Germans Battle To Halt Red Armies Before Riga

Soviets Gain On Czechoslovak Front; Hungary's Position Becomes More Precarious as Berlin Reports New Crossing Of Danube By Russian Forces.

By DANIEL DE LUCE Moscow, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The Red Army's three-way offensive against Hungary from Romania and Yugoslavia developed swiftly today while rumors of peace feelers by the Budapest government indicated Hitler's last important satellite may be on the verge of deserting him.

Hungary's defensive position was dark as strong Russian forces, pressing forward in a 100-mile arc on the Romanian-Hungarian frontier, increased their mountain salient and utilized Marshal Tito's permission to cross Yugoslav territory and strike the Hungarians and Germans from the south.

The Russian war bulletin disclosed that Soviet troops had fought their way into Lupkov pass leading from Poland into Czechoslovakia, taking Vydran, a Czechoslovak rail station nearly three miles inside the frontier.

The advance down the southern slopes of the east Beskid range along the railway leading to the Hungarian plain has almost achieved a common front between the fourth Ukrainian army and the Slovak patriots.

A Czechoslovak government delegation, headed by Frantisek Necmec, is waiting near the Polish-Czechoslovak frontier to enter Czechoslovak territory as soon as a substantial border area is cleared of the enemy.

(The American broadcasting station in Europe quoting the Turkish radio, said last night the Hungarian Premier was reported to have asked the Turkish ambassador in Budapest to learn Allied peace terms, and to act as an intermediary in preliminary negotiations for Hungary's exit from the Axis.)

(Enemy reports asserted Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, commanding the combined Russian and Romanian forces, was using 30 divisions, or upwards of 300,000 men, in an offensive that reached to within 15 miles of Szeged, Hungary's second city, and within 102 miles of Budapest.)

(A Free Yugoslav broadcast heard by Reuters said Marshal Tito's partisans had reached the outskirts of Belgrade, the Yugoslav capital. Berlin reports said earlier Russian (Continued on page four)

Americans Search For Jap Shipping

Headquarters, Eleventh Army Air Force, Alaska, Sept. 29.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Mitchell bombers of the Eleventh Army air force searched the north Pacific off the Kuriles in vain today hunting Japanese shipping to attack while Army Liberators and navy Venturas dove on it to blast enemy installations on Paramushiro Island.

The Liberators bombed Kurabu airfield at the southern end of Paramushiro, started two fires and scored numerous hits on the runways and taxi areas of that major northern Japanese base.

The speedy Venturas simply outflung the Japanese fighters which rose but could never close with them. The Ventura fighters penetrated the fighter and ground defenses to bomb and strafe installations at Suribachi, also on Paramushiro.

Now, apparently, the Allies have stepped up to take over the whole show, probably with the approval of both sides.

Elas is reported to have some 25-30,000 men. Edes and other partisan groups have a few thousand. Progress has been made in arming them, but they probably can't approach the efficiency of the French forces of liberation. Nevertheless, help they shouldn't have too much trouble clearing up the isolated Germans, of whom there may be 25,000 but who are accustomed to fit into a regular army supply system and probably helpless without it.

Another little-known partisan outfit from which we may hear more soon is the Russian-sponsored "People's National Liberation Front" in Bulgaria. They may become particularly active in clearing from Yugoslavia the Bulgarian army forces sent there last spring to relieve German units for duty against Russia.

The main job against Germany, of course, is to be done by the Allies in the west and Russian forces from Poland. But a southeastern front is rapidly being developed more important than the Italian campaign in the actual battle for Germany.

Twenty-Two Ships Sunk And 36 Planes Destroyed In Raids On Philippines.

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Bold and blunt-spoken Adm. William F. Halsey, who pried Japan's grip on the Solomons by transforming those islands into graveyards for enemy planes and ships, is more than 1,000 planes and 300 ships along the way toward doing the same thing on a grander scale in the Philippines.

The Navy has disclosed that Halsey's marauding third fleet swung the air arm Saturday at the Philippines for the seventh day this month with deadly effect.

It obliterated the startling puny air opposition of seven interceptors and bagged 29 more on central Philippine airfields to raise the seven-day toll to 1,014 Nipponese aircraft.

It definitely sank 22 ships, including four warships, to raise the seven-day toll to at least 160.

It damaged 43 more, including two warships, probably sinking 15 of that number and destroyed or damaged 20 to 30 small craft, raising the seven-day toll of enemy surface craft probably sunk or damaged to more than 200.

The air arm of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, which has been hitting the Philippines hard even though on a smaller scale, was disclosed today to have added to Japan's shipping havoc by sinking a 10,000-ton transport and badly damaging a 3,000-tonner in a seven-ship convoy spotted in the Sulu Archipelago, Tuesday (U. S. date).

A single Navy Catalina flying boat handled the deadly job off Jolo, a new hunting ground for the "Cats."

Halsey's third fleet lost 10 planes, five pilots and three air crew members in Saturday's strike against Philippine islands below Manila but on the six other days, no American warship was damaged.

A Nipponese destroyer and three destroyer escorts were sunk and two destroyer escorts damaged but the Japanese navy as a combat unit stayed away.

In addition to the warships, a (Continued on page six)

Jap Successes In China May Prolong Pacific War

Chinese Defeats And Loss Of American Air Bases Cast Shadow Of Gloom Over Chungking.

By PRESTON GROVER

Chungking, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Recent Chinese defeats and the possibility that the American 14th Air Force may lose additional bases in China produced an atmosphere of gloom today in this capital unclouded since the dark days when China was fighting the war alone.

There is no doubt in Chungking that the Allies will defeat Japan but the consensus of both Chinese and Americans seems to be that the war has been prolonged for several months already as a result of the recent reverses.

In addition to the prestige of the Chinese central government has been harmed. This is important not only with respect to relations between the Chinese and their allies but because the reverses resulted in the central government losing a certain amount of face in dealings with the Communists in the north.

These events emerge as significant from a strictly military viewpoint.

Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chenault has lost several major and minor airfields, from which he was able to harass Japanese forces in China and damage shipping along the coast, as well as easy access to other air fields.

The loss of his three remaining forward bases at Kweilin, Tanchuk and Liu-chow is possible within a short period.

The result would be that bombing operations would be pushed back to the big base at Kunming.

Recuperation from the Japanese blows will require months, even if the Japanese should be content, as some expect, merely to seize Kweilin and Liu-chow and force a Chinese and American retreat on Kunming.

The fact that the Chinese have been fighting under adverse conditions since 1937, pitifully equipped, poorly fed and without medical facilities, has contributed to the difficulties suffered on the Chinese front.

Chungking, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A Japanese column striking southward into Kwangsi province has gained 20 miles from its base and reached a point only 35 miles from the provincial capital of Kweilin, greatly heightening the menace to the important city, the Chinese high command said tonight.

Allies Hammer Out Gains Along The German Front

Prescribes Postwar Program For Nazis

President's Eight Point Plan Places Control Under State Department.

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS Washington, Sept. 29.—President Roosevelt today ordered a speed-up in American plans for rendering Germany harmless after the war, and specifically put the job under State Department guidance.

The order was issued in a letter to Leo Crowley, chief of the Foreign Economic Administration, and while it covered non-German subjects in its eight points, it apparently is the outgrowth of the sharp division in the President's Postwar Cabinet Committee over a German peace plan submitted by Secretary Morgenthau.

This division reflected a fundamental policy disagreement between Secretary Stimson and Hull on the one hand and Morgenthau, who proposed the virtual de-industrialization of Germany to prevent its making future wars.

Hull and the State Department, which had exercised unquestioned direction of long-range German planning until Morgenthau won attention for his plan, have tentatively counted on restoration of Germany's industrial economy under ruthless Allied controls. Under the President's order today this policy now apparently is to prevail.

Point seven of the President's letter to Crowley said: "You have been making studies from the economic standpoint of what should be done after the surrender of Germany to control its power and capacity to make war in the future.

"This work must be accelerated, and under the guidance of the department of state you should furnish assistance in work and when requested to do so in personnel by the military authorities, to work with the military, and such other American agencies and officials as participate with the United Nations in seeing to it that Germany does not become a menace again to succeeding generations."

FLAYS ACTION OF ARGENTINA

Roosevelt Denounces Nazi-Fascist Influences.

Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today denounced the Argentine government for what he termed the growth of Nazi-Fascist influences developing in that country at the very time when Nazi forces are facing defeat in Germany.

Mr. Roosevelt said Argentina has repudiated a solid inter-American system for defense against Nazi aggression and stated, in the words of Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain, that every nation will be judged by the parts they play in the war, neutrals and belligerents alike. He said his statement today is important now because of deceptions on the part of Nazi radio broadcasts beamed to Argentina which say Allied councils are divided in their attitude toward Argentina. Mr. Roosevelt described the broadcasts as fabrications.

In his statement, read to his news conference and later issued to reporters, Mr. Roosevelt said he has been viewing the Argentine situation "with increasing concern" in recent months. But as Secretary of State Hull has also done, he drew a distinction between the Argentine government and the Argentine people, a majority of whom, he said, have remained steadfast in their faith in their own, free democratic (Continued on page four)

American Forces To The South Forge To Within Sight Of Belfort Pass; First Army Gains Mile On Northern Sector; British Closing Gap In Holland.

By JAMES M. LONG London, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Doughboys of two American armies on the southern end of the Allied front advanced to within sight of the famous Belfort pass today and worked forward to within 20 to 25 miles of the four main passes through the Vosges mountains—French windows looking across the Rhine into Germany.

Twenty miles north of Aachen, the U. S. First Army gained a mile at Echterbosch along the German-Dutch border.

Fighting off repeated German counterattacks through a chill drizzle, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army and Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh Army marked up advances of three to five miles—the most impressive gains of any on an Allied front bristling with menacing offensives.

Patton's men alone knocked out 82 tanks yesterday in the advance. It was announced from the field, Eight or 10 villages were captured by the two armies, and Belfort, at the entrance to the strategic gap, was only 11 miles away.

A large-scale battle was developing for Rambervillers, 30 miles north of the gap, with the Americans only 3 1/2 miles south of that center of an important web of highways.

To the north, meanwhile, the British Second Army closed up to the Mass (Meuse) in Holland along a 20-mile front from two to three miles from a German border in a bulging movement south of Kleve, and beat off three counterattacks from the Reichswald, the forest concentration center just below that electrified anchor.

The 5th Canadian drove the U. S. First Army smashed bitter resistance on the German-Dutch border six miles northwest of Sittard.

The mile advance here was scored by American cavalry. First Army artillery bombarded a column of 42 vehicles with 1,000 men in a woods northeast of Aachen, and Allied planes shot up 30 railroad cars and cut rail lines at 55 places.

Below Aachen, at the lower corner of Luxembourg, the First Army also pushed the front to the German border at yet another place, capturing Remich.

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. Substituting for DeWitt MacKenzie

It is clear now that Allied operations in Albania are minor, airborne and commando units having been landed to help plug any gaps through which enemy forces fleeing Greece might escape to northern Italy or through the loosely-held Yugoslav partisan territory to Austria.

It is doubtful that the western Allies plan any major action in the Balkan area, leaving it instead to Russian and partisan forces. (In Russia and partisan forces.)

The intensity of Allied interest in the situation, however, is indicated in the announcement of an Allied over-all command for Greek partisan forces which not so long ago were fighting among themselves.

One of the headaches which the Greek government in exile was unable to solve in recent unity conferences was the matter of command. The Elias army of the Leftist Eam, which has claimed control of a large portion of Greece, insisted that other partisans, including the Edes which also had been very active against the Germans, should come under Elias command.

Nine Killed In Train Collision

Missouri Valley, Ia., Sept. 29.—(AP)—A fast freight plowed into a passenger train, knocked five cars on their backs and in the wreckage scattered over a half a mile left nine known dead and about 100 injured, of whom 47 received treatment in Council Bluffs, Ia., hospitals today. Two of the injured were reported in extremely critical condition.

Three soldiers, whose names were withheld by Ft. Crook, Nebr., officials until the next of kin could be notified, were among those who died in the crash of the two Chicago and North Western line trains at about 7:30 p. m. CWT, Thursday, on the outskirts of Missouri Valley. The freight train, the Calumet which makes a regular Omaha to Chicago run, struck one of the coaches of the Sioux City to Omaha No. 10 passenger train which a railroad official said was on a switch at the time.

Relaxation of wage controls, as championed by Chairman William H. Davis, would mean that wage increases agreed to by employers would not need approval of the War Labor Board. A measure of collective bargaining thereby would be restored, but labor would be expected to continue to withhold the strike weapon until the defeat of Japan.

The theory is that with a relatively ample supply of labor after war production cutbacks are ordered, employer pressure on wage ceilings will be eased and stabilization can be achieved without continuing the present restrictions on voluntary increases. The bulk of WLB work now is the increases sought or agreed to by employers.

Exceptions would be written into such a relaxation order so that wage increases agreed to by an employer could

Social and Personal

Mrs. Wallace Bourne and children have returned to Greensboro.

Mr. C. A. Guss returned Sunday from the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond, where he has been under treatment for several weeks.

Mrs. Hannah G. Forrest has returned to her home from Pitt General Hospital.

Mrs. J. B. James has returned from Savannah, Ga. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. John Angus, Jr., and family.

L. T. I. Wagner, USNR, has arrived from Corpus Christi, Texas, to visit his family.

Mr. J. A. Clark is recovering satisfactorily following an operation in Duke Hospital.

Wyatt Brown returned from the hospital of the Medical College of Virginia on Wednesday.

Marshall Padgett left today for Jacksonville, Fla., after spending a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Padgett of Greenville.

B. and P. Club Meets.

The Business and Professional Woman's Club held their regular meeting last evening at the Episcopal Parish House. A delicious dinner was served by the women of the church. Twenty-two members and two visitors were present. Mrs. Viola Baker, president, presided. Mrs. L. R. Bell had charge of the program. Committee chairmen discussed their duties and plans for the coming year.

Youth Program Sunday Night.

The Christian Youth Movement of Greenville extends an invitation to all young people and adults to be present at the meeting Sunday night at 7:30 in the Immanuel Baptist Church. The movement wants the young people to especially bring their parents to this service.

"Power For These Times," will be the topic of the meeting. Sarah Jean Ellis, Della Frances Perry, and Helen Piver will make talks on "Power Through Prayer," "Power Through the Unity of the Home," and "Power Through the Unity of Youth." Graham Baker will be leader and Leon Fleming will have charge of the music. This will be the first service the movement has had since the Youth Rally this summer and they are expecting a large group of young people and adults to attend.

This service should prove to be a great inspiration to all and we are expecting everyone to attend," stated Sarah Jean Ellis, who is program chairman.

Family Party.

Guild Meets Monday.
The Cammie Gray Guild of the Christian Church will meet at the home of Miss Louise Jones Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Dinner For Ministers and Wives.
The ministers and their wives of Greenville were guests at dinner of Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Haney at their home on the Ayden highway Thursday evening.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Boyd, Rev. and Mrs. Robert W. Bradshaw, Rev. and Mrs. Hartwell Campbell, Rev. and Mrs. Richard Hardaway, Fathers Maurice Tew and Charles J. Gable, Rev. N. J. Medford, Mrs. H. N. McDermid, Mrs. Agnes Settle, Rev. and Mrs. John R. Bill, and Chaplain Redford at the Marine Air Base.

Mr. Bradshaw gave the invocation and Dr. Boyd extended a welcome to the new ministers of the city. Father Maurice Tew, in a few well-chosen phrases, interpreted the spirit of the occasion as one of good fellowship characterizing the splendid give-and-take attitude to be found among the religious groups in Greenville. Brief responses were made by Mr. Medford, new minister at the Pentecostal Holiness Church, Mr. Bill, new rector at the Episcopal Church, Chaplain Redford, located at the Air Base, and Mrs. Hartwell Campbell for all the women present.

Marriage License.
A marriage license was issued by the register of deeds during the past week to Pfc. Joseph D. DeClue, of Louis, Mo., and a member of the Marine Corps, and Miss Virginia French of Greenville.

SURGICAL DRESSINGS, NEWS

The Red Cross surgical dressings room is open, and the faithful few are hard at work. But there are a few. Many more are needed to complete the quota in time. The list of wounded from the battlefields grows each day. Our boys need our help and need it desperately. To fail them is unthinkable. Perhaps the end is in sight, so now we must make an all-out effort, as our armies are doing. The easiest way for the workers to accomplish the maximum amount of work is by setting aside a definite morning or afternoon each week to go and make surgical dressings. The schedule of hours is published in the paper each day. Then when you sign up for that specific time, you can mark it into your schedule and the supervisor at the room can count on you each day. Summer is over, and working time has come again. You will be very welcome at the surgical dressings room.

Honor Tar Heel Woman
Savannah, Ga., Sept. 29.—(AP)—The S. S. Addie Daniels, named for the wife of a former secretary of the navy, was being fitted today to join the United States "bridge of ships" over the oceans of the globe. Joseph Daniels, 82-year-old Raleigh (N. C.) publisher and secretary of the navy during World War I, tears in his eyes spoke briefly at the launching yesterday, telling the assembled crowd "the heart of my wife is touched by this." (Mrs. Daniels died last year.)

Probe Death Of Noted Evangelist

Oakland, Calif., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Pathological tests were to be started today on the stomach of Aimee Semple McPherson, famed woman evangelist, to determine the cause of her death here Wednesday morning.

Decision to make the pathological tests was reached when a 21-2 hour autopsy conducted yesterday failed to determine the cause of death. It was disclosed, however, that Mrs. McPherson's death in a hotel room was not the result of a heart attack.

October 6 has been tentatively set as a date for an inquest. Stomach tests will take from one to five days to complete, autopsy surgeons said. At Los Angeles Temple officials announced plans to have Mrs. McPherson's body lie in state Sunday in the church she founded while her followers pay tribute to her memory. Eventual interment in the family sarcophagus at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale, is planned but final funeral arrangements have not been completed.

More Ration Stamps Good After Sunday

Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Three more red ration stamps, totaling 30 points for meats and fats, and five more blue stamps amounting to 50 points for processed foods will become valid Sunday, October 1st.

The Office of Price Administration said: Blue stamps to be validated are M-5, N-5, P-5, Q-5 and R-5. Red stamps to be validated are H-5, J-5 and K-5. All stamps will be good indefinitely. OPA said it is not expected that any more red stamps will be validated until October 29 and blue stamps until November 1.

More Flying Bombs.
London, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Just before dawn today the Germans loosed another flurry of flying bombs against London and the southern counties.

Tires Now Made From Dandelion

Akron, Ohio, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. announced today it was producing tires from the Russian dandelion, kok-saghyz, and said they appeared to equal tree rubber tires in quality although only small quantities are available.

The dandelion, grown in the Florida Everglades from seeds flown to this country from Russia, yields up to 200 pounds of rubber per acre, the company reported.

Rubber, formed chiefly in the root of the plant, is extracted by a grinding process somewhat similar to that used in obtaining the elastic from guayule, the company announcement stated.

Salisbury Settles Rationing Squabble

Salisbury, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The solution of Salisbury's Rationing Board troubles was expected here this afternoon when OPA Western N. C. District Director L. W. Driscoll of Charlotte meets with a three-man committee empowered to name a completely new personnel for the board and various panels. Driscoll said last night that he expected the controversy to be settled amicably. Yesterday the resignation of Mrs. Minnie C. Thornton, chief clerk of the board, was accepted. Seven women clerks last week protested against the continuance of Mrs. Thornton in the position, claiming that they could not work in harmony with her. Mrs. Thornton will return to her former post in Spencer.

Hometown Girl

by J.C. FLEMING and LOIS EBY AP Features

Chapter 11

When Julie finished her story the three of them sat on in front of the dying fire absorbed in the vivid scenes she had brought to life.

Susan's voice broke the silence in a whisper of awe and eagerness. "Accidental—your father's death was accidental—you believe that?"

Julie's smile was gentle almost detached. "I believe it," she said, "with all my heart."

"Then—Susan drew a long breath. "I believe it too." She returned Julie's smile, her eyes suddenly misty. "You don't know what it means to me to believe that."

Julie's hand covered hers with a quick pressure. Susan tears dimmed her smile. "Yes I do. And I know too that you're a wonderful girl, Susan, to be able to keep an open mind in a town so prejudiced."

Susan burst out in sudden bitterness. "Why should I let a Midvale run my life? It's a narrow-minded town!"

Julie's smile was whimsical. "But it's your hometown, Susan Corby, the town of your childhood, and it will have a hold on you no other town in the world will ever have, believe me."

"It seemed about to go on but abruptly changed her mind. "It seems to be morning! What say we toast our friendship in black coffee?"

"Now you're talking my language!" Erich cried. He put one arm around Susan, one around Julie and pulled them to their feet. "With some of your eggs Viennese thrown in on the side, Julie."

Laughingly they hurried down the dark hall and into the high-ceilinged, freshly painted huge old kitchen. In refrigerator and pantry they found ham, eggs, coffee, bread and cream. Under Julie's gay, competent directions the preparations proceeded like smooth magic.

At the kitchen table spread with snowy cloth they were eating a savory breakfast when Jonathan, the old Negro servant, ambled sleepily in. He stared at them in dazed consternation.

"We apologize, Jonathan, for intruding," Julie cried. "But your breakfast is in the oven."

Later, as Susan jounced down the hill road in Jonathan's rickety old car she felt as buoyant and fresh as the morning. The weight taken from her spirit had lifted with it all trace of physical fatigue. She had never known such surging content and happiness.

Jonathan rumbled on in unimpaired congeniality about what fine folks Miss Julie and Erich was. "Crazy yes, but fine folks just the same. Who knew that a mighty might look a little crazy to folks around here. Didn't know as you should get down on folks fer just a little craziness."

"You might have something there, Jonathan," Susan laughed.

"One thing," he puffed a pair of Julie's shoes from under his feet confidentially. "Miss Julie jest can't understand I can't polish shoes like a man like Scoopy Brown. Count of he specializes on jest polishin' shoes. Reckon I'll kind of bring 'em down here on my own till she gets used to 'em bein' done so good."

Aunt Sarah was awake. She called out when Susan went by her door and Susan went in. Aunt Sarah kissed her prettily. She didn't know there was a train from Detroit at this hour. Did Susan get all the business done?

Susan chattered lightly about Detroit, Thorny's sister, the interviews. She controlled the urge to tell Aunt Sarah Julie's story, she must wait 'til she had time to do it right. She had to make Aunt Sarah see, in fact, she had to make the whole town see the mistake they'd made in condemning the Scarbroughs!

At the office Thorny grinned at her briefly. Looked to him, he wanted, like a few days in the big city was just what she needed. He took her notes of the interviews, but he didn't have time to discuss them with her. He was in conference all day with the builder. At 2 o'clock he came out and told her to go home and get some sleep. Susan was grateful now. Her head felt light and fuzzy. She went home and slept dreamlessly.

She was awakened by the sharp sound of her own name. "Susan!"

Shocked out of sleep, she struggled up on one elbow. Aunt Sarah stood over her, face stonily accusing.

"Susan, there wasn't any train from Detroit this morning. And you were seen riding in the old car of the Scarbrough's Negro man!" She clutched her heart and swayed.

Dr. Merrill sat there in ten minutes. Susan had Aunt Sarah in bed with ice pack and hot water bottle and ammonia. Merrill gave her a relative, called in Janie's mother to look after her, then told Susan to get her coat.

Surprised and frightened, Susan followed him out to his car. "Is it so bad?" she demanded.

"Your aunt's illness?" said Merrill as he helped her into the car. "No, her heart's sound as a dollar. Only thing wrong with her is a martyr complex also a virulent hat-

Commutes Sentence.

Raleigh, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Governor Broughton today commuted the sentence of Sam Jones, Negro, convicted of first degree murder from death by lethal gas to 30 years in the state prison.

Jones was convicted in June by the Halifax county Superior court of slaying Lindsay Price, Negro, allegedly for the purpose of robbery. A confederate, Arthur Fleming, previously had been sentenced to 30 years.

Seek Increased Fund For Schools

Raleigh, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A record-breaking appropriation of approximately $20,000,000 to operate the state's schools for the next two years was tentatively under consideration today of the State Board of Education.

The request, not yet made formally, will cover the new school term of nine months, salary increases and teacher bonuses. It is by far the largest appropriation request for any one state department.

Consideration of the request had been given earlier by the board's finance committee.

Yesterday the board met in executive session to consider the request.

Hearings will start next week before the Advisory Budget Commission, which must approve all state appropriations. All state agencies, departments and institutions will be heard.

The board formally rejected a proposal made by the Charlotte administrative unit to pay teacher salaries in 12 monthly installments. The board held the request could not be granted unless it was general for the entire school system.

Principals Hold Conference Here

At a meeting of Pitt county school principals at the courthouse yesterday a program was outlined for the local unit for the North Carolina Education Association. W. E. Cain, principal of Belvoir school presided.

Miss Margaret Lewis, president of the local unit of N.C.E.A. made an interesting talk on plans for the future. Miss Sarah Foust, field worker for the North Carolina Education Association, discussed the local program and made numerous helpful suggestions. County Supt. Don H. Conley spoke briefly.

Excellent reports were made by all of the county schools. School attendance is up to par for the first month of the term and the general health of the children is very good, it was stated.

The county-wide plan to provide lunch rooms at the schools is nearing completion. The lunch rooms will provide a valuable service for the children, it was pointed out. A nourishing lunch will be sold for a dime. Many children go to school without breakfast and numbers do not take lunch. The lunch rooms will make available a nourishing meal and improve the health of the children and be reflected in progress in the classrooms. E. F. Johnson, principal of Ayden school, is coordinator of the lunch room projects. The government sometimes ships in carloads of food and it is planned to make the best use of it. Five schools recently had canned at the Ayden cannery between 3,500 and 4,000 cans of beans. It is planned to begin the lunch room program as soon as possible.

A nourishing lunch will be sold for a dime. Many children go to school without breakfast and numbers do not take lunch. The lunch rooms will make available a nourishing meal and improve the health of the children and be reflected in progress in the classrooms. E. F. Johnson, principal of Ayden school, is coordinator of the lunch room projects. The government sometimes ships in carloads of food and it is planned to make the best use of it. Five schools recently had canned at the Ayden cannery between 3,500 and 4,000 cans of beans. It is planned to begin the lunch room program as soon as possible.

Principals Hold Conference Here

At a meeting of Pitt county school principals at the courthouse yesterday a program was outlined for the local unit for the North Carolina Education Association. W. E. Cain, principal of Belvoir school presided.

Miss Margaret Lewis, president of the local unit of N.C.E.A. made an interesting talk on plans for the future. Miss Sarah Foust, field worker for the North Carolina Education Association, discussed the local program and made numerous helpful suggestions. County Supt. Don H. Conley spoke briefly.

Excellent reports were made by all of the county schools. School attendance is up to par for the first month of the term and the general health of the children is very good, it was stated.

The county-wide plan to provide lunch rooms at the schools is nearing completion. The lunch rooms will provide a valuable service for the children, it was pointed out. A nourishing lunch will be sold for a dime. Many children go to school without breakfast and numbers do not take lunch. MERCY HIS CAREER

In 1913 Albert Schweitzer, a doctor of medicine, doctor of philosophy, doctor of theology, and as someone has said, "the equivalent of a doctor of music" sailed for equatorial Africa that he might spend the rest of his life ministering to the natives. This remarkable man was recognized as an authority in five different fields of human endeavor. He had written about twenty books, was a noted surgeon and one of the world's greatest organists. For a generation he has remained in Africa, save for a few months during World War I when he was held as a prisoner of war and on a few occasions when he has returned to give organ recitals throughout Europe for the purpose of helping to support his African hospital.

Schweitzer embarked upon his unusual career because he believes that civilized nations are under an indictment because of their disregard for the sufferings of uncivilized peoples. He likens the civilized nations to Dives and the wretched people of Africa and Asia to Lazarus. "And," he has written, "just as Dives sinned against the poor man at his gate, so do we sin against the poor man at our gate." He insists that all who have suffered physical pain are united by a secret bond and that once a person has been delivered from suffering, "he must help to overcome the enemies of pain and anguish and to bring to others the deliverance which he himself has enjoyed."

AMERICA IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—The head man at the smaller war plants corporation is giving up his small business. Of course, he has only a side line, but Maury Maverick, SWPC chief, finds keeping a hive of bees in one's office a little too strenuous. He's quitting. He has called up the department of agriculture and told it to come and get 'em. Months ago Maverick, who admits he has been a bee-nut for 40 years, was presented with a hive of Italian bees which it seems thrive as well in this country as Italian prisoners of war. Being fond of the little stingers, Maverick just parked the hive in his office where he could beguile his leisurely lunch half-hour by contemplating their antics.

It seems, however, that some complaints came in from his staff and other government workers in the neighborhood. There were other factors involved. Maverick decided to transfer the bees from the SWPC bonnet to agriculture, which has experimental acres to take care of such things. In Maverick's own words, here's what happened:

"Bees are wonderful little animals. I had my first hive when I was seven years old and have been keeping them ever since. "However, after a flight of several miles, some of them do get off the beam a few yards and there have been some mild complaints that the little fellows were buzzing around offices where they didn't belong. Rather than cause any further discomfort, I thought I would just get rid of them."

Maverick explains, though, that the real story of his office hive is that they have been misunderstood by a few hysterical secretaries who don't know bees from nothing. Actually, he says, his bees were a wonderful study in politics, government and the problems of reconstruction.

His bees, he claimed, were attacked by aggressive neighbors, soon after they had been settled on their domain in his office. These neighborhood aggressors assaulted the hive and tried to make off with the honey.

The mavericks, according to Maverick, immediately placed themselves on a war footing. They killed off the drones, nose-dived (or is it tail-dived?) the aggressors, and made an all-out blitz on all the flower beds within flying range to bring honey production to the ultimate. "Now that the war is over," says Maverick, "they are faced with the insurmountable problem of reconversion. The season is so late their source of supply is limited. Due to the fecundity of the queen, who was producing on a war basis, there is an insurmountable problem of unemployment.

"All I have done is to arrange their mass transfer to other places where they can all find work. The department of agriculture has such a place. No doubt, but opportunity for all, that's the slogan."

Getting a government job: If a veteran was a permanent federal civil service employee when he went to war, he should apply to the agency where last employed within 40 days after his military discharge.

If he has difficulty getting that job back, he should apply to the Civil Service Commission at Washington. But if he satisfies the requirements, he is entitled to his old job back or one of similar seniority and pay.

If he didn't have a federal civil service job before entering the armed forces but wants one now, as a veteran he will get special consideration and preference in civil service examinations.

miles north of the Kwangsi capital, and engaged the battle-worn defenders in street fighting. Paoching has been a thorn in the right flank of the Japanese columns attempting to envelop Kweilin, site of important bases of the U. S. 14th Air Force.

The spokesman said the gap between the left flank of the enemy drive on Kweilin and the right flank of his push into Kwangsi from Kwangtung province, had been reduced to 60 miles. Closing this gap would give the invaders an overland route between Hongkong and Manchuria.

At the same time it was disclosed that Japanese columns converging on Tanchuk from the west and south were only 20 miles apart. Tanchuk, also the site of an advanced American air base, is about 90 miles south of Kweilin.

A Tokyo communique asserted today that Japanese forces had occupied both Paoching and Tanchuk.

"The Argentine government has repudiated solemn inter-American obligations on the basis of which the nations of this hemisphere developed a system of defense to meet the challenge of Axis aggression," he said.

"Unless we now demonstrate a capacity to develop a tradition of respect for such obligations among civilized nations, there can be little hope for a system of international security, theoretically created to maintain principles for which our peoples are today sacrificing to the limit of their resources."

After asserting that "I have been following closely and with increasing concern the development of the Argentine situation in recent months," the President said: "This situation presents the extraordinary paradox of the growth of Nazi-Fascist influence and the increasing application of Nazi-Fascist methods in a country of this hemisphere, at the very time that those forces of oppression and aggression are drawing ever closer to the hour of final defeat and judgment in Europe and elsewhere in the world. The paradox is accentuated by the fact, of which we are all quite aware, that the vast majority of the people of Argentina have remained steadfast in their faith in their own, free, democratic traditions and in their support of the nations and peoples who have been making such great sacrifices in the fight against the Nazis and Fascists. This was made clear beyond all doubt by the great spontaneous demonstration of public feeling in Argentina after word was received of the liberation of Paris."

Buenos Aires, Sept. 29—(AP)—The Argentine government has informed Great Britain that this country will bar entrance of war criminals and will prohibit them from depositing funds or acquiring property here, the foreign office announced last night.

The foreign office said the Argentine government had instructed its ambassador in London on September 23 to deliver a verbal message to the British foreign office on the matter and this had been done September 26.

"Some publications in Britain as well as other countries apparently are engaged in trying to establish the possibility that Axis leaders may seek refuge in the Argentine republic," said the foreign office. "It is illogical to believe that such commentaries are accepted in usually well informed quarters."

war they will find them as useful as pajamas," with the added advantage that they pay them substantial interest. The farmers will buy the "E" War Bonds so that when the "Great Day" comes and Germany is beaten they can use them to buy the many, many necessary things not now manufactured and which will come on the market as the war nears an end.

Uncle Sam has asked the women of Greenville to go on the warehouse floors as "Minute Women in Tobacco Land" and ask farmers to invest at least five cents on each pound of tobacco they sell in "E" War Bonds. That's not much to ask, but those "E" bonds are a good investment and they will be mighty handy to have around when the fighting's over.

Mrs. Dink James is leader of a group of Greenville women who will be on all of the warehouse floors beginning Monday to take orders for war bonds. She needs many more women to volunteer for the work. The "Minute Women in Tobacco Land" will not interfere with sales at the warehouses. "They will contact farmers in a friendly and patriotic service and they believe the farmers, in their prosperity, will again manifest their patriotism and good business sense and give orders for the bonds," Mayor Sugg said today.

"The farmers have always done their part for their community, state and nation, and I urge them to buy as many "E" war bonds as they can—buy them as a good investment and as a special "nest egg" to buy the things they need after the war," said J. Herbert Waldrop, vice president and cashier of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company and chairman of the Pitt County War Finance Committee. Women willing to take part as "Minute Women in Tobacco Land" should contact Mrs. Dink James.

Germans Battle ...

(Continued from page one) troops had crossed from Romania into Yugoslavia at a point east of Belgrade. The German news agency DNB said today that the Red army has made a new crossing of the Danube river south of the Iron Gate on the Romanian-Yugoslav border seven miles west of Russian-held Turnu Severin.

The Moscow communique included Vydran in a list of 30 localities captured by Col. Gen. Ivan Petrov's fourth Ukrainian army attacking in the East Beskid mountains. Lupkow, on the Polish side of the pass, was also seized.

In the north Russian forces converging on the Latvian port of Riga captured 50 localities, including Lode, 31 miles northeast of Riga. In Estonia 200 localities were taken by Marshal Leonid A. Govorov's troops, including the port of Virtsu on the west coast.

Red army assault troops within sight of Riga slugged forward through marshes and forests strewn with mines and dotted with machine gun nests.

Front dispatches said heavy fighting will be required before Riga is captured, but expressed belief that the three Russian armies converging on the city would not be held up for very many days.

After Riga is taken a regrouping of Russian forces is expected in preparation for another Baltic offensive to split the German front stretching from East Prussia across western Lithuania and Latvia to the mouth of the Riga gulf.

New Gains ...

The gains gave the Americans observation over the road for many miles to the north. Allied headquarters gave no specific information on gains on the west flank of the Fifth Army, where the Brazilians and some American units have been keeping a steady pace, but said "important advances have been made" and "the entire Gothic zone has now been penetrated with the exception of a small area of the west coast."

A front line report said that on some sectors of the western flank the enemy because of demolitions and mine fields.

Incessant heavy German counterattacks marked the Eighth Army's narrow penetration into the Po Valley.

New Zealand troops fighting with the Canadians met strong resistance along a line 1,000 yards east of the Fiumcina River from the coast town of Gatteo southwest to Savignano, where a fierce battle raged.

The Canadians hammered the enemy out of the village of San Mauro di Romagna, eight miles northwest of Rimini. Leading elements established a small bridgehead across the stream.

Nazi armor and infantry drove Eighth Army troops from a thousand foot ridge southwest of Savignano. Equally fierce fighting came when the British withstood two sharp counterattacks northwest of the village of Canonica, the British reached Tribola, but were driven back by strong enemy opposition.

The Eighth Army reported 9,000 prisoners captured in the current offensive in the Adriatic sector, in addition to the seizure of 73 armored vehicles and 43 anti-tank guns. The MAAF flew only 100 sorties yesterday as the weather restricted flying operations to one of the lowest points reached this year.

Negro Woman Found Dead In Cornfield

Mary Moore, Negro, 66, was found dead in a cornfield between Archie Moore's store and her home in Fatchville this morning about 6 o'clock. Coroner Griffin H. House said she died of a heart attack. The funeral will be held some time Monday.

She went to the store last night about 10 o'clock to buy headache powders. She appeared cheerful. Returning to her home nearby she suffered a heart attack while making a short cut through a patch of corn. A passerby found her this morning and reported it to authorities.

Father Drops Two Children In River

Coshocton, O., Sept. 29—(AP)—Warren Patterson, a slender 31-year-old machinist whom Prosecutor Russel E. Lyons said admitted in a signed statement that he stood on a bridge and dropped two of his four sons into Mohican river because he had no home for them, was held in jail here today.

One of the boys, Larry, 14, drowned, and Lyons said he would file a murder charge this afternoon.

The other, Raymond, 7, crawled from the stream, wandered most of the night in a cold rain and finally was picked up by a motorist, Lyon said.

Sheriff Jay Abbot quoted Patterson as saying he intended to push his twin sons into the river too, but "hadn't the heart" to go on after dropping the first two.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Guess we're pretty lucky in our town, Judge, that we don't have the youth problem you read about in other places."

"Don't know as you can call it lucky, Harold... We saw it coming with the war and we did something about it before it hit us. We gave our 'teen age youngsters the recreational facilities they needed and really wanted. Those familiar with this wartime problem know that young folks go to places they shouldn't only when the proper places are not provided for them. Young people always want to be with others of their own age... want their own type of entertainment. Town after town has found out that once these simple wants are met, the problem is well on its way to being licked."

"Guess I didn't really know how far-sighted our town really is, Judge. If we hadn't looked ahead we wouldn't have had anybody or anything to blame but ourselves, would we?"

BIG WEEK END ON GRIDIRON

Robertson Picks State To Win And Duke, Carolina And Wake Forest To Lose.

By ORLO ROBERTSON

New York, Sept. 29—(AP)—The football season swings into high gear this weekend and we're hoping we'll do the same after a performance last week of 23 victories, five defeats and one tie.

Wake Forest-Georgia (Friday)—Wake Forest surprised by whipping North Carolina but it's never safe to bet against the Bulldogs. Georgia.

Alabama-Louisiana State — The word is out that Frank Thomas has come up with a pretty fair outfit. Alabama.

Duke-Pennsylvania — Wish we could pass this one. Our southern scout says the Blue Devils are loaded, but the Quakers like Franklin Field. On a hunch, Penn.

Georgia Pre-Flight-South Carolina — A close one, with the Navy boys from Georgia taking the decision.

Holy Cross-Dartmouth — Dartmouth should have no trouble.

Illinois-Great Lakes — The Illinois have come up with a high scoring combination, but it'll take plenty of touchdowns to match the Sailors' output. Great Lakes.

Indiana-Michigan — Don't hesitate, Michigan.

Kentucky-Tennessee — Annie, our red-headed copy girl, says Tennessee because she likes Knoxville. They're playing in Knoxville so we'll string along with her.

Wisconsin-Northwestern — The Wildcats are scheduled to make trouble in the Big Ten. They'll start this week. Northwestern.

Missouri-Ohio State — The Buckeyes may prove to be the strongest civilian team in the country. Until they show otherwise it's Ohio State. Marquette-Purdue — Purdue.

Notre Dame-Pittsburgh — Clark Shaughnessy apparently is coming up with a strong attack at Pitt, but we can't see the Panthers stopping another strong Irish outfit. Notre Dame.

North Carolina-Army — The Cadets starting to roll toward their most successful season in years. Army.

North Carolina Pre-Flight-Navy — The Pre-Flighters have Otto Graham. The Midshipmen have a half-dozen men of almost equal caliber. Navy.

Mississippi-Florida — Our southern scout says to string along with Florida.

Nebraska-Minnesota — On the basis of the Gophers' fine showing last week against Iowa Pre-Flight we'll take Minnesota.

Pacific-Southern California — Southern California.

U.C.L.A.-California — The Uclans should take the Golden Bears.

Skipping over the country: Maryland over Hampden Sydney (Friday); Temple over Swarthmore (Friday); Auburn over Howard (Friday); Cornell over Bucknell; Colgate over Rochester; Bainbridge over Camp Lee; Georgia Tech over Clemson; Virginia Military over Catawba; Camp Peary over Cherry Point Marines; William and Mary over Ft. anew at Calais after a 10-hour overnight lull in which the German commander asked for an armistice to receive surrender terms. He was told that only his unconditional surrender would be received, and the battle was resumed.

Remich is on the Moselle boundary between Luxembourg and Germany, 410 miles southeast of the city of Luxembourg and 20 miles southwest of the German city of Trier.

There was no word from the First Army's salient through the Hurtgen forest, 14 miles southeast of besieged Aachen, in the push toward the Rhine at Cologne. There the biggest Allied guns—10-inches—have been duelling with German batteries and knocking at strategic targets.

Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's 21st army group forces pushing out westward from their salient in Holland, where they threatened to cut off some 200,000 Germans, also moved to within five miles of 'S-Hertogenbosch and, closing in from the south, extended their bridgehead over the Antwerp-Turnhout canal.

But the fiercest fighting was to the south.

Gen. Patton's Third Army struck five miles east of Pont-a-Mousson, between Metz and Nancy, and Liberated Port-Sur-Selle, just north of the historic hinge where French troops in 1914 stalemated the German drive through Lorraine and held a pivot on which the whole front swung from the northeast.

Thirteen to 20 miles in an arc northeast and east of Nancy the Third held firm against four major counterattacks near Pettioncourt, Bezange and Colincourt and smashed ahead to high ground in the forest of Parroy.

Somewhere south of Remiremont, 50 miles southeast of Nancy, strongly dug-in German forces ambushed an American advance force. But farther south another attacking force cleaned up the last German resistance in Servance and several nearby villages and hammered on east.

Servance, 13 miles northwest of Belfort, is 29 miles west of Mulhouse and only 40 from the Rhine border of Germany.

The Forest of Mont O Vannes, 11 miles northeast of Belfort, was cleared and the advance continued.

The Germans lashed out again and again with counter-blows, but the Americans gave no ground. East of Lure, below the Vannes Forest, they withstood a heavy attack and drove the enemy back from a field littered with German dead.

East of Lure the Seventh Army also won a foothold close to the 15-mile-wide valley that is the Belfort gap to Germany—the break between the peaks of the Vosges and the snow-powdered slopes of the Alps.

They captured Clairgoutte, eleven miles west of Belfort, gateway to the gap.

Along the whole front Canadian, British, American and French forces were getting strong fighter and fighter-bomber support. Their planes flew almost 2,500 sorties of direct support yesterday.

Only 60 to 70 German planes were sighted over the front the whole day.

The 19th tactical Air Force, which operates in direct support of Gen. Patton's forces, had one of its biggest days, blasting enemy communications and fortifications over a wide area during 570 sorties.

ed what FEA should do in readjusting its long-standing operations to the defeat of Germany.

"Lend-lease should continue to be furnished in whatever amounts are necessary for the most effective prosecution of the war," he said, making clear that this meant the flow of lend-lease aid should be continued as needed to defeat Japan as well as Germany.

The President raised the subject of the FEA letter himself, at his news conference, but did not identify it as connected with his expected comment on German peace policy except by reading the paragraph heading which disclosed that subject was covered.

A newsman then asked whether the letter covered the reported split in the Cabinet Committee. The President replied that was just newspaper talk, that there had been no split, that every story on that subject had been essentially untrue in the basic facts.

He did not expand which facts he had in mind.

At another point, Mr. Roosevelt was asked whether the Cabinet Committee, of which Hull is chairman, would have another meeting. The committee has been meeting all along the President said, but no specific meeting is now planned.

Then, the President said, there has been a lot of confusion on this question, what is post-war? Is it when German resistance collapses or something more long-ranged? Those are two points that people get mixed up, he said.

Officials associated with the committee and intimately familiar with its work—sources from which word of the split was originally reported—have considered German problems divided into three phases: (1) the present period of invasion conquest; (2) the immediate post-war period of military occupation; and (3) the long-range period in which the future of Germany must be finally settled. It is policy for the latter phase that has been under discussion.

In advising Crowley on future operations of the Foreign Economic Administration, "when the military resistance of Nazi Germany" ends, Mr. Roosevelt directed:

1. Export controls should be relaxed as quickly and fully as possible to promote international trade by affording increased opportunity for private industry and private trade.
2. Strategic and critical raw materials which FEA has purchased abroad should be adjusted to meet the reduced needs of waging the war against Japan.
3. Preclusive buying has already passed its peak but should be continued in so far as necessary to aid the war against Japan.
4. Economic warfare, concerned with evaluating the enemy's war potential, must be focused on Japan.
5. Lend-lease should be continued to the extent necessary to defeat Japan as quickly as possible.
6. Surplus property accumulating as a result of FEA purchasing programs abroad should be avoided.
7. Control of the war-making powers of Germany must be a subject of accelerated study.
8. Reconstruction and future foreign trade. Of the first the President said that it is the interest of this country and the rest of the United Nations that "the destruction and devastation of war be repaired and that the foundations for a secure peace be laid." Of foreign trade, he said that any improvement in economic conditions in this country will improve the condition of "peace-loving peoples of the world" and aid materially "in the building of a durable peace."

troop transport, three large oil tankers and 14 cargo ships were sent down by the carrier planes. A transport, three oil tankers and 36 cargoes were among ships damaged.

After outslugging Japan's air force in sky-filled fights over the Manila area Sept. 20, the carrier planes had the air virtually to themselves Saturday as they wrecked airfields, warehouses, barracks, piers, oil refineries and a railway. The raiders swept down on the islands of Cebu, Panay, Leyte, Negros, Mactan and southern Luzon. The heaviest blow at shipping fell on Coron Bay on the western side of the Archipelago.

The sharp wording of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' late Thursday communication made clear the raid spread disaster for Japan.

It said the fleet "struck hard at enemy shipping and defense installations." It referred to the Coron Bay blow as "a particularly heavy strike" against "a number of the enemy's ships including two of his valuable fleet tankers." It specified that the airfields around the Visayan Sea were "thoroughly bombed and strafed."

Finnish Troops Forging Ahead

Stockholm, Sept. 29—(AP)—Finnish troops have reached the Olhava river in their northward sweep to drive German troops out of Finland in accordance with Russian armistice terms, a communique reported today. This is north of the river Il which Finns crossed on improvised bridges yesterday after the retreating Nazis blew up a span and tore up a railroad.

The Finns are 15 miles from Kullavielemi, a town on a river by the same name near the upper reaches of the Gulf of Bothnia. The communique said progress was slow because repair of roads and railroads destroyed by the Germans will require considerable time.

Jackie Cooper Case Delayed By Illness

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 29—(AP) Failure of a 15-year-old girl to appear delayed start today of a juvenile court trial of Jackie Cooper, 22-year-old former motion picture actor, and three other persons charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The girl's physician, Dr. Marcus M. Gilman, testified she was in bed threatened with influenza.

The court appointed another physician to examine her.

News About LaGuardia

Washington, Sept. 29—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today there might be some news soon over the possible assignment of Mayor La Guardia of New York to a post in Italy, but he did not elaborate. COAST PATROL DID FINE JOB

Volunteer Airmen Performed A Valuable Service.

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 29—(AP)—Five flyers died and five planes were lost at sea in the Civil Air Patrol's battle against the submarine menace in 1942 and '43 from the CAP's little airfield at Beaufort, N. C.

The little band of 80 men and women, who volunteered for the hazardous service at nominal pay, accumulated 8,447 hours of patrol flight, obtained rescue for 45 shipwreck victims, located and got assistance for 11 vessels in distress, and sighted six enemy submarines.

The story of the Coastal Patrol, under Wing Commander Lt. Col. Frank E. Dawson of Charlotte, long veiled for security reasons, was released for publication today.

The Beaufort base was activated Sept. 2, 1942, as German U-boats raked the eastern sea frontier. People stood on the beaches and watched burning, blasted tankers and cargo ships go down. Others put out in small boats to bring in survivors, many wounded and burned.

The 20 North Carolina patrols of the CAP each contributed $100 to finance the establishment of the base, from which the frail, single-engine craft operated far out over the ocean.

Unarmed at first, the planes later were equipped to carry two light demolition bombs. The problem of life preservers for the pilots who often flew as far as 300 miles from shore was solved when seven dead Germans washed ashore, each wearing a life belt.

With the U-boats brazenly surfacing to shell gasoline-laden ships, it was considered an accomplishment for a tanker to reach the North Carolina coast at all. The CAP swung into action quickly and sighted its first oil slicks Oct. 4.

Then an observer sighted a sinking schooner and brought rescue to three men, a woman and child. Similar rescues were brought about at intervals for a year.

The report also revealed for the first time a story of saboteurs reported landed on the Carolina coast. Flight Officer Newlin B. Nicholson of Graham, a county farm agent, was stopped on a highway near Beaufort Inlet Feb. 4, 1943 and questioned by a group of men believed to be foreigners.

A deputy sheriff reported men had been landed from a submarine. A Coast Guard patrolman challenged the men and, receiving no response, fired into the group. The supposed saboteurs ran into the dunes and disappeared.

Among the five men who lost their lives were fired C. Kendrick Gastonia, bookkeeper; H. Leonard Lundquist, Gastonia airport manager and Guy T. Cherry, Kinston youth.

Cherry was killed in a crash at sea Nov. 1, 1942. His observer, George Grove, Hickory hosiery manufacturer, strapped Cherry's body to his own and kept it afloat for nine hours until a rescue craft reached them.

The two other pilots killed were Frank M. Cook of Concord and J. L. Cook of Nashville, N. C.

The Beaufort base was closed Aug. 31, 1943.

Court House door in Greenville, N. C., for the year 1945, the following described tract of land:

What is known as the John P. Crawford or Novella Crawford tract of land, lying and being in Beaver Dam Township, Pitt County, N. C., and adjoining the lands of Mrs. Jennie Nichols and others and containing 87 acres, more or less, and of which there are 38 acres of cleared land or about that much. The tobacco allotment for said farm for the year 1944 has been 9.5 acres, and the cotton allotment — acres.

Mrs. Novella Crawford will continue to live in the house in which she is now living, for and during the year 1945 and have the use of the yard and garden.

The renting will be for cash. This the 20th day of Sept., 1944.

ONLY THE BEST IS GOOD ENOUGH FOR MY FAMILY . . . that's what proud COLE owners are saying. That's what you will say when you own one. Come in and see these modern heaters that eliminate cold floor drafts. Notice the top-feed feature that prevents spilling coal or coal-dust on the floor. And remember, a COLE gives more heat with less fuel than any other stove of the same size fire-pot.
