YANKS DRIVE DEEPER INTO GERMANY

Massive Russian Forces Assaulting Warsaw Today

Fierce Fighting In Polish Capital Suburb Of Praga; New Activity On Other Sectors Indicates Stalin Has Resumed All-Out Offensive Against Germany.

By The Associated Press London, Sept. 14—Massive Russian forces assaulting Warsaw frontally fought today into the streets of Praga, the industrial suburb of the torn Polish capital on the east bank of the Vistula river, the Berlin radio announced.

Far to the south, other Russian troops reached the Czechoslovak frontier in the Beskide mountains of the Carpathian range and one report said Cossack patrols were believed to have crossed the border within 50 miles of Kosice, sixth largest city of Czechoslovakia with 70,000 population.

Other Russian troops drove to within 15 miles of East Prussia. Yet another group of Red armies moving swiftly through Romania was acknowledged by Berlin to have stormed through the Szecler corner of Transylvania, territory disputed between Romania and Hungary.

The whole picture of enlivened activity all along the eastern front prompted Moscow reporters to cable that there were indications that Stalin had resumed his all-out offensive toward Germany itself.

"Southeast of Warsaw, fighting reached a new climax in ferocity and amount of materiel used by the Russians on Wednesday," Berlin broadcast said. "Paying no attention to losses in men and materiel, the Moscow high command sent ever fresh formations into the battle so that the Soviet Russians finally were able, after a fierce ding-dong battle, to enter Praga, suburb of Warsaw on the eastern bank of the Vistula. German and Hungarian troops fighting northeast of Praga repelled all Russian attacks and destroyed 39 tanks."

At midnight, the Kremlin announced the capture of 30 settlements northeast of Warsaw, raising the flanking threat to the capital. The Germans said the fighting (Continued on Page Seven)

New York, Sept. 14—(AP)—The Manila radio announced that United States carrier-based aircraft "attempted to raid" Legaspi, Negros Leyte and Zamboanga in the Philippines this morning (Japanese time). PCC monitors reported.

Negros and Leyte are islands in the central Philippines north of Mindanao. Legaspi is a town near the southeastern tip of Luzon island and Zamboanga is a town on the southwestern tip of Mindanao.

Albritton, who had already been shot at by a patrolman, had held off the officers more than an hour. At an inquest held in Ayden shortly after the killing the jury exonerated Cpl. Laws, Coroner Griffith, H. Rouse stated.

CHINESE SCORE BIG VICTORY OVER THE JAPS

Recapture Of Stronghold Of Tengchung Marks High Point In Effort To Reopen Burma Road.

By SPENCER MOORE Chungking, Sept. 14—(AP)—The Chinese high command announced today the recapture of Tengchung from the Japanese, saying this "marks another high point in the effort to clear the area west of the Salween river and remove another obstacle to reopening of the Burma road."

The fall of the city, held by the Japanese for more than two years and once their Yunnan province headquarters, was a significant gain in the first real Chinese offensive in more than seven years of war. It was four months and three days ago that the Chinese, aided by American elements and the U. S. 14th air force, opened the Salween push. Clearing of Tengchung goes far toward accomplishing the purpose of the offensive—to reopen the Burma road in China, join with Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's forces in northern Burma and open the land supply route to blockaded China.

Tengchung lies 35 miles from the Burma border and 65 miles west of the Salween river bridge. A high command communique said Japanese hospital patients captured at Tengchung Tuesday had been without food for four days. A captured Japanese veterinary officer was quoted as saying that all the lightly wounded and one-third of the more seriously wounded Japs (Continued on Page Four)

Taft Heads City War Fund Drive

The appointment of Mr. Joseph M. Taft, prominent young business man, as Greenville Township Chairman for the United War Fund Campaign was announced today. Mr. Sam B. Underwood, Jr., Pitt County Chairman, said, "We consider this important civic undertaking very fortunate to have Mr. Taft to direct the campaign. His enthusiasm, his tried and tested experience will mean much in the satisfactory completion of the task of raising funds for so many extremely worthy community projects, combined with war born national and international relief and recreational projects for servicemen."

Mr. Taft is a member of the firm of Taft Furniture Company. He is a past president of Kiwanis, has served on the Board of Aldermen and is presently a member of the Board of Trustees of the Greenville City Schools. When interviewed today, he stated that he was actively engaged in perfecting plans for the local drive and that he expected to announce in a few days the names of those patriotic civic-minded men and women who would participate in the organization.

Notice To Subscribers

Attention of our subscribers is again called to the necessity of keeping their subscriptions on a PAID-IN-ADVANCE basis. Because of the manpower shortage it became necessary some time ago for us to discontinue our collectors and have all subscriptions paid direct in the office, either by mail or in person.

We realize that our rural subscribers have been unusually busy for the past several weeks getting in their crops, and we have refrained from dropping them from our lists during this emergency. It is necessary, however, that all subscriptions, both rural and city, be paid up by the end of this month, as we will revise our lists on October 1. Rural subscribers can ascertain their expiration dates from the label on their paper, and if the date is prior to 10-1-44 it is necessary that you renew during this month to avert being dropped from the list. Card notices of expiration dates are being mailed to our city subscribers and it is likewise necessary that they renew before the end of this month.

We have a number of service men on our list whose subscriptions were sent by friends or relatives, but in some instances we do not have the name of the person who sent the paper. We hesitate to send expiration notices to these service men, and certainly we do not want to stop their papers, so if you have been subscribing for a service man's paper please check our office for expiration date of same.

Roosevelt and Churchill Inspect Honor Guard

President Roosevelt sits in the back seat of the automobile at left, and Prime Minister Churchill with cane walks between the two cars during a review of their honor guard at their meeting in the Citadel at Quebec. Center Of Hurricane Misses North Carolina And Virginia

Only Minor Damage Reported As Tropical Disturbance Passes Far Off The Coast.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 14—(AP)—Howling northward the Atlantic hurricane passed off the Virginia capes early this afternoon, lashing the Virginia coastal area with winds up to 75 miles per hour and heavy rains. The Norfolk Weather Bureau reported at 1 P. M. (EWT) that the peak of the storm's fury had passed, so far as the Hampton Roads area was concerned, but added that winds up to 60 miles per hour could be expected to continue for several hours.

The hurricane, covering an estimated area of 500 miles, moved north northeast at a speed of about 20 miles per hour from near Cape Hatteras this morning. It apparently picked up speed to reach the Virginia capes early this afternoon and to head for the New England coast where it was expected to pass late tonight.

Expect Joint Statement From Quebec Conference

By W. L. BEALE, Jr. Quebec, Sept. 14—(AP)—A formal statement by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill outlining Allied objectives in the war with Japan before they part this week-end appeared possible today as their second historic conference in Quebec's towering Citadel entered its final phase.

A while no positive official commitment has been made, there seemed reason to believe the Allied leaders might deem the time ripe for a pronouncement setting forth the aims of which American B-29 Superfortresses already have given the Japanese homeland an inkling. Military and naval strategy for crumbling Japan into dust already is charted and the details are being filled in by the British-American chiefs of staff in the Chateau Frontenac. The personal Roosevelt-Churchill talks now range over unbounded questions of winning a war against Nazi and Japanese militarism and the inevitable postwar economic difficulties.

It can now be reported from sources reflecting the combined chiefs of staff that: 1. Pacific command problems were settled before the President and Prime Minister sat down together here. 2. The question of a hemispheric Pacific commander has not arisen and will not be considered because— 3. For immediate stages of the Pacific war the command already has been wrapped up in the red tape of official approval. This word is not interpreted to mean that before Japan's ultimate defeat a top strategic commander will not be needed. But in the current phase of gobbling Japan's island defenses, pyramiding strength under Gen. Douglas MacArthur for reconquest of the Philippines, nursing Chinese resistance and plotting new land and air assaults in Malaya, command disposals sealed at Roosevelt-MacArthur-Nimitz talks in Pearl Harbor are expected to prevail.

American Tanks And Infantry Advancing Along Wide Broken Front In Germany

By JAMES M. LONG London, Sept. 14—(AP)—American doughboys ripped open the first line of Siegfried defenses below Aachen today and smashed two miles deep into the line on a four-mile front in the Luxembourg area. Between the two deep penetrations 1st army units tore eight miles into outer defenses toward the major bastion of Prum, 10 miles inside Germany.

To the south, German broadcast said, the Third Army forged an 18 mile salient across the Moselle which fashioned an iron pincer on the Moselle stronghold of Nancy. All along a front of 150 miles the Americans were hammering home a powerful series of offensives with doughboy teams riding tanks under a cover of fierce artillery fire.

Aachen was passed in the plunging drive below that inched the corner of the German, Belgian and Netherlands border lands as Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army bit deep into the Siegfried Line. With the first line of defenses ripped open, the Americans plowed toward the second belt of fortifications, an AP dispatch from the front said.

Soft spines to the south, just opposite the northern tip of Luxembourg, other First Army units rolled eight miles toward Prum. That offensive was said to be proceeding all along a wide broken front. Still farther south, along the Luxembourg sector where the Americans had been shelling the Ger-doughboys smashed forward into Germany and two miles into the Siegfried Line.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army was said in German accounts to be forging an iron clamp on Nancy in operations across the Moselle both to the north and south of that stronghold. A general advance of about six (Continued on Page Eight)

Higher Tobacco Prices This Year

With the volume of sales on the Greenville tobacco market this week about the same as the corresponding week last year, prices are on the average $5.25 per hundred higher.

The higher average price has been attained despite the fact that growers are marketing as much of their black, trashy and green grades as they can get on the market. Taken as a whole, the quality this year, has been poor compared to the previous season's offerings.

workers are retained; better morale; less clock watching; less labor turnover; lower hourly wages; less employee opposition to technological advances, such as a faster way of doing a job due to improved machinery. Various safeguards have been adopted to prevent the plans from becoming too tough on employers: Limitation of coverage, such as having the plan apply only to regular or senior employees; the right to suspend the agreement in emergencies like strikes, storms, floods, fires; the right to modify the plan if business slumps; and the right to transfer workers from one job to another.

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Associated Press War Analyst) United Nations success in Europe continues to pile up so consistently that you knock wood on learning about each successive gain, for fear luck just can't continue to be so good—but the most significant news is the worn from Quebec conference circles that Allied armies are driving into Germany ahead of D-Day schedule.

This means that way back at the time of the invasion, more than three months ago, the Allied high command did such a remarkable job of crystal gazing—calculating the weather, military progress, supply problems and what not—that they are still on the beam for General Eisenhower's prediction that the war is likely to end this year. Yesterday this column expressed the view that Allied generalship has been superior to the traditionally high class German military leadership. Well, here's a case in mind at a decisive moment.

Things are going so well that London says United States war planning chiefs are reported to have established October 31 as the tentative "outside" date for the collapse of organized resistance in Germany. Not being a prophet I won't argue that point, but merely reiterate that anything can happen at any time when German fortunes are in such critical state, though there's likely to be some tough fighting yet.

indication that they intend to battle to a finish. Their military operations show this, and Hitler has given fresh sign of his own determination in a warning to the people to "fight to the bitter end" and not how to the Nazi ultimatum for surrender. The Nazi dictator tells his people that there's "no difference between these so-called liberators" and the blood thirsty Russians. This sort of talk apparently has registered with at least part of the population, judging from the glances of bitter hatred which the German people have been giving the Allied troops who already have reached Nazi soil.

The Nazi will to fight on is there. That's the known quantity. The unknown element is how much strength remains to implement this determination. True, it's clear that the Reich is close to collapse, but Hitler may be able to put up a stiff final battle after shortening his fronts and concentrating his terribly depleted manpower.

While there's vast encouragement in the news that the Allies have reached German soil, and even have cracked the outer defense of the west wall (or Siegfried line) at one or two points, we aren't entitled to reach sweeping conclusions from this. The Nazis won't try to defend all points of the frontier, and it must be remembered that the west wall isn't a wall at all. The west wall isn't a solid line of fortifications, as its name suggests. The French Maginot line does have a barrier of concrete and steel forts. (Continued on Page Four)

TWENTY SIX DIE IN WRECK

Sixty-Five Others Injured In Train Collision.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 14—(AP)—At least 26 persons were killed and about 65 injured early today in the collision of two Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad passenger trains near here. Virtually all of the dead and injured were soldiers.

The trains, one the crack Dixie Flyer, south bound and the other a mail and express train, crashed head-on during a heavy fog.

The engine, tender, two baggage cars and the first two of three Pullmans on the Dixie Flyer left the track and piled up along the roadway. All cars of the other train held the track.

Fifth Army Battering Against Edges Of Gothic Line.

Rome, Sept. 14—(AP)—The Fifth Army was battering the forward edges of the Nazi Gothic line in Italy on a 25-mile front, where enemy resistance was "increasing tremendously" and "future gains will be a test of Allied might against the German will to resist," Allied headquarters said today.

Lt. Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth which includes several British divisions, cracked through German outposts all along the western sector of the front between Pistoia and Lucca.

An official statement summed up future prospects: "The enemy has brought into play (Continued on Page Four)

Riots In Berlin

Washington, Sept. 14—(AP)—Watch for it: Labor demands upon employers for a guarantee of annual wages or annual employment. The War Labor Board shortly will decide upon demands of the CIO steelworkers—and other unions—for a guaranteed annual wage.

The steelworkers ask for a 52 weeks' guarantee, probably won't get it, may get something less. If they lose, they'll ask again. If they win, other unions will pile in with demands. Steelworkers say: With a guaranteed wage, workers feel freer to spend their money. This creates purchasing power, particularly in the critical period ahead: the changeover from war to peace. Large purchasing power means large peacetime production. And that means widespread employment.

They say this, too: A guarantee to steelworkers will be a precedent to other industries to give their workers a guarantee, thus keeping employment steady. There are two main kinds of guarantees: the yearly employment plan, assuring regular work; and the annual wage, under which hours worked per week may vary but the weekly paycheck remains the same. Additionally, there are a wide variety of plans which provide for weekly or monthly guarantees. Supporters of the plans say employers get these benefits: Lower costs because trained

Women IN THE CHURCH

by Mary Fowler

Church women of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths will participate in the country-wide clothing drive, to be conducted under the auspices of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration from Sept. 24 to 30. In local churches and communities 15,000,000 pounds of new and used clothing will be collected for shipment to the newly liberated people of Europe. Clean winter and summer clothing for men, women and children and infants is needed, also bedding, hosiery and gloves. The collection is endorsed by the United Council of Church Women, the National Council of Jewish Women and the War Relief Services of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

Probably the only woman in the United States today who has lived within recent years among the people of the Marshall and Caroline Islands is Miss Eleanor Wilson, Congregational missionary. She predicts representation from the Micronesian churches at coming world church gatherings. For, says she, "surely a people who will be shot rather than give up their hymn books and Bibles have a contribution to make to the life of our Christian church." Miss Wilson is even now studying anthropology and sociology, and refreshing herself on the language to go back to the South Seas when the war is over. She served in the Congregational school at Kusale, Caroline Islands, for five years. Prior to that she was in Japan. "The Marshall Islanders have not only assisted our fighting forces physically, but their faithfulness has touched the hearts of some of those army and navy men; and no one knows how many will come to know and love Christ

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as lively as a youngster— Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

PIPSY CASIA

by MARTHA PREWITT

Chapter 25
On board the Blue Dolphin Di hardly left Thad for a moment. She was always with him, and so obviously possessive in her attitude that it was like a continuous knife thrust in Lucky's heart. Yet some- how before they reached Miami she had to see him alone, talk to him. Less than 48 hours—and all my life dependent on it.

She took the late evening trick at the wheel, hoping against hope that when Di went below, Thad would stay. Di'd thought of that, too. She saw to it that she and Thad went down to their respective cabins at the same time. Wearily Lucky followed in a few minutes, turning the wheel over to Cappy.

At the foot of the companionway she found Thad waiting for her. "Lucky." He stretched out his hand, palm up, asking for hers. She held herself rigid against the bulkhead, caught off-guard, knowing the touch of his fingers would send all the old fire through her, no matter how he intended the gesture. And she had to keep her mind and heart steady so that she could talk to him.

She shrank away, not wanting him to see her panic. He misunder- stood. "Don't, Lucky! I admit I can't understand it, but I don't—condemn you, I can't!"

"Condemn?" Her chin came up, in surprise and shock. He bent closer, searching her eyes for the truth. She met his gaze un- flinchingly, in spite of her trem- bling. She saw the faint beginning of hope there and then, while she watched, it flickered and went out. In its place grew doubt. Then sus- picion, hard, inflexible.

Before that look on Thad's face, she fled, without a word, to her stateroom to fling herself on the high bunk in an agony of bewilder- ment.

All next day while they ploughed northward along the Berry Islands through smooth seas and favoring winds, she kept up a frantic effort to find another opportunity to talk to Thad alone. To ask him this time, point-blank and quickly, what he meant by "condemna."

But each move she made, Di fore- stalled. She seemed to sense what Lucky was after and quietly unob- trusively thwarted her. The day wore to a close and Lucky went be- low at last. And tomorrow morning they'd be in Miami!

She couldn't go to bed. She sat on her bunk, without undressing, lost in a maze of tortured helpless mem- ories of Thad.

It was more than an hour later that she made herself rouse, sitting erect stiffly. The air coming in through the open hatch smelled of rain; she remembered that Joe was on watch and that he didn't have skins. She got up and found a set of her father's to take out to him.

She came soundlessly up the steps into the night. Her head reached the level of the cabin trunk, she saw the wide-shouldered outline of a man standing in the cockpit, his back toward her. She knew before he spoke that it was Thad.

Her first instinct was to retreat. Then he said in a voice that for Thad was curiously humble and appealing: "I've always thought you were tops, Joe. I want to go on thinking it. You are going to mar- ry Lucky, aren't you?"

She stood rooted there, bracing herself to the roll of the schooner, too startled to be conscious of eavesdropping.

At the wheel, Joe asked, "What are you driving at, Lucky's a swell kid. But she's nothing to me. Thad! I won't even be seeing her—"

"Why, you!" Thad took a step forward, lashed suddenly with his fist and Lucky heard the impact of a blow.

The next instant she was on deck. Pushing past Thad, she cried, "Joe, are you hurt?"

The drifter nursed his jaw with one hand. "Take it easy, Lady," he said softly.

Thad looked once at Lucky, glared at Joe, then turned on his heel. "But why—?" Lucky gasped. "Joe, you must tell me why Thad hit you."

"Let's skip it, Lucky," Joe said shortly.

Chapter 26
But Lucky meant to solve the mystery of Joe. He'd babbled a lot to her that night he was drunk—the twisted story of a boy who, fatherless, had trusted an older man, been made the fall guy for him on a forged check charge, served a term for it. Afterward his name had been cleared, but he'd stayed in the Islands then. She knew that, but she had to know more. If she knew his connection with Thad, maybe the rest would be clearer to her, what Thad thought she'd done. She had to know.

Yet how to get at it? She felt helplessly young and immature. She wished she could be like Di. Sure and confident and able to get what she wanted—even when it was

Chapter 27
Thad. That thought forced her on. She said, "Joe, the money Thad borrowed from Uncle Frank, that was for you, wasn't it?"

He didn't answer at once. The man's hand moved across the north star and back again before he finally spoke. "Yes," he conceded un- willingly. "I'm buying a boat repair business in Miami."

"Oh! I'm glad. Cappy thinks you're the best boatman in the Is- lands." She was genuinely glad, knowing what it would mean to him. But it didn't come any nearer solving her problem. So many questions crowded at her.

"Is—Is 'Breslin' your real name, Joe?" "es. Not that I'm any credit to it!"

The raw bitterness in his voice told her this still was painful. She couldn't probe deeper, no matter how much it meant to her. Yet she must find out some other way. So much depended on it.

It's connected with Joe, the thing that's changed Thad. I know it. But what?

Why does he want Joe to marry me? That question kept twisting, fretting, in her mind. Why? Unless Di—

But what could Di have told him? Thad wouldn't have believed her. Yet something's convinced him I've done a thing—to be con- demned for! I've got to find out.

The feeling of urgency possessed her. She didn't lose it, even after she went below—not until finally she dropped into the deep drugged sleep of emotional exhaustion.

Hours later she was awakened by an abrupt change in the schooner's movement. The beam sea was gone. They were jarring into it. Overhead wind whistled through the stays, and blocks and running rigging banged with the pitch. Spray shot through the open hatch above her bunk.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

EXPERIENCE A TEACHER

We often hear the expression, "Let bygones be bygones." But someone has wisely said that the only use for bygones is that they may teach us how to meet bygones. This is another way of saying that experience is meant to teach us life's most outstanding lessons.

Experience is a dear teacher. We pay high tuition when we attend her school. The best way to learn by experience is not to learn by our own experience but by the experience of others. There are many who believe that we never learn the advantage of certain courses of action and the disadvantage of others unless we actually pass through these things. But if that were true, doctors would be prepared for their profession not only by attending medical school but by going to centers of contagion where they would contract many of the diseases they have to treat. A doctor does not treat smallpox any better because he has passed through the illness himself.

There can be no doubt that every experience we pass through has, in some form or other, been reenacted before, frequently in our own lives and certainly in the lives of others. If we would only allow these experiences to teach us, how much different our lives would be and the world in which we live. We go on making mistakes day after day, the same mistakes we made last week, last month, last year. Somehow or other we feel that we can escape what others have not escaped.

He is wise who examines carefully every bygone that he may know how to meet bygones.

AMERICA IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—I've been talking to the British and the War Department. It's about one of those little things that seem inconsequential in the war's larger affairs; but one which sometimes sandpapers the raw tempers of Allies at war against a common enemy.

It's about the mixup in commands in the European theater. Actually there never was and probably won't be any such mixup. On the surface there appeared to be. The actual facts are these: Gen. Dwight D. "Ike" Eisenhower was placed in supreme command of the western invasion forces. It was agreed then that Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery should be commander of the Allied ground forces (that is, of all field commanders) "until such time as the numerical strength of the American forces should become greater than those of the British commonwealth."

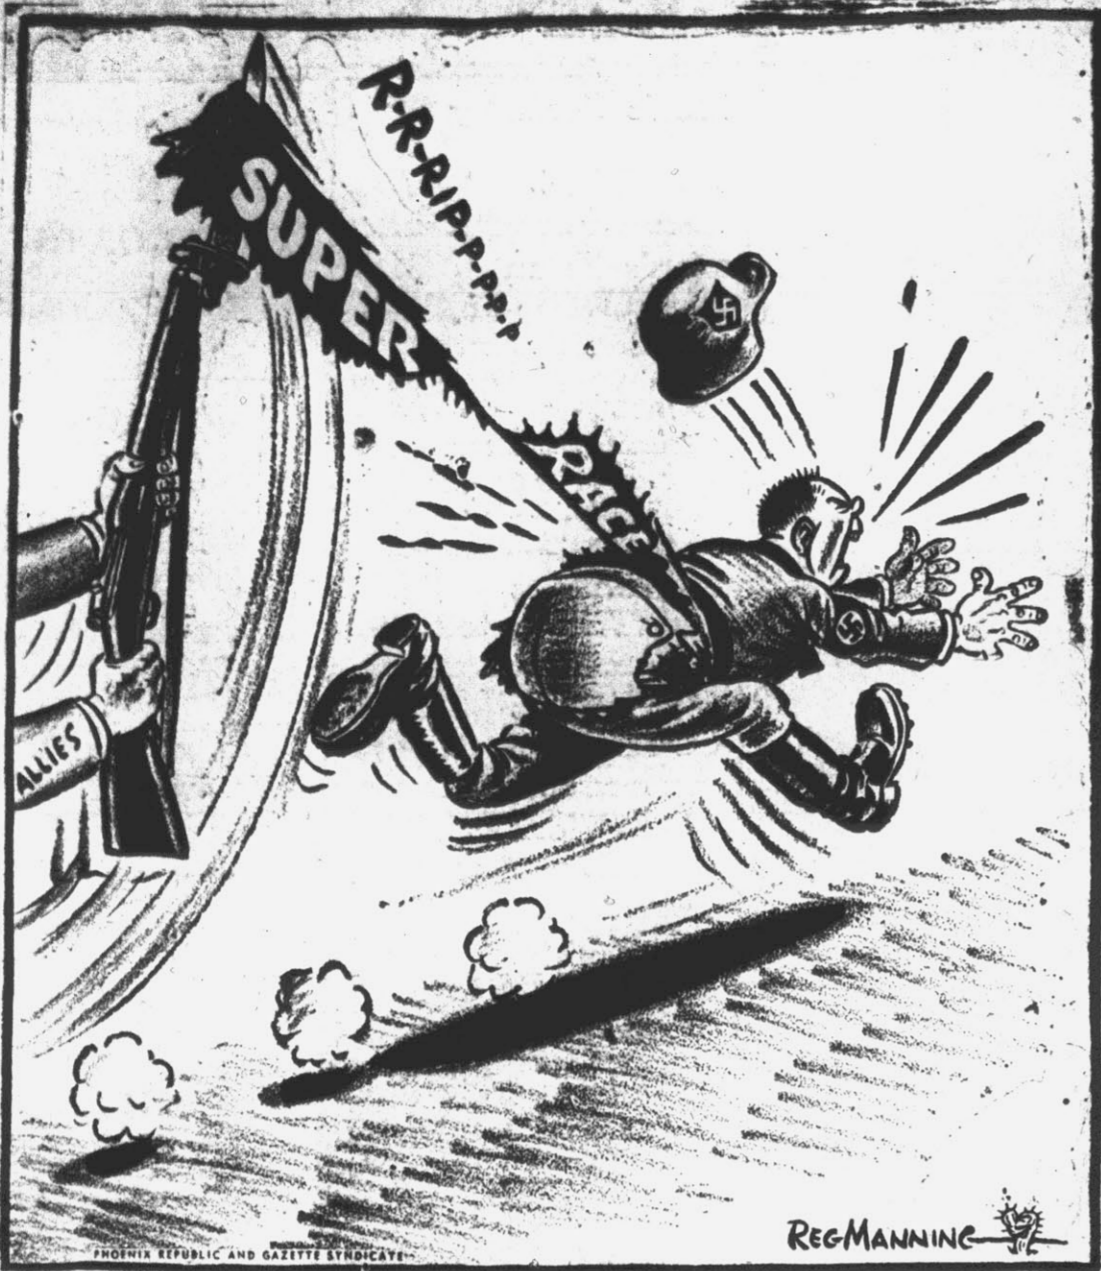

Through some error, the contingent stipulation just quoted wasn't made public at the time the order of command was announced. Consequently, when it was announced that Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley had been elevated to co-equal command with Gen. Montgomery, the British felt that their beloved "Monty" had been kicked in the teeth, especially since the English and Canadian troops had been tied down for weeks in the brutal corner at Caen, while the Yanks were making hay and headlines by roaming all over France and even into Germany.

Further confusion resulted when Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., was given practically all the credit for the break-through at Avranches, a maneuver planned and carried out under orders of Gen. Bradley.

Another command confusion is in the making (but probably will be straightened out any day now) as the forces of Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, Jr., who is in complete command of the invasion armies in southern France, join the western invasion troops.

The situation is clearing now and wouldn't have been serious at all if it hadn't been that England's greatest hero of this war had seemed to have been slighted and an overemphasis given to the exploits of "Pistol-Packing" Patton, to the exclusion of his senior officer, whose strategy he was merely carrying out, although brilliantly.

Now, It's Just A Race

REG MANNING

There isn't much doubt here that Montgomery's new title of field marshal was given principally to allay any fears that he had been demoted. As a matter of fact, Field Marshal Montgomery now technically outranks Eisenhower for we have no similar rank. But don't let that worry you. "Ike" still is the boss man on the continent and will continue to be.

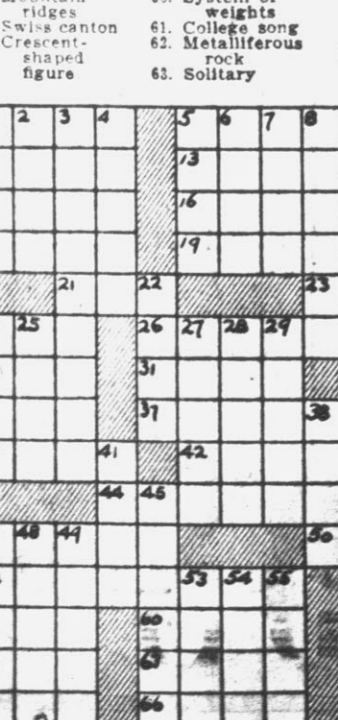

Gen. Bradley, who so brilliantly planned and executed the blitzkrieg of western Europe, and Field Marshal Montgomery, the hero of El Alamein, who engineered the turning point in his war, are next in line. Under them are the Patton and it is presumed there also will be the Patches of tomorrow's junction of forces, whether they come from the south or north.

but while the west wall has many fortifications it comprises a maze of defenses of many sorts arranged in great depth. The line varies from ten to thirty miles in width. It's so constructed that great firepower can be concentrated on any given point from several directions, and the general idea is to let the enemy troops get well into the midst of these fortifications and then slaughter them with intense gunfire. So capture of an outpost of the west wall doesn't necessarily indicate a quick breakthrough.

One of the greatest threats to the morale of the German population is the terrific bombing. Yesterday, for example, between 5,000 and 6,000 Allied planes dumped 10,000 tons of bombs into the Reich between the border and Berlin—after General Eisenhower had given fair warning that heavy bombing was coming.

ly at this time so close to changing over from full production for war to more uncertain civilian output—on grounds such as these:
The future is uncertain because of possible business ups and downs. A firm which guaranteed 52 weeks of work a year might find at year's end it had only 40 weeks of full work. In that case, the company would lose money.

This—because of the possible business fluctuations—is always the main objection of a firm to granting anything like a full year's guarantee of employment.
But there are modifications of the idea which might be worked out: such as granting steelworkers—or other workers—a guaranteed wage for 30 or 40 weeks' employment; or cancelling out the agreement if work fell below a certain level.

The Japanese took what advantage they could of the bombings, moving swivel up to small holes which from where they poured fire upon the Chinese. Allied Commission To Remain 3 Years
London, Sept. 14—(AP)—Officials being considered for posts in the British section of the Allied Commission to administer Germany after the war are being informed they must agree to stay at least three years.
Under the plan outlined by many here, Berlin would be the seat of the commission, representing the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union. Each country would have a controlling sphere—the Russians the eastern section, Britain the northwest and the United States the southwest.
All trade and production would be under the control of the commissioners. Hitler's "people's court" and other Nazi instruments would be wiped out immediately and a new judicial system set up.
The Nazi gauleiters—local dictators—will go, and the Allies are expected to maintain close supervision over schools. It is possible that British teachers may be installed in some institutions.

On the Adriatic sector, British, Canadian and Indian troops in the Corlano-San Savino area had advanced 1,000 yards against fierce opposition. Further south British forces recaptured two bitterly contested points about 1,000 yards northwest of Croce.

The announcement that British divisions—including the sixth South African, have been thrown into the line with the Fifth army indicates the scale of the effort Clark is making to break the core of the Gothic line in central Italy.

Headquarters emphasized that the Gothic line is really a defense zone several miles in depth studded with many concrete emplacements, tank obstacles, trenches, mines and dugouts are ranged along the mountain sides "and everything conceivable has been done to make the position strong."

"It is so designed that in penetrating the line resistance increases with the depth of penetration," headquarters said.
Allied forces yesterday had reached the threshold of two main passes through the Gothic line.
Allied medium bombers and fighters continued to support the attack. Coastal aircraft attacked shipping in the Gulf of Genoa.

The navy announced the bombardment of Rimini was continued Sept. 12 with good results. The navy also reported sinking of an enemy convoy of several vessels in the Aegean by destroyers the night of Sept. 12-13.

LEGAL ACTION AGAINST NAZIS

Indictments Against 174 Members Of Nazi Party.

Washington, Sept. 14—(AP)—The first legal action against the Nazi party in the United States, as such, was disclosed today by a Justice Department announcement that 174 German aliens have been indicted on charges of concealing their Nazi party affiliations in this country.

The indictments charge the group with conspiring to withhold information in the alien registrations of 1940 and 1942 and with making fraudulent statements. Penalties reach a maximum of $10,000 fine and ten years in prison.

A department spokesman said that although some individual members of the Nazi party had been indicted on various charges previously, this is the first action resulting from party membership itself. Such political affiliations were required to be disclosed by the alien registration act and in the registration of alien enemies. Present charges grew out of the alleged failure of the defendants to divulge this information.

The announcement said federal grand juries in New York, Brooklyn and Newark returned 37 indictments, culminating a series of investigations which ended in Newark yesterday.

For security reasons the indictments were sealed until today. The indictments state that Nazi party activities began in the United States as early as 1933 and were operated actively through the German ambassadors and consular officials.

The announcement said "all of the defendants are alleged to have been members or officers of the party and to have worked for the advancement of its aims."

All the defendants are residents or former residents of the New York-New Jersey area.

"The case is the first to be brought against members of the Nazi party in the United States," said the Justice Department announcement.

Many of those named in the indictments are now interned as dangerous enemy aliens. Some are being held in temporary detention at Ellis Island.

Some defendants are charged with conspiring to defraud the government by giving false information in the alien registration of 1940.

The others are charged with making false and deceptive statements to the government in connection with the 1942 registration of enemy aliens.

The Justice Department said the indictments grew out of a prolonged investigation of Nazi efforts to promote the party in this country.

Will Take Part In Quebec Conference
London, Sept. 14—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is expected to arrive in Quebec almost immediately to participate in the talks between President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and their chiefs of staff, it was made known today.

The decision to have Eden join the conference apparently was a sudden one, for only yesterday it was stated officially that he had "no present intention" of going.

Japs Claim Big Toll U. S. Planes
By The Associated Press
The Japanese in a broadcast imperial headquarters communique today asserted they had destroyed or damaged 816 Allied planes during August, including 28 B-29 superfortresses allegedly shot down in the western mainland of Japan.

The enemy figures far exceeded announced American losses.

Superfortresses carried out two major operations during August against the Japanese homeland.

Washington announcements said seven were lost.

The Tokyo broadcast was recorded by the Federal Communications Commission.

It is indicated that air operations are continuing against strong enemy opposition. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' Wednesday communique said in disclosing that carrier planes were over Cebu, Negros and Panay Islands in the Philippines all day Monday.

Last Friday when Mindanao, which has been attacked since Aug. 6 by land-based bombers of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, was blanketed by carrier planes of Adm. William F. Halsey's Third Fleet, only eight Japanese aircraft were aloft at the south end of the Archipelago. All were shot down, adding them to 60 destroyed on the ground.

shot down more than 50 and wiped out more than 150 on the ground, in addition to sinking several cargo ships "in the initial attacks."

The unspecified total of sinkings was added to the 89 small cargo boats and sampans sunk or damaged Friday off Mindanao.

Uncovering in strength of Japan's air force recalled the recent assertion of Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commander of Army air forces in the Pacific Ocean areas, that the enemy probably was hoarding his air strength for defense of the Philippines. The carriers presumably were part of the powerful task forces which, unchallenged by the Japanese Navy, have roamed waters east of the Philippines for a week during which Palau has been raided repeatedly by planes and twice shelled by warships.

Palau and the southern Philippines were kept under two-way attack. A communique today from General MacArthur reported that his land-based patrol planes bombed an airdrome at Zamboanga, on Mindanao, and attacked airfields and a seaplane base at Palau.

Bigger air blows along the southern invasion route to the Philippines were listed against Halmahera, Ceram and Boeroe.

Nimitz' Wednesday communique told of a 2-ton bombing by Seventh Army air force Liberators of Iwa Jima, in the Volcano Islands, 750 miles south of Tokyo, last Sunday and the sinking of five cargo ships off Shumshu Island in the Kuriles, north of Japan, Monday, by Eleventh Army air force Mitchells.

DIG SHORTAGE OF TEACHERS

State Education System Faces Serious Crisis.

Raleigh, Sept. 14—(AP)—Dr. Clyde A. Erwin, state superintendent of public instruction, said here today that the continued loss of teachers to other occupations due to low salaries had created "the most serious crisis in public education the state has faced since the depression."

Speaking before a meeting of Raleigh and Wake county teachers, Dr. Erwin said that the number of white teachers holding "A" certificates had dropped from 15,144 in 1941-42 to 13,747 this year, or a loss of 1,397, and that further drastic reductions are indicated.

Asserting that replacements from teacher training institutions of the state had been reduced to less than half the normal available supply, Dr. Erwin declared:

"Since the teaching profession now is face to face with the keenest possible competition from the various commercial fields, the state must consider whether it will meet this competition in terms of more adequate salaries or see its teaching profession reduced to an undesirable level of training."

"As a means of holding our best teachers in the profession and as an incentive for bright and promising young people to enter the profession, a minimum salary of $125 a month for the beginning 'A' teacher and a maximum of $240 for the holder of a graduate certificate should be provided by the General Assembly at the earliest possible moment."

He also suggested that during the emergency period tuition concessions for those taking teacher training might be provided in order to hasten relief in the shortage of well trained teachers. This practice was followed in the state for years before the depression and was a big factor in bringing promising young people into the profession prior to 1930, he said.

He emphasized that "the building of a good teacher corps is a long-time process, while damage can be swift, as indicated in the present situation."

September 18 has been set as the opening date for schools, and many units now have vacancies they will be unable to fill, he said.

Three Injured In Highway Collision

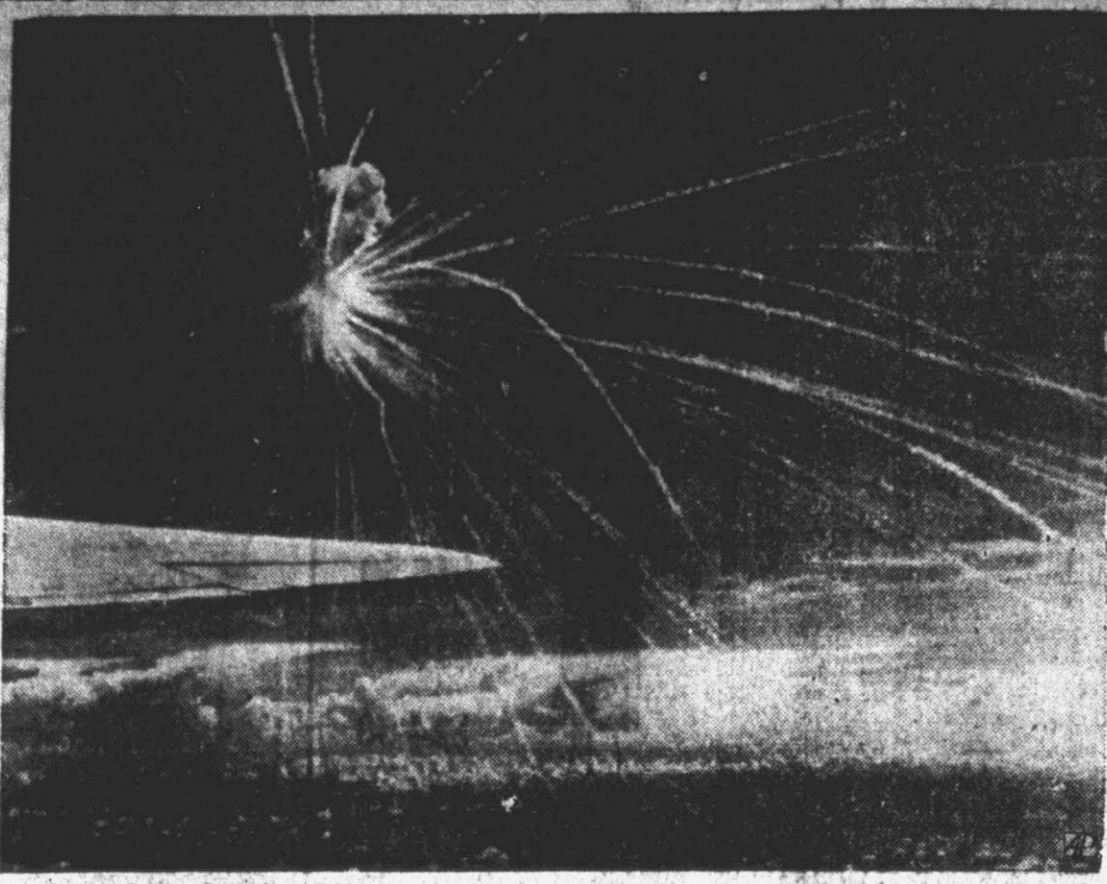

Three persons were injured, two cars were wrecked and a mule-drawn tandem of tobacco trucks loaded with leaf were upset on the Farmville highway near Red Oak church last night about 7 o'clock when two cars collided head-on.

A car driven by Lawrence Newton, 18 of Ayden, Route 2, in trying to avoid striking the tobacco truck turned out and collided with a car driven by Mrs. Leslie Humbles, 38, of Greenville, Route 2, highway patrolmen stated. Newton suffered a broken arm and other injuries. He was taken to a hospital. Mrs. Leslie Humbles was slightly injured and left the hospital after treatment. Mrs. S. A. Humbles, 58, a passenger in her car, suffered a broken arm and other injuries. She is at Pitt General hospital.

Newton's car turned over and rolled against the small tobacco trucks, scattering tobacco all over the highway.

Highway patrolmen are investigating the wreck.

A Washington Weather Bureau advisory at noon placed the center of the storm slightly east of Kill Devil Hill, or about 75 miles southeast of Norfolk, Va.

Travelling at about 30 miles an hour and apparently picking up speed, the storm will pass over the New England coast areas tonight if it follows its present course, the advisory said.

"Hurricane warnings remain displayed from Hatteras, N. C., to Portland, Me." The Weather Bureau bulletin said, adding "immediate radio broadcast requested."

South of Hatteras the storm apparently did only superficial damage as it swept by that area during the morning.

The Fort Macon Coast Guard station said it had received reports from the isolated communities on the "outer banks" that no one was killed or injured and that property damage was light.

Telephone lines were down to Morehead City and Beaufort, resort towns 70 miles southwest of Hatteras this morning, and all communities along the Pamlico Sound and banks were cut off from outside communication.

Only the fringe of the hurricane, which had generated winds of 140 miles an hour in its west-long progress from south of Puerto Rico, struck the big Army and Marine installations north of Wilmington.

Camp Davis came through unscathed and the Cherry Point air station and Camp Lejeune, biggest Marine base on the east coast, reported no damage.

Telephone lines east of New Bern went out at Middletown and were still out of commission hours later.

Limited telephone service to Morehead City was restored shortly before noon but local service was still off.

The Wilmington Weather Bureau said early today (7 A. M. EDT) that it had "watched" the center of the storm from an observation post with the aid of binoculars, as it passed northward probably 150 miles east of Wilmington.

The bureau said the storm center was clearly visible in the cloud formation and unless it changed courses again the main force of the blow likely would miss the mainland entirely and at worst would hit only the tip of isolated Hatteras.

Winds of 30 to 50 miles an hour blew from south of Wilmington northward to Beaufort but the barometer, started climbing here and the danger seemed definitely past.

L. S. Chakales, an Associated Press reporter, said early today the wind was blowing at 44.5 miles an hour at New Bern. The Coast Guard lifeboat station at Fort Macon, below Morehead City, said a 67-mile per hour wind was blowing there. There was a heavy rain at New Bern. Army personnel from Cape Lookout, a Coast Artillery unit, was evacuated last night.

Ralph Howland, another A. P. man, reported from Morehead City this morning that power lines there were down and that a 64-mile per hour wind was blowing.

No property damage was reported in the Wilmington area.

At Cherry Point, site of the Cherry Point Marine air station and Camp Lejeune, Marine training center, the wind blew at gale force and a hard rain fell at mid-morning, but there was no visible damage, the Lejeune public relations office said.

The barometer began rising at Morehead City and Beaufort late in the morning and at 11 o'clock a bright sun broke through the clouds. A number of families left their home for points inland overnight but there was no word of evacuation from the Morehead City-Beaufort area.

Warnings of the approaching storm sent more than 1,500 residents of Wrightsville Beach and Carolina Beach, resort towns east of Wilmington, scurrying inland late yesterday. Hundreds of others along exposed areas of the coast line also evacuated.

The Red Cross opened field headquarters at Raleigh, N. C., and sent 30 trained relief workers from Atlanta into the area to aid local chapters.

Officials at the Cherry Point Marine base had its planes flown inland. Tent camp at Camp Lejeune, across the Neuse River, was folded up and its personnel moved.

Goldensboro, N. C., Sept. 14—(AP)—More than 100 evacuees from the coastal areas of North Carolina poured into Goldensboro this morning seeking shelter from the strong winds that swept the beaches as a great hurricane roared northwards miles out at sea.

They filled the community building as Red Cross workers served breakfast. Scores of others were at local hotels.

Mrs. Elishus Davis, of Davis, N. C., at the community building with her husband and several children, said warnings came from the Marine station at Atlantic, N. C. to leave their home by daybreak.

The modern armored military tank was a British invention first used in the battle of the Somme in France on September 15, 1916.

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin

By George Rector

Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson's Co.

FOOD FOR FAMILY FUN

It's a wise mother who plans frequent home entertainment for her teen-aged children and their friends these days. Provision for pleasant evenings at home will do much to keep restless young people away from the undesirable places that are giving our country much cause for concern. And home entertainment goes straight to the heart of youth when there's food somewhere in the picture—good, home-cooked food!

Coke Crowd's Delight—Barbecued Hamburgers

4 tsp. Wilson's B-V ¼ cup soft bread crumbs
4 tbsp. hot water
1½ lb. hamburger 4 tbsp. fat

Dissolve the B-V in the hot water and mix thoroughly with all ingredients except fat. Divide into six equal amounts, shape into patties, place on sheet of waxed paper, allowing plenty of space between, and cover with another sheet of waxed paper. Flatten each patty until it is about an inch larger in diameter than the bun to be used. Cook slowly in the hot fat (drippings from Wilson's Certified Bacon are delicious), turning once to brown both sides. Serve, as is.

B-V BARBECUE SAUCE
1 onion, sliced 1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 clove garlic, minced 1 tsp. Wilson's B-V
½ cup ketchup ½ cup water

Simmer all ingredients, covered, for 20 min. Use for basting meat.

Clip Recipe Here

"ON THE SOLID SIDE"

After the football game or an evening of fun at home, what better spread for the smooth high school crowd than this? "Super" they'll call it, for hamburger to them is strictly "on the solid side." Serve the hamburgers with potato chips, crisp chilled cole slaw (made gay with bits of red and green pepper) and milk, cocoa or cokes and—it's quite a party.

FLAVOR'S the Thing

Hamburger is improved by adding a small amount of Wilson's B-V. It adds a rich tempting flavor to many foods. The joy of eating is in flavor. Yes, flavor's the thing.

Sincerely,
George Rector

Communist Leader Killed
London, Sept. 14—(AP)—Ernest Thaelmann, the German Communist leader, was killed in an Allied air attack on the Buchenwald concentration camp near Weimar August 28, the German radio asserted tonight.

along the Narew near Lomza was second in fury only to the siege of Prasa and Warsaw and that Russian pressure continued frontally and on the German flanks.

Of the fight near Czechoslovakia, Berlin said: "Fierce fighting continues in the dents at Sank and Krosno, both captured by the Russians. The Moscow high command has not been able to break through there to Tula Pass. In the south, the systematic disengagement movements of German and Hungarian formations continue. Soviet operations trying to hold up these movements were repelled. In the course of shortening the front, the southern part of the Szezier corner was evacuated by order. Russian and Romanian thrusts in an attempt to cut off and encircle disengaging (I. E. retreating) formations failed."

Hibernating Wasps Sign Cool Weather

Hundred of small wasps burrowing underground on the courthouse lawn to tunnel out winter hibernating quarters indicated cooler weather is going to suddenly swoop down on this section, with drizzling rain and wind, accompanied by showers of falling leaves, W. G. Leggett, county jailer, said Wednesday while watching the hibernating wasps at work.

These low flying wasps (not the aggressive stic and barn variety) were used as barometers by the Indians who inhabited this part of the state many years ago. Whenever they "swarm in a long circular line" it means rain is summer. When they alight on the grass in numbers and buzz about they know cooler weather is approaching and begin to burrow into the ground to make winter quarters and store food. Their favorite winter food is the honey bee. Excavation into their burrows revealed hundreds of captured by the Russians. The small tunnels for the winter's food supply. This particular swarm of wasps disappeared last July and was not seen again until the 29th, when they circled in single file about the courthouse lawn, are not worth considerable attention. This was the day before more than five inches of rain fell here in two hours and saved millions of dollars worth of crops in Pitt County. The county jailer contended then, and preclaims now, that Jack Netherland's hanging up a black snake had nothing to do with bringing rain. If you watch these wasps they will tell you about every approaching change in the weather until they burrow underground to spend the winter. The tiny samples on the courthouse lawn are not worth holes. The tunnelling wasps put the sand there as a "cold wave warning," old timers declare.

New Students To Report Saturday

All students who expect to enter the Greenville City Schools who did not attend the Greenville schools last year are required to report to their various schools Saturday morning of this week between the hours of nine and twelve for registration. First grade children who registered at the Pre-school Clinic last year do not have to register again.

The principals will be in their offices at the various buildings on Saturday morning for the purpose of registering new pupils.

All students entering the seventh and eighth grades at the high school for the first time are asked to please report promptly to the auditorium of the high school at 8:30 A. M., Monday, September 18, 1944. This also includes other students who have registered and are attending Greenville High School for the first time. All last year's student body are urged to report to last year's home room for their new schedules.

Schools will open for the 1944-45 session on Monday, September 18, and all pupils are expected to report to their school on that day.

Yanks Drive . . .

At Aachen the back of the Siegfried line of concrete bunkers and thick earthen forts was believed broken and dispatches characterized the day as one of "measured but great success."

Opposite Luxembourg the Americans ran into nothing but rifle and these few Nazis, defending their homeland for the first time, fought like fanatics and the Americans had to rip open their bunkers and pillboxes one by one with fierce artillery and bazooka fire.

Near Aachen several villages fell in the advance. Some 500 miles behind the front line inside Germany, American troops smashed their way inside the long-besieged port of Brest. U. S. medium and dive bombers bombed the German garrison defenses for 50 minutes, despite poor weather which limited air activity elsewhere, and pilots reported seeing the Americans fighting the Nazis in the submarine pen area west of the city.

A security silence blacked out most specific news from the front. It shrouded news of an earlier incursion five miles deep inside Germany northwest of Trier, perhaps the oldest town in all the Reich. Nor was any announcement from headquarters on Allied progress at two other points where the German boundary had been reached within shelling range of the Siegfried defenses.

It was emphasized, however, that the blackout certainly did not imply any reverses.

On the left American flank, Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' U. S. First army invaded the Netherlands at a new spot—the 15-mile wide appendix province of Limburg where a flanking threat to Aachen was poised from the north.

Supreme headquarters said this new crossing of the Dutch frontier occurred near Maastricht, 15 miles north of Liege. It did not disclose the nationality of the attacking troops. The American First army, however, has been operating in that sector.

There were no official progress reports on Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' troops, who according to field dispatches last night, penetrated the outskirts of Aachen and captured the German village of Rotgen. The daily communique, however, announced a widening of the Luxembourg positions from where the Americans first entered the Reich northwest of Trier.

Passenger Buses Start Next Sunday

The Ricks, Bus Lines will begin operating passenger buses over the streets of Greenville and to outlying points Sunday morning, Paul T. Ricks, head of the company, announced today.

The service will be inaugurated with two buses. More buses will be added when necessary. Fares will be seven cents in the city, 10 cents to suburban points. Books of 20 tickets for use in the city will be sold for $1 each; books of 12 tickets for outlying points will be sold for $1.

The bus company was given franchises by the State Utilities Commission and the City of Greenville.

The buses will operate over the city's streets and make stops to take on and discharge passengers at designated places, indicated by signs. The first bus goes out in the mornings at 6:22, the last bus trip at night will be 11:30.

The temporary schedule approved by the city will be published in the Reflector Friday or Saturday, Ricks stated.
