Reds Tell German Troops In Estonia And Latvia To Lay Down Their Arms; Berlin Says Fighting In Balkans Has Extended To Bulgarian-Yugoslav Frontier.

By EDDY GILMORE
Moscow, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The mounting Russian offensive in the west of Latvia, 25 miles south of the Latvian capital of Riga, has smothered violent German counterattacks marked by reckless use of large numbers of Nazi tanks and self-propelled guns, front dispatches said today.

(Berlin broadcasts declared the Russians had advanced to within 14 miles of Riga in a three-day offensive. The drive was aimed at crushing two German armies in Latvia and Estonia estimated at 200,000 men.)

Moscow reports said the Red Army building up the last phase of preparations for the coming assault on every Nazi-held position on the eastern front.

(The Soviet-sponsored Free German committee, in a broadcast, urged by federal monitors, called upon German troops in Estonia and Latvia to lay down their arms or turn them against the Nazi SS units who might attempt to force them to continue the battle.)

The Russian war bulletin did not mention the battle for Warsaw, where Polish and Red Army troops were last reported probing for bridgeheads across the Vistula River from the eastern suburb of Praga.

Gen. Bor's communique said his patriot units in Warsaw had been receiving supplies from Soviet planes since Sept. 13.

Capture of more localities in the drive on Targu-Mures, German-Hungarian stronghold in Transylvania, was disclosed by the Soviet communique.

Heavy air attacks on key rail points along the Hungarian-Slovak border, 80 miles northwest of Cluj, and Csap, 50 miles northwest of Satu-Mare, the prime objectives.

A dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Joseph Morton in Bari said German forces fighting their way from Bulgaria across northeastern Yugoslavia in an attempt to flee from Yugoslav Partisans had recaptured Negotin near the Danube six miles inside Yugoslavia.

Radio France at Algiers relayed reports from Istanbul which said the Red Army had crossed the Greek-Bulgarian frontier and was advancing toward Salonika, Greek port on the Aegean Sea.

More Gas After Germany's Fall

Washington, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Reduced military demands after the end of the war in Europe should permit "somewhat more gasoline" for civilian use, the petroleum industry war council said today, quoting its committee on petroleum economics.

The committee said: "Although actual figures on military requirements after the close of the war in Europe are not now available, the committee is of the opinion that a substantial reduction in military takings of gasoline will result and that somewhat more gasoline may be available to ease present restrictions."

Today On The Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Are you eager to start building your own new home as soon as the war with Germany ends?

What you do—or will be permitted to do—depends upon what the War Production Board does. It has rigid control of lumber.

But now two main plans are being considered within WPB for the day when Germany quits.

1. To drop all controls except for war priorities in the continuing war against Japan.

This would permit all builders to go ahead with any kind of construction. The only limits would be due to the amount of materials and manpower available.

2. To keep some controls. This WPB school of thought says lumber still will be short. Therefore, controls would prevent hoarding or a wild scramble for supplies.

This school argues further: Heating and plumbing supplies would not be sufficient—probably not for some months—to meet all building demands if controls were suddenly abandoned.

And what about price control? If WPB suddenly stepped out of the picture and OPA abandoned its

SIGHT GAIN ON ITALIAN FRONT

Fifth And Eighth Armies In Powerful Attacks.

By NOLAN NORGARD
Rome, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Powerful assaults by both the Fifth and Eighth armies against heavily fortified German lines in northern Italy made scant progress yesterday and fierce fighting continues to rage along a broad front. Allied headquarters announced today.

On the Adriatic coast Canadian and Greek troops fought their way forward a few hundred yards to reach the northwestern corner of Rimini airfield, scarcely more than 29 miles from the southern limits of Rimini itself.

On their left a bloody battle was being waged for the village of San Martino on Monte l'Abate and surrounding high ground dominating the airfield from the west. German paratroopers, strongly supported by Tiger tanks, fiercely contested (Continued on page six)

Fire Yesterday Damaged Market
Fire originating in a trash pile at the rear of the City Market, 517 Dickinson Avenue, Sunday morning about 11:30 considerably damaged the building and stock of groceries and equipment. Firemen said the blaze entered the store through a small office window from the burning trash and a telegraph or electric pole.

Kinchen W. Cobb, owner of the building, stated that the building will be promptly repaired. C. A. Turner, owner of the City Market, said he will reopen the store as soon as possible. The damaged stock will be sold as soon as insurance adjusters conclude their investigation.

Cobb estimated the damage to the building at about $4,000 or $5,000. Turner said his damage will be about $8,000 to $10,000. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Hatem's store next door had some damage from smoke. The Smith-Douglas Fertilizer Company's office on the other side was not damaged.

ITALIAN MOB KILLS FORMER ROME JAILER

Allied Military Authorities Order Postponement Of Trials Of Italian Collaborators.

Rome, Sept. 18.—(AP)—An angry mob, infuriated by the postponement of the trial of Pietro Caruso, former police chief in Rome, dragged a key witness out of the courtroom today and killed him.

Allied authorities, fearing rioting, had ordered the postponement. The victim, identified as Dr. Carretta, a former director of Rome's jails, was seized when the decision to delay proceedings was announced. He was mauled and beaten, and thrown into the Tiber. He finally was killed by men who pursued him in a rowboat and beat him with the oars.

On trial for his life, he is the first of the accused Italian collaborators to come before the tribunal for punishment of Fascist crimes.

Dr. Donato Carretta (CQ) had been scheduled to testify for the government that Caruso had ordered 50 persons turned over by the jailers to be executed by the Germans in the Ardennas caves, as a part of 320 Italian killed in reprisal for the bombing of the German SS (Elite Guard) detachment in Rome last March.

A huge crowd, brushing aside the feeble perfunctory resistance of the Italian police, jammed the great hall of the Palace of Justice before the trial was expected to begin.

Their demonstration caused Col. J. R. Pollock, head of the Allied Military Government Police in Rome, to announce that the trial could not proceed today.

Two women spotted Carretta and demanded that the police arrest him. When they made no move to comply the crowd dragged him to the square in front of the palace.

The police were able to wrest him from his captors and place him in a taxi. But the crowd dragged him out again, beat him until he was unconscious, and threw him into the river.

The body, picked up by the body, carried it to Regina Coeli Prison and hanged it by its feet from bars of a window near the entrance of the famous Roman prison from which, the prosecution asserts, Carretta took many hostages to the Germans on order from Caruso.

The Carabinieri virtually at no time were in the courtroom but they attempted to calm the crowd outside.

Allied police, who arrived, restored some order. Lt. John Atkinson, Arlington, Va., stood on a table before the seething courtroom mob and told them in Italian that the trial could not be held.

"The Allies sympathize with your feelings against Caruso and will see that justice is done," the tall Allied (Continued on page two)

Vice-Pres. Candidates Address Legionnaires
By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
Chicago, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The rival majority party candidates for vice president—Democratic Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri and Republican Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio—outlined their views on providing security for World War II veterans today from the same platform.

They were called to the rostrum in the Coliseum for speeches that were scheduled two hours apart at the opening session of the American Legion's 26th annual convention.

Bricker declared the G. I. bill of rights "will prevent a repetition of the tragic mistakes under which World War I veterans suffered, and will guarantee just treatment of our veterans." He said congress and the administration were making every effort to prevent the errors of 1919.

Bricker asserted jobs can be provided for the men now in the armed forces only "by freeing business and industry from their shackles and releasing the productive forces of this country." He stated returning servicemen were entitled to every consideration, that the G. I. bill was "a good beginning."

The Missouri termed the G. I. bill "the most comprehensive servicemen's relief legislation ever passed in the history of this country," and detailed its provisions for education, training, loans and other features.

The senator asserted that the nation's future affairs probably would be in the hands of veterans, and observed that they would have duties as well as rights.

Truman also referred to the work of the War Investigating committee he headed until recently, and said it "helped to save a lot of lives and billions in treasure."

Bricker, in his prepared speech submitted that the job problem could be met if a "climate of opportunity" were created.

Bricker also declared "all veterans are entitled to have their jobs back and no individual, group or organization dare deny that right."

The governor contended reemployment and rehabilitation after World War I was "a difficult job and poorly done," and added: "It was not until 1933, however, that the real blow of ingratitude was delivered. Under the guise of government economy—when there was no economy in government—you felt the sting of pension cuts and vetoes of veterans' benefits."

You even heard the President of the United States, on the floor of the American Legion convention, say 'x x x no person because he wore a uniform must hereafter be placed in a special class of beneficiaries over and above all other citizens.'"

STORM VICTIM BURIED SUNDAY

Late Reports Reveal More Damage Along Coast.

Norfolk, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Levin Solon Parkerson, 64, operator of a Nags Head, N.C. hotel, who was accidentally electrocuted at Nags Head Thursday during the hurricane, was to have been buried Sunday at Manteo. It was learned here today.

The body was removed late Saturday from Elizabeth City by special boat to Manteo. R. O. Parkerson and O. L. Parkerson, both of Western Branch District, Norfolk county, brothers of the dead man, accompanied the body to Manteo. They had not returned today.

Parkerson died Thursday at a naval hospital on Roanoke island where he was taken after he touched his automobile which had come in contact with a power line downed by high winds. The hotel man was a native of Norfolk county.

Mr. L. S. Parkerson was well known in Greenville, having formerly lived here and operated the Friendly Dining Room.

Little Girl Badly Hurt In Collision
By CHESTER WALSH
Marjorie Tucker, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Tucker, suffered a fractured skull, a broken arm and other injuries Saturday afternoon when her bicycle collided with an open door on H. H. Faulkner's car, parked on Greene Street, near Dickinson Avenue. She had not regained consciousness at Pitt General Hospital today, a physician said.

Marjorie and her twin sister, Margaret, left their home on the Winterville highway, near Greenville, on a bicycle. They rode double until they arrived on upper Dickinson Avenue. Knowing that there is an ordinance against two persons riding a wheel in the city, Margaret dismounted and walked to a theater. Marjorie continued on the bicycle. She was to make a small purchase at a store and then meet her twin sister at the theater. When Marjorie failed to show up at the theater, Margaret became alarmed and walked back up Dickinson Avenue, suspecting her sister had had an accident. A negro man told her that an unknown little girl on a bicycle had been hurt and had been taken to the hospital.

Margaret ran nearly all of the way home to tell her mother. Communication with the hospital revealed the injured girl's identity. She is a niece of Alderman John A. Collins.

According to Police Chief Herbert Wooten, the little girl on the wheel collided with a door that was open just as she was about to pass. H. H. Faulkner, driver of the car, took her to the hospital.

New reports from the western front that the Allies expect a street-by-street defense of German cities and widespread guerrilla warfare serve merely to highlight a situation which has been in the wind all the while and which is not entirely displeasing.

Every hope of any sort of lasting peace demands that Germany be thoroughly whipped on the field of battle, and that it shall be done under the very eyes of her people—all her people. Bombing is too impersonal. But millions of Frenchmen, Americans, Poles, Britishers, Russians, Czechs, Greeks, Italians, Norwegians. Some Japanese—men from every race, marching through Germany, wiping out her army, burning the nests of snipers, hanging war criminals, may impress enough Germans to do some good. It is a lesson they have been needing for a hundred years—that their habit of following any grandiose-talking warrior can lead them only to destruction, now and forever.

That the war in Europe soon will be reduced to just this sort of rat-hole cleaning-out seems obvious. If it seems heartless to favor such, as against an immediate German surrender which would save many lives, you need only the answers of the men who must do the job—that they had rather pay the price now than to feel that their sons must go through.

The landing of a great airborne army behind the Germans in Holland emphasizes the pressure against the Reich from all sides. Where a few months ago she was losing men by the hundreds, she now loses them by the tens of thousands. Her position has become much like those with which we have become so familiar in the Pacific islands. Her forces have been driven back from the beaches, our men are battering at her last prepared positions. Soon will come the "Banana changes" to mark the end of Hitler's suicidal career. If they are to take place before the eyes of all the village "herrenvolk," so much the better.

Nazi Offer Greatest Resistance Encountered Since D-Day; Continuous Stream Of Air-Borne Reinforcements and Supplies Landed In Holland Today.

By JAMES M. LONG

London, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Great fleets of bombers, transports and gliders fed reinforcements to the great winged invasion of Holland today and the Germans threw reserves from Russia into a desperate battle against the U. S. First army around encircled Aachen.

The third U. S. army also had tied the Germans up in a hammer and long contest below Metz where the enemy was bitterly engaged in an effort to stop the advance to the Rhine.

While Adolf Hitler's strained army was being sucked into these battles Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower sprang his bold air maneuver toward the weak defenses of north Germany.

The Paris radio said the air-borne troops of Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton already had captured the cities of Tilburg, Eindhoven and Nijmegen in an assault rapidly growing to the proportions of a full-fledged front behind the German line. Protecting the vulnerable north end of the Siegfried line.

The three cities, whose population ranges from 94,000 to 11,000, were spotted along a 40-mile front 10 to 40 miles ahead of British ground troops striking toward the north.

Pierce air battles were fought as the Germans recovered from their surprise on the second day of the air-borne attack. Twenty-seven German fighters were shot down when 60 of them attacked the unarmed troops carrying supplies.

Lt. Gen. Miles G. Dempsey's British Second Army, plumed forward from its bridgeheads across the Scheldt-Meuse Canal. Its coordinated offensive aimed at linking up with the bridgeheads established by the Air Army—the Seventh Allied Army thrown into the battle of the Western Front.

A BBC front report said the second army had "broken clean through the tough crust" in a seven-mile advance inside Holland, reaching a point only five miles from Eindhoven where some of the Air Army was reported to have landed.

Spearheads of the First U. S. Army which had pierced the Siegfried Line below encircled Aachen held on grimly to their positions 20 to 25 miles from the Rhine city of Cologne, turning back waves of hoarsely screaming Germans making shoulder-to-shoulder "psychological" attacks.

Twenty thousand more Germans surrendered en masse in a mid-France pocket below the Loire.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army along the Moselle in eastern France hammered forward late the Vosges from Nancy and Northward behind the fortress city of Metz after throwing back repeated German counterattacks.

Christian Science Service.
"Matter" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, Sept. 17.

The golden text was from Prov. 23:5: "Wilt thou set thine eyes upon that which is not? for riches certainly make themselves wings; they fly away as an eagle toward heaven."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "Woe to them that go down to Egypt for help; and stay on horses, and trust in chariots, because they are many; and in horsemen, because they are very strong; but they look not unto the Holy One of Israel, neither seek the Lord; Now, the Egyptians are men, and not God; and their horses flesh, and not spirit." (Isaiah 31:1, 3 to 5.)

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Matter is neither created by Mind nor the manifestation and support of Mind. In proportion as the belief disappears that life and intelligence are in or of matter, the immortal facts of being are seen, and their only idea or intelligence is God." (Page 279, 9, 16-19.)

Red Banks Club Meets

The Red Banks Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. L. W. Cherrv on Tuesday afternoon, September 6, with an attendance of thirteen members and one visitor. As the roll was called each member responded with the number of quarts of fruits, vegetables, etc. canned to date.

Several items of business were dispensed with including a brief report, the club voting to cancel the annual club picnic and instead entertain the Service Men at the USO in Greenville with a supper on Sunday evening, September 17, at 6:00 o'clock.

Miss Verona Lee Joyner, Home Agent, presented the program for the month, "The Storage of the Winter Food Supply." Emphasis was placed on the storage of fresh fall vegetables. The club members were urged to plant beets, salsify, turnips, carrots, rutabagas, parsnips and radish during September.

To preserve these vegetables leave them in the ground and throw soil over the row if it is needed for during the coldest winter months.

During the social hour Mrs. Robert Starling conducted a "Pantry Shelf" contest in which Mrs. S. B. Tucker won the prize. The hostess assisted by Miss Rose Cherry and Mrs. W. O. Crisp served cottage cheese made by Mrs. L. S. Hardee on Ritz crackers, punch, wafers and salted nuts.

Club Reported—Mrs. E. H. Boyd Outstanding Canning Record Home Demonstration Club members throughout the county have been making excellent canning reports of the food which they have saved in 1944.

For many years the members of the Farmville Club have had well stocked pantries at the close of every season. At the Home Demonstration Club meeting on Thursday, each member proudly told of the number of quarts of food conserved which was an average of 255 quarts per family in that club. Mrs. J. R. Lewis, one of Pitt County's oldest and most outstanding club members reported that she has conserved a total of 742 qts. for her family in the following ways:

100 quarts of meat canned,
216 quarts of vegetables canned,
222 quarts of fruit canned,
83 quarts of pickles made,
106 quarts of jellies, jams, preserves made.

15 pounds of fruit dried.
In addition to the above she has helped one daughter conserve 501 qts. and another 325 qts. making a total of 1,567 qts. of food conserved in her home to date this year. She plans to can pears and grapes next week. Mrs. Lewis has a well planned pantry which enables her to store this large amount of food. The shelves in her pantry are made and arranged according to specifications in the Extension Folder No. 47, "Storage For Canned Food." This bulletin can be secured from our office.

Other Club Meetings
The Ballards, Bethel and Bell Arthur Home Demonstration Clubs met during the past week.

The members of the Ballards Club are to be commended for the fine Community spirit which prevailed at their Annual Family Night which was held on Tuesday, September 12. Those present enjoyed an hour of fellowship with a delicious barbecue supper being served at the Farmville Recreation Park. This was followed by group singing led by Mr. C. F. Bacon and a motion picture entitled, "Our Garden."

The Bethel meeting was held in the spacious country home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. James. Since the monthly program was on the "Storage of Winter Food Supply," it was fitting to use a motion picture on the "Use of The Freezer Locker" as the people of Bethel hope to have a Freezer Locker Plant established in Bethel in the very near future. Mrs. Clayton House was welcomed as a new member of the Bethel Club.

The Bell Arthur Club met at the Home Economic Building with Mrs. R. E. Willoughby, the President presiding. The Club members were delighted to have Mrs. Paul J. Clark, the wife of the Principal of Bell Arthur School, as a visitor, and to meet Miss Ruth Bizzell who led them in an hour of recreational games and contest at the close of the meeting.

Girl Scout News

Greenville Girl Scouts will rally together for their first meeting of the fall on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the Cotanche playground. Be there in uniform, with a happy heart, ready to play and have fun. Every girl scout in Greenville is invited to attend. This includes scouts from Troops 4, 5-A, 5-B, 6, 7, 8, 9, 12-A and 12-B. Bring your troop leaders and troop committee members.

Announcements will be made about the results of the cookie sale, as each troop will receive 10 per cent of the profits their troop made selling the cookies to the public. Meeting days will be announced, as well. The Rotary Club has very graciously offered us the use of their second floor for regular troop meetings this year. This is a very needed and appreciated gesture, as the scouts are so in need of a regular place to call their own to meet and work in from day to day. The scouts of Greenville hope that they can show their appreciation of the use of the Rotary Club room by doing some real scouting during the coming winter months.

There will be a useful award given to the troop having the largest percent of scouts at the rally. Troop leaders and troop committee members count. So be there and hear and play games learned at Camp Harder, and find out our plans for the fall. They are quite interesting to girls who like to go camping for a day or two.

Plans for the National Girl Scout Week, celebrating Juliette Low's birthday will be announced.

If you aren't there in person, you will surely miss a lot. Be there!

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

SINCERITY IN PRAYER

I was amazed to read recently a statement by the philosopher Emerson to the effect that prayer which involves petition is "vicious." There sprang into my mind those many invitations which Christ extended his followers to ask, seek, knock. What we must not do is to pray with wicked and unrepentant hearts. We must forgive our enemies if we expect God to forgive us. We must be willing to accept any answer to our prayer God chooses to make, regardless of whether it may or may not be to our liking. Above all, we must not ask God to help us if we do not intend to reciprocate by fully and earnestly cooperating with Him. Mary Austin, the great writer on prayer, has said, "I always know enough not to pray for the success of any venture to the laws of which I do not propose to conform." If we expect God to play square with us, we must never for a moment hesitate to play square with Him. Two things, and only two things, are needed for triumph in prayer—faith and sincerity. We must be confident that God can answer our prayer and that He will answer it to our highest good. And we must be absolutely sincere in our determination to meet God's righteous purpose for us and the world with a purpose which corresponds to His. We must not ask for the success of any venture to the laws of which we do not propose to conform.

Under that order you, a civilian, could not buy more than $200 worth of lumber yearly for new construction. That in effect has stopped all private residential building. There are lighter—but still rigid—controls on lumber for maintenance and repairs of homes and buildings. And new war housing, of course, has been permitted. It will continue to be.

top speed to repair damage and land supplies.

Every home on the island was damaged, according to Chief Boat-swain's Mate Levine Midgett, USCG officer in charge of the Chicamocomico lifeboat station. Not one was missed, he said today, and the villages of Ayon, Salvo, Waves and Rodanthe were most seriously hurt. The coast guard cutter Pamlico was sent from New Bern to Hatteras, laden with supplies and medicines. The ship this morning landed its supplies by means of an amphibious "duck." Dwindling supplies of water were being rationed today. Available water supplies were brackish in many instances, Chief Midgett reported, as spray was blown into cisterns. Water tanks were to be sent into the stricken area today if possible.

The coast guard has used several of its small vessels to transport Red Cross workers to Hatteras, and to Portsmouth and Ocracoke islands. Anchors were used by the service men at one time to secure a house which was being blown into the sea, Midgett reported. Several houses were carried as much as a mile from their original sites, he added.

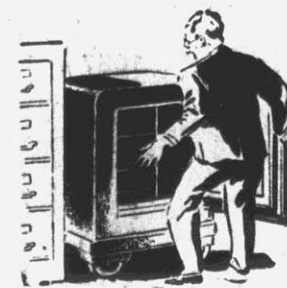

The one doctor on the bank, Lt. (jg) Wilbur Bennett, USPHS, attached to the coast guard, has been working night and day caring for those injured and suffering from exposure due to the storm.

U. S. Ambassador Leaves Brazil

Rio de Janeiro, Sept. 18.—(AP)—U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery left by plane yesterday for a consultation in Washington.
A short time after Caffery's surprise departure a government spokesman denied reports published in Buenos Aires newspapers intimating that a political crisis had arisen in Brazil.
Just before he boarded a naval plane, Caffery said: "I wish once more to emphasize the role Brazil has played and is playing in winning the war. I think perhaps this is not fully understood nor appreciated either by Brazilians or the American public."

anese casualties were extremely heavy and marine losses relatively light.
Lief Erickson, AP war correspondent, in a delayed flagship dispatch reported the winning of a marine foothold on sharp-rimmed Umorbro mountain, nicknamed "Bloody Nose."
He said Col. Lewis B. (Chester) Puller of Saluda, Va., led the First regiment up the sharp, coral ridges after their first assault was beaten back by heavy Japanese fire.
In the southwest Pacific, American forces reached all their objectives around the perimeter of Morotai island, 375 miles south of Davao, against still negligible Japanese opposition.
Allied aircraft, maintaining unchallenged aerial cover, hammered airbases on adjacent Halmahera island with a record of 210 tons of bombs. Other planes sank a 3,000-ton transport at Dutch Celebes and destroyed two coastal vessels at Ceram.

nounced that Chinese troops, on Sept. 16, had recaptured Lishui in Chikiang province, once the site of the world's largest airfield, and had broken into the China sea port town of Wenchow, 225 miles south of Shanghai.
The Chinese said they were fighting in the streets of Wenchow, and that they had frustrated—temporarily at least—an attempt of the Japanese to gain control of the Wu river.
Chinese troops are still fighting to recapture positions northeast of Lungling at Sankuenpo which have changed hands several times, but have taken the village of Nanchang near Lungling.
Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters refuted a Tokyo claim that 40 B-29s had been destroyed in an attack on American bases in China Sept. 9. A small number of Japanese medium bombers attacked the bases that day, but caused no real damage and there were no losses of American aircraft, headquarters said.

Phantoms To Have Fast Heavy Team This Season

Coach Snag Clark Rapidly Whipping G. H. S. Gridders Into Shape.

Rapidly whipping Greenville High's football team into shape for some of eastern North Carolina's finest high school playing this year, Coach Snag Clark has been giving the Phantoms regular heavy work outs for the past week and a half.

Although the Phantoms are handicapped by a late start in practicing, Coach Clark states that he is well pleased with the progress which the team is making.

For the first time in many years GHS has a heavy as well as a fast team, having depended mostly on the latter for success in the past.

Men who will bear watching in the backfield this year are Dave Perkins, Billy Harrington, Jimmy Futrell, Amos Leggett and Francis Jordan, all of whom were members of last year's eleven. Perkins, who was the spark of the Greenville drive of last year's team at fullback and tailback spots, this year adds 190 pounds to the power of the Phantom backfield. Coach Clark is expected to take advantage of Futrell's and Harrington's passing abilities to build a strong aerial offense. Leggett's speed will be utilized at the wingback position with the blocking being led by "Cotton" Jordan.

Reserves likely to see action in the Phantom backfield are Lewis Evans, "Spooky" Morgan, Jimmie Lee, "K" Sideris, and Jimmy Glenn. The forward wall of the Green Wave is expected to average between 170 and 180 pounds which is more weight than the Phantoms have been able to muster in many a year. The end positions will probably be occupied by Mac Batchelor and Dennis Fleming, who were both members of last year's backfield combination. Joe Lupton, outstanding tackle of last year, will be back at his regular position with either Lewis Lawrence or Charles Fice getting the starting nod for the other tackle post. A newcomer to the line is Kenneth Dail who contributes 205 pounds to the line and Coach Clark plans to use him at a guard position. Also making a bid for the guard position are Jack Whitehead, 135-pound letterman of last year; Bobby Clark, 135 pounder.

Three Vessels Lost In Storm

Washington, Sept. 13—(AP)—The 1,850-ton destroyer Warrington and two small Coast Guard patrol vessels went to the bottom at sea during last week's hurricane.

The Navy, reporting the losses, said casualties from the destroyer were "heavy." The Warrington carried a normal crew of 230 officers and men. The 125-foot Coast Guard craft, the Jackson and the Bedloe, each had a usual complement of 35 men.

The Coast Guard disclosed that survivors from the Jackson drifted for 58 hours off the Virginia coast before they were picked up. Rescue vessels took aboard officers and seamen from each of the stricken craft, including Commander Samuel Frank Quarles of Nathalia, Va., skipper of the Warrington.

When the Germans smashed through Belgium and northern France in August, 1914, they received little check until they reached the banks of the Marne near Paris.

INCREASE IN POINT VALUES

Recent Reductions Offset By Latest Actions.

Washington, Sept. 13—(AP)—Housewives who went shopping today learned at first hand that skyrocketed blue point values had offset the reduction in the list of rationed foodstuffs.

New point values generally were about double the former ones, but in some cases the increases were even greater.

For example, a No. 2 can of tomatoes (18 ounces) which used to cost 5 points, today required 20, and the same size can of tomato juice was up from 6 to 20 points.

Peaches, pears and pineapple, which had an old point value of 43 points, have been increased to 80 points. Pineapple juice went up from 25 to 50 points for a No. 2 can. Tomato catsup and chili sauce went up from 30 to 50 points for a 14-ounce container.

Point values of canned apples, applesauce, apricots, all varieties of berries, cherries, figs, fruit cocktail and plums and prunes were about double, but some increases exceeded 100 per cent.

"These point values are higher, not because of a change in the supply picture of the commodities remaining under rationing, but because of the removal from rationing of nearly all vegetables, special products and all fruit spreads, effective September 17, as requested by the War Food Administration," Price Administrator Chester Bowles said.

Point values had to be increased because removal of vegetables and many other products from rationing, in effect, gave the housewife a great increase in point buying power. She still has 50 points per month for each person for whom she buys food. Instead of using them for vegetables, spreads and special products as well as fruit juices, she now has to use them only for fruits, some juices, canned tomatoes, catsup and chili sauce.

Red point values for meats, butter, margarine, cheese, canned milk and canned fish remain unchanged.

Slight Gain...

The Eighth army bridgehead over the Marano river, headquarters said, has been widened from 6½ to eight miles.

American and British units of the Fifth doggedly hammering into the heart of the Gothic line repulsed a number of strong German counterattacks in the course of yesterday's fighting and inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy.

In addition to massive concrete fortifications in this area the Americans and their Allies are encountering thick minefields and deep wire entanglements.

"There is no indication along the Fifth army front that the enemy intends to withdraw or surrender," an Allied spokesman said. "Reports received from enemy prisoners lead to the conclusion that the Germans expect to hold the Gothic line at all costs. Paratroopers who oppose us in one sector are fighting fanatically with complete contempt for death."

On the inland flank of the 8th army front fighting surged up to the borders of San Marino, within which enemy gun emplacements previously had been attacked by Allied aircraft and artillery.

British troops knocked the enemy out of the little village of Cerasolo and gained high ground dominating the Ausa valley northeast of the village. Heavy fighting was reported on Monte Olivo at the southwest end of Cerasolo ridge adjacent to San Marino's frontier.

Russian...

(Continued From Page One) Soviet press that the Red Army must be reinforced with more and more reserves to win ultimate and complete victory.

London, Sept. 13—(AP)—Fighting in the Balkans has extended to the Bulgarian-Yugoslav border, the German communique said today. Bulgaria, until this month a German ally, lost ten tanks to Nazi guns in a series of local engagements at the frontier, Berlin said officially.

American Forces...

(Continued From Page One) The Seventh Army from the Mediterranean threw the Germans out of Lure, 17 miles due west of Belfort in the gap leading to the upper Rhine frontier of Germany, and were slugging their way north of Pont de Roide toward Montebard down the last 15 miles to Belfort from the south. The Paris radio said without confirmation that the Seventh Army had entered Belfort, 30 miles from the Rhine.

Below Switzerland Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh Army drove northeast 11 miles from captured Modane at the entrance to the Mt. Cenis tunnel into Italy, and reached Lansle-Bourg, less than five miles from the Italian border.

Announcing only that the airborne landings in Holland were "going well," Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower kept a security blackout on this latest blow which might break the back of German resistance strained by the piling up demands of many fronts.

But the Germans said unbroken streams of Allied sky trains were carrying reinforcements and supplies into the original landings made by Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's winged striking force.

"One of the greatest air-borne operations in military history," as it was described by Brereton, was said by the Germans to be centered at Nijmegen, only about three miles from the Dutch-German border and 12 miles northwest of Kleve where the Siegfried Line glorified by Hitler is reported to end.

Other landings were reported by the enemy radio at Arnhem, 10 miles north of Nijmegen, where a bridgehead would have been established across the famous water barriers of Holland—the Waal River and the Neder Ryn (Rhine).

The landing force apparently was greater than the D-Day air-borne attack, but all that was known of its size was that it had been ferried to the dropping points by 1,000 transports and gliders.

It was supported by 3,000 sorties of Allied air craft which loosed a 4,000-ton bomb shower on German communications, flak positions and airfields just before and after the landings. German air force opposition was smothered.

Gen. Eisenhower's communique announced that pockets of resistance on the outskirts of Aachen had been mopped up and that the fighting had been carried well into the city.

Ten to 15 miles north of Aachen, Hodges' left wing which swept through Maasricht was believed to be almost to the German frontier.

Another First army bolt was driven into the Siegfried defenses in the pillbox-studded fir forests beyond Rott, southeast of Aachen.

To the south of Aachen the First army pushed a half mile or so into Germany at two more places, near the villages of Echternach and Bollendorf. This broadened the base of the 10-mile deep wedge in Germany in this area.

The Algiers radio gave the report that Brest, French naval base in Brittany, had been captured, but its fall was not confirmed by Allied headquarters. The German communique indicated the hour was near, however.

The Paris radio gave the unlikely figure of 16,000 Germans already captured there.

The count of German prisoners on the western front meanwhile mounted to at least 434,000. The British-Canadian 21st army group under Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery up to September 14 had taken 73,000, the U. S. 3rd army 86,000 up to September 15, the U. S. First army 173,000 up to September 16, and the Sixth army group, which includes the 7th army, had taken 82,000 up to September 16.
