Russian Forces Driving Toward Rumanian Border

Germans Report New Russian Attack In Crimea; Reds Say 50,000 Nazis Liquidated In Recapture of Kirovograd; Reds Nearing Odessa-Warsaw Railway

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Moscow, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Russian spearheads, steadily bringing war nearer to Rumania, drove toward the vital Odessa-Warsaw railway today, and advance scouts felt out the eastern bank of the southern Bug river after capturing a long stretch of land southeast of Zhmerinka, junction on that main railway line.

To the rear, the second Ukrainian army of Gen. Ivan S. Konev fought within 15 miles of the Dnieper bend north of Smeia, after wiping out 8,000 Nazis encircled north of Kirovograd.

The German high command declared the Soviets had launched a new attack from their bridgehead north of Kerch in the Crimea, with fighting still continuing. There was no Soviet confirmation. Berlin also said fighting raged all day yesterday for possession of Sarny, rail city 35 miles within old Poland.

The first Ukrainian army heavily increased the threat of severing the Odessa-Warsaw railway, a disaster for the Germans that would throw them back upon Rumania for supplies and use of railways and highways, and put the biggest burden yet upon that satellite nation.

The danger to the Germans in the Smeia gap also mounted steadily.

The German formations which were annihilated were the remnants of three tank divisions, one infantry division and a motorized division—totaling perhaps 50,000 men. Only a few members of these units were said to have escaped the trap.

Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's first Ukrainian army, meanwhile, battling forward on Konev's right, subdued two branch lines feeding the Odessa-Warsaw railway and captured Berzhov and Ludupol, 22 and 37 miles, respectively, southeast of Sarny (35 miles inside old Poland).

Listing yesterday's advances a Russian communiqué said that more than 12,000 Germans were slain during the day.

In addition to the 8,000 wiped out by Konev's forces, Vatutin's veterans accounted for 4,000 more as they drove toward Sarny. Advance units of the Red army were reported five miles east of Sarny yesterday.

Berlin dispatches to Stockholm newspapers said the Germans had evacuated Sarny and that Vatutin's army is threatening to encircle Rovno, another rail junction 50 miles to the southwest.

Urges Delay In Demobilization
Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Soldiers and sailors should be kept in uniform until jobs are waiting for them, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, declared today.

"In demobilization it will not be the part of wisdom to send home thousands to areas in which there is employment for hundreds," he said in a speech prepared for a conference on re-employment and rehabilitation of war veterans.

At one point he asserted elimination of present blanket deferment of farmers may be necessary.

Continues Efforts To Freeze Social Security

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) declaring there is "no justification" for doubling the present one per cent social security payroll tax, set out today to convince the senate that the current rate should be frozen for the rest of this year.

"This is one time when I know I'm dead right," said Vandenberg, who on two previous occasions helped block what otherwise would have been automatic increases.

Just before the Christmas recess, congress enacted stop-gap legislation holding the rate at 1 per cent on both employer and employee through January and February. A year-long freeze was attached by the Finance Committee to the $2.275,000,000 tax increase bill, slated for senate consideration today, immediately after the reading of the President's annual message.

Vandenberg noted that in 1939 congress laid down a rule as to what should constitute an adequate reserve in the social security fund from which old age and survivors' benefits are paid. The reserve, congress stipulated, should be at least three times the highest anticipated drain on the fund in any one of five succeeding years.

"Now," Vandenberg said triumphantly at a press conference, "the

CITY'S CREDIT RATING HIGHER

Greenville Occupies Favorable Financial Position

Greenville's credit rating on her bonds and other obligations has reached a new high peak according to information contained in a letter received today by Mayor B. B. Sugg from E. R. Sugg, assistant vice president of Kierulff and Arnold, dealers in investment securities.

Mr. Sugg's letter revealed that in its revised report of January 3, Moody's Investors Service, the nation's most outstanding credit rating organization, raised Greenville's rating from "B" to "A."

Pointing out that "A" is the highest rating that is quoted except on government bonds, Mr. Sugg said to a Reflector representative today that Greenville's present status was next to the highest that could be attained by any county or municipality and that only about two dozen cities and counties in this state enjoyed the same "A" rating that has now been accorded Greenville.

Should Greenville find it necessary to issue bonds for public improvements or other necessary expenditures it would enjoy a much more favorable position in the market of its securities and a lower interest rate than under the old rating, Mr. Sugg said.

"We heartily congratulate you and the entire city organization on this richly deserved honor," Mr. Sugg said in concluding his letter to Mayor Sugg.

ALLIES BLAST JAP LIFELINE

Sea And Air Attacks Made On Supply Centers

Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Sea and air attacks on Japanese supply and supply centers accentuated Allied warfare in the southwest Pacific, with the enemy's lifeline along the New Guinea northeast coast taking a heavy hammering.

The Madang base and its protecting airfields and defense points were hit with 168 tons of bombs, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communiqué said today, making a total of 986 tons laid on supply dumps, gun positions and air fields here in the past 10 days.

Madang itself, 55 miles northwest of the American Sixth Army invasion holding at Salor, received 44 tons; 85 tons were dropped at Alexishafen, defense airfield center 10 miles north, and 36 tons did damage at another outpost 15 miles to the south.

Liberator bombers spanned 750 miles of water northwest of Darwin, Australia, to strike the Japanese airbase at Kendari, on the east coast of Celebes island and dropped 25 tons of explosives on this pre-war Dutch airfield. They fought a 25-minute action with 13 interceptor planes, downing six of the enemy and probably four others. One bomber was lost.

Australian Beaufort medium bombers gave Rabaul, the prime enemy air and supply center in the northeastern tip of New Britain, its daily going over, setting fires at Lakunai and Tobera airfields.

American Marines at Cape Gloucester, northwestern New Britain, advanced south of Sillimati Point near Borgen Bay, and other Marines south of the captured airfield extended their patrols.

A headquarters spokesman said that against 2,000 Japanese dead in the Cape Gloucester fighting since the Marines landed December 26, the American loss was less than 15 per cent, or about 300, including wounded.

Former Fascists Executed Today

London, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Count Galeazzo Ciano was shot to death today the German agency DNB announced, after his conviction on charges brought against him for voting to oust his father-in-law, Benito Mussolini, as Italian dictator.

DNB said that four other men convicted with Ciano also were executed. These were listed as Marcello Emilio De Bono, Giovanni Marinelli, Carlo Parshini and Luciano Gottardi. They were among 19 former members of the Fascist Grand Council who were convicted yesterday on treason charges, the Germans announced. Of the remaining 14, 13 have not been arrested but were convicted in absentia and one convicted man, Tullio Ciannetti, was listed as having received a 30-year sentence.

The German report was dated Berlin, Verona, in northern Italy, where DNB said the trial took place.

Practice Blackout On Thursday Night

A practice blackout has been scheduled for Thursday night between 9 and 10 o'clock. All persons leaving their homes or business places unoccupied during that time should see that lights are turned off. Charles A. White, head of Civilian Defense here, stated today.

The first blue signal will be a two-minute wailing sound of the siren at 9:16 p. m. On this signal all lights should be extinguished except those specifically exempted. Automobiles may continue with lights on low beam and pedestrians may walk.

The red signal will be a two-minute steady blast of the siren at 9:37 p. m. On this signal traffic stops, all lights are to be blacked out and pedestrians should take to shelter.

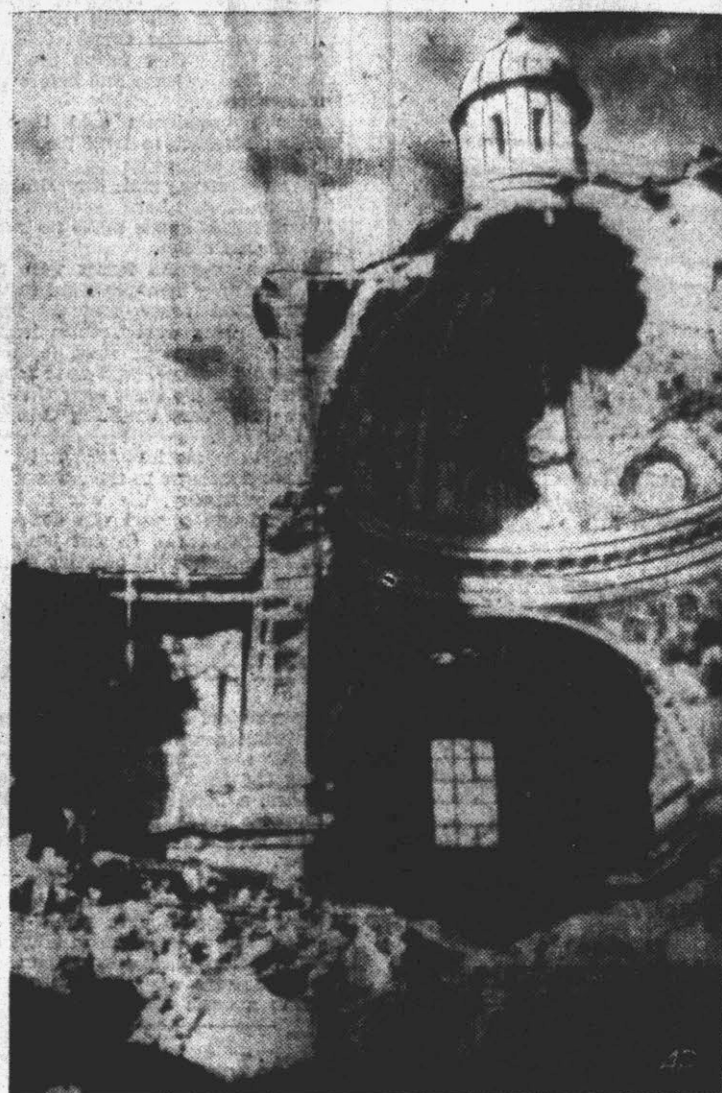

The second blue signal will sound at 9:47 p. m. and will be observed the same as the first blue signal.

The white, or all-clear signal, will be five short blasts by the fire alarm, street lights will be turned on and radio announcement will be resumed at 9:57 p. m.

People living outside of Greenville on main highways leading into the city are requested to have their lights off between 9:16 and 9:37 p. m. This is important because in case of an actual air raid by the enemy these highways with lights on would serve as an arrow pointing to the heart of the city.

The emergency services consisting of volunteer doctors, nurses and ambulances will not be asked to report to stations, in view of the heavy demand made on their time at present.

Fifth Army Pushing Its Way Closer To Cassino

Outskirts Of Cervano Reached; Air, Land And Sea Activity Flares Over Italian And Balkan Fronts

By WES GALLAGHER
Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A Fifth Army pincer closed in on the German bastion of Cassino, 70 miles from Rome, today, with one arm reaching the outskirts of Cervano, fortified village four miles to the southeast, headquarters announced.

Air, land and sea activity flared all over the Italian and Balkan fronts, as night bombers returned to Sofia to pound the Bulgarian capital in a swift followup to yesterday's daylight raid, and British destroyers sank three German schooners and damaged four others trying to run the blockade to Civitavecchia, Ancona and San Benedetto.

American troops advancing up the road to Rome threatened the German mountain defense of Mt. Rocchio, less than three miles from Cassino, while British troops completed the capture of Mount Lido, five miles southeast of Cassino, and continued to forge ahead.

As the tentacles of the Allied offensive stretched out to take Cervano, American troops captured Mount Di Piperia, 1500 yards from the village and then pushed down toward the heavily-defended town itself.

American infantry established a foothold on the mountain in the morning against stiff resistance, and then launched an afternoon attack which met no opposition as the Germans had withdrawn.

Only patrol activity marked the Eighth Army front, where New Zealanders ambushed a German patrol of 30 men inflicting heavy casualties.

There was no sign of slackening in the Allied Fifth army advance, which started a week ago and is progressing steadily. However, there was no evidence of weakness in the German defense nor any indication that the Allies will be able to make a breakthrough for a big gain.

American Liberators devoted their attention to another key Nazi rail bottleneck in the Balkans by attacking Skopje in Yugoslavia, emptying the city of its German garrison. American Mitchell hit San Benedetto, 35 miles north of Pescara, the Eighth army's objective on the Adriatic coast.

RAF and American bombers and fighters supported Allied troops in the battle area, and RAF Mosquitos subjected to heavy air attacks of late.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)
How many of you noted the declaration by James C. Dunn, State Department advisor on European political relations, that but for the agreement reached at the Moscow conference by Russia, America, Britain and China, a third world war was certain?

"These four nations," said Mr. Dunn in a broadcast, "committed themselves to a policy of continuing cooperation. If they hadn't done so the dread certainty of a third world war would have settled on us even before World War II was finished."

There's a very considerable school which feels that maintenance of peace must depend on a military alliance among the big three—America, Russia and Britain—just as does the winning of this war.

If the lesson of the League of Nations means anything, it is that any peace organization to be successful at this juncture of our history must have as a nucleus an alliance of the dominant powers which are agreed to maintain peace by force if necessary. Around this nucleus may be formed a United Nations. China should be included in the alliance, but at the moment her strength is potential rather than actual, because of the ravages of her war with Japan.

The big three have the physical strength to enforce their decisions. If the advocates of this alliance are right, then peace can be maintained just so long as the trio hangs together.

AIRMEN BLAST NAZI TARGETS

Allied Air Armada Renews Daylight Offensive

By ENRY B. JAMESON
London, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Allied heavy bombers, mediums and fighters swept across the English channel today in a renewal of the daylight offensive against Europe a few hours after RAF Mosquitos attacked Berlin and Western Germany during darkness.

Berlin radio declared that "strong formations of four-engine American bombers" attacked localities in central Germany around noon and claimed "heavy losses" were inflicted by Nazi defenders.

There was no immediate Allied confirmation that United States "heavies" had gone out in force but observers on the English coast declared heavy bombers were included in the formations flying across the channel.

American daylight heavy bombers had been grounded since Friday when they carried out a heavy attack on a target in southwestern Germany which neutral reports identified as Ludwigshafen, home of immense German chemical works.

The last heavy American raid into central Germany was against Scheinfert last October 14 when bomber losses reached a record high of 60.

The Mosquitos' attack last night was their ninth foray of the year and it was executed without loss.

British fighters also were busy over the continent last night on intruder patrols, the Air Ministry said, shooting down one German plane during these operations. One British plane failed to return.

Only light activity was reported over the continent yesterday, small formations of Typhoons and Mosquito bombers cooperating in attacks on the coastal area of northern France.

Two ability of Mosquitos were lost and one German craft was shot down.

The German-controlled Vichy radio meanwhile declared that prefects of the French channel coast departments had met yesterday in Paris to discuss possible evacuation of those areas, which have been subjected to heavy air attacks of late.

The broadcast said that evacuation of country districts of the (Continued On Page Four)

Allies Advance On Burma Coast

New Delhi, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Allied ground forces under Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten are continuing their advance along the coast of Burma toward the Japanese base of Akyab and now are in possession of Maungdaw, 55 miles to the northwest, it was announced today.

Aided by RAF fighters and dive-bombers, the southeast Asia forces pushed ahead west of the Mayu mountains to capture a number of enemy strongpoints. "On the central part of the front, our troops made similar advances," the communiqué covering operations since January 5 said.

Aided fighters, fighter and medium bombers of both the tactical and strategic air forces swarmed over Japanese-occupied Burma from Nanyassek, 25 miles northwest of the rail and river port of Maung, in the north to Akyab in the south, suffering no losses during the period reviewed. Communications, oil and supply dumps and airfields were bombed and strafed with good results.

Since we were in an alliance in the last war, and are in another now, it's argued that it's a logical step to continue the pact for the purpose of maintaining peace and security. Of course, not to hope for permanent peace some day, and to work for it, would be to deny our belief in civilization. However, the fact that we arm heavily and make alliances to keep the peace doesn't mean that we are cultivating militarism. Our government already has decided that once this war is over we must return to the way of our pilgrim fathers and plow with rifles handy.

Many Americans are afraid that an alliance with Russia may in some way result in communism being thrust upon this country, or at least in the barrier to it being lowered. They seem to have the idea for some reason that they must be kind to the "ism" because of friendship with the Soviet Union. However, I haven't yet found anyone who can explain why we are under obligation to foster any political belief we don't want any more than Russia is under obligation to accept our American form of government. We don't have to establish a monarchy because of a close working agreement with Britain, and we should fight the idea tooth and nail if it were proposed.

O Globo, in a dispatch from Recife, said 11 Argentines were among crew members landed in Brazil after the blockade runner sank. It said the Argentines were mostly of adult age while German crew members were mostly youngsters.

COUNTY WILL GET 'A' AWARD

Agricultural Effort For War Brings Recognition

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Five North Carolina counties—Pitt, Haywood, Northampton, Chatham and Wilson—have been selected by the War Food Administration to receive the agricultural achievement "A" award for outstanding work in agriculture in 1943. C. T. Scott, USDA War Board chairman for the state, announced today.

Each of the counties will receive an "A" award banner from WFA at ceremonies to be held in the various counties in February.

"The awards are given," Scott said, "for increasing farm production, for having met or exceeded their 1943 food goals; for shifting crops from peacetime production to meet wartime demands; and for overcoming production problems of labor and machinery shortages." (Continued On Page Four)

GOP Convention Is Set For June

By JACK BELL
Chicago, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The Republicans decided today to nominate their presidential and vice presidential candidates at a convention in Chicago June 26.

Selection of the convention time and date was made by the party's national committee after it had adopted a resolution urging the "timeliness of federal and state laws to facilitate absentee voting by members of the armed forces."

Chicago won the convention with $75,000 bid after William Stern, North Dakota man, made his quadrennial humorous bid to take the convention to Fargo, N. D.

The date and the site were decided by voice votes.

Russia Says She Will Keep Part Of Poland

(By The Associated Press)
London, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A clear warning that the Russians will not yield the Ukrainian and White Russian territories incorporated into the Soviet Union in 1939 came today from the Soviet government, which at the same time reaffirmed its desire for a strong, independent Poland to be "built" with areas wrested from Germany, assuring her an outlet to the Baltic sea.

In an official radio broadcast by the Moscow radio, the Russians offered the "Curzon line" of 1919 as a possible basis for a new Russian-Polish border, a line which would leave the U. S. S. R. in possession of all but 3,800 square miles of the Polish territory the Red army occupied under the 1939 Soviet-German partition of Poland.

The Soviet declaration, asserting that Russia was striving "towards the establishment of friendship between the Soviet and Poland on the basis of solid, good-neighborly relations and mutual respect," also suggested that Poland could join the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia in a bulwark against the Germans by becoming a party to the Soviet-Czech mutual assistance pact recently signed in Moscow.

The broadcast, however, used

Realistic Tax Law, Renegotiation War Contracts, Food Law And Economic Stabilization Requested; Sets Forth Second Bill of Rights For Post War America

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—National service legislation, designed to make available for the war effort the abilities of every able-bodied adult in the nation, topped a five-point quick-victory program laid before Congress today by President Roosevelt.

He reported that his recent conferences at Teheran and Cairo involved no "secret" political or financial commitments, but were aimed solely at winning the war and laying the groundwork for future world security.

Then the President said that national legislation would guarantee an earlier victory "and reduce the toll of suffering and sorrow and blood."

The national service act was proposed for the duration to "prevent strikes" and with some exceptions, "to make available for war production and for any other essential services every able-bodied adult in this nation."

Presumably, such an act would be administered for civilian tasks such as selective service is administered for military service.

These were his other four points: 1. "A realistic tax law." 2. Continuation of the law permitting renegotiation of war contracts.

3. A "cost of food law." 4. Re-enactment of the economic stabilization act which expires next June 30.

In his annual message to Congress, which he was prevented by the gripe from delivering in person, he said that the nation's domestic problems, but he also said of the war and its progress.

His legislative program was proposed "in order to concentrate all our energies and resources on winning the war and to maintain a fair and stable economy at home."

His five measures, the chief executive said, "form a just and equitable whole."

The President said he was convinced that a national service act was necessary.

"Although I am convinced," he said, "that we and our allies can win without such a measure, I am certain that nothing less than total mobilization of manpower and capital resources will guarantee an earlier victory."

Mr. Roosevelt described "a realistic tax law," the first point in his legislative list, as one which would tax all unreasonable profits, individual and corporate, and reduce the (Continued on Page Two)

Permit Disposal Of Odd-Lot Shoes

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—(AP)—An announced that during the two week period January 17-29, shoe dealers will be allowed to sell ration-free 15 per cent of their stocks of women's shoes, provided they are sold at $3 or less a pair.

strong language in referring to the Polish government-in-exile in London, asserting that the "entire Polish government, cut off from its people, has shown itself incapable of establishing friendly relations with the Soviet Union."

It also declared that that government has shown itself incapable of organizing an active struggle against the German invaders in Poland itself. More than that, by its incorrect policy it often plays into the hands of the German invaders.

There was a wide but unconfirmed belief that the Moscow declaration had been known in advance to the British and American governments. It was learned that the British, at least, knew of the recent Polish note to the United Nations before it was issued.

The principal obstacle to an early settlement and a resumption of diplomatic relations appeared to be Moscow's outspoken opposition to (Continued on Page Two)

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

TRUE RICHES

God's greatest gift to man is love. Many deny this by the way they live. Day by day they live as if money were the greatest gift of God, or power, or the opportunity to indulge one's self. Many, with more elevated standards, assume that the greatest gifts with which one can be endowed are health and engaging personality.

But as God's arm reaches down into the midst of human affairs, surely the greatest gift He leaves us is the gift of love. Animals do not have it (at least not in the way humans do); and any man who lacks love must accept classification with the lower animals. A mother's love for a child, a husband and wife for each other, a friend for a friend—when we behold these realities we behold God's greatest gift to human beings. He who has love and nothing else has all. He who lacks love but has every privilege the world can confer on a favorite son, is poverty stricken and clothed in tatters.

So let us count our riches not in what we have, but in what we are; not by the money we have in the bank, but by the love we have in our hearts.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By HOWARD FLIEGER

Washington—Did the United States build a throbbing peace-time machine into its vast war plants? Could he, says Senator James E. Murray, a Montana Democrat, do something is done right now to keep it from developing. Here's the situation:

In its frenzied preparations for war, the United States built 700,000 machine tools to put arms production on an assembly line basis. That's three times the total production in 10 years prior to Pearl Harbor. They cost $3,000,000,000—more than the price of making all the machine tools for 20 years before the war.

What's to become of them when peace comes? The senator gets a mental shiver every time he thinks of the possibility that this vast pile of production power might be dumped helter-skelter on an open post-war market.

"To me," he says, "it is unthinkable that these machines should be disposed of in the conventional manner by public sale to the highest bidder. Such a course would be certain to retard post-war employment and the technological development of the machine tool industry."

He has introduced a bill to create a policy commission to get the machines into orderly peacetime use—with veterans getting preferential consideration. The commission would decide what tools the government needs, then would arrange an orderly disposal of the surplus.

Veterans would get the first call. They'd have an opportunity to buy the machines and set themselves up in the metal working business. Government loans and advances would be arranged to get them started.

Others would go to establish small metal working concerns generally. "Provision is also made," Murray says, "for permitting the schools and colleges of the country to avail themselves of these machines to extend courses of instruction in the sciences and in the development of skills connected with the operation."

"The residue is to be available for export in foreign trade, subject to license by the Secretary of State in each instance in accordance with the requirements of our foreign policy."

No Prompting, Please!

of productive power for the preservation of free enterprise and the attainment of maximum employment now as well as in post-war America.

His bill would be the law for three years—thus keeping a tight government rein on moving the valuable tools from war-time to peacetime pursuits. After three years any equipment still lying around would be sold as broken scrap.

President . . .

ultimate cost of the war. Backing up his request for continuation of contract renegotiation, the chief executive asserted it would prevent "exorbitant profits and assure fair prices to the government."

He recalled that he had pleaded with Congress for two years to take undue profits out of war.

On his third point, a cost of food law, he said it should enable the government to put a reasonable floor under farm prices and a ceiling on the prices that consumers pay. It should apply only to necessities, he declared, and public funds will be required to effectuate it. He figured the cost would be about one per cent of the present annual cost of the war.

Unless the stabilization statute is renewed, he said, the country can expect "price chaos by summer." Stabilization cannot be accomplished by wishful thinking, he said, and positive action must be taken to maintain the integrity of the dollar. Mr. Roosevelt warned against over-confidence and complacency, asserting the way to fight and win the war is "all out" and not with half an eye on battlefronts and half an eye on personal, selfish, or political interests at home.

He said he hoped Congress would recognize that while 1944 is a political year, "national service is an issue which transcends politics."

He said he believed the American people would welcome a measure based on a just principle of "fair for one, fair for all."

Asking Congress to look into the means for implementing what he termed an economic, second bill of rights, Mr. Roosevelt vigorously assailed "shining demands of selfish pressure groups who seek to feather their nests while young Americans are dying."

He spoke of the need for unity at home, pounding away on a theme he has used before—that there is only one front in the war.

"Each and every one of us," he declared, "has a solemn obligation under God to serve this nation in its most critical hour—to keep this nation greater in a better world."

His second bill of rights, under which he said a new basis of security and prosperity could be established for all, included these points:

1. The right to a useful and remunerative job.
2. The right to earn enough to provide adequate food, clothing and recreation.
3. The right of every farmer to a return for his products which will provide a decent living for him and his family.
4. The right of every business man to be free from unfair competition and domination by monopolies.
5. The right of every family to a decent home.
6. The right to adequate medical care and an opportunity to achieve and enjoy good health.
7. The right to adequate protection from economic fears in old age, illness, accident and unemployment.
8. The right to a good education.
9. All of these rights spell "security," the President said. "And after this war is won we must be prepared to move forward in the implementation of these rights, to new goals of human happiness and well being."

"America's own rightful place in the world depends in large part upon how fully these and similar rights have been carried into practice for our citizens. For unless there is security here at home there cannot be lasting peace in the world."

If history were to repeat and America were to return to the so-called normalcy of the 1920's, he said, it is certain that though we have conquered enemies on battlefields abroad "we shall have yielded to the spirit of Fascism here at home." All clear thinking business men, he added, share a concern over the grave dangers which would ensue from a "rightist reaction" in America.

It is definitely the responsibility of congress, the President emphasized, to explore methods to effectuate the economic bill of rights. Some of its features already are covered by pending legislation, he said, and he added that he would communicate with congress from time to time on these and further proposals.

The President appealed for federal legislation to give soldiers, sailors and marines the right to vote.

Men in uniform know that an overwhelming majority of them will be deprived of a chance to vote, he said, if the matter is left entirely to the states under existing state laws, and that there is no likelihood of these laws being changed in time to let them vote at the next election.

"It is the duty of congress," Mr. Roosevelt said, "to remove this unjustifiable discrimination against the men and women in our armed forces—and to do it as quickly as possible."

about 70 miles to the west of Konev's army, captured Voronovitsa and Nemiriv in a drive for Vinnitsa and the Warsaw-Odessa railway. A junction of Konev's and Vatutin's forces would isolate thousands of Germans already outflanked in the Smela-Kanav sector of the Dnieper bend. Konev's advance guards were within 15 miles of Smela, the commune reported.

Capture of Voronovitsa severed the Boronovitsa-Khrustinova rail line and put the Russians within seven miles of the Bug river, and 21 miles from the Odessa-Warsaw railway. The Bug forms the last natural Nazi defense line before the Dniester river.

(Berlin broadcasts said that a Russian attempt to land troops on the Black sea coast at Ochakov, between Odessa and the Dnieper river mouth had been repulsed. The Moscow communique made no mention of this claim.)

Russian guerrilla forces were reported lending invaluable aid to the regular Red army forces. They were marching with Vatutin in his thrust into Rovno province (eastern part of old Poland) and were active on the Black sea coast near Odessa, where they were wrecking German rail facilities.

The two armies captured 116 towns and villages in their westward sweeps yesterday, the war bulletin said, and one column was converging on Shepetovka, a rail junction which commands the gateway to the southern half of old Poland).

To Open Hearings On Food Stamp Plan

Washington, Jan. 11—(AP)—Amid a growing congressional controversy over the stamp plan for subsidizing the food bills of low income families, a Senate Agriculture subcommittee today prepared to start public hearings on the legislation Friday.

Put forward as a substitute for the administration's present subsidy policy, the stamp plan would provide for the distribution of coupons good for food purchases to persons whose incomes were insufficient to provide a basic diet.

Russia Says She . . .

Poland's government-in-exile which thus far has refused to talk openly at least, of any compromise of the eastern boundary.

Except to say that an early meeting of the Polish government is expected, Poles declined immediately comment on the declaration.

"We must give careful study to the full text," was their only statement on the post-midnight Moscow broadcast, which plunged immediately into the issue by declaring that on Jan. 5 the Polish government-in-exile had made an "incorrect" assertion about the Soviet-Polish border. The reference to the "incorrect" remarks about the Red army having been reported crossing the "frontiers of Poland" in its dash toward Sarny.

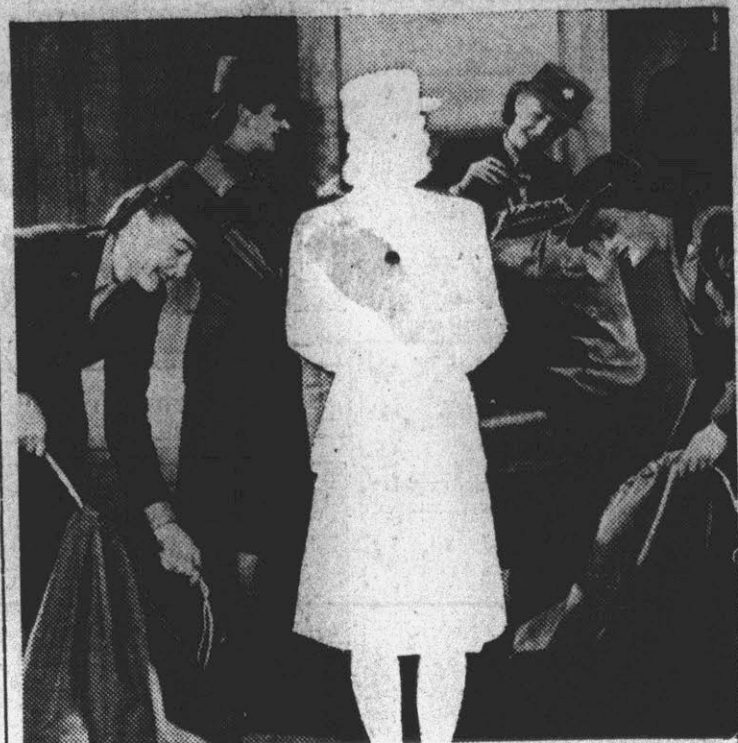

"As is known," declared the Moscow broadcast, "the Soviet constitution established the Soviet-Polish border in accordance with the will of the population of the western Ukraine and western Byelo-Russia (White Russia) as expressed in a plebiscite which was carried out on a wide democratic basis in 1939."

"The inclusion of the western Ukraine and western Byelo-Russia in the structure of the Soviet Union not only did not violate the interests of Poland but on the contrary created a reliable basis for a solid, permanent friendship between the Polish people and their neighboring Ukrainian, Byelo-Russian and Russian peoples."

The broadcast asserted, however, that while the 1939 incorporation corrected "the injustice permitted by the Riga agreement in 1921," the Soviet government "does not regard

1939 borders as unchangeable." declaring that "corrections" could be made in districts in which there is an overwhelming Polish population. The declaration emphasized that Poland's western borders "must be extended by means of incorporating in Poland the primordial Polish lands previously taken away by Germany, without which the whole Polish people cannot be united in its state, which will receive by this means a necessary outlet to the Baltic sea."

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
January 11, 1944

Editor Reflect:

The style of ladies' wearing high, broad brimmed hats is very pretty. In fact, almost anything a woman wears is pretty and becoming, and we love to see them look pretty. But when a fellow is very much interested in a religious discourse, as is the case just now in all our churches in Greenville, much of the enjoyment is destroyed to be compelled to sit behind half a dozen high hats and see them wiggling and twisting from one point of the compass to another like a weather vane in a cyclone.

It would be a very graceful, splendid act upon the part of the pretty women to forego this much for the common good and remove their hats in church. Of course, this does not apply to any but pretty women, for reasons unnecessary to state.

Special Gas Ration For Sick Soldiers

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—As an aid to service men and women who are recovering from illness or wounds received while on active duty, OPA is now issuing special gasoline rations for use in traveling to and from their homes or other places of convalescence.

This action was taken at the request of the War and Navy departments which said that the use of an automobile may, in some cases, aid greatly in a service man's recovery to health.

The special ration will be issued on presentation of leave papers to a local board—together with a letter from the attending naval officer certifying that transportation by automobile, rather than by other means, will materially assist in the recovery of the person's health.

BASKET BALL HERE TONIGHT

Phantoms To Play Marine Officers At High Gym.

Tonight at 8 o'clock in the Greenville High School gym the G. H. S. Phantoms will meet the Marine Officers of the local airport in what should be a fast game.

This will be the first time the Phantom five has met the Marine quintet and very little is known about them. Last Friday night the Greenies won over the Elmbeth City Yellow Jackets but lost to a powerful Portsmouth, Va., team on the following evening and are expected to be out for vengeance tonight. The Phantoms are expected to use their powerful fast-break offensive against the Marine flyers.

The probable line-up for Greenville will be Posey and Futrell at forwards, Leggett, center, and Harrington and Fleming at guards. Probable starters for the Marine officers are Lts. Aitken, Holloway, Davis, Peterson, and Edwards.

The admission will be 15 cents for students and 25 cents for adults.

Nine German planes were destroyed for a loss of three Allied aircraft, headquarters said.

The British destroyers Jervis, Troubridge, and Tumult sweeping the German-held Adriatic coast Friday night sank three German Schooners and bombarded the railway at Civitanova and Ancona. The next night they found four more schooners in the area, damaging them so badly they were abandoned. The destroyers topped off the night by shelling San Benedetto.

Damaged Cruiser Back In Service

Bremerton, Wash., Jan. 11—(AP)—The navy said today a torpedoed cruiser with her entire bow shot off came into the navy yard here, was fitted up with a made-in-advance replacement and went back to prowling the Pacific.

The navy release, without identifying the vessel or listing the date, said "the veteran crew x x x saw the severed bow go to the bottom even while the cruiser's guns still blazed at the Nips."

The ship started for Puget sound with an emergency fore section. A replica of the severed section was made from the plans of a sister ship while the wounded cruiser was on its way. Welders went to work and the ship was made whole again.

Guerrillas Take Big Toll Nazis

London, Jan. 11—(AP)—Yugoslav partisan troops are taking a heavy toll of German forces pressing a determined offensive in central and western Bosnia, a communique from the headquarters of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) reported today.

Tito's war bulletin, which was broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio and recorded by the Associated Press, said the Germans were attempting to break the partisan lines from five different directions, so far without success. The Nazis were employing strong tank and motorized columns, in addition to their infantry detachments, in the drive to wipe out Tito's forces.

On all other sectors of the long front, Tito reported, the partisans were successfully harassing German garrisons, troop concentrations and line of communication.
