Allied Troops Continue Smash Forward In Italy

New Gains Scored Along Entire Italian Front North Of Rome; French Colonialists Have Seized Over Two Thirds Of Elba; Nazi Resistance Growing

By LYNN HEINZLERING Rome, June 19.—(AP)—French colonial battalions captured Portoferraio and now hold the "greater part of the island of Elba," headquarters announced today, while on the Italian peninsula mud-spattered Allied troops made gains on both flanks and in the center of their line taking Assisi, the birthplace of St. Francis.

Being down determined German resistance on Elba, the French have rounded up several hundred prisoners, including several high officers, a communique said.

A field dispatch said the French had seized more than two-thirds of Elba.

Before taking Portoferraio, the French captured Napoleon's villa. The invading forces brought artillery against the Germans bitterly contesting control of Porto Longone on the east coast.

Fifth and Eighth army troops in Italy are meeting increasing resistance as they drive the Germans back toward the Pisa-Rimini line, but more villages have been taken and strong pressure is being exerted against the stubborn German garrison at the central sector road hub of Perugia, 85 miles north of Rome and about 72 miles southeast of Florence.

Eighth army troops captured Assisi, 12 miles southeast of Perugia, and Deruta, south of the bitterly contested road junction town. A communique said that heavy fighting also had occurred at Città della Pieve, 22 miles southwest of Perugia. In the Adriatic sector, Allied troops are approaching the Tronto river.

Referring to fighting along the west coast, the communique said, "west of highway 2, Fifth army troops have driven the enemy from important defensive positions and in the coastal sector have taken Campagnatico and are now some 10 miles north of Grosseto."

The weather also hampered Allied air operations from the Mediterranean and Italian bases yesterday, but fighters of the first tactical air force made a sweep over enemy communications in southern France, destroying six locomotives, while Spitfires hit objectives in Elba.

Today On The Home Front

JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, June 19.—(AP)—Take your time when you buy a watch. Be sure that you're getting what you pay for and that the price is right.

There is an ugly story of crookedry and price gouging in Swiss watch sales in this country; all of the following is from OPA officials:

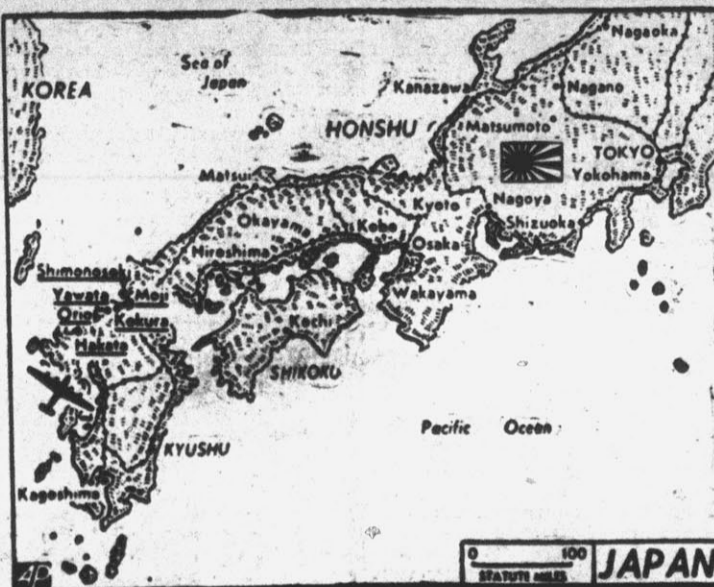

There are two main kinds of chiseling: sales at prices over OPA ceiling; and deliberate fraud in quality.

Watches of the cheapest kind have been dressed in special, fancy cases and faces to sell at fantastic prices.

Cheats have included not only fly-by-night salesmen and little retailers, but also some of the big department stores.

Example: A group of stores opened up in New York City. They refused to sell their Swiss watches to any but service people. The storekeepers figured that the service people would soon be leaving New York, would be gone before discovering they had been hoodled.

Japanese Targets Of Super-Bombers

Underlined cities, all on Kyushu Island except for Shimoneoka on Honshu, have been named in Japanese radio reports as the targets of the U. S. superfortresses in the June 15 raid upon Japan. Most damage was reported to the steel mill city of Yawata. Nearly all the giant bombers got back to their bases in western China.

AIRMAN POUND GERMAN LINES Rocket Coast And French Airfields Also Targets

By GLADWIN HILL Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, June 19.—(AP)—U. S. heavy bombers 500 to 700 strong hammered Hitler's rocket-bomb launching area at Pas-De-Calais today as more of the pilotless explosives hurtled over into England, and other big Allied planes struck heavily at German air bases in southwestern France.

The German radio said at 10 a. m. Berlin time, today that "single enemy aircraft" were over southern Austria and northern Germany, U. S. Government monitors reported.

Fighter-bombers attacking at the rate of one a minute, drove home a three-pronged assault in direct support of the invasion forces. One wave pounded trapped German forces on (Continued on page two)

David Whichard, young son of D. F. Whichard, Washington street, came near drowning in the municipal swimming pool Saturday. County Show, Parade In War Bond Rally

"We are moving forward slowly but surely—an inch at a time," said J. Herbert Waldrop, Pitt county War Finance Committee chairman, today. "Many communities throughout the state report that they are already over the top in the Fifth War Loan drive. Newspapers, radio, theatres and banks are rendering splendid service in advertising, selling and issuing bonds on our quota of $2,127,000 of which $687,000 is in E bonds. The women, merchants and farm divisions, are putting forth every effort to bring the drive to a successful conclusion on or before July 8."

New bonds issued in this drive will be dated June 26 and may be purchased on or before that date without accrued interest.

The highlight of this week will be the Army show, rally and auction sale next Thursday, sponsored by the women's division of the drive. The auction sale is being sponsored by the merchants' division. There will be a parade at 4 o'clock and a concert on the court house lawn immediately following. Prizes will be awarded. The parade, show and concert will be put on by a detail of 55 uniformed men and Air WACS from Seymour-Johnson Field. Several Broadway stars are included in the cast.

The auctioneering will be done by Ray Ogleby of Winterville.

Farmers are invited to come and bring their families and picnic at the city park on Cotanche street.

The stage show will be at 8:30 p. m. in Austin Auditorium at the college. There is no admission fee and no admittance, except to those who have purchased bonds in the Fifth War Loan drive. Tickets will be given to those who buy War Bonds.

"Chain stores, tobacco companies, theatres, oil companies, railroads and other statewide and national organizations are helping considerably in the drive, allocating a part of their purchases to Pitt county," Mr. Waldrop said. "It is not a question of whether or not you can afford to buy bonds—the question is 'Can you afford not to?'" he said in conclusion.

21 ARRESTED IN RACE RIOT AT FOUNTAIN

Quick Action By Officers Prevented More Serious Trouble Saturday Night

By CHESTER WALSH Sheriff's officers and state highway patrolmen broke up a race riot on the main street of Fountain Saturday evening about 8 o'clock and arrested 21 alleged participants—10 white men and 11 negroes.

The Greenville police patrol wagon and several cars were used to take the prisoners to the county jail here. They are charged with mutual assault with deadly weapons and inciting a race riot.

They were ordered held under $500 bond each. The white men and seven negroes provided bail, Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson stated.

Knives, rocks, coal and bottles were used by the rioters. One white man, William H. Jefferson, was cut severely on the face by a brick. Jack Wilks, negro, was stabbed in an arm and a leg. Many of the rioters were either beaten or cut.

Shotguns were beginning to make their appearance when sheriff's officers and the highway patrolmen under Lt. Lester Jones and a Greenville police car, arrived in Fountain in response to a call from Mayor Earl Travathan, after Police Chief J. O. Bryant and Patrolman Watson realized they could not stop the riot.

There had been bad feelings between negroes and whites in Fountain for the past week. A Negro went to the white men and a Negro started the row, then others took sides and in a short time the riot was approaching alarming proportions.

The rioters began to disperse when they heard the highway patrol car sirens. The officers ran from Greenville to Fountain.

Fountain citizens said their prompt arrival prevented more serious trouble.

The 11 negroes arrested are Jim Evans, Bark Evans, Roy D. Moore, Robert Lee Jones, Rom Moore, June Moore, Fred Dilda, Ernest Knight, Jack Wilks and Allie May Evans, a woman.

Whites arrested are William S. Smith, William H. Jefferson, Robert Lee Jefferson, Ellis W. Bowman, Thomas P. Ellis, Bill Langley, Edgar Baker and Rufus A. Moore.

The cases will be tried before Judge Dink James in Pitt County Recorder's Court on June 27.

Bard Is Named Undersecretary

Washington, June 19.—(AP)—Ralph A. Bard, now assistant secretary of the navy, was nominated by President Roosevelt today to be undersecretary.

The nomination to put Bard into the spot left vacant when James V. Forrestal moved up to succeed the late Frank Knox was sent to the senate.

Bard's elevation leaves vacant the post of assistant secretary, and Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said Mr. Roosevelt would await a recommendation from Forrestal before filling that post. Forrestal recommended Bard's promotion, Early said.

Of the cost, he said, "there are some who have said this bill would cost the country too much. After billions upon billions of our wealth have been destroyed by the smoke and flame of war and sent to the bottom of the sea, and to make our boys the best killers in the world, would you say that any sum we invest in rehabilitation is too much? Surely, if we spend ten billions, (Continued on Page Four)

Dewey Supporters Open Chicago Headquarters

BY JACK BELL

Chicago, June 19.—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey's board of strategy moved into Chicago to set up pre-convention headquarters today amid talk that Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio has gained ground in the fight for the Republican presidential nomination.

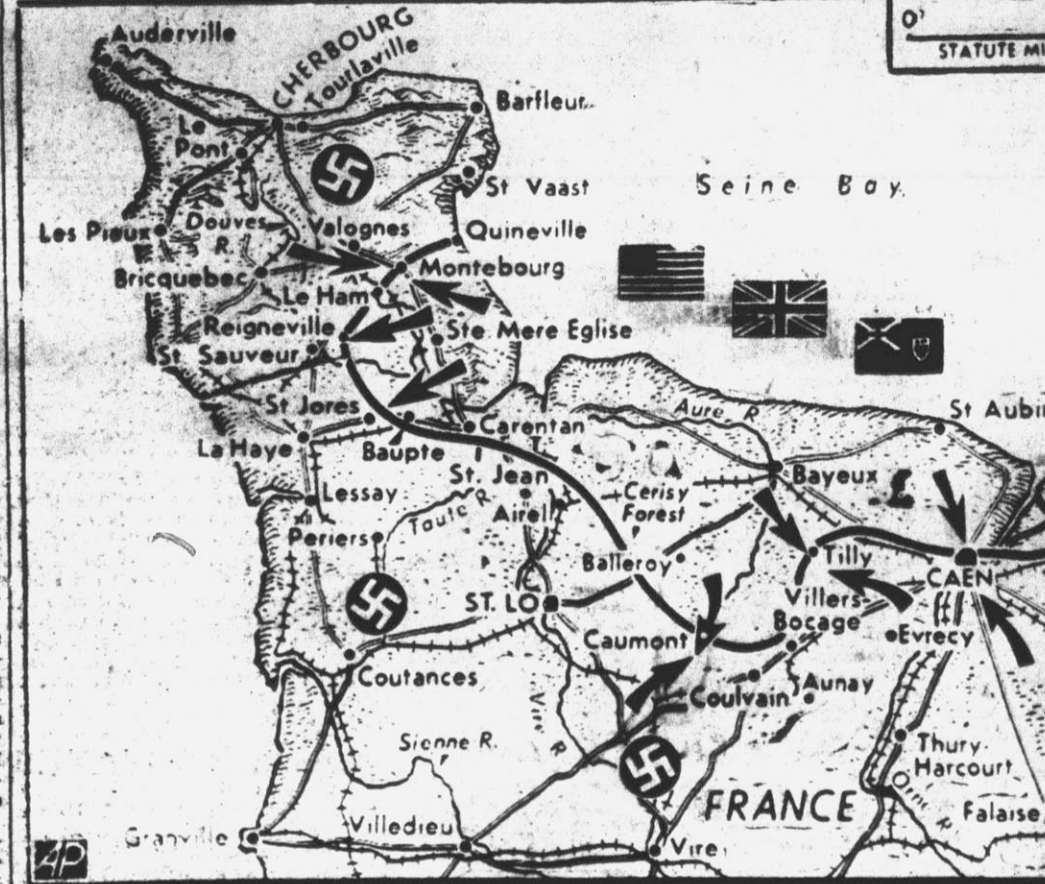

New York State Republican Chairman Edwin Frank Jaelke, National Committeeman J. Russell Sprague, and Herbert Brownell, Dewey's gubernatorial campaign manager, sent advance word to Mrs. Ruth Mann McCormick Strongs, self-described advance agent of a "draft Dewey" movement that they were ready for a news interview at 4 p. m. (central wartime). There were unconfirmed reports that they would give word of Dewey being willing to accept the nomination.

This contrasted sharply with Dewey's personal reticence to discuss presidential aspirations.

Talk circulated along Chicago's jammed hotel row, meanwhile, that the indefatigable Bricker, who has spoken in every section of the country, was enlisting some new delegate strength as some early arrivals stood

LEGION ASKS VETERAN AID Returning Veterans Entitled To Every Opportunity

Asheville, June 19.—(AP)—Former Gov. John A. Stelle of Illinois, chairman of the American Legion committee of world war legislation, said today the G. I. Bill of Rights "gives nothing to the veteran."

In a prepared address for the North Carolina department convention here, Stelle said:

"It makes only a token payment to him on a debt which we can never repay. That payment is in the form of opportunity—the same opportunity which he preserved for all of us here at home by his service and sacrifice at the front."

Stelle related in detail the battle for enactment of the measure and explained its provisions.

Of the cost, he said, "there are some who have said this bill would cost the country too much. Warships Bombard Guam; New Blows To Jap Shipping and Island Bases

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, June 19.—(AP)—American soldiers and marines, fighting their way through hot campaign fields halfway across Saipan island in the Marianas after repelling Japanese assaults by tanks and by landing craft, drove down toward the island's principal harbor and naval base at Magicienne Bay today.

Slightly more than 100 miles southward, American warships pounded Guam heavily for the first time in the war. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, in announcing that this former American base had been shelled last Thursday, gave no indication as to whether an invasion was in prospect.

Fifteen hundred miles to the south, just below the equator, Mitchell medium bombers and escorting P-51 fighters temporarily neutralized Japan's last remaining effective airbase in New Guinea. They destroyed 50 enemy planes at Sorong and sank five enemy merchantmen and half a dozen smaller vessels.

Hottest Day

Today was the hottest day of the year with the mercury reaching 102 degrees at two o'clock this afternoon, according to J. A. Clark, official local weather observer. Today's record high was two degrees above yesterday's top of 100 degrees. The official reading yesterday morning was 81 at 8 o'clock but the hundred mark was passed during the afternoon. A gradual rise from this morning's 8 o'clock reading of 82 degrees gave indications that before the day ends the mercury might climb above the 102 figure.

Twenty Five To Forty Thousand Germans Must Fight To Death or Surrender

Fierce Attacks To Break Entrapment Frustrated; Siege of Cherbourg Begins

By WES GALLAGHER Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, June 19.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's American troops squeezed within eight miles of Cherbourg today and shelled the strategic port with their big guns tonight.

Steadily strengthening their hold all across the peninsula the Yankees turned back a single desperate German attack to break out of the trap, struck out both north and south to widen their corridor and captured Bricquebec, only 11 miles south of the southern edge of Cherbourg.

The American-held zone across the base of the peninsula has grown to twice its width since yesterday, it was said.

Dispatches from Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's 21st Army group headquarters said as many as 50,000 Germans may have been caught in the Cherbourg net.

The Nazi attempt to break out was made at a point about 13 miles due south of the port.

The Germans lashed out in the darkness in a heavy local attack near St. Jacques de Nehou, but were thrown back with heavy losses.

Toward the eastern flank of the 116-mile Normandy front, British forces battled into the northern end of shell-torn Tilly-sur-Seulles, with the Germans in the holding in the southern part of the town between Bayeux and Caen.

Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's troops laying siege to Cherbourg after thrusting a 10-mile-wide corridor clear across the peninsula now are building up strength for the next step, supreme headquarters said.

German guns laid a heavier shell barrage on American-held Carentan, stronghold near the eastern base of Cherbourg peninsula.

Other Americans on the northern end of the line choking off Cherbourg fought toward the port from the Montebourg area, 14 miles to the southeast.

Berlin radio said U. S. forces had made a "slight advance in the direction of Valognes," 10 miles southeast of Cherbourg, indicating the German stronghold of Montebourg possibly is being bypassed.

Local advances were scored on other sectors of the beachhead, headquarters said.

Allies Approve Italian Cabinet

Rome, June 19.—(AP)—The Allied governments, after delaying a week, have approved the cabinet formed by Premier Ivanoe Bonomi at the request of Prince Umberto, who has now begun to function as Italy's new government.

The Allies insisted that the new government assume all responsibilities undertaken by the former government headed by Marshal Pietro Badoglio regarding the fulfillment of the terms of the Italian armistice, but made no change in the monarchial institution.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. Substituting for Dewitt Mackenzie The fateful fortnight which has encompassed Allied plans and ends to night, and the Germans have failed to mount either the beachhead defense or the massive counter-attack which had been expected.

As a matter of fact, a comparatively small Allied initial force, harassed by unseasonably bad weather which interferes with both reinforcement and supply, has engaged approximately one-fourth of the estimated German strength in France and found it only a hindrance.

To be sure, undue optimism is never proper when dealing with the Reichwehr. But it can be sure that it has been busy repairing road blocks and bridges swept by the pre-invasion aerial hurricane of the Allies. Paris is a hundred miles away, we have been only preparing to go there, and there may be Gascones on the way.

But as the fortnight ends during which we expected to learn whether the beachhead would be secure, we do learn, and it is. Not only that, but the campaign for capture of a great port, through which reinforcements can flow by the tens of thousands rather than the hundreds and thousands possible on the open beach, moves truly according to plan. Word from the Cherbourg peninsula is that the Americans crossed to the western shore through the very points, along the very coast, prepared as long ago in the office of the planners.

There may not be any refugees from Sevastopol—there were many, anyway—at Cherbourg, but there are 25,000 to 30,000 German troops, the reports say, who are about to learn the same lesson. The fate of the German 7th division, which battered itself into small pieces against the American line in an effort to escape, is sufficient harbinger of that.

The Germans will make every effort to spoil Cherbourg. But it was proof of what the Allies are soon a great army, flanked on each side and sheltered overhead by dominant sea and air support, will be forming on the peninsula for the real drive into Hitler's domains. An von Dunschedt, it is hoped to do it, more formidable than has shown so far, including his "scattergun" rocket bombs.

SAYS VICTORY MAY COME SOON

Churchill Says Nazis May Fall This Summer

London, June 19.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, in a speech delivered at the Mexican embassy four days ago and permitted to be published only today, said the months of this summer may "bring full success to the cause of freedom."

He said the invasion of Normandy was a great tactical surprise to the Germans who did not know it was coming until they saw the ships and "it may be that events will occur in the next few months which will show us whether we are soon to be released of the curse which has been laid upon us by the Germans."

The invasion was launched "in full accord" with the Russians and the decisions reached at Teheran, he added, "and although the execution of the plans adopted there is far from being complete, it is being steadily unrolled, and the months of this summer may by the victories of this Allied campaign bring full success to the cause of freedom."

Touching on political aspects of the war, the Prime Minister said efforts were being made "to achieve permanent cooperation and to build up an organization which after this war will strengthen the bonds between all our nations and will succeed in preserving peace."

"We look forward to the future in which the rights of small nations will be upheld and protected and in which the strong will use their power under the law for the protection of the weak."

Whether the Germans are defeated "this year or next, the British and American peoples will never falter or withdraw their hands from the task which they have undertaken," he declared. "Together with our allies we will go on to the end, and the end will be the more terrible for our foes the longer their struggle continues and the longer this war is protracted."

Referring to the inconvenience caused the diplomatic corps by restrictions on communications to preserve secrecy Churchill said, "the lives of a million men may be endangered now on both sides" of the present struggle in France.

Other formations hit airfield targets including Bordeaux-Mérignac, Cazaux, west of Bordeaux, and Corne Ecluse near the coast west of Cognac.

A rare stretch of bad weather still was hampering air operations.

Fighter bombers blasted to pieces one concentration of several hundred Germans. Col. Donald Blakeslee's U. S. The ammunition-loaded "shays" were sent up in a string of freeracker explosions while horses scampered across the fields.

The Germans apparently are making increased use of horse-drawn vehicles, indicating perhaps a shortage of motor vehicles or the necessity of using horses to go over or around battered roads.

More than 1,300 American heavy bombers hammered oil refineries and storage plants in the Hamburg area and three enemy bombers in northwest Germany yesterday, while 236 other heavy bombers hit the Pas De Calais area.

Although the Germans threw up a flak barrage described as one of the heaviest yet encountered, a single enemy fighter arose to challenge the mighty American aerial fleet which struck into Germany yesterday. About 500 American fighters accompanied the heavy bombers.

Strength FOR THE DAY By EARL L. DOUGLAS

HAPPINESS A BY-PRODUCT

Selfishness is the curse of human life. It is selfishness which causes family tragedy. It is selfishness which fouls the business world with cutthroat competition.

Abraham Lincoln once expressed it by saying that the only trouble he had in his household was that when he had three apples to divide among his three small boys, he always found that each boy wanted two apples.

People would only experiment a little they would soon discover that life is never happy when it turns in and is always happy when it turns out.

AMERICA IN WARTIME By JACK STINNETT

Washington—No one can travel around this country without being impressed by the fact that the presidential candidate and political party that lays on the line a specific program for orderly post-war reconstruction, demobilization and the handling of unemployment is going to gather a lot of votes.

Don't get me wrong. Only in a few sections do the "peace jitters," as some call them, exist at all, but there are few areas in the United States where already haven't felt the effects of the war.

In this respect, the United States is unique among those nations which haven't been under the domination of the Axis. The United States will return and even already is returning to post-war problems piecemeal.

The man in the street, in the furrow and in the production line may not be looking so much farther than tomorrow, when winning the war is the end and aim of everything, but their employers and those who live on the fruits of their labor, from factory tycoon to plow salesman, aren't quite so singleminded.

absence of a detailed postwar domestic plan. Perhaps it is because there are few but the youngest who can't recall by experience or hearsay the bitter days of the early thirties.

To the Editor: If the present Board of Trustees is allowed to stay in power and continue its prejudiced policies as it has given every indication of doing, East Carolina Teachers College undoubtedly will be, not an accredited member of the American Association of Teachers Colleges and the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools as it is now, but a member of neither—discredited and without the authority to issue a diploma worth the paper it would be printed on.

Both of the above-mentioned associations have endorsed certain rulings of Academic Freedom and Tenure which apply to the situation at ECTC. One such ruling (which can be found in May, 1940, issue of the Bulletin, American Association of Colleges), in substance stated that a teacher who has a continuous tenure from year to year should be informed in writing before his dismissal of the charges against him and should have the opportunity to be heard in his own defense by all bodies that pass judgment upon his case.

jeopardy. The only way for the Board to atone for their improper procedures is to rescind their action or grant the requests of the five members of the faculty to have an open hearing before an unprejudiced body appointed by a disinterested agency, and then in the best interests of the institution, to resign.

Some people have aired the opinion that it was not the place of the students to protest the actions of the Board—that any protesting should have been left to the teachers concerned. It is the affair of the students. As a student I feel it is my duty to protest actions which concern something as vital to me as the value of my diploma!

No loyal student is sitting idly by while his Alma Mater is being pushed toward disreputability and I sincerely hope no loyal North Carolinian discards his rights as a taxpayer to protect our institution.

Why risk all for a few? DOUG NELSON, Class of '46.

Thus there were five groups making a profit off the watch where before there were only two. This means prices were knocked around—knocked upward—in the process as retailers scrambled to buy from the jobbers and customers scrambled to buy from the retailers.

LADY IN A WHIRL

By Esther Valck Georgins

Chapter 23

The beautiful weather was still holding; it was another gorgeous day. Cora had decided to take a walk. Her path ascended rather steeply but was smooth, and there were cleared spots along it where one could look out across the valley below.

She realized that she was going in the general direction of Oh Be Thankful's abode. "Be a nice place," she muttered a bit uneasily, "to meet that ape." But as she went in and there was no sign of Oh Be Thankful or anyone else she forgot her qualms.

Walking over for Cora—who was not a good walker—seemed to be effortless, so invigorating was the air. She came out after a while into a cleared space and was surprised to see picnic tables and benches. She dropped down on one of the seats to rest.

As she sat there she remembered the story Zelda had told about the man pushing his wife off a cliff. "I'll bet this is the place," she said aloud.

There was a sign on one of the trees and she got up and went over to it and perched at it nearsightedly. Sure enough, it said "To the cliff." There was an arrow indicating the direction.

Motivated by idle curiosity, Cora followed the path and shortly came out onto a rocky promontory. It was the top of a steep wooded cliff that dropped to the base of the mountain. Steps had been cut in the face of it, forming a quick way up and down for the more adventuresome.

There was a farmer working with his horse in the field below and Cora watched him as he stopped and adjusted the harness. She began to hum. "If I Had the Wings of an Angel," and debated in her mind whether she would dare to make the descent by way of the rocky stairs. As she stood there, humming softly, and almost determined to venture the steps, she felt herself suddenly pushed from behind!

With a frantic clutch at the sky, she went over. The farmer, who at that instant glanced up, stood open-mouthed, watching Cora's precipitous descent.

She tumbled over and over with a sort of ludicrous dignity, her voluminous skirt clutching occasionally on the stunted growth on the face of the cliff. Finally, about 15 feet from the bottom, it snagged on a slender, dead tree trunk, and there she hung. She was almost senseless from fright and the battering she had sustained, but she was alive and, apparently, unbroken.

After a dashed minute or two Cora managed to trace one foot in a niche in the rock, and so took a little of the strain from her skirt. She had lost her glasses almost at the beginning of her descent and had no idea how far she had fallen.

The farmer had remained transfixed, but now he came to life and with a shouted command to the horse to stand still, he began running over the uneven ground.

"Hold on!" he yelled. "Hold on! I'll get you down."

He reached the cliff and began clambering up the steps. When he reached a place opposite Cora he found he could, by stretching a bit, just manage to reach her outstretched hand.

"You'll have to help yourself a little, ma'am," he said. "Here. Can you reach the branch of this tree?"

"I guess so," said Cora tremulously. She clutched the limb of the stout little tree and felt with her toe along the rock. She found a narrow ledge and managed to get her toe on it. But she was still unable to move.

"It's your skirt," the farmer told her. "It's hooked over a stump. I guess you'll have to take it off—if you can."

For a time this seemed impossible. The farmer got out his pocket knife, said, "Here, you'll have to cut yourself loose."

Hanging onto the branch with one hand, Cora managed to slit her skirt and disentangle herself from it.

"Now," said the farmer, and in another minute she was safe on the step beside him, clutching him in a weak but desperate embrace.

"There, there," he told her. You're all right now. Right on the step. No need to be scared now, ma'am."

"I'm not scared," Cora quavered. "But I can't see. I've lost my glasses."

He helped her down the steps carefully and kept a firm hand under her arm after she was safe on the ground.

"How did you come to topple over, ma'am?" he asked.

"Topple over!" snorted Cora. "Topple over, indeed. I was pushed."

He backed away slightly.

"Oh, now ma'am! I guess you just kinda lost your balance."

"I was pushed, I tell you," she insisted.

"Well, pushed you was then. But I was looking—"

"I don't care what you were doing. I guess I know how I came to go over. And I bet," she added darkly, "I know just who did it, too."

The farmer scratched his head, after Cora's glasses had been found. "Well, you oughta be gettin' home," he decided. "Where do you live?"

"I'm at the Nickols cottage. Do you know where that is?"

"Sure. That's easy. I was a mite afraid you might have to go through the village. I was wonderin' how you were ever goin' to make it in them pink drawers."

Cora sniffed. "They're bloomers—not drawers. And I'm covered at least. That's more than you can say for some of those young hussies—"

"Yes, ma'am," he hastened to pacify her. "I agree with you. It's out a long ways around to the house, though. Do you think you can walk that far—after tumbling down a mountain?"

"Well, I can try."

"Say," he exclaimed as they started out. "No need to hoof it. I'll h'ist ya up on Nelly, and ya can go home in style."

He unhitched the great dappled farm horse from the cutter, and for the second time Cora—half-clad—rode home in dubious splendor on the back of a plodding beast of burden.

QUAKES ROCK WEST COAST

Los Angeles Area Shaken Yesterday And Today

Los Angeles, June 19—(AP)—Downtown buildings swayed, residences trembled, burglar alarms were set off and many persons fled into the streets as two earthquakes jolted Los Angeles and nearby cities yesterday. Two lighter quakes were felt early today in communities just south of here.

The shocks yesterday were the strongest since those of March 10, 1933, when 121 persons were killed and property damage of $75,000,000 caused in Compton, Long Beach and Los Angeles.

There was no material damage reported from the shocks, the first recorded at 5:03 p. m., and the second at 8:05 p. m. Three women watching baccalaureate services in the South Gate High School fainted during the first shock.

One quake was reported at 12:30 a. m. today by residents in Hawthorne, South Gate and Huntington Park and another at 12:53 a. m. in Compton.

Pedestrians in downtown Los Angeles and Long Beach were knocked out of stride by Sunday's first jolt, which seemed to be a lifting, half-circular motion of the earth. It lasted several seconds, rattled dishes in homes and dumped some store stocks from shelves. The second quake lasted longer, but not quite so severe as the first.

These shocks were the second in six days. Two were recorded here early last Monday morning. Southern California had been free of earthquakes for many months.

Inglewood reported that Sunday's shocks were the most severe since 1933.

In no community was there any appreciable damage and no loss of life. Extracting building requirements have been enforced since the 1933 quakes.

The Sunday quakes were also felt in the San Gabriel Valley, San Diego, Santo Monica, Glendale, Culver City and Beverly Hills.

Big Money Bill Given Approval

Washington, June 19—(AP)—A $49,107,795 War Department appropriations bill passed unanimously by the House last Thursday, won swift approval today of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The Senate group made only three changes, one an amendment deleting a $1,217,000 House allowance for further oil explorations in Alaska.

Another struck out a House provision which would have prohibited additions to the specialized program for training dentists and doctors by the army.

The third added a provision authorizing payment of travel expenses to their homes or camps near their homes for soldiers returned to this country for recuperation.

Senator Thomas (D-Okl.) told reporters he would call up the measure as soon as the Senate completes action on a bill to finance war agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Capture Jap Base

Southwest Asia Command Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, June 17—(AP)—The Chinese 22nd division has captured the Japanese base of Kamaipa, approximately 40 miles northwest of besieged Kytikyna in northern Burma, it was announced officially today.

State of Siege

London, June 17—(AP)—The Moscow radio, quoting a Tass news agency report from Stockholm, said a state of siege has been proclaimed along the entire northern coast of Germany.

Field Marshal Hermann Goering was reported touring the coast, accompanied by representatives of the army and navy, experts on military engineering, and the Todt (defense engineering) organization.

State Buys War Bonds

Raleigh, June 17—(AP)—The state gave a $10,000,000 boost toward North Carolina's quota in the Fifth War Loan drive today.

The council of state ordered that amount invested in war bonds, bringing to $45,000,000 the amount invested in federal and state bonds since the post-war reserve fund was authorized.

Credit Union Aid To Negro Farmers

Farmers of the colored Ayden school district of Pitt county have developed a sense of pride in the economic achievements received by them through their rural community type Credit Union. D. R. Graham, director of the Credit Union division of the State Department of Agriculture, chartered the organization on October 29, 1940. Since that time approximately two-hundred farm members have been enrolled. They deposited approximately $4,000 as of June 1, 1944.

This small capital has been used to finance its members in the production of essential foods and feeds. Several farmers were able to borrow money to repair and replace farm machinery. Many loans were made to enable members to pay cash for their fertilizer.

Aside from loans made to finance farm operations, the organization prides itself in having taught a few of its members the value of systematic saving. It emphasizes small savings done on a planned basis, instead of large investments. By this approach the members' share points grow slowly, but they rest for a longer period of time. Those members with very small comes feel themselves a definite part of the organization structure. Practically all the members of Board of Directors are far without exception to their farm status. Some are farm owners, most of them are tenant farmers or share-croppers.

The spirit of cooperation is high. Each borrower feels that a fraternal obligation to their fellow members exists. The organization has not lost a cent in its three years of existence. Members of the credit committee give private counsel to each other to make sure each loan is for prudent or productive purposes. He is reminded of his to spend wisely.

The Bright Leaf Credit Union has cooperated in each war drive. It has sold or influenced sale of several thousand dollars worth of war bonds and stamps. War stamps are frequently sold at regular meetings. No member certified bond salesman, but sale rallies have been staged. A salesman called in. By the end of the fifth war bond drive, each member is expected to own at least a war bond.

The background of any successful Credit Union is a well planned national program. This is very among Negro farmers because the high percentage of illiterate skeptics.

Officers of the Bright Leaf Credit Union are: Simon Dixon, president; J. W. Jackson, vice president; Joyner, secretary-treasurer; Committee: George Taylor, Roundtree, Mrs. J. M. Reeves, Ormond, and Reginald Roundtree.
