Churchill Predicts Heavier Air Assault On Germany

Says Bombings Will Be Far Beyond Anything Yet "Employed or Indeed Imagined"; Americans And British To Participate Equally In Invasion; Allies United.

By JAMES M. LONG

London, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the world today that Allied bombing far beyond anything yet "employed or indeed imagined" would strike Germany in every corner in prelude to the final smashing by American and British invasion armies of "approximately equal" power.

The three great allies still stand "absolutely united" and "none of the ground made good at Moscow or Teheran" has been lost despite disquieting articles in the Soviet press, the British war leader asserted in a confident but cautious war review in Commons.

The Allies stand united on war planes which make certain a victory that "may not be so far away," he declared.

Churchill said he could neither guarantee that the war would finish in Europe this year, or extend into 1945, and declared Hitler still is in "full control" in Germany, with 300 divisions in his army.

Half a million Nazis are fighting in Italy, and "Hitler evidently has decided to defend Rome with the same obstinacy as Stalingrad." But Allied leaders are confident of success, and reinforcements are pouring in from Africa.

Other main highlights of Churchill's first war review since the Teheran and Cairo conferences:

Air offensive: "The U. S. bomber force in Britain now begins to surpass our own and soon will be substantially greater still." This air campaign against Germany—the foundation for invasion and "our chief offensive effort at present"—will reach a scale "far beyond the dimensions of anything which yet has been employed or indeed imagined," with long-range bombers hitting Germany from Italy as well as Britain.

Retaliation: "The Germans are preparing on the French shore new means of attack on this country, either by pilot-less aircraft or possibly rockets, or both, on considerable scale," but vigilant Allied air commands are "striking at all evidences of these preparations."

Invasion: While the British and American forces will be relatively equal at the outset, if this battle is prolonged "the continuous flow of Americans would make their force the greater."

Italy: "The forces in the bridgehead are well matched, but we are definitely stronger in artillery and armor" and air power. The fact there are "something like half a million Germans now in Italy" is an unwelcome to the Allies, giving the opportunity to fight the Nazis. "We have sufficient forces at our disposal in Africa to nourish the struggle as fast as they can be transported across the Mediterranean."

Japan: The air power of Japan is also being overmatched and worn down, and Japan's production is "incomparably small compared with" (Continued on Page Two)

CHERRY TALKS TO ROTARIANS

Says Retention Of Local Government Essential

By CHESTER WALSH

"If we are to maintain our democratic way of life there should be a re-statement and revival of local government," R. Gregg Cherry of Gastonia, state legislator, World War veteran and present candidate for governor, declared at the weekly supper session of the Greenville Rotary Club last night to an audience of nearly 100, including representatives from every section of Pitt county.

"The local government spirit of the pioneers of this great country contributed much to the union of the states. Local people should be heard and feel that they are an essential part of this government and there should be a happy medium for the regulation of big and little business and big and little people.

"When the boys in the armed forces come back home it's going to be a great day for North Carolina when we join hands to keep this country the greatest in the world. They will be different—they will view life from a broader horizon; they will have new ideas—they will have learned the lesson of life from the horrors of war and will keep the faith in maintaining the peaceful pursuits of life," Cherry said.

The Gastonia legislator made a "summary review" of the state government since the turn of the century when the annual budget was about $3,500,000 and grew to $80,000,000 at present. Budget expansion resulted from the demands of the people for increased government service. He commented on the tax consciousness of the people, but admitted that they know little of the structure of the government—how it works. He said the vast increase in income taxes to $33,000,000 last year will dwindle after the war, when individual and group incomes are "striking at all evidences of these preparations."

Defer Action On Labor Draft Bill

By JACK BELL

Washington, Feb. 22.—(AP)—National service legislation was marked today for a presidential campaign until they will have to defend themselves in home waters. It probably means also that they no longer will risk basing a large fleet on Truk, since our recent advance into the Marshall Islands will enable us to raid the base by sea or by air more or less at will.

This Truk, which has seen the hub of Japan's Pacific defensive and offensive set-up, is on the road to being rendered impotent. Actual Truk's value as a major base has decreased immensely as we have taken over one after another of the smaller island bases in the eastern and southern rim of the wheel of which Truk is the hub. Truk has been not only a stronghold but the huge supply and repair center for the outlying island defenses.

Despite all this it would be a mistake to assume that Truk's value already has been nullified. It still remains the main barrier to our progress towards the Philippines and Japan. So long as it operates it will provide support for numerous other island bases like Wake, Ponape, Guam, Bonin and Marcus. However, Admiral Nimitz reports that we have captured Eniwetok Island in the Marshall group, which means we are getting ahead nicely without conquering the entire atoll. This will give us valuable air base from which to strike at other islands. As we move forward to fresh footholds, the Jap island structures will collapse. Truk either will be in our hands or will be impotent so that we can go past it.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The mysterious whereabouts of the Japanese fleet which formerly anchored within the shelter of Truk is bringing many inquiries from readers.

There have been numerous occasions during the war when a large Jap fleet was reported to be at Truk. This great base, which is one of the strongest ever developed, could shelter the Mikado's entire navy. However, the exigencies of global conflict have compelled the Japanese to keep their main strength in home waters while Truk has been used as the chief station for the central and south Pacific operations.

The American force which carried out the raid on Truk last week was disappointed that it didn't find more warships in the anchorage. On February 4 two U. S. planes took pictures of Truk. Captain James G. Yawn, of Bogue, Chitto, Miss., a member of one of the crews, reported that he had counted 25 warships at one spot, adding:

"It looked like the whole Jap fleet was down there, and I saw only a part of one of the anchorages."

"The whole Jap fleet" wasn't there when we attacked in force a fortnight later. The answer may be that the Japs, who saw the photo planes at work and turned anti-aircraft guns on them, took the appearance of the photographers as presaging a major attack and moved the greater portion of the Truk fleet to safe waters.

This would tend to substantiate the idea that the Japs will try to avoid a battle with our Pacific fleet.

Current sentiment within the committee apparently is about three to one against the proposal.

Ventura search planes of Fleet Air Wing Four dropped more than five tons of bombs on Paramushiro and Shumushu islands the night of February 19, Nimitz said. The planes located and burned anti-aircraft fire, but all returned. It was the fourth air or sea attack of the year on Paramushiro, where the Japanese have a navy base. To Our Subscribers

The critical newspaper shortage has caused the extension of rationing to many smaller newspapers not heretofore affected, and as a result of this new restriction The Reflector has been allowed to purchase during this year only 75 per cent of the tonnage of newspaper used during 1941. The ruling also provides that regardless of percentages, a newspaper can purchase only the amount of newspaper necessary to serve its actual paid subscribers. In view of this ruling it is necessary that we conserve every pound of paper in order to take care of our subscribers. In order to do this the following steps are necessary:

1. Hereafter we will be unable to give you any free copies over the counter to our friends or subscribers who drop into our office in the afternoon to get a paper to read before our regular deliveries are made.

2. It is necessary that every subscriber on our list be paid in advance by March 1 in order to remain on the list.

3. We will hold our number of pages each day down to a minimum in the hope that by so doing we might save enough on our allotted tonnage to take care of all subscribers without having to freeze our circulation.

We earnestly request our subscribers to cooperate with us in meeting the above conditions by paying their subscriptions on a PAID-IN-ADVANCE basis at once. The expiration date appears on the mailing label of each of our mail subscribers so a check of that label now will inform you whether or not you are paid beyond March 1. Except to persons in hospitals or regular subscribers who are away from the city for a brief period and desire to receive the paper during their absence, no mail subscription will be accepted for shorter than three months paid-in-advance. Card notices are being mailed to all our city subscribers whose subscriptions have expired or are about to expire, because we insist that all expired subscriptions be paid up before March 1. After that date, without further notice, all unpaid subscriptions will be dropped and no further subscriptions will be accepted for delivery by carrier in the city except on a weekly basis purchased direct from the carrier and these will be subject to our ability to furnish after the needs of our regular PAID-IN-ADVANCE subscribers have been supplied.

We also have on our mailing lists many service men whose papers are being sent by parents, relatives or friends. While we are reluctant to stop the paper that is going to any man in the armed forces, because we realize that the paper is like a letter from home, we must drop all expired ones from the list unless immediate settlement is made. In some instances we do not have the name of the sender of these papers, so if you have entered a subscription for a serviceman and the time has expired, we urge you to renew it at once if you want the paper to continue. In papers being sent to men in the foreign service there is a certain amount of delay in replacing same on our lists because official permission must be granted for each individual and it is for this reason that we have permitted these papers to continue pending settlement for renewal.

The above steps are absolutely essential at this time if we are to continue to render the best possible service to our subscribers under the restrictions made necessary as a wartime measure, and unless you cooperate with us in the matter we will be unable to send you a paper after March 1.

MORE SUCCESS IN THE PACIFIC

Eniwetok Island Taken; Jap Home Islands Bombed

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Capture of Eniwetok Island by United States army troops fighting in the Marshall Islands, and the bombing of Paramushiro and Shumushu Islands at the northern end of Japan, kept the Japanese aware today that the American offensive in the Pacific was rolling along.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported last night that Eniwetok island, in the atoll of the name at the western edge of the Marshalls, had been taken and that Parry Island, another segment of the atoll, had been under heavy attack by American air and surface forces.

The marines already had captured Engebi island in the atoll, and with the taking of Eniwetok despite stubborn resistance and the expected capture of Parry, the strategic atoll will be completely in American hands.

Ninety-Two Jap Vessels Sunk Past Three Weeks

Secretary Knox Warns Against Over-Optimism As A Result Of Recent Successes In The Pacific

Washington, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox reported today that the Japanese navy had sunk 92 vessels in the last three weeks, but warned "there is nothing to justify any estimates of an early end of the war in the Pacific."

"Nothing is gained by foolish optimism in a war of this kind," he said at a news conference.

In the three weeks during which American submarines, airplanes and surface craft destroyed 92 Japanese vessels, he said our losses were two submarines. The enemy ships sunk, he said, included two light cruisers, four destroyers, one seaplane tender and seven other combat vessels.

The other Japanese ship losses were seven fleet tankers, three transports, 53 cargo ships and 15 miscellaneous vessels. In addition, Knox said, one light cruiser probably was sunk and eight non-combatant vessels probably were sent down.

In cautioning against undue optimism, he said that Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, has indicated that he favors attacks on the Chinese coast. Knox remarked in that connection that the Japanese navy has suffered very little thus far and is "big, well-equipped and fanatical."

"We are learning in Italy," he said, "that beachheads are no joke and in China they may prove pretty costly."

Knox compared the Japanese strategy thus far with that in the last great war fought by Japan in which the Japanese were victorious over Russia. In that war, he said, the fighting began with a Japanese sneak attack on Port Arthur which he compared with the December 7, 1941, raid on Pearl Harbor. The Japanese waited, he said, until the Russian fleet had extended itself and was far from its bases, then launched an all-out attack which in that war was successful.

Asked if there was any possibility of the American fleet's being extended too far and possibly meeting the same fate as the Russian fleet, he replied: "It will not."

Forrestal, just back from a tour of Pacific bases and observation of the American attack on Kwajalein in the Marshall Islands, joined in the warning against any letdown in production.

Forrestal described the Pacific war as providing distances rather than the enemy as the principal problem and said that the big job now is logistics.

Asked if there was any good as your reach," he added: "If you can't reach the enemy you'll just swing at air."

Said Secretary Morgenthau: "It will be the policy of the United States treasury not to buy any gold presently located outside of the territorial limits of the United States from any country which has not broken relations with the Axis, or from any country which after the date of this announcement acquires gold from any country which has not broken relations with the Axis, unless and until the United States treasury is fully satisfied that such gold is not gold which was acquired directly or indirectly from the Axis powers or is not gold which any such country has been or is enabled to release as a result of the acquisition of gold directly or indirectly from the Axis powers."

Luxford explained that while Germany was winning on all fronts, gold transfers were not a vital factor because Germany could obtain the title which purchasers of

Allies Clamp Ban On Gold With Axis Taint

Washington, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The Allies tossed a new economic noose around the necks of Germany, Japan and their satellites today, declaring that they would not hereafter accept Axis-tainted gold from neutral countries.

The U. S. treasury, acting in concert with England and Russia, announced it would refuse to take such gold from any nation and Treasury Secretary Morgenthau stated the United States government would refuse to recognize sales of any gold looted by the Axis.

Berlin in particular has been using gold resources to keep foreign supply sources open, and it was asserted at the treasury increasing amounts of so-called "German gold" has recently been finding its way into neutral gold markets, primarily in Turkey, Switzerland, Spain and Portugal.

Ansel F. Luxford, assistant general counsel of the treasury, said today's announcement "is for the purpose of letting the world know that the title which purchasers of

Krivoi Rog Now In Russian Hands

Fall Of Iron Ore City Greatest Loss Of Winter Campaign to Nazi War Machine

By TOM YARBROUGH
London, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Krivoi Rog, great iron ore center in the Dnieper bend, fell today to the Red army.

Marshal Stalin announced its capture tonight shortly after the Berlin radio had broadcast an announcement that the Nazis had evacuated the city.

DNB, German news agency, said the German troops moved out at noon yesterday after destroying military installations in the town.

Previously the German communiqué announced heavy house-to-house fighting was going on in Krivoi Rog.

The fall of the city, following on the Germans' loss of the manganese center of Nikopol, was one of the hardest industrial setbacks to the German war machine suffered in the Russian winter offensive.

On the northern end of the front, the Russian war bulletin said, Soviet forces captured the big German base of Kholm, midway between Lake Ilmen and Novosokolniki, and a number of other points, including the town of Podorye, district center of the Kalinin region 25 miles northwest of Kholm.

West of Lake Ilmen other Red army forces were driving on Pskov, German communications base, from three directions. These forces were credited officially with capturing 112 towns and villages in yesterday's advance.

North of Pskov Soviet troops last were reported with 25 miles of the city, but today's communiqué did not mention the progress of those units. German broadcasts reported by the Associated Press in London acknowledged a Nazi retreat in the north to shorten German lines.

A special Soviet announcement, summarizing results of the Red army's northern offensive last month said that the Russians had cleared (Continued on Page Four)

ECTC BOARD TO STUDY REPORT

Governor Calls Meeting Of Trustees For March 10

Raleigh, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Dr. Clyde A. Erwin, chairman of the board of trustees of East Carolina Teachers College at Greenville, has been asked to call a special meeting of the board here March 10 to study a special audit of the school's funds.

The request was made yesterday by Governor J. M. Broughton, who said the audit was ordered when auditors making the annual report for the college "brought to my attention the fact that certain special and student funds had been handled in such a manner as to make it difficult to complete any satisfactory audit of such funds without further study and investigation."

The questioned transactions, according to the Governor, do not involve any State funds but do involve "student and other special funds arising in connection with the operation of the institution."

The Governor pointed out that prior to the meeting of the board, the president of ECTC, Dr. Leon H. Meadows, and other officials of the college whose transactions may be referred to in the audit, will have full opportunity to examine the audit record and to be heard before the board at the March 10 meeting. The complete audit will be made public after it is considered by the board, the Governor said.

The Governor said yesterday that a native of Los Angeles stationed at Mazatlan's famed annual carnival yesterday when a tall, masked assassin killed the governor of Sinaloa state with a bullet through the neck and escaped amid a wild hail of pistol shots.

TAX BILL VETO GOES TO HOUSE

President Calls Bill A "Relief Measure For The Greedy"

(By The Associated Press)
Washington, Feb. 22.—President Roosevelt vetoed the new tax bill today, calling it "wholly ineffective" and a measure "not for the needy but for the greedy," and Congress promptly reacted with threats—by both Democrats and Republicans—to override the veto.

Chairman Doughton (N.C.) of the tax-framing House Ways and Means Committee and Chairman George (Ga.) of the Senate Finance Committee led Democratic denunciations of the veto.

"I couldn't maintain my self-respect if I didn't vote to override the veto," said the 80-year-old Doughton. "I'm agin' the veto measure."

Senator George told reporters he never had seen a veto of important legislation "based on such inadequate and unconvincing grounds."

"The only thing I can get out of all this," he said, "is that the President is trying to raise an issue; the executive versus Congress."

Rep. Madden (D-Ind.) upholding Mr. Roosevelt declared the Republicans were "inflationary" and that they overlooked the fact that the President "has a constitutional duty of approving or vetoing bills passed."

The veto was read first in the House since the measure originated there. The House will vote Thursday on whether to pass it over the veto.

In his veto message, Mr. Roosevelt said the legislation was "replete with provisions which not only afford indefensible special privileges to favored groups but set dangerous precedents for the future."

He said this tendency in itself was sufficiently dangerous to counter the loss of "a very inadequate sum" in additional revenue. He calculated that the bill would enrich the treasury by less than $1,000,000,000 net a year.

The President, recognizing widespread complaints over the complexity of income tax forms, took occasion to lay the blame on Congress.

He said it was squarely the fault (Continued on Page Two)

Wife Of Indian Leader Is Dead

Today On The Home Front

JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

(Editor's Note: This is the second of six daily columns designed to answer your income tax questions.)

Washington, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Deductions have a double-barreled significance in your federal income tax.

In any case, they cut down the amount of tax; in some cases, to get the most benefit, they also may determine which blank you should use, the long or short form.

So before tacking any blank, you'll want to set down on paper some of the things you'll be able to deduct.

The first thing to consider is an item called "deductible expenses."

These are "necessary" expenses in connection with earning your living.

You may list the cost of tools if you had to buy them in union dues, including the initiation fee if you joined a union last year in order to get or keep your job, and even the cost of subscription to your union paper; also any fee paid to an employment agency.

Traveling expenses in connection with your job—transportation, meals, hotels—may be included. But if you get a travel allowance or expense account, the amounts must be included in your income. Also, you can't claim the cost of bus or street car fare or gasoline used in going to and from work.

Cost of uniforms is deductible only if (1) they are specifically required, and (2) they don't take the place of ordinary clothing you'd be buying anyway. There are rulings that you can't deduct cost of uniforms of nurses, railway trainmen, barbers, surgeons or military and naval uniforms.

You can't deduct the cost of traveling to take care of the kids while you're at work.

For all deductible expenses, you must attach an itemized statement to your return.

Under separate headings, you'll want to list:

1. Contributions to church, charity, scientific and educational organizations.

2. Interest payments on a mortgage, loan or installment purchase contract. Remember that payments sometimes include insurance or carrying charges, which can't be deducted. If you're buying a home, the payments include real estate taxes; the tax payments must be listed separately under:

3. Taxes paid. Here you list property taxes, state income tax (but you can't list federal income or social security taxes), federal taxes on movie and other admission tickets on transportation fares, on telephone and telegraph bills.

Since the general rule is that tax is deductible if paid directly by the consumer and not the dealer, you can deduct most state sales and gasoline taxes. But you can't deduct the federal gasoline tax or taxes on such items as cigars, liquor, amusements, jewelry and furs.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL E. DOUGLAS

TWO HUNDRED TWELVE YEARS AGO TODAY

After the death of his first wife, Augustine Washington married Mary Ball and the first of their family of six children, George, was born on February 11, 1732. When a few years later, the calendar was changed in order to make up for seven days which had been lost in the passing centuries, George Washington's birthday was changed to February 22.

There was nothing precocious about the young George. He was only a fair student. He loved the outdoors, rode well, mixed with all classes of people. But contrary to modern opinion, he early fell into ill health, and although he grew very strong of body, his ill health continued throughout his life. His only relief being during the active years of service in the Revolutionary War period.

George was a typical adolescent. He fell quickly into love and as quickly out of it. He was at first a vain and headstrong youngster. Later, he became the most humble of men. Augustine Washington died before George had attained much age, and his life from that time forward was molded not, as many have believed, by his mother, but by his half-brother Lawrence from whom he inherited Mount Vernon.

Before many years had passed, Washington had two outstanding factors in his life which made him one of the greatest human beings that ever walked the earth. First, he had unusually good judgment. His failures occurred when, in a spirit of profound self-distrust, he turned from the promptings of his own mind and followed the advice of others. His other factor of success was his almost perfect moral character. Any attempt to "dumb" Washington is a piece of sordid nonsense. He had his faults, but few humans have ever had so many virtues.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—The American Automobile Association, with the cooperation of the Office of Defense Transportation, has just completed a survey of the automobile and gasoline situation at the end of the second year of war. Some of the facts are a little staggering.

Although all motorists are making "em do and wearing 'em out" more than 2,000,000 cars have gone into the junk pile and another million have gone into storage. Where we had 28,000,000 cars in the hands of private owners, trucks, buses, etc., aren't included, but the decline there has been proportionate. We now have around 24,500,000.

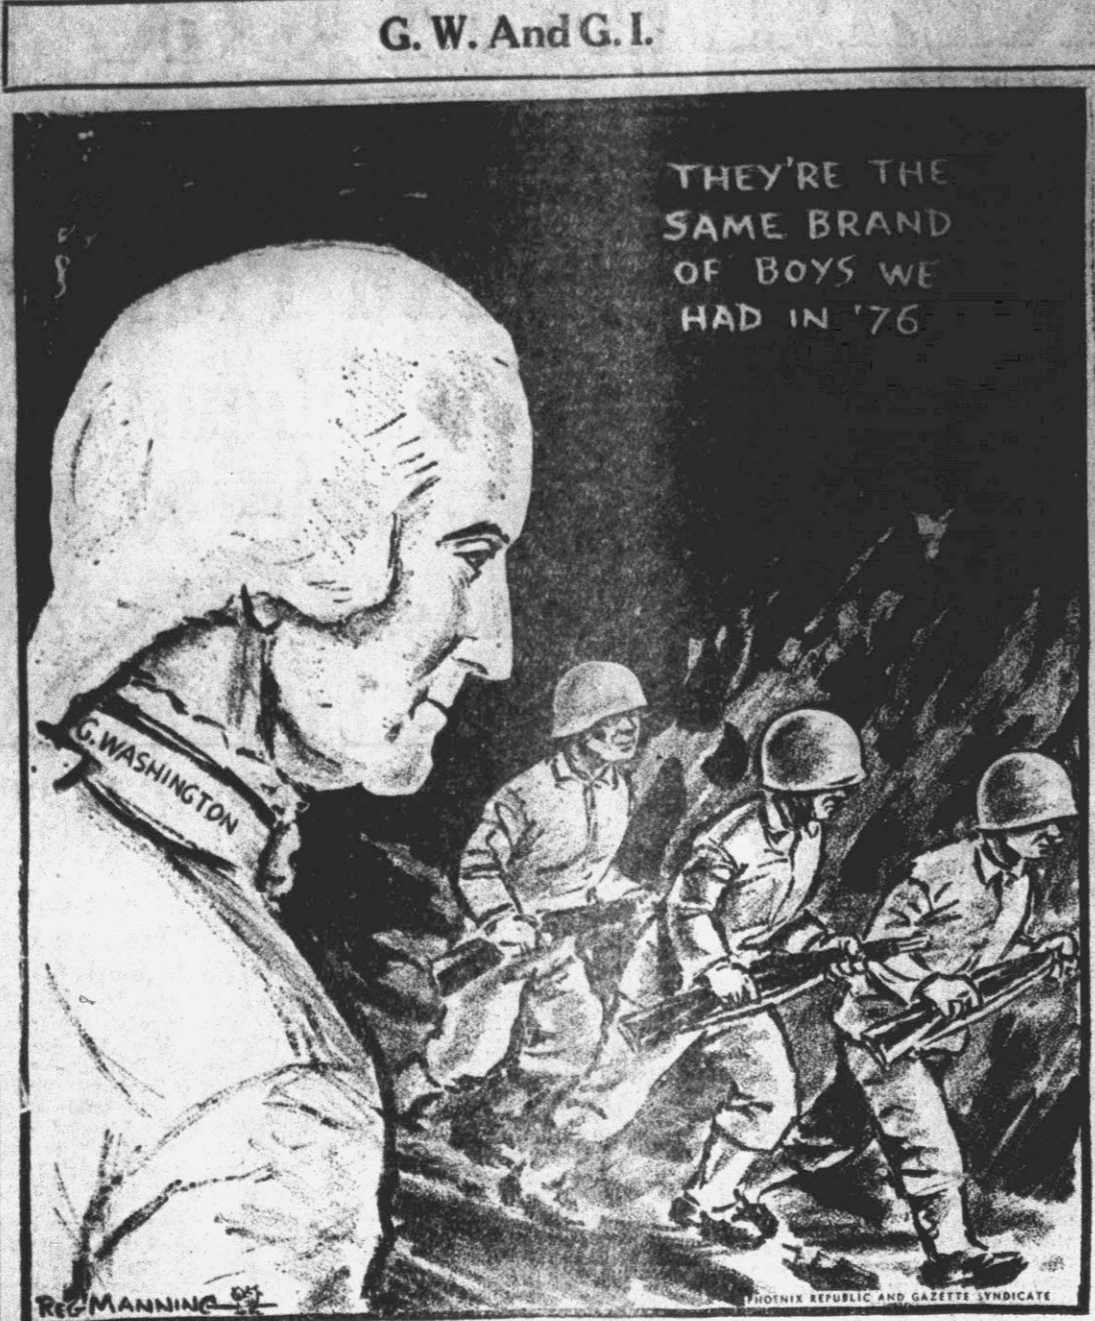

Charles L. Dearing, director of ODT's division of review and special studies, thinks however, that private owners, through car pools, mileage budgeting and careful upkeep, have done a grand job of maintaining a "personalized transportation system" that has contributed much to the war effort.

But at what a cost. In the western gasoline-restricted states, the per mile cost of car operation has risen from approximately six cents a mile to 12 cents. That's just the average. The cost to "A" card holders has risen to the amazing sum of 34 cents a mile.

In the central states, the cost has risen from only six cents to 8 cents. In the eastern states, the average annual mileage of motorists was just under 10,000 miles a year; now the average has dropped to 3,900 miles. In the central states, the average is 5,700 now in the Pacific coast area 6,200.

The fact that there are certain fixed costs on any automobile—depreciation, insurance, upkeep, etc.—has upped the per mile cost. The rest is explained in increases in the cost of gasoline, oil, servicing and repair.

The thing about this breakdown is that in most cities holders of restricted "A" cards can save considerable money by using public transportation and even a small amount by using taxis. Many persons have already discovered this—hence the great burden on public transportation and the taxi companies. When the war costs of driving really begin to sink in, these burdens will increase. The United States now is really paying a price for being a nation on wheels.

As to the immediate future, there is no promise of any great relief. There will be no increase in automobile production for the duration. The gasoline situation may improve eventually but not soon.

There isn't any near prospect in relief on repair parts or the manpower to install them. With an estimated need for 30,000,000 synthetic rubber tires this year, we are going to get only about 18 to 24 million.

It was announced that three British fighters were missing from RAF night operations in which Mosquito bombers assaulted targets in western Germany, attacked two enemy E-boats in the channel and laid mines in enemy waters.

A German raid on England last night barely disturbed London, only a handful of Nazi planes crossed the channel, dropping a few bombs in southern England. "Little damage and a small number of casualties were reported," an official announcement said.

The U. S. air attacks on Germany yesterday carried to new heights an Allied offensive against the Reich in which approximately 5,000 planes have dropped nearly 8,000 tons of bombs in less than two days.

The assaults were carried out with a loss of 15 U. S. bombers—estimated at roughly one and one-half per cent of the force dispatched. Five fighters also failed to return.

The raids, in swift follow-up to the 2,200-ton RAF assault on Stuttgart Sunday night, crushed the two aircraft component targets at Brunswick which had been damaged severely by the gigantic U. S. armada Sunday. In addition, targets in Hannover and several large aircraft parks and other targets near the Netherlands border also were attacked.

Among the airdromes hit were those at Bramsche, 75 miles south of Wilhelmshaven; Lingen, 60 miles south of Emden; Vechte; Quakenbruck, 50 miles north of Bramsche; Dipeholz, 35 miles southwest of Bremen, and Ahhorn, 45 miles south of Wilhelmshaven.

Meanwhile, Maj. Gen. Frederick L. Anderson, deputy in charge of the U. S. strategic bombing in Britain, asserted that Leipzig factories producing 38 per cent of Germany's single-engine fighter planes were knocked out by Sunday's record raid.

Anderson added that the Brunswick plant, producing 30 per cent of the Nazis' twin-engine fighters, likewise was knocked out and that restoration of the factories at Brunswick—without counting yesterday's devastating blows—had been set back "an additional three or four months."

Cherry Talks . . .

(Continued From Page One) comes rube, and other taxes will drop in like manner. The speaker said he agrees with those who say we are not supporting the schools as much as we high taxes and high prices teach say we are not school-minded. With high taxes and high prices teachers have little left from their salaries because they are sorely underpaid.

Discussing the state's huge surplus, Cherry declared it wise procedure to be ready to pay off the bonded indebtedness when it comes due. We can pay off the entire general fund's bonded indebtedness and be a debt-free state. This will save the taxpayers $3,800,000 annually in interest. For this reason we should closely scrutinize all demands for expansion and spending the surplus and spend from this fund only for a real necessity, he said.

In concluding Mr. Cherry felicitated the Pitt county people for their unselfish wartime service and pledged his faithful cooperation in those things which will make North Carolina greater.

A fine spirit of fellowship prevailed at the meeting. Rotarian Sam White had charge of the program. District Highway Commissioner John G. Clark introduced Mr. Cherry as a fellow student of the late Rev. George W. Perry of Greenville at Old Trinity and as the Gaston county soldier in the World War

Coordinated Air . . .

It was announced that three British fighters were missing from RAF night operations in which Mosquito bombers assaulted targets in western Germany, attacked two enemy E-boats in the channel and laid mines in enemy waters.

A German raid on England last night barely disturbed London, only a handful of Nazi planes crossed the channel, dropping a few bombs in southern England. "Little damage and a small number of casualties were reported," an official announcement said.

The U. S. air attacks on Germany yesterday carried to new heights an Allied offensive against the Reich in which approximately 5,000 planes have dropped nearly 8,000 tons of bombs in less than two days.

The assaults were carried out with a loss of 15 U. S. bombers—estimated at roughly one and one-half per cent of the force dispatched. Five fighters also failed to return.

The raids, in swift follow-up to the 2,200-ton RAF assault on Stuttgart Sunday night, crushed the two aircraft component targets at Brunswick which had been damaged severely by the gigantic U. A. A. U. W. Meets. That education and religion must be called on as the two chief means of establishing better relations between the races was the conclusion presented by Father Maurice of St. Gabriel's Catholic Church in his speech on inter-racial relations at the A. A. U. W. meeting at the college last night.

In her introduction of the speaker, the program chairman, Miss Laura Rose of the ECTC history department, pointed out the place of Father Maurice's topic in the year's series of programs on community problems.

At a short business meeting following the program, Dr. Lucille Turner, fellowship chairman, told of some of the war work being done by women whose earlier studies had been made possible by A. A. U. W. fellowships. It was voted to make individual contributions this year to fellowship work, and supplement those from the treasury, if necessary, to be able to contribute $25 to the national fund.

Father Maurice said in his speech to the group that world problems are, after all, only accumulations of little problems, and that one of those of world-wide scope, the problem of relations between races, is also a serious local problem.

We must not overlook the fact, he said, that we are a problem to the colored person, just as he is a problem to us; yet improved social conditions are possible. A discussion period followed the talk. Mrs. J. E. Winslow, president, presided at the meeting.

Garden Club Meets.

Mrs. James L. Fleming was hostess to the Greenville Garden Club at her home on Greene street Friday afternoon, Feb. 18. Mrs. S. M. Crisp, president, called the meeting to order.

The treasurer, Mrs. E. C. Hollar, made an encouraging report, stating that most of the members had paid their dues.

Mrs. Key Brown reported for her committee on the planting and rearrangement of shrubs around the Sheppard Memorial Library. This work has been started and will be completed as labor becomes available.

Mrs. R. M. Garrett introduced Miss Holtzclaw of East Carolina Teachers' College, who spoke on "The Second Victory Garden." Miss Holtzclaw, from her experience as a gardener, gave the club members many helpful and practical suggestions as to preparing the soil, fertilizing and planting a victory garden.

The slogan for this year, she stated, is "A Garden for Every Family—Eat All You Can— and Can the Rest."

In closing, Miss Holtzclaw said "There are 50 common vegetables. You should plant 20 of them." Do not let the failures of the past year discourage you. With faith and optimism we must begin again and learn by our experiences.

Keep in mind that food is the imperative need of the entire world—cooperate in every way to meet this need.

There were arrangements of spring flowers in the drawing room, dining room and hall. Mrs. Fleming and her co-hostesses, Mrs. M. L. Wright and Mrs. Martin Swartz, invited the club members and guests into the dining room, where delicious refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Bellarthur Club Meets.

The most enthusiastic meeting of Bellarthur Home Demonstration Club since was organized in October was held on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. R. E. Willoughby, president, presided. Twelve old members answered to the roll call. The following joined the club at this meeting: Mesdames W. M. Erwin, Roy Nichols, Richard Nichols, Bert Nichols, Earl Hemby, Blanche Allen, Jack Smith, Lizzie Willoughby and Lewis Willoughby. With nine new members in February, the total enrollment is now twenty-eight.

During the business session the club voted to sponsor a library station of the Sheppard Memorial Library in the Bellarthur community and also to work with the P. T. A. on a recreational night once each month for the young people of the community. The first of these recreational programs was held Thursday night.

Mrs. Robert McArthur, Garden leader, assisted by Miss Joyner, gave a most helpful garden demonstration.

The hostesses, Mrs. O. L. Erwin and Mrs. Archie Jones, served cookies, nuts and Coca-Cola.

Winterville H. D. Club

A very enjoyable meeting of the Winterville Home Demonstration Club was held Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 15, at the home of Mrs. Lurie Ellis, with Mrs. Elbert Jackson and Miss Letha Bell Harrington assisting hostesses. Twenty-one members and three visitors were present. One new member was added, Mrs. M. A. Woodard, president, presided.

After the regular routine of business, two students from Winterville high school, Misses Verna Cheek and Estelle Hooks, distributed and explained diagrams of the Winterville Recreation Center. They expressed hope that by the Tuesday night the fund would amount to $1,000, which would be used to purchase a war bond until time would permit the erection of the building.

Farm equipment is facing the battle of its life. The year past was tough, but ahead is the real test. Old machines—overworked and worn to the danger point—must continue for at least another year.

New machinery will be manufactured in whatever quantities war conditions permit, but it would be a fatal mistake to assume that enough will be available to meet all the urgent needs. Demands for food are becoming so great that every salvageable implement must be pressed into service.

But don't order extra parts not needed to keep the machine in serviceable condition. We are equipped to repair or rebuild parts where possible. That's a rule we all should rigidly observe this year.

We have set as our goal the complete preparedness of every possible Allis-Chalmers machine in this community... tractors, All-Crop Harvesters and implements, back to the early serial numbers. No matter how old, your equipment can win its wings as a qualified Farm Commando. Every machine certified by us as a "ready to roll" will be awarded the Farm Commando eagle emblem of honor. Have all your equipment inspected now.

ing, etc. The club gladly responded with a donation.

An appropriate poem was read by Mrs. J. D. McLawhorn.

The demonstration on "Gardening" was given by Mrs. Woodard and Mrs. Ellis. A very illustrative demonstration was given, showing how we could grow our own plants. The frame garden and growing small fruits was stressed.

A period of recreation and fun followed, after which the hostesses served delicious refreshments.

Stokes, Pierce, and St. John Home Demonstration Clubs met also during the past week. Attendance at all the club meetings has been excellent during February. From all reports the garden leaders in every club have given interesting and helpful garden demonstrations. Material on "Vegetable Seed Treatment" has been released from State College since the 18 garden leaders began the 1944 gardening program. Below is some information that was received in our office last week which will help every garden in 1944.

Treating vegetable seed for disease control is more important than ever before. The U. S. Department of Agriculture is asking gardeners to treat vegetable seed this year.

Messrs. Howard Garris and Don Ellis, plant pathologists, N. C. Experiment Station, make these recommendations for vegetable seed treatment below: (Note: tsp. means level teaspoonful).

SPERGON is recommended for treating lima beans, beets, eggplant, garden peas, Swiss chard and tomato at the rate of 1 tsp. per pound of seed. On lettuce and romaine it should be used at the rate of 1-2 tsp. per 3-4 pound of seed.

SEMESAN is recommended for seed of all crucifers, cantaloupes, carrot, cucumber, garden peas, pepper, pumpkin, spinach, squash, watermelon at the rate of 1-2 tsp. per pound of seed and for parsley and parsnip at the rate of 1-4 tsp. per pound of seed. Do not use Semesan on lima beans.

CUPROCID (red or yellow copper oxide) is recommended for treating eggplant, pepper, spinach, Swiss chard and tomato at 1 tsp. per pound of seed, for cantaloupe, cucumber, squash at 1-2 tsp. per pound of seed, for carrot at 1-1-2 tsp. per pound and for lettuce and romaine at 1 tsp. per 3-4 pound of seed.

ARASAN is recommended for lima beans at 1-2 tsp. per pound of seed. If recommended materials for treating seed of other crops are not available, substitute Arasan and use according to directions on container. In treating quantities of seed ranging from the 10-cent cardboard packages of peas, beans, etc., to large amounts, place the seed in a tight jar or container, scatter the required amount of the treating material over the seed, close the lid and shake or rotate for about 2 minutes. (Never have the container more than 1-2 full of seed for any one operation).

In treating 10-cent paper packages of seed, tear off one corner of the container and place twice as much of the material as can be picked up on the first half inch of the broad end of a flat toothpick (two dips) in the package with the seed. Shake the seed and dust together for about 1 minute and remove the seed. All seed should be thinly coated.

In any case where there seems to be an excess of the treating material not clinging to the seed it should be screened off through cheese cloth or screen wire.

Buy seed already treated if available. If treated, they will be so labeled. Do not mistake the word "tested" for "treated" on containers.

Beware Coughs

from common colds—That Hang On

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back.
