Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

IT WILL LAST FOREVER

Interesting stories of heroism are coming out of the occupied countries today. Here is one about a French Huguenot minister who stood up and told a Nazi officer what was what.

It seems that this German officer was quartered in the minister's home. One day, in a very loft fashion, the officer asked the minister why he wasted his time with religion. "Christianity is all washed up," he asserted. "The Nazi philosophy will soon be supreme throughout the world, and you and the rest of your colleagues will be out on the street within a few years. Why," he inquired, "don't you get in with the dominant philosophy and go along with irresistible world trends?"

The old minister, who had suffered much from privation and neglect, smiled warty and said: "Here, Captain, when the Fuehrer and Goebbels are footnotes in history ten thousand years from now, the Christian church will still be doing business at the same old stand. And the reason is that what was left of the old minister was sent to a concentration camp."

Our Lord gave the same assurance many years ago when he said of his church, "The gates of hell shall not prevail against it." People sometimes get so disturbed about the state of the church—and well they may—but they should never allow themselves to believe that the church will pass out of the human picture. It will be here when everything else is gone.

AMERICA IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—After spending a month traveling around the country, most of it through scenes and among people I had known and worked with before, I think that among the most important aspects of changing America are the new thought patterns being brought back to the men and women who have fought and bled on the distant fronts of this war.

For the most part, they are a quiet, un-talking people. They are better versed on current events than most civilians and there's hardly a one now who can't name his congressman and tell you why he will or will not vote for him.

Almost unanimously they think that the end of the war on both fronts is a long time off and I've never talked to one yet who considers any of our enemies a "soft touch," regardless of whether the question is numerical strength, fighting ability, or efficiency of equipment.

They are almost unanimously bitter against labor strikes in war plants for any reason; but hold no brief for a recalcitrant management that is selfishly seeking excessive profits. They are almost supremely confident that when all the boys get back, the selfish in all fields of war endeavor will be punished by one method or another, although almost none talk in terms of physical violence.

They're very much concerned about their respective places in a postwar domestic economy but I've never run across one who wants more than a little place in the sun comparable to the one he or his neighbors had with security before Pearl Harbor.

They consider postwar world collaboration to maintain peace such an inevitability that it isn't even a topic for debate.

These are new patterns of thought. They are the results of broader horizons and greater depths of pain and sacrifice applied to everyday living. They aren't exceptions. They are the rule.

These men are such fellows as a lieutenant commander who has had three destroyers shot from under him, including one as long ago as the battle of the Coral Sea; as a commander who skips a submarine; as an ordnance captain who is thinking about the after-effects of malaria; as an army nurse who has ministered to hundreds of suffering youngsters flown out of the blood spattered islands of the South Pacific; as a captain who carried a load of shells and seven bullets out of Italy; as a Seabee on the Solomons; and dozens of PFC's and corporals and sergeants and seamen.

Many never had more than ten miles from their front door before they were inducted. Most of them just want to get back there, but not to pick up mentally and socially and politically just where they left off. They've got ideas now and the problem for the United States and its economists and politicians will be to catch up with them.

facturer says he has sold all his furniture to Jobber Jones. (Jobber Jones, of course, is the phony character of the manufacturer.)

So the retailer goes to Jobber Jones, thinking he has paid the usual $80 for the set and will sell it to him, the retailer, for the usual $100. But, no. Jones says the manufacturer has refused him a discount and has charged him $100.

Jones explains he will have to take the jobber's customary markup and charge the retailer $120 for the set which before the war the retailer could have bought from the manufacturer or jobber for $100.

Does the retailer, however, still charge you $200 for the set as he did before the war, when it cost him $100 instead of the present $120? No. He takes his usual 100 per cent markup and charges you $240.

quarters announced "Thunderbolts of the First Tactical Air Force severely damaged an enemy aircraft carrier in Genoa harbor believes to be an Italian ship being refitted."

Tactical aircraft flew 750 sorties yesterday over the battle area and all returned.

After clearing the university city of Perugia, Eighth army troops headed after the withdrawing Germans in several directions. They soon occupied high ground northwest of the city. Forward elements northeast of Perugia reached a point some five miles from the city limits.

The occupation of Perugia was carried out by a column led by the 16th and 5th lancers, famous British cavalry regiments now armored.

Farther west 8th army troops were astride highway 71 northeast of Lake Chiusi and the towns of Chiusi and Cetona were cleared of the enemy.

Motorized forces were greatly handicapped by three days of heavy rains which made some roads impassable.

French forces on the right flank of the 5th army ran into bitter resistance in some villages. Nevertheless the villages of Monticello, Serrignano, Vivo D'Orcia, Bagni, San Felippo, Paucia, Palozetta, Poggio Manje, Pantano and Campiello D'Orcia were occupied.

The rapid advance up the Adriatic coast put patrols at the Menocchia river and at the town of Ascoli Piceno, provincial capital with a population of 42,000 in peacetime. The fishing port of San Benedetto Del Tronto, which formerly had a population of 20,000 and village of Cossignano 10 miles inland were occupied.

The occupation of Grottomare, population 5,800, represented an advance of some 50 airline miles along the coastal highway, the last 16 miles made despite heavy rain.

In the western coastal sector where the Americans still were punching forward, Montepescali, which conjoined the junction of highways 71 and 73 was taken despite stiff delaying action. Castel Del Piano, also hotly defended, was taken yesterday.

Forrestal said the Japanese fleet had been sighted at "various times during the last few days, milling around from 500 to 800 miles westward of Sulpan Island" in the Marianas.

Forrestal said that Japanese planes attacked American naval units near Sulpan Sunday and indicated that the planes apparently came from carriers which at that time were some 500 miles to the westward.

The Japanese plan, he continued, seems to have been to launch the aircraft with the idea that after attacking they would be able to land for refueling on Guam and Rota, Japanese-held bases in the Marianas.

"We have no other details of the resulting air battle," he continued, "other than the fact that our forces were ready for the attack."

"Our carrier aircraft and ships' anti-aircraft guns wiped out most of the Japanese planes."

At Pearl Harbor Admiral Nimitz has reported that the Japanese have lost a total of 600 planes since action began in the Marianas.

King, asked about the prospective engagement there, said that the communique from Nimitz speaks for itself and combined with Forrestal's report, covers the situation "as accurately as we know it."

"You are not worried about the outcome?" he was asked. "No," he replied, shaking his head.

He added that in any major operation, losses must be expected, in fact, are allowed for in preparation and plans for the action. But, King continued, the losses to date in the Marianas, "have been less than we allowed for." He said he referred to all types of action, in the air, on the sea and among troops fighting on land.

King also disclosed that plans have under consideration had been reviewed again for close cooperation of the British with American forces in the war against Japan when it is possible to swing strength to the Pacific.

He said the discussions were carried out in England where he, Gen. George Marshall, army chief of staff, and Gen. Henry H. Arnold, head of the army air forces, recently completed a tour of invasion points.

terms," he said, "the setup for the overall coordination of the war against Japan when the British shall be free to lend a hand in that part of the world."

center of the front, and an American spearhead to the west had pushed within two miles of St. Lo, communications hub of Normandy.

The assault upon the two forts at Cherbourg sprang forward from St. Martin Le-Greard, four miles south of the port.

Fort du Roule, a major key to control of the besieged German stronghold, stands atop a 450-foot hill.

The French worked for more than a century building up Cherbourg's forts and defenses and the Germans now are making a last stand in the inner ring—which embraces part of the city itself.

German defenses have stiffened and there are indications the Nazi high command has ordered a house-to-house fight by some 25,000 to 50,000 Germans now left with virtually no chance of escape. Allied broadcasts last night urged the trapped garrison to surrender.

Although the three main roads to Cherbourg from the south run into one main highway bottleneck just outside the city, the American troops apparently were closing in from three sides—south, west, and east.

Communique No. 31 from supreme headquarters this morning announced that the towns of Valognes, Les Pleux, Couville and Rauville la Bigot were in Allied hands, but the advance American line runs some distance beyond these points.

The suburban and city area which now has become a battlefield has an estimated population of 60,000. The population of the city proper, according to latest reports, is approximately 33,400 and an additional 27,000 live in the suburbs.

Despite German reports the supreme Allied command said it has no knowledge that Allied warships were shelling Cherbourg from the sea and declared such an attack was unlikely.

The port is protected by seven heavy coastal forts which should be much simpler to take by land assault than from the sea.

Only patrol activity was reported elsewhere on the Normandy beach-head except in the Tilly-Sur-Seules area.

The British announced capture of Onchy, three and a half miles southwest of Tilly. At the same time the Germans launched three heavy counter-attacks on the newly-taken British stronghold of Hottot, two miles south of Tilly. The attacks were reported held, but the situation in the village itself was obscure.

The Chen area even further to the east were quiet.

A gale continued to blow in the channel. Six-foot waves whipped over the invasion beaches, making unloading of supplies impossible for the time being.

Bad weather hampered aircraft over the battle area, but fighter-bombers blasted Cherbourg guns and forts. Many of the missions took to the air from landing grounds in Normandy.

In the Acqueville area the Americans stood less than two miles from the main highway leading out of Cherbourg to the tip of the peninsula to the northwest.

Cool Weather Trails Monday Night's Rain

Nobody here was finding fault with the weather today when the official thermometer at 8 a. m. was 68 degrees, quite a drop compared with Sunday morning when the thermometer stood at 81 and Monday morning at 82 degrees, soaring during the day to 102, the hottest day of the summer, followed by showers at night with about one-third of an inch of rain.

Field and garden crops responded wonderfully to Monday night's rain. While light showers were generally over a wide area, there were some spots, including Belvoir, where the shower hardly moistened the ground. Some hail was reported in isolated sections.

Liquor Gets . . .

(Continued from Page One) during the month of August. But from Rep. Bryson (D-SC) author of a long-pending prohibition bill came the statement that "this country will be shocked by the announcement."

"It is tragic," he said, "that at a time when we are trying to feed not only our own people but the people of other nations that we should use vital substances for liquor."

In New York, Kenneth S. Baxter, executive director of the conference of Alcoholic Beverage Industries, said that "the only people to whom it (the announcement) will not be good news are the black marketers and the bootleggers who have fattened on the whisky shortage."

"It will be good news for the public," he added, "to know that within a short time the market in alcoholic beverages will return to normal."

Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) chairman of the committee which for several months has been investigating the liquor shortage, said his group would make public its report shortly, which recommended, besides the release of alcohol for blending purposes:

- 1. Tightening up of the laws under which enforcement activities of the alcohol tax unit have been conducted.
- 2. Control of distribution but not including the retail level.

Says Dewey Will Get Nomination

Chicago, June 21.—(AP)—Former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, 1936 Republican presidential nominee, predicted on arrival today for the GOP national convention starting Monday that Gov. Thomas Dewey of New York "will probably be nominated on the first ballot—certainly not later than the second."

Meanwhile a prominent member of the Pennsylvania delegation who declined to be quoted by name said "there is no other course conceivable than that our delegation will go for Dewey."

Pennsylvania's 70-vote delegation, second largest in the convention, is uncommitted. The group will caucus Sunday night to decide its position.

Airmen Damage Nazi Carrier

Rome, June 21.—(AP)—Thunderbolts of the first tactical air force severely damaged a 20,000-ton enemy aircraft carrier in the harbor of Genoa yesterday, it was announced today.

The ship was believed to be the previously damaged Italian carrier Regola, which was being refitted in the harbor. The formation of Thunderbolts, led by 1st Lt. Gordon A. Moody of Coldwater, Mich., scored five direct hits on the vessel, which had not been in service since it was hit previously.

Big War Bond . . . (Continued on page two) director. The show includes an army band and orchestra, a plot with a colorful wartime story, novelty acts, singing, dancing, juggling, etc. It is a high class professional show. Wherever it has appeared in this state it has inspired the sale of war bonds and drawn capacity houses. It pleased an overflow audience at Ahsokie last night and made a record selling of bonds. The members of the show and equipment came through Greenville in army convoy about 2 o'clock today on the way to Farmville. Army officers conferred with the local committee to work out details for its appearance in Greenville tomorrow. Mrs. John Mitchell, chairman of the Women's Division of the Pitt County War Finance committee; J. Herbert Waldrop, county chairman, and W. H. Woolard, War Finance committee regional chairman, and others will participate in the war

I'll predict no-miles-an-hour. I'll hand it to folks. They've had the patriotism to hold down their speed. But imagine war restrictions ended. Man, you'll see old cars overdoing till they can't chug another mile. You'll see every repair shop crowded for months, but I'm figuring to duck that! Of course, I couldn't see everything coming when I originally had this engine on PLATING. I'd simply overheard that any engine forms dangerous corrosive acids. It made sense to try protecting the engine by OIL-PLATING it with Conoco Nth motor oil. I switched to Nth. You can suit yourself about thinking it's the only oil or not, but first read the whole label. You'll see where Conoco Nth oil's special synthetic fastens OIL-PLATING to your engine's fine inside finish. Then OIL-PLATING is really sort of a special surface to block steady acid corrosion. When repairs might be just a promise, and you can only pray for a new car, you're way ahead with your engine safely OIL-PLATED by Conoco Nth. CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL

Grain Market
Chicago, June 21—(AP)—The pressure of a record wheat crop and prospects for heavy yields of all small grains was felt in the market today and all grain futures were lower in a bearish and quiet

Commission house liquidation, hedging sales and indications that less wheat may be required by distillers of industrial alcohol all tended to lower prices of futures of that grain.

Wheat closed 1/2 to 1 1/2 lower than yesterday, July $1.56 1/2-3/4. Oats were off 1 to 1 1/4, July 74c. Rye was off 1 1/2 to 2, July $1.07 1/4-1/2. Barley was 1/2 to 1 lower, July $1.21 1/2.

New York Cotton

Noon prices were 30 to 50 cents a bale higher, July 21.65, October 20.98, and December 20.71.

Futures closed 45 to 80 cents a bale higher.

N. Y. Stock Market
New York, June 21—(AP)—Stock market leaders backed down reluctantly today under continued profit-taking, although selected issues managed occasional advances and liquor shares attracted considerable support.

Distillery stocks were in demand at the fast opening, benefiting from the decision of the War Production board to permit a temporary resumption of the manufacture of beverage alcohol. They ran into surges of liquidation later, but clung to some of their gains toward the close.

ed his vehicle down but just as he was abreast of him the boy, apparently with his eyes in another direction darted into the path of the vehicle. The wide body of the truck struck the child's head fracturing his skull. He was rushed to the hospital where he died within a few minutes.

The truck was owned by J. E. Winslow, grandfather of the victim, and was driven by William L. C. Pollard. Authorities expressed the opinion this afternoon that the accident was unavoidable and that there was no negligence on the part of the truck driver but Coroner Griffin Rouse, after a preliminary investigation stated that he would hold the matter open for further investigation before announcing a decision.

Not To Use Normandie
New York, June 20—(AP)—The navy says that plans to refit the former French luxury liner Normandie have been cancelled because of a shortage of manpower and critical materials.

The ocean giant, which burned and rolled on her side here in February, 1942, was raised at a cost of $2,750,000 last fall and was towed to the Todd Shipyard in Brooklyn. The cancellation announcement was made yesterday by the Navy Department.

READ THE RECORD. Here is what Congressmen from tobacco growing areas think about Con Lanier's record for tobacco growers.

Hon. J. Bayard Clark, Member of Congress from the Fayetteville and Lumberton area, wires under date of June 19, 1944: "Hon. J. C. Lanier, Greenville, N. C. In every tobacco meeting since the Program was begun I have watched with admiration your effectiveness. No man of my acquaintance from the entire tobacco belt has been more diligent or of greater service than yourself in the interest of the tobacco growers." Signed, J. Bayard Clark, M. C.

Hon. Herbert C. Bonner, our own Congressman, wires under date of June 19th: "To my knowledge in meetings held here you have always fought for the present tobacco program." Signed Herbert C. Bonner, M. C.

Hon. Harold D. Cooley, Congressman for the Rocky Mount area, and ranking member of the House Agriculture Committee, wires under date of June 19th: "You have consistently supported the Tobacco Control Program and have contributed much to its success. I know that you appreciate its value to our farmers." Signed, H. D. Cooley, M. C.

Congressman T. G. Burch of Virginia, also a member of the House Agricultural Committee, wires under date of June 20th: "You have fought with us to advance the interests of flue-cured tobacco growers and have consistently advocated measures in their behalf. I have always found you in the forefront when we were fighting the farmers' battles." Signed, T. G. Burch, M. C.

FARMERS, WAKE UP! A little selfish group of big tobacco growers are fighting Con Lanier because he has dared to stand up and fight for the rights of the average grower.
