Soviet Spearheads Drive Westward Across Dnieper

Break Through German Defenses At Three Points; Hundreds Of Germans Threatened With Entrapment In Area of River's Big Bend

By The Associated Press London, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Surging ahead along a 2,000 mile long front from Leninograd to the Caucasus the Red Army has breached the vital German Dnieper river defense wall on three strategic sectors above and below Kiev, blasted two wide corridors through the Nazi-held approaches to the Baltic and cleared the enemy from his last-minute toe-hold in the Taman peninsula.

In a day of smashing successes chronicled in a Moscow communique, the Soviet steamroller crossed the Dnieper in force to establish bridgeheads (1) north of Kiev near the confluence of the Pripiet and Dnieper rivers (2) south of Pereyaslav, 50 miles below the Ukraine capital and (3) southeast of Kremenchuk between that captured city and Dnepropetrovsk on the great Dnieper bend.

Fierce counter-attacks were crushed in Sangulivsk fighting, the bulletin said, and today the Soviet spearheads were plunging forward to drive the ever-widening wedges deeper into the western Ukraine. Our troops are extending the bridgeheads step by step, the war bulletin declared. "Fierce counter-attacks" are being repulsed with heavy losses.

Intensity of the fighting was emphasized by the Moscow announcement that more than 8,000 Germans fell in the struggle for one bridgehead alone before the badly mauled enemy, striving "at all costs to hold up the Soviet advance," gave way.

The struggle for the middle Dnieper highlighted the resumption of the Russian offensive and threatened even larger disasters for the German legions. Hundreds of thousands of German troops were reported facing possible entrapment in the Dnieper river bend and in the Crimea.

Outstanding Russian victory in the north was the storming of Novoludsk, 60 miles above the White Sea and on the 100 miles from the Russian border of Latvia. Premier Joseph Stalin hailed this feat in another order of the day, and the Moscow communique asserted that the Bastion had been constantly strengthened by the Germans for the past two years. Names Of County War Dead Wanted

The Pitt County War Office of the American Legion is anxious to procure the name of every Pitt County man who has died or been killed in the present World War together with the name of the nearest of kin. This information is wanted in order that Gold Star certificates might be procured and presented to the nearest of kin on Armistice Day, November 11.

Only one Gold Star certificate can be presented for each victim and must go to the nearest of kin. In furnishing information to the Legion Post be sure to give all the known facts regarding the serviceman's death together with the name of the person to whom the certificate is to be made out. These certificates must be procured from national headquarters of the American Legion so it is necessary that the local post get the information as quickly as possible if the certificates are to be ready for presentation on Armistice Day.

Will Use More Planes To Combat Sub Menace

By JAMES J. STREIBIG (Associated Press Aviation Editor) Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—An increasing tendency of Nazi submarines to stay up and fight is making coastal patrol work more and more a job for fast, heavily-armed land planes.

Navy officials said today that flying boats, long considered ideal for patrol, are being shifted gradually to jobs where their rugged bulk, relative slowness and great range are more advantageous, such as the Pacific, which has too few landing fields but plenty of water.

Flying Fort Gets New Turret

A new weapon to give Flying Fortresses greater protection against enemy fighter planes is a neat power-operated chin turret, shown above on a Vega-built B-29, with two .50 caliber guns, giving the nose gunner the same accurate firepower that protects other sections of the planes. MORE SUPPORT FOR SALES TAX

Proposed Plan Gaining Favor Among Lawmakers

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Despite determined administration opposition, talk of a 10 per cent federal retail sales tax, calculated to funnel around $2,000,000,000 into the treasury, grew louder today.

One veteran lawmaker whose judgment on tax matters is highly respected, told this correspondent he believes a majority of his colleagues on Capitol Hill consider this form of levy the most accessible vehicle for gathering in new millions to finance the war, but they are not yet sure how their constituents back home feel about it.

Says Submarine War To Be Intensified

London, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Admiral Karl Doenitz, supreme commander of the German navy, declared in a Berlin broadcast today that submarines still are Germany's greatest threat to the Allies and promised a new naval war "greater than anything witnessed so far."

"It is my firm and fanatical intention to carry on the war against the enemy's tonnage to the highest level of perfection and with all means at our disposal," he said in a war summary broadcast by the German news agency DNB.

With new weapons and new devices, German U-boats will engage the enemy in all the seas," he asserted, adding that "in the long run this type of warfare may be of decisive significance."

JAPS ABANDON BIG AIR BASE IN SOLOMONS

Remnants Of Vila Garrison Believed To Have Fled To Northern Kolombangara

Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Oct. 8.—(AP)—The Japanese are giving up the central Solomon, pounded into retreat by continuous American air bombardments which left them short of ammunition and sank many of the loaded barges in which they tried to get away.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said today the enemy apparently had already abandoned all of southern Kolombangara, including the principal air base at Vila, and is trying to get out of the northern part of the island through a tight sea and air blockade.

At the South Pacific headquarters of Adm. William F. Halsey, Associated Press war correspondent William Hippie said it was regarded as certain that Americans soon would occupy Kolombangara.

A headquarters spokesman reported that all barge traffic between Kolombangara and Choiseul to the north virtually had ceased, indicating the Japanese either had quit the island or had given up attempts to remove stragglers who have pushed on foot to the northern shores.

(Since the morning of Oct. 1, no anti-aircraft fire from the Vila field has been encountered by American planes.)

The Vila Japanese, for weeks compressed between American forces to the north of Vila Lavella and to the south on New Georgia, suffered losses not only in their barge retreat but also during the daily attacks by American torpedo bombers and divebombers on their air base defenses.

Today's communique reported destruction of 18 barges off Choiseul, the staging point to which the Vila troops have been sent on the way to Bougainville.

Estimates of the size of the Vila garrison have ranged from 3,000 to 10,000.

Today's communique reported that on Monday a large force of 100 Liberators, led by Lt. Col. James H. Doolittle, and Corsairs, pounded Japan's big Kahlil airbase on the island of Iwojima.

Beginning next week the Bellarthur ration board will hold its meetings at 8 P.M. instead of on Thursday nights as heretofore. In announcing the change the site administrator stated that the change was necessary in order to avoid conflict with school meetings.

All residents of the Bellarthur area are urged to observe the hours as set forth.

SAY ALLIES IN BALKANS

Small Force Reported Landed In British Takeh Simi

London, Oct. 8.—(AP)—The free Yugoslav radio announced today the presence of American and British officers at partisan headquarters a short time after German sources reported a small Allied force had entered the Balkans.

In Cairo, it was announced that Yugoslav partisans had beaten off German efforts to land on islands off Zara on the Dalmatian coast and on the island of Hvar, south of Split.

The free Yugoslav broadcast gave no details as to the number of Allied officers at hand but it confirmed a previous report from Cairo that several had gone to other headquarters of both Gen. Draja Mihailovic and Dr. Tito.

The information gave significance to a statement last night by King Peter, who told his people "the day of deliverance is not far off."

Nazis Raided London Last Night While RAF Was Smashing At German Cities

By ROBERT STURDEVANT London, Oct. 8.—(AP)—American Flying Fortresses struck by daylight today at Bremen, Germany's North Sea U-boat and shipbuilding center, after a night of heavy attacks on southern Germany by powerful RAF bomber fleets which blasted Stuttgart, Friedrichshafen and Munich.

P-47 Thunderbolts supported the four-engine Fortresses in their assault on Germany's second largest port, climaxing the newest forceful burst of Allied air activity.

While the British raiders were sweeping over southern Germany in strength last night, a much weaker force of German bombers struck at London and southern England with the sharpest retaliatory blow in many months.

Sixteen Mile Front Along Volturno Established With Capture Of Capua And Castel Volturmo; Eighth Army Beats Down Several Fierce Nazi Attacks

By EDWARD KENNEDY Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Batling in heavy rain and mud, Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army has forged ahead and reached the Volturno river, the German defense line north of Naples, on a 16-mile front from Capua to the sea, Allied headquarters announced today.

Captured in the advance were Capua, on the south side of the river, where there is an important crossing and Castel Volturmo at the river mouth, 87 airline miles from Rome.

Capua, the main town on the Mazzoni plain on which the first phase of Gen. Clark's battle for Rome is being waged, is 17 miles north of Naples and 106 straight-line miles southeast of the Italian capital. It was taken in a 10-mile advance along the Via Cassiana, one of the two main roads from Naples to Rome. The other is the Appian Way, nearer the coast.

On the right, where the British Eighth Army was fighting, another battle on the approaches to the side door to the Italian capital, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces counter-attacks, took the offensive and occupied an important high area above Ternoli along the Adriatic.

Six German divisions were now fighting along the Italian front in fierce action.

The Germans threw tanks, including 60-ton Tigers, and infantry into their stabs at Montgomery's flanking force which held an area slightly north of Rome and threatened Pescara, the coastal terminus of a broad highway across the Apennines to the capital city on the banks of the Tiber.

(Disclosing that Canadians are in action with the Eighth Army in this sector, a front-line dispatch to the Canadian Press said the Dominion soldiers had mounted solid positions dominating a strategic valley in the face of steady fire from German artillery and mortar batteries. The line was the heaviest the Canadians had encountered since starting their northward push on Oct. 1.)

In the mountainous backbone in the center of the peninsula, Allied forces maintained steady pressure against the Germans and continued to force them back.

Urge Support For MacArthur

Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Senator Chandler (D-Ky.) told the Senate today in its second war-secrets session that Gen. Douglas MacArthur should either be given more support in his offensive campaign against the Japanese or be relieved of his command.

Speaking to colleagues who had been lectured by Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) and Lucas (D-Ill.) on the subject of divulging information given to them behind closed doors, Chandler renewed a plea that more planes, men and guns be poured into the Pacific theater.

The Kentuckian, who has urged a supreme command in the Pacific and Asia for MacArthur, was quoted by some colleagues as declaring that insufficient weight was being thrown against the Japanese. The war was that either MacArthur should have more assistance or that he should be removed.

member of the under-cover council of resistance on French soil. Although the committee wants to remove and perhaps punish persons in authority who "went too far" along Vichy's road, the purge will not involve an indiscriminate rolling of heads, De Menthon explained today, asserting that it is realized that there may be some in Vichy who did no more than their duty.

We distinguish between those who merely obeyed orders and those who were enthusiastic in helping the Germans," he said. "These last ones are the ones we want to purge." Suspects will be studied case by case. (Continued on Page Four)

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Associated Press War Analyst Events in Asia and the Pacific emphasize the steady approach of a two-pronged United Nations drive against the Japanese, a fact admitted by Premier Tojo in warning national government officials that the Allied offensive has "gained in intensity" and that from now on their "responsibility is enormous."

Strata which show the direction of a great wind include the arrival in India of Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, commander-in-chief for southeast Asia, to prepare for the invasion of Burma. This is likely to play a major part in breaching the Mikado's home defenses.

General MacArthur's New Guinea offensive continues "with great speed and success," as Secretary of War Stimson puts it. Our dashing attack on Wake Island and other naval activities invite the thought that our main Pacific fleet under Admiral Nimitz is preparing an offensive against Japan's network of island bases and communications in the central Pacific. A vital buttress of this ocean Marathon defense is the powerful naval base of Truk where a large unit of the Jap navy is living doggo, afraid to come out and meet the eager challenge of our ships.

The object of the Burma campaign is, of course, to reestablish land communications between China and the outside world, and to inaugurate operations that will give us Chinese air bases from which we can reach Tokyo and other Japanese cities with our big bombers.

The Pacific drives are calculated to strip the eastern shield off Japan, the Philippines and the Indies. These two offensives will complement each other. They will form the claws of great and powerful pincers which will grip the Japanese from two sides and squeeze that increasing pressure until the Mikado's island kingdom breaks wide open.

War Fund Drive Chairmen Named

Jas. T. Little county chairman of the United War Fund, has announced appointment of the following as township chairmen in the United War Fund campaign.

Avden township: T. G. Worthington; Beverdam: Mack G. Smith; Belton: J. T. Dupree; Bethel: C. W. Everett; Carolina: Dr. T. G. Wainwright; Chocod: G. P. Carr and Newman Lewis; Fajkiana: G. H. Pittman; Farmville: Geo. W. Davis; Fountain: W. R. Harris and L. P. Yehovite; Greenville: Joseph S. Moxe; Pictious: Mrs. J. P. Davenport; Switt Creek: Ivan Bissette; Wintohille: J. H. Mobley.

The above township chairmen will form a complete organization in each township for the purpose of soliciting the $7,500 United War Fund county quota for the support of the service agencies such as the USO and foreign relief agencies such as Greek and Chinese. This campaign will begin the third week in October with solicitation of business firms to be followed by the general campaign for all individuals the fourth or last week in October.

The selection or appointment of any worker for this campaign organization is not only an honor but an opportunity to be of important service to the war effort as the United War Fund and its agencies are a definite part of the war plan.

Baptist Student Retreat.
The Baptist Student Union Council of East Carolina Teachers College held its pre-school retreat on Sept. 20-21 at the Student Center, 501 East Eighth street, under the supervision of Miss Mary Lee East. Baptist student secretary, and Miss Carol Leigh Humphries, president of the Baptist Student Council. Plans were presented and discussed by each individual on council, sharing together the purpose in mind, that of enlisting, deepening and utilizing every Baptist student on the campus. The council members presented their plans in the following order: Misses Mary Cox, devotional plans; Dorothy Whitley, music chairman; Gwendolyn Ward, enrollment chairman; Laura Marie Walker, secretary; Claffie Johnson and Margaret Hicks, Training Union directors; Mrs. Sue Perry and Mrs. Ann Rogers, Sunday school directors; Annie Kate Evans, social vice-president; Emye Earl Long, treasurer; Mary Frances Ellis, secretary; Dorothy Basser, reporter; Edna Everette, poster chairman; Jean Bailey, Baptist Student magazine representative; Rebecca Perry, editor of The Key; Louvene Womble, extension program director; and Christine Hellen, day student representative.

The worship services, each morning, noon and evening, helped the council to feel their oneness in purpose and furnished the inspiration in planning the work. They began with Miss Margaret Sammon, faculty advisor of the council, who brought a devotional on Monday evening entitled "Abiding with Him in a World at War."

After sharing summer experiences together and rethinking the purpose of B. S. U., Miss Ernest led the group in a family altar for worship, bringing out the thought "for their sake I consecrate myself to my work."

Dr. J. D. Simons, pastor of Memorial Baptist Church, brought a message Tuesday, during the noon hour, carrying out the theme of "Abiding in Christ," focusing the group's attention on aids to and results of giving Christ first place here on earth.

On Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Hartwell Campbell, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, in his message on "Abiding in Him," used as his key verse, "Whether two or three are abiding in Him together, there am I in the midst of them..." pointing out how a Christian can neither live alone or like it.

The president's message on Tuesday evening brought thoughtful words on "How God abides in us, that we can bear fruit, and ask what we will and it will be done unto us if we abide in Christ." Her concluding thought was the poem entitled "God Let Me Be Aware."

Mr. Dick Howerton, state Baptist student secretary, brought the retreat to a climax with his message on what the Christian personality really is, taken from the Beatitudes of the "Sermon on the Mount." His suggestion was "let the Beatitudes be our attitudes through life."

SERVICE LEAGUE HOLDS FIRST MEETING OF YEAR

The Service League of Greenville held its first meeting of the year Tuesday morning at Sheppard Memorial Library. The group of enthusiastic workers assembled at 10:30 to discuss plans for the ensuing year's work of service to this community.

The president, Mrs. Pace, opened the meeting with a few well chosen words of welcome and pledged the members to an ambitious program for the coming year.

Miss Jane McConnell, executive secretary of the Girl Scouts, was guest speaker for the meeting. She very graciously thanked the league for its previous interest and work with the scouts and expressed the pressing need of more troop leaders. She said that since girls who are of scout age are so eager and ready to be of service in this day of turmoil that it is a shame to deprive them of this privilege because of lack of leadership. She asked that all who are really interested in seeing the talents and interests of the youth of our community developed, to please come by the scout office and become troop leaders.

During the meeting reports were made from the various chairmen, and it was revealed that much activity had gone on during the summer months. Even though much expense had been incurred for hospitalization of several patients there is an appreciable amount of money left in the fund. It was reported that the league's shelf, which is located at Ellington's Book Store, had turned over a generous sum to the treasury.

It was voted to have the Thrift Shop opened this year every morning from 10 to 12 noon, except Saturday, and then it will be opened in the afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock.

The league will endeavor to maintain its customary aid this year to all worth-while campaigns which are made in this community. It will support every work of almost every nature that has added United War Relief to its program. It will lend aid in all national emergencies which may arise, as well as continuing its own local service to the poor and less fortunate people of this community.—Reported.

Qualifying Tests To Be Held Here
The second Qualifying Test for the Army Specialized Training Program and the Navy College Program V-12 which will be given throughout the country on Tuesday, November 9, will be administered at the Greenville High school, Mr. O. E. Dowd announced today. A pamphlet of general information which contains an admission-identification form may be obtained at High School. This form properly filled out will admit to the test students between the ages of 17 and 21 inclusive who are recent high school graduates or who will be graduated by March 1, 1944. Intent to take the test should be made known immediately to Principal of office at the High School in order that the necessary test supplies may be ordered.

The same examination will be taken by both Army and Navy candidates. The examination is designed to test the aptitude and general knowledge required for the program of college training and all qualified students are urged to take the test. At the time of the test each candidate will be given a choice of service preference, but taking the test does not obligate the candidate to enlist in the service.

The Army Specialized Training Program and the Navy College Program enable students to continue academic training at government expense following induction into the armed services. Successful completion of the prescribed courses may, following further officer training, lead to a commission in the Army or the Navy.

Those selected for the Army will, after further screening and basic military training, be sent to college. Students chosen for the Navy Program, after selection by the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, will be detailed directly to college. Students who attend college under

Melton Pleases Large Audience

James Melton, in a popular program generously interspersed with encores, sang last night at East Carolina Teachers College to a large audience that delighted in his ringing tenor voice, his good humor, and pleasing personality.

The famous tenor, whose voice is familiar to radio listeners, moving picture fans, concert audiences, and opera-goers throughout the country, combined in his formal program operatic selections and folk songs; and he responded again and again to calls for encores with such favorites as "Water Boy," "Wall's Sings at Plum" and "Shortnin' Bread," and Schubert's "Serenade."

The operatic number seemingly best liked by the audience was the aria "M'Appari" from "Martha," welcomed as an old friend by the audience, no doubt, because of the ECTC production of that opera last year under the direction of Denton Rossell.

The accompanist, Robert Hill, gave an enjoyable group of piano compositions, showing unusual mastery of technique. He responded to several encores.

Members of the Entertainment Committee bringing Mr. Melton to the campus are Camille Jerimian of Aulander, Mickey Boyette of Abbeville, Jimmy Warren of Greenville, and Miss Marguerite Austin, Dr. A. D. Frank and Dr. Karl Gilbert of the faculty.

Workers Discuss Seal Sale Plans

A meeting of the Tuberculosis Seal Sale chairman and co-workers for Pitt county and the city of Greenville, was held at the Woman's club last night with J. H. Waidrop, president of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association, presiding.

The main address was made by Mrs. Ralph J. Andrews, assistant executive secretary of the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association. She outlined plans for the coming Seal Sale campaign which gets underway in November.

Mrs. D. M. Clark, Seal Sale chairman for Greenville, and Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Pitt county chairman, made brief remarks.

Mrs. Andrews praised the Pitt county and Greenville organizations for the very successful campaigns put on in the past and said that she was confident that this year would be no exception, particularly since the war will undoubtedly aggravate our tuberculosis problem.

Completes Basic Training As WAVE

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 7.—Mabel Gertrude Ames, daughter of Mrs. Nina Ames, 311 West Third Street Greenville, has completed her basic training as a WAVE of the Navy and been assigned to special training at the Navy's school for women in Cedar Falls, Ia. This was announced here today by Rear Admiral William H. Allen, director of the Office of Naval Officer Procurement in the Sixth and Seventh Naval Districts.

Miss Ames received her basic training at the Naval Training School, the Bronx, N. Y., and has arrived at Cedar Falls. Before entering the service, she was employed by the War Manpower Commission and the National Youth Administration. She is a graduate of Greenville High School, and attended the Princeton Business College at Princeton. She is a member of the Greenville High National Beta Club and the Glee Club.

HAMBURG RAID TOOK BIG TOLL

Thousands Died In Fires That Followed Bombings

By FRANK BRUTTO

Bern, Switzerland, Oct. 8.—(AP) The terrific Allied bombing of Hamburg which leveled that vital German port in early August was described today as a holocaust in which men, women and children fought against fire for the oxygen of the air with fire winning the battle as the flames soared to a height of six kilometers (3.7 miles). The Swiss newspaper Allgemeine Volkszeitung said that almost no one escaped in the heavily populated area of many square kilometers on which the Allied planes planted a "carpet" of hundreds of thousands of explosive and incendiary bombs.

A phenomenon resulted in which the fire drew the oxygen from the surrounding air, forming a constantly increasing "air chimney" in which the flames mounted higher and higher, increasing in violence and finally forming a compact roof of fire, the newspaper said.

This phenomenon was said to have developed to such an extent at Hamburg that the movement of the air was comparable to a typhoon—a gigantic force pumping air from all directions and the streets serving as conduits with flames rushing through them to meet the offered oxygen. A life and death struggle ensued between the flames and the people, the latter inevitably losing.

The fire, the newspaper said, consumed the last bit of oxygen in cellars and finally exhausted that in air raid shelters which at the same time were subjected to unbearable heat. At the start of the bombing—when there was still time—the people did not dare leave the shelters to face the hail of flaming bombs.

Hamburg authorities who directed the cleanup work said only a minute percentage of the population that dared flee when the attack started, escaped.

Those who remained in the shelters—where at least 20,000 persons perished—were reduced to ashes. The authorities were quoted as saying that the heat surpassed that of incinerators. One doctor observed that the combustion of bones was more complete than in normal crematoriums. There were no traces of identification.

Famous Singer At Tobacco Sale Here

By CHESTER WALSH

James Melton, internationally famous tenor who appeared in concert at East Carolina Teachers' College last night, was thrilled yesterday when he accompanied the buyers along a row of tobacco at McGowan's warehouse while Raleigh Bland auctioneered the eat for a score or more buyers. The stage, screen and radio star became so enthused that he outbid the buyers on a number of piles. He left the warehouse with a bunch of the golden leaf that sold for more than 50 cents a pound. Robert Hill of New York, his accompanist, and Dr. L. R. Meadows, president of the college, were with him.

Melton is a native of Moultrie, Ga. He now lives in Connecticut. His hobby is collecting antique automobiles. He has scores of numerous makes and expressed regret that he could not get Jack Benny's old Maxwell, which was donated to a scrap metal pile in California. The state of Connecticut is arranging to build a museum to house Melton's antique cars.

The famous star has been singing since early childhood. He did solo work in churches in Moultrie when he was not tall enough to see over the chancel rail. Melton was with the "Roxy Show" in New York in 1927, when he was called to the radio. Since then it has been radio, screen and concert work of a quality to give him eminence in his profession.

Mr. and Mrs. Melton live on their farm in Connecticut. She is an Ohio girl and is a non-professional. "We've been married 14 years, are the best of comrades and partners in everything in life," he stated. They have no children.

Richard Hill, a native New Yorker who likes the South, nationally known as a concert pianist, is a master musician. He has done extensive concert work and has been accompanist for many of the great opera and concert singers. He married an Ohio girl, Virginia Lynn, nationally known in radio work.

At lunch at Hotel Proctor yesterday with James Melton and his distinguished accompanist, one could read between the lines that the famous singer's pet song is "Shortnin' Bread," his favorite food, turnip greens and corn bread, his most appreciative audience, college boys and girls.

Melton has a magnetic personality. He is easy to approach and a delightful conversationalist. He likes people. "When singing over the radio, I see and live with my audience," he said. When on concert tours he seldom goes far from New York, where he returns weekly for his broadcast on the "Texas" hour Sunday nights. Much of Sunday is spent in rehearsal in the studio. He appeared in concert at Jacksonville, Fla., Tuesday night, in Greenville last night. He left last night for Wilson to board a train for New York. Mr. Hill, his accompanist, spent the night here. He left today for Richmond, Va., to join Mr. Melton and go to New York.

RISE TO NEW HEIGHTS We are told that when the hawk attacked by crows or kingbirds does not make a counter-attack it begins to soar in ever-widening circles until he gets above his assailants.

This is suggestive on the way to evade temptation when we confront it. We can meet it head-on if we care to, and sometimes there are situations when this is the only thing to do. But the wisest way to evade any besetting sin is to rise above it.

FACT OR FICTION

(Industrial News Review)

Periodically notices appear in the press informing the country of changes in the point value of rationed commodities. After they are made, it is explained that they were necessary in order to "adjust" the demand to meet dwindling supply.

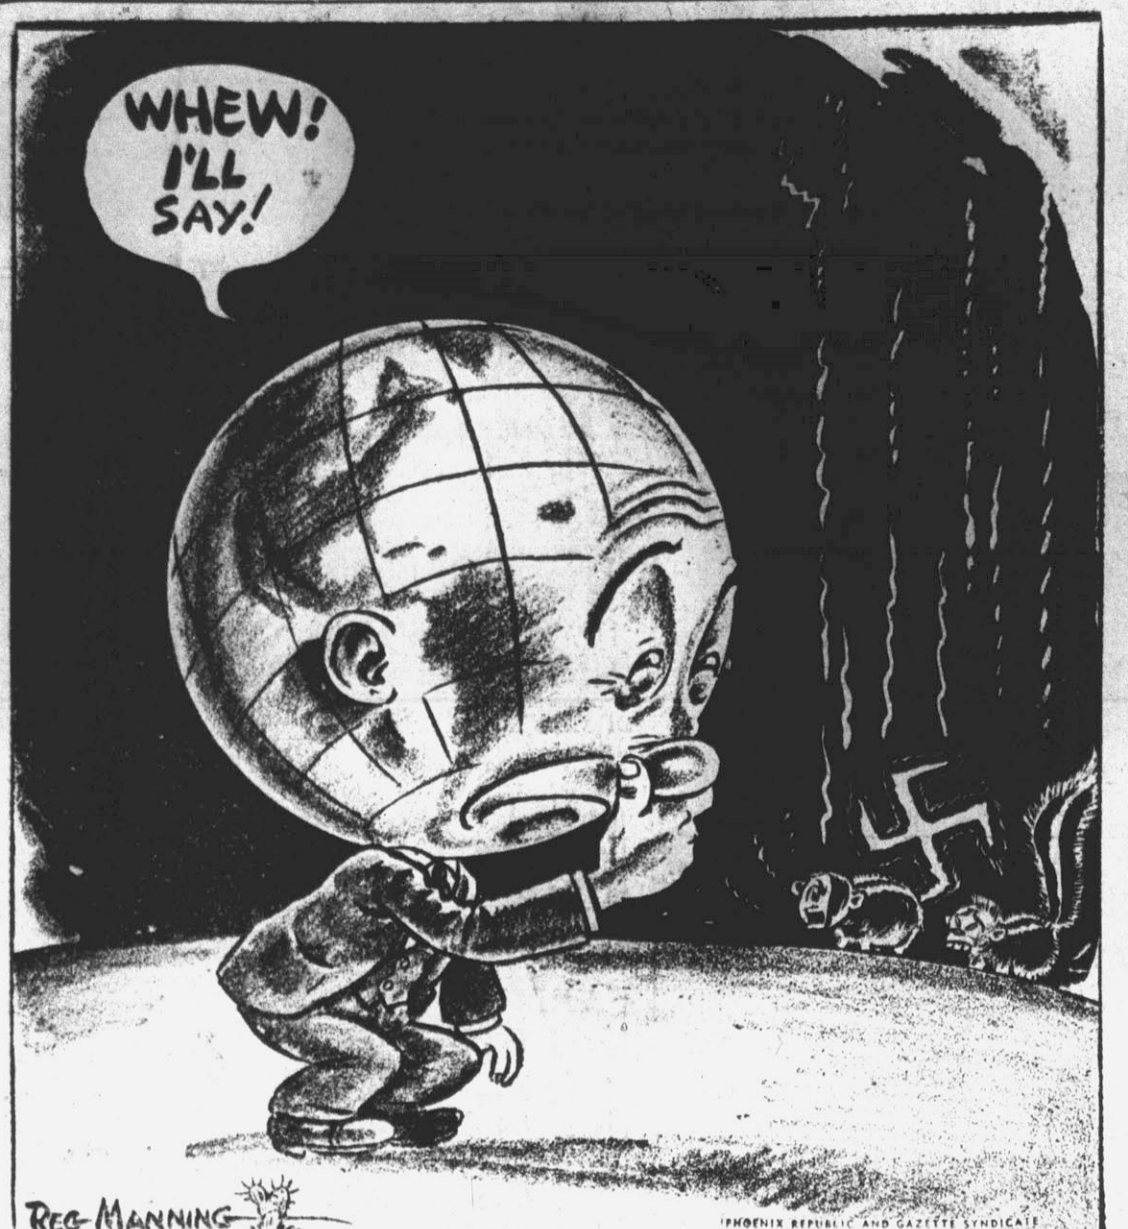

For example, if, in the opinion of the rationing authorities, too many people want to buy a certain item, it is a simple matter to raise the point price of that item. Demand promptly falls off, and works smoothly and quickly.

To all appearances, the ill-fated laws of supply and demand become crude comparison.

But there is one catch. Under the old natural laws merchants knew what to expect from consumers. They knew that the public would buy so many shoes, so many reels of flour, or so many cans of goods. And they planned the operation of their businesses accordingly.

Under the present method of juggling the laws of supply and demand, the merchant is helpless. If he needs to purchase a quantity of goods from a producer, he has no way of knowing whether he will be permitted to dispose of those goods in the past. They may be rationed and the point value so high that they will be frozen on his shelves indefinitely. All the expense saving efforts of the distribution industry, which have so long benefitted the consumer, can now be wiped out with a scratch of an official pen. After the war, production and distribution must be freed as quickly as possible of artificial handicaps. That is the only way to achieve, in fact, the fiction of future abundance now being created for the people by planners and dreamers of every stripe.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

WASHINGTON. ICM. Washington. This is a footnote to a series we wrote some weeks ago about the post-war employment and care of veterans of this war. It deals with a situation that now exists—the employment of disabled veterans of World War II.

Administration. Federal Service Agency, and War Manpower Commission have declared their determination to do everything they can to see that private enterprise gives disabled veterans as good a break as does civil service.

That's why it is important that the Civil Service Commission, spurred on by Representative Robert Ramspeck (D-Ga.) house civil service committee now is making one of the most extensive surveys of employment of physically handicapped persons that ever has been undertaken by the government.

The commission already has surveyed more than 2,500 types of work in the federal service and classified them with regard to the degree of physical handicap with which they can be performed.

"We have found out what abilities and faculties are needed in particular jobs," says Ramspeck. "Then we have taken persons with these abilities and faculties, even though they may have other handicaps and persuaded appointing officers to use their services. Since October of last year, over 15,000 physically handicapped persons (not all veterans by any means, but many of them) have been placed in federal positions as a result of this program.

"Our next step is to make a study of the manner in which these physically handicapped employees have carried on their work. This study will be completed within the next few months."

The findings of the commission undoubtedly will supply any employer with statistical data on what physically handicapped persons he might give jobs to.

In addition to that, the Ramspeck committee now is prepared to call any placement officer on the carpet and demand specific reason why he has failed to employ disabled veterans whose abilities are suited to the job to be filled.

Back of this are the plans for a vast educational and training program for disabled veterans. But all of it is a tendency to fit the physi-

In the Wake of MURDER

By ADELINE McFRESH

Chapter 19 Brad chuckled and glanced amusedly at her. "You're pretty sore, aren't you?" he asked. "I'm sorry, Jane. I'm not at liberty to tell you everything even now. I thought you would have confidence in me."

"You mean you thought I'd believe all the pack of lies you've been telling," Jane broke in. "Well, I did, Brad, for a long time. But that's over now."

"Listen, Jane," Brad was leaning toward her. "I saw Brad, yes, I admit that. But I recognized him from your description. When I came out of that store after calling the police, he left. I was on foot. I couldn't very well catch him."

"He paused, half-expecting an outburst from Jane. When nothing happened, he went on: "You can check the police about that call, if you like. The desk sergeant will verify it."

"Jane caught her breath. Now I've done it, she thought, trying in vain to brush aside the tiny fear that was growing in her breast. Suppose Brad Forrester killed her? She might be found in the river in the morning and he would write her obituary, stressing the fact that she had been despondent over the death of Jim Masters."

"Aloud she said: "All right, I'll tell you. And when I get back to town, I'm going to tell the police, whether Uncle Ed agrees or not."

"She launched into her accusation, telling him that she knew about the other government man, the stolen car, everything that Ed Black had told her. Brad sat silent, seemingly at ease. Jane couldn't see the white-clutched blotches on his knuckles as he clutched the steering wheel."

"You're very foolish, Jane," he said softly when she finished. "If I were a German agent, you'd never reason to get me spilled all that."

"Fear reared its head again. Jane felt, it in the pit of her stomach but she managed to keep her voice calm. "How do I know I will?" she asked.

For answer, Brad drew her head away from his lips and found her eyes staring at him. He spoke in a hoarse, hoarse voice. "That's why," he whispered finally, still holding her close.

Jane pushed his arms away and shrank into her own corner. Tears scalded her cheeks. Thankful for the darkness, she fumbled for a handkerchief. Thank God he couldn't hear her heart hammering wildly, shouting from the house, "I never know. That would be too much."

There was something new in his voice now. It was almost as though he could read her mind, could vision the turmoil raging within her. "Hate is a funny thing. Sometimes you don't recognize it for what it really is."

Jane gasped. Of all the brass! Anger lashed out viciously, scattering all caution to the four winds. "Really, Brad, you're the one who is being foolish!" She brought that taunting note into her voice again.

"There is a clue—a really good one that will break this thing wide open." To herself she added, Maybe, not much to look at, Brad. Only a piece of blue silk.

She paused, wondering just how to go on. Brad said: "Don't prolong the agony."

With a tight laugh Jane continued: "Mrs. Billingsley brought it to me the morning after someone tried to break into her house, right after her husband was killed. Their dog tore it from whoever it was."

"That silk is a piece of a woman's dress sleeve, Brad."

"There was nothing more to be said, Jane sat back and waited for the reaction. It came with a bang. "Where is it now?" Brad's exclamation sounded like a shout in the darkness of the coupe. "Jane, tell me!" He was shaking her shoulder.

"Uncle Ed took it to give to the police," Jane said evasively, fighting down the desire to escape.

"It was no use. Escape was impossible. She wouldn't even get out of the car before—" The thought faded there. Before what?

"This time, darling, she told herself, you have opened your mouth and put your foot in it. There's no one around to help you. Jane bit her lip. No use crying, her common sense scolded.

She turned farther away from Brad and looked out the car window at the moon. It hung full and round and red over the rim of the forest. Like a giant's eye glaring angrily down at the world.

"There's blood on the moon to-off the main road and headed for the Black home. Smoke was thicker here, the fire was nearer. Much nearer.

The house seemed deserted. Jane skidded the car to a stop at the front steps and dashed inside. "Aunt Ella!" she called. "Uncle Ed!"

No answer. Quick relief flooded over Jane. They had already gone. She was leaving when she heard the low growl. It seemed to come from the second floor.

Conscious of a quickening of her pulse, Jane took the stairs two at a time.

Ella Black was crumpled in the upper hall. Jane was beside her in a flash. There was blood, lots of it. "Jane," Mrs. Black murmured, her pale lips barely moving. "Thank God you're here."

HITLER HOLDS PEP MEETING

Tells Leaders Germans Must Not Lose Morale

London, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler told Nazi leaders gathered at his headquarters yesterday that the German people must not be permitted to lose morale, for if they did the war would be lost.

In a patent attempt to whip up flagging spirits on the home front, he was quoted by the Berlin radio today as saying:

"Weapons alone will not tilt the scales unless human will backs them.

"The party has never allowed itself to be discouraged by setbacks. Its power of action, hard resolve and extreme readiness to help provides the German people again today with moral backing and support, particularly in the difficult hours of air attacks.

"The German people preserve this morale which they have shown on the battlefields and at home, the war can never be lost but must and will bring a great German victory."

Hitler promised the assembled leaders to "deal blows everywhere and never falter until our aim is reached.

Indicating the importance Hitler placed on the pep meeting, "Reich-leaders and gaulliers" were addressed by such party and military leaders as Dr. Albert Speer, minister of armaments; Dr. Robert Ley, leader of the German labor front; Field Marshal Gen. Erhard Milch, state Secretary for Aviation; Admiral Karl Dönitz, supreme commander of the German navy; and Gestapo chief Heinrich Himmler.

"Defeatism is non-existent among the German people," boasted the Gestapo chieftain despite Hitler's obvious concern.

"Isolated cases of this kind will be eradicated without mercy," he promised.

Speer said that mass production must be increased and warned that "only the severest measures will see Germany through to final victory."

Ley called for "as many emergency billets as possible for air raid victims" without regard to the shortage of building material.

City Of Bremen . . .

Besides blasting the three important German cities, British planes laid mines in enemy waters, and the Air Ministry said that seven aircraft were missing from the night's extensive operations.

The London alert lasted approximately two hours and was exceedingly small by comparison with the great Allied armadas which have been blasting steadily at the Reich for many months.

British officials described the attack as a propaganda raid.

Bombs fell in several London districts, causing damage and some casualties and at the height of the fierce barrage whose bright orange flashes dotted the searchlight-streaked sky, firewatchers on rooftops were forced to take shelter from the falling splinters.

The last great raid on London occurred on May 10, 1941 when 450 tons of bombs were unloosed and nearly 1,500 persons were killed.

The first wave of planes, which passed over London between 8:15 and 9:30 p. m., consisted of but six planes, the statement declared. Nine more came over between 9:45 and 11 p. m.

Recalling the fairly heavy raid on London the night of January 17 this year, the British said the between 50 and 60 aircraft were over the capital at that time.

The raid on the British capital came early while streets were still thronged with people. The Air Ministry announced an unspecified number of casualties from bombs dropped over a wide area of the metropolis by a "small number" of enemy planes that succeeded in penetrating the anti-aircraft defenses.

East Anglia and southeast Britain also were visited by the German bombers. Two enemy aircraft were shot down—one in the London area.

American soldiers and civilians recently arrived in London stood on street corners to watch their first raid "in force." Britons and others who have been through previous heavy aerial attacks headed for shelters.

Although crowded residential areas in London suffered damage from enemy bombs, there was no report of military targets being hit.

Rescue workers toiled late into the night in several bombed districts in London to extricate persons buried in the wreckage. In one section 200 ARP crewmen and 30 soldiers operated in relays to remove victims from beneath piles of debris, some of which was moved by a 50-ton crane.

Fifth Army . . .

(Continued From Page One) failed activities, but found relatively few targets compared with the preceding day when a heavy toll was taken of a German armored division being rushed through the mountains to oppose Montgomery.

Nevertheless, 11 vehicles were destroyed along with one of the Germans' big Mark VI tanks.

American Lightnings made their tack as well as for protection of the attacking unit. Submarines can dive in half a minute or less. A flying boat doing 150 miles an hour sighted by a submarine three miles away would not get over the target in time if the sub chose to dive. But the land planes, in addition to being smaller and harder to sight, might make it easy.

Will Use . . .

(Continued from Page One) ments of plane losses in such jousts indicate the seriousness of the problem. At least one Liberator and a couple of smaller planes have been shot down by German under-sea craft.

The shift to faster, better armed planes is reported to be a step toward increased effectiveness of at-first sweep into Greece three days ago, it was announced, on the same day that American Liberators of the Northwest African Air Force carried out another bombing attack on the Eleusis airfield near Athens.

In advancing to the Voltorno, Clark's Fifth Army occupied all the towns south of the river.

The Germans in withdrawing over the river left many determined nests of resistance behind them, but these were wiped out in the relentless drive of Americans, supported by British armor.

The advance gives the Allies two main roads to Rome as far as the Voltorno. The Apennine Way crosses the river at Cancelli which is on the north bank and a little over five miles from the coast. The Via Cassilina crosses at Capua where there has been a bridge since ancient times.

then reconstituted, now includes many Alsatians, Czechs, Poles, Slovaks and Slovenes, it was said at Allied headquarters.

The Fifth Army although less than 100 airline miles from Rome, is still 110 miles from the capital by railway and 125 miles by the Apennine Way.

The bulletin said that the Fifth Army, in addition to capturing Capua, has made steady progress in repairing communications demolished by the withdrawing Germans and by Allied air attack.

RAP Spitfires patrolled the Teramo area where the enemy appeared to have concentrated his air strength. Supporting the Eighth Army in beating back the German counter-attacks, the Spitfires shot down four Messerschmitt 109's yesterday and destroyed a JU-88 bomber during the night. It was announced.

It was considered certain, however, that the Germans had demolished these bridges before withdrawing.

(The German communique said Allied attacks in the Voltorno and Teramo areas had been repulsed and frustrated).

The Allied line now runs from the mouth of the Voltorno to Capua, southeast of Maddaloni, northeast to Benevento where it crosses the Calore to Montecalvo, thence northeastward to the Adriatic north of Teramo.

Germans battling the Eighth Army in the latter area included the famous 16th armored division which bore the brunt of the fighting at Salerno and then was pulled out to fight on the east side of the peninsula, and the first German parachute division.

The 16th armored division, which was wiped out at Stalingrad and losses totaled four.

Meanwhile official tabulations showed American Flying Fortresses shot down 13 enemy fighters during the raid on Mestre, near Venice, day before yesterday. The victims were approximately half of the total of the German fighter force which tried to beat off the raid.

The Allied air command announced that 190 disabled enemy planes were found on captured airbases at Capodichino and Pomigliano, which constituted the two principal airbases for Naples. This brought the total of planes captured on fields in Italy to 692.

Of those found in the Naples area, 14 were giant six-engined Messerschmitt-323 transports and 54 were standard JU-52 transports. Forty-five of the remainder were Italian planes, some of which the Germans had been operating.

French Troops March Into Corsica

Marching inland from their landing at the port of D'Ajaccio on the island of Corsica in the Mediterranean, fully equipped French troops take over the strategic former French possession. They joined with local guerrilla units in the battle against the remaining German garrisons. This is the first picture of French troops on Corsica. Kick-Off At Smith Stadium at Eight O'Clock

After a week of hard work in preparation, Greenville High is waiting for the kickoff tonight to try to atone for last week's defeat at the hands of New Bern who plays the second game of the two game series here. Improving the blocking and tackling has been the big objective this week. Coach Bokey Farley paid more attention than usual to the defense since New Bern last week gained considerable yardage through the Greene line. On their drive to the only touchdown of the game New Bern made small but consistent gains through the line.

Starting tonight for the Phantoms will be Minshew or Clayton at left end, Cahoon at right end, Lupton and Lawrence at the tackles, Moore and Whichard at guards, Whiteford at center and Perkins, Satchelor, Williams and either Leggett or Fleming in the backfield. This is the same team that has been starting with the exception of Lawrence at tackle who will take over for Rice who has a lame arm and Leggett who will start at the wingback for Jim Lanier who is out for the season with a broken arm.

"Top Kick" Back

Duke Iverson—Back

Sergeant Duke Iverson, who comes all the way from the University of Oregon, is the blocking back for the flashy Jacksonville Air Raiders, who will meet Carolina at the Hill in the top game in this state on Saturday. The 6 foot 1 inch, 185-pound husky is a "top-kick," and the Carolina scouts report that the "Sarge" is just as tough a customer on the field as he is on the drill ground.

Brown has welded his cyilians into a fine unit but the sailors pack too much punch for the Bucks.

Texas Aggies—L. S. U.—Steve Van Buren to lead the Bayou Tigers to victory.

Camp Grant-Purdue—The Boilermakers can score. Camp Grant may do likewise but not enough to top the big ten boys.

Clemson-Virginia Military—Clemson on the upgrade.

St. Mary's Pre-Flight—Southern California—Flipping the well-known coin. Southern California.

College of Pacific-California—Stagg has too many navy stars at Pacific for the Golden Bears.

Right down the line: North Carolina over Jacksonville Naval ATTC, North Carolina State over Camp Davis, Richmond over Virginia, South Carolina over Presbyterian, Brown over Tufts, Harvard over Worcester Tech, Pittsburgh to win its first game of year at the expense of West Virginia, Maryland over Richmond air base, and on Friday—Georgia to beat Wake Forest.

A group of cedar waxwings will sometimes pass an insect or berry from mouth to mouth without eating it.

Irish Stopped, But Win

Two Georgia Tech men halt Paul Limont, Notre Dame end, in the first period of the game at South Bend, Ind., Saturday, just after he caught a pass good for 12 yards, fired by Angelo Bertelli. The Irish avenged last year's defeat by swamping the Yellow Jackets, 55 to 13. (AP Wirephoto).

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 8—(AP)—St. Louis blues. Of all the bad breaks the Cardinals have been getting in the world series, perhaps the worst is the two-day layoff before the next game. Bitter as yesterday's defeat was to them, they might shake it off if they were scheduled to play today, but with two days to think it over, that job of winning three of the next four games is going to look awfully big before Sunday afternoon. Wonder if Billy Southworth will take a chance of pitching Ernie White Sunday? Billy wouldn't say whether White figures in his plans, but it would give the Cards a tremendous lift to have the Yankee-banker come back in the nick of time. The more popular idea is that Southworth will play safe and use Lanier.

Quote, Unquote

A Brooklyn fan (after watching the Cards in the eighth inning): "Them bums never played that way against us."

Series Sights and Sounds

Lunch time in the Stevens boys' sandwich and coffee emporium: Jimmy Dykes talking and Babe Ruth being talked to—and answering "Hi, Kid." ... Jim Farley run-

Jimmy Conzelmann, who still makes you think of football more than baseball. Bobby Quinn acknowledging a lot of hellos. Scholarly-looking Will Harrige, unruffled by the crowd. Ed Barrow, not disguised by dark glasses while he still has those dark eyebrows. Terry Moore hurrying through to watch the Cards' batting practice. And Marine Sgt. Billy Goodrich, an ex-reporter, remarking: "That last time I saw him was in Panama. He hit a triple off Mickey Harris and was barely able to make it to third."

Skull Splinters

Yesterday's worst boner, the experts agree, was Ray Sanders' delayed throw to third on that crucial play where Johnny Lindell went into Whitely Kurovski like a halfback hitting the line. If he'd made it quicker, or even let Southpaw Brazie field the bunt, they figure Kurovski would have had the ball in plenty of time to set himself for the jolt. But for No. 2, how about Art Fletcher, supposedly the smartest third base coach out of his box that he had to jump to avoid interfering with a throw-in from Lefty?

Repentance

Clemson's drum-beater, Joe Sherman, who moaned that the 17-year-old Tigers would be afraid to run against the wind this season, now wires: "After watching Clemson's kids in action twice, I've gone overboard for them and am now calling them the Whiz Kids." Illinois still holds the copyright on that name, but it adds up to a good tip on tomorrow's Clemson-VMI game.

The Babe's A Happy Spector

George Herman (Babe) Ruth and his wife were happy spectators at the World Series meeting in New York of the Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals. In bygone days, the Bambino was a shining star in the Yankee stadium and was a standout in several series he played as an outfielder for the Yanks. (AP Wirephoto).

FOOTBALL SELECTIONS

By ORLO ROBERTSON

New York, Oct. 8—(AP)—Confronted by what figures to be three of the best games of the season, involving six unbeaten teams, we give you the following football selections for this week-end with the hope that the final figures will be something better than the identical record for each of the first two weeks (2 wins, eight losses and one tie).

Notre Dame-Michigan—tempted to toss a coin after comparing Bertellus pitching with Daley's running. But off the Irish's 55 points against Georgia Tech as compared to only 21 scored by the Wolverines on Northwest we'll pick Notre Dame.

Duke-Navy—Two strong teams well fortified in reserves meeting their first big tests. Calling on a slightly prejudiced fortune-teller we give up the Middies in a close one.

Dartmouth-Pennsylvania—Can't go against a team that has scored 82 points against Princeton and Yale, even if latter two are not as strong as other years, Pennsylvania.

Cornell-Princeton—One vote is cast for Cornell.

Illinois-Wisconsin—The Badgers have too much for the weak Illinois squad.

Indiana-Nebraska—Indiana.

Iowa Pre-Flight-Iowa—The Flying Cadets won't use their officers for the second straight week, which means no Dick Todd or Perry Schwartz, but still they look strong enough to hurdle the Hawkeys.

Georgia Pre-Flight-Georgia Tech—The Engineers to come back after being showered with touchdowns at Notre Dame.

Rice-Tulane—Tulane.

Temple-Army—The Owls are not going to stop that high-powered machine at West Point.

Ohio State-Great Lakes—Paul

Bernie Rohling, ex-Vanderbilt fullback, is back in the Carolina lineup this week and is being groomed to alternate with Hosea Rodgers, the ex-Alabama buster, against the strong Jacksonville Air Raiders Saturday.

Rohling, who is not a big boy but who bulls his way through the line like a 200-pounder, was on the side list for the Penn State game but appears to be back in shape and ready to go again.

SAY GERMANS SEEKING PEACE

Overtures May Be Made To Three Big Powers

Stockholm, Oct. 8.—(AP)—New reports of German peace overtures were circulated today and the Stockholm newspaper Social-Demokraten said it had learned that efforts of some Nazis to discuss an armistice with Russia collapsed when the Soviets demanded the custody of Adolf Hitler and the withdrawal of the German army behind the old German frontiers.

The reports, which must be viewed with reservation, were attributed by the newspaper to information given by a high German military official to military men in one of Germany's satellites. The report added that Nazi emissaries now are making attempts to contact the United States and Britain through Madrid and Lisbon.

Significantly, the new peace rumors came amid preparations for a tri-power conference and the possibility that they were planted by German propaganda must be taken into consideration in the light of repeated Nazi efforts to split the unity of Russia, Britain and the United States.

(NBC Reporter David Anderson said in a broadcast from Stockholm that there were indications that the new rumors of German peace overtures to America, Russia and England "represent more than just a propaganda plant."

(Anderson also quoted from the story in the Social-Demokraten, journal of the Swedish Labor party, which he said was brought out by a Swedish journalist whose source was a confidential report made by a high Hungarian military official to various political leaders in his country.)

From all the peace talk buzzing about Europe, one factor has been conspicuous—nothing has been said about any German official interest in making peace with the United Nations. Always the reports have revolved about a separate peace which would lift the strain of multiple front warfare from the hard-pressed Nazi armies and give them more freedom to follow Hitler's original policy of "divide and conquer."

Says Strikes . . .

look above and beyond the inconsequential faults of a small minority. We are making a fine record in a most imperfect world."

Departing frequently from his prepared text, Atherton said "I think the men who call strikes or participate in them under present conditions are rendering labor a very great disservice." He cited a recent strike of Pacific electric trammen and said he did not know why they struck and "the public doesn't know why."

"We lost more planes and ships in those few days than the enemy knocked down in that week. I don't know the trainmen's demands. I am willing to concede they were absolutely justified."

But, he added, an arbitration court had rendered a decision "Maybe it was wrong. I don't know. That isn't the point. When the umpire calls a man out he's out. He may be wrong, but the man is still out. That's the American system."

Green said the AFL made its no-strike pledge out of "honest hearts" and added that the President of the United States told labor it had kept that pledge 99 and nine-tenths per cent.

York Rite Masons To Honor Officers

Greenville's York Rite Masons will honor their past officers next Monday night in a joint meeting of Greenville Chapter No. 50 Royal Arch Masons and Bethlehem Commandery when officials of the grand bodies will present certificates to past officers High Priests and Commanders respectively. One of the features of the meeting will be a banquet served at the hall at 6:30 o'clock. Grand High Priest J. Edward Allen, of Warrenton will be present to present certificates to the following Past High Priests: J. N. Hart, J. P. Harrington, Hugh S. Ragsdale, W. S. Overton, S. G. Wilkerson, W. Dr. Mikel Saliba, of Wilson, Em-

That," said the AFL chief, was kept by imperfect men. I contend it is an amazing record and in an imperfect world.

Green went on to say that the AFL had a high regard for the men of industry "and we do not denounce industry as a whole for the sins of some in industry. We do not denounce all of industry because some steel company in America supplied our government in this emergency with defective armor plate.

"I venture to say there are sinners in the American legion."

In an address prepared for the 37th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, Atherton said:

"Within a few years Legion membership may equal that of the AFL. Then, working together, our two organizations can be a source of great strength in the building of a better and greater America tomorrow."

Atherton said that during the first six months of 1943 there were 1,855 strikes in the United States which involved 1,974,000 workers, in spite of no-strike assurances, union leaders' efforts and "of what I think is the wish and desire of loyal union workers."

"The persons who called those strikes, the members who participated in them, are rendering labor the greatest dis-service it has ever had," Atherton said.

Asserting a more certain road to victory could be hewed by the elimination of profiteering and racketeering Atherton said that "the right way to fix prices is to fix every price from peanuts to pig iron."

ment Grand Commander of Knights Templar of North Carolina, will present certificates to the following Past Eminent Commanders of the local Commandery:

J. N. Hart, W. Z. Morton, Frank W. Brown, F. J. Diener, Hugh S. Ragsdale, J. Vance Perkins, L. R. Whitchard, J. L. Perkins, J. P. Harrington, S. G. Wilkerson, T. I.

Pitt County Board Of Alcoholic Control

Effective October 11th, all County Boards will discontinue the issuing of No. 1 Permit Books.

That no books are to be issued to those persons convicted of drunkenness or any crime in which any intoxicating beverages are a contributing factor within 12 months, or to any person who deserts or fails to support his family or other dependents, or to any persons whom the County Board has reason to suspect desires a permit for the purpose of purchasing merchandise for re-sale, or to any person who violates any of the rules and regulations of the State or County Boards of Alcoholic Control, and the County Boards are to be the sole judge as to the eligibility of the applicant.

Require of each and every applicant that he or she identify himself, or herself by displaying their War Ration Book No. 3, and any additional evidence of identification that the County Boards may require to satisfy it that the applicant is entitled to a Permit Book. At the time the Control Sales Permit Book is issued, the employee of the County will punch the upper right hand corner of the back cover with a designated punch. ALL WAR RATION BOOKS NO. 3 SHALL SHOW FULL IDENTIFICATION.

Require that all persons making application for Sales Permit Books make application in the county in which they reside. Refuse to issue a permit to a non-resident in your County if the applicant resides in one of the other ABC counties.

The matter of issuing Tourist and Transient Books is to remain in the discretion of the County Boards, but it is important that all County Boards satisfy themselves that such applicants have established a temporary residence in this state, and then only when applicant presents War Ration Book No. 3, as required of state residents.

Require that all persons who are residents of non-ABC counties make application ONLY in their nearest ABC county.

No Permit Books will be issued to any Service Men located in any Military Camp, Cantonment, or Post located in any County east of Durham or Moore Counties. Arrangements have been made with the Commanding Officers of all Camps located in all Control Counties for the issuance of Books to men under their command. Only Tourist and Transient Books will be issued to Service Men in the control area who are stationed in Camps or Cantonments outside the State of North Carolina only after satisfying the County Board that he is stationed at a camp outside of this state by displaying his leave papers. Service men located in Camps or Cantonments west of Durham and Moore Counties will be requested to accept a Tourist or Transient Book but may, within the discretion of the local Board be issued regular Permit Books after properly identifying themselves, and in such cases, presentation of War Ration, Book No. 3 shall not be required.

Issuing of Permit Sales Book Number 2 will Begin Monday, October 11, 1943, and Close December 1, 1943, at Which Time the Registration will Close until January 4, 1944.

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 8—(AP)—(NCDA)—Raleigh poultry and egg market steady with light receipts. U. S. grade AA extra large (clean-white) 58; hens, all weights, 22 to 25.

Grain Market

Chicago, Oct. 8—(AP)—Buying of flour by the army and lend-lease agencies was heavy again today, and wheat responded to this news by advancing to new highs on the current markets. A report the administration would not press for immediate enactment of its food subsidy program also fired bullish enthusiasm.

All other grains were up with wheat, barley advancing more than a cent at times. December oats moved to a 4 cent premium over the May contract. Trade dispatches from New York said the government had purchased overnight 500,000 sacks of flour weight 100 pounds each, bringing the total for the week to about 2,000,000 sacks.

December wheat closed at 1.52 1/2; oats 78 1/2; rye 1.10 1/2; barley 1.20 1/2.

New York Cotton

New York, Oct. 8—(AP)—Cotton futures (old contract) opened 5 to 10 cents a bale lower.

Noon values were 30 to 45 cents a bale higher, Oct. 20-53, Dec. 20-23 and Mch. 20-06.

Futures closed 35 to 55 cents a bale higher.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Oct. 8—(AP)—Stocks generally regained their balance in today's market although nothing resembling a real rally developed. Transfers were around 559,000 shares.

Stiffening of trends was attributed partly to short covering in preparation for the week end and the Columbus Day recess, Tuesday.

In front at one time or another were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Eastern Air Lines, American Air Lines, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse and Texas Co. Backward movers were American Telephone Du Pont, Dow Chemical, Johns-Manville, Sperry, J. I. Case and Woolworth.

Naples Wounded Crowd Hospital

Civilians of Naples, wounded in battling against the Germans before Allied forces entered the city, fill to overflowing the Licurian hospital. The hospital facilities were so overtaxed that relatives and friends had to help tend the injured who lie on the floor because there is a lack of beds. This is one of the first pictures from Naples since the city was captured by the Allies. (AP Wirephoto via Signal Corps radio photo).

Royal Arch Masons Institute Council

Hiram Council No. 16, Royal and Select Masters, was instituted here last night by Most Illustrious Grand Master, Arthur S. Chessom of Wilson, in full ceremony.

A banquet was held in the Masonic dining room at 7:00 o'clock, followed by the institution of the local council, elected of officers and conferring of degrees, with William J. Bundy as illustrious master, A. C. Tadlock, deputy master and Hugh S. Raesside, principal conductor of work. Other officers elected and installed were J. N. Hart, treasurer; T. L. Moore, secretary; Claude D. Ward, captain of the guard; D. J. Whickard, Jr., conductor of council; F. S. Corbett, Steward; L. W. Cherry, Sentinel.

Past Most Illustrious Grand Master C. B. Shulenberg of Raleigh presided in the conferring of the Reges on nine candidates for the local council and three by courtesy for Mount Lebanon Council No. 13 of Wilson, Greenville men taking the council degrees were Dr. W. I. Wooten, Claude D. Ward, Willie F. Owen, Frederiek M. Stokes, T. J. Moore, Amos O. Clark, Clarence W. Willard, Nathan C. Brooks.

The chief officer of the three Grand York Rite Masonic Bodies were present, namely: Arthur S. Chessom of Wilson, grand master of the Grand Council of North Carolina of Royal and Select Masters; J. Edward Allen of Warrenton, grand high priest of the Grand Chapter of North Carolina of Royal Arch Masons; Dr. Michael Saliba of Wilson, grand commander of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of North Carolina; also Ritchie Smith, grand secretary of the York Rite Bodies of North Carolina, and others such in the councils of Masonry.

Visiting council Masons were present from Wilson, New Bern and Beaufort.

Negro Executed

Raleigh, Oct. 8—(AP)—William Henry Poole, 29-year-old Negro, died in the state's gas chamber today for the slaying last January 1 of Andrew Sawyer, white sailor, in Elizabeth City.

Poole, small-statured, was composed as he entered the tiny chamber, and watch with interest the fixing of the straps and mask.

He had admitted to Prison Chaplain L. A. Watts that he fired the shot that killed Sawyer, but said he did not know the shell he used contained buckshot, since he had bought it from somebody else.

Says Allies ...

Nazi-controlled Budapest last night said a Czecho-Slovakian brigade equipped and trained by the British in the Middle East had landed in Yugoslavia to cooperate with partisan forces.

If the report is true, the brigade constitutes the first Allied force in the Balkans since Greece fell in April, 1941.

Cairo, Oct. 8—(AP)—British occupation of the island of Simi, only 25 miles north of German-held Rhodes in the Dodecanese, was disclosed today with the announcement that a German attempt to retake the island was beaten off with heavy losses.

A Middle East communique today told of this operation, but made no mention of the situation of Cos (Coo) in the Dodecanese, which was occupied recently by the Allies and severely attacked over the week-end by German forces who later claimed control of the 23-mile long island.

Simi is about halfway between Cos and Rhodes off western Turkey.

(Rumors in Istanbul were that British forces also had landed in the Cyclades Islands, which lie in the Aegean sea between the Dodecanese group and the Greek mainland. The Cyclades consist of about 200 islands extending 100 miles into the Aegean southeast of Athens to a point approximately Crete.)

A light censorship apparently had been clamped today on most of the Allies' insular operations off Greece and Turkey, for reasons of military security.

The communique telling of the attack on Simi said prisoners were taken during the German assault.

Approve Land ...

city clerk was instructed to write Mr. Patrick a letter of appreciation for his long and faithful service and to allow him full pay until October 15.

Patrolman K. A. Conway, a recent appointee on the police force, resigned.

Their successors will be appointed by the mayor and finance and police committees. There were four applicants for the tax collector's job. H. H. Duncan, H. B. Williams, A. P. Hines and Elmer Nelson. There were several applicants for the police job.

Licenses was granted to J. L. Perkins, of Stokes, to sell wholesale and distribute wine in the city.

Truck parking zones were ordered reduced from 50 to 40 feet and 30 minutes is the limit for parking. Authority was given the fire department to buy high test gasoline for the fire trucks.

Police Chief Herbert Wooten reported to the board that Elizabeth Burnette's house on Short street had been padlocked under a civil action instituted in Superior Court by Solicitor D. M. Clark. The case is to be heard by Judge J. Paul Frizzelle on October 25. The chief explained that the woman had been in court a number of times for operating a disorderly house and that there is a case now pending in Superior Court. City Attorney R. B. Lee was instructed to assist in prosecuting the case.

Traffic lights were ordered to be turned on daily at 7:30 in the morning. A number of routine business matters, including painting the interior of the City Hall, came up for consideration.

Dr. S. M. Crisp and C. W. Howard were reappointed to the City School Board.

Your dollars still go a long way...

AT PENNEY'S

It's patriotic and wise, nowadays, to save money every way you can—to save and put your savings into War Bonds! Save by making everything last longer. Save by not buying useless and trivial things. Save, too, by shopping regularly at your J. C. Penney store for things you really need!

The less you buy the more you need Penney values. Penney's still offers, as it always has, the highest quality merchandise that can be had, at the lowest possible prices.

You don't pay for costly extras, for frills, or "front" at Penney's.

And there's another thing about Penney's that's a big help in this wartime year.

The folks who work at your Penney store are people who know this town and its wants and needs. Their chief concern is to help stretch your budget and to see that you get merchandise that will serve you and suit you well.

It pays big dividends to shop at Penney's.
