Axis Smashing Into 'Hitler Line'

Press Forward In Italy Along 25-Mile Front Thrusting Into Defenses Toward Key Apennine Way And Road To Rome; Nazis Admit 'Hitler Line' Dented

By NOLAN NORGAARD Allied Headquarters, Naples, May 19.—(AP)—French troops and U. S. tanks broke into the Hitler line at its very center today in a smash toward Sant'Oliva, a front dispatch declared, as the Allies hammered all along the front at this new mountain wall manned by the Germans after "a disorderly retreat."

Sant'Oliva—only four miles from Pico on the inland road supplying the Nazi front—is at the tip of a pie-shaped wedge driven into the mountains between Pontecorvo and French-captured Esperia.

A headquarters officer declared the Germans had made "a disorderly retreat instead of a mere withdrawal" between the Liri valley and the sea when they fell back from their smashed Gustav defenses to the Hitler line under combined American and French blows.

The Nazis suffered heavy losses in equipment, and their artillery strength particularly has diminished, he asserted.

Even as the French supported by American tanks threatened Sant'Oliva, U. S. troops struck close to the key Apennine Way junction of Itri, menacing the German supply road from the coastal end. British and Polish troops were pushing westward from their victory at Cassino on the northern flank.

It appeared likely that any breakthrough in the south to the outskirts of Itri would compel the Germans to pull out the entire southwestern end of the Hitler line and swing their front into the mountain range running southwestward from Pontecorvo through Fondi to Terracina on the coast.

But such a line would be vulnerable to flank attack from the Anzio beachhead, where strong Fifth army forces are massed though quiet. It is believed the enemy has not had time to prepare fortifications on a scale comparable with the Gustav or Hitler lines.

From all reports it appeared the Fifth and Eighth armies were off to an excellent start on the avowed objective of destroying the German 10th army.

Enemy troops were badly cut up during their retreat and their artillery strength has been shaved deeply, although they held together well in some places, said a headquarters spokesman who disclosed that Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, commander-in-chief, had visited headquarters of Lt. Gen. Sir Oliver Leese of the Eighth army and Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark of the Fifth army.

Tokyo Radio Reports New Attacks On Dutch Indies

New York, May 19.—(AP)—The Tokyo radio said today that Soerabaja, one of Japan's key bases in the Netherlands East Indies, had been raided twice by Allied bombers on the mornings of May 17 and 18 and the Japanese account suggested that Allied naval and air task forces from India were carrying out another of their bold sweeps, this time in conjunction with U. S. Pacific forces.

The broadcast, recorded by U. S. government monitors, said some 50 bombers and fighters "coming from the direction of the Indian Ocean" carried out the first attack.

It appears as though the enemy came as a portion of a task unit based on an aircraft carrier, it added.

The following morning, Tokyo added, a string of bombers shot over Soerabaja "one by one" and appeared to be Consolidated bombers—such as operate from the Pacific.

A powerful task force, including an American aircraft carrier under the command of Admiral Sir James Somerville, commander-in-chief of the British eastern fleet at Ceylon, last was reported in action on April 19 when it attacked Sabang and Sumatra at the western end of the Dutch East Indies.

Soerabaja is the once powerful Dutch naval base on Java. Tokyo said "some damage" was done installations in the first attack by carrier planes, but claimed that three of the attacking planes were shot down by ground defenses and two more were damaged in the second attack. No mention was made of any defense by aircraft.

Commandos Seize German General

Cairo, May 19.—(AP)—It was the night of April 26, and Maj. Gen. Karl Heinrich Georg Ferdinand Kriepe, stoutish commander of the 22nd panzer Grenadiers, was being driven home in his automobile from his headquarters at Harakleion in Nazi-occupied Crete.

A red light waved in the middle of the road. The car halted. A group of men surrounded it, opened the door, and a voice in German said: "You must now consider yourselves British prisoners of war."

The astonished general saw one British officer replace the German driver, and others occupy the rear seat. All emphasized their desire for complete obedience with drawn pistols.

Then the car, flying the general's pennant, turned about and drove through 22 Nazi military control posts. After about 30 miles the car was abandoned and the party embarked in a British ship.

A note left in the car informed the Germans that their divisional commander had been captured by a British raiding force, and pointed out the capture had been effected without the aid of Creteans or Cretan partisans. A postscript added: "We were very sorry to leave this motor car behind."

The complete story of the incident was unfolded here yesterday for the first time. Capt. G. W. General was announced previously but no details were given. (Continued on Page Four)

NAZIS AWAIT ALLIED PUSH

Expect Simultaneous Drives From Russia and England

By JAMES M. LONG London, May 19.—(AP)—Heavy new German bombings of communications and concentrations behind the Russian front indicated today the Nazis expect an immediate renewal of the Red Army's offensive—a mighty thrust which the enemy said would be coordinated with invasion from the west.

Hitler's command reported heavy bombing blows on the rail stations of Moscow, Smolensk and Stolobnovo, suggesting that the Germans expected the new drive to explode in the central Polish front. There the Russians have been massing at the nearest point to the heart of the Reich—as close to Berlin as the American and British invasion forces are in this island.

German propaganda kept up a scattergun guesswork locating the potential invasion on virtually every beachhead from Norway to the Bay of Biscay. The Luftwaffe shifted its moonless night reconnaissance from (Continued on page four)

House Passes War Widows' Pension

Washington, May 19.—(AP)—House passage by a unanimous vote sent to the senate today legislation to give monthly pensions to widows and children of World War I veterans whose death cannot be attributed to service-connected disability.

Existing law requires a showing that the veteran, at the time of his death, had a service-incurred or service-aggravated disability. Monthly pension rates under the legislation are: Widow with no children, $30; widow with one child, $38 (with $4 additional for each additional child); no widow but one child, $15; no widow but two children, $22; no widow but three children, $30 (with $3 for each additional child).

Many Pro-Nazi Turks Arrested

London, May 19.—(AP)—Arrest of several leaders of the Turkish pro-Nazi organization, "Pan-Turanian," said to have been plotting to overthrow the present government in neutral Turkey, was announced in an Ankara broadcast last night which declared that martial law had been imposed at Istanbul.

The broadcast, recorded by the British Ministry of Information, said that a series of raids conducted by military authorities had uncovered documents disclosing that the organization had been "building up a nation-wide organization, preparing plans and signing agreements aimed at the overthrow of the present regime."

The radio said the organization "made use of ciphers and codes in communications with its members."

More Allied Gains In East Asia Operations

Chinese Defenders Of Loyang Reported Encircled By Japanese Forces

By SPENCER MOOSA Chungking, May 19.—(AP)—A Chinese army spokesman conveyed today that the defenders of the ancient city of Loyang in Honan province were surrounded and completely cut off, but he said the Chinese still retained 80 to 90 per cent of the city and were "determined to hold out."

It was announced that the Japanese who cut the east-west Lunghai railway west of the invaders from Shan-shi province and in a further push had reached the railway town of Shanshan. This town is 49 miles from Tungkuang, the gateway to the northwest at the Yellow river elbow.

Meanwhile Japanese troops thrusting westward south of the Lunghai rail line were declared to have advanced to a point 58 miles east southeast of Tungkuang.

The Chinese offensive in Yunnan province, aimed at a junction with Lt. Gen. Joseph Stilwell's forces in north Burma and reopening the Burma road, is making further advances west of the Salween river, the spokesman said.

Supporting that Chinese drive, American airmen attacked Teng-chung and Lungling, principal Japanese bases in Yunnan.

Chinese troops were reported to have reached at two points the western slopes of the formidable Kaoli range, running north and south between the Salween and Shweli rivers.

American Bombers Blast At Berlin Again Today

NAZI DISASTER IN THE CRIMEA

Only 30,000 Of 200,000 Axis Troops Made Escape

By EDDY GILMORE Sevastopol, May 19.—(AP)—Seven miles from battered Sevastopol on the ancient Chersonnes Cape lie the smoldering, smelling remains of one of Hitler's most disastrous military operations of the war, viewed for the first time by any war correspondent.

The beaten, shaken and demoralized German army of the Crimea—once 200,000 strong—fell back here for its promised evacuation to Romania after the Red army cracked the defenses of Sevastopol, itself a smoking city of dead where only a few buildings are left standing.

At Chersonnes Cape, on blood-soaked soil within shooting distance of the scene of the famous Charge of the Light Brigade is the grim, grisly story of another of Hitler's Russian campaign errors of holding on until time ran out.

American made tanks, incidentally, played a part in the fatal finale in the latest Crimean war which ended May 12.

Col. Gen. Sergei Birinzov, 40, chief of staff of the Fourth Ukrainian army, said 25,000 Nazi prisoners were taken here but the mute dead, the shocking scene of their last hours and the prisoners tell the real horror of what a colonel of the 11th German infantry division described as "immeasurably worse than Dunkerque."

But here it is before me. I'll try to let you see for yourself through my eyes.

We are standing on a cliff about 35 feet high, overlooking the Black Sea. Behind us is the dead city of Sevastopol. Delayed action mines and bombs are exposing themselves by sometimes exploding in front of us somewhere over the blue horizon is Romania, which was the German goal. Immediately behind us is what once was an airfield.

Just below, the waterline is strewn with German corpses. In between the sprawled, drowned dead lie beached rafts—hopeless, home made affairs on which hundreds tried to get out.

Fifty feet to my right is a beach, burned out landing barge crammed with corpses. A hundred feet to the left the black hull of a small transport sticks out like a sinister shark's fin.

For hundreds of yards along this cliff is the picture of many a man's last hour. It is the story of what he did in those last minutes with the Red army blasting him to bits from one side and the cold sea on the other.

To make the rafts the Germans put planks together with gasoline tanks, ammunition boxes and food (Continued on Page Four)

AIR WAR NOT YET AT PEAK

Gen. Arnold Declares Greater Blows Yet To Come

By WILLIAM FAKE Washington, May 19.—(AP)—To German Europe, battered by the combined bomber offensive, went word today from Gen. H. H. Arnold that these air attacks, fierce as they are, have yet to reach their peak.

In his first press conference here in months, the commanding general of the air force presented to reporters yesterday the outline of a combat organization of 2,300,000 officers and men which doesn't know its own strength, but has an impressive record of achievement.

"I don't know what an air force can do," said Arnold. "There never has been an air force constructed in the world before—an air force that had the power that we now have to use against Germany."

"Can we knock Germany out of the war? Can we break the morale of her people? I don't know, and I don't believe anybody else knows. However, we hope to get a pretty good idea of what can be expected in future air operations."

Russian Bombers Attack Finland

London, May 19.—(AP)—Russian dive-bombers attacked Kotka in southern Finland, 70 miles east of Helsinki, early today, causing damage and casualties, and seven bombers and fighters were shot down the Finnish communiqué said.

Finnish planes raided a Soviet air base on Annius last night, the communiqué added.

Army Officer Will Inspect Guardsmen

The State Guard company had a special drill at the army last night preliminary to the inspection by an army officer from Fort Bragg next Monday night. Major William H. Blount and other officers of the First Battalion will participate in the inspection, Capt. Jasper L. Jones commanding officer of the Greenville company, stated today.

The Greenville company still needs more men to bring the company up to the required quota if it is to remain in Greenville. Men from 18 to 50 years old are invited to volunteer.

Forrestal Takes Oath Of Office

Washington, May 19.—(AP)—James Vincent Forrestal, 52-year-old New York investment banker and broker who first learned about warfare as an enlisted man in the first World War, today took the oath of secretary of the navy succeeding Frank Knox, who died on April 28.

Rear Admiral Thomas L. Gatch, judge advocate general of the navy, read the oath at a brief ceremony in Forrestal's office attended by high ranking officers as well as members of Congress.

Among the first to congratulate the new secretary was Admiral Ernest J. King, navy commander in chief. Others included Admirals representing all branches of the naval service and the chairmen of the congressional naval committees, Senator Walsh (D-Mass.) and Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.).

A native of Beacon, N. Y., Forrestal served in the naval reserve as a seaman in 1917, subsequently was trained as an aviator and retired from naval service in 1919 with the rank of lieutenant.

He came to Washington in 1940 as an administrative assistant to President Roosevelt, later filling the newly-created post of undersecretary of the navy.

Brunswick Pounded In Resumption Of Aerial Offensive; Berlin Reports Air Battles Over Germany; Northern France And Belgium Also Hit

By GLADWIN HILL London, May 19.—(AP)—American Fortresses and Liberators and fighter escorts, described officially as a strong force and probably numbering up to 1,500 planes, resumed the Allied aerial offensive after a five-day lapse today and struck at targets in the Berlin and Brunswick areas.

The attack, coming less than 24 hours after Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of U. S. army air forces, had declared Germany had not yet seen the full weight of Allied air power, precipitated a running air battle right across Germany to the sky over the German capital, German broadcasts indicated.

The ensuing bombardment—the U. S. strategic air force's 10th attack on the capital this month—was so heavy that it disrupted German news broadcasts.

From the RAF and the USAAF Berlin has taken about 46,000 tons of bombs up to today.

Chances observers said the parade of aircraft setting out for the continent today was the biggest seen during the war.

While the American "heavies" were smashing at Berlin and Brunswick, small formations of Allied fighters, Mosquitos and fighter-bombers attacked unspecified objectives in northern France this morning, taking advantage of clear skies to press home the attack.

Tracing the progress of the aerial invaders, the German broadcasts said the bombers swept over the German border, crossed the much-bombed Hannover and Brunswick areas to Bradenburg in the Berlin area—and finally appeared over the German capital itself.

The American "heavies" had hit Berlin on May 7 and May 8. The German Mosquitos worked the city over on Tuesday night.

It was the first sign of major air activity from Britain in six days, but Allied heavy bombers last Sunday smashed at enemy targets from the Mediterranean on the concluding day of a historic 30-day record offensive.

As the high altitude armada swept across Europe the Vichy radio said another air assault on northern France and Belgium—a likely resumption of the attack on (Continued on page six)

Highway Surplus Will Be Needed

Raleigh, May 19.—(AP)—State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson says the mounting highway fund surplus, and more, will be needed to rebuild roads when material and labor again are available.

The surplus, which he estimated would amount to $50,000,000 by the end of the fiscal year, is piling up because the state at present is unable to obtain labor and material for repair and construction work, Johnson said in a talk yesterday before the Raleigh American Legion post.

Millions Helped By Poppies.

"Every penny from poppies that will be sold on the streets of this and thousands of other towns, villages and cities in the country, is contributed to the welfare and rehabilitation work of the American Legion and Auxiliary. Mrs. Roy Coburn, chairman of the Poppy Day sales, said today: "Because this work is being done by volunteers the money goes a long way."

"Many people have wondered what will become of the money collected by the volunteer workers Saturday, May 27. I wish everyone could see what help this money brings to the disabled and their families. Children left fatherless by two world wars are the special concern of the Legion and the Auxiliary. Their needs are often great, especially their human needs. We try to give them comfort both for the body and the mind.

"Of course the government looks after the physical welfare of the disabled men who are in hospitals in almost every state, but there are things which the government cannot provide, such as the understanding and the personal attention that so often helps a disabled man and which often helps to keep a family together when the chief breadwinner is incapacitated.

"This is what the money from the poppy sales helps to accomplish. And we hope that this year more and more people will buy poppies and show their interest in and their sympathy for the men who have fought for them and are now struggling to get back to the point where they can again become self-supporting."

Grifton Man Promoted.
With the Fifth Army, Italy, May 19—Sergeant Ivy L. Johnson, son of Mrs. Susan Johnson, who lives on Route 2, Grifton, North Carolina, has been promoted to staff sergeant. He is serving with the Third "Marne" Division of the Fifth Army in Italy.

SELECTION OF SEEDS FOR VICTORY GARDENS

After carefully studying your food budget to find the amount of food that is needed for your family, and then studying the planting schedule so as to know when certain foods should be planted you are ready to select your seed. Why should you give such careful consideration to the selection of the seed you are going to plant?

First of all you want to be sure that the seed are good and are of the highest quality. The best seed are always the cheapest in the long run, because even though they are more expensive when they are bought, they yield more produce than the cheap seed do.

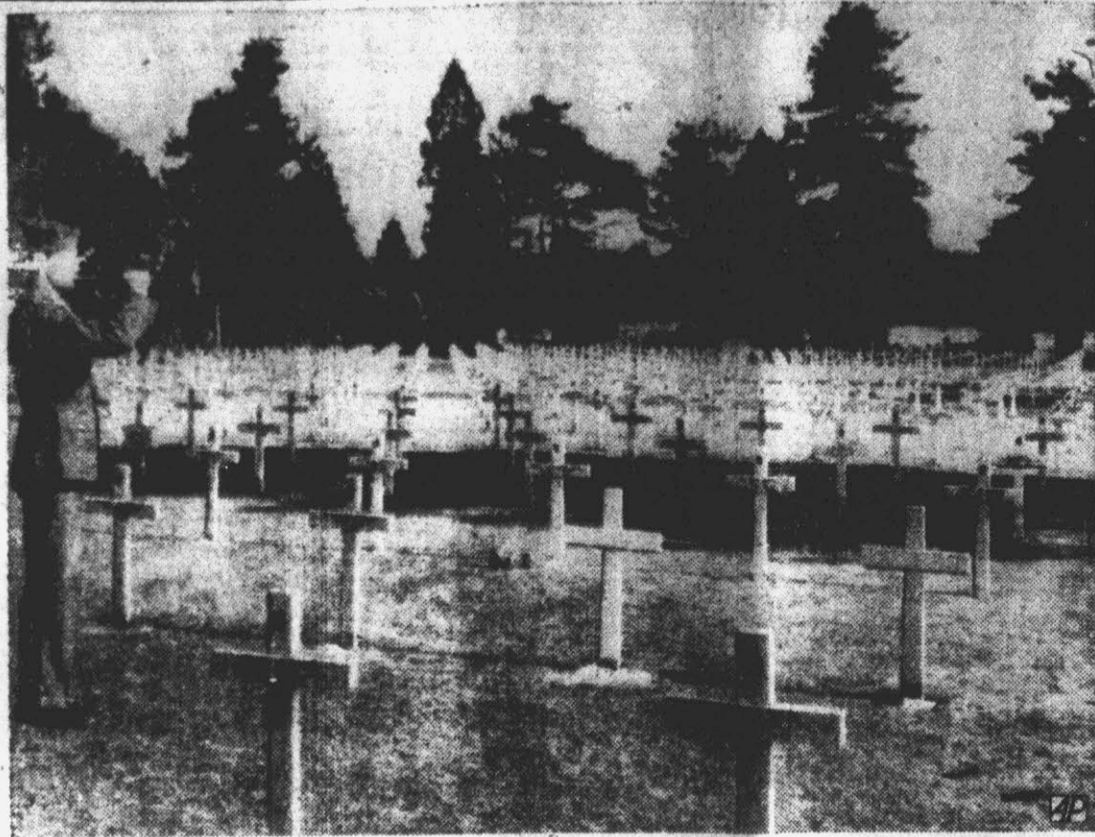

You also want seeds that are free from diseases. In order to be sure that you are getting disease-free seed, it is recommended that you buy your seed from a reliable seedsmen rather than try to save seeds from your own gardens. However, if seeds are saved at home, they should be saved from plants that are free from disease and that produced a good quality and large yields.

When purchasing seed, it always pays to get them early so that you may get the best varieties. These seeds should not be wasted. After planting the garden, any seeds that are left over should be stored in a ventilated tin or glass container and be put in a cool, dry place until needed for planting a later garden.

The Japs have demonstrated the utility of the torpedo boat and hereafter the nations of the world will hesitate longer before deciding to spend millions on many heavy battleships, each of which may be put out of business by one stroke from a small and less expensive vessel containing a few men. Hundreds of men are shut up in a cumbersome floating sheet of steel, and against them are opposed a few who seek only the opportunity to place one quick blow which will send men and millions to the bottom. There is a serious similarity between these conditions and those which prevailed at the time armor was made of gunpowder.—(Atlanta Journal.)

Taylor E. Barrow Died Last Night

Taylor Everett Barrow, 78, prominent and highly esteemed Greene county citizen, died suddenly Thursday night at his home near Farmville. He had been in ill health for the past nine years, due to heart complications.

Final rites will be held Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the home by Rev. J. Bascom Hurley of Snow Hill, pastor of Mount Hermon Methodist Church, of which he had been a faithful member for more than sixty years. Rev. J. A. Russell, superintendent of the New Bern district, will assist in the service.

Mr. Barrow was the oldest living member of the Snow Hill Masonic Lodge No. 132, and his brother Masons will have charge of the interment which will be made in Hollywood cemetery in Farmville, beside his wife, the former Miss Lucy Tyson, who preceded him by 14 years. Friends will assist as honorary pallbearers.

Mr. Barrow was the son of the late Taylor Everett Barrow and Mary Ann Sugg and was the last surviving member of his immediate family.

of the Mount Hermon board of stewards for 35 years, as superintendent of the Sunday school 25 years, and has served Greene county on the Board of Education and as County Commissioner.

Surviving are four daughters, Misses Gladys and Mary T. Barrow and Mrs. Ed Nash Warren of Farmville, and Mrs. A. F. Hammond, Jr. of Hopkinton, Ky.; two sons, Seth T. of Farmville, and Taylor E. Barrow, Jr., who is serving with the 15 chemical maintenance company of the U. S. Army in the Southwest Pacific area.

Farmer With Dairy Cows Is Prosperous

BY CHESTER WALSH
"It would be rather surprising to many of our people if they knew how few farmers in this county have cows and provide enough milk for their own home consumption, and yet agricultural specialists have made the statement that a cow on a farm (with pasture range) will pay for itself with the manure it provides for fertilizer.
"This is singularly interesting.

While the government, the public health services, the Army and Navy nutrition specialists and medical men have urged the drinking of milk for health's sake, farmers have sold off their cows for beef, and dairy farmers have sold their herds for beef, reaping the profit of wartime prices," the man who knew what he was talking about, said.

"I would like to pass along a word to you, Mr. Newspaperman, that you may pass along that will long be remembered. When this war is over there will be more profit in dairy cattle than in beef cattle, everywhere, except on the western open ranges.

"Riding westward a traveler on a train, car or bus is impressed with the prosperous farm houses, buildings, etc., seen in the Kentucky dairying hills, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota (where much of the nation's cheese and other dairy products are made). The traveler gets an impression that the farmers in those states are making money and are prosperous and they are right.

The dairy farmers of the middle west work on a business basis and the dairy cow is the foundation of it all. When the farmers of Eastern Carolina wake up to the importance of having dairy cows on their farms they will know prosperity better than they do now. The price of beef will not always be as high as it is now and the supply of beef may become suddenly plentiful.

"In the history of American farming the farmers who have dairy cattle are those listed among the prosperous. Incidentally, there are farmers here in the East who are extensive tobacco growers, but they accumulate a lot of ready cash from the sale of their milk," the man who knows about dairying said emphatically.

R. C. Deal Widely Known As Speaker

Prof. Ralph C. Deal, director of instruction in foreign languages at East Carolina Teachers College, known widely as a genuine after-dinner humorist, has made quite a few speeches in the last 22 years. The record shows about 100 speeches made in Greenville and Pitt county, and 185 after-dinner addresses made outside this area.

These speeches have averaged about 25 minutes in length, making a total of 10,900 minutes or 181 hours and 40 minutes. At 120 words per minute the total reaches 1,308,000 words. Reckoning in fair print at three words per inch, the speeches stretch out to 436,000 inches or 6 miles, 463 feet, 4 inches—a considerable distance in any man's language.

To make these speeches Prof. Deal has traveled as far north as Quebec as far south as Miami, as far east

Rain Thursday Night Helped The Crops

A thunderstorm in the Greenville area last night about 9 o'clock, accompanied by slightly less than a half inch of rain, was a blessing to tobacco farmers and gardeners. A heavy electrical disturbance and some wind accompanied the storm, the first rain to fall here in some time. The rain was not general. It fell in scattered areas, but enough fell in the Bear Grass section to run off the roof tops.

The rain stimulated plant growth today's cloudiness was beneficial, young plants, farmers said.

Negro School Will Have Commencement

By CHESTER WALSH

Rev. W. F. Elliott, pastor of the First Baptist Church of High Point, will preach the baccalaureate sermon at the C. M. Eppes Negro High School exercises at Sycamore Hill Baptist Church Sunday night at 8 o'clock, Prof. W. H. Davenport, principal, announced today.

The program will be as follows: Processional, "The Lord is Great;" Invocation by Rev. S. P. League; Response by the Glee Club; Hymn, "Now Thank We All Our God," by mixed chorus; Scripture reading by Rev. O. J. Rooks; "Awake, Awake, For Night is Flying," (Bach), by Girls' Glee Club; presentation of speaker; solo, "O Rest in the Lord" (Mendelssohn) by Jean Johnson; announcements; benediction by the Rev. J. A. Nimmo; response by the Glee Club, and recessional, "God of Our Fathers," (DeKoven).

"The Negro schools in Greenville are nearing the end of the third year of wartime activity and have done good work. The school spirit is excellent, cooperation among school officials, teachers, parents and students has been creditable and worthy of special mention," June H. Rose, superintendent of Greenville schools, stated. "A progressive spirit prevails among our Negro schools. They have done outstanding work in educating the youth, developing and nourishing understanding and good will between the two races, and they have participated in every community undertaking in the benefit of all of our people," Mr. Rose added.

New Anti-Aircraft Weapon Developed

Camp Davis, May 19.—(AP)—Development by the army of an 120 millimeter stratosphere-piercing anti-aircraft gun has been disclosed here.

The new weapon has a vertical range four miles greater than any other anti-aircraft gun now in use, said a War Department-sanctioned statement by Brig. Gen. C. V. R. Schuyler, commanding general of the Camp Davis training center, and Col. Perry W. Lewis, anti-aircraft artillery board head.

The 120 mm. gun fires a 50-pound projectile and can be operated at an amazing rate of fire, blanketing huge stratosphere areas and sub-levels with flak, the statement said.

The announcement said the new weapon "powerfully augments" the 90 mm. gun now in use on all fronts, has a muzzle velocity exceeding that of the army's best rifles.

Freight Wreck Halts Traffic

Dillon, S. C., May 19.—(AP)—All traffic on the Atlantic Coast Line's main north-south route was blocked when hundreds of tons of gravel were dumped upon the tracks by a freight train wreck inside Dillon's city limits early today.

Twelve cars of a southbound train were piled up, eight of them steel gondolas loaded with granite gravel. Railroad men said they were unable to account for the wreck.

There were no known injuries. About 50 trains a day use this route, and most of them were being derailed.

Roadmaster W. L. Freeman said it was possible one track might be cleared by midnight.

The work was slow, however, because wrecking crews had to await the removal of the huge quantities of gravel by hand shoveling before they could use their heavy equipment.

The 12 cars wrecked were in the middle of the train.

British Officers Killed By Nazis

London, May 19.—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden disclosed today 47 RAF officers had been shot by Germans after a mass escape from a war prison camp near Dresden on March 25.

Seventy-six officers participated in the break, Eden told the House of Commons. Fifteen were reported captured alive, and 14 still at large. Some were shot resisting arrest and some in the course of a new escape attempt after they were captured, Eden said.

It was the first such episode of the war.

"The government is profoundly shocked by this news and I have urgently requested the protecting power (Switzerland, through which notification of the deaths came to the relatives and the Air Ministry) to demand from the German government a full and immediate report of the circumstances in which these men met their deaths, and an explanation of its failure to report the facts at once to the protecting power," Eden said.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

MISFORTUNE IS SOMETIMES A FRIEND

How does it happen that a just and loving Heavenly Father will permit pain to be used as one of the greatest of all means by which He binds men's hearts to His heart?

Simply because there is nothing that drives men and women back upon a reliance upon God and His power quite so much as the experience of misfortune.

Answers like that have made Forrestal popular with Republicans and Democrats alike. A few days before, an admiral before the committee had become indignant and frozen up at virtually the same question.

He has been described and very accurately as "5-foot-9" of reticence." Asked once what his hobby was, he answered without hesitating, "Obscurity." He must have meant it, too, for of all the big guns in Washington, he has talked less for publication and made fewer "personal appearances" than any other.

Chinese Defenders . . .

The spokesman said the attack on Myitkyina combined with the cutting of the Myitkyina-Bhamo highway and the severance of the Burma railway at Indaw by British parachute troops had blocked the Japanese supply route in northern Burma.

Washington.—President Roosevelt hasn't made an appointment that has met with such unanimous approval on Capitol Hill as that of James Vincent Forrestal to Secretary of the Navy.

It was reportedly Harry Hopkins who suggested bringing Forrestal to Washington and urged his appointment as Under Secretary of the Navy.

In his years as Under Secretary, he has appeared before various committees of Congress scores of times and it was there he earned the respect of the members.

Brief and brilliant, he never groped for an answer and questions that would have antagonized some government officials always got a straightforward answer.

He replied: "Well, I think that is a very sensible question, human nature being what it is."

THE WAR TODAY

Today On The . . .

Action against the Smith book started when a mail clerk took "Strange Fruit" to his superiors to ask whether it should be considered non-mailable.

The Japanese also were engaged in struggles along the Myitkyina-Bhamo road where in one instance Gurkhas withdrew from a closing pincer and watched two enemy parties fight each other for an hour.

American . . .

Japanese storming against an Allied roadblock by Chindits in the Mawlu vicinity 150 miles southwest of Myitkyina were engaged in a bitter 11-hour battle.

The bodies of a company commander and two other officers were found among one group of 40 Japanese slain by elements of the Chinese 38th division.

It was disclosed that the glider operation leading to the attack on Myitkyina was carried out without loss of life and with only one injury.

Nazi Disaster . . .

"About 30,000," said Gen. Brimzov, "includes Romanians and Germans. But remember, they had 200,000."

Just off the right about 300 yards is bomb-plastered Chersonne's lighthouse where German General Boehme hid in the last hours.

"He was crazy in the last days," he said. "We had to watch him to keep him from committing suicide. He just sat in the cellar, moaned and held his head while shells burst above. No, it wasn't from fright. He just did not want to surrender."

used his colonel's offer to surrender to the advancing Russians. Finally the men took matters in their own hands and came out with white flags and handkerchiefs.

Air War Not . . .

(Continued From Page One) In all theaters, from the start of the war to May 15, the army air forces flew 748,353 sorties, dropped 468,391 tons of bombs, destroyed 20,174 enemy planes, probably destroyed 4,997, and damaged 6,978, while losing 6,154.

Combined bomber missions in Europe now reach all German-held territory—the Nazis no longer can move their factories out of danger. But they have a "remarkable facility" in rebuilding.

Nazis Await . . .

(Continued From Page One) South England to Scotland. British motorists were warned that on D-day and afterwards, they must expect all civilian traffic to be diverted from many main roads and that the highways generally in the invasion springboard area would be closed to all but military traffic.

The Allied command declared the Americans were in close contact with the battered enemy in the mountains forming the southern strongholds of the Hitler line and asserted that the Eighth army, "quick to exploit its successes" in the Cassino region, "pressed the enemy vigorously back against the line."

On the west coast, Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Americans mopped up the few snipers left in captured Formia and a spokesman declared that other Fifth army units were "poised before Itri" without specifying how near that junction the advanced elements had progressed.

Europe, the report said. "It is quite possible that the Allied offensive in southern Italy is an overtone to the much heralded drama of the Anglo-Saxon, full scale assault on Europe." Capt. Ludwig Serfortius said over the Berlin radio, "Moreover, it is likely that the overtone will soon merge into the first act."

Allies Smashing . . .

(Continued from page one) line said the French troops and American tanks entered Sant' Oliva late yesterday and held the top of the hill on which the town is located, through several hours of German counterattacks this morning.

The German high command, reporting the heaviest fighting in the center, at Pontecorvo and to the southwest, acknowledged a "local dent" in the Hitler line at Sant' Oliva but said it was "sealed off."

This indicated a French-driven wedge toward the mountain only some four miles from Pico, on the inland road from threatened Itri.)

Poles of the Eighth army, pushing beyond fallen Cassino on the northern flank, fought within a mile and a half of Piedimonte, four miles west of Cassino near highway 6—the road to Rome.

The Allied command declared the Americans were in close contact with the battered enemy in the mountains forming the southern strongholds of the Hitler line and asserted that the Eighth army, "quick to exploit its successes" in the Cassino region, "pressed the enemy vigorously back against the line."

LADY IN A WHIRL

By Esther Valck Georgons

Chapter 3

Between indignation and surprise Cora was unable to move. Then she felt Zeld's hand on her arm and went into action. She jumped up, swung back the tapestry and tried the secret door. Surprisingly it opened.

"Come on!" Grabbing Zeld, she yanked her through the opening.

The door closed just as the lights went on in the dining room.

"How did you know this was here?" Zeld asked breathlessly.

"Ssh! I found it while you were upstairs. I didn't know it was unlocked though. Lucky, wasn't it?"

"It won't make any difference. They'll find the door and it'll look worse than if we'd stayed out there."

"Don't be silly," said Cora scornfully. "Those cops won't look under the tapestry, and when they all over wiser." She could not resist adding, "You wouldn't listen to me!"

"Stuffy, isn't it?" Zeld said.

"I suppose it's a store room," Cora surmised. "I wonder if the count got away."

Zeld said nothing but Cora felt her stiffen against her.

Things seemed to be calming down outside. "Maybe we'll get away with it after all," Zeld remarked.

"Of course we'll get away with it," said Cora firmly.

Finally Zeld became impatient. "Let's go," she said.

"I guess it's safe now," Cora fumbled in the dark for the latch but could not find it. She ran her hand up and down the door and found something that felt like a bolt, but no knob or handle of any kind.

"Why—I—I guess we're locked in."

"Nonsense," said Zeld doubtfully. "It wasn't locked when we came in, anyway."

She fished in her bag and brought out her cigarette lighter and with that they located an electric switch and pressed the button.

"Looks like a hall bedroom," Cora said.

They were in a small room furnished with two cots that seemed to have been lately slept in, and a table with the remnants of a meal in evidence. There were no windows but there was a door at the other end.

There seemed no possible way of opening the door by which they had entered. There was a slide bolt on the inside but nothing else. Evidently, the latch operated only from the outside.

"Now what?" asked Zeld.

For a minute Cora was stumped. Then: "Why, how silly! We'll go out the other door, of course."

But that door was locked also.

"Well, I guess we're shut in, all right," quavered Cora, and she began to hiccup from excitement.

"For goodness sake, stop that! Somebody'll find us!"

"Oh, h—of course," agreed Cora. "We won't starve anyway. Not for a while. We can hic—eat the scraps."

"To be sure," said Zeld brightly.

But there was something terrifying about being locked in that small, airless room.

"Maybe we'll just moulder away in here," Zeld said after a minute. "Maybe when they find us we'll just be bones and—hic—hair!"

"Don't," said Zeld.

"Well, it's happened to people."

"Yes, but it isn't going to happen to me." She inspected the door again. "What kind of a lock is on the outside?"

"No lock. It's a latch. You lift it up. Like on attic doors, you know."

"Very well. We'll lift it up. Give me one of your hairpins."

Cora handed her one of her long, metal hairpins and Zeld straightened it and forced it through the crack in the door. It reached and she could feel the latch but she could not lift it. All she did was bend the hairpin uselessly.

"Give me another," she commanded.

Finally when bent hairpins were scattered all over the floor. "I can't give you any more," Cora protested. "My hair'll fall down."

"They're no good anyway," admitted Zeld. "I need something stronger."

"A nail file would be the thing," suggested Cora.

"Undoubtedly. Only I never carry one. I file my nails in private."

They stared at each other helplessly. Then Cora, interested as always, in food, wandered over to the table.

Suddenly, "Look!" she exclaimed. She was holding a steel-bladed knife.

"Step aside, woman. I'll get us out of here."

Cora inserted the blade in the crack of the door; after a little manipulation, the latch clicked and the door swung ajar.

Zeld pushed the tapestry aside and peered out. "There was a dim light in the dining room but no one was in sight. Cora prodded her impatiently from behind.

"Come on," she whispered. "Let's scam!"

They picked their way across the littered floor and reached the street door.

"I suppose someone outside sees us," said Zeld. "A cop or somebody. Maybe we can sneak out the back way."

As they stood there hesitant the door was flung open smartly, giving Cora a resounding rap on the forehead.

"Well, of all things!" she exclaimed. "You might have broken my glasses."

Then she saw the blue uniform. "Why, good evening, officer. She simpered. Her hair took that moment to collapse over her ear.

"Yeah!" said the cop, with suspicion gathering darkly in his eye.

Authorize More Landing Boats

Washington, May 19—(AP)—The house approved without dissent today legislation authorizing the navy to build an additional 1,000,000 tons of landing craft, largely to be used in Pacific operations.

The program calls for an estimated cost of $1,800,000,000.

The navy had previous authorizations for 2,000,000 tons. The army obtains its amphibious craft from the navy, Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the Naval Affairs committee said, and thus this measure is an "overall proposition" for the entire armed forces in their invasion tactics.

A moment later the house also passed and sent to the senate, likewise a bill authorizing an additional $65,000,000 for naval ordnance and production facilities, including $13,000,000 for development of rocket guns.

Appropriation bills providing the money will be introduced later.

Partisans Rout Nazis In Bosnia

London, May 19—(AP)—Hard-fighting Yugoslav Partisan troops have routed several thousand Germans in savage battles in eastern Bosnia, Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) declared today, and the Allies are continuing to give air and naval support.

Allied warships off the Dalmatian coast have sunk three enemy steamers and one boat loaded with German troops in the past three days. Tito's broadcast communique said. Planes hammered at Nazi transport and helped route enemy columns.

Nazi forces were reported still on the initiative in the Lika sector of Croatia.

Ration Suspended

Raleigh, May 19—(AP)—The Raleigh District OPA office has suspended the gasoline ration of Oscar Breese, Fayetteville funeral director, on a charge that he used gasoline issued him for business purposes to drive his automobile to Texas to visit a son in the armed forces.

Swimmer Drowns

Asheville, May 19—(AP)—An attack of cramps is believed to have caused the drowning death yesterday afternoon in Enka Lake of Lawrence C. Bailey, Valetictorian of the Sand Hill High School graduating class this week, since young Bailey ranked high in athletics and was a good swimmer.

WANT ADS PAY

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Guess we're pretty lucky in our town, Judge, that we don't have the youth problem you read about in other places." "Don't know as you can call it lucky, Harold... we saw it coming with the war and we did something about it before it hit us. We gave our 'teen age youngsters the recreational facilities they needed and really wanted. Those familiar with this wartime problem know that young folks go to places they shouldn't only when the proper places are not provided for them. Young people always want to be with others of their own age... want their own type of entertainment. Town after town has found out that once these simple wants are met, the problem is well on its way to being licked." "Guess I didn't really know how far-sighted our town really is, Judge. If we hadn't looked ahead we wouldn't have had anybody or anything to blame but ourselves, would we?"

A Reply To That Vicious Attack Against Gregg Cherry

We have read the letter of Marvin S. Revel to Gregg Cherry, as published in the Daily News last Friday morning.

We concede to Mr. Revel his right to support Professor McDonald in the present gubernatorial campaign but we condemn his misquoting an incident that happened fourteen years ago. Gregg Cherry did not say the things attributed to him in that paid advertisement. He was misquoted and misrepresented. The publication of such a letter is an obvious attempt to besmirch Gregg Cherry and to present him as a snob to the people of North Carolina. Those who wrote and sponsored this vicious attack convict themselves of being either unfair or not knowing Gregg Cherry. They have twisted an innocent remark into a false meaning. They have made a mountain of a mole hill in their effort to misrepresent Gregg Cherry as a snob.

Gregg Cherry is not a snob. All of us who know him know that he is a self-made man. He came up from the bottom. He worked his way through college. He has always been the champion of the one-gallon fellows. He was an under-dog himself and he has always shown a fellow-feeling for those who had to travel the hard way. There is nothing snobbish about Gregg Cherry. He is one of the most democratic fellows in the world. He wouldn't know how to be a snob if he tried. If Mr. Revel knows Gregg Cherry he knows this to be the truth.

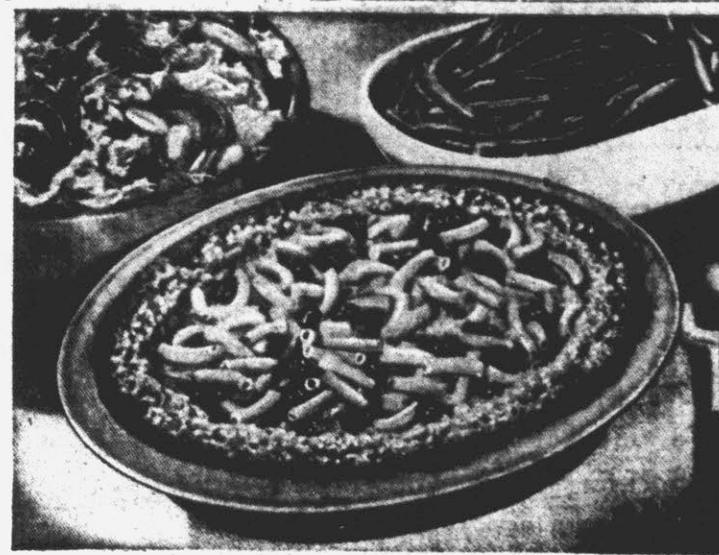

Gregg Cherry does not look down on small places. His birthplace was a farm. He doesn't live in a metropolis now. The folks on the farms and in the small communities of Gaston County supported his candidacy seven times for the General Assembly.

The reason that an overwhelming majority of the veterans of World War I are supporting Gregg Cherry is because they know him, they trust him and they believe in him. They know his war record and they know his peace record. They know that Gregg Cherry has been true to every trust. They know that his war service and his peace service qualify him to be Governor of North Carolina during the difficult years that lie ahead.

The veterans of World War I have not thrown any mud at Professor McDonald. We are advocating Gregg Cherry for Governor because of his splendid qualifications for the high office. Since the convention of 1930, referred to by Mr. Revel, Gregg Cherry has been elected seven times to the General Assembly by the industrial and agricultural county of Gaston; he has been elected Speaker of the House of Representatives by men from all counties of North Carolina. A man with Gregg Cherry's record is bound to have the confidence and esteem of men of all classes and to have enjoyed the support of men from all walks of life.

The undersigned comrades of Gregg Cherry in World War I know him as he really is. We commend him without reservations to the Democrats of North Carolina.

MACARONI CASSEROLE

By George Rector

A popular time and point saver is this all-in-one main dish I created to help you busy homemakers. Pop it into the oven and by the time the rest of the meal is ready, out comes the main dish ready for first honors.

No points are needed except for the small amount of meat and margarine. Here's how I make it:

- 6 to 8 oz. macaroni 2 tbs. fat
- 1 tbs. salt 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- 6 cups boiling water 2 eggs
- 1/2 lb. hamburger (or meat ground leftover)
- 1 1/2 cups milk, scalded
- 1/2 tsp. salt 3 tsp. B-V
- 3 tbs. minced onion 4 tbs. margarine
- 1 onion crumbs

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water 15 min. or until tender; rinse and drain well. Brown meat (which has been salted) and onion in the hot fat. Mix macaroni, meat, bread crumbs and beaten eggs. Add hot milk in which B-V has been dissolved. Mix well, transfer to well-oiled casserole, sprinkle margarine crumbs over top and bake in moderate oven, 350° F., for 50 min., or until a knife, inserted in center, comes out clean. Serve.

Complete the menu by serving green beans, a tossed salad and milk with chilled rhubarb sauce for dessert.

Looking for time savers? Why not bake cup custards for tomorrow's dinner while the casserole is baking? If you have any of the macaroni casserole left over, simply slice and brown in bacon drippings. It makes a delicious, quick luncheon dish.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, May 19—(AP)—Ralls and specialties again held the bullish spotlight in today's stock market while many industrial leaders found it difficult to attract bidders.

Another batch of dividends, mostly favorable, in addition to the generally hopeful earnings outlook, inspired further reinstatement of investment accounts. The good war news also was a factor in assuaging nervousness over the approaching invasion.

A turnover of around 800,000 shares was another of the tops for a month.

American Bombers

the enemy's anti-invasion railroads and airfields—was under way.

The Germans said heavy air battles were being fought as the Americans pierced Berlin's defenses and indicated that the center of battle was over Osnabruck where the "heavies" bombed railroad yards last Saturday in the concluding strike from Britain in the month-long offensive.

The Mediterranean army air force, which was diverted from the coordinated north-south offensive a week ago for close support of Allied armies in the new Italian drive, broke the lull on it send yesterday with a triple attack on Ploesti, Belgrade and Nis.

There was slight enemy activity over northern Scotland last night, but no bombs were dropped, the Air Ministry said.

Berlin or its environs apparently took a heavy pasting, because DNB upon returning to the air after the shutdown started a confused repeat broadcast of yesterday's high command communique.

The same thing happened after the big American raid on Berlin April 29, and apparently was due to disruption of broadcasting facilities presumably located in or close to Berlin. Transocean meanwhile merely beat out its code "interval" signal minute after minute—like-wise a symptom of disruption.

On the April 29 raid there also was a great aerial battle, in which 63 U. S. bombers were lost.

Deny Existence Of Hitler Line

New York, May 19—(AP)—A German broadcast assertion that there is no such thing as an Adolf Hitler line in Italy was echoed today by the Nazi-controlled Rome radio.

The Office of War Information said Rome, following in the Berlin radio, had declared:

"Enemy propaganda statements that the Adolf Hitler line has been reached and passed are pure imagination, since such a defense line has never existed anywhere on the Italian front.

"It is true on the other hand, that during the fighting in the past few hours the Allies and their mercenaries have been unable to prevent German units from reaching in perfect order lines farther to the rear, which were prepared some time ago."
