joined in this campaign to Back the Attack by purchasing bonds.

This drive is an absolute failure for one who has not bought extra war bonds. The Third War Loan is as personal to you as a Nazi or Japanese bullet is to your son and neighbor's son.

What excuse can we possibly give to one of Mark Clark's Fifth Army boys in Italy for not helping him by buying an extra war bond or two during this drive? Will it stand up? You say you haven't the money or you haven't been asked. If we are spending our time thinking up excuses we don't deserve the sacrifices being made for us on the bloody beaches of Europe and the Pacific. Salerno was strewn with American bodies. Not excuses.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK KENNEDY

Washington — Reports from that portion of Italy now in Allied hands are that the United Nations are faced to face with the realities of rehabilitation and the picture is not pretty.

It is apparent the Nazis are going to strip the whole of Europe and occupied portions of Asia of everything that is edible or of any use whatever in their war effort.

Not only that, but in Italy they have planted mines all over the farm lands, blown up food processing and fertilizer plants, destroyed

Telephone Service Open To Moscow

transportation, and blasted irrigation works.

Here is no simple problem like that faced by AMG and the Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation in Tunisia and Sicily. The Nazis had comparatively little opportunity to scorch the earth there.

In Italy, there is the problem of clearing the land of mines, supplying farmers with tools and fertilizers, putting the irrigation works back in order (a job of months and years in some sections), and reconstructing means of transportation before the nation can ever put in its crops. In the meantime, these people have to be fed if they are to be kept from starving.

Italy's chief native grain supply is in the Po valley, where the Nazis are sure to make a last ditch stand. Its factories are virtually useless without the million tons or so of coal they have been getting from Germany each year. They have no fuel oil.

When these problems are considered — and they will be equally great or greater in France, Greece, the Balkans, the Netherlands, Norway, Denmark and Poland — the magnitude of the job becomes apparent.

In coal alone, the United Nations are up against it. England has no more than its minimum requirements and this nation is faced with a rationing possibility — yet Poles announced that so urgent is the need for coal in Italy that some already is being shipped from here.

In food, it seems now that absolute minimum requirements will be far greater and the length of time before freed nations can help feed themselves far longer than the most pessimistic predictions previously.

All that United Nations relief agencies are now shooting at is a minimum per capita subsistence level in freed areas of about 2,000 calories a day, one-third less than average daily consumption here. The problem is how to do it without cutting dangerously into our own requirements.

It is considered likely that the realities discovered in southern Italy will cause an overhaul of our now loosely integrated relief and rehabilitation program. As it is, not only Herbert H. Lehman's OFFICE OF FOREIGN ECONOMIC ADMINISTRATION, which Crowley heads, and that agency in turn could do out America's share to the international agency.

Lehman, testifying before the Senate Appropriations committee last spring, estimated that 1943 outlays would run $500,000,000 but he warned the Senators they would be deceived if they thought the work of feeding and clothing civil populations in the wake of victorious American troops could be carried out for anything like that sum annually.

Of course this drive is in its infancy, and predictions therefore are strictly out of order. It may or may not come off. However, it's danger already has been recognized by Berlin, for a little one-line news dispatch from London reports that Himmler the hangman, Hitler's gesticulating chief, has arrived in Latvia.

And what of Finland? She's feeling very sorry for herself, and she wants to get out of the mess she is in as the virtual ally of Hitler. Her Premier, Edwin Linkomies, said the other day that she wants to withdraw from her pre-1939 independence and territorial status. Well, if the present Russian drive is carried through to its finality, Finland will take what Moscow wants to hand her — and "like it."

Foreign Aid ...

Byrnes was said to have pointed out to objectors that congress would hesitate to make appropriations against any international agency such as the administration hopes it can persuede the United Nations to set up, with ex-Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York, as its world director.

It was Byrnes' idea that Congress would provide what funds it thinks justified for world relief and rehabilitation to the newly-created Office of Foreign Economic Administration, which Crowley heads, and that agency in turn could do out America's share to the international agency.

Lehman, testifying before the Senate Appropriations committee last spring, estimated that 1943 outlays would run $500,000,000 but he warned the Senators they would be deceived if they thought the work of feeding and clothing civil populations in the wake of victorious American troops could be carried out for anything like that sum annually.

Brad poured himself a cup of tea finally and the work strayed into more pleasant channels.

"Brad," Jane said after a bit, "Aunt Ella is insisting that I go home with her. I have refused at least a dozen times. What do you suggest I tell her now? No — or no?"

She laughed, trying to make Aunt Ella forget her fears.

"You're going, so don't argue about it, Jane," he said dead serious. "You should have gone before this."

The girl groaned. "Brad!" she scolded. "And I thought I could count on you!"

He grinned wryly. "Maybe that's why I want to go," he said simply.

In the Wake of MURDER

By ADELINE McELFRESH

Chapter 12

Jane felt like she had been drenched in ice water, but the moment passed. She saw Brad's hand seek his coat pocket.

Pushing her safely to one side, he hung open the door—and there, sitting calmly before the sputtering gas grate, were Ed and Ella Black. Jane felt the weak relief that so often follows extreme nervous strain. She caught Brad's sleeve to steady herself.

"Open," was all Brad said at first, then he grinned down at her. "Don't you ever look your door? Spies could have gotten in just as easily."

Jane felt more than a little foolish at her weakness. "Oh, yes," she nodded. "But Uncle Ed and Aunt Ella have a key. How are you, darling?"

Aunt Ella laughed then. "I'm so sorry you were frightened. But I came you, after all that has happened."

"Humph! I should say not!" Ed grunted.

Jane slipped out of her coat. She took Brad's overcoat and hat and hung them with the others on the hall tree.

"Shall I make some tea?" she asked sociably, feeling the need of it herself. "There are cookies, too."

The men were very enthusiastic, but Aunt Ella nodded brightly. "I'd like it," she agreed. "Come."

Once in the kitchen she faced her niece. Her brown eyes snapped behind the horn-rimmed spectacles.

Oh-oh, Jane thought, here it comes. "You're coming home with us," Mrs. Black stated flatly. "It isn't safe for you to gallivant around all over the county."

Jane laughed. "Don't be silly, Aunt Ella," she remonstrated. "I haven't been alone in my 'gallivanting,' as you call it. Brad's been with me."

But that didn't satisfy Ella Black. Jane heard her out, wondering a little at the hidden meaning in her words. What did she mean? Jane was puzzled, but she knew better than to ask point-blank. It pressed too closely. Aunt Ella would shut up like a clam.

The men were ready and they returned to the living room. Brad and Ed were so deep in a discussion of the explosion that they paid little attention, so Jane sat back in her chair, sipping her drink and listening. They rehearsed it all, each of them telling things she had not heard before. Then they were talking about the crowd people from far and near, they said. Yes, Jane thought, remembering the blonde woman. She wondered if Ed Black had seen her.

Brad poured himself a cup of tea finally and the work strayed into more pleasant channels.

"Brad," Jane said after a bit, "Aunt Ella is insisting that I go home with her. I have refused at least a dozen times. What do you suggest I tell her now? No — or no?"

She laughed, trying to make Aunt Ella forget her fears.

"You're going, so don't argue about it, Jane," he said dead serious. "You should have gone before this."

The girl groaned. "Brad!" she scolded. "And I thought I could count on you!"

He grinned wryly. "Maybe that's why I want to go," he said simply.

"So you'll be safe."

The Black country home was a good ten miles from Greenville. Jane liked the drive in the winter time, for the cold enhanced rather than marred the beauty of the pine trees that crowded the road. They drove slowly now, windows rolled down so that the freshness of the pine-scented air would not be lost.

"I love it out here," Jane snuggled lower into the collar of her coat. "Ready?"

"Glad you came?" Uncle Ed hadn't been talking much, Jane glanced at the clear tip, glowing red in the darkness. "Uh-huh," she murmured.

Then they were home, in the big comfortable old house where she had spent so many happy days, and Aunt Ella was shaking her to her room.

"I hope you sleep well, dear," Mrs. Black said after they had finished unpacking her suitcases.

Jane smiled. She would. She always did out her, with the distant hum of the sawmill for her lullaby. The mill was whirling away now, turning out government orders.

There was something comforting in the sound. Security and peace and promise of great things that lulled the fears of the last few days into diminishing molehills instead of the mountains they had been.

Snapping out the light, Jane undressed in the darkness and crawled into bed. But not to sleep. She lay there, the night noises soothing her raw nerves.

Outside, the world was bathed in cold December moonlight. The pine trees reached for the stars, their branches black against the thinner darkness of the night. Beautiful.

Jane thought. No artist could match that. Artists had tried—how many thousands of times—but always something was lacking.

Jane smiled at her own thoughts. Uncle Ed would laugh at them if he knew. He held no truck with such idealistic ideas. They were so much poppycock in his world of front-page headlines and priester's ink.

She turned over so she wouldn't see the pine trees that marched all the time to the house. Without them to watch, she might sleep. But they were still there, giant sentinels that guarded the world.

Jane had no idea what aroused her or how long she had slept. She sat bolt upright in bed. Someone was crying. Softly as though fearing discovery. Had she heard something else, too, or was she just so upset that the tiny sound had caused her to stir?

The sobbing went on. Reaching for her flannel bathrobe, Jane slid out of bed and tiptoed to the door.

Aunt Ella! Alarmed, Jane hurried down the hall. The door of her uncle's room was closed. Surely he, too, had heard.

"Aunt Ella?" Jane tapped on her door. "What is it?"

The crying ceased. "Go away, Jane. Go back to bed."

Jane opened the door. Her aunt was sitting on the side of the bed, a handkerchief pressed to her eyes.

"Please, dear, can I do something?"

The older woman shook her head. She tiptoed into bed and turned her face to the wall.

"Go back to bed," she ordered sharply.

REDS CLINCH SECOND PLACE IN NATIONAL

Win Double-Header From Phillies As Dodgers Lose Two To Pirates

By JUDSON BAILEY

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Before they shed their uniforms for the winter the St. Louis Cardinals may have reason to be elated that they clinched the National League pennant before the Cincinnati Reds became properly organized.

The Reds steamed into second place yesterday mathematically clinching it against any belated assault by a team that had been in the Philadelphia Phillies and running their latest winning streak to nine games.

The Reds have had a couple of six game streaks earlier, but it took the late date of September for them to get really hot. They followed the Phillies 4-2 and 2-0 with two seven-hit pitching performances by Ray Starr and Joe Rogers. The only runs the losers made during the entire day came on a homer by Schoolboy Rowe in the first game.

The Reds' clinching of the runner-in spot was assisted by the St. Louis Cardinals who dropped a double-header to the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-2 and 4-2 and fell into fourth place as the Buccaneers took over third. The Pirates were held to six hits in each game but bunched five of them for three runs in the fifth inning of the opener and fitted them together at timely intervals in the second session also.

In the meantime the Cardinals split a double-header with the Boston Braves and did nothing to improve their prospects for next week's World Series with the New York Yankees.

Monte Crosser, the Cardinals' ace pitcher, started the first game and was relieved in the sixth inning by Lefty Harry Brecheen with the Braves ahead 4-3. Boston went on to win in the 13th 6-5 and the fact that another southpaw, Max Lanier, stopped the Braves in the second game 7-1 on six-hit hurling in the nightcap did little to camouflage Cooper's unsuccessful effort in the first game.

Tommy Holmes decided the opener with a single with the bases loaded and Marty Marion and Lou

Prokop Scores For Georgia Tech

In spite of being wedged in the center of a barrier of white-shirted North Carolina players, Eddie Prokop, Georgia Tech back, carries the ball over for a touchdown that helped give his team a 20 to 7 victory in Atlanta Saturday. This score came on a short line plunge in the third quarter.

Klein each drove in three runs in the nightcap.

The Chicago Cubs took two games from New York definitely interrupting the Giants in the cellar, 3-2 in ten innings and 2-1. A single by Rookie Eddie Sauer with the bases loaded in the tenth gave the veteran Paul Derringer his 200th victory of his major league career in the opener and a two-run rally in the ninth won the second session for Lon Warneke after Hugh East had pitched five-hit shutout ball for eight frames.

The New York Yankees were beaten 11-2 in their final conflict with the Cleveland Indians, but all the score meant was that Martin Breuer would get a good rest during the World Series.

Manager Joe McCarthy gave Breuer his first starting assignment of the season and then sat in the stands to see what happened to his sore-armed righthander. What he saw was Breuer giving up nine hits in less than five frames, allowing a five-run rally in the fourth and letting another five-run flurry start in the fifth. The only pleasure for the Yankees was Joe Gordon's 15th homer.

The Boston Red Sox trounced the Detroit Tigers 6-1 and the Philadelphia Athletics worked out on the St. Louis Browns 8-3 with Rookie Lou Cloia scattering eight hits.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Publicity item from the local racing associations say that Saturday's "back the attack" day at Belmont Park will feature a $10,000 special for "the speediest older horses not in training." Sounds like another Whirlaway-Alab duel. But, all typographical errors aside, this is once when the horse race customers really will get their money's worth (providing they don't lose too many bets). They'll get the future and the Jockey club gold cup, which cost the track $25,000 apiece in purse money, a $10,000 race for juveniles like Bee Mac and Alorier that aren't eligible for the Futurity and the race mentioned above—and war bonds instead of torn-up mutual tickets for souvenirs.

All A Loan
When Corp. Martin Furgol of Fort Hancock, N. J., former Miami Beach golf pro, won the greater New York army and navy tournament at Bethpage Park, I. last week he wore golf shoes loaned from Bill Forbes, Fort Hancock YMCA physical director, played with clubs belonging to Maj. Robert F. Spottswood, post special service officer, and with a 1941 ball (unused) borrowed from Frank Robinson of the Fort Hamilton YMCA. He hitch-hiked from Fort Hancock to New York and lugged his own clubs around the course while he shot a nifty 74.

You Pick 'Em

(Asking the big question of the "if men of the world series pitching staffs.")

Yankees—Charley Wensloff, a rookie who doesn't act like one, may get a starting assignment over Bonham or Borowy; not likely to be used by Cards' base running; Makes a habit of pitching complete games. Marius Russo, the Yankees' only southpaw threat; had a sore arm most of the season but you'd never know it now; allowed six hits in his last two starts.

Cardinals—Alpha Brazle; Alpha's a good bet—if his draft board doesn't declare it off; received his summons last week but hopes to get a crack at the Yanks before donning Sam's uniform; came up from Sacramento in July and has won seven games since then. Ernie White; recovered from a sore arm just in time for last year's series and blanked the Yanks with six hits; may repeat, for his frail flipper seems to be about ready for action.

No Safety In Numbers
In a high school grid game the other night, Lakeland, Fla., High was penalized for having only ten players on the field and two plays later was penalized again for having twelve men. Seems when a sub came in two players who knew when to quit thought they were being relieved and left the field. When the error was discovered two plays entered the game and no one left. Apparently there's no manpower shortage in Lakeland but the coach likely would admit there's some trouble over thought power.

BLONDIE — By Chic Young

TAR HEEL Sports Review

Raleigh, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Marion Alexander, "Cubel" Bob Madry's chief aide in dishing out publicity on the University of North Carolina's Tar Heels, has a theory about how come Richmond, with a Navy V-12 unit, doesn't have the strength of other schools similarly blessed. ... Marion laments as how it's the absence of Marines. ... He points to Duke, Georgia Tech, Penn State, North Carolina, of course, and others strong in a football way. ... All of 'em have Marine contingents in addition to the V-12's, and a big part of their platoon talent comes dressed in the Marine green. ... But up Richmond way, the uniforms are all blue, so come last Saturday's Duke's Marines really landed and had the situation well in hand. ... Maybe Marion has something there.

Worth The Price

See by the ravers that two Duke-North Carolina football tickets (for the October 16 game) were auctioned off at Durham for $10,000—in war bonds, of course. ... The Ducats were donated by Charley Dukes of the Duke (what's in a name) alumni and publicity offices. ... That tussle should be worth the dough, especially 10 years from now, because that game will have both teams at their strongest. ... After October 30 some of the stars at both schools will have "graduated." ... The other tilt won't be as potent—although the game always is a dundum when the Blue Devils and the Tar Heels tangle.

Add Football Teams

Army Finance School at Wake Forest has organized a pigskin group and will tangle with army BTS No. 10 of Greensboro, also recently organized in a football way. ... Comes word from Wilmington that the Wilmington Army Air Base will have at least 11 men in mole-skin for home and home games with Camp Davis "B" team and the Wrightville Beach Coast Guard Base.

Guest Star

Smith Barrier in the Greensboro Record says: Wally Butts of Davidson, wanting a ball game. ... Mac wondered if Butts was having a hard time getting games. ... "No sir," no sirred Wally. "we can get twice as many games as we want. Everybody wants to play us this year." ... And just to think, last year Wally's boys were smacking 'em over at the Rose Bowl. ... But this year, as Smith puts it, "only the uniforms have been to Pasadena."

Yogi Again

After picking Duke over Richmond, Camp Davis over Wake Forest, N. C. State over Apprentice and of all things, Georgia Tech over North Carolina last week, it's a

American Bombers Smash Nazi Planes

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Sept. 28.—(AP)—American A-36 dive bombers swooped down on an enemy airdrome at Viterbo and a seaplane base at lake Di Bracciano, northwest of Rome, in dawn raids yesterday, destroying at least ten enemy planes.

The raiders caught between 25 and 4 enemy aircraft on the ground at the Viterbo field and left five in flames with many others damaged.

In addition a JU52 transport was caught over the field and shot down.

Other raiders also took off at dawn and roared down upon 13 seaplanes anchored on lake Di Bracciano. Five seaplanes were left on fire.

Pardoned

Raleigh, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Governor Broughton has signed a pardon for Levaughan Hutchins, who had served 29 days of a seven-year sentence imposed on conviction of second degree murder charges in Buncombe county.

The pardon said that Hutchins was improperly imprisoned in connection with the death of Ted Caloway, a negro, and that another person was found to be guilty.

Churchill Urges Continued Effort

London, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told 6,000 women at a government sponsored conference today that Britain's job is to maintain its present war effort through the next two years.

Churchill said the country must continue the war effort at its current pace "through the fifth year of war or the sixth year if need be." Britain began its fifth year of the present conflict Sept. 3.

Women from industry, military units and voluntary services from all parts of Britain were brought here by the government, which paid their expenses and reimbursed those who lost time from work, to enlist their aid in the victory drive.

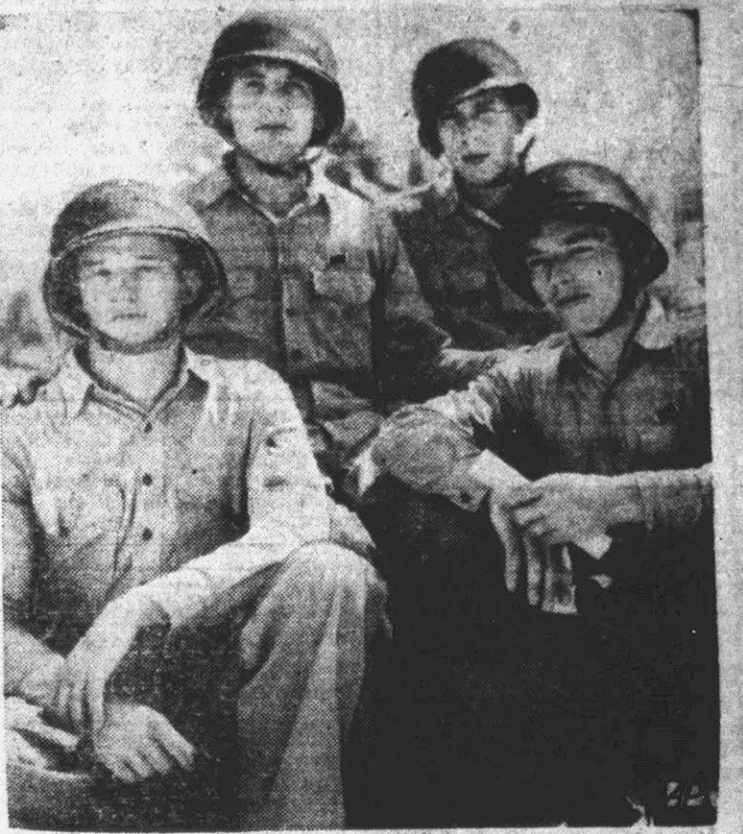

Liquor Book Registration

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 28.—(AP)—October 11 is the opening date for the second registration for liquor ration books in North Carolina's 25 wet counties. ... State ABC chairman Carl Williams announced this yesterday and said applicants could register at county liquor stores any time between Oct. 11 and Dec. 1, the effective date of the new books.

shame to spoil such a record. ... But here goes, anyway. We'll string along with the Big Five teams this week. ... Yep, Duke over N. C. Navy Pre-Flight, North Carolina over Penn State, Wake Forest over Maryland, N. C. State over Clemson and Davidson over W. M. I.—and don't ask us why.

Grain Market

Chicago, Sept. 29—(AP)—Demand for wheat continued strong today and prices advanced into new high ground since early July, although profit-taking limited gains to about a cent. A prominent elevator comcern was on the buying side and some purchases represented the closing out of spreads between this market and Winnipeg.

Commission houses made sizable purchases of rye, gains in that grain extending to more than a cent.
Oats were weak early on profit-taking, but recovered some lost ground before the close. A pick-up in corn marketing was reported, bookings totaling more than 8,000 bushels prior to the close.
Wheat finished at the day's highs, final prices being up 1-1/2,
December $1.51 1/2, May $1.51 1/2.
$1.52. Oats were 3/4 lower to 1/2 higher, December 77 1/2, and rye was 1/4 higher, December $1.09 1/2-$1.10.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Geeheebe

Late addition to our machinery for amphibious landing operations is the Geeheebe. It resembles somewhat, the newer types of roadbuilding machinery that pushed through the Alcan highway. This contraption is employed to bring ashore damaged landing vessels.
They're not expensive but when they're needed they're needed NOW.

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have headaches? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you lack pep or vigor? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you get irritable easily? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel depressed—nervous? ☐ YES ☐ NO

Do you feel headachy—depressed—irritable—tired—due to a sluggish, constipated condition? Do you want faster and more effective all-around relief than you can get from an ordinary simple laxative alone? Then, as medical science proves,
you should do two things:
1. Get liver bile flowing freely.
2. Clear out the intestinal tract.
To do both, take double-acting Carter's Little Liver Pills tonight. The first thing Carter's usually do while you're comfortably asleep is to increase the flow of liver bile—a vital digestive juice. This helps to digest your food properly. This first Carter action alone may make you feel much better when you wake up!
Then, Carter's second action helps relieve the sluggish condition that may easily be at the bottom of all your headachy, depressed, tired feeling.
Carter's double action is due to their special formula. Thousands know how well they work. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—only 25¢ at any drugist's. Take as directed. You'll be glad you did.

Wants Veterans on Peace Commission

New York, Sept. 29—(AP)—The annual encampment of the veterans of Foreign Wars recommended today that the U. S. armed forces be represented at the peace conference because "we believe that those who have fought the war should have a voice in the terms of peace."
"We advocate," said a resolution adopted unanimously, "that on a commission representing the United States at the peace table there be included not less than one commissioned officer and one enlisted man from each of the War and Navy departments who has seen combat service, and some representation from Veterans' organizations, including one national officer of the Veterans of Foreign Wars."

The resolution favored United States participation in an international association to preserve world peace and recommended sharing surpluses of food, clothing and machinery with nations actually in need.

It opposed "impractical and purely visionary charity by which we shall undertake, without limit, to support and maintain other countries."

Forecasts Big Naval Battle

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 29—(AP)— A veteran Associated Press war correspondent predicts that one of the greatest naval battles in history will be fought in the South Pacific, probably in the near future, and the Jap fleet will take a terrific licking.

Speaking before the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association yesterday, J. Norman Lodge, who recently returned from the Pacific area, said:
"I can't predict just where the impending naval battle will occur but I can predict it will be a great victory for us."

Lodge said it might appear that Allied strategy in the south Pacific involved an island-to-island campaign to reach Tokyo but he asserted that was not the case.
"It would be extremely hazardous if not futile to attempt to use naval carriers for aerial operations among the islands," he said.

"We are gradually pushing the Japs back and in doing so, we are acquiring the land based carriers that we must have for ultimate victory."

Lodge predicted final victory for the Allies "may be a matter of three or four years."

Review Pacific Operations

Washington, Sept. 29—Members of the Pacific War Council, representing the nations actively engaged in the war in the Pacific, met with President Roosevelt today and said they reviewed the general situation in that theater. Sir Ronald Campbell, British charge d'affaires, told newsmen "it looked all right."

Allies Blast . . .

from Japan's strategic island holding of New Britain, is virtually encircled.

Allied artillery shelled it.
Headquarters, in the first report on the new air raid on Wewak, said that operational base was heavily bombed and also hit by 160,000 rounds of ammunition Monday for an hour and a half by more than 200 raiders. Fifty planes were destroyed on the ground, some of them fighters transformed into wreckage as they tried futilely to get into the air.

Twenty got aloft. Eight were shot down for certain, three others probably. Three raiding Mitchells fell prey to intense enemy anti-aircraft fire. All the other Mitchells, Liberators and escorting fighters returned to base, some damaged.

Postwar Plan . . .

discussion of post-war policies in the senate should come at this time.
Connally has indicated that action likely would be delayed until after an American-British-Russian conference in Moscow.

The Fulbright resolution, approved by an overwhelming house vote, would put Congress on record as favorizing American participation, through this country's constitutional processes, in "appropriate international machinery" to preserve future peace.

Jones Seeks . . .

Jones pointed out the government was attempting to prevent further increases in food prices. He said:
"You, of course, are familiar with the effort to stabilize consumer prices. We are also committed to a policy of getting a larger production of food this year than last.
This may make necessary some additional support prices."

Jones also asked a change in the present Commodity Credit Corporation law which prohibits the sale of any government-owned commodity except grain for feeding at less than the parity price.

"Such a provision appears reasonable for commodities that can be stored," he said. "However, we are announcing some price supports for perishable commodities. In the case of perishable commodities, the corporation should be permitted to dispose of such commodities at less than parity where necessary to prevent waste of food."

Jones outlined his views as Congress and the administration broke off a three-months armistice on food subsidies with the farm bloc rallying behind a new drive to forestall use of government money for direct price reductions.
