Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

MAKE THE WORD INCLUSIVE

Modern man does not like the word "sin." In fact, he has almost deleted it from his vocabulary.

One reason for this violent aversion to the three-lettered word is that it has become petty in its connotation. Many people regard the following things—as sins: card-playing, profanity, theater-going, smoking, drinking, Sabbath-breaking, lying, and vice.

How about adding the following: Selfishness, indifference to the welfare of others, harsh speaking, a loveless heart, sharp practices in business, race prejudice, social injustice, tolerance toward war and the international situations out of which wars are born?

MacArthur's ...

terrible naval and air bombardment which preceded the landing and congratulated officers and men of the first cavalry division on their performance before he left the area.

Destroyers of the seventh fleet carried the troops to the island through the Bismarck Sea, which a year ago was almost wholly enemy domain.

The invasion, MacArthur said, makes the end of the Bismarck campaign "clearly in sight," and "in addition to troops trapped in the Solomons some 50,000 of the enemy, largely in New Britain and at Rabaul, are now inclosed."

The soldiers swept aside enemy resistance and some 100,000 men of the United States Army, on-the-spot commander of the drive, reported that Momoate air-drome, one of the best the enemy possessed in the south Pacific, had been seized. The airstrip still was in excellent condition.

Often has MacArthur indicated his interest in returning to the Philippines, where he first met the Japanese fighting strength, and his communique announcement of the landing pointedly remarked that the Admirals are "almost due south of Guam and 1,300 miles from the Philippines."

The islands, he said, stand at the "northern entrance of the Bismarck Sea" and the invasion tightens the blockade of the enemy's remaining bases in that area.

First reports mentioned only invasion of Los Negros island, which lies off the northeastern tip of Manus island, the largest in the group.

Lorengau, on the northeast tip of Manus, may be the next objective of the Americans. It is on Sessler harbor, a 55-mile waterway formed by a lagoon which could accommodate a large fleet.

The enemy base at Kavieng, New Ireland, which American destroyers have bombed three times in recent days, lies 250 miles to the east of the Admirals; 350 miles to the southeast is Rabaul, heavily bombed Japanese base in northeastern New Britain. Wewak, enemy troop and supply center on the northeastern coast of New Guinea, is 275 miles southwest.

Health Program In Local Schools

The staff which will carry out the health program in the Greenville and Pitt county schools, under the direction of Dr. W. P. Jacobs, consists of the following personnel: Mr. Charles E. Spencer, adviser in health and physical education, State Department of Public Instruction; Miss Ruth O. Moore, assistant adviser in health and physical education; Miss Pearl Weaver, public health nurse; Miss Eunice Outlaw, nutritionist.

At the same time a program will go on in the Negro schools of the city and county under Dr. Walter J. Hughes, public health physician; Miss Jennie Douglas, health and physical education adviser; Mrs. Eugenia Cor-dice, public health nurse.

The work is divided into one city group and four county groups. Each group will have eight meetings with the members of the staff. Following the meetings with the staff, and working along with them, each school will be visited by the above members of the staff to aid the teachers in putting into practice the information which has been discussed at the conferences. The intensive work will continue until the end of April; then there will be a follow-up program carried on by the teachers of the local schools who have attended these staff meetings, and some of whom have attended the summer conferences. The next school year and during the following school years the work will continue.

The County Commissioners, the school authorities, and the Board of Health will also pick some persons to attend college for one year on a scholarship furnished by the general education board, which person will then return to the county to aid the schools in a long time health program.

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have poor digestion? Do you feel headachy after eating? Do you get sour or upset easily? Do you feel tired—listless? Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails—your food may remain undigested—lie sour and heavy in your digestive tract.

Air Offensive . . .

only three of the few German planes which attempted to contest with the Americans were shot down. The Germans made a weak retaliatory attack on London last night and one raider was shot down. The Eighth air force attacks on Brunswick and Pas-De-Calais rounded out a month in which record after record for aerial warfare was wiped out by the Allied air fleets.

During February the Eighth air force carried out 19 missions against enemy territory—seven more than the previous record. At least 632 enemy aircraft were destroyed while 245 American heavy bombers and 61 fighters were lost. The bomber loss exceeded by 68 the previous record loss for the Americans set last October.

The RAF was hindered by heavy weather last month but managed to make seven heavy assaults.

In a giant attack on Leipzig on the night of February 19 the RAF lost the record number of 79 planes to boost British bomber losses for February to 193.

Following up the RAF night attack on Leipzig the U. S. strategic air force hit the same city and other targets the next day with more than 2,000 planes in what was described as the greatest daylight aerial undertaking of the war.

Another aerial record set up last month was the simultaneous smash on Regensburg, February 25 by American planes based in Britain and Italy.

The bombers participating in yesterday's assault were heavily protected by fighters but the losses contrast sharply with the heavy cost of the other blows against Brunswick and emphasized the attrition of German fighter defenses since the Allies opened their campaign against Nazi aircraft production.

Berlin has been virtually knocked out of the war by the RAF. Sir Archibald Sinclair, air minister, told the House of Commons.

He said the RAF lost 446 aircraft—about five per cent of the raiding forces and about 3,300 men—in the battle to obliterate the Nazi capital as a war center. Nearly 24,000 tons of bombs smashed at the city, Sinclair said.

Allied prisoners of war and civilians interned in Finland. The demand for internment of the seven German divisions now in Finland appeared to be the crucial problem facing the Finns. It was felt in London that Finland, still closely linked with the Germans, might hesitate to take such a step, or that the Finns might request a delay in answering the Russian offer in the hope that the fast-moving Red armies in the Baltic might compel the Germans to withdraw from Finland, thus obviating any need to intern the Nazis and preventing Finland from becoming "another Italy."

Asked today whether Bulgaria already had offered armistice terms, Acting Secretary of State Stettinius replied that he had nothing on that subject.

Other diplomatic sources, which purported to speak with full knowledge of the situation, declared flatly that it still is too early for specific armistice terms or definite proposals—or even for very direct contacts.

The commandant made his statements in urging participation in the American Red Cross war fund campaign, saying:

"My purpose is to stress the necessity for keeping realistic eyes on the path that lie ahead, in order that the full burden to be borne by the armed forces, and therefore by the Red Cross services which accompany them may be appreciated."

Secretary of the Navy Knox joined in asking support for the $200,000,000 Red Cross fund drive, opening today, asserting "the navy thank the Red Cross. . . I profoundly thank the American Red Cross for all it has done and all it intends to do."

and delivered their heaviest blow at enemy concentrations around Cisterna.

U. S. invaders dumped 14 tons of bombs in an hour's attack there, an average of 500 pounds of explosives a minute ripping into the Nazi camp. Warhawks drove home the blow with 1,000-ound bombs, and just before dusk Boston's pounded the town of Cisterna itself.

Six Allied and six German planes were lost during the day.

Other Allied formations pounded Nazi targets ringing the beachhead, and Marauders raided the Viterbo airfield northwest of Rome. A railroad station on the east coast also was hit.
