Weather Slowly Fighting In Italy As Americans Recapture Lost Ground

Allied Airmen Raid Two Airfields Near Marseille, France, While Other Bomber Fleets Smash At Yugoslavia and Greece

By HENRY C. CASSIDY Moscow, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Red army troops closed in on Gomel today, storming the last important German base east of the Dnieper river, in a furious assault which threatened to add the city to the impressive list of conquests achieved by the Russians in their 1943 offensive.

Russian forces pushed west from their bridgehead on the Sozh river north of Gomel, while other units struck beyond the Dnieper south of the city, broadening their wedge below Rechitsa, an important railroad town 115 miles east of the old Polish frontier.

The Russian push in the Ukraine, meanwhile, though slowed down by adverse weather and stiff German counter-attacks, particularly in the Zhitomir and Pastov sectors, continued to edge toward Korosten, the rail junction controlling traffic on the Leningrad-Odessa and Kiev-Warsaw railroads.

The Berlin radio said 25 Russian divisions and large tank forces, perhaps 400,000 men in all, were attacking with strong artillery support on both sides of the Smolensk-Orsha highway in the frozen north.

Today's German communiqué said the Russians had "denied" their lines northeast of Kerch in the Crimea; southwest of Dnepropetrovsk and north of Krivoy Rog in the Dnieper bend; and southwest of Gomel. The Germans reported that Nazi counter-attacks had made "good headway" near Zhitomir and that numerous prisoners and arms were captured on an island in the Dnieper near Zaporozhe.

A Reuters dispatch from Moscow said the German hold on Korosten had been further weakened by severance of the third of six rail lines connecting there. The dispatch added that Gomel was being heavily shelled by Russian field guns and that the city was virtually isolated.

One Red army column, a Russian communiqué said, already had reached Turchenka, 14 miles south of Korosten. A second column, also in the area, captured Chepovichi, 15 miles away, and a third (Continued on Page Two)

Warns Truck Owners Hauling Passengers

A warning has been issued to truck operators who are violating Office of Defense Transportation restrictions which went into effect on October 11. Harvey R. Roseman, district ODT manager, stated today.

A spot check in numerous communities disclosed violations were particularly prevalent on Sunday and at night. Virtually no Sunday deliveries are permitted, except ice trucks and certain other carriers who have been exempted by general or special permits.

A recent check by ODT representatives disclosed that many truck operators were found to be hauling members of their families to visit relatives or to picnics. Others were found driving their trucks down to the office to look over the books, and many laundry and ice cream trucks were in operation on Sunday.

The ODT issued drastic regulations to prevent such vehicles and trailers from essential uses and all truck operators will be required to abide by the rules.

Says Nation Must Get Back To Fundamentals

John W. Bricker told the National Association of Real Estate Boards today that the only way to meet the nation's debt burden was through full industrial production at present day standards and warned against continued deficit financing after the war.

In his first major speech since announcing his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination, the Ohio governor declared in a prepared address.

"With the coming of war, we faced no alternative to more deficit financing. Our national life was at stake. We had to build, almost overnight, defensive military weapons which we had so shamefully neglected. x x x

"We do not complain about this cost—only victory and national security and world peace really matter. Every dollar honestly and wisely spent for these purposes is more than worth the expenditure.

EXPECT FALL RABAUL SOON

Japs May Abandon Important New Britain Base

By HAMILTON W. FARON Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A climax in the campaign for Rabaul, once powerful Japanese base in the South Pacific, appeared near today—dangerously near for the enemy.

This was emphasized by a naval spokesman who told of mounting damage to Japanese ships and planes in the Rabaul area, and asserted:

"The Japanese have suffered enough damage to important fleet units to give them cause for serious consideration of abandoning the base as too hot to handle."

His statement, made after he reported the destruction of 102 enemy planes in the last six days, and the battering of surface units in the Rabaul area, tied in closely with a previous assertion by Secretary of the Navy Knox that there is a possibility the Japanese might in time evacuate Rabaul.

For weeks, Allied bombers have hammered incessantly at the enemy stronghold on New Britain island northwest of the Solomons.

They have sent ship after ship to the bottom of the vast harbor, and some of those wrecks undoubtedly are hampering the movement of enemy reinforcements and supplies.

Attacking from the north, other planes have battered convoys moving toward Rabaul, sinking ships loaded with men and supplies, even roaring out to blast homeward bound convoys that had evaded the Allied blockade.

Japanese positions ashore, too, have felt the blast of American bombs and many buildings and emplacements presumably have been leveled.

All of those operations could indicate that softening up attacks such as always precede invasions may be underway against the base.

Such softening up—battering of enemy positions into weakness, or impotence—ordinarily requires a period of weeks. In the Aleutians daily bombing raids were carried out against Kiska for more than two months before American and Canadian troops swarmed ashore to find the Japanese had fled.

Submarines, too, are hammering away at enemy supply lines, sinking many ships that could be loaded with men and supplies for Rabaul.

The ground offensive on Bougainville also points toward Rabaul and major progress is being made there toward driving the Japanese from their last positions in the Solomon Islands.

Military and naval observers all agree that Rabaul is an objective of the near future; some predict it will be in Allied hands by Christmas.

U. S. Bombers Blast Japs At Hongkong

Chungking, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Liberator bombers of the U. S. 14th Air Force bombed shipping and the Kowloon dock area at Hongkong last night, scoring many hits on the target, a communiqué from Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

The Tokyo radio reported yesterday that Hongkong had been bombed the previous night but sought to minimize the results.

Some of the circulars bore 17 names and referred to them: "They love this country from a financial standpoint. Why were they deferred? They have no dependents." A footnote said, "This ad paid for by the first contingent of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers."

MORRISON TO BE CANDIDATE

Will Oppose Hoey And Others In Senate Race

Charlotte, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Rep. Cameron Morrison, of the Tenth North Carolina District, announced today he would be a candidate in the Democratic primary next year for the Senate seat now held by Senator Robert Rice Reynolds.

Morrison, a former governor and U. S. senator, made his announcement from Washington in a telephone conversation with the Charlotte News. He had recently said he would not seek re-election to the House.

He is the fourth candidate for the post which Reynolds recently stated he would not seek again. The others are former Governor Ritch, a Hoey of Shelby, Marvin Ritch, a Charlotte lawyer, and Arthur Simmons of Burlington.

Morrison served in the Senate by gubernatorial appointment from 1930 to 1932. In the latter year he was defeated for renomination by Reynolds, who has served continuously since.

To Investigate Draft Protests

Cherryville, N. C., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Hundreds of circulars protesting the induction of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers while men with no dependents were allowed to stay at home have been distributed here, causing Selective Service headquarters to call for a hasty investigation.

Some of the circulars bore 17 names and referred to them: "They love this country from a financial standpoint. Why were they deferred? They have no dependents." A footnote said, "This ad paid for by the first contingent of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers."

"We are leaving—our loved ones will get along. We commend to you the following valuable, irreplaceable young men (10 names). We request—please assist them to acquire vast acreages, white-faced cattle, bank stock, mill stock, new automobiles, new tires, gasoline, summer cottages, nice homes, bird dogs, sleek saddle horses, brick buildings, etc. We promise only over our dead bodies will Tojo and Hitler take it away from them."

The circulars were sent anonymously to State Selective Service headquarters at Raleigh, where officers ordered a study of the records of those persons mentioned, and said a statement probably would be issued.

German Forces Capture Leros Isle From British

Loss Of Important Dodecanese Position Might Have Its Effect In Keeping Turkey From Joining Allies

Cairo, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The island of Leros in the Dodecanese, has been captured by German invasion troops after very severe fighting and in spite of the most determined resistance. A Middle East communiqué acknowledged today.

The Germans pounded the Aegean island—about the size of Manhattan—with "an overwhelming air bombardment" yesterday, and land-fresh reinforcements.

"Organized resistance ceased in the evening," the Allied communiqué said.

Thus the Germans repeated a victory that earlier had won them the island of Cos, 30 miles south of Leros.

Possession of Leros gives the Germans excellent harbors, including the naval base of Lakki bay and the deep harbor of Alinda on the east coast, across the sea lanes of the Dodecanese.

A German broadcast reporting the capture of the island said 3,000 British and 5,000 Italian troops were taken prisoners, along with 130 guns.

No further details on Leros—where only yesterday the Allied position had been reported strengthened—were given by the Allied communiqué.

It said Allied fighter planes made extensive sweeps over the Aegean yesterday, with enemy installations damaged on Crete, and an enemy plane downed over Leros.

Bombers by night hit the airfields of Calato and Maritza on Rhodes, and preliminary reports point to both attacks being successful.

Beaughters blew up a Seibel ferry west of Calinos. Three Allied planes were lost in all operations.

In their successful fight to win Leros from British forces, which moved in after Italy surrendered, the Germans waged a dual purpose struggle—to protect their first line of defense of the Balkans and to impress the Turks that they still have power in the Aegean.

Lebanon was most unhappy about this arrangement for two reasons. She didn't want to be controlled by the French, but preferred either America or Britain, and she didn't wish to be part of Syria, which is Moslem while Lebanon was one of the earliest Christian countries.

France gave her autonomous status, but still retained control. Early in the present war the Hitlerites, with the connivance of the French Vichy government, were infiltrating into militarily strategic Syria when the British and Free French sent troops into the country and took charge.

MINERS SEEK NEW CONTRACT

Ickes Tells Operators And Miners To Get Together

Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The United Mine Workers and a group of soft coal operators took the first steps today toward a new contract.

The conferees, including John L. Lewis, got together at a meeting sponsored by Interior Secretary Ickes, who got the session under way and then left them alone. They agreed, after talking for two hours, to meet again tomorrow when it is expected a formal conference body will be organized and the actual work of contract making begun.

Ickes, boss of the government-operated mines, has been urging a new contract so that he could return the mines to private operation.

A majority of the nation's producers, as respects tonnage, was represented on the operators' side of the table.

The only major operating group not represented at today's meeting was the Southern Coal Operators Association. Its president, Edward R. Burke, was absent from the city.

Anthracite operators, meanwhile, have indicated a willingness to negotiate a contract to supplant the Ickes-Lewis agreement, and the first joint conference may be held next week.

Ickes has told the operators that if they came to terms with the miners and made further work stoppage, improbable, they would get their seized properties back immediately, but he doubted whether a "coal-hungry" nation would permit him to return the mines without assurance against another work stoppage.

Bank Of Winterville Robber Is Paroled

Governor Broughton yesterday paroled Theodore Williams, middle-aged white tenant farmer who was serving from 10 to 12 years in State Prison for robbing the Bank of Winterville in April, 1940. Williams had a good prison record. He has procured a crop to farm next year and is on the job, his attorney, W. J. Bundy stated.

Williams and his young son Willie Williams, held up the bank but obtained only a small sum, counter change. Cashier R. L. Rollins while covered with a gun told them that President A. W. Ange had the "big money" at his store. Williams and his son were captured under a ditch bridge some hours after the hold-up.

The son was sentenced to five years in prison, but this was suspended and he was placed in Jackson Training school for boys. He escaped after a time but was captured and he is still there.

Trial of Henry Williams, colored, who with his brother, Rufus Williams, were charged with assaulting Namon Brewington, elderly colored man, with a deadly weapon with intent to kill on November 7, will be called in Police Court next Monday if Brewington is well enough to appear as a witness.

The Williamses severely beat Brewington broke into his house and dragged him to the street and left him unconscious, police stated. After the police arrived Rufus Williams pointed a shotgun at ABC Officer J. M. Ward, Assistant Chief S. Bowen Dorsey shot and killed Rufus Williams when he refused to drop his gun. A coroner's jury exonerated Dorsey.

Reds Tighten Pressure Against German Forces Along The Entire Front

Soviet Artillery Hammers Gomel; German Broadcasts Forecast New Retreat From Dnieper Bend; Nazi Hold on Korosten Weakened

By EDWARD KENNEDY Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Nov. 17.—(AP)—U.S. heavy and medium bombers in a double-ply blow ripped up two Nazi airfields near Marseille yesterday, and other bomber fleets cracked again at German objectives in Greece and Yugoslavia, it was announced today.

On the Italian land front, mud, rain and snow bogged activities, but American troops in one brisk patrol action regained some high ground on Monte Santa Croce north of Venafro which they had lost Monday.

American Flying Fortresses knocked down 12 out of 25 to 30 German bombers on the air base at Istres Le Tube near Marseille, where the Nazis have concentrated bombers against Allied Mediterranean shipping. Many grounded bombers were left in flames, and large fires and explosions sowed over the field.

The Fortresses hit Istres Le Tube shortly after noon. Fifteen minutes later, U. S. B-26 Marauders escorted by P-38 Lightnings began showering bombs on the nearby airfield at Salon. They downed one German fighter, hit grounded aircraft and possibly an ammunition dump.

Hundreds of miles to the east, other medium bombers from Italian bases again battered the Eleusis airfield at Athens, starting fires. Another force of mediums, attacked a harbor in Yugoslavia, while fighters, bombers hammered a 300-foot vessel near Ancona, Italy, and a smaller ship near Grottoflamare.

For the third consecutive day, Italian front-line remained virtually unchanged, rounding out a week in which Allied gains have been measured in yards instead of miles.

Snowfalls in the higher mountain areas hampered movement of men and supplies.

Near the western coast, British troops intercepted an enemy patrol (which was the Garigliano river, shooting it up badly. In another patrol clash on the mountain road beyond Ronero in central Italy, more than a dozen German prisoners were seized.

North of Atessa, near the Adriatic, official front-line reports said Eighth army forces improved their positions.

Mayor Endorses Seal Campaign

Official endorsement of the 1943 Christmas Seal campaign was issued yesterday by Mayor B. B. Suggs in a statement given out at his office in the City Hall. The Mayor predicted that Monday, while the general sale will get under way December 1, to extend through Christmas.

The mayor stated "Purchase of Christmas seals by the citizens of Greenville and Pitt county to aid in the nation-wide fight against tuberculosis has the unqualified endorsement of myself, not only as your mayor, but as a private citizen."

"To protect homes from the tragedies caused by tuberculosis is the objective of the annual Christmas seal campaign. I trust that we shall be quick in responding to the nation-wide appeal."

ORGANIZE FOR LIQUOR PROBE

Senate Committee Prepares To Study Situation

By FRANCIS J. KELLY Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Voted $10,000 for an investigation of the current liquor situation. Senate sub-committee organized today to determine where the old familiar high-octane brands have gone and when they'll be back.

The curious formulae of some of the new or victory model giggers likewise will come under senatorial scrutiny.

Senator Kilgore (D-W.Va.) accepting assignment on the five-man committee, expressed belief that the distribution and sale of whiskey has entered a "racketeering phase." Senator Elmer Thomas, whose home town, Medicine Park, Okla., is as dry as the Congressional Record, went further.

"It's already one of the most vicious rackets in America," he asserted.

Unless some changes are made it will lead to another attempt at national prohibition—the theory the people can get more and better liquor under prohibition than they can now."

Thomas, who spoke as an individual senator and not as a member of the investigating group, said he had been reliably informed that how little store-bought liquor is now obtainable assays very low in legitimate aged-in-the-wood whiskey.

"It isn't whiskey at all," he said. "It's just a mixture of junk containing as little as 23 per cent of real whiskey and the rest just alcohol and some sort of coloring matter."

"Whether or not the OPA knows it, they are being handled by some of the liquor interests to the detriment of the public and the benefit of the monopoly."

He contended big distillers and bottlers are proffering duration-model firewater under new brand names at high prices sanctioned by OPA.

Food For Freedom Campaign Starts

The Food Fights for Freedom program was launched yesterday in the Pitt Agricultural building. This is a part of a great national program for 1944. North Carolina and Pitt county are fighting with extra food.

Miss Pauline Smith, district agent of State College, presided and emphasized the fact that food ranks in importance with guns, ships, tanks, planes. "American food can be the deadliest weapon of all," said Miss Smith.

J. W. Crawford of the program planning department of State College and Miss Mable Lacy, supervisor, vocational department, presented the background for the program.

H. A. Patton, executive of the State AAA, presented the 1944 goals. County Agent Floyd Hendricks, appointed committees, to arrange meetings to cover Pitt county with the program.

The joint session was followed by a meeting of the men to make plans for the agricultural phases of the plan and the women met in Miss Verona Lee Joyner's office, to make plans for conservation and nutrition work for 1944.

The meeting was attended by heads of all agencies in Pitt county and members of the Agricultural Workers Council.

Defeat Of Subsidy Plan Conceded By Supporters

Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Outnumbered and outmaneuvered, supporters of the administration's food subsidy program conceded privately today that they are licked in the House, but counted on mustering sufficient strength to sustain an anticipated veto.

The already hot argument over the price rollback method of combatting inflation will boil to an even fiercer pitch when the House begins two days of general debate tomorrow on a double-barreled bill to extend the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation and to outlaw consumer subsidies.

The battle over the subsidy question drew representatives from consumer and producer areas into a headlong collision, with both groups maintaining that the stand taken by the other will release the tide of wartime inflation.

Opposed to the subsidy program and determined to permit prices of agriculture products to rise to what they term "their natural level at the market place" were nearly all of the Republicans plus a substantial bloc of Democratic lawmakers from warm states.

On the other side were administration stalwarts and legislators from districts in industrial and urban areas. They contend that increased food prices will force higher wages and shatter the "hold-the-line" program.

This was the theme broadcast over the radio last night by Price Administrator Chester Bales, who predicted that abolition of subsidies would lead to a rise in all food costs with the result that the War Labor Board would be unable to resist pressure for higher wages.

Specifically he predicted milk would go up a cent a quart, butter four and a half cents a pound, cheese three cents, and meats two to six cents a pound.

There appeared but little change in the 49-49 tie stand taken by Congress last June. Then, the House and Senate passed a similar subsidy prohibition which was vetoed by President Roosevelt. The veto was upheld by the House.

OPPORTUNITY ROUND ABOUT US

A great insurance company in New York once invited its agents throughout the country to attend a business conference in New York. While in attendance, one of the agents from a midwestern city sold a life insurance policy to the barber, the elevator man, and one of the waiters in the restaurant.

Two country doctors decided to give their best to the rural section in which circumstances had placed them and to try everybody in the world knows about the Mayos. We hear a great deal about the executives of large business organizations in this country, but most people do not realize that the really substantial fortunes are made by thousands of businessmen operating in small communities where they have seen in their village the possibility of making something or performing some service which the general public is eager to buy.

Weather Slows...

More than 1,000 Germans were slain in the triple drive on Korosten and 60 towns were liberated by Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's forces, the communique announced. Great quantities of war material were taken.

The Red army columns battering the defenses of Gomel, having cut the Gómel-Kalinkovitch rail line yesterday, were driving toward the latter stronghold, which is still another rail junction important to the enemy supply setup.

The Moscow bulletin said the Germans had "sustained tremendous losses in manpower and equipment" in this westward surge which netted the Russians an additional 10 German strongpoints.

German counter action appeared concentrated in attacks on Vatutin's flanks in the Korosten-Zhitomir-Fastov area. These thrusts were repulsed, the Soviet communique said, with 35 German tanks being destroyed and 600 enemy troops killed in the Fastov salient alone. Red army planes were also active, and reported an additional 20 tanks and 90 trucks wiped out.

Reds Tighten...

(Continued From Page One) the day a air attacks. The Fortress striking Istres Le Tube rounded out a full year since they first went into action in North Africa. Half a dozen of them bombed an airfield near Bizerte November 16, 1942, a week after the Allied landings.

They pondered Istres Le Tube yesterday in "considerable force" raining hundreds of high explosive and fragmentation bombs on the field, boring through heavy fighter and anti-aircraft defenses. This field was first attacked by Africa-based planes in mid-August. Spitfire fighter-bombers returned when he, incomprehensibly, paused at El Alamein, gave the British a chance to dig in to change commanders, to bring up reinforcements and American supplies, ordnance and armor. Montgomery, doughty, vain, arrogant and able, took over the battered Eighth army and molded it into one of the best military machines of all times.

This Montgomery and the Eighth are the heroes of Mediterranean Assignment. Perhaps a little too much credit goes to them for the success of the North African campaign and not enough to the combined American and British Air and Naval forces for their savage mauling of Rommel's lines of supply. American readers will feel also that American production and shipping do not receive their just due. However, this emphasis on the prowess of Montgomery and his Eighth army is understandable and forgivable.

MEDITERRANEAN ASSIGNMENT (By Richard McMillan)

Mediterranean Assignment is one of the many good bits of spot news reporting that have come out of this war. Richard McMillan, the author, started out to do a routine 48-hour tour of the Rock of Gibraltar, he ended up 21-2 years later in Tunis, having covered in the meanwhile the entire Mediterranean theater of operations. Such an extensive coverage necessarily makes his book a bit sketchy, but it is terrific enough in the high spots.

To American readers the battle for North Africa almost inevitably suggests a football game, a series of charges and chases, first by one side and then the other, up and down a vast "gridiron" until the final surge of victory begun at El Alamein by Montgomery who employed such well-known football tactics as a fake at one part of the line while smashing hard at an unexpected point with artillery and airplanes, furnishing interference for infantry and tanks.

The beginning of victory at El Alamein came only after a long series of typical British setbacks and near disasters. Rommel, the master of desert strategy and tactics, had pushed the British back on their heels and had confidently picked out his suite in the best Cairo hotel when he, incomprehensibly, paused at El Alamein, gave the British a chance to dig in to change commanders, to bring up reinforcements and American supplies, ordnance and armor. Montgomery, doughty, vain, arrogant and able, took over the battered Eighth army and molded it into one of the best military machines of all times.

able. They were undoubtedly the focal center of a dramatic Allied success that came after a long, long period of defeat.

Interesting is the reluctant admiration accorded Rommel and his tough Panzers. Montgomery is given the palm over Rommel as a commander, but it is evident enough that Rommel fought the British and Montgomery what they knew about desert warfare. Fortunately for us, they were apt pupils and beat the Desert Fox at his own game. Interesting too, is the author's speculation that Hitler made a grave tactical error in invading the Balkans instead of concentrating his forces in North Africa where a weak British army, badly hurt at that time, could have been annihilated, and all the Mediterranean would have fallen like a ripe plum into German hands. This move also gave the Russians a much-needed breathing spell, and all the world knows what happened to the Germans in Russia. The book ends on a note of thankfulness, to which we heartily subscribe, that Hitler's intuition carried him astray here also. —Aubrey Tilley.

MAYOR STUGG SPEAKS AT A. A. U. W. MEETING

The chief problem of the community of Greenville today, is not the question of finances, said Mayor B. B. Stugg, speaking before the A. A. U. W. Monday night, nor is the matter of better roads, streets, libraries, and schools; the most pressing problem we are now facing is that of juvenile delinquency.

Mr. Stugg was presented by Miss Laura Rose, program chairman, as the man best qualified to discuss community problems. "We went to the ton," she said, "to get our information."

The speaker began by reminding the group that the whole world is busy-turvy and illustrated from international and national life. This community is not the only one that is uncertain how to solve the problems it is facing, he said.

For a long time the problem of Greenville and Pitt county was financial, the speaker said. It was never certain what tobacco would bring or how high taxes would be to collect, but that is not true today. Wages and incomes are high; and the tax rate is low, and collections are good.

Greenville is planning for the future—for new roads, better streets, and new schools, and is thinking in terms of civilian use of the aeroplane; but even these are not the chief problem in community government now. Our problems now are political and social.

Mayor Stugg then discussed the problem of the delinquent in Greenville and raised the question of the best way to solve it.

Then, too, there is the matter of the selection of wise leadership in the community much of the responsibility he added rests on you and other women in similar groups, because of the greater advantages you have had. The problem there, whether national, state or local, is not the ignorance of women like you, but their indifference.

Any change—good or bad—can be brought about in Greenville by the pressure of public opinion, he declared. However, to accomplish anything you must have both organization and leadership, he declared—leadership of wisdom and integrity. A strong parents' association, with which many parents were connected, would help.

The bad element in any situation is always organized. Though we live under a democratic government, the will of the majority does not always prevail, because an organized minority on the wrong side will prevail against an unorganized majority on the right side.

People like you can't afford to keep out of politics, because you are ruled by officials the people elect. You ought to fight for the right just as strongly as those who would undermine fight for the wrong.

The thinking people of Greenville must get better acquainted with how the town is run and how it should be run. We must awaken the parents—get children into Sunday school and day school. We must teach them how money is raised and spent for their welfare, and how to build a good home and deal wisely with problems of sex.

We must, through such agencies as Boy and Girl Scouts, provide not only recreation, but training in recreation.

A discussion period and a brief business meeting followed the talk.

Mrs. J. E. Winslow, A. A. U. W. president, announced that since the December meeting is being omitted, the branch will meet on the third Monday in January.

Inter Se Club. The Inter Se Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. B. Underwood, Jr.

After a short business meeting led by the president, Mrs. Denver Baughan, Mrs. Wyatt Brown presented a most interesting paper on "The Quakers, Their Beliefs and Their Good Works."

In opening, Mrs. Brown quoted from Deah W. R. Inge of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, in speaking of the Quakers: "They of all Christian bodies have remained nearest to the teachings and example of Christ." Mrs. Brown continued her paper giving the history of Quakerism in England in 1634, and numerous other objects out of life in America during the 17th, 18th and 19th centuries. It is an inspiring record that this collection presents.

Beginning with the sturdy simplicity of a room from the Thomas Hart house in Ipswich, Mass., in 1640, with a high four-poster bed in the parlor, after the current fashion, the slides, with their script, led the audience on through much more elaborate but still beautiful scenes in such houses as the home of Samuel Powel, revolutionary mayor of Philadelphia, and the great ballroom from the City Tavern in Alexandria, Virginia, in which "many an historical meeting has taken place. Washington has danced, and Lafayette has dined."

To see and hear this lecture, with all that its pictured scenes symbolize, is to understand more fully what it is to now are at war to preserve and to continue to try to carry on in America. It seems a pity that so few in our community took the opportunity to see and hear it last night.

Written by Joseph Downs of the Metropolitan Museum staff, this lecture is circulated by the American Federation of Arts. Mrs. J. H. Rose read the script, with Joe Trotman as operator of the stereopticon.

Audience Enjoys Lecture. Last night at the Community Art Center slide lecture on "The American Wing at the Metropolitan Museum," the audience—with none of the physical weariness invariably attendant upon walking through a gallery after gallery of a great museum—saw again a portion of the priceless heritage left us from our country's early history.
