Allies Make New Gains In Italy

British Eighth Army Advances Six Miles To Capture Alfedena; New Crossing Of Sangro River Reported; Fifth Army And Nazis In Artillery Duel

By NOLAN NORGAARD Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The British Eighth army surged forward six miles into enemy positions in the central portion of the Italian front to capture the village of San Angelo, only half a mile from the upper Sangro river, and occupied the deserted and devastated mountain town of Alfedena. Allied headquarters announced today.

The capture of Alfedena, approximately 79 airline miles southeast of Rome on the road to the Italian capital, was the result of a gain of more than five miles beyond Florence in recent days during which Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's troops pushed the Germans off high ground, dominating the town from the southeast, in a series of brisk clashes.

Before leaving, the Germans destroyed Alfedena with explosives and fire. (The Cairo radio, meanwhile, said Eighth Army units had crossed the Sangro. The Germans acknowledged a crossing yesterday.)

San Angelo's capture represented a six-mile advance in the Castiglione region. The village is eight miles to the west of Castiglione. Near the mouth of the Garigliano, British troops of the Fifth army clashed with a big German patrol, inflicting heavy casualties at a cost of only one man wounded.

Simultaneously, heavy artillery duels flared on part of the Fifth army front. In the Ventro-Pozzilli area, German guns opened up with a thunderous bombardment Monday night, reports from Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's headquarters disclosed. Concentrations of American batteries promptly laid down a highly effective counterfire, knocking out some enemy batteries.

Gen. Montgomery's headquarters reported "strong German attacks at many points" as the Eighth Army front failed to specify the exact points of this fighting. The stormy weather which curbed ground operations also put a damper on Allied air activities throughout the day.

The British advance to San Angelo, 10 miles west of Castiglione. (Continued on Page Four)

ECTC Freshman Is 4-H Club Champion

By CHESTER WALSH Annie Blanche Johnson, 18, of Kinston, a freshman at East Carolina Teachers' College, for seven years the best all-around 4-H club winner among 4-H girls in preserving and preparing foods, won a 15-day trip to Chicago to attend the annual congress of 4-H clubs which begins Saturday morning. She will leave for the Windy City tomorrow.

Miss Johnson is in line for the national food championship among 4-H club members at Chicago. Winners will be announced over a nation-wide radio hookup Saturday morning at 11:30. Incidentally, Miss Johnson will appear on this program. If she is winner of the national food championship she will be awarded a four-year scholarship at some college. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman M. Johnson, Route 5, Kinston. She is a graduate of Southwood consolidated school near Kinston and an outstanding student at ECTC.

Hope For Compromise On Food Subsidies Measure

By HOWARD FLIEGER Washington, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Administration leaders clung to the gossamer-like possibility of a Senate compromise today as their only hope of saving food subsidies—the President's No. 1 weapon against rising living costs.

"We're down to the bed-rock issue. Either we want inflation or we don't want it," said Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) as the House voted 278 to 118 late yesterday to outlaw subsidies after the first of the year.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) an administration supporter, said "The end of subsidies will mean overnight inflation."

"Of course we will try to work out some sort of compromise," he added, but members of both parties conceded privately that only a presidential veto could keep the program alive, and even that might

RUSSIANS IN NEW REVEAT

Give Ground In Kiev Area; Go On Other Scores

London, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The German radio asserted tonight that Brusilov, 45 miles west of Kiev, and Chernyakhov, 30 miles north of Zhitomir, had been recaptured in the violent Nazi counter-attack against the Ukrainian bulge.

The Russian communique last night said German attacks had carried "into the area of" both towns. Chernyakhov is on the Odessa-Leningrad railway south of Russian-held Korosten.

By HENRY C. CASSIDY Moscow, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Strong German forces pushing toward Kiev with violent tank and air attacks have failed to break Russian army positions in depth, Red Satr reported today.

Russian withdrawals in the Ukraine were attributed to heavy pressure of superior enemy numbers, but the army newspaper indicated the main Russian line was intact for the decisive stage of the battle.

The German communique reported strong new Russian attacks along the lower Dnieper north of Nikolop and near Cherkassy repulsed after temporary breakthroughs. The Germans said strong Russian forces were encircled west of Kiev.

Kiev was captured Nov. 6 and the Germans took over within 45 miles of the Ukrainian capital in the environs of Brusilov after covering nearly half the distance back from Zhitomir.

The Red army continued its own offensive in the triangle between the Priprut and Desneper rivers, and the border between White Russia and the Ukraine. Swamps, streams and forests kept mobile forces out of action in that sector but the Russians pressed their offensive over hastily improved roads which permitted heavy (Continued on Page Four)

Big Naval Bill Given Approval

Washington, Nov. 24.—(AP)—With a burst of speed, the Senate Naval Affairs Committee approved today a $5,300,000,000 naval construction program—largely involving craft for amphibious operations in advance of its formal introduction in the Senate.

The seventh bill of its type since June, 1940, the measure authorizes acquisition, conversion or construction of 2,500,000 tons of auxiliary vessels and 1,000,000 tons of landing craft and district craft.

Proposal Made Pave Part Rotary Avenue

By CHESTER WALSH After the joint meeting of the County and city boards at the City Hall last night the Board of Aldermen held a brief session at which it was proposed to pave Rotary avenue with asphalt from First to Third streets while the contractors are on the job at the airport. Curbing was laid on Rotary Avenue some years ago about the time a paving program was ending. Water washing down the hill undermines the cement curbing and the cost of annual repairs is greater than that of paving the street, it was stated.

By the Brothers Charlotte contractors, who are completing the airport paving, proposed to install the paving at actual cost, city officials stated. If a petition for paving the street is signed and presented to the Aldermen the paving will be done on the cost sharing plan.

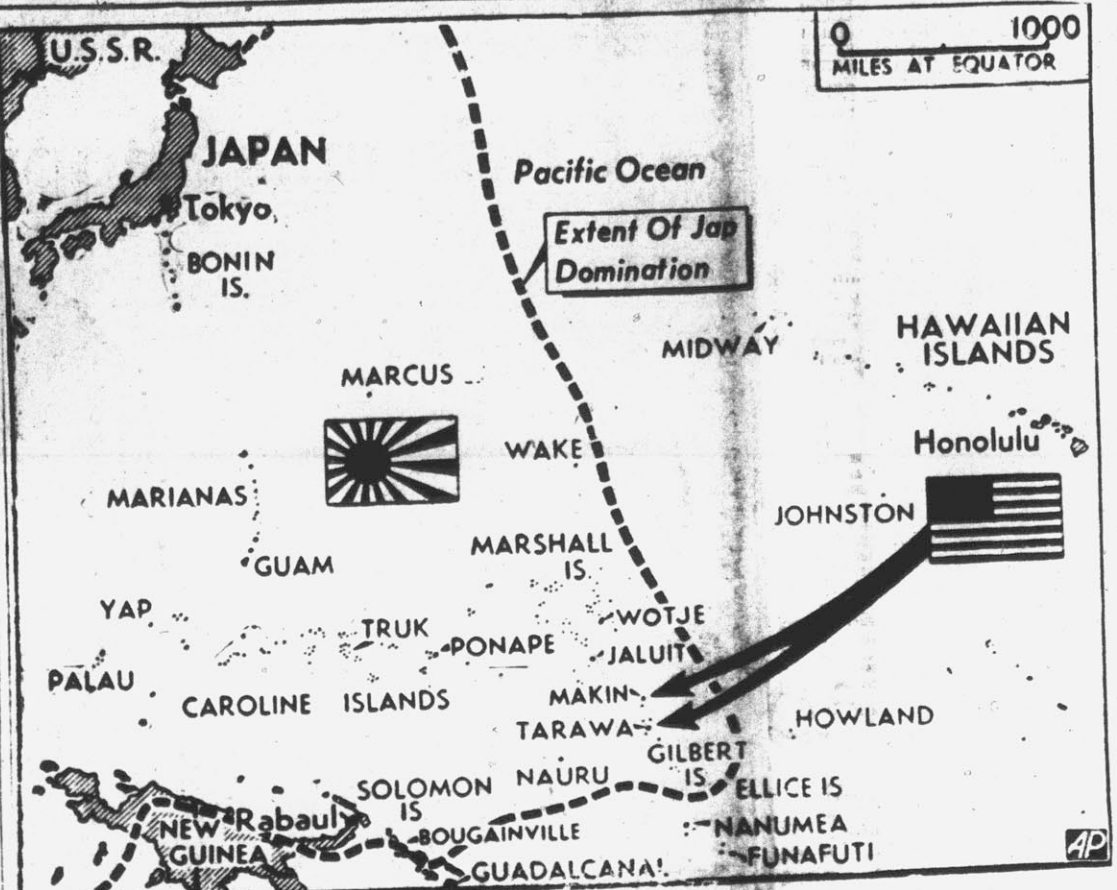

Negro Soldier Back From Combat Areas

By CHESTER WALSH Greenville looked mighty good to me when I arrived back home Sunday, said Pfc. Marion C. Norcott, colored, who was passing ammunition and serving in a medical detachment on the battlefronts from Casablanca to Sicily with the United States Army. The Greenville soldier was in the combat quartermaster's division. He joined the army in May, 1942, and went overseas last February.

"We were going ahead all the time but the going was tough," he said. "The terrifying shock from constant shelling wears a man down in a hurry. The strain is awful. Not from fear, but uncertainty and surprise. You live a thousand years when you are cut off and have to spend days in a foxhole without food or water. Shells come from every direction—even out of the ground from land mines. The soldiers try not to think about anything but the job at hand."

"War is just what that tankie general said—'Hell.' Norcott told a Reflector reporter. "It wears a man down. I learned this at famous Hill No. 609 between Telesma and Tunis in North Africa," he said with a shudder. "The hardest fighting was at Tunis and Bizerte," he added. Norcott was not wounded in battle. His nerves were shattered from being under fire for six months. He was hospitalized in North Africa, then sent to a hospital on Staten Island, N. Y. From there he was sent to a government hospital at Louisville, Ky., for some weeks and then given an honorable discharge. He is a son of Lawrence Norcott of Greenville. Before joining the armed forces he was employed at Key Brown's drug store. He will go back on his old job after a few days' rest. Norcott's brother, Arthur, who formerly worked for Dr. W. L. Best, is with the American forces in Australia. He went across last September.

Americans Strike In Jap-Held Gilbert Islands

United States Marines and soldiers have landed on Makin, Tarawa and Abemama islands in the Japanese-held Gilbert group in the Pacific. Moderate opposition was met on Makin, but fierce resistance by the enemy was encountered on Tarawa. The campaign is aimed at Truk Island, heart of Japan's power in the Pacific. (AP Wirephoto).

ASK PROBE OF PATTON CASE Nimitz Reports Success In Central Pacific Zone

Stimson Asked to Report To Military Committee

Washington, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Senate Military Affairs committee voted unanimously today to request Secretary of War Stimson to report to it officially on the incident in which Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., commander of the Seventh Army, struck an army private in a hospital in Sicily.

Chairman Reynolds (D-N.C.) said he had been instructed to obtain a report by Stimson in connection with the committee's consideration of President Roosevelt's nomination of Patton, who now has the permanent rank of colonel to hold the (Continued on Page Four)

Americans Have Situation In Gilbert Islands Well In Hand As New Blows Aimed At Japs

Pearl Harbor, Nov. 24.—(AP)—American forces, overpowering swiftness, voted Japanese resistance with record speed, were so firmly implanted today in the heart of the equatorial Gilberts on the fifth day of the invasion that Adm. Chester W. Nimitz spoke confidently of "preparing to make further attacks."

"The Gilberts now are securely in our hands," said the commander in chief of the Pacific fleet after only one of the more than 15 atolls had been completely conquered and while two others tottered toward a fall.

The plain implication of the admiral was that from Makin, Tarawa and Abemama the invaders are in position to dominate and rout what Japanese troops may be on other nearby islands. Makin has been captured. Lt. Col. James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President, was on hand for its fall.

Tarawa, with a fine beach base whose importance was emphasized by the fierce defense of an estimated 4,000 Japanese, is about to fall. The enemy forces have been pushed to the eastern shore of the main island of Betio. Many have been slain, few captured. Abemama is being mopped up. Admiral Nimitz, asserting the brilliantly coordinated victory of army, marine, navy and coast guard services "opens another road to Tokyo," said his forces were prepared for any eventuality.

Tokyo radio, gravely reporting to the Japanese people that "a part of our territory has been exposed to fierce battles," speculated on the inevitability of decisive action by the long-hungry Japanese fleet. "The attacks has not as yet pulled the Japs out of shelter," Navy (Continued on Page Four)

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

This column, conducted as a daily feature by Dewitt MacKenzie, is written today in his absence by J. M. Roberts, Jr.

Winter weather, dire enemy of the Nazis in the east, has turned against them in the west as well. Through ice-forming clouds which kept Berlin's defensive fighters out of the air, the RAF has repaid the Luftwaffe for all it could do to London and now is piling on the interest.

It was Hitler who promised to repay Britain with hundreds of pounds of explosives for each pound dropped on Germany, but it is the RAF which has carried to Berlin 10,000 tons of bombs this year, as compared with the 7,500 dropped on London during the battle of Britain. Berlin, Hamburg, Cologne and the Ruhr, not London, have suffered history's heaviest bombings.

But the last two raids on Berlin carry a significance over and above their material weight. There have been some hints that the Allies have developed technical means of overcoming bad weather around their targets. Whether the use of fast, low tracer planes to mark the target with flares is the whole story on this remains to be revealed. But the last raids on

New Britain Base Blasted With 142 Tons Bombs

Southwest Pacific Allied Headquarters, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Bombers and fighters making their latest visit to the Gasmata area on New Britain have plastered Japanese air and supply bases with 142 tons of bombs, the heaviest load yet.

The Monday raid, announced by General Douglas MacArthur today, brought to 329 tons the total amount of "bombs" dropped there in three consecutive days.

It was the outstanding punch delivered during the day by Allied airmen who visited 11 enemy localities in all, leaving a total of 275 tons of explosive calling cards.

The latest attack on the Gasmata sector made by more than 100 bombers and fighters, was directed at the airdrome on Asari Island and installations at Lindenhafen. The fliers spiced it with machine-gunning strafing, using 350 rounds of ammunition. They left numerous fires and heavy damage.

No mention was made of fighting in the Sattelleburg area on northeastern New Guinea, where Australian troops and tanks have been advancing slowly against Japanese entrenched on a plateau. The communique said Japanese communication lines in the vicinity were hammered from the air with 21 tons of bombs and strafing attacks. Torpedo planes and dive-bombers with fighter escort, struck at Buin on the southern tip of Bougainville island in the Solomons, hammering the enemy's Kara airdrome and gun positions on a plateau. Kangu Hill with 60 tons of bombs, causing fires and explosions. Seven Japanese fighter planes attempted a dawn attack against our navy PT boats in Empress Augusta Bay, Bougainville, and all were knocked down by American air patrols, the communique said.

Schools Return To Work Friday

The Greenville city schools closed this afternoon for only one day. Classes will be resumed on Friday morning. The schools are pushing ahead with their program in order to dismiss as early as possible in May so that students may help with the crops. The Christmas holidays will be two weeks, as usual, and this two weeks is being taken so that the students may help the merchants in the stores during the holiday period. Since the city schools started in early, they will complete the nine months term about May 24.

Total Casualty List Announced

Washington, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Announced casualties in all armed services of the United States since Pearl Harbor total 121,319, with the army bearing the greater share—89,650, as of November 11.

But the statistics show that of those killed in action there is a difference of only 42 between the army and the navy, with the navy having the larger loss—12,883 to date. The army's total of 89,650 listed 12,841 killed; 30,263 wounded; 23,954 missing and 22,592 prisoners. The navy's 68,669 total gave 12,883 killed; 5,640 wounded; 8,918 missing and 4,228 prisoners. Navy figures include the coast guard and marine corps.

Maj. J. E. Waldrop Rotary Guest Abroad

By CHESTER WALSH Major J. Edmund Waldrop of Greenville, with the American Army in England, recently dropped into the Leamington Spa with other officers and was entertained at breakfast by a group of Rotarians from the Royal Leamington Spa and Warwick Rotary Club according to a letter from A. H. Cross, chairman of International Service Committee, to Robert A. Darr, secretary of the Greenville Rotary club.

The letter from England said in part "Some few weeks ago a party of American soldiers passed through our delightful garden town, and while here were entertained to morning coffee and biscuits. Among them was Major J. Edmund Waldrop, whose uncle, J. Herbert Waldrop, is a member of the Greenville, N. C., Rotary Club. Although their stay was very limited—only a few minutes—I can assure you that Major Waldrop was in the best of spirits and health and making the most of his present mode of life. It was thought that this information would be of interest to your club. All good wishes from the Leamington and Warwick Rotary Club to your own club."

Major Waldrop is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Carroll Waldrop of Greenville.

Rommel's Cousin

Ruth A. Hirtz, (above), who says she is a second cousin of Marshal Erwin Rommel, the German general, was sworn in to the WAC at Ft. Sill. She said she would like to go abroad and meet her cousin, "face to face—in an Allied prison camp." (AP Wirephoto).

Bomber Armada, Equal To Monday Night's Attack, Delivers Concentrated And Effective Assault On Berlin Last Night; City Scene Of Chaos And Ruin

By GLADWIN HILL London, Nov. 24.—(AP)

The RAF hurled tons of destruction down on Berlin again last night, seeking for the second night in succession to knock out the German capital, much of it already devastated.

The force and weight of bombs dropped last night probably approached but did not exceed the record of Monday when over 2,300 long tons were delivered by approximately 1,000 bombers, nearly all of them four-engined giants.

"Concentrated and effective" was the Air Ministry's description of the second great attack on the world's most-bombed capital. Despite more favorable weather for the defense, the RAF lost only 20 planes in the second successive Berlin attack and simultaneous Mosquito attacks on western Ger-

HOUSE READY PASS TAX BILL

Will Raise One Fifth Of Amount Asked By Treasury

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY Washington, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Badly mauled on the food subsidy issue, the administration's controversial anti-inflation program came up for another body blow today as the house rolled toward approval of a $2,140,000,000 new revenue bill—a figurative drop in the $10,500,000,000 bucket held out by the treasury.

Rep. Robert Lee Doughton, 89-year-old chairman of the powerful Ways and Means committee, led off a bipartisan chorus against large tax increases, declaring they could (Continued on Page Four)

Hold Thanksgiving Services Tomorrow

Union Thanksgiving services will be held at Memorial Baptist Church tomorrow morning at 10:30. Rev. H. G. Haney, pastor of Eighth Street Christian Church, will preach. There will be special music. The Thanksgiving service last year was largely attended and interest appears to be increasing. The public is invited to attend.

Acquire Necessary Land For Airport

At a joint meeting of the County Commissioners and the Board of Aldermen at the City Hall last night resolutions were passed certifying that all additional land necessary to extending runways at the county airport for use of the Marines as a training base had been acquired and paid for. Copies of the resolutions were forwarded to the Civil Aeronautics Authority at Atlanta, Ga.

Condemnation proceedings instituted in Superior Court some days ago to acquire several acres of the Pollard land were stopped. The parties reached a satisfactory agreement and the deeds have been transferred.

Benefits For Veterans To Get Attention Soon

By WILLIAM F. ABROGAST Washington, Nov. 24.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's request for early enactment of legislation to provide mustering out pay, unemployment compensation and other benefits for the veterans of this war struck a responsive chord in Congress today.

Senators Wagner of New York and George of Georgia, Democrats, announced they would introduce this week bills embodying the President's requests, and Chairman May (D-Ky.) said he would call the House Military Committee together soon to work out "a comprehensive and thorough program."

London, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Germany now will use her "reprisal weapon" because "terror attacks" on Berlin and other German towns have grown to such proportions a military spokesman filed a foreign press conference in Berlin today, the Berlin radio announced.

The spokesman declined to disclose the nature of the "reprisal weapon" which he said Germany regretted she has been forced into using.

many, compared to 26 lost in comparable operations the night before. Berlin already was chaotic from history's greatest aerial attack delivered only 24 hours before the new deluge of Allied bombs struck last night.

Berlin correspondents of Swedish newspapers said new fires and "walls of flame" more than half a mile long swept Berlin after the second attack.

The Stockholm newspaper Afton-tidningen asserted fires started by incendiary bombs last night linked up with flames still burning from Monday night's attack.

Stockholm's Afton-tidningen estimated 25,000 persons were killed in the first attack. It added the center of Berlin again was the main target last night and railway stations, gas and water mains suffered heavily.

The German capital was isolated from the world today by telephone and telegraph. Neither telephone calls nor telegrams were being accepted in Berlin this morning nor were Swedish correspondents able to telephone out of the city.

Telegrams from Stockholm intended for Berlin were being sent to Hamburg but it was unknown how they were being relayed to the capital.

Because Berlin is the hub of Hitler-dominated Europe, communications with virtually the whole continent were affected.

In Stockholm diplomatic representatives of legations bombed out in Berlin still were trying to contact (Continued on Page Four)

Most Bombed

London, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Berlin is now the world's most-bombed city. Approximately 12,000 long tons of bombs have fallen on the German capital this year. Hamburg received a total of around 10,000 tons; Essen, Hannover and Cologne about 3,000, and Mannheim-Ludwigshafen more than 7,000.

CHILDREN'S COLDS

FOR DIRECT RELIEF from miseries of colds—coughing, phlegm, irritation, clogged upper air passages—rub throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub. Its positive and vapor action brings relief without dosing.

ALSO, FOR HEAD COLDS "snuffles" melt a spoonful of VapoRub in hot water. Then have the child breathe in the steaming vapor.

MISS CRISP TO TAKE COURSE IN NEW YORK

Miss Lucy Cherry Crisp left Sunday for New York to take a three-weeks' orientation course given at Teachers' College for directors of the United Service Organizations throughout the country. The course will include studies of the various relationships of the U. S. O. with the men in the service. Upon her return she will be the part-time director of the Service Men's Center, which is now being supported jointly by the community and the U. S. O. Miss Crisp has been released by the board of directors of the Community Art Center at the request of the local committee of the United Service Organization to do this very important piece of work but she will continue to give part-time at the Art Center and to carry on the work there.

Miss Crisp is eminently fitted to direct the work at the Service Men's Center. She is a graduate of the North Carolina College for Women and was for three years the Y. W. secretary there. She has also done Y. W. work in Macon, Ga. and for a time was director of religious education at the Church of the Covenant. While it is not the plan of the local committee to enlarge to any great extent the program of the Service Men's Center, it is felt that the work will receive an impetus from the trained leadership which Miss Crisp will bring to her work.

Members of the Woman's Club are continuing to give their club home for the entertainment of the service men in our city, and in assuming partial support of the project the United Service Organization is planning to renovate and re-decorate the entire building in an effort to make it more adequate for the needs of the various entertainment programs that will be carried on.

Surgical Dressings Window. In the fourth street window of Blount-Harvey's a group of Red Cross ladies sit and fold bandages for the wounded soldiers of our allied armies. They are wee ladies, and they fold wee bandages, but they fold them accurately and to scale. The table is miniature, but an excellent replica of those used in the Surgical Dressing room, as are the chairs, the head-dress, the charts, and the gauze. Each lady has reached a different step in the folding process, and each has done her work so conscientiously that the veriest amateur could follow the steps by looking at the work laid out on the tiny table. The happy expressions on the faces are authentic, too, for this is a pleasant work, and one that gives the inner glow of satisfaction that comes from worthy ends willingly achieved. But Miss Kate Lewis, chairman of Public School Art of East Carolina Teachers' College, who arranged the display, has not forgotten the grim side of the picture. Posters showing the suffering of the men, the suffering that these bandages are to alleviate to some small measure, and posters showing the battles of Army, Navy, Marines and Coast Guard form a background for the Red Cross workers.

It is a skillfully executed display, and an inspiring one. No one should fail to see it for this is work in which every woman in Greenville can help. As the window clearly depicts, it is a pleasure and a privilege. American Legion Auxiliary Meets. Mrs. R. C. Stokes was hostess to the American Legion Auxiliary on Monday afternoon. The guest speaker was Miss Mamie Jenkins of the college, who presented poetry of the present war. Miss Jenkins chose bits of outstanding poems and in this way was able to give an excellent birds eye view of the poetry being written today. During the business session, Mrs. A. B. Core reported almost 100 per cent paid dues. Mrs. Chas. Fife reported that Thanksgiving boxes had been sent to Oteen and plans made for sending Christmas gifts. Upon motion from Mrs. Wiley Brown, the auxiliary unanimously approved buying a $10 Tuberculosis bond. It was not considered wise by the Community Service Committee to continue any activity program at the park since there was no drinking water available for the children. This committee further recommended that grass be planted in the park that the drainage ditches be cleaned and that fruit trees and shrubbery be worked and

FINAL ASSEMBLY

By E. H. LEFTWICH

Chapter 12

"Pete had been unusually quiet that night, on the way home in Les' wheezing, coughing Model A."

"What's eating you?" Les had finally asked, when they were in the little room. "Been worrying about Kitty?"

"No," Pete shot back, impatiently, "and I'll thank you not to mention her name to me. I'm not the least interested in her."

"Ch, yeah?" Well if it isn't Kitty, what is bothering you?"

Pete removed his shirt and spread it over the back of a chair. "I've been thinking, Les," he said seriously. "I believe I know how things can be straightened out at the plant."

"How?"

"I have a plan. Let's call it 'Personnel Psychology.' One of the biggest bottlenecks in production in the plant is the misplacement of manpower—the wrong men in the jobs."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that many men are in supervisory capacity who really belong on the benches where they could do a far better job, and many men on the benches have exactly what it takes to make first-class supervisors."

"You mean that Personnel has done a poor job of placing the men?"

"No, I don't mean that at all. I mean that Personnel and the management in general, are not in position to know where the men actually should be placed. Under the present set-up, men are placed according to their past records. Now, contrary to the general belief, practice does not necessarily make perfect. A man may often do a job for many years and still do it the wrong way."

"What do you propose to do about it?"

"The company should hire an investigator. A man who is able to judge both workmanship and efficiency as well as to recognize supervisory ability and qualities of leadership. This man should turn in reports on every employee, covering these things in detail."

"How can that be done?"

"Easily enough. The investigator, who is known only to the management, can work for a short time in each department as an operator and turn in reports from his observations. The company should act on these reports." He took a deep breath. "Why, Les, there isn't the slightest doubt in my mind but that if we had the right men in the right jobs in the plant, we could increase our production by at least thirty per cent."

Les was crawling into his pajamas. "Sounds good," he commented, the way you explain it—but it'll never work."

"Why not?"

"Because, as I told you before, the management is running the plant their own way. They'd never listen to you."

"Just the same," Pete said. "I intend to write up the entire plan and send it in to the general manager."

Les rose from the bed quickly and laid a nervous hand on Pete's shoulder. "Don't do it!" he cried.

"Why not?"

"Because, you'll only make a fool of yourself. It sounds good. Pete. It is good—but old man Kahl's shirt will fly up his back like a window shade when he reads your letter."

"Suppose it does?"

"Well, don't you see what'll happen?"

"No, I don't. He may not like the idea at first, but after he thinks it over, I believe he'll realize the plan will work. Things are all wrong at the plant, Les, and this is away out—before it's too late."

"Listen, Pete. Art Melvin has been building ships for many years. You have only been in aircraft for three months, and yet, you have the nerve to try to tell him how to run his business."

"That's an idea." Pete slapped his knee. "Melvin has been in the game a lot longer than Kahl has. He can appreciate my plan. I'll send it to him."

"Again, I beg of you—don't do it," Les pleaded.

"And again, I say, why not? What have I got to lose?"

"Your job—that's all."

"You mean to say that they'd fire me for that?"

"I certainly do."

"Then, if that's the kind of place Melvin is, I'd be better off somewhere else."

"Okay, Pete, but don't say I didn't warn you."

Pete slipped into his pajama coat and crawled into bed.

"Listen," Les said suddenly. "You haven't told anyone else about this—this 'Personnel Psychology' plan of yours, have you?"

"Well, no—that is no one but old man Mose. I went over the whole plan with him last night. I wanted to get his ideas on it. After all, the old boy has plenty of horse-sense. He even went a bit farther than I did and made the statement that the moment a man is promoted to lead-man or a higher position, he gets a touch with what the operators are doing and also has no definite conception of the qualifications of the workers. Only the operators themselves know that."

"Well, what did he think of the plan?"

"He thought it was swell."

"Okay. But I still say, don't send it in."

"Thanks for the advice, pal." Pete reached over and turned off the light. "But I've already written it up. I just wanted to know what you thought about it. Tomorrow I'm sending it in to Melvin—"

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

THANKSGIVING

Is it hard to be thankful this year?

Many will say that it is the boys have been taken off to war, God has been reduced, travel curtailed, the casualty lists have mounted. There may be worse fighting ahead than there has been in the past. Sorrow and trouble have continued their devastations as of old. To the normal misapprehensions have been added a multitude of new and agonizing circumstances.

And yet there is much to be thankful for. A soldier writing to his people some time ago said: "The more I see of this war, the more I think that every American back home should offer up a prayer of thanksgiving every day, that the horrors and ravages are being kept away. I wonder if the Americans will ever realize what our soldiers are doing to keep these things away."

What a glorious privilege it is to be living in America in this day of foulness and pain! And with what a sense of thanksgiving can we regard the providential advancement of our cause through the past year! It is hard to say anything of common sense through the war or otherwise; but even these would be the first ones to acknowledge that in spite of dark clouds overhead, there is much to thank God for.

We may be thanking God for much at this season or we may be thanking Him for little, but if we have true insight we shall thank Him for all.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—Observers see behind the appointment of Bernard M. Baruch as chairman of the new War and Postwar Adjustment Committee, one of the most important home front political moves that the President has made in recent months—a move to halt any migration of business, big or small, from the Democratic fold.

This fits into the whole picture of attempts lately to strengthen the relationship between the administration and business. Not long ago, there was an important conference with the President of business leaders and war mobilization officials. Several big industrialists and representatives of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers were present. No public announcement was made, but the armies worn by the business leaders when they emerged was proof that it was eminently satisfactory.

It is reported that the President praised business for its contribution to the war effort. It is said also that he urged even closer cooperation with government and that he informed the businessmen that the White House doors would be wide open to them from now on in working out the problems of continued production and more importantly of readjustment when peace comes.

The appointment of Baruch, observers say, was proof that the war-time appointing Baruch's economic views are well known. He is himself the product of and a strong believer in free enterprise. Although, years ago, after the first World War, he authored the famous M-Day plan which was not only this country's but also Germany's basis for mobilization of industry for war, he is a firm advocate of minimum governmental controls of business in peace time.

Placing Baruch in the saddle, these observers say, is the President's way of saving positively that there will be no riding rough-shod over business, when peace comes nor any perpetuation of present controls.

Here's why. Except in the instance of the rubber report, Baruch has never been more than an unofficial adviser. The best he could do was complain publicly if his recommendations were not carried out. Given official status as chairman of the readjustment committee, it's a cinch that he will bring in a report before the 1944 elections outlining the pattern for continued war-time

J. Lowe, Rockmart, Ga., and R. L. Guilbeau, New Orleans, landed at the county airport this morning and spent a brief visit here.

WAC Recruiter To Spend Friday Here

"Why not join the Women's Army Corps today and help in an essential job? There are 155 important jobs you can do in the WAC. Along with helping win the war you can learn a trade for after the war," said Lieut. Bleecker Houston, who will be at the post office Friday.

"WACS get the same pay as army men of the same rank. A WAC private gets $50 in cash each month—all clear. Her food, rent, clothing, medical and dental care are supplied free. In addition WACS get many other benefits such as life insurance at special low army rates, free mail, furlough rates on round-trip railroad tickets.

"We will win this war with or without your help but victory will be sooner and the amount of casualties will be less if you do your part today. Enlist in the Women's Army Corps and earn a share in that victory.

"Go by the post office any time Friday or on Saturday morning."

Mrs. Lillian Powell Died Robersonville

Mrs. Lillian Powell, 36, died suddenly in a physician's office in Robersonville Monday morning. Funeral services were conducted at the home near Robersonville at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by the Rev. J. M. Perry, Christian minister of Robersonville. Burial was in the Robersonville cemetery.

Mrs. Powell spent most of her life in Martin county. She was a member of Oak Grove Christian church. Surviving are her husband, Guy E. Powell; her mother, Mrs. Emma Taylor Osborne, of near Robersonville; one sister, Mrs. Joe Danilewski of San Diego, Calif.; and two brothers, Charlie Osborne of Washington, D. C., and Robert Osborne of Boston, Mass.

Negro Farmer Wins In Superior Court

Jobie Williams, Negro farmer of the Griffin section, won his case in Superior Court yesterday against Baugh and Sons Company, Norfolk, Va., fertilizer manufacturers. The court action was a result of claim and delivery proceedings instituted against Williams in 1939 when he fell behind in making payments to the fertilizer company. A jury fixed the value of the property at $2,000 at the time of the seizure. Judge R. D. Dixon of Edenton gave Williams and his wife a judgment for $2,000 against the Baugh company and recovery of court costs. The $2,000 is to be offset by the sum of $1,877.64 which Williams owed Baugh Hallett S. (Hot Stuff) Ward was counsel for Williams.

Judge Dixon adjourned court for the term. The next court will be held in January.

Kiwians To Meet At High School

The Kiwanis Club will meet Friday evening at 6:30 at the high school cafeteria. Eli Bloom will have charge of the program. Lieut. Bleecker Houston, Women's Army Corps, of Durham, will speak on "What the WACS are Doing to Help Win the War." President Joe Taft will preside.

Ask Probe Of . . .

Reynolds told a reporter that he personally believed any action against Patton, who was rebuked by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, should be left in the hands of army authorities. He said, however, that there is likely to be much serious discussion of the affair before action is taken on Patton's promotion.

"I think a general can get just as war-weary and develop just as frayed nerves as a private soldier and there may have been some extenuating circumstances in General Patton's case that we don't know about," Reynolds said.

"However, I agree with the majority that the committee ought to have an official report on the case before it acts on the nomination." The nomination was sent to the senate October 1, more than a month after the incident in Sicily. This would indicate that President Roosevelt attached no lasting significance to the affair if he knew about it at the time.

The house also received a demand for an investigation by its military committee. Rep. Hoeven (R-Iowa) asked the inquiry, saying an American Legion post in his district had requested the action.

Hoeven read to the house a telegram from the Legion post commander, who he did not identify stating "these are American soldiers and not Germans. If our boys are to be mistreated, let's import Hitler and do it up right."

Hoeven called the Patton incident "most unfortunate." "Perhaps we have too much 'blood and guts' now," he commented, referring to General Patton's nickname. "I feel that the entire matter should be investigated. Apparently General Patton is getting by with an apology. If the soldier had struck the general, we would have a different story."

Seventeen Executed

London, Nov. 24—(AP)—Seventeen Belgians were executed today at the direction of a single court martial for sabotage and other resistance to the Germans, the Belgian news agency reported.

den would liquidate the great middle class, which is the bulwark of the nation." Knutson declared in a prepared address.

"It would threaten the future solvency of all business, imperil savings, and jeopardize the postwar continuance of private enterprise. x x x From now on, the motto promulgated by the great spender, Harry Hopkins, 'tax and tax, spend and spend, elect and elect,' is out."

The second wartime tax bill, supported by both parties, makes but little revision in the burdens on individual incomes or on corporation normal and surtaxes.

No change is made in the 20 per cent withholding rate against wages and salaries. The measure merges the victory tax with the normal income tax without losing any of the present victory taxpayers.

The $2,139,300,000 would be raised in this way: $154,000,000 from the 44,000,000 individual taxpayers; $616,000,000 by hiking the corporation excess profits rate from 90 to 95 per cent; $1,201,700,000 from boosted excises on luxuries and semi-luxuries, and $166,600,000 by increasing postal rates on some classes of mail.

Allies Make New . . .

Alfedena was taken without a fight. Days before, columns of smoke curled up from the stricken town and it was obvious then that the Germans there realized their position was hopeless and must be abandoned. A number of other towns and villages in this same mountain area have been similarly devastated preparatory to evacuation.

The roads from Alfedena on, however, are dominated by continuous mountains and progress along them is likely to be slow.

RAF In Second . . .

A new and unconfirmed report said the Eden hotel on Budapest strasse near the zoo was ruined. The impact of the paralyzing attacks on the German capital made it clear that wholly aside from physical damage to either the administrative center or the large war industries in the suburbs, the new aerial drive bulked as the war's greatest offensive against enemy morale.

Berlin as the nation's capital has a sentimental attachment for every German and the beating it is taking is a symbolic blow to all Germany.

While the German high command communique acknowledged "new and heavy damage by fires" caused in last night's attack, the Stockholm Aftonbladet said the repeated concentrated bombing was virtually as big as Monday's.

Explosions of blockbusters rocked all sections of Berlin, the newspaper said, but fires provided the worst horror. Storm clouds of ashes swept through the streets and often there were terrific gusts of flames caused by the peculiar effect of big bomb blasts.

The explosions seemed to create a vacuum which was followed by a cyclonic wave of fire.

Fire fighters were unable to cope with their task and entire areas 10 to 12 blocks long were enveloped in flames this morning.

RAF fliers returned from last night's raid declared they "never saw such fires" as those raging in Berlin's streets.

The RAF's smaller loss in the second attack indicated strongly that Berlin's defenses—anti-aircraft guns, searchlight batteries and probably night fighter bases around the city as well—were hard hit in Monday's night's raid.

This meant the Allied attack was gaining in strength and immunity as it moved ahead.

Veterans of the 140-41 aerial assaults on London were staggered today trying to conceive the havoc wrought in Berlin by two such heavy attacks in a row.

They compared the situation with that in London the night of May 10, 1941, when it was generally agreed that if the German bombers had returned the next night the chaos would have been virtually unbearable. The May 10 raid on London was scarcely one-fifth the force of Monday night's assault on Berlin.

In relatively clear weather some Nazi night fighters were up last night but even they were fewer than usual in raids on Berlin, RAF pilots said.

Fires from Monday night's attack could be seen 50 miles away by pilots returning to the target a second time.

Stockholm eyewitness reports said every building in the zoo area in the southwest corner of the Tiergarten was wrecked. Fashionable restaurants opposite the Kaiser

Wilhelm Memorial Church are in ruins. These include the Restaurant Traube, Cafe Berlin and Cafe Am Zoo.

The Ufa Palace, Berlin's largest cinema, was destroyed. Losses estimated with bombs, apparently because heavy anti-aircraft batteries were located in the park.

The raid on Berlin was accompanied by simultaneous assaults on other unspecified targets in western Germany by speedy Mosquito bombers, the bulletin said.

To Our Friends and Customers

On or before December 15th every taxpayer should review his tax situation. If he did not file a declaration in September because he did not have to, he may find that events occurring after September 15th have made it necessary for him to file one. Or if he filed in September, he may find that he should increase his "estimated tax" to avoid the penalty. On the other hand, he may find that he overpaid his "estimated tax" in the September declaration. In that event it would be to his benefit to file an amended declaration in order to reduce the tax installment due on December 15, 1943. FARMERS REQUIRED TO FILE ON OR BEFORE DECEMBER 15, 1943.

IF YOUR DEALER IS OCCASIONALLY OUT OF CAMELS

—it's because hundreds of millions of Camel cigarettes are now being sent to men in the service. In addition to the government's own purchases for our fighting men, veterans' organizations, fraternal orders, clubs, friends and relatives everywhere are sending them Camels. Yes, Camels! After all, Camels are the favorite cigarette with men in all the services—Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard.

First in the Service

WHILE we have pushed Camel's production to new peaks to meet this overwhelming demand from Uncle Sam's fighting men and from the folks at home, yet if your dealer does not always have Camels for you, he asks you to be patient while he is temporarily out of them, believing you will agree that the men in the service should come first.

* Based on actual sales records, the favorite cigarette with men in the Army, the Navy, the Coast Guard, and the Marines is Camel.

THANKSGIVING

Our Pilgrim forefathers prayed long and earnestly for guidance and protection in a country teeming with danger. We too are humble only to God. Our prayers are the source of our strength to carry us through this war victoriously, and the foundation on which to build a fair and lasting peace.
