Allied Defenders Hurl Back Nazi Attacks On Bridgehead

Naval Guns And Airpower Help Repel All-Out German Assaults; Intensified Fighting Nets Slight Gains For Allied Forces In and About Cassino

By KENNETH L. DIXON

Allied Headquarters, Naples, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Allied forces are holding their lines intact on the battle-churned Anzio beachhead after smashing back attacks by four full German divisions—40,000 to 60,000 men—in the strongest Nazi counter blows yet delivered, Allied headquarters announced today.

(A dispatch from Daniel De Luce, Associated Press correspondent in the bridgehead, at noon today said the German offensive, renewed with even greater force than ever, was being held, and that American infantry and tanks had retaken ground during two hours fighting for which the Germans paid a heavy price the day before).

The Fifth army on the main front to the east, reinforced by New Zealand and Indian troops, tightened a ring on Cassino from the northeast, northwest and south, winning two heights west of Mt. Cassino and reaching the railway station south of the town after throwing 50,000 shells into the ruined stronghold.

The powerful Nazi assault knocked a hole in the Allied lines below Carroceto, 10 miles above Anzio, but Fifth army tanks and infantry struck back in several successful local counterattacks, "causing heavy casualties to the enemy" and making some progress.

An Allied officer declared that "unlike previous attacks this is obviously the fullest-scale effort to throw the Allied forces back into the sea."

Front dispatches said the Germans were attacking with even greater fury today, and that Allied troops were defending their lines in the grimmest fighting. The Germans were spraying the whole area with shellfire.

(The German communique broadcast by Berlin said the Nazis had advanced 2 1-2 miles south of Carroceto, or within 7 1-2 miles of Anzio. The Germans claimed that they were still holding the Cassino railroad station, but the Algiers radio said Allied troops had occupied it.)

The beachhead battle—which may be one of the most decisive of the war—was apparently in its crucial

PLANES SINK JAP CONVOY

Fifteen Enemy Ships Sunk In Three-Day Running Fight

By ASAHEL BUSH

Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Feb. 19—(AP)—Twelve Japanese merchantmen rushing oil and supplies to bolster Rabaul and Kavieng were wiped out along with an escorting destroyer and two corvettes during a three-day attack by Allied bombers northwest of New Ireland, headquarters announced today.

At most, only two merchantmen eluded the explosives of Catalinas, Liberators and Mitchells which from Monday night until Wednesday morning destroyed 36,500 tons of merchant shipping in the attack and exacted a heavy toll of Nipponese aboard the vessels.

Bound south from Truk, Japan's mighty naval base which itself has been brought under Allied attack for the first time, the convoy was spotted off Mussau island Monday night. By midday Tuesday, half of it had been destroyed. Wednesday morning, Mitchell bombers flew as low as the top of the masts to blast seven more ships with an hour near New Hanover.

One Corvette blew up. Five 2,000-ton cargo ships went down with all

ALLIED SUBS SINK 32 SHIPS

U. S. Subs Get 13 In Japanese Waters; British Sink 19

London, Feb. 19—(AP)—British submarines sank 19 enemy ships, probably sank six others and damaged eight more in recent patrols in Atlantic, Mediterranean and the southeast Asia area, the Admiralty announced today.

Washington, Feb. 19—(AP)—Two American submarines, operating deep within Japanese territory, sank 13 enemy merchant vessels before returning to their home port.

The sinkings, reported by the navy today, brought to 597 the number of Jap ships sunk, probably sunk or damaged by submarine action since the war started.

The navy said the patrols were carried out "deep in Japanese Empire waters"—the first time such specific information has been given on submarine operations. It indicated a growing confidence in the strength and ability of the submarine forces to carry on their attacks against enemy shipping even in most hostile territory.

The navy also disclosed in a communique that the 13 enemy ships had a total tonnage of 68,200, or an average of over 5,200 tons for each vessel sent down. All craft of such size would be of major importance in the continuing efforts of the Japanese to maintain supply lines to their bases scattered through the Pacific area.

The new successes raised to 447 the number of Japanese ships of all types that American submarines have destroyed. In addition, they probably have sunk 36 others and damaged 114.

The heavy blows inflicted on Japanese shipping are shown in communiques which list a total of 1,844 Jap craft of all types including some warships sunk by submarines, aircraft and surface units. That big total breaks down to 968 ships sunk, 99 probably sunk, and 777 damaged.

Seven Jap Planes Burn On Ground

Seven of the 14 twin-engined Jap bombers, caught on the Engebi Island airfield January 30 by U. S. carrier-based dive bombers and fighter planes, burn after being blasted. American Forces Extend Gains In The Marshalls

Army And Marines Battling Japs For Possession Of Eniwetok; Details Of Attack On Truk Not Revealed

By CHARLES H. McMURTRY

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Army and marine invasion forces, speeding up the breath-catching tempo of Pacific offensive, battled Japanese today for Eniwetok in the westernmost Marshalls while Americans awaited confirmation of an indicated sea-air triumph over mighty Truk.

(A third United States carrier task force attacked the eastern Marshall island atolls of Taroa and Maloelap Wednesday while one task force was carrying out operations against Truk and another was attacking Eniwetok, the Tokyo radio said today in a broadcast recorded by NBC).

Firm beachheads were won on Thursday at Eniwetok, last lifeline for bypassed Nipponese garrisons throughout the Marshalls, while guns of battleships thundered a protective barrage and carriers supplied air cover. The assault forces then moved in strength against enemy pillbox defenses already battered by repeated plane attacks.

Only the day before at Truk, 750 miles southwest of Eniwetok, an American sea armada sent hundreds of bombing planes to open the first attack of the war on enemy fleet concentrations in the heavily fortified lagoon. Although radio silence since has shrouded the parhaps prolonged action, Navy Secretary Frank Knox said confidently in Washington "I think this attack was a victory."

Monday, only two days prior to this thunderbolt stroke, a big force of land-based Liberators dropped 55 tons of bombs in the war's first attack on Ponape, Gibraltar-like enemy fortress in the Eastern Carolines, 400 miles this side of Truk.

Less than two weeks ago, tremendous sea, air and ground forces swiftly overwhelmed the world's largest atoll, Kwajalein, 570 miles east of Ponape, to imperil at one stroke the thousands of Japanese in the Marshalls over a mid-Pacific area 800 miles square.

As at Kwajalein, invasion forces moved far in back of many other fortified Marshalls bases when they struck Thursday at Eniwetok. The 21-by-17 mile atoll, 400 miles northwest of Kwajalein, has at least one and possibly two or three airfields and several seaplane bases scattered among its 30 islets as well as deep lagoon anchorages.

The attacking forces included 22nd marines and elements of the

FEW WAR CASUALTIES

Babson Says Statisticians Are Optimistic

Babson Park, Florida, February 19.—Well, I am back again in Florida; I hope to be here for the remainder of the winter. I am more and more convinced if we followed the habits of the birds instead of men, we all would be better off. This is one reason why I have a bird sanctuary at Babson Park, Massachusetts, and gladly support the John Willison Bird Museum there. Well—among other good things—birds know when to go south and when to return north.

Don't Get Excited

As soon as I can get some gasoline to get about (it's awful tight here) I'm going to write a column about Florida. It rather looks now that Florida is getting all set for another boom. At any rate it makes me cheerful to be here. The low figures for the number of our boys who are being killed in the war are also encouraging. Statistics indicate they are almost as safe in the army as at home. They enjoy better health, have no joy riding and are free from industrial accidents. In fact—based upon an average of 5,000,000 in the armed forces since Pearl Harbor—only one man out of every 140 has been killed; while an even smaller portion have been wounded severely enough not to return to active duty.

Having nothing to do today but sit in the sunshine, pick flowers, drink orange juice and listen to the birds sing. I had time to study my maps. Now, I am not a military man; but only a humble statistician. During World War I, I was an assistant to the secretary of labor in Washington in charge of heading off industrial strikes and did a pretty good job of it. During that war I learned that the big things really going on are not talked about. Hence, we should "prove all things" as the Bible says, before getting excited.

Four "Invasions"

With this thought in mind and a deep interest in future war casualties, I am now wondering about this much heralded and predigested second front. This is promised to start in northern France where the channel is narrowest. Without doubt there will be a landing on the shores of northern France; but whether it will come before Germany shows more definite signs of collapsing is a debatable question. Certainly, such a landing will be only a part of the second front invasion.

A careful study of maps will convince anyone that if the Allies institute an effective invasion against the will of Germany, landings will be made at four different points:

1. At the Balkans aimed to destroy the Rumanian oil fields if Russia has not already taken them. Watch General Patton's army.

2. At southern France by moving troops in from the Island of Corsica where they are now assembling.

3. At northern France, Belgium and Holland by moving troops in from England.

4. At Norway where the Germans have the fewest troops and where it would be very difficult to bring re-enforcements. I feel very sure that Norway will be a part of the program. There are excellent airfields just south of Stavanger which is only about 400 to 500 miles to

London Undergoes Heaviest Raid Of Past Three Years

Three Waves Of Nazi Bombers, Estimated At 150, Spread Fire And Death In Several Districts Of The City; Total Number Of Planes Downed Not Known

By JAMES M. LONG

London, Feb. 19.—(AP)—German heavy and medium bombers, striking in double the strength of any recent raid, hit London in three waves last night and left fires, smashed homes and apartments and casualties in their wake.

It was the heaviest raid on the British capital since the sustained assaults of 1940-41.

Best unofficial estimates were that about 150 raiders slashed at the capital area. Although not all of them penetrated the umbrella of terrific anti-aircraft fire thrown over the city, the damage was the most widespread of any attack of the past year and casualties were left in half a dozen districts.

Fires still glowed today as searching parties dug through the wreckage for victims.

Twelve persons were known to have died and a number of others were injured when high explosives struck a factory and homes in working class districts. Three persons were still trapped under the ruins of the factory.

Ten other persons were believed to have been killed when a bomb struck one sector which had already received three direct hits during previous raids, and an unknown number was killed when a home for the aged received a direct hit.

Supplies in the district headquarters of the British Red Cross were destroyed by flames started by incendiaries.

The Berlin radio said that "hundreds of planes" participated in the raid and acknowledged the loss of seven bombers, but announced later that two of them had limped back to emergency landing fields.

Among the first reports on Nazi planes knocked down by anti-aircraft fire was one from a sector where American anti-aircraft crews were in action. Five raiders were claimed knocked down there.

Tons of high explosives and thousands of firebombs showered down, hitting at least three churches, two hospitals, a number of school buildings, a hotel, a large suburban store and many apartments and rows of homes.

Guards said the barrage of anti-aircraft fire was the heaviest ever thrown at enemy raiders.

Fighter planes rose to chase the invaders. At least two were shot down by patrols over Belgium and

REDS LAUNCH NEW ATTACKS

Nazi Positions In North On Verge Of Collapse

London, Feb. 19—(AP)—Capture of the heavily-fortified city of Staraya Russa, eastern anchor of the German line in northern Russia, raised the possibility today of complete collapse of the easternmost salient of the Nazis' Baltic front.

Staraya Russa and the important rail town of Shimsk, 30 miles to the northwest, fell to Gen. K. A. Meretskov's Volkhov army in an encircling drive from the northwest. The battle for Staraya Russa was especially fierce, the Russian communique said, and cost the Germans heavily in men and material.

More than 40 other towns and villages were captured in the day's advance, including Lossytina, 17 miles south of Staraya Russa on the main highway to Kholm and Svyatogorska, the Moscow bulletin said.

The strategic junction town of Dno, 50 miles west of Staraya Russa on the Staraya Russa-Pskov and Leningrad—Vitebsk railways was left exposed to Meretskov's hard-hitting Baltic veterans in their westward lunge.

Meretskov completed the capture of Staraya Russa by by-passing the city to the southwest and then launching a strong frontal attack from the east. Shock troops crashed the immense defense-in-depth fortifications constructed by the Germans since the first winter of the war. Fierce counterattacks were repulsed and large enemy stores and many prisoners were taken, Moscow said.

In developing his front south of Staraya Russa, Meretskov apparently was preparing to move across the forests and marshes toward Pskov, slightly more than 100 miles to the west, simultaneously with Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's rapid drive from the north and northwest of Luga were taken by Govo-

Gives Facts On Veterans' Pay

Arthur B. Corey, assistant service officer for the local post of the American Legion, who returned from Richmond, last night, quotes Lt. Col. T. S. Delahay, finance officer in the Richmond office, who has charge of paying the mustering out pay, as follows:

"That up to Wednesday, February 16, over 7,000 applications had been received in the Richmond office, and that applications were steadily coming in.

"That only original discharge certificates would be recognized in effecting the pay, that no photostatic copy was acceptable, and that if any person has sent in a certified copy of original discharge, or photostatic copy of discharge, such person would not be considered and check forwarded until the original discharge was received in the Richmond office.

"That dishonorable and blue paper discharges are not eligible for mustering out pay, only honorable discharges are acceptable.

"That men who served less than 60 days would be paid $100. Those who served over 60 days will receive $200 in two payments. Those who served over 60 days, and had overseas duty, will be paid $300 in three payments, all payments will be spaced at 30 day intervals between each installment."

The local post of the American Legion is offering its services in assisting these returned service men and women to make application for the benefits accruing to them under the mustering out pay act, or any other benefits that is theirs to receive.

No Damage.

Small children playing under Henry Smith's home on East Seventh street today set fire to some lleaves that cause the calling out of the fire department. The firemen extinguished the flames before any damage was done to the house.

That Extra Bond

Pitt county purchases of series "E" bonds in the Fourth War Loan have reached $681,218.75, only $111,381.25 short of the $712,600 quota for this type of bonds assigned this county. While the county is over the top in its over-all quota it is necessary that the "E" bond quota be reached if we are to be rated a full 100 per cent in our support of the war effort.

All "E" bonds purchased up to and including February 29 will be included in the quota for the Fourth War Loan which officially ended on February 15.

If you have not already purchased that extra bond, do so now and help the county meet its full quota.

Wants To Quit

Col. Gen. Edward Dietl, (above), commander of German troops in north Finland, was reported by Swedish sources, as urging Adolf Hitler to recall his troops from the republic because of peace rumors between the Russians and Finns. Dietl expressed concern, saying German troops might be trapped if peace decision is reached. (AP Wirephoto).

WILL ACT ON POSTWAR PLAN

Senate Committee To Introduce Bill Next Week

By JACK BELL

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Asserting that the Baruch postwar report poses the question whether "the economic destiny of the country is to be settled by executive directives," Chairman George (D-Ga) announced today that the Senate Postwar Committee would introduce legislation next week to carry out its own plan for the transition from war to peace.

George handed reporters a typed statement declaring that the Baruch report apparently is designed to "do the whole job by executive order under Justice Byrnes" (War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes).

The George committee has drafted a camprehensive program for post-war reconversion of industry that parallels in many respects the report made yesterday by Bernard M. Baruch.

"The two reports sharply outline the question of whether the economic destiny of the country is to be settled by executive directives or by general policies established by executive directives or by general policies established by the elected representatives of th people," the senator declared.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

While we shall be wise not to start celebrations pending details of the new battles in the southwest Pacific, the overall picture of our operations is a gratifying one of great striking-power and initiative. We are beginning to strike when and where we will, and indications are that our new and really magnificent machine in the Pacific is in high gear and won't slow down again until Yankee troops reach Tokyo.

We've sent a great fleet of warplanes to bull-dog Truk, one of the world's most powerful naval bases, especially designed to withstand any manner of attack which Uncle Sam could bring against it.

We've landed amphibious forces on the island of Eniwetok, in the Marshalls, and have established beachheads.

We've almost wiped out a great Jap convoy, enroute from Truk to the Bismarck archipelago—at least twelve transports and supply vessels, plus three warships.

No wonder the Tokyo radio has sent out the shrill warning to its public that the attack on Truk is part of "persistent activities aiming at Tokyo on our Japanese mainland" (and how true that is).

Our attack on Truk apparently was designed to serve a double purpose. (1) To do as much damage as possible to this base. (2) To provide a distraction while Rear Admiral Richmond Turner initiated the attempt to capture Eniwetok.

Truk is the mother base for Jap supplies and major repair work for the whole southwest Pacific. We were gunning not only for warships but to destroy supplies and neutralize the efficacy of this center.

It's to be hoped that we sent a lot of warships to the bottom, but we are out to render the base impotent. That will remove the chief remaining barrier to Tokyo and the Philippines.

Capture of Eniwetok will greatly hasten the neutralization of Truk. Eniwetok is only about 750 miles northeast of the big naval base, and has facilities for airfields, so that Truk could be reached easily by bombers. Possession of Eniwetok also would help neutralize other island bases by severing their supply lines.

Today On The Home Front

JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, Feb. 19. — (AP) — Peeping through the thousands of words in the Baruch report on how to get people back into peacetime jobs after the war is this simple fact:

Right now there's a problem in getting people into war jobs.

American mayors and city-planners who think the report is a green light for their projects have another think due.

Bernard M. Baruch and John M. Hancock, appointed by the President to the job, yesterday gave him their recommendations for easing America back into peacetime activity as soon as war conditions permit.

There were two main considerations: nothing must interfere with winning the war; unemployment must be avoided through planning that will switch workers from war to peace jobs when and where possible.

The planners suggested:

"Many worthwhile community projects such as schools, hospitals, waterworks, and others, have had to be deferred through the war because there were other more essential needs for the same manpowr and materials.

Many of these prospects are completely engineered and the funds for their construction set aside. As war needs slacken, the WPB has the mechanism for reconsidering any of these projects in the light of the rules of relative essentiality then prevailing."

What does that mean? Here's how it was explained at WPB:

The city of Ho-hum, before war started, was ready to build three new schools. Then came Pearl Harbor. Materials were needed for war. The schools could not be built.

War industries sprang up. Pretty soon every available working man and woman in Ho-hum had a job.

But this week 3,000 Ho-hummers are thrown out of employment when the War Department cancels its

Strength FOR THE DAY

WATCH EVIL BEGINNINGS

A machine drove up and stopped at the door of the hotel as I chatted with the manager, and I confess to a distinct sense of shock as I noted that the automobile bore the sign, "Acme Exterminators," and the big boss who stepped out carried in his hand a little instrument which resembles an atomizer.

"So this is the how of it," I mused to myself.

But I was greatly comforted and reassured to learn shortly that this exterminating firm maintained a service to which all hotels with any claim to discrimination subscribed. They paid a regular fee not to have insects exterminated, but to have an expert keep his eye on the property and see that the insects did not get a start. A few minutes later as I entered the hotel I saw the agent of the exterminating company opening closets, going through them with a flashlight, looking into corners, always with his little poison gun ready in case he observed anything crawling or flying.

This is the soundest possible practice. Stop all evils at their source. The way to keep anything bad from growing is to keep it from sprouting. To nip it in the bud is good; to destroy the seed before it produces a bud is better.

Our Lord commended this policy. The way to destroy lust, he insisted, is to exterminate the evil thought. The way to avoid perjury is to guard against exaggerated statements. The way to steer clear of violence is to control anger.

The only really effective way to handle any evil is to handle it at the source.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—It isn't very often that politics treats us to such strange spectacles as Republicans and Southern Democrats did on the soldier vote issue, particularly in the House of Representatives.

In the first place, the Republicans in opposing the federal ballot had to follow the lead of Rep. John Rankin of Mississippi. It isn't the first time that the minority party has teamed up with the rebellious southerners, but on most issues, Rep. Rankin, a vigorously active and outspoken member of the majority, is a headache to the Republicans.

In the second place both groups were flirting with one of those tricky torpedoes that might turn in its tracks and blow their own boats at the polls next November. Don't think for a minute that their opponents will fail to make capital of it in the forthcoming campaigns—UNLESS a compromise is worked out in conference that actually will give the soldiers a vote.

Both sides were well aware of this. Opponents summoned three powerful arguments: (1) An adequate soldier's vote bill couldn't be written by Congress under the Constitution; (2) If it could, it would be an invasion of state rights which the Constitution prohibits; and (3) There is no possible way under a federal ballot to give the soldiers a chance to vote for state, county and municipal candidates.

There isn't any doubt about the third point. The only thing physically possible under a federal ballot would be to give the soldiers outside the country and many of those stationed outside their own states an opportunity to vote for president, vice-president, senators and congressmen. If this could be remedied by a distribution of state ballots, then there's no doubt the state ballots would be best, but Army and Navy officials have testified that this too, would be physically impossible in wartime.

The first two points are debatable and believe me they were long debated.

But the odd thing about all of these points was that none was the real reason why most opponents of the federal soldiers ballot voted against it.

The real reasons were quite different and the reasons of the Republicans and southern Democrats were quite different.

The Republicans fear that a federal ballot would give the soldiers an opportunity to cast a vote for their commander-in-chief, without being on hand to hear all their arguments against re-election of Mr. Roosevelt to a fourth term, and would merely hand the Democrats a substantial bloc of votes on a silver platter.

Many of the southern Democrats, on the other hand, are now ready if not always willing to re-elect the President and actually haven't any sympathy for the Republican objections. What they do object to is breaking down the vote restrictions in the south—eliminating the poll tax and residential restrictions.

contract with the cartridge company where they work.

The WPB, because the whole war materials picture has improved so much, might now be able to let the town of Ho-hum have the materials for building those three schools and giving those 3,000 cartridge makers new employment.

But——everything depends upon where Ho-hum is situated.

If Ho-hum was in the Connecticut valley, where manpower is very short, the answer would be "no." WPB would try to get those 3,000 unemployed cartridge makers to take jobs in nearby towns needing them.

The story might be different if Ho-hum was a town in Arizona where there was no acute scarcity of manpower in the surrounding area.

Thus the picture of a year ago is reversed: then manpower was not so scarce but certain materials, like steel, were desperately needed.

While some towns may benefit through the Baruch-Hancock recommendation—if the President approves it—that benefit will depend on manpower needs for a good while.

Hamburg, Bremen and Berlin. Furthermore, securing such Norwegian air bases should enable the Allies to get a foothold in Denmark. From northern Denmark it is only 250 miles to the industrial cities and seaports of Germany.

Weather An Important Factor

In view of weather conditions in Norway and elsewhere, this may mean a delay of the real invasion of Europe until Spring or Summer although men are now being rapidly sent to England and elsewhere. Delay is in favor of the Allies because (1) Germany is being systematically destroyed by continued bombing; and (2) because the Allies can be better prepared with more troops and armaments the greater the delay. Then there is always the hope that the German army leaders will dethrone Hitler. They surely had rather let us march triumphantly into Germany than have Russia. This thought was the reason for the Pravda article about German and English peace talks which created such excitement last month.

Certainly, the Allies are not advertising in advance their plans. Rather, their leaders are talking publicly about the very opposite of what they actually will do. Note that 90 per cent of our European war news comes from London and every word of it must pass the English censors. It also should be remembered that more news is put out for German consumption and to mislead our enemies than to inform our own people. This is no criticism of our governments. It does, however, suggest that most time spent listening to radio war commentators is wasted. We had better use this time figuring how our returning soldiers will get jobs when World War II is over.

Our Boys Not In Great Danger

My real reason for writing of these things this week is to cheer up parents, sisters and wives who now have boys in England and elsewhere awaiting the invasion. War is almost wholly a question of mathematics and spirit. The great invasion will not start until the Allies are 100 per cent ready. Russia nothwithstanding. Hence, mathematics and spirit will be greatly in favor of our boys. Thus, our casualties should continue low. In addition, the invasion will not be confined to northern France where we might expect heavy casualties. Washington may be justified in scaring us; but statisticians and geographers are not frightened.

The invasion will come simultaneously at about four places. These will reduce the striking power of the German army 75 per cent. "But why will this division not also reduce our striking power??" you ask. The answer again is one of statistics. The Allies can choose where to place each of their men. A man properly placed is worth four men hunting aimlessly for intruders. The old comparison between defense and offense no longer applies in this day of airplanes and radio. Therefore, let us not worry about our boys just yet. There will be no massacre of our men in Europe.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
February 19, 1904

Cabbages are so high that they are now being sold by the pound. A large one yesterday brought 50 cents.

More than one thousand dozen eggs were shipped from Winterville this week.

Indications are that the dispensary is going to win by a good majority at the election March 2. You should join in, however, and help swell the majority.

Players Present 'Jane Eyre.'

The first night of the Chi Pi Players winter term production, "Jane Eyre," drew a good audience last night to enjoy the stage version of Charlotte Bronte's famous romance of a hundred years ago.

James Warren, Greenville sophomore, and Gretchen Webster, Leasburg senior, playing the leading parts of Mr. Rochester and Jane, managed in large measure to bring to life the story of the poor young governess and her harsh and impatient employer who comes to love her in spite of strong reasons against it.

In addition to his role as Rochester, Warren was designer of the somber set which helped create the mood of the party.

Another Greenville student, Josephine Gibson, played the part of Blanche Ingram, mercenary society woman, who wished to marry the wealthy Rochester.

Mary Frances Ellis of Fayetteville played the part of the housekeeper; and other minor roles were taken by Marybell Reddit of Aurora, Curtis Butler of Kelford, Lynn Klien of Cherry Point, and Kenneth James of Winterville.

Miss Ruth Oncley, graduate student in dramatics at Chapel Hill, directed the play, with Hazel Harris, Chi Pi president, as student assistant. Hubert Bergeron of Spring Hope was stage manager, and J. L. Brandt of Greenville, technical director.

The play will have a second performance tonight, beginning at 8:30.

Third Street P. T. A. Meets.

The February meeting of the Third Street P. T. A. was held on Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Albion Dunn, called the meeting to order. After the reading of the minutes, the standing committees made their reports. During the business session, it was decided to give $50 for the "Little House," the proposed Girl Scout office and clubhouse, and to buy flags for the school auditorium.

Mrs. George Snyder, chairman of the program committee, turned the program over to Mrs. Vance Arnold, who, with the assistance of several mothers, presented a playlet "Complete and Final Victory." The different members represented Brotherhood, Cooperation, Hope, Courage, Comradeship and Wisdom. Each in turn gave very worthwhile advice which if it were followed, the world would be a better place to live and everyone could live in peace forever.

These ideals have always been foremost in Parent-Teacher organizations everywhere. It was quite fitting that the founder could thus be honored.

It was found that Miss Mae Joyner's fifth grade had won the attendance price.

Delicious cookies and candies were served during the "fellowship time."—Reported.

Fidelis Class Meets

The Fidelis Class of Memorial Baptist church held its regular monthly meeting Thursday evening.

Twenty-seven members and five guests were present to enjoy the hospitality of their hostesses, Mrs. George Hurtlein, Mrs. R. C. Duffin and Mrs. C. D. Ward, who entertained at a dinner banquet at Respass' at seven o'clock.

The public dining hall was used and table space reserved before the open fire. As the guests entered they were greeted at the door by their hostesses, finding their places at the table by place cards.

The table was a scene of patriotism being decorated in the usual red, white and the blue, with bouquets of flags centered at different intervals.

Before the guests were seated, Mrs. Chester Walsh led in the singing of "God Bless America," after which orders were taken for the delicious dinner. While waiting for this to be served, Mrs. Walsh gave a very entertaining reading in the form of poetry, which gave the characteristics of each member.

The dinner, a three course one, consisted of frūit juice, either chicken or barbecue and cake.

Dr. J. D. Simons gave the prayer of thanks.

At the business hour the minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Duffin and old and new business attended to.

Dr. and Mrs. Simons, who are leaving soon were presented a going-away-gift of six lovely salt and pepper shakers with sterling tops.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Simons addressed the class with a short talk.

The social hour was enjoyed by the playing of games, Mrs. Herman Hardee being winner in bingo, and Mrs. W. L. Simons, mother of Dr. J. D. Simons, winning in a number contest.

The class adjourned after repeating the class benediction.

Those enjoying the evening were: Mrs. C. M. Jones, Mrs. Lawrence Tracy, Mrs. G. W. Jordan, Mrs. E. W. Hellen, Mrs. H. L. Andrews, Mrs. W. W. Lee, Mrs. Chester Walsh, Miss Pink Manning, Mrs. E. T. Sansbury, Mrs. Paul Hatem, Mrs. L. R. Bell, Mrs. J. H. Letchworth, Mrs. J. W. Paschall, Mrs. F. A. Bendall, Mrs. B. McK. Johnson, Mrs. Ruel Tyson, Mrs. Larry Averette, Mrs. H. R. Goodall, Mrs. D. G. Nichols, Mrs. R. B. Lee, Mrs. C. R. Flye, Mrs. Herman Hardee, Mrs. Milous Branch, Mrs. Cleve Hardee, Miss Allie Harden, and the hostesses.

Guests for the evening included Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Simons, and Mrs. W. L. Simons, of Colerain, mother of Dr. Simons, and Mrs. H. V. Hill of Kinston, mother of Mrs. Chester Walsh.

Grimesland P. T. A. Meets.

The P. T. A. of the Grimesland School met Tuesday night in the school auditorium, with an unusually large attendance of parents and teachers.

A number of interesting points of business were discussed and passed on, but the object of most interest was the association authorized the president to purchase $200 in type "G" war bonds, bringing the total of bonds bought and held by this association to $800, and pledged itself to our government to raise all money possible and purchase bonds as fast as funds accumulate.

After the business session a group of girls and boys presented a well-planned drama depicting "the lives of great leaders" who were born in February.

This being Founder's Day, J. L. Outlaw, president of the association, gave a brief history of the association, from its beginning in 1926. He brought out the fact that at the time of the beginning of the association we had a six-room building without any conveniences, water or heat. Today we have a 20-room building modernly equipped, with water and heat, Walter Reed home economics and agriculture departments, a well-filled library and one of the best equipped laboratories in our section.

We were very proud at this time to recognize Mr. J. J. Elks, our oldest member of the association also a member of the school board, who has served continuously in this capacity since the P. T. A. was organized, and has been a constant attendant and supporter of the P. T. A. as well as all phases of the school work.

After the program was completed the group was invited into the home economics department where a table was beautifully arranged with a birthday cake as a centerpiece. Mrs. T. P. Fleming, a former president, cut the cake.

Eighth St. Christian Church.

At the Eighth Street Christian Church on Sunday morning Dr. H. G. Haney will continue the series of messages on the fundamentals of the Christian faith, and the sermon Sunday morning will be "Tell Me About Myself—Who Am I?" In the Christian system there is a very definite position for the members of the human family, and it is a position quite different from that to be found in any of the other religious systems of the world. This message is the third in the series following the one on "Tell Me About God" and "Tell Me About Jesus—Whose Son is He?"

The annual church dinner will be held on next Thursday night at the church at 7 o'clock. Only 200 people can be seated and it is necessary for those who desire to attend to get their tickets before tomorrow in order to secure a seat. The rule is, first come, first served.

The annual church dinner of the Eighth Street Church is simultaneous with the program of the Disciples of Christ as a national brotherhood in the observance of the "Week of Compassion." During this week the Disciples wil raise the sum of $250,000 for war needs.

The young people will meet on Sunday evening at 6:30 and the program committee has asked Mrs. H. H. Settle to tell what other young people's societies are doing throughout the state.

The Eighth Street Church will cooperate with the other Christian people of the community on next Friday in the observance of the World Day of Prayer to be held at the Immnuel Baptist Church at 10:30 a. m.

The Woman's Council will meet on Monday at 3:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. B. B. Sugg on West Fifth street. Special speaker for the day will be Mrs. J. D. Simons.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Dr. S. M. Crisp took his camp committee over to Goldsboro Wednesday afternoon to see their cabins and compare ideas of camp. We are getting things all lined up for a jam-up camping season. Get your ducks in a row scouts and plan to attend Camp Hardee this summer. Camp opens June 30, running on a two-week period for eight weeks.

The regular monthly meeting of the Greenville Girl Scout Council met at the Girl Scout office, February 15, at 5 o'clock, with the following council members present: Mesdames T. M. Watson, A. B. Cosby, Spruill Spain, Cleve Hardee, O. R. Waters, R. B. Lee, H. L. Ormond, E. L. Henderson, J. E. Winslow, W. P. Moore, J. B. Kittrell, J. K. Proctor, Geo. Snyder, S. O. Worthington, J. T. Uzzle, Misses Cleo Rainwater, and Helen Gaskins.

Our commissioner, Mrs. E. L. Henderson, presided, calling the meeting to order and Mrs. J. E. Winslow read the minutes and they were approved. Mrs. W. P. Moore, treasurer, received the annual dues with splendid response. Each standing committee reported very favorably. It was decided to lend each troop leader a packet during her troop leadership consisting of a troop record book, leadership book, and scout handbook. Friendship and thinking day will be observed February 22 at 5:30 for five minutes by each scout in Greenville by lighting a candle and realizing what scouting has done and can do for us all. Our Juliette Low Memorial Fund will be collected between February 22 and March 15, when we will meet at Mrs. Herbert Waldrops for a tea for our Scouts. Our council was presented a Scout sign by Mrs. J. B. Kittrell which was greatly appreciated.

We adjourned to meet again next month on the third Tuesday, March 14 at 5 o'clock.

Leaders' Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Girl Scout Leaders' Club was held recently at the home of Mrs. J. K. Proctor. The following leaders and Scouters were in attendance: Mesdames T. I. Zimmerman, Paul Batchelor, T. M. Watson, J. K. Proctor, J. G. Riddick, L. B. Ward, J. M. Dasart, Withers Harvey, F. A. Bendall, J. B. Kittrell, E. L. Henderson, and J. T. Uzzle; Misses Ella Tucker Smith, Helen Finch and Miss Madelon Powers.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Paul Batchelor, who asked our secretary, Mrs. L. B. Ward to call the roll, each one answering with a scout law, then the minutes were read and approved. Fines were collected from late comers. An announcement was made pertaining to a trip to Workshop held in Raleigh, also Juliette Low Memorial Fund was explained, which is to be collected by March 15. Friendship month, February was stressed with thinking day to be observed February 22 at 5:30, for five minutes of thinking by a lighted candle.

Our president then introduced our speaker, Miss Madelon Powers of E. C. T. C., who showed us so many interesting trinkets, that were made from such simple things as pine cones, magnolia seed and rafia. She explained how they were made and their value for the individual scout. She agreed to meet with us again next month, and let each person bring some material and we will make one of these trinkets. Thus we will have at least one sample to take back to troop meetings for the Scouts. We were then served delightful refreshment by our hostess, Mrs. J. K. Proctor.

Pitt Insurance Exchange Meets

Pitt County Insurance Exchange held it regular monthly meeting Friday night at Respess Barbecue Stand at 7 p. m.

The meeting was presided over by president Phil L. Goodson.

Interesting remarks were given by Mark Lassiter, insurance man of Snow Hill, and visitor of this exchange.

Agencies represented at this meeting were Goodson and Flanagan, J. B. Oakley and Son, H. A. White and Sons, Ernest Willard Insurance Agency, Moseley Brothers, L. J. Smith, J. A. Mercer, J. M. Horton, Pitt Insurance Agency, Commercial Insurance Agency, General Insurance Agency, and J. S. Chapman.

Goodwill and fellowship prevailed throughout the meeting with much business of importance being transacted.

Kiwanis Meeting Held Last Night

At the Kiwanis Club meeting Friday evening at the Proctor hotel, Secretary Dave Moore told of a meeting last Sunday morning at breakfast with Past President Ezra C. Bell and President James W. Cullen of the Atlantic City, N. J., Kiwanis Club. These two Kiwanians had had motor difficulties in Elizabeth City and were advised to come on to Greenville to overcome their difficulties and spend a pleasant week-end.

The following were presented as guests: Mr. J. A. Collins, Jr., Mr. Ray MacKenzie and Mr. C. E. Blair.

The attendance prize was given by Rufus V. Keel and His Honor, Mayor B. B. Sugg stepped into the honor of winning it. Eli Bloom called for a meeting to last about 15 minutes immediately following next Friday's meeting of the club for the purpose of organizing the minstrel show. Last year's Kiwanis minstrel show was a huge success, but Eli has promised that this year's show will top it completely.

The program for the club was presented by the Underprivileged Child Committee of which Dr. S. M. Crisp is chairman and N. C. Brooks, Chas. R. Flye, H. H. Duncan and Fred M. Stokes, members. Dr. Crisp presented Mrs. J. G. Riddick, leader of Troop 8 of the Girl Scouts, and Mr. A. B. Stallworth and Heber B. Tripp of Troop 36, Boy Scouts. Mrs. Riddick had three members of her troop, Mary Ann Waldrop, Dorothy Tucker and Kitty Cosby give an interesting dialogue called, "A Glimpse of an Overheard Conversation." Boys from Troop 36, Sam Northrop, Charles Davis, Lewis Evans and Elvin Ray Jones were called upon by Mr. Stallworth and Mr. Tripp to tell of the requirements of the different grades of the Scouts.

The program was ably presented by the Boy and Girl Scouts and at its conclusion Dr. Crisp and Mr. Stallworth cited the need of young men as scout leaders and advised that in securing more scout leaders a step would be made in preventing what is called juvenile delinquency.

The club will meet next Friday at 6:30 at the Proctor hotel with the program in charge of the Business Standard's Club, N. C. Brooks, chairman.

A 7,500-ton tanker, upon being hit, was transformed within a matter of minutes to nothing more than a spot of burning oil on the water. An 8,000-ton tanker also was sunk.

The destroyer was eliminated early in the attack. Other ships wiped out included a 6,000-ton transport (the type of this vessel indicates it was carrying troops), three 1,500-ton cargo ships and a 500-ton freighter.

No loss among the attacking planes was reported.

One hundred and twenty miles east of Rabaul, American invasion forces on the newly-won Green Islands were attacked at night Wednesday and early Thursday by Japanese planes. In five passes, the raiders dropped 20 bombs but failed to inflict casualties.

northern France, but there was no report immediately of the number bagger over England. The last London raid Feb. 13 cost the Germans nine out of a force that was considerably smaller than that used last night.

Two waves of the raiders roared in from the northeast. A third quickly followed. Once over London, the Germans scattered and showered their cargoes over half a dozen districts.

The sky was alight with flares and searchlights.

A group of American soldiers who watched the raid, which lasted approximately an hour, said it was "the most terrifying spectacle we ever saw. We don't see how those German pilots up there could stand that barrage."

Pajama-clad American soldiers used sandbags to smother incendiaries which showered the neighborhood of an American Red Cross club.

Even before that, pulverizing preparatory attacks were delivered by carrier planes and "heavy ships of the Pacific fleet."

Rear Adm. Richmond K. Turner, who directed the quick-breaking campaign for Kwajalein, commanded all forces at Eniwetok. Rear Adm. H. W. Hill was in charge of amphibious operations and Brig. Gen. T. E. Watson, USMC, of the assault troops.

Portentious implications were to be found in the gathering Pacific offensive which extends for more than 3,700 miles from Paramushiro, shelled Feb. 4 by American warships ranging into the Kuriles north of Tokyo; down to the fortress of Rabaul, pounded daily by Solomons bombers.

(Tokyo radio spoke of "fierce fighting" at Truk; said the attack was part of "persistent activities aiming at Tokyo on our Japanese mainland;" and made an unprecedented exhortation for production of more warships.)

Phantoms Lose To The Marines

Taking to the hardwood for the last scheduled game of the season the G. H. S. Phantoms suffered a 43-27 defeat last night by the Marine officers' five from the local airport. The game, from the opening minutes to the final whistle, was fast and rough as the Greenies attempted to stop the flyers' powerful offensive. The Marines took the lead in the first quarter and held it unmolested by the Phantoms' scores, who could account for a little over one goal to the Marines' two. The two teams were after the ball and each player did all in his power to keep his opponent from scoring as is indicated by the 10 personal fouls committed by Phantom players and 11personal fouls committed by the Marines.

In the closing minutes of the third quarter and in the beginning of the final period the Greenies began to rally and closed the gap between their score and the officers' lead but their attempt to gain the lead was futile as the Marines also began to rally and piled point after point on their already large margin.

Jimmie Futtrell and Amos Leggett led the Phantom scoring with nine points and seven points respectively while the Greenies' floor play and ball handling were sparked by Billy Harrington and Neill Posey.

High scorer for the Marines was Roe with 16 points followed by Holloway with seven markers and Aiken with six.

In the preliminary tilt the Baby Phantoms topped the Winterville high school team 24-17. Ed Williams, Henry Turner and Sherod White were the high scorers for the local junior team with six points each. The Winterville squad was led by Moye with five points and Ennis with four.

Stokes Cagers Defeat Bethel

Both boys' and Girls' teams of Stokes High School were victorious over Bethel High School in basketball games played on the Bethel court. The boys' game ended 30 to 28 in favor of Stokes while the girls' score was 38 to 16 in favor of Stokes.

The boys' contest was a thrilling one in which Stokes came from behind in the last half to win by a single field goal. At the half the score was 26 to 12 in favor of Bethel but the Stokesites piled up 18 points in the second half against two for Bethel. J. P. Moss was high scorer for Stokes with 16 points, with Ed Warren and Tripp as runners-up and C. Warren (forward) and Corey (guard) giving a good account of themselves. Hight Weeks was high scorer for Bethel. Thursday night's victories were the fourth straight wins for both the boys' and girls' teams from Stokes. W. C. Latham is coach for the boys while Miss Bess Gilliam is coaching the girls.

Field Marshal Albert Kesselring was counterattacking with units drawn from all over Europe, throwing in the full weight of his force without regard to costs.

At least four divisions, including the third armored Grenadiers, were trying to smash straight through to Anzio, Allied nerve center on the beachhead, while other units brought pressure all along the perimeter.

Withering Fifth army fire took a heavy toll of the attackers, which also included the 114th and 750th motorized divisions and 65th German infantry. Allied warships and planes aided the defense.

On the Cassino front, Fifth army forces augmented by the New Zealanders and Indian troops drawn from the Eighth army front, captured a hill with strongly defended crests west of Mt. Cassino.

Other Allied troops attacked across the Rapido river south of Cassino itself, and advanced elements were reported to have reached the railway station, about a mile from the center of town.

The French repulsed an enemy patrol in the northern part of this front, and American troops drove back another patrol southwest of Mt. Castellone. The Germans attacked at points along this front, but suffered heavy losses and failed to gain.

(A dispatch from Lynn Heinzerling, Associated Press correspondent, said Allied troops had entered the Cassino station, but did not say whether they held on).

Although weather held the Allies to only 300 sorties during Friday, the Allied planes struck at the Germans in the Carroceto and Sezze areas of the beachhead. The Germans put 100 flights into this battle. Three Germans planes were destroyed to the loss of one Allied plane.

A navy bulletin said U. S. torpedo boats intercepted enemy destroyers or mineboats north of Sapria island, northeast of Corsica, but results of the attacks were not observed.

Vichy Says Rome Bombed Last Night

London, Feb. 19. — (AP) — The Vichy radio said today that Rome was bombed heavily again last night.

The Allies have been striking almost nightly at railway objectives in the Rome area in an effort to interrup German supplies flowing toward the Anzio bridgehead battle.

rov's forces yesterday, the Moscow bulletin said.

Russian troops in the Ukraine, meanwhile, completed mopping-up isolated detachments of Nazis in the Cherkasy sector around Korsun and Shanderovka, where the remnants of 10 Nazi divisions were liquidated after a 14-day battle which Moscow claimed cost the Germans nearly 74,000 killed and 11,000 prisoners.

Berlin broadcasts said last night the Russian Ukrainian armies had launched a new attack in the Dnieper bend, presumably against the iron city of Krivoi Rog, and that the Nazi lines had been breached. Moscow made no mention of this.

Berlin commentators also said the Soviets were attacking around Nikova, in northern Estonia, but the Russian communique likewise failed to mention developments in this area.
