Navy Secretary Frank Knox Died This Afternoon

Former Publisher and Republican Vice-Presidential Candidate Became Member Of Roosevelt Cabinet In July 1940; Helped Build World's Greatest Navy

Washington, April 28.—(AP)—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, civilian chief of the world's mightiest sea force, died today of a heart attack. He was 70 years old.

His death was announced to the navy throughout the world by James V. Forrestal, navy undersecretary who automatically became acting secretary.

The death was the first in President Roosevelt's cabinet since Claude A. Swanson died in July, 1939. Swanson was secretary of the navy at the time.

Knox, although a lifelong Republican and vice-presidential nominee in 1936, was in the cabinet because he saw eye-to-eye with President Roosevelt on the menace of totalitarianism and the stark necessity of arming the nation to the limit of human ability.

He had seen the war coming for years and in his newspaper, the Chicago Daily News, had preached preparedness.

Mr. Roosevelt was still vacationing in the south today when Knox took a turn for the worse but the President obviously was kept closely advised of his condition.

Surviving the Navy secretary are his widow, who before their marriage was Annie Reid; three sisters, Mrs. Herbert L. Fairfield, Dayton, Ohio, and Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Fred Reed of Chicago, and Elizabeth Knox of Grand Rapids, Mich.

At Knox's bedside when he died, the navy said, were Mrs. Knox, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ralph A. Bard and Mrs. Bard, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury John L. Sullivan, Dr. Fred Bushmeyer, pastor of the Mt. Pleasant Congregational Church; John P. O'Keefe, vice president of the Chicago Daily News, and Capt. Lyman S. Perry, aide to the Secretary of the Navy.

Knox was stricken with a "gas-to-intestine upset" while attending the funeral in Manchester, N. H., last week of J. A. Muehling, his business partner for the last 40 years. He returned to his office Tuesday morning but about two hours later became ill and went to his home. The secretary prepared a severe heart attack as he prepared to go to bed Tuesday afternoon.

Forrestal in announcing the death over the navy's loud speaker system, asked all department employees, many of whom were at lunch in cafeterias, to pause in their activities in respect to Knox.

Knox had been in the cabinet since July 11, 1940. President Roosevelt summoned him to serve, as France fell in the critical month of June 1940 at the same time he asked Henry L. Stimson to become secretary of war. Both men were Republican leaders. Knox having been his party's vice presidential

ANNOUNCE NEW POINT VALUES

Tomatoes, Asparagus Beets and Corn Off Ration List

Washington, April 28.—(AP)—Tomatoes, corn, beets, asparagus and four other vegetables will be added Sunday to the list of processed foods housewives may buy without ration stamps.

May values announced today by the OPA include a zero point rating for canned spinach, leafy vegetables, blackeye peas and Garbanzo beans, a foreign dish ingredient. The move making eight additional vegetables point-free was taken to clear store shelves for the new season's pack, now in production.

The present low values on canned vegetables may be compared to an old-fashioned year-end bargain sale, said OPA Administrator Chester Bowles. "When the supply of 'point bargains' has disappeared, higher 'point prices' will have to be restored to spread new supplies, even through the year."

Current values on No. 2 can sizes of the more important vegetables made point-free are: Tomatoes, 8 points; corn, 8 (vacuum packed 6); asparagus, 10; beets, 3; leafy greens 4, and spinach 6.

In other changes in processed food values, reductions are ordered for all condensed and concentrated soups, the type generally sold. From the current four-point value on 10-1-2 ounce cans, two points are trimmed for clam chowder and other seafood soups, while all other kinds are cut one point.

A number of varieties of fruit butters as well as grape and tomato preserves and apple, grape, mint and plum jellies in one-pound containers are reduced two points to a new value of two. But raspberry and strawberry jellies and preserves, in short supply are increased to 16 points a pound jar, double the present value.

Also sharply boosted is the value on cranberries and cranberry sauce, up eight points to a new total of 15 for No. 2 cans. Prevailing high prices for a values on all other canned fruits are maintained.

To slow the rapid movement on tomato catsup and chili sauce, the ration cost of these items goes from 23 points to 30 for a 14-ounce bottle, but spaghetti sauce, packaged with cheese, gets a value of three instead of six points for an eight-ounce jar.

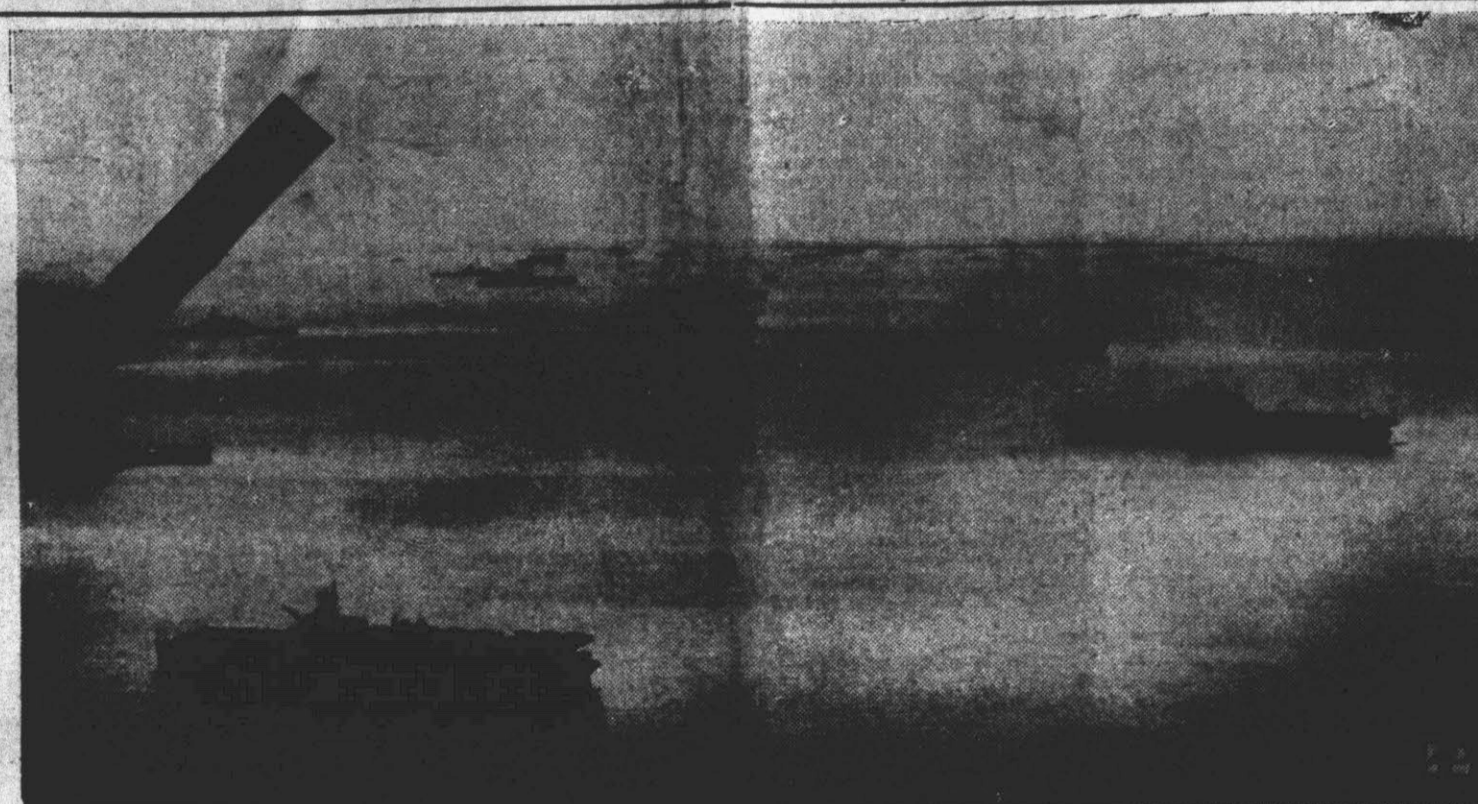

False Fire Alarms. Authorities have information as to the identity of the persons who turned in false fire alarms from boxes 55 and 56, located at East Tenth and Lawrence streets and East Fifth and Library streets, within a brief period of time shortly after last midnight. It is understood, they occupy a considerable strip of territory south of the Yangtze, but between there and the south coast the Chinese are still in possession barring the Canton-Hongkong area. The Nipponese hold China's coastal ports all around.

The task which the Japanese have set for themselves, in the Chinese command's estimate is correct, is to get astride the railroad at least in the zone between the Yellow river and the Yangtze, and if possible southward to the coast. Control between the two rivers in itself would greatly strengthen the enemy's position and further threaten the capital of Chungking itself.

There are two other objectives which the invaders likely have. The 1,800 square miles or more which they already have overrun along the Yellow river is a vast wheat growing area that is expected to produce a record crop this season. The Japanese need this grain for their armies and home consumption, and aren't concerned with the millions of Chinese are dependent on it to keep them from starvation.

Of further importance is the fact that the American air forces in China (Continued on Page Four)

AIRMEN BLAST NAZI TARGETS

Pre-Invasion Aerial Offensive Continues Today

By GLADWIN HILL

London, April 28.—(AP)—American heavy and medium bombers blasted Nazi air bases over a wide area in France today on the heels of a 3,500-ton RAF bomb assault by night on Friedrichshafen and railroads in France and Belgium.

The blows carried into the 14th straight day the grinding pre-invasion air offensive that has hurled 65,000 tons of explosives on Europe since April 15.

Up to 250 Flying Fortresses—winging out after a record daylight pounding of continental targets on Thursday—bombed the Avord airdrome, 130 miles south of Paris, while medium Marauders hit another field in northern France, and Lightning fighters shot up a third.

No further details of the raids were disclosed immediately.

In 24 hours alone, more than 5,000 planes have hit the Nazi war machine with 15,500 tons of explosives including a double-header punch by 1,500 U. S. heavy bombers Thursday.

Thirty-six RAF bombers were lost in the assaults "in very great strength" upon Friedrichshafen, the home of the Zeppelin works and radio-location equipment plants, and on railyards at Montzen in Belgium and Aulnoye in France. Bombers were knocked down at least four German fighters.

Mosquito bombers meanwhile raided Stuttgart, and other planes struck Friedrichshafen and was "well-concentrated," said the Air Ministry. Montzen, never bombed before, is only a few miles from the German border on a branch of the Liege-Aachen railway. Aulnoye, near the Franco-Belgian frontier on a main route between France and Germany, has been bombed repeatedly.

Americans Capture Last Air Base At Hollandia

Australians Seize Alexishafen; 60,000 Trapped Japs Face Slaughter Or Starvation

By CHESTER WALSH

Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, April 28.—(AP)—American bombers flew today from seized Japanese airdromes at Hollandia, bases within range of Palau and the Philippines, as the result of a lightning invasion operation on Dutch New Guinea which the Sixth Army began Saturday and ended Thursday.

Fanatic Japanese there were routed into the jungles and 400 miles to the southeast, other Japanese were driven from the air base village of Alexishafen by Australians a day after the capture of Madang 10 miles to the south. Between the Hollandia Americans and the Alexishafen Aussies, an estimated 60,000 Japanese face slaughter or starvation.

(Aneta, Netherlands news agency, said in a New Guinea dispatch that Japanese driven into the jungles behind Hollandia might attempt a counterattack. It seemed likely such a belated move would prove suicidal. The Japanese are cut off from the coast. They have virtually no air support. The thousands of Sixth Army troops they would face are heavily armed both with their own equipment and that abandoned by the enemy; and these troops are fairly spoiling for a fight, having experienced little of it across time-worn jungle swamps and mountainous country.)

The Fifth air force was on the alert on both sides of the Hollandia invaders. Seven hundred miles to the northwest, 10 barges loaded with fully armed Nipponese were sunk by a navy Liberator which also destroyed two cargo ships and two fishing boats and shot down an enemy bomber. Patrol planes sank two coastal vessels off Manokwari.

Some 250 miles to the southeast, more than 100 Boston Havocs used 67 tons of explosives to keep four airdromes neutralized at bypassed Wewak.

Long-range bombers flew northward to strike a new blow at Woleia in the western Carolines and others moved north to hit Truk and Satawan in the central Carolines, returning without loss.

The operation can now be regarded as completed.

Three thousand crack Japanese combat marines had been pulled out of the Hollandia scene southeast to Wewak by a successful feint. Japanese probably fled to the hills to the pre-invasion bombardment of warships and carrier planes. Of those who stayed, 274 were killed and two dozen taken prisoner as pincer columns swung southwest from Humboldt Bay and southeast from Tanahmerah bay to effect a junction Thursday along a 34-mile road and sweep up three fine airfields, Cyclops, Sentani and

SEVERAL DRAW PRISON TERMS

Youth Gets Four To Seven Years for Marine's Death

By CHESTER WALSH

In Superior Court today Judge Clawson L. Williams of Sanford sentenced William Earl Spoto, 19-year-old farm youth, who pleaded guilty last week to being the hit-and-run driver who killed Marine Pfc. Raymond Alvin Hahn, 21, of Allentown, Pa., on a highway on the outskirts of the city on April 6, to serve from four to seven years in state prison.

In passing sentence, the Sanford jurist said the Marine was on the road where he belonged to be in the armed forces of the country and that the tragedy was avoidable.

Joe Riggs, 28, farmer, who was a passenger in Spain's car the night of the tragedy, was last week adjudged not guilty of complicity in the hit-and-run death.

Edward Williams, Negro youth who was convicted of manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting of Sam Junior Clark, Negro, some weeks ago, was given from 12 to 15 years in state prison.

John Brickhouse, convicted some days ago of assaulting Clifton Whitehurst with a deadly weapon (a knife) was sentenced to serve a year on the roads. He filed notice of appeal to Supreme Court and bond was fixed at $2,000.

Willie Bryant Wilson, white, convicted of receiving automobile tires and wheels stolen from W. L. Smith's place in the Chico section, was given a year on the roads, sentence suspended provided he pay to Smith $60 and the court costs.

Situation Grows More Tense As Invasion Nears

RUSSIAN DRIVE FORGES AHEAD

Ring Being Drawn Tighter Around Sevastopol

London, April 28.—(AP)—The Russian army is pressing a determined offensive with powerful tank-supported forces north of the Romanian city of Iasi and fierce battles are raging in the area for the second successive day, a Romanian communique said today.

The bulletin, broadcast from Bucharest, said that local Russian penetrations were sealed off or reduced by counterattacks. Moscow made no mention of such an offensive, although a Soviet communique announced that some 400 German were killed as Red army troops repulsed an enemy thrust southeast of Stanislawow in the Carpathian foothills.

The Russian communique said no important changes had occurred on any of the fronts.

The communique declared however, that Russian torpedo launches and Red army aircraft still were making steady attacks on German water craft in the area of Sevastopol, apparently seeking to prevent evacuation of Nazi forces from the besieged Crimean port.

Four German barges, two torpedo launches and a patrol vessel were reported sunk there by Russian air and naval action yesterday.

The Moscow bulletin said that a regiment of Germans was wiped out by Russian artillery the other day. Enemy forces were observed deploying for an attack on one sector of the second Ukraine front.

"Making use of the panic that followed among the Germans," the communique added, "our warriors gained possession of strongly fortified positions."

Both the Germans and Romanian communique said Russian attempts to break through on the lower Dnieper were repulsed.

From Stockholm came a report that the Germans were awaiting a new Soviet drive on the Salla sector in Finland on the far northern front. The Swedish paper Aftonbladet in a dispatch from Helsinki said the Germans had repulsed a Russian attempt to break through there.

Killed By Explosion. Rock Hill, S. C., April 27.—(AP)—Seaboard Airline Railroad officials sought today to determine the cause of a boiler explosion that killed a fireman and injured two other members of a train crew near here yesterday.

Anxiety Over Gandhi. Bombay, April 28.—(AP)—The general condition of Mohandas K. Gandhi, who recently suffered an attack of malaria, is "weak and causing some anxiety," an official statement said today.

"Although Mr. Gandhi had no recurrence of fever, he has not recovered from his recent attack as was hoped," the statement added.

Berlin Reports Attacks On Invasion Vessel Concentrations Along English Coast. Britain Places New Restrictions On Travel To Guard Invasion Secrets

By The Associated Press

London, April 28.—(AP)—Masses of Allied invasion vessels, assembling in the harbors of western England, were attacked by German bombers last night, Berlin dispatches by way of Stockholm said today.

Nazis and neutrals, continuing a guessing game that began several weeks ago, said the invasion might be less than two weeks away, and Berlin dispatches to Stockholm said great quantities of Allied shipping were gathered in the channel ports of southeastern England as well as western England.

German authorities in Holland were reported to be preparing to blast the great dykes which guard the entrance to the Zuider Zee and flood a huge area including Rotterdam and Amsterdam.

Two Swedes, the first to reach Sweden from Denmark since the Germans clamped tight control on travel between the two countries last Monday, said the Danes at first thought the Germans were invading Sweden when the drastic measures were taken.

The restrictions were being gradually relaxed, however, and postal service between Sweden and Denmark was resumed.

Britain's shores were closed tightly today to all except the most urgent outbound civilian travel under new regulations designed to keep the British Commonwealth together.

The German communique asserted that German motor torpedo boats sank three British ships totaling 9,100 tons in an attack on a convoy off the south coast of England this morning, and that the German air force's attacks against shipping concentrations off the British southwest coast last night were effective.

The new travel restrictions, effective last midnight, supplemented others previously in force. One earlier decree had banned travel between Britain and Ireland. Another kept the United States, Russia and the British Commonwealth within Britain for the time being.

Joining the Germans in the invasion-guessing game, Capt. Karl Henrik Falkman, a Swedish naval commentator expressed the view this morning that the assault may come in broad daylight some time between May 2 and May 17.

The Berlin correspondent of the Swiss newspaper Die Tat said foreign newspapermen in the German capital were betting on the attack to take place between May 6 and June 7.

A Moscow dispatch said the Russian newspaper Pravda observed that conditions are favorable now for powerful blows not only from the east but the south and west.

Falkman, who is not known in London naval circles, declared that because of the supremacy the Allies possess both at sea and in the air, the invasion is inevitable. (Continued on Page Four)

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

Chungking has captured the important railway junction of Chenghsien, in their new offensive in the Yellow river region, emphasizes the menace of this drive. It is a serious threat to an already terribly hard hit China.

While the ultimate aim of this fresh assault isn't wholly clear, since there are several prime objectives possible, it has the appearance of being a defensive measure calculated to remedy bad weakness in the Nipponese continental fortress.

The underlying strategy probably is the idea that if Nippon can hang onto this fortress she may be able to tie the United Nations out and achieve a stalemate. Indeed we know from reliable sources that the Japanese militarists recognize they can't win. They're going to salvage what they can, and already are planning another war against the western world 25 years hence.

Chungking believes that one Japanese objective is to secure full control of the great trunk railway which runs from Peiping in the north clear down to Canton and Hongkong on the south coast. Their purpose is to strengthen their interior communications in China and so try to offset the Allied ravages on Nipponese sea communications.

The Japanese occupy the territory through which this strategic railway runs north of the Yellow river—the Hoang-ho, often referred to as "China's sorrow" because of the untold millions of lives lost through generations as the result of the frightful annual floods. However between the Yellow river and the Yangtze, some 500 miles south, the invaders don't hold the railroad. They occupy a considerable strip of territory south of the Yangtze, but between there and the south coast the Chinese are still in possession barring the Canton-Hongkong area. The Nipponese hold China's coastal ports all around.

The task which the Japanese have set for themselves, in the Chinese command's estimate is correct, is to get astride the railroad at least in the zone between the Yellow river and the Yangtze, and if possible southward to the coast. Control between the two rivers in itself would greatly strengthen the enemy's position and further threaten the capital of Chungking itself.

Compromise With Spain Possible

London, April 28.—(AP)—Britain and the United States were reported here today to be approaching a compromise agreement with Spain calling for a possible 90 per cent reduction in Spanish shipments of war-important wolfram (tungsten) ore to Germany.

The Americans had sought a complete shutdown of Spanish exports of the ore, but the British were said to have taken the position it was better to have part of a cake than none.

An agreement on the question of the ore has been the major point of delaying completion of the Allied negotiations with Spain that began with imposition of a British-American oil embargo on Spain two months ago.

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., U. S. undersecretary of state, conferred again this morning with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and it was believed likely that they might be getting together on a statement which would reflect British-American unity on the ore and other mutual problems of foreign policy.

Stettinius also conferred again with Fyodor Gusev, Russian ambassador to Britain, keeping him informed on the progress of the British-American consultations.

Meanwhile, optimism prevailed over the chances that Sweden eventually will agree to halt sales of ball bearings to Germany.

Government Wins First Round In Seizure Case

Washington, April 28.—(AP)—A resolution proposing an investigation of the government's seizure of Montgomery Ward and Company's plant at Chicago was pushed through the House today and sent to the floor for consideration.

Chicago, April 28.—(AP)—The big Montgomery Ward and Company, began a legal fight today against government control of its Chicago facilities shortly after two of the firm's top executives—Board Chairman Sewell Avery and President Clement D. Ryan—were barred from their offices.

Chicago, April 28.—(AP)—Further interference of the federal government's control of the seized Montgomery Ward and Company was temporarily balked today with officials of the big mail order store restrained by a U. S. court order from hindering the government in taking over supervision of the Chicago properties.

Issuance of a temporary injunction restraining company officials from interfering with the government's operation came late last night at a closed session in the chambers of Federal Judge William H. Holly.

The order, petitioned for late yesterday by Attorney General Biddle, ended two days of stout resistance by Sewell L. Avery, the company's board chairman, to government seizure of the plant.

The government seizure, accomplished after two failures, was made Wednesday, with the aid of federal troops and the night court proceeding followed a day of many developments in the case which is being watched as a gauge of the President's power to take over a business claiming non-war activity and a test of the War Labor Board's ability to enforce its directives.

Highlighting the day's events was the forcible ejection of Avery, the 69-year-old chief executive, from his office. His removal by two soldiers was ordered by Biddle after the attorney general said Avery refused to cooperate with government officials and maintained he still was the boss.

Judge Holly's order not only enjoined interference by company officials but called upon them to surrender company records, which had been asked by Biddle in his petition for the injunction. He set a hearing for 2 p. m. today on the dissolution, modification or extension of the order.

Brought For Vice President

Raleigh, April 28.—(AP)—The name of Gov. J. Melville Broughton will be brought up for the Democratic nomination for vice president at the party's state convention here next Thursday.

Broughton has been endorsed for the vice presidency by the Oklahoma Young Democrats' convention and Monroe Redden, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, has said eight other states have indicated they would support the North Carolina executive.

North Carolina will have 30 votes in the national convention. County conventions this week-end will elect the more than 2,000 delegates and hundreds of alternates to the state convention.

John H. Kerr, Jr., of Warrenton, speaker of the House of Representatives last year, will be the keynote speaker.

The convention platform is expected to deal primarily with post-war problems, with emphasis on smoothing the way for the return of the state's 300,000 service men and women to civilian life. One proposal likely will be made the part of the state's increasing general fund to be set aside to complement any federal program for the rehabilitation of returning service personnel.

Other platform planks, party officials indicated, may deal with an expanded educational program, including the consolidation of negro schools, expansion of Governor Broughton's public health program, and an enlarged agricultural program.

Today On The Home Front

JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, April 28.—(AP)—Millions of white collar workers—squeezed between low incomes and high living costs—still face a bleak salary future today in spite of a lenient sympathy.

A group of senators, members of a special committee headed by Claude Pepper (D-Fla.), has made recommendation to help low-income classes, such as clerks, bookkeepers, teachers, librarians, state and city employees.

But it is hard to see how those recommendations can become reality. Most of them are listed below together with what is likely to happen to them:

1. More rigid price controls. Congress now is considering renewing the life and authority of OPA, seems certain to do so. It is doubtful much beyond their present scope.

2. Remove all War Labor Board controls on salaries up to $200 a month for heads of families and $150 for unmarried persons. The thought is encouraging but the prospects dim.

A person earning $150 a month on the basis of 40 hours a week gets 93 cents an hour, $7.50 a day, $37.50 a week; a person earning $200 a month on the same basis gets $1.25 an hour, $10 a day, $50 a week.

But the WLB grants increases according to its "little steel" formula which forbids raises of more than 15 per cent above what a job called for on January 1, 1941. The board, however, considers any wage less than 50 cents an hour sub-standard and permits increases up to that figure without board approval. Over that wage, it insists on jurisdiction and the formula.

Thus, a 15 per cent increase to a person earning 50 cents an hour would be only 7 1/2 cents or a total of 57 1/2 cents, which is far from the 93 cents an hour that a $150 monthly wage calls for.

But suppose the WLB let down the bars and permitted a man earning $100 a month to receive a raise giving him $150 a month. That would be a 50 per cent increase. If the board broke its formula that way to benefit white collar workers, the rest of labor would demand increases for much higher paid workers who have been held down to 15 per cent increases.

Another obstacle: The government has stated it considers living costs are being held firm. It would fight any widespread effort to crack the "little steel" formula because the whole stabilization program. (Continued on page four)

Surgical Dressings Room News. Two pairs of hands are needed in the surgical dressings room now, where only one sufficed before. The gauze must be cut and measured before the wipes can be made, and that, of course, takes twice as long. Or twice as many women. Ninety hours each week must be spent in cutting, which means that many hours taken away from the folding of the dressings. Every worker is urged to spend more hours in the workroom herself, and to bring another person along with her. These bandages are easy to make. The gauze folds well, and our amateur cutters are quite an improvement over the mechanical methods.

Eight bolts of cut material have been sent to Farmville, six to Bethel and two to Ayden, but there is still plenty left for Greenville. The quota is large and every woman in town is needed to work. The cutters are doing their part wonderfully well, and the folders must not lag. So please plan to spend at least four to six hours at the Red Cross Surgical Dressings room in the basement of the Austin building at the college, every week, until we can send our completed quota of bandages to our boys, who face invasion and death. Perhaps your bandages will be the ones that save a life.

Ask Shrubby For Park. Through the generosity of the American Legion Auxiliary the Cotanche street park and playground is being maintained and kept open for the children of Greenville.

The women of the auxiliary wish to continue the improvements on these grounds. As chairman of the Garden Club, I wish to make a plea for shrubs. If you have any that you can give, please take them to the park and leave them with Mr. Beacham of the maintenance department. These will be properly set out on the park grounds.

Enter Se Club. The Enter Se Club was charmingly entertained Tuesday by Mrs. Reynolds May at her home on Eighth street. Beautiful arrangements of spring flowers made a perfect setting for the occasion. The president, Mrs. Denver Baughan, presided in her usual charming manner and after a short business meeting the program was turned over to Mrs. R. C. Rankin.

It is an ill wind that blows no good, and so Mrs. Rankin proved in her talk on "Tomorrow's Foods." The war has necessitated much research and many experiments in the feeding of so many people. In the food of tomorrow do not be surprised if you find yourselves eating eggshells, coffee grounds, unheated fish, alfalfa, grape seeds and many other things that have a high nutritive value but have been passed up for more palatable foods. Of course, these will be in compressed form, so we want actually feel the eggshells cracking in our teeth, but our health and vitality will profit greatly from just such experiments.

One of the greatest men in this research is Matt Stacom, a lumberman. He invented the Stacom press to use in determining woods suitable for different things and accidentally found that it was more than he thought. This is a machine which will extract under high pressure in the absence of heat, the juices from foods. They are then made into a powder and then compressed. Hence a whole bushel of spinach may be decreased to the size of one capsule, and none of its food value lost. The Stacom press is the only new method that makes animal foods available for humans. Other foods they are working on are asparagus butts, cornstalks, yeast, and many, many more. The day is nearer when the American, rich or poor, will have not only his daily quota of calories but also his vitamins, minerals and amino acids served in a variety of dishes and flavors never before dreamed of.

After Mrs. Rankin's talk, a delightful social hour followed, in which the hostess served a delicious salad plate with iced tea, and a sweet course.—Reported.

Nearly every Netherlands town has a cookie or cake distinctively its own.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

April 28, 1904

Spring is so fickle as to look back and flirt with winter. One of our citizens says this is a model court. He says he has observed closely and neither judge, solicitor, officer, member of the bar nor juror has appeared with his hair parted in the middle.

The fire engine house has been moved off the corner of the town lot at Cotanche and Fifth streets preparatory to building a new market house and city hall there.

Everett-Whitehurst. Bethel April 28.—Seldom has the Bethel Methodist Church been lovelier than on Sunday evening, April 28, at eight o'clock, when Miss John Nell Whitehurst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cadet Whitehurst and Captain William Roscoe Everett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nun C. Everett of Robersonville, were united in marriage by the Reverend W. M. Howard, pastor of the bride, in an impressive candlelight ceremony, the double ring ceremony being used.

An effective program of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Frances Kelly of Mount Holly, organist, and Mr. Edward Thompson Smith of Julliard School of Music and Goldsboro, vocalist. Organ numbers included "Priore a Nostra Dame" by Nevin, and "Clair de Lune" by Debussy. Mr. Smith sang "The Lord's Prayer," by Mollette, followed by "Beauce," by DeHerdelot, and "The Rosary," by Nevin.

As Lohengrin pealed from the organ, the bride, preceded by a bevy of lovely attendants, approached the altar with her father, to be met by the bridegroom and his best man, his father. The bride was enchanting in her wedding gown of bluish satin, fashioned with log-of-mutton sleeves, a yoke of marquisette and imported Viennese lace, and long circular train. The veil of illusion extended court length from a tarsi of seed pearls, the veil having a second tier of fingertip length which fell very full about her lovely face. She wore a double strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried a satin covered prayer book showered with white ruby throated orchids, bouvardia, and valley lilies.

Miss Mildred Everett of Greensboro College and Robersonville, only sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a pink gown designed with satin basque effect and full flowing skirts of net and white lace Dutch cap, and carried a colonial bouquet, tied with pink ribbons. The ringbearer, cousin of the bride, was Master Tommy Whitehurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard T. Whitehurst of Bethel. He carried the ring in the heart of a white lily.

The ushers were Midshipman William Gray and Pfc. Russell Taylor of Robersonville, Robert Salisbury, Jr., and Billy Whitehurst of Bethel. The latter, brother of the bride, was chief usher.

The bride's mother wore a gown of black lace and chiffon with a shoulder corsage of red roses, while the groom's mother was attired in black net and lace and wore American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Everett graduated in the class of 1943 at Greensboro College, majoring in dramatics. She is now a member of the faculty of the Goldsboro city schools. Capt. Everett graduated from Oak Ridge Military Institute in 1941. He then entered the army and was sent to Camp Croft, S. C. Immediately after war was declared he was sent to Australia. He has recently returned from foreign service and is now stationed at Longview, Texas. Immediately after the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception in their home. The guests numbered about four hundred.

Later in the evening Captain and Mrs. Everett left for a southern trip. For traveling the bride changed to a suit of purple wool with matching hat and black accessories. She wore an orchid from her bridal bouquet.

On Saturday, Mr. Billy Whitehurst, brother of the bride, entertained the bridal party for lunch at the Bethel Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Everett entertained at dinner in honor of the bride and groom and out-of-town wedding guests, including the bridal party, at the Robersonville Hotel. Miss Jean Rook and Miss Earl Proctor Andrews entertained the wedding party and families and out-of-town guests at a cake cutting, at the home of Mrs. Rook. On Sunday Mr. Robert Salisbury entertained the wedding party at luncheon at the home of Mrs. P. T. Anthony in Greenville.

Entertains At Tea. Terboro, April 28.—Mrs. M. J. Moyer entertained at a tea Friday afternoon at her home on St. Andrews street, complimenting her sisters, Mrs. Earle Westbrook of Dunn, Mrs. John H. Adams and Mrs. Will Whitehead of Greenville, and Mrs. George C. Moyer of Long Island, New York.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Z. E. Brinson. Mrs. J. T. Sadler introduced the guests to the receiving line, composed of the postess and honorees Mrs. Laurence A. Moyer and Mrs. Clarence Hardy Moyer of Maury, Mrs. Howard Moyer and Mrs. Jesse Moyer of Farmville.

Mrs. Carroll Barnhart received at the study door. A profusion of mixed spring flowers decorated the living rooms of the home.

Mrs. Watson Smoot invited the guests into the dining room. Mrs. P. Jones Daxler and Mrs. R. A. Lind-serv served punch and cakes from the dining room table, covered with a Madras cloth, which was centered with a lovely arrangement of lilies of the valley in an antique serving gaily sandwiches, nuts and mints by Mrs. J. C. Martin and Misses Anne Moyer, Mary Anne and Carolyn Westbrook of Dunn.

Mrs. M. S. Brown said the good-byes. A colorful and sympathetic story of the creator of the beloved Uncle Remus tales is told by Alvin F. Harlow in "Joel Chandler Harris."

"No understanding of the heroic Russia of today is possible without a knowledge of the great progress made by Tsar Peter who with his youthful enthusiasm first envisaged new horizons for his vast country. Nina Brown Baker makes a fascinating story of all this in her book "Peter the Great."—H.L.R.

Women series were available for this group, while today there are hundreds of books being catalogued under the special heading of Teen-Age Books. In this grouping are found biography of the great and the successful in every field of endeavor, geography and travel, the story of great inventions and suitable action. That is how important the Teen-age has become.

One of the newest books published for this group is Gladys Malvern's "Curtain Going Up!" an authentic life of Katherine Cornell as a person as well as one of the foremost actresses of the present day. It is illustrated with many photographs.

John Y. Beatty's biography of "Luther Burbank," is a first-hand description of the great botanist that reveals that his methods were simple, matter-of-fact and easy to follow. Working with millions of plants, with bees and humming birds for his chief helpers, he opened a new frontier for Americans—one that can never be closed.

"Chenault of the Flying Tigers" by Sam Mims, is a warm, intimate and inspiring story of a great leader whose courage, resourcefulness and daring set such a splendid example to the members of the now world-renowned Flying Tigeis of the A. V. S.

The story of Glenn Curtis, by Alden Hatch, does not follow the usual pattern of that of the traditional American who "made good." What his boyish ideals were have never been discovered, but they were not riches, power or position. Every one has marveled at the man because with no engineering education, yet his solution of engineering problems in a practical way stand the test of mathematical analysis.

Despite the fact that O. Henry's life was as colorful as any tale ever created by the magic of his imagination, and his personal study in behavior and temperament, no book has been written about the man himself until Jeannette Covert Nolan wrote her book, "O. Henry: The Story of William Sydney Porter."

Especially valuable to students of music is "Unfinished Symphony," by Madeleine Goss. It is the ever-popular story of Franz Schubert, from his early boyhood to the days of the unfinished symphony.

Douglas Coe writes splendidly of the invention of wireless in "Marconi—Pioneer in Radio." It was this great scientist who, more than any other individual, was responsible for the scientific wonder—radio—we now take for granted. Complete with diagrams.

Surgical Dressings Room News. Two pairs of hands are needed in the surgical dressings room now, where only one sufficed before. The gauze must be cut and measured before the wipes can be made, and that, of course, takes twice as long. Or twice as many women. Ninety hours each week must be spent in cutting, which means that many hours taken away from the folding of the dressings. Every worker is urged to spend more hours in the workroom herself, and to bring another person along with her. These bandages are easy to make. The gauze folds well, and our amateur cutters are quite an improvement over the mechanical methods.

Eight bolts of cut material have been sent to Farmville, six to Bethel and two to Ayden, but there is still plenty left for Greenville. The quota is large and every woman in town is needed to work. The cutters are doing their part wonderfully well, and the folders must not lag. So please plan to spend at least four to six hours at the Red Cross Surgical Dressings room in the basement of the Austin building at the college, every week, until we can send our completed quota of bandages to our boys, who face invasion and death. Perhaps your bandages will be the ones that save a life.

Miss Cowell Hostess To Business Women. Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club enjoyed a supper meeting last night at the home of the president, Miss Martha Lee Cowell. Members of the groups led by Miss Sallie Mae Davis and Miss Mary Belle Eldridge served the two-course supper.

Announcement was made that the annual state convention would be held June 23-25 at the George Vanderbilt Hotel in Asheville, and the following delegates were elected: Mesdames Viola Baker, Lela Belle Hoell, L. R. Bell, and Miss Mary Belle Eldridge; alternates were Mesdames Henrietta Johnson, Ruby Peacock, J. H. Letchworth and B. T. Clark. Mrs. P. A. Jordan, director of the Sixth District, and Mrs. Chester Welsh, state publicity chairman, will also attend.

A nominating committee consisting of Mrs. Clem Garner, chairman, Mrs. Alle J. Whitehurst and Mrs. C. R. Fife was appointed.

A contribution was made by the club to the Cancer Control program after distribution of leaflets in regard to the cancer campaign.

Pocketbook size community ceiling price lists prepared for distribution to women shoppers by OPA were given each member present for assistance in shopping and checking prices.

Reports were given of the recent district meeting in Kinston when five delegates attended. Mrs. Jordan announced that the Sixth District membership is now 347 and desired state goal of 1,500 by June has passed the 1,440 mark.

Mrs. Georgia James, guest of the club, who was voted an honorary membership, drew the name of A. T. Fugitt as winner in the candy contest sponsored by one of the club groups for funds for financing the rest room, one of the club projects.

Miss Cowell read a recent article from The Daily Reflector giving a list of towns and cities registered by visitors and commenting upon local interest manifested in the rooms.

Each member paid five cents to help defray expenses of a district party to be held at the convention in honor of Mrs. Arthur P. Wilson, state president from the district, who will go out of office this year.

Miss Jane Lyster was a guest of the club.

A career of distinguished service to the citizens of North Carolina, both as a public servant in peacetime and as machine-gun company captain during the First World War, is contained in the record of Major R. Gregg Cherry, 52-year-old Gastonia candidate for the governorship subject to the 1944 Democratic primary. Orphaned at seven, Major Cherry was raised by his grandparents, worked on the farm and later on the Trinity College campus at Durham to obtain his education. He became and has remained a successful attorney, with his legal career having been interrupted, however, in 1917, when he volunteered his services in the First World War, serving overseas and rising to the rank of captain in the regular Army and later of the rank of major in the National Guard in which he was active until 1923. Founder and commander of Gaston County's first American Legion post, he became State Commander of the N. C. Department of the American Legion in 1928. Prominent in fraternal and religious life, he is a member of the Masonic body, was Grand Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias in 1924 and has for many years been a member of the Board of Stewards of Gastonia's Main Street Methodist Church. He has served in every session of the N.C. General Assembly since 1931, seven terms in the House and two in the Senate. He was speaker of the House in the regular session of 1937 and in the special sessions of 1936 and 1939. He was chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee from 1937 to August, 1940, a member of the State Textbook Rental Commission in 1937 and of the State School Commission from 1938 to 1941. In every legislative session since 1931 he has been a member of the finance committee of either the House or Senate and has held numerous other important legislative chairmanships and memberships.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

ROUGH PLACES MADE SMOOTH: We are told in the fortieth chapter of Isaiah that when the Lord comes into the world or into one's heart, the rough places are made smooth.

We see this promise conspicuously fulfilled when a man who is illiterate, coarse, and hard becomes a Christian. The rough places in his nature are made smooth. One can see it in his face, hear it in his voice, observe it in his actions.

There are many rough places not only in our lives but in our paths—rough circumstances, rough troubles, rough doubts, rough annoyances. The very roughness of them, of course, makes them in a measure useful, for they prick us into awareness and build our powers as we overwhelm them.

Life at best is rough. We need never expect that our feet will always walk in smooth pathways. It would not be good for us if they did. But the time comes when roughness becomes unbearable. It is then that the Lord comes and smooths down the rough places and makes it possible for us to proceed without impediment.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—If you want to embarrass your congressman when he comes home campaigning, ask him about how the overlapping investigating committees in the House and Senate have mushroomed.

Rep. John J. Cochran, Missouri Democrat, has already pointed the way. With excellent timing, almost every week and many to come before the big day, November 7, Cochran has been compiling data and denouncing the growth of committees.

Some of his findings make those congressmen who blast at the multiplying bureaucracies sound a little like kettles calling the pot black. "How can we justify our criticism of duplication, waste and extravagance, in the executive departments, when we practice what we protest?" asks the representative.

Cochran says the record will show that the Senate has passed 38 and the House 30 resolutions granting special powers to standing committees or establishing special committees. What worries the congressman is that many of these committees duplicate the work of others. That's what worries the host of busy executives, military leaders, and war officials who have to testify before them.

Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretaries Knox, Stimson, Morgenthau and Ickes are only a few of those called away from their desks for hours to testify before some committee—only to have to climb the Hill the next day or the next week to tell the same story all over again to another committee.

There are few men on either side of the Capitol who know more about committees than Mr. Cochran.

The 63-year-old St. Louisian has been a member of Congress for 18 years. Before that he was secretary to two Missouri congressmen and the late Gen. William J. Stone.

He is now chairman of the House committee on accounts, is a member of two other standing committees, one of which is that on expenditures in the executive departments, which has to keep an eye on the over-expansion and over-spending of executive bureaucracies. He's also a member of a special committee.

Don't think, however, that anything is going to be done about it. Already several bills designed to streamline Congress are gathering dust in the hoppers. The committees mean patronage in clerk hire, sometimes a pretty juicy morsel.

Committees also mean prestige and publicity. Martin Dies might be just another representative from Texas (I'll bet you can't name three others) if it hadn't been for his special committee on Un-American activities. It is likely that Sen. Truman would be talked of as a possible vice presidential candidate if it hadn't been for their activities as chairmen of their respective committees investigating war contracts and government waste.

Mr. Cochran has got himself a crusade. But any one on the Hill will tell you he'll need a sizeable army before he can knock out the expanding army of committees.

A successful Japanese drive southward along the railway might force abandonment of these bases and so vastly strengthen the Japanese position. The Nipponese are operating in considerable strength, estimated at 70,000 men. The fact that some of these have been withdrawn from Manchuria may mean that the Japanese are worrying less about Russia's intentions.

the recommendations of the Social Security board. This may be ironed out after the war. Don't bet on it during the war. Congress has shown no inclination in that direction.

5. That Congress give the Bureau of Labor Statistics more funds to do a more complete job in working out cost-of-living figures. There is no doubt this is badly needed and it is barely possible Congress might agree. But already in the recent past Congress has looked blankly at such a suggestion.

Government Wins ...

(Continued From Page One) (government) ... by virtue of the fact that the defendants have interfered and are threatening to continue to interfere with the possession and operation of the plants. Earlier, Attorney Silas H. Strawn of the law firm representing the company, said injunction proceedings would be filed shortly demanding that government operation of the plant be halted and federal officials enjoined from entering the properties.

The move to the courts by the government and the expected legal action by the company generally were construed as meaning the initial step in a legal battle to test the right of the government to seize a private business during war time. The case, court observers said, probably will lead to the United States Supreme Court before final disposition.

The case stemmed from a labor dispute between the company and a CIO union in its plant. It was the War Labor Board order directing the company to extend an expired contract with the union that resulted in President Roosevelt's directive to seize the plant. He has steadfastly maintained that Mr. Roosevelt's order was unconstitutional.

When Knox became Navy Secretary America was faced, as he saw it, with at least a two-ocean war and it had an inadequate one ocean navy. His big job therefore was to promote the building up of the fleet.

He rarely claimed any special credit for what he contributed to his task, but it was with the utmost pride that he announced from time to time the addition to the growing fleet of new battleships, aircraft carriers and other craft.

Only last March 14 he told a press conference that nearly a dozen ships a day would go into service in 1944. A few months earlier, on Navy Day last October, he had stated his lifetime philosophy in a general order to the fleet.

"To the men of the fleet I say with confidence and with pride: Seek out the enemy—and destroy him! Today, tomorrow and tomorrow we must attack!"

MISSIONARIES ARE RESCUED

Forty Nuns Included In Refugees In Hollandia Area

By CHARLES H. MONTGOMERY, Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, April 28 (AP)—One hundred foreign missionaries, including 40 nuns, have been rescued at Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

"It is with peculiar pleasure that I can report the rescue from the enemy in the Hollandia operations of 100 foreign missionaries including 40 nuns," MacArthur said in a special release.

"These include 13 Americans, seven Dutch, three Poles, one Australian, one Czechoslovakian and the remainder Germans. They were originally stationed at mission stations along the north coast of New Guinea.

"The rescue of these Christian workers seems especially beneficent act of providence."

The first group of missionaries filtered into American army headquarters at Hollandia Tuesday night, three days after American forces invaded the former Japanese air base.

Twenty three missionaries had to be brought out of the hills on stretchers. All 100 were suffering from privations of 25 months in the jungle mountains where all Allies and Germans alike had grouped.

Meager details available here failed to explain why the Germans sought refuge with missionaries from enemy countries instead of with their own Japanese Allies. Disposition of the Germans was not stated but it seems probable they will be interned.

Chinese Push Japanese Back

Chungking, April 28 (AP)—Considerable improvement in the Chinese situation in northern Honan province was announced today by a Chinese army spokesman, who said Japanese forces, driving on Loyang from the southeast had been hurled back about 40 miles.

Another enemy column which for a time menaced Loyang from the east has been halted in strategic Huhai pass, the spokesman said, and a Japanese drive down the Peiping-Hankow railway has been blunted 40 miles south of Chenghsien, a strategic junction now in Japanese hands.

Chinese military authorities announced earlier in the day that enemy troops entered Chenghsien the morning of April 22, confirming front dispatches that had indicated several days ago the city had fallen.

Loyang was a major objective of the Japanese offensive launched 10 days ago in the wheat-producing section of central China below the Yellow river. The enemy has been trying to wipe out a salient the Chinese hold across the north-south Peiping-Hankow railway line.

FIFTEEN DIE IN SHIP FIRE

Twenty Others Injured At Norfolk Navy Yard

Portsmouth, Va., April 28 (AP)—Fifteen civilian workmen died from suffocation and 20 others were injured last night at the Norfolk Navy Yard when fire broke out in the hold of a naval ship undergoing repairs. The cause of the fire was not disclosed.

The fire was reported about 6:20 p. m., and within two hours 30 workmen had been carried from the vessel, unconscious from smoke and fumes. Damage to the ship was believed small.

All the dead, whose families were notified by chaplains at the navy base, were from Portsmouth and Norfolk.

Navy yard officials said none of the 20 injured was in serious condition.

One navy man who was on the scene early said that when he reached the hold of the ship he "saw at least 25 men lying around, all unconscious."

The sailor, Edgar B. Johnson, 21, pharmacist's mate, third class, U. S. N. R., of Buzzards Bay, Mass., was put to bed suffering from exhaustion after applying artificial respiration to victims for more than two hours.

"It was awful," he said. "We worked on the men right where we found them. The fumes had cleared out pretty well. We worked over them until they were pronounced dead. The dead men appeared to have been suffocated. Some were burned, but only slightly. None of them seemed to have burns severe enough to have caused death. We had all the inhalators we could get hold of."

High tribute to all those who participated in the rescue work was expressed by Lt. David J. Kieselbach, USNR, navy yard safety officer.

Navy yard officials declined comment on the fire's cause and announced that a court of inquiry would be appointed immediately.

Women IN THE CHURCH

by Mary Fowler

Dr. Cyril Forster Garbett, the Archbishop of York, recently visiting the United States, has recommended to the Church of England that it appoint, in the post-war years, "practical reconcilers" to help repair broken marriages. "I hope that there may be set apart some experienced men and women," he says, "to act as practical reconcilers, to whom husband and wife can turn for advice, and with whom they can confidently discuss their marriage difficulties before they decide on separation or divorce. There is much to be said for some simple service of rededication or renewal of marriage vows, which might be used by those who wish to make a new start."

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The war stories I like best, Judge, are the ones by the special writers overseas who live right with our troops. They give us a better idea of how our men react to things going on over there and back here at home."

"I agree with you, Sam. I never miss one of those stories in the papers or magazines. And there's one thing those writers seem to agree on no matter where they are stationed with our men... and that is that the men who have left their homes and families to go away and fight this war don't want to come back and find that prohibition has been put over on them while they were away... either nationally or locally. They have heard about the attempts being made and they resent it bitterly."

"I agree with them, Judge, even though I don't happen to drink myself. Furthermore, I don't think it's fair for us at home to be making any major changes while 10,000,000 of our fighting men are away and have no chance to express their opinions."

ASK CHANGE IN WAGE CONTROL

White Collar Workers Would Benefit By Action

By DON HYNDMAN
Washington, April 26—(AP)—Abandonment of federal wage controls over incomes up to $150 a month for single workers and $200 for family heads was urged today by a special Senate committee which pictured 20,000 persons in white collar and low income groups as living now "between subsistence and privation."

The sub-committee headed by Senator Pepper (D-Pa.) recommended that the War Labor Board relax the Little Steel Formula, to allow employers to raise salaries or wages up to those levels without WLB approval.

In addition, the group called for increased funds for the Office of Price Administration to enforce more rigid price controls and check "the present inflationary trend."

Listing clerks, teachers, stenographers, local government employees, pensioners and veterans' dependents as among those hardest hit by increased living costs, the report said that for them "inflation has already begun."

The OPA has done good work by keeping prices within some kind of limits, especially during the last year, but it has been denied the funds and personnel needed to do its job effectively," the report said.

"The result has been a slow, creeping inflation which, unless it is checked, carries with it the promise of future chaos."

Testimony taken during two months of hearings showed that low income groups "dwell constantly in a borderland between subsistence and privation, where even the utmost thrift and caution do not suffice to make ends meet," the sub-committee found, adding:

"Their standards of dress and nutrition, their continued education, their health safeguards, and such modest security as they have been able to set up against future need are being foregone in a desperate attempt to meet the demands of the moment."

In 1943 the nation's airlines flew 65 per cent more airmail-pound miles than in 1942.
