Nazi Defense In White Russia Crumbles Before Might Soviet Offensive

Moscow Announces White Russian Capital of Minsk Taken By Storm Today; Other Forces Battling Way Toward East Prussia; Nazis in Disorder

London, July 3.—(AP)—Minsk has been taken by storm, Moscow announced tonight. An order of the day by Marshal Stalin said the troops of the Third White Russian front in cooperation with forces of the First White Russian army captured the city of 240,000 by flanking maneuver and assault.

Moscow, July 3.—(AP)—Soviet tanks and cavalry struck within 10 miles of Minsk today, and another column carving deep beyond that city hammered within 65 miles of Wilno, which is only 100 miles from East Prussia.

Pounding at the front gates of Minsk, Red army men captured Sloboda, 12 1/2 miles to the northeast, and then pushed within 10 miles of the White Russian capital.

But by-passing columns already were sweeping around the city on the northwest and southwest, cutting the Germans escape railroads to Wilno and to Brest-Litovsk.

The push on the northwest posed a threat to Wilno, former Polish city just 15 miles from the old Lithuanian border. This drive captured Wilejka, 65 miles due east of Wilno, and 46 miles northwest of Minsk.

The wall erected by the Nazis in front of the Baltic republics and Poland began to feel the pressure of the advancing Red army as German forces reeled backward in White Russia in a retreat which Russian field dispatches described as a wholesale rout.

In almost every sector, the Russians said, German command posts appeared unable to break the onrushing tide of Soviet tanks, cavalry and infantry advancing relentlessly under an air cover that grows daily in strength.

There were continued signs of indecision on the part of Nazi leaders as well as lack of contact between enemy divisions deployed along the front, front dispatches declared.

By no stretch of the imagination one Soviet correspondent said, can the collapse of German resistance be called a "planned retreat" or even a systematic withdrawal.

Although the onrush of the Red army has by-passed Minsk and cut (Continued on page two)

Today On The Home Front

JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Associate Press War Analyst When you step back from close analysis of every move in our global war and view it broadly—as I've been doing for the past fortnight—it can't fail to inspire profound confidence that Allied affairs prosper exceedingly. One may legitimately go further and, in answer to the common query of whether the European conflict is nearing its end, say that Herr Hitler is indeed on his last mile, and his knees are knocking. However, we must follow this with the caution that the greatest tragedy which could come out of this war would be for the Allied home fronts to slacken in their efforts at this crucial moment on the theory that the battle is won. It won't be won until the foe is out, cold, and the amount of striking power which we must expend to achieve this expeditiously will far exceed anything we've used thus far. The greater and the faster the action, the greater the consumption of material. And after Hitler comes Tojo. The Nazi dictator's weakness has become more apparent now that we have him battling on three land fronts—east, south and west. He hasn't either the reserves in manpower or the equipment with

ROBOT BLITZ IS RENEWED

Growing Number of Casualties From Rocket Bombs

By A. I. GOLDBERG London, July 3.—(AP)—Flying bombs have killed Maj.-Gen. Sir Arthur Scott, retired, his wife, Aimee Byng, a novelist, and Sir Percy Alden, for years prominent in the campaign against slums, it was disclosed today as the Germans resumed rocket bomb attacks on southern England after a brief post-midnight lull.

General Scott, 82, began his army career in 1881, and retired in 1920. He became a major general in the United States on his command of the Royal artillery of the 3rd army and later serving as general officer commanding the 12th (eastern) division. He had served in South Africa, and commanded the Lucknow division in India from 1918-20.

Sir Percy, 79, was secretary and treasurer of the Salgrave Manor board, and had lectured in the United States on labor and social problems. He was the author of publications dealing with the unemployed, the unemployable, housing, and other social problems.

One flying bomb hit a house, killing a mother and five of her nine children.

Besides the new hail of rocket bombs, the Germans also made scattered raids by regular aircraft.

The German-controlled Paris radio identified Plymouth and Portsmouth as the principal targets of the Robot blitz, and said both cities had suffered heavy damage.

First English reports said a large general store had been hit in one area, the Nazi communiqué said today, raising to 19 the number of German officers killed or captured in less than a month.

Three More Nazi Generals Killed

By The Associated Press London, July 3.—Three more German generals have met sudden death in the battle for White Russia, the Nazi communiqué said today, raising to 19 the number of German officers killed or captured in less than a month.

The calamitous mortality rate in the enemy situation dramatically highlighted the hopeless German manpower situation projected by the outbreak of three-front warfare in the "black June" for Germany, to say nothing of a fourth front in the air and fifth front in occupied countries where patriots have become increasingly active.

By official Allied estimates, German casualties since the inception of the three-front offensive beginning with Italy have reached around 394,000 to date. The Russians have announced the death or capture of 219,000 German casualties in Normandy have been estimated at 75,000 and those in Italy were set at 80,000 to 100,000 about ten days ago.

The German communiqué told of the deaths of Artillery General Pfeiffer and Martinck and of Lt. Gen. Schenemann. Thus from June 6, no less than 11 enemy generals have been killed and eight captured.

Earlier, Nimitz reported the burial of 6,015 Japanese dead, the capture of more than 200 prisoners, destruction or capture of 80 tanks, from June 14 through June 29.

(Howard Handelman, representing the combined Allied press, said the Americans expected to meet large Japanese forces soon in a decisive battle somewhere near northern Garapan and Tanapag harbor, which begins its upward swing a short distance beyond the town.)

Saturday's attack was made under aerial, naval and artillery bombardment. It was preceded by a pre-dawn Japanese aerial thrust at transports and screening vessels, which was repulsed with "no damage." Two of several Nipponese planes were shot down during this tenth Japanese aerial counterattack in the Saipan.

Yanks storming heights east of Garapan added a third side to enemy combat missions over enemy continental Europe to First Lt. Alfred T. Humble, 24, Route 2, Greenville, was announced recently "somewhere in England." Lt. Humble is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Humble, Route 2, Greenville. A pilot of a B-17 Flying Fortress, Lt. Humble has 19 bombing missions to his credit. He had previously received the Air Medal and one Cluster upon completing earlier series of operations.

A new and disturbing situation, meanwhile, was rising to plague the Germans at home where—according to dispatches from Madrid—some 50,000 foreign prisoners have escaped since the Allied invasion of France and are causing deep concern by their activities.

Reports from the Spanish-French frontier, relayed here by way of Madrid, said the Germans had thrown tanks and bombers as well as infantry into their drive against French patriots in the Dordogne region of southwestern France.

After two days of fighting, the Nazis were said to have recaptured Bergerac and advanced to St. Cyr-prien, where they freed 150 collaborators who have been held as prisoners in that town. The retreat-day, when these two counties considered significantly boosted their "E" bond sales. S. L. Roberson directed the rally at Robersonville; Rufus M. Negro Killed In Resisting Arrest

Elbert Moye, 25, Negro, while resisting arrest on a disorderly conduct charge in Farmville Saturday afternoon was shot and killed by Farmville Patrolman J. A. Gregory, Pit County Coroner Griffin H. According to authorities, Moye and two other Negroes were in an alley acting disorderly. Patrolman Gregory ordered them to keep quiet and move on. Moye defied the officer and struck him. Gregory drawing his gun, Moye grabbed it, fired, wounding the negro, but had to fire again to keep him off, he testified.

Aldermen Reelect All City Employees

At the year-end meeting of the Board of Aldermen Saturday at noon Superior Court Clerk J. Frank Harrington administered the oath of office to Aldermen J. A. Watson, Berry Bostic and Dr. M. B. Massey, who were reelected at the spring city primary. Alderman L. M. Buchanan, who was out of the city, will be sworn in later. Mayor Sugg appointed L. B. Fleming mayor pro-tem.

The aldermen reelected all appointive city officers and heads of departments for another year. They are as follows: Treasurer, W. C. Harris; city clerk and tax collector, J. O. Duval; assistant, H. H. Duncan; stenographer and bookkeeper, Miss Mary Langley; fire chief, George Gardner; acting police chief, Herbert E. Wooten; assistant, L. D. Page. The regular firemen and police officers were all reappointed.

The aldermen discussed the recent flooding of the swimming pool and authorized the committee to buy a new pump motor and get the pool into service as quickly as possible.

Flooding of the city's streets last Friday was discussed at length and City Engineer Henry L. Rivers was instructed to complete his plans and specifications for improving the drainage system.

But Rome dispatches quoted crewmen as saying the opposition was limited and all targets were well plastered with bombs.

Allied air activity in support of troops in Normandy meanwhile was held to a minimum.

Bad flying weather which limited Allied air units to 700 sorties over the week-end continued for the third straight day and threatened to reduce support of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's attacking Americans and Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's attacking British.

The only active overnight consisted of minor patrols over Normandy.

All British-based planes except heavy bombers and their escort were grounded yesterday, but the Allies were able to fly from their Normandy bases and some 400 sorties were made during the night by fighter-bombers attacking Orne river bridges and transport behind enemy lines.

Assaults against the bomb launching platforms in the Pas de Calais area yesterday were made first by up to 500 U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators, escorted by a small force of Mustang fighters, then by RAF Lancasters under British Spitfire escort.

Despite the attacks, the Germans continued to send the bombs against southern England. Some were downed by RAF fighters and ground guns.

Allied fighters operating from Normandy bases shot down 21 German planes in combat late yesterday at a cost of three of their own, while operating in the battle area.

U. S. Liberator crewmen returned to their Italian bases said the Rakos yards in the northeastern section of Budapest, and the Manfred Weiss yards next to the steel works along the Danube river, were damaged severely. Also attacked were the Vesces airfield 10 miles (Continued on page two)

Plane Output Down in June

Washington, July 3.—(AP)—Production of military aircraft dropped to 5,648 warplanes in June, the lowest record since last September, Charles E. Wilson, executive vice-chairman of the War Production Board, reported today.

The June tally, 853 planes short of May output, was explained by Wilson at a press conference as being due to a shorter work month and the "failure to meet schedules on the part of three companies producing smaller types of planes" caused by difficulties with certain parts.

Attacks on Kuriles and in South Pacific Area

London, July 3.—(AP)—The Tokyo radio said today American planes attacked the northern Kuriles three times Saturday and Sunday, with slight damage to military installations.

Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, July 3.—(AP)—Noemfofo island, an egg-shaped little hunk of jungle land bedecked with three Japanese airbases, was shelled by P-51s once and heavily bombed twice at the week's end.

The attacks were reminiscent of the softening-up that has preceded Allied landings such as that on Bikini Island in the Schouten group May 27, but there was no indication from headquarters of any new invasion development.

Heavy bombers, mediums, attack planes and fighters of the 8th and 13th army air forces took part in the raids Friday and Saturday. The Saturday bombing was by more than 150 airplanes employing 230 (Continued on page two)

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

Washington, July 3.—(AP)—Where do women go for jobs after the war?

Service men, with a claim on many jobs now held by women, will be coming back.

Women in war jobs but with husbands coming out of the service will quit to go back to housekeeping.

Older women, working only for the duration, will retire.

But where do the women go who want to continue working?

The women's Bureau of the Labor Department has thought of that, looked over the field, and reports how generally:

Besides such fields as consumer goods manufacturing—which is a pretty wide field ranging from automobiles to "as stoves—the bureau foresees:

An increased demand for employment after the war for women in service industries, community services in health, welfare and social security, clerical and business occupations, and specialized technical and professional work.

An increased demand for employment after the war for women in service industries, community services in health, welfare and social security, clerical and business occupations, and specialized technical and professional work.

The Bureau gives these findings about women's work in war plants: They are exceedingly conscientious, painstaking and accurate.

The entering wedge for women is often the monotonous repetitive job that men dislike.

Sometimes they follow instructions better than men, and learn faster.

In its labor information bulletin, the department says: "Employers owe a debt of gratitude to women. When it was finally realized that women must be employed—many with no industrial experience—policies were completely overhauled and greatly improved methods of utilizing labor were instituted.

"Careful methods of selection, induction and training were developed. Standards of supervision were raised.

"These improved methods should be of the greatest value in the readjustment to peacetime production, whether men or women are to be employed.

"If fairly applied, women should find no occupations closed to them that they have demonstrated their special fitness to perform."

Strength FOR THE DAY
 By EARL L. DOUGLAS

"CONFIRM THY SOUL"

A few weeks ago at a great religious gathering, a Chinese pastor from Los Angeles was called to the platform and asked to sing as a solo one of the verses of that inspiring hymn, America the Beautiful. He possessed an unusually beautiful tenor voice, and as the great throng listened to him the hearts of many were touched. These were the words he sang:

"America! America!
 God mend thine every flaw,
 Confirm thy soul in self-control,
 Thy liberty in law."
 Here was a man of Asiatic background, but born an American citizen, singing about America—his America. It filled everyone who heard him with the realization that this country of ours is not just a political entity but a great adventure in world fellowship. It is the pooling of human ideals which are everywhere acknowledged to be good.

Every man and woman walking the streets of our cities and working in our fields should this day of ours utter a fervent prayer of thanksgiving that he or she is an American. This he should do not as the Pharisee who thanked God that he was not as other men, but rather in the spirit of grateful patriots who thank God for their liberty and are proud of the fact that their nation stands with all mankind, ready to defend its freedom when minister forces challenge this liberty.

Let us pray that God will confirm our souls in self-control, our liberty in law.

 is rapidly garroting that great stronghold. All rail communication with the besieged city has been cut, and the position of the huge German garrison of some 200,000 men is desperate.

Despite the catastrophe which is piling up about him in Russia, Hitler has been compelled to withdraw some troops to try to stem the invasion of Normandy. That shows lack of manpower. If the withdrawal continues, it will mean that the Russians will open fresh offensives against the weakened sectors of the German front.

The capture of Cherbourg, with its great harbor facilities, opens the funnel through which the western Allies can pour a vast army to march against Berlin from the west. No trouble about reserves there.

With Cherbourg nailed down and the beach-heads secure, it seems that it would take an upheaval of nature to oust the Allied forces from the peninsula. One other thing remains to make our route to Germany secure—that is the defeat of Marshal Rommel in the impending all-out German counter-attack in the strategic Caen region near the eastern end of the Allied line.

The Nazi marshal has been massing his troops and armor, and sparing continuously with his old adversary of the desert—General Montgomery—for an opening. Tanks will play a big part, for the country is adapted to that type of warfare. We shall know soon how much strength the fragment of Berchtesgaden can muster to save his skin in Normandy.

 be employed for many more types of work than now if employers would start from the beginning to build up their work forces, putting aside tradition and selecting by tests for each job the person best suited for the work.

Increased production from the placement of the right person on the job is an undoubted fact which lessens labor costs.

In other words: Many times a woman in peacetime would be given a job ahead of a man if choosing a person for the job was based on ability instead of old pre-war ideas about hiring women.

Greenville Man Gets Commission
 Craig Field, Selma, Ala.—The right to wear a pair of coveted "Silver Wings" and fly one of Uncle Sam's swift and deadly fighter planes against our Axis enemies has been won by Ollie Hayes Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Clark of 1010 W. Third street, Greenville, N. C., who was commissioned a second lieutenant this week at Craig Field, Selma, Alabama.

The awarding of the wings and commission came after the new flying officer had completed his advanced flight training at the "Fisher School" in Selma.

During the many months of training he had to undergo before he received his wings and certificate, he was given all types of instruction. He was toughened mentally and physically and learned to drill, just as any soldier.

Standard Oil Has New Office in City
 C. M. Byers, division manager of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, announced today the establishment of a district headquarters office in Greenville under supervision of J. T. Holland, who is being transferred from Fayetteville.

According to Mr. Byers, the new Greenville district office will direct the company's activities in Eastern North Carolina. The location of this new district office was brought about by the growing agricultural and industrial importance of northeastern North Carolina.

Mr. Holland, who is a native of Holland, Va., has been employed by the Standard Oil Company for the past 15 years and has had wide experience in both retail and wholesale marketing.

Mr. and Mrs. Holland and their two children, Jean, 8, and Dick, 6, will move to Greenville immediately. They are members of the Methodist Church.

 southeast of Budapest, a factory making twin-engine Messerschmitts, and the Shell Koolay refinery, largest oil center in Hungary.

Great damage was caused to industrial plants at Gyor, midway between Budapest and Vienna, by large numbers of American Flying Fortresses. Other forces hit the Almaszto oil refineries 30 miles west of Budapest, but due to poor visibility results were obscured. Two rail yards in Yugoslavia on the Zagreb-Belgrade line were bombed.

Targets in western Germany were hit by RAF heavy bombers without loss Saturday night, but specific locations attacked were not disclosed by the Air Ministry.

The Mediterranean air force announced it flew more than 60,000 sorties during June, with the heavy loss of 22,000 tons of bombs on targets in Italy, the Balkans, Germany, and France. Some 480 enemy planes were shot down against a loss of 176 Allied heavies and 198 other craft.

RAF planes flew more than 77,000 sorties and dropped nearly 64,000 tons of bombs on Europe during June, the British Air Ministry said.

Robot Blitz . . .
 Shortly after daylight one flying bomb blasted a row of stores and dwellings in another area, also causing numerous casualties.

There was considerable speculation on what Prime Minister Churchill might have to say in the House of Commons tomorrow. It is generally expected he will give a frank report on the flying bombs coupled with a pointed reminder that the Germans will be duly brought to account for these indiscriminate attacks.

The British press expressed belief the assaults served only to stiffen British resolution and—as the London Daily Mail put it—"to harden hearts always disposed to be soft toward a beaten enemy."

A German radio offer to cease the robot attacks if the Allies cease bombing Germany met only defiance here. The London Daily Sketch commented:

"Such insolence calls for a reply. We have been patient, but the time has now come when the German nation should be made to realize that we have the power to retaliate—an ever-growing power."

One German radio commentator declared the flying bombs were being turned out without pause by German factories, and said the Nazis have "a tremendous number of these dynamite meteors."

"There is no known method for defense against them," he boasted.

 tons of explosives, the largest air strike in this theater in several weeks.

Thick weather obscured results of the first raid, but the second left airdrops and supply sectors blanketed with smoke. Allied torpedo boats shelled shore installations Saturday night.

Noemfoor, 15 miles long and 12 across, has been bombed 26 times within 75 days. Fifty miles west of Blak in Geelink Bay and a like change from Jap-held Manokwari, Dutch New Guinea, Noemfoor's airfields are 600 miles from Palau, 800 from the Philippines.

Another heavy force of Liberators raided Boeroe Island, in the Banda sea 600 miles southwest of Noemfoor, Saturday.

Fifty eight tons of bombs destroyed three grounded airplanes and started fires in the airstrip area. One Japanese fighter was shot down.

Off Boeroe's west coast, a reconnaissance bomber sank a 1,000-ton cargo ship. Three other small cargo vessels were sunk near Timor and one off Halmahera Island.

Headquarters announced that 324 more Japanese have been killed in ground fighting on Blak Island and in the Maffin Bay area of Dutch New Guinea.

A headquarters summary also claimed 247 Japanese airplanes destroyed in the Southwest Pacific theater during June, most of them in connection with the Blak liv-a-stion, at a cost of 32 Allied planes.

Japanese shipping losses in the southwest Pacific during June were listed as five destroyers, 14 merchantmen and 95 barges sunk; one destroyer and two merchantmen probably sunk, and a cruiser, a destroyer, 10 merchantmen or transports, 71 barges and 10 small craft damaged.
