Soviet Fighting In Outskirts Of Wilno

Red Armies Have Advanced 217 Miles In 17 Days; German High Command Admits Loss of Baranowice, Halfway Between Moscow And Berlin

London, July 8.—(AP)—The German high command today announced abandonment of Baranowice in old Poland—nearly midway between Berlin and Moscow—and declared the Soviets farther north were fighting on the outskirts of Wilno 100 miles from the east Prussian border.

Baranowice is a stronghold on a main rail and highway route, and its fall opened the way for drives to Bialystok and Warsaw, 220 miles beyond. Here the Russians were 530 miles from Berlin itself, and 490 miles from once-besieged Moscow.

Fall of Baranowice breached the secondary Nazi defense line running from Wilno, 110 miles to the northwest to Pinsk 70 miles to the south, and flanked that fortress town in the Pripyat marshes.

The Nazi command admitted the Soviets had punched to the outskirts of Wilno, declaring tank-supported assaults on the eastern fringe of the city had been repulsed.

Powerful Red armies had hammered 218 miles in 17 days from Orsha to Wilno. Front dispatches reaching Moscow said the Soviets were within sight of the city.

Three Soviet columns were striking at the heart of Wilno, grinding the pathway to East Prussia, and Berlin broadcasts tacitly acknowledged the growing Russian threat to smash through to the Baltic states and into East Prussia itself.

Another German report said the Nazis were withdrawing to the Svir river west of fallen Kowel, 150 miles southeast of Baranowice, shortening their line along the natural barrier guarding the approaches to Warsaw.

Noted Baptist Leader Is Dead

Dallas, Texas, July 8.—(AP)—Dr. George W. Truett, 77, former president of the Baptist World Alliance and pastor of Dallas' First Baptist Church for almost 47 years, died last night.

The internationally known Baptist had been kept from his pulpit since July, 1943.

Dr. Truett, schoolmaster, minister and orator, was president of the Southern Baptist Convention in 1937.

The funeral oration will be by Dr. Louie Newton, Atlanta, Ga., pastor, at services to be held in the auditorium of the First Baptist Church at 4 p. m., Sunday. Robert H. Coleman, Dr. Truett's assistant for many years, will be in charge of the services.

BARKLEY WILL NOMINATE FDR

Acceptance of Fourth Term Now Appears Certain

(By The Associated Press) Alben W. Barkley, who angrily but temporarily resigned as Senate majority leader after a spectacular row with President Roosevelt last February, probably will nominate the chief executive for a fourth term.

Widespread acceptance of the view that the Kentuckian thus would seal completely his personal reconciliation with Mr. Roosevelt highlighted today's political developments which centered chiefly about the nation's capital.

Officers Will Visit College

Major Isaac N. Carr of Atlanta and Ralph J. Andrews of the State Department of Public Instruction at Raleigh will be in Greenville, Tuesday, July 11, at East Carolina Teachers College to confer with students interested in pre-induction training for the armed forces. They will confer also with high school teachers who may wish to advise students next year.

The conferences will be held in the Austin auditorium at 11 a. m., 2 p. m., and 3 p. m.

FLYING BOMB DEPOT IS HIT

Airmen Smash At German Targets Over Wide Area

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR London, July 8.—(AP)—U. S. heavy bomber fleets smashed at Nazi flying-bomb launching sites and other planes hit out in slashing support of Normandy offensives today on the heels of an RAF strike with six-ton blockbusters at a cave-protected robot-bomb supply depot in France.

Night-flying British Lancasters searched out the depot, located in great limestone caves of St. Leu-D'Esserent 30 miles north of Paris, and up to 500 Flying Fortresses and Liberators hammered at launching platforms by daylight this morning in heightening air blows against this grim German weapon.

The U. S. big bombers, protected by some 750 fighters, visually bombed at least seven launching sites and hit other targets in France. American Marauders led the tactical blows at Nazi positions on the Normandy battlefield.

Jap Defenders Crowded Into Four Square Miles

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, July 8.—(AP)—Sick, tired and starved, Japanese civilians in considerable numbers are shuffling out of their caves and down a road of surrender into American lines on Saipan island, new reports from the Marianas disclosed today.

Japanese soldiers trapped on the northern tip of the island are still resisting strongly. Richard Johnston, representing the Allied press, reported, but the civilians, "plain people capable of recognizing defeat," are streaming down a designated refugee road into American custody. Lethal dropped behind enemy lines invited the civilians to surrender.

Johnston said the entrapped military units, unable to defend themselves much longer, were making "hopeless, desperate counterattacks reminiscent of Attu and Makin," in which hundreds were killed. A few Japanese who managed to break through the American lines during the attacks were quickly mopped up by soldiers and marines.

Yank invaders of the western Pacific now hold all but four square miles of Saipan, a prospective B-29 base for attacks upon Japan. They also have taken a sixth enemy-built airfield off Dutch New Guinea from which to bomb the Philippines.

The capture July 6 of Namber airfield on Neomofor, 800 miles southeast of Mindanao, winding up the invasion of that island in five days, was announced today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur. It was the third seized there and three more enemy-built airfields previously were won at nearby Biak. (Continued on page three)

Jap Bases In China Also Hit By Superfortresses

Not A Single B-29 Lost In Last Night's Raids On Jap Industrial, Naval And Shipping Centers

By WILLIAM FRYE Washington, July 8.—(AP)—U. S. B-29 superfortresses which struck five Japanese naval, industrial and military nerve centers in Japan and China last night have returned to their bases without loss of any planes, a 20th Air Force communique reported today.

In addition to hitting vital targets in Nippon's homeland in their second strategic mission, the big bombers attacked the Japanese supply bases of Laoyao and Hankow in China.

The Japanese targets are on the highly industrialized northern end of Kyushu, southernmost of the principal home islands.

The targets in China are regarded as important to the enemy's extended supply lines for his ground troops push against the Chinese.

The communique, summarizing the results of the new attack by the huge bombers, which returned to their bases without loss, said that the targets were Sasebo, a big naval base; war plants at Yawata and Omura, both on Kyushu; and Laoyao, a shipping port on the China coast north of Hangchow, and Hankow, 450 miles inland on the Yangtze river.

The superfortresses encountered only very weak fighter opposition and light anti-aircraft fire.

The communique said that an earlier report that Tobata, across the river from Yawata, had been hit was in error.

The communique did not make clear whether the two targets in China were attacked by the mission while it was outbound from its China base or whether the two cities were hit on the return flight. There also was the possibility that part

NEW GAINS ON ITALIAN FRONT

Fifth Army Driving Closer To Port Of Leghorn

By JOHN F. CHESTER Rome, July 8.—(AP)—The viciously defended towns of Rosignano and Castellina on the west coast highways to Livorno (Leghorn) and Pisa have been captured by American infantrymen after three days of bitter street fighting. Allied headquarters announced today.

The doughboys drove the enemy from both Rosignano, 13 miles below Livorno, and Castellina, six miles to the east, last yesterday.

"The enemy fought to the last house," a headquarters officer said. So rugged was the German defense that the Fifth army was forced to expend 21,447 rounds of artillery in one 24-hour period. At Rosigofea the Americans threw back at least three strongly launched counter-attacks.

The two towns were key points of the Nazi outer defense line before Livorno. Volterra, inland to the east, remained as the sole anchor of the current defense line still in effect. (Continued on page three)

Spearheads Drive Within Half Mile Of Center Of City After Six Towns In Outer Defenses Fell Before Onslaught; Americans Push Nazis Back

By WES GALLAGHER Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 8.—(AP)—British tanks and bayonets spearheading a powerful new offensive against Caen smashed within little more than a half mile of the heart of that German anchor in eastern Normandy today, and six towns fell to British-Canadian forces which broke through the crust of Caen's major outer defenses.

Simultaneously, American offensives captured St. Jean de Daye in the center of the Normandy front, and won nine square miles of hard-fought ground near the western flank of the Nazi defensive line at La Haye du Puits.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery sent his offensive forward before dawn under a canopy of blazing artillery barrage and planes, and cracked through lines termed by headquarters as more heavily-held than any attacked in this war.

Six stubbornly-defended towns in an arc north of Caen—the bastion barring the road to Paris—were engulfed in the first few hours, and a front dispatch said tanks had thrust within 1,000 yards of the center of the city of 60,000 population. Heronville, five miles to the northwest was taken and vanguards pushed on a little closer to Caen as flamethrowers cleaned out pillboxes.

The offensive hitting on a front nearly five miles wide "has broken through the crust of Caen's major outer defenses," a British radio dispatch said. "A British tank has been in the town since dawn."

Americans to the west expanded their push in the center of the line. The twin Allied offensives were gaining ground against vigorous Nazi resistance.

Associated Press Correspondent Dean Whitehead reported the capture of St. Jean in a dispatch from the scene and said American doughboys had reached solid fighting ground after a push through marshlands east of St. Jean across the Vire river and across the Vire et Taute canal in the north.

By noon they had straddled the road running from St. Jean to St. Lo, eight miles south, and had cut the lateral east-west road just south of St. Jean.

American tanks were thrown into the assault across the river and (Continued on page four)

NAZI LEADERS IN A HUDDLE

Revision Of Defense Plans Believed Discussed

At the German Front, July 8. (AP)—Germany's military leaders have been holding the most serious discussions with Adolf Hitler on the Reich's critical military situation and a complete revision of defense plans may be made before the end of the month.

The conferences with Hitler, reported through trustworthy informants, began early this week, were said to be comparable with the Kaiser's famous grand council in August, 1918, when it was decided the war could not be won, but that all was not yet lost and that bitter fighting might yet bring an acceptable peace.

(Reports originating from the German front, even though sifted or trustworthy, often are inspired by German sources. Reports suggesting that the Germans are at the point of making peace feelers may have been deliberately planted with the purpose of creating a feeling of over-confidence in Allied countries. A similar technique has been used by Berlin before.)

The major point of debate among eastern, western and Italian front commanders of German forces is reported to concern their varying requirements and whether it would (Continued on page three)

Investigation Continues As Death Toll Reaches 152

Hartford, Conn., July 8.—(AP)—The death toll in the nation's greatest circus disaster counted 152 men, women and children today as authorities pressed swiftly with an announced determination to fix responsibility, if any, for "the tragic loss of life."

Although scores of performers workers and spectators already have been questioned and five persons charged with manslaughter, various investigating agencies sought out still others to tell their versions of Thursday's blazing inferno in the (Continued on Page Four)

Nazis Wipe Out Greek Village

Izmir, Turkey, July 7.—(Delayed) (AP)—Copies of a Greek puppet government communique which reached here today said that the Nazis on June 10 slaughtered more than 1,000 residents of the Greek village of Distomo in a cold-blooded reprisal comparable to that carried out at the Czechoslovak town of Lidice.

The communique said that not even babies in arms were spared and the massacre was crowned by the burning of the village, familiar to many American tourists.

The killing was carried out by the Nazis as revenge for the death of 30 German soldiers in a battle with the Eam and Andaris resistance groups near the village.

De Gaulle Talks With Roosevelt

Washington, July 8.—(AP)—President Roosevelt set aside one hour and 15 minutes of a busy working schedule today for conference with General Charles De Gaulle, leader of the French National Committee.

The conference is expected to be the last between the two men. De Gaulle is going on to New York Monday.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said he did not know whether there would be any statement on conclusion of the conferences.

Mr. Roosevelt met with Secretary of State Hull briefly before receiving De Gaulle at 11:30 a. m.

Today On The Home Front

JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, July 8.—(AP)—A new kind of postal money order soon will go into use. It's simpler to handle than the old kind. This save you time and save the government money in bookkeeping expenses. It's cheaper, too, in sending sums up to $50. But the old kind still will be available for those who want it.

The cost of the new order is a flat five cents for sending anything from one cent to $10. Each order is limited to $10. But you can send as much as you wish. The cost of each mail will be five cents.

You can send up to $100 in a single money order of the old kind. This old style has a rising scale of prices.

In sending anything from one cent to $250 it would cost you 10 cents. The scale goes up to 37 cents for $100. It is after you reach $60 that the old style is a few cents cheaper than the new.

This way: In sending $100 the new way you'd need ten $10 orders which, at five cents apiece, would cost you 50 cents. But $100 sent the old way would be only 37 cents.

This is the way the old kind works:

You go into a post office and fill out an application for a money order. You write in the amount and the full address of the payee. You turn this application in at the clerk's window.

He has to copy out the application on a money order form. Then he gives you the order with a receipt bearing the number of the order. He keeps the application and, for his records, puts on it the number of your money order.

This is the way the new order works:

You go directly to the clerk's window and ask for a money order. Suppose you want to send $50. He charges you $55, gives you an order for $5 and attaches 50 cents in stamps.

Then you write in the name of the payee and his address. Then you mail it. The payee will have to identify himself, when cashing the new type of order, just as he always had to do with the old.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Associated Press War Analyst The Chinese success in breaking the Japanese siege of the strategic junction of Hengyang, on the Peiping-Hankow-Canton railroad, is one of the best pieces of news to come out of China in a blue moon.

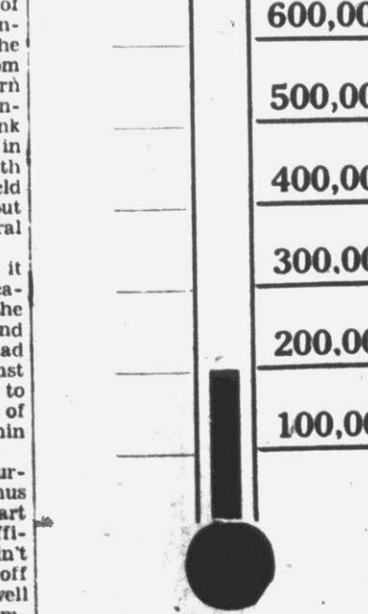

This victory, which was torn by main force out of a very grave situation, gives at least temporary relief from the powerful Nipponese offensive which has threatened to cut China in two, from north to south, and thereby vastly increase the Allied difficulties of ousting the invaders from the continent.

The peril isn't yet past, but the gallant Chinese have won a memorable breathing spell on the seventh anniversary of their neighbor's barbaric attack on them.

Let's get a distorted perspective of the position it must be pointed out that the American air force under Major General Chennault contributed heavily to the victory by demoralizing the Japanese supply lines. The Chinese army is woefully weak in all categories of war supplies, and one hates to think what must have happened long ago but for this air support.

This deep-seated Japanese offensive, which was begun a couple of

Babson Discusses The C. E. D. Group

Babson Park, Mass., July 8.—Watches without springs, motors without gas, or locks without keys are of little use. This is the situation today with the Committee on Economic Development and most committees which are studying postwar employment plans. It all explains one trouble with our schools and colleges. The committees and colleges are neglecting the spiritual urge which the Prophet Isaiah wrote about in the first three verses of his Chapter 31.

What Churches Need Springs without machines, gas without motors and keys without locks are, likewise, of little use. This is the situation today with most churches and preachers. They fail to emphasize the scientific basis for their teachings and also fail to apply spiritual power to practical everyday life. Any religion which does not express itself in right living and social relations is of little use.

The postwar planning committees and present-day educational and religious institutions need to recognize both the importance of spiritual power and just social relations. To continue to ignore such will certainly result in 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 unemployed in the U. S. after the short postwar boom is over.

Material Power Not Enough Land, labor and capital are material; while integrity, initiative and inspiration are spiritual powers. They may either be inherited or acquired; but at all hazards they must be recognized in successful planning. This applies both to national planning and to the planning of our own personal lives as individuals.

Even land, labor and capital can

Britain To Ship Steel To America

Washington, July 8.—(AP)—In complete reversal of the past international flow of steel, England has agreed to ship this country 10,000 tons a month to head off the impending critical steel shortage in the United States.

William L. Batt, chairman of the combined production and resources board, said today that the unusual transaction had been arranged by the board at the request of military and war production officials.

Faced with threatened curtailment of tank, ship, heavy truck and artillery production this fall by reason of lagging U. S. steel output, government officials asked for any amount which England could spare.

Strength FOR THE DAY By EARL L. DOUGLAS

FINDING TRUE LIFE. How prudently we proud men compete for nameless graves, while now and then some starveling of Fate forgets himself into immortality.

Thus wrote Wendell Phillips many years ago. He was thinking of those who die heedlessly to fall in battle, and he was right. These soldiers at last overwhelmed. And, on the other hand, he was thinking of those people who keep their minds on things higher than personal aggrandizement and find themselves very often in such a quiet haven of personal satisfaction and public acclaim that the simple policy of honesty and unselfishness finds itself vindicated.

Every time we are selfish, the universe strives against us. On the other hand, legions of angels sweep across the circumstances of life and lift our poor powers to great achievement when we forget ourselves and our little petty interests and dwell in loving thoughts on the needs of others. Self-forgetfulness is a rare virtue and a very noble one. And often, as Wendell Phillips said, starveling of Fate have forgotten themselves in the midst of their adversity and have gained immortality in so doing.

Character is the religion of self-forgetfulness. Its center lies in God and in our neighbor, not in ourselves. We can't personally desire enter our shoulder, and it comes back fulfilled in the happiness of another.

BABSON (Continued From Page One) of spiritual waves—the seces of integrity, initiative and inspiration—is where electricity was 100 years ago. If so, the greatest need of the postwar era is to teach people where to find spiritual power and how to use it. (Mind you! This does not necessarily mean describing what it is. We do not even yet know what electricity is. We, however, do know how to generate it and use it.)

The Open Church Movement—in which I am greatly interested—is a step in this direction. Its purpose is to get people into churches alone by themselves not only on Sundays but any time during the week when they feel the need for private meditation and prayer. The Christian Science Church, the New Thought Associations, the Unity Groups, the Daily Meditation Centers at San Antonio and elsewhere and Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman are all talking about Spiritual Power and what it can do. The great need, however, is for carefully planned and executed laboratory data which will command greater respect than mere words.

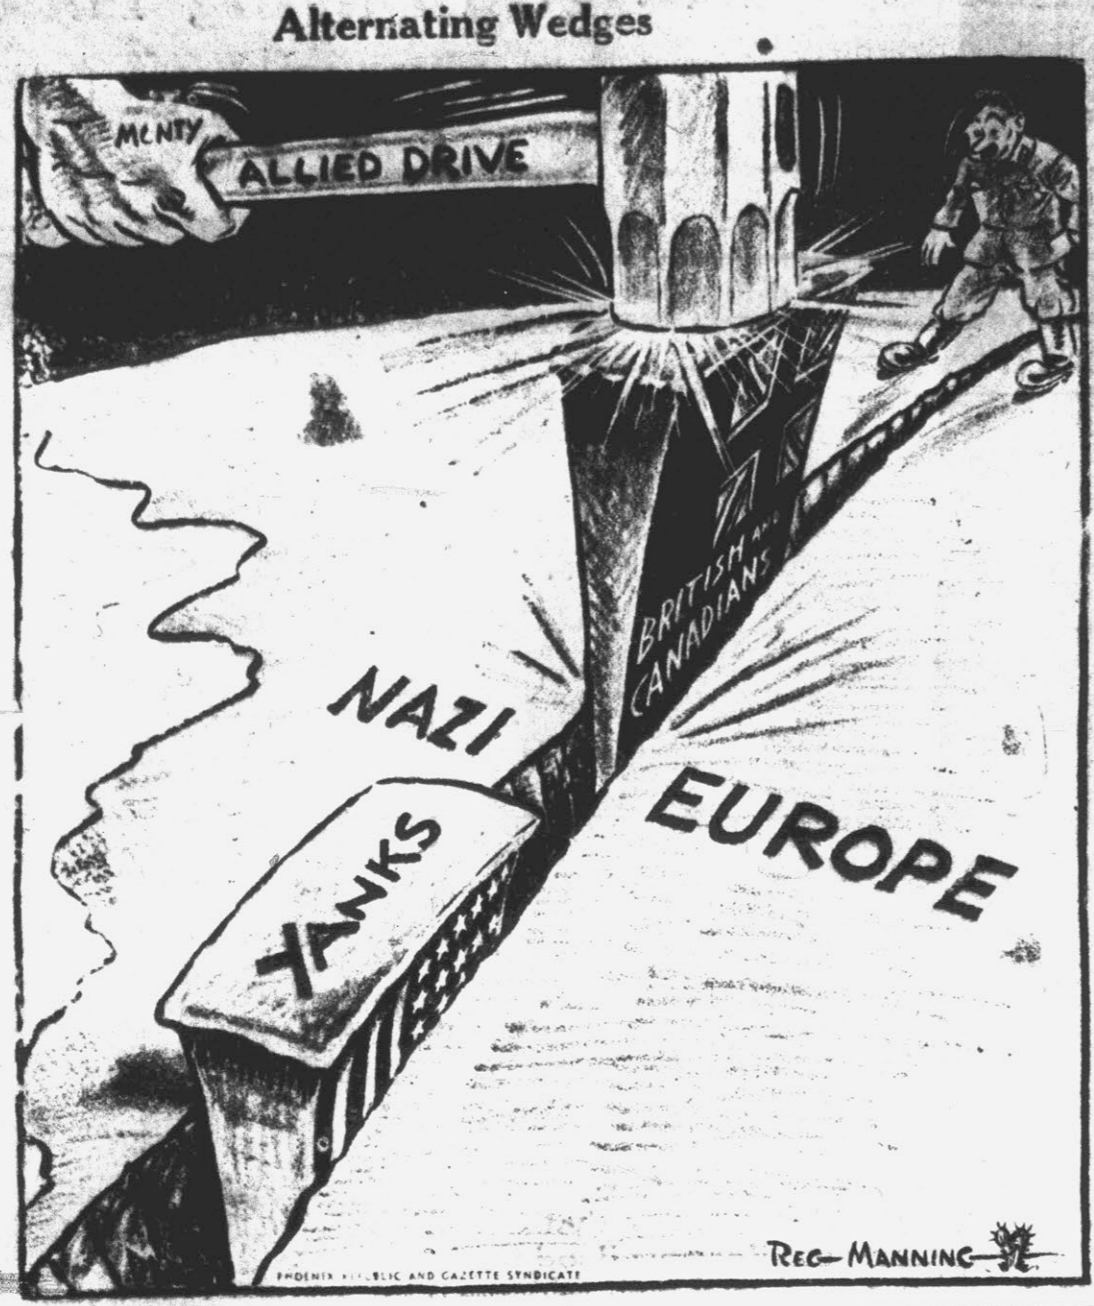

June Graduates Attention. Those who have just graduated from high schools and colleges should especially heed the thoughts I have presented. You may have got marks of 100 per cent in every subject and still be as useless as "sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal." You may well find yourselves priceless watches without springs, 12-cylinder motors without gas or burglar-proof locks without keys.

In fact, I feel so strongly about this entire matter that I believe the greatest of all postwar needs is a spiritual awakening. If so, we all should make our primary task the discovering of methods of harnessing God's Rays which are now all about us but practically unused. Then the greatest changes ahead may not be in connection with aviation or plastics or chemistry but in connection with those intangible forces which develop integrity, initiative and inspiration.

Coincident with the victory at Hengyang, General Chennault made the following forecast: "The time will come soon, perhaps before another 12 months have passed, when the Japanese will be driven forever from Chinese soil. As soon as Hitler has been forced into unconditional surrender the Allies will be turned against Tojo and his henchmen."

You get an interesting combination when you read this along with General Charles De Gaulle's prediction yesterday in Washington that the "year 1944 won't pass the last German in France being killed, captured or chased from our soil. Anyway the victory in the Hengyang sector has stood off the greatest immediate threat to China. Whether this success can be made to stick remains to be seen. We must remember that our Chinese ally's position still remains grave.

Photographs showed at least one of these huge missiles went straight through a hill above the caves and exploded in a cavern below. Earth subsided over an area 500 by 800 feet, indicating masses of dirt and rock had collapsed into the storage caves.

That bomb hail also caused heavy damage to roads and rail lines leading to the caves but German workers were rushed into repair damage. So Lancasters struck again last night to undo their construction.

The depot, attacked in face of heavy ground and air defenses, was one of several RAP night targets. Other Lancasters hammered the Vaires railway yards on Paris' outskirts, and mosquitoes dumped 4,000-pound blockbusters on Berlin and a synthetic oil plant in the Ruhr. Thirty-four British bombers were lost, only one falling at Vaires.

Earlier, the RAF struck hard at German troop, tank, and gun concentrations just north of Caen, preparatory for the British Second Army assault this morning.

The aerial pummeling of German positions in the Caen area in Normandy, begun late yesterday by the RAF, was continued today by American airmen who bombed Nazi lines before the city in support of the new British Second Army drive. Encouraged by the fact that a number of Indian young women are preparing themselves to teach in rural areas of India instead of seeking 'bigger opportunities' in cities, Miss Aileen B. It is very hopeful when we see girls going back to their villages to take responsibility. One girl who completed her middle school course here and took teachers' training at Ambala, is in charge of one of the village schools. Another is in training at Muttra with the intention of coming back into village work."

Kits including sugar, soap, bouillon cubes, hard candies, sewing materials, evaporated milk, cookies, socks, towels, darning cotton, workmen's gloves, and other necessary articles for food and comfort are being prepared in local churches of the Northern Baptist Convention, especially by the women of the Women's American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, aided by members of the White Cross. It is expected that most of the 7,000 Baptist churches will send such kits as an expression of good will to Russia. There were once more than a million Baptists in Russia, and it is hoped by the denomination "that after the war avenues will be opened to permit an intensified ministry to this group."

Concerning Books in the SHEPPARD MEMORIAL LIBRARY

Courtesy. A new book on manners has just been published, "Courtesy," by Helen Sprackling. It is more than just another book about etiquette. It is a book for the family, for the mother, for the teenage boy and girl, for anyone who is interested in courteous living and our changing times. The book was especially designed to meet the American way of life in a new and modern era. The woman in the home, the career woman, the business office, the career woman, everyone will find its simple, direct statements about what is done and should be done under all circumstances an indispensable and valuable aid to successful living. As regards our changing times the author says that things will never be the same but fundamental good manners of courteous living will never die out. However, the telephone, the radio and the airplane have brought into existence a great many new standards and conditions for which we need to have a new awareness. They have brought new customs, new manners to supersede the old. This book prepares us for this new way of living which is fast beginning to be ours nowadays, and which we shall see increase in the coming years.

Carefully noted are some of the minor changes in good etiquette, the use of fewer commas and periods in addresses and headings of letters, the new message cards which are taking the place of the overworked informal calling socially by appointment only, answering the telephone, etc.

Quite a long chapter is devoted to "What's in a Name," telling how the married woman, the professional woman, the widow, the divorcee, should sign her name socially and in business.

Probably the best chapter in the book is "A Time for Sympathy." The author is convinced that some of the conventions that surround life's darkest moment need an honest overhauling. She believes our bereaved friends need to know that we are near but that too much attention brings only fatigue and the distress of memories which conversation revives. She also believes that courtesy does not demand that messages of love and sympathy be acknowledged. Her idea is that messages of sympathy must be of help, of love, of friendship, not reminders of a loss. They should be words of appreciation and admiration of the one who has gone. If a letter of sympathy only emphasizes the sense of loss, then it is an intrusion; it would be better not written.

"OWED" TO THE RAINWATER. O gallant one who doth know how to bring a rain and bring it now. Please take it easy when you try a snake to bring a rainy day! That five full inches of the stuff was really more than quite enough.

The next time kill that snake with ease. And send five rains—all one-inch please. No drenching—just enough to get the ground—and all—just slightly wet. —Dedicated to Jack Netherland.

Kiwanis Club Hears Two Good Speeches

By CHESTER WALSH
"If motorists would strictly aid the government in braking up the black market there would be two more gallons of gas for each car," said W. Z. Kennedy, district manager of the Standard Oil Company, at the Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting at Pevco Hotel, last night. He urged the signing of all gas coupons, use of coupons to buy gas, and not to buy gas coupons and do not ask rationing boards for more gasoline than you really need. W. H. Woodard, War Finance Committee chairman for Region 1, reported that the region, composed of 16 northeastern counties, was one of the first in the state to go over the top in the overall War Bond quota, but that is very much behind in the purchase of E bonds. The banker pointed out that the region in the first four bond drives sold much more than the quotas. "The first four quotas were $25,754,000, but the region sold $32,000,000 worth. Woodard explained that the government pays him $1 a year for his services, that his bank, the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, pays the expenses. Speaking of the E bonds, he said individuals should buy these bonds and help the county and region meet the E bond quota. Banks and big corporations have bought their part of the bonds and now it is up to the individuals to buy bonds and back the armed forces, he said.

Judge Dink James introduced Mr. Kennedy. J. Hicks Corey presented Mr. Woodard. Charles Fisher of the college faculty sang two songs with Mrs. Fisher as accompanist. "Tiger" Gardner led the singing of a special Kiwanis song, "The Call of Kiwanis," with Mrs. Christine Smith as accompanist. It was dedicated to Charles F. W. Mrs. Ethel Reid Watters thanked the Kiwanis for backing her food conservation and canning program and Charles Blair for his radio talk. John G. Clark and Joe Swearingen were guests. Bill Trist announced that Dr. S. M. Crisp will have the program next week.

Overseas
Word has been received here by relatives that Cpl. Frank T. Whitehurst, Jr. has arrived safely in New Guinea.

Prior to his induction into the Army Air Forces in August, 1942, he was employed as bookkeeper by Swift and Company, Rocky Mount.

Sgt. Page Commended. Sgt. James C. Page, son of Mrs. Cora R. Page of Stokes, who is a member of the 372 Bombardment Squadron, has received a letter from Lt. Col. Robert P. Burnham, commanding officer, commending him for his material contribution to the outstanding success of combat strikes, at which time he had been subjected to personal hardships which had been of greater magnitude than ever before encountered by his organization.

Sgt. Page entered the service in December, 1941, and has been overseas nearly two years. He is at present in the Admiralty Islands.

New Gains On . . .

The fall of Castellina will allow a flanking movement toward Livorno from inland while other forces push directly northward along the coastal plain.

French troops of the Fifth army likewise moved forward through the mountains to the east, sweeping through Colle di val D'Isa and fighting their way to less than three miles from Foggionara, 42 miles east of Livorno and only 21 miles south of Florence.

Strongly coordinated German defenses along the ridge immediately north of the lateral highway succeeded in stalling two Allied tank attacks but other tank forces forced an enemy withdrawal north of Montecatini.

Nazi Leaders . . .
be best to withdraw from Norway and the Balkans to avoid the risk of losing now-idle troops who might better be concentrated for the home-land defense.

No final decision apparently has been reached, but information considered trustworthy indicated these were the developments:
1. Marshal Erwin Rommel won a point in his demands to throw more forces into the Normandy front for the rest of this month in a drive to inflict the heaviest possible losses on the Allies.
2. Marshal Karl Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt, German commander in the west, stepped out as the "first error man" in the invasion because he refused to throw every available force against the Normandy beach-head at the beginning.

3. The necessity of maintaining crack divisions on the western front makes it extremely difficult to throw fresh troops into the eastern battle against young and rested Russians, but it is hoped to make a stand in the east by the end of the month, probably behind the Wista (Vistula).

4. Voluntary evacuation of Poland and East Prussia by civilians and families of German civil servants has been in progress for the past 10 days. Construction of huge refugee camps in eastern and southern Germany was ordered to cope with the increasing flow.

5. Eastern commanders are worried by withdrawals in Italy endangering their positions on the southern wing of the Russian front.

6. Rundstedt's withdrawal certainly, and very probably also the death of Gen. Eduard Dietl, the German commander in Finland, are outward signs of storm.

A story, unconfirmed but credited by foreign diplomats in Germany, is that Dietl carried an important document concerning military plans and was en route to see Hitler when his plane crashed in Austria, killing him.

This story is that from the wreckage of the burned plane all papers except the document were found, and that the crash was due to sabotage by an anti-army clique or by enemies within the army seeking to learn the contents of the paper.

End Of Saipan . . .

On Saipan, with sizeable flatlands 1,500 miles southeast of Tokyo, Japanese covered on the north tip were showing the first signs of trying to flee the death which already has overtaken approximately 9,000 defenders.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported in a communique Friday that 200 Nipponese attempted to steal away at night July 4 on barges to other islands but "the formation was broken up by artillery fire."

Both MacArthur and Nimitz announced extensive land-based and carrier-based attacks on the Japanese from the Tanimbars, north of Darwin, Australia, to Truk in the Carolines with enemy air opposition encountered over only one target.

MacArthur's air arm tangled with 40 Japanese fighters during a 55-ton bombing attack on Yap in the western Carolines, a blow dealt in support of the Saipan invasion. One Liberator was lost and two enemy fighters downed as the raiders touched off huge fires and explosions on the airfield, township and waterfront.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, July 8—(AP)—Buyers displayed renewed courage in today's brief stock market, bidding up rails and a wide assortment of industrial fractions to a point or more at peaks for about seven years.

The national income for the first five months of 1944, the commerce department announced, totalled $62,123,000,000, or 12 per cent greater than in the corresponding 1943 period.

Turnover for the two hours, however, ran to around 700,000 shares.

Circus Fire . . .

Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey big top.
The intention of investigators to attempt to fix responsibility, as well as determine the cause, was announced by State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn, Jr. in a formal statement in which he said additional arrests probably would be made after an adjourned fire marshal's hearing and a coroner's inquest.
Alcorn declared it appeared from the preliminary inquiries that there was "inadequate fire fighting equipment" on the circus grounds, manned by "inadequate personnel."
"There is also in our possession," he added in the statement, issued late yesterday, "information that the tent itself had been in use only since the road show started this season and that it had been treated with paraffin which was diluted with gasoline, making the entire tent highly inflammable."
The amount of damage resulting from the quick-spreading flames, which destroyed the tent and turned 6,000 spectators into a screaming hysterical mass, has not been determined, but the circus' insurance brokers announced at Sarasota, Fla., last night that the loss was fully covered.
As the investigations proceeded, the ordeal of trying to identify burned and charred bodies neared an end for sorrowing relatives and friends. At the state armory, converted into a temporary morgue, officials announced last night that all but 11 of the 127 bodies taken there had been identified.

The possibility remained, however, that some of the bodies never would be identified and Mayor William H. Mortensen said it might be necessary to give a municipal funeral for these.

Among those identified last night was Edwin G. Woodward, dean of agriculture at the University of Connecticut.

the canal.

Southeast of La Haye du Puits another advancing American column liberated nine square miles of French territory in the Cherbourg peninsula.

German defenses at Galmanche La Bijaide and Leblisy, from two to three miles directly north of Caen, fell quickly after Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery loosed his attack with a typical "Monty" barrage on a front more than three miles wide.

Fleets of fighter and medium bombers pounded German defenses ahead of the advancing troops as Montgomery put in a power smash to crack the densely-packed German front where the supreme command announced Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel has concentrated more troops to the square mile than in any battle in this war.

The British were advancing, with the river Orne on their left flank. It was the first big attack by the Second army since the Canadians moved into Caen, last week.

The offensive was launched against German forces already dazed from a terrific night bombing assault by British bombers which saturated the area with 2,500 tons of explosives.

"The first phase has gone well," said an advanced headquarters spokesman to Roger D. Greene, Associated Press correspondent with the British army before Caen.

Barkley Will . . .

He will make a radio address from Seattle tomorrow night, presumably to report on his trip to China and Siberia.

Also drawing the interest of political observers was the disclosure that there may be precedent for exclusion of delegates who declare that they will not abide by convention decisions. The Democratic delegate situation in Texas and Mississippi has been clouded by intra-party dispute.

Talk of a Barkley nominating speech at the Democratic national convention, which opens in Chicago July 19, reinforced an expressed belief of party chieftains that the President will accept another nomination. Such an address naturally will not be made without Mr. Roosevelt's acquiescence.

The manual for the Democratic convention discloses possible precedent—a case in 1964 for exclusion of delegates who announce they will not abide by convention decisions.

Political interest has been heightened in Texas and Mississippi, where some Democrats have made demands they say must be met before they will support the party nominee.
