Russian Forces Reported Within Less Than Nine Miles Of Yugoslav Capital.

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Moscow, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Russian armored spearheads advanced today upon the rail junction of Pancevo, a city of 22,000 less than nine miles northeast of Belgrade, and front dispatches indicated that the Yugoslav capital may fall in a matter of hours.

The German position in all of the Belgrade area was declared untenable. The Russians have a big encircling maneuver ready to put into effect if the enemy tries to dig in.

Closing in from the captured towns of Banatska Kraljevicevo, 15 miles northeast of Belgrade, and Debiljacha, 18 miles to the north, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's cleared two rail lines leading to Pancevo and aimed toward cutting the main railway running northwest from the capital—major remaining rail escape route for the bulk of the German forces on the Balkan peninsula.

Led by Yugoslav partisan scouts, Malinovsky's troops advanced 27 miles in 24 hours in taking Devil-yacha. The official Russian communique described it as "a headlong advance."

A companion Russian offensive southwest of Turnu Severin and 100 miles southeast of Belgrade ran into stiffer resistance. This resistance was reported faltering under the blows of Russians in front and partisan detachments deep in the rear.

Yesterday's Russian communique, making the first official comment on the union of Russian troops with partisan forces first reported Monday by Marshal Tito, said that in that sector the united forces were fighting "for the annihilation" of the Germans.

Racing to smash the main rail route in that region, the Russians outflanked the three-way rail junction of Zajecar, captured Vratarnica nine miles to the south, and drove to within 40 miles of Nis, key junction on the railway from Bul-

NEW GERMAN ATROCITIES

Three Thousand Murdered In Estonian Prison Camp.

By EDDY GILMORE

Tallinn, Estonia, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Eighteen miles from this capital is what the Russians point to as evidence of the Nazis' most recent mass horror—the Klooga labor camp. There, the Russians say, 3,000 Jews, Russians and Estonians were murdered methodically.

This camp was located in the timber and cement country, where prisoners slaved to produce vital material for the Nazi war machine.

People in the vicinity told correspondents this story:

The Germans killed off the prisoners wholesale when they learned the Red army was coming and retreat was in prospect.

It was Sept. 19—two days before the Germans pulled out of Tallinn. They announced the prisoners would be moved, always a bad sign in a Nazi camp.

The first group of 3,000 was marched into the woods, ordered to saw up piles of logs into pieces, and were marched into a field in groups of about 50, carrying the logs. They were forced to make a raft-like foundation, and then lie down on

Report Death Of Black Dragon Head

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Japan's Domei (news) agency today announced the death of Mitsuru Toyama, 90-year-old head of the Black Dragon Society, Japanese terroristic patriotic organization.

The dispatch, intercepted by the Federal Communications Commission, said the "saint" of the terrorist movement died at his summer home Wednesday night of a long illness.

FCC Far Eastern monitors described him as "one of the most powerful political bosses in Japan, believed to be the power behind the Tojo government and responsible for the present Greater East Asia war."

The Black Dragon Society figured prominently in Japanese espionage in the United States. The FBI repeatedly reported the arrest of Black Dragon men early in the war when it was rounding up dangerous aliens.

Submarines And Planes Prey On Jap Shipping

Subs Sink 11 Ships Including Three War Vessels; Planes Account For 11 More.

Washington, Oct. 5 — (AP) — American submarines, ripping Japanese supply lines, have destroyed another 11 enemy vessels, including three war craft, the Navy announced today.

The fighting craft included a destroyer, an escort vessel and a seaplane tender, all of which may have been trying to protect Japanese convoys from American underwater attacks.

Also included in the latest bag of the submersibles were 6 cargo ships and a large tanker from the rapidly dwindling Japanese fleet of fuel-carrying craft.

Also destroyed was a cable ship, indicating that the submarines may have been engaged in breaking or preventing repair of enemy communication lines.

The newly-reported sinkings raise to 924 the number of Japanese vessels of all types sunk, probably sunk or damaged by submarine action.

Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, Oct. 5—(AP)—Ship-hunting Allied planes, which sank more than 200 ocean-going vessels in September, began October impressively by hitting 11 more as Tokyo radio spoke frankly of a shipping shortage.

A communique today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur and one last night at Pearl Harbor by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported the sinking or severe damaging of 11 supply vessels in raids reaching to within 615 miles of Tokyo. The raids occurred during the first three days of this month.

A cargo ship was bomb-blasted Sunday near Chichi Jima in the Bonin islands, the closest approach to Tokyo.

A 2,000-ton freighter-transport and three small freighters were sunk or severely damaged Monday night and early Tuesday off Dutch Celebes.

Four small freighters were destroyed near Amboina. A 1,000-ton vessel was sunk off the Seola islands, between Celebes and Amboina.

A medium tanker was heavily hit off the southern Philippines.

MacArthur's planes, which also have been concentrating on Japanese oil sources in the East Indies, struck Monday night at Makassar, Dutch Celebes, spreading fires in an area of oil talks.

Nimitz said Liberators made it two raids in a row on Chichi Jima by going back after more shipping Monday, but he did not report the results. His communique last night also reported air strikes in the Kuriles, Marianas and Marshalls and against Marcus Island.

Mopping up operations by marines and soldiers on Peleliu and Angaur in the Palaus continued with the total counted Japanese dead through Tuesday amounting to 10,987.

(Tokyo radio's acknowledgement of a shipping shortage was contained in a broadcast, recorded in the United States by the Federal Communications Commission, which said that, plus flood and drought, had contributed to a food crisis).

President To Deliver Second Campaign Speech

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Roosevelt comes up for another political round tonight in a nationwide broadcast from the White House—aimed especially at Democratic party workers on whom he is depending to get out the vote for him.

The speech is set for 10 P.M., Eastern War Time (CBS and Mutual). A Democratic worker in each of 125,000 voting districts has been asked to have ten persons in to hear it. Afterwards these people are all to be given lists of voters and asked to help get them to the polls.

The chances are good that Governor Thomas E. Dewey will listen in also, but only in his capacity as the Republican presidential nominee. For Dewey has let it be known he is waiting to hear what Mr. Roosevelt says before he completes the speech he is to make Saturday night in Charleston, W. Va.

Pending these top-man speeches, the campaigning went along in familiar lines, with emphasis on the CIO political action committee and foreign relations.

John W. Bricker, the Republican vice presidential nominee, said in a St. Louis speech that New Deal leaders saw a chance "to buy this election" in "the millions of dollars collected" by the PAC. He said "Pressure, regimentation, threats and intimidation" were the tools of CIO leader Sidney Hillman.

Hillman commented at New York that "Honest John Bricker is deliberately continuing his campaign of lies" and using the "Nazi formula of repeating a deliberate lie."

Senator Ball (R-Minn) reiterated in a St. Paul speech that "I meant what I said" when he announced he was unable to campaign for Dewey at this time. Ball, an active advocate of international collaboration, said "Unfortunately we have not had" complete candor on this matter from the President and it thus "becomes even more incumbent on the opposition to draw the issues clearly and forcefully."

Hitting the political highspots otherwise:

A "Double the vote for Dewey Day" was set for Oct. 25 by women Republicans who plan a particularly intensive drive that day.

Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill) said in Chicago that "The Communist cause and the fourth term cause are one and the same thing."

Democratic National Chairman Hannegan, speaking in New York, declared that "The Republicans are interested—to put it mildly— in a small vote, the smallest possible."

Oscar R. Ewing, vice chairman under Hannegan, said at Lewiston, Me., that Gov. Dewey "has never been known as a man of deepseated convictions" and had "doffed and donned the cloak of inter-nationalism at his convenience and for his own purposes."

Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City told an audience at Metuchen, N. J., that "Republican senators ganged up on the late Woodrow Wilson and killed him" and "now they are abusing Roosevelt as they abused Wilson."

The Florida Independent Democratic party, whose presidential electors were denied a place on the state ballot, voted to support the G.O.P. ticket. A resolution said that Mr. Roosevelt and Senator Truman were nominated by "southhating bureaucrats."

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard set out from Washington for a Democratic speaking tour that will take him into Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Illinois Wisconsin, Minnesota and possibly Pennsylvania.

The Senate campaign expenditures committee sent out questionnaires on political activity to 168 organizations, ranging from national associations to such groups as one in Chicago named "Girls who

British Forces Land In Western Greece

Enter Port Of Patras And Seize Airfields In Move To Drive Out Germans.

London, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The Ankara radio said tonight that the Germans were evacuating the Greek capital of Athens and the Peleoponnesus penisula and were moving northward as rapidly as blown up bridges and road blocks would permit.

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Striking from the sea and air, British troops have landed in western Greece, entered the port of Patras and seized airfields from which RAF Spitfires already are operating in support of the effort to drive out or destroy German resistance.

The Allied command, announcing the invasion today, said landing forces had made contact with the enemy both in Greece and neighboring southern Albania, where other units went ashore ten days ago.

There appeared a strong possibility the operations might swiftly end German rule throughout the Balkans.

There was no immediate report on the extent of German resistance at Patras, Greece's third largest port, or elsewhere, but the Germans recently were said to have three divisions on the Greek mainland as well as other elements evacuated from Crete and the Aegean islands.

All these have been reported as ready to flee northward on a moment's notice to escape the jaws of a great trap closing in the whole Balkans with Russians advancing from the east and Allied forces with patriot support striking from the west.

The landing forces were believed to be of small size compared with the major invasions of Africa, Sicily, Italy and France.

In Albania the Allied forces were attempting to cut enemy communi-

Netherlands Man Brilliant Speaker

Dr. R. A. Schotman, Ph. D., of the Netherlands East Indies, who knows the Japs and their habits, will speak over the Greenville radio station tonight at 7:30. He will speak at the City Hall at 8:15 tonight. He thrilled a group of Greenville men at the Proctor Hotel at noon today with a dramatic and tragic recitation of what the Japs have done in the South Pacific. He is speaking here under the auspices of Sam E. Underwood, Pitt county chairman of the United War Fund Drive.

Dr. Schotman came to the United States in 1941 as a delegate to an international labor conference. While returning to the Netherlands East Indies his Pacific Clipper plane was attacked by Japanese and had to return to Honolulu. He is touring his country now as director of the Netherlands Relief Society, which participates in the United War Fund drive. Since leaving the Netherlands East Indies Dr. Schotman's wife died, one son was killed in battle with the Japs, another son and his son-in-law are in Japanese prison camps, and he does not know the whereabouts of his daughter or grandchildren.

Airmen Smash At Nazi Cities Today

By HENRY B. JAMESON

London, Oct. 5—(AP)—More than 1,000 U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators hit German targets at Cologne, Rheine, Handorf, Lippstadt, Paderborn and Munster in clearing weather today.

Two main forces, with strong fighter escort, attacked the choken rail terminals at Cologne and Rheine, while smaller formations raided airfields at the other places.

Rheine is an important western front rail junction just across the Dutch border northwest of Munster.

This big daylight operation, the eighth in ten days, followed another busy night of train-busting by RAF Mosquitos in Germany and Holland.

British heavy bombers also went to Germany in daylight, attacking industrial objectives at the big port of Wilhelmshaven through clouds. The RAF lost one bomber.

RAF Mosquitos kept the offensive going last night with a stab at 18 more trains in Germany and Holland. It was the 28th night out of the last 34 that Allied bombers had visited the Reich.

Pilots reported all 18 trains were stopped dead, bringing the Mosquitos' total of trains attacked to 134 on four consecutive nights.

British and American tactical units yesterday destroyed 414 freight cars, 47 locomotives and several bridges, and cut railroads behind German lines in 66 places.

Tells Of Fight

Naval Lieut. Randolph Dickins, Jr. (above), 23, at the naval hospital in Bethesda, Md., tells of being in a fight in a Washington hotel lobby September 23 with several men who described themselves as members of the Teamsters' union. Tanks And Infantry Gain More Than A Mile Today And Capture German Anchor Town Of Beggendorf; Major Tank Battle Reported Developing.

By JAMES M. LONG

London, Oct. 5—(AP)—American tanks and infantry advanced more than a mile through the shattered fixed defenses of the West Wall at Ubach today and captured the town of Beggendorf, which the Germans had attempted to turn into an anchor of a backstop line.

Widening their wedge, the Yanks also captured Kerkrade on the Dutch-German border. Kerkrade, on the south side of the wedge, is two miles southwest of Merkstein and five miles north of Aachen.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army scored the gains in a fiercely rising battle in which the Germans massed their biggest artillery concentrations of the western front. Three heavy armored counterthrusts were turned back and front line dispatches said a major tank battle was developing.

Beggendorf is more than a mile beyond Ubach and its capture placed the Americans astride the Aachen-Geilenkirchen road and within a mile and a half of the main north road out of Aachen, the highway to Gladbach. The town is three miles from the nearest point of the Dutch border and about four miles from the general line of the frontier.

An Associated Press dispatch from the sector said Allied tanks in numbers were now back of the original Siegfried Line and were churning out east and southeast on hardening ground to exploit an infantry breakthrough begun two days ago.

The tanks were coming up against earthworks hastily thrown up as a secondary defense, the dispatch said. The Germans were fighting from behind huge slag piles in this mining area, dubbed by the doughboys "Little Pittsburgh."

The Germans, with at least 55 pillboxes smashed in their main fortifications, were now trying to stop the American push with mobile guns instead of fixed batteries, it was said.

To the north, heavy fighting flared along the British Nijmegen-Arnhem corridor. Infantry attacked in several sectors, gaining a mile in an eastward advance and several miles in a northwesterly direction.

To the south the American Third Army of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, was engaged in a grim fight atop Fort Driant, a key stronghold southwest of Metz. Germans had holed up in the concrete fastnesses of an underground Labyrinth.

An AP correspondent on the Ubach front reported:

"Tanks, guns, infantry and supplies are pouring through the gap in the Siegfried Line to put mounting pressure on the enemy."

"Three thunderous serenades from every American gun in the area—from 75's to 240 mm. siege pieces—tore German defenses to pieces in preparation for a new attack just south of Ubach, the dispatch said, and so many dead Germans were

CASUALTY LIST IS ANNOUNCED

Losses To September 21 Above 400,000 Mark.

Washington, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson reported today that army casualties on all fronts were 351,293 September 21. The latest navy casualty figure of 65,792 brought the total for the armed services to 417,085.

The campaign in Italy, Stimson said, has cost 82,111 ground force casualties.

Stimson's overall army total was up 13,500 from his last report of two weeks ago for the period ended September 6. The 351,293 was divided as foloiws: 65,568 killed; 185,921 wounded; 45,488 missing and 51,316 prisoners. Two weeks ago the army total of 337,743 stood: 64,468 killed; 177,235 wounded; 47,315 missing and 48,725 prisoners.

Today On The Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 5—(AP)—There are three kinds of pensions for war veterans. Two are for disability due to military service. The third is for disability not connected with military service.

Group one: For those disabled in line of duty there is a pension based upon the degree of disability. This could be anything from a stiff wrist or bronchitis to loss of en eye or limb.

The degree of disability ranges from 10 per cent to 100 per cent (total disability). There is no pension for a disability rated lower than 10 per cent.

These pensions are paid at the rate of $1 per percentage point—starting at 10 per cent—plus 15 per cent.

For example: Tom Smith came out of the service with bronchitis. It it was chronic but mild, it might be rated a 10 per cent disability. He'd receive $10 monthly, plus 15 per cent, or $11.50.

If it was chronic but severe and was rated 30 per cent disability, he'd receive $30, plus 15 per cent, or a total monthly pension of $34.50.

The degree of disability is determined by a board of specialists within the Veterans' Administration which pays the pensions. The board consists of a doctor, lawyer and occupation expert.

If a veteran is discharged from service with a certificate of disability, the specialists' board generally does not examine him but takes the say-so of the Army or Navy doctors for his condition.

A man discharged as well and able, in the opinion of Army or Navy doctors, may file a claim for disability pension any time after his discharge if he thinks he has a just claim. He should start this procedure with the nearest regional office of the Veterans' Administration.

Group two: Veterans who have lost some part of the body—like an arm, leg, hand, eye—get a flat, fixed pension payment. And this is in addition to the pension paid for disability on a percentage basis as outlined in group one above.

For example: That flat pension payment to a man who has lost an eye, or leg or arm is $35 monthly.

Now suppose he lost a leg. If it was amputated at the hip, the specialists' board—under the disability pension program in group one—would count that a 90 per cent disability. So he'd receive $103.50 in disability pension $90 plus 15 per cent; and the flat $35 pension for loss of the leg.

But—in the case of more serious losses, that flat, fixed pension makes up the total pension payment and there is no payment for disability on a percentage basis.

Some of those fixed total payments are: for loss of both hands or both feet, or one hand and one foot, $165 monthly; for the loss of

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

We shouldn't allow the thunder of guns of war to drown the significance of General De Gaulle's declaration that the French government gradually will take over complete control of the country's economy.

"It shall be an organization of industry," says the general, "in which all who participate shall be considered associates. We no longer can permit the concentration of interests which in England and America are called trusts and which today do not meet the needs of social betterment."

While De Gaulle allows exact interpretation of his pronouncement to fall where it will, it's clear that he's signalling a great change in France to avoid, as he says, "the pre-war political, social and moral situation which took us to the brink of the abyss." It also would seem that this represents a marked swing to what is popularly known as the "left."

Some observers express the view that France is headed toward Communism. They believe they find additional support for this in De Gaulle's friendly relations with Moscow and the appointment of two Communists to his cabinet. Then there's the statement made recently by Jean Jurgensen, one of the directors of the powerful federation of French resistance groups known as the "Mouvement de la Liberation Nationale" which supports De Gaulle. Said Jurgensen:

"Our federation is Socalist, even tending toward Communism. We want nothing of the old government. It brought about the ruin of France."

Whatever may be the eventual landing place of the political arrow which the French leader has shot into the air, we shall do well to stick to the obvious rather than to speculate. The facts appear to be that France is swinging to the "left" and that Communism is exercising considerable influence on the trend.

As for General De Gaulle, it should be noted that he never has announced communistic leanings, and if France is moving toward that ism he may be subject to the trend rather than its author. Indeed, he may have entirely different ideas for the ultimate form of government.

We must await developments before jumping to the conclusion that France is headed for Communism in her leftward swing. The country is agricultural and the vast majority of its people are traditionally conservative. I should say that the outcome depends on how great an influence can be exercised by the powerful and well-organized Communist minority in the great industrial centers like Paris. We've seen numerous cases where strongly coordinated minorities have controlled big majorities—but it doesn't necessarily follow that this will happen in France.

Be that as may, if we are to keep abreast of fast moving events in Europe we must recognize that what's going on in France is symptomatic of what's boiling up in many other parts of the continent. There's a definite swing to the left, and in all instances Communism is

Will Appear On 'We The People'

Bowman Field Army Air Base, Louisville, Kentucky — Lieutenant Bernie M. Sullivan of Greenville, North Carolina, first Flight Nurse home from the China-Burma-India fighting front, will be the guest of "We the People" at 9:30 CWT, October 8, 1944, over CBS WHAS.

Paulette Goddard, who met Lieutenant Sullivan while she was evacuating patients in Burma, will appear on the same program Sunday night.

Lt. Sullivan, a former stewardess for the American Airlines, served overseas in the C-B-I combat theater for almost a year after leaving the School of Air Evacuation at Bowman Field, Kentucky, in May, 1943. She helped evacuate sick and wounded soldiers of the United Nations in C-47 transports and L-5 Liaison planes. She is now stationed at Bowman Field awaiting re assignment.

Lt. Sullivan made approximately sixty combat missions over enemy territory, evacuating Americans, Australians, British, Chinese and Indian Gurkhas from air-strips in the heart of Burma.

Lt. Sullivan is the wearer of a presidential citation and two campaign stars.

'Pete' Murphy Gets Warm Welcome

Walter (Pete) Murphy, of Salisbury, veteran of 18 sessions of the North Carolina legislature, trustee of the Greater University of North Carolina, and one of the state's most useful citizens, spent yesterday and today in Greenville hobnobbing with old friends and swapping reminiscences. He was on his way to Tarboro to visit "Cousin Willie" Clark and Don Gilliam and other friends.

The Rowan county legislator has had a colorful career. He has served longer in the State legislature than any other living man. He is still active and alert and always planning "something good" for the state. While here he was the center of attention. His ready knowledge of North Carolina history provides interesting conversation.

USO NOTES AND NOTICES

The popular Ninth Wing Band, from Cherry Point, will play for the dance scheduled for tomorrow night, Friday, at the USO Club. This dance will be informal, with 8:30 to 12 as the hours for dancing. A formal dance is on the club calendar for Saturday night, Oct. 21.

Dick Fenn, violinist from Danville, Va., and Washington, N. C., received a warm response from his audience at the club Sunday night, when he played at the regular Sunday evening radio program hour, accompanied by Miss Etheridge of the college faculty. After the broadcast, he played a number of "request numbers" during the community sing hour that follows the radio program each Sunday night.

A most enjoyable "surprise party" was provided for the club on Sunday night when someone came in bringing a huge cake, the gift of one of the "cooks" out at the local field. Needless to add, a very good time "was had by all" who were present for the cutting of this delicious cake, following the Sunday evening radio program and sing, and someone was heard to remark that if this cake was a sample of Marine Corps cooking, here was yet another illustration of a "situation well in hand."

Women IN THE CHURCH
by Mary Fowler

Cooperating with the churches, schools, newspapers, service clubs, parent-teachers associations, and women's clubs, the St. Petersburg (Florida) Council of Church Women is sponsoring an annual city-wide observance of Family Week. A Christian woman of recognized ability and leadership in the field meets with parents, young people, ministers, teachers of various are groups and counsels with them in an attempt to interpret one group to the other. During this week foundations are laid for continued effort thruout the year. Mrs. L. T. Sims is president of the St. Petersburg Council.

The Women's Missionary Federation of the American Lutheran Church has announced its 1944 convention for November 8-10 at the Morrison Hotel, Chicago. The meeting will be "somewhat streamlined, with evangelization as the focal point for discussion." Among the speakers will be Rev. Theodore Fricke, recently appointed secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, who, accompanying Dr. Frank Laubach in his South American literacy campaign, has completed a visitation of some months' duration in Latin American countries.

Fourteen nuns, Franciscan Missionaries of Mary, will leave the United States shortly to begin missionary service in Australia. Most of the nuns are young volunteers, but one of them, Sister Angelina, is 60 years of age, has been for eight years a missionary in a leper colony in Japan (returning last year on the Gripsholm), and 30 years a missionary in China. Six nuns will take charge of a leper colony on Phantom Island, off northeastern Australia. The colony, supported by the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, has eighty lepers. The other eight nuns will found, near Brisbane, a novitiate for the training of sisters for the Franciscan Missionaries of Mary.

"There mere attainment of peace does not suffice," says Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, first lady of China. "To ensure that it will be lasting, to achieve in perpetuity the Christian ideal of peace on earth, we must have valiant leadership and the concerted consecration to that ideal of all peace-loving men and women. To take that leadership, regardless of cost, is the privilege and duty of the Christian Church, for that is the road pointing to the Cross. May all freedom loving people close their ranks with the Christian church, braving all difficulties and dangers."

Novel Program For Meeting Kiwanians

At the Kiwanis Club's supper meeting at Proctor Hotel Friday evening at 6:30 Regan Jones will be program chairman. Floyd P. Hendrix, county farm agent, will present Sam Weeks, assistant farm agent, who will make an illustrated talk on tobacco wilt and the effective work being done to eliminate this tobacco disease. Work of the department has already been worth three-quarters of a million dollars to Pitt County farmers, it is understood.

D. J. Whichard, Jr., owner and editor of the Daily Reflector, will speak briefly on "National Newspaper Week."

"The" quartet, composed of Bill Lee, the "Irrev," "Tige" Gardner, James Ray Pittman and Aubrey Tilley will sing some of the Kiwanis minstrel songs.

SCORE GAIN ON ITALIAN FRONT

Fifth Army Pushes Ahead Despite Resistance.

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

Rome, Oct. 5—(AP)—U. S. Fifth Army troops drove a mile forward against violent fire from reinforced and hastily entrenched Germans yesterday on the bitterly contested road to Bologna to within 14 miles of that great communications center.

The Doughboys seized a ridge just north of La Selve, five miles east of Highway 65 at Loiano.

The Americans gained new positions just short of Monte Morosino on the Imola road, three miles north of Castel Del Rio. On their left flank, where the Germans poured in all types of artillery fire, they took the town of Cuviola and Quinzano, east of Loiano, after forcing their way against stiff resistance several hundred yards north of Lagune, which overlooks a secondary road to Bologna.

To the east, the British Eighth Army advanced to two miles northeast of Castagno, and South African units entered Lagargo. Other South Africans drove to positions on the east slopes of Monte Vigese, 3,500-foot peak which offers a clear field of fire against Highway 64 leading from Pistoia to Bologna.

In the Adriatic sector Eighth Army positions along the swollen Fiumicino River remained substantially unchanged. Indian units took San Donato.

While strong forces of escorted heavy bombers blasted railyards in Munich and rail communications in northern Italy yesterday, mediums attacked rail bridges in the Po Valley. Light craft bombed and strafed troop concentrations, supply dumps and communications lines in and north of the battle area.

From these and other operations in the Balkans 21 Allied planes failed to return, including 13 heavy bombers.

Claim Shortage of Margarine.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Margarine manufacturers, reporting heavy demands for their product from consumers unable to buy butter, predict a shortage of the butter substitute.

Dr. Harry A. Ruehe, executive secretary of the American butter institute, said the butter supply is "very, very short," and added there was little chance of improvement until late November or early December.

Strength FOR THE DAY

BY EARL L. DOUGLAS

A NEW WORLD OR NONE AT ALL

Writing in 1850, Thomas Carlyle spoke of the days through which he was passing as being of endless calamity, disruption, dislocation, confusion, and utter despair. Universal ruin, he declared, either in action or in prospect was certain. "There must be a new world," he wrote, "if there is to be any world at all. These days of universal death must be days of universal rebirth, if ruin is not to be total and final."

The confusion of the world in 1850, of course, was not to be compared with the confusion of the world today. Many wise men, as they stood in the midst of their generation, have pronounced the world to be on the verge of ruin. Yet that catastrophe has never happened. Somehow or other humanity has always managed to pull itself out of the morass and continue on its pilgrimage toward better things.

But Carlyle had the right idea when he maintained that there must be a new world if there is to be any world at all, and that the days of universal death must be days of universal rebirth, if ruin is not to be total and final. If, after this war ends, we were to stop right where we are, humanity would in all probability plunge over the precipice. We must establish the life of mankind on a firm and wholesome basis, if we are to avoid worse days than those through which we have already passed.

AMERICA IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

(Third Of Four Articles On Presidential Press Conference.)

Washington — War has changed presidential news conferences some, but there's very little change in conference mechanics. Attendance today ranges from 80 to 100 or more, depending on how strongly news noses smell the prospects of an important story.

The President holds his conferences on Tuesdays at four and Fridays at ten. These hours were selected to divide the news evenly between morning and afternoon newspapers. About twenty minutes before conference time, the reporters start drifting into the White House grounds and making their way toward the west or executive wing.

William J. Donaldson, Jr., superintendent of the House press gallery, who probably knows the faces of more newspaper men and women in Washington than any other person (he doesn't bother with names, calling everybody "Raskob" but don't let that fool you into trying to sneak by him) invariably is chief greeter. He's flanked by White House policemen and Secret Service guards.

Once inside the reporters drift around the lobby, piling hats and coats (in winter) on the great cracked mahogany table that dominates the anteroom. Minutes before conference time, they start crowding up at the door that leads through a little corridor-like room to the President's office. By conference time, the line looks like Saturday night at a sell-out movie. The President almost invariably is late.

The door opens and the line moves through and spreads out against the rope that spreads from the President's gadget-laden desk to the walls. The rush is to get next to that rope because except for press association men and a few "specials" who are White House regulars, it's first come, first served.

In a ring behind the president are the Secret Service guards. As the first comers arrive, the President, lolling back in his big leather chair, in shirt-sleeves in summer and invariably puffing away on his long cigaret holder, starts a private chat, frequently filled with wise cracks and often demonstrating an amazing knowledge of trivialities that have been press corps talk but not news.

With the cry from the rear, "All in," the conference opens. The President states or reads what he has to say. After that come questions and answers. It's hard to imagine anything as informal as that between the chief executive of a great nation and a group of reporters as these conferences. On most occasions it's very apparent that the President enjoys it.

Whenever there's a lull in the news conference or possibly when by prearrangement, the President wishes to cut it off, there's a cry of "Thank you, Mr. President."

The doors swing open and the rush for telephones and typewriters begin. The regular semi-weekly press conference is over for the day.

Stimson said that 84,379 of the army wounded have returned to duty.

The separate report on Italian campaign casualties did not include air force personnel losses. It showed 15,889 killed, 56,178 wounded and 10,044 missing as of Sept. 25.

The last previous Italian casualty report, covering the fighting thru August 7, had listed 91,823, but this included air operations as well as ground action.

British parachute troops struck the first blow in Greece. Then quickly seized an airfield on the Peloponnesus from which Spitfires were operating before the landings from the sea began. Air transport planes carried in other troops. By Tuesday night the invaders were entering Patria, a city of 61,000 on the northern shore of the Peloponnesus 112 miles west of Athens.

The parachute troops and seaborne units were given a joyful welcome by the Greek natives who in more than two years of stern German rule have suffered severely from food shortages.

The Allies already have promised essential foods and medical supplies to the country, which for six months in 1940-41 fought an attacking Italian army to a standstill.

Lending support to the invaders, Mustangs from the U. S. 15th air force swarmed over the Kalamaki, Tatoi and Elevisis airdromes in the Athens area, destroying several grounded enemy planes but meeting no air opposition.

Other warplanes blasted enemy lines of communication through Yugoslavia, on which the Germans must pin their last hope of getting their Balkan garrisons back to the Fatherland.

"The first arrival on the mainland of Greece of our force, which included British land forces and units of a Royal Air Force regiment, met with a wildly enthusiastic welcome from the inhabitants," an official report declared.

The communique said the invading forces now were in contact with the enemy both in Greece and Albania. Landing of Allied forces in Albania was announced some days ago.

Patriot groups were said to be cooperating closely with Allied forces in both countries.

Patras, the only area of invasion given in the first announcement, lies approximately 112 miles due west of Athens near the entrance to the Gulf of Corinth. It is on the north shore of the Peloponnesus.

The invasion returned British troops to the Greek mainland for the first time since 1941, when an ill-fated expeditionary force was forced to flee before the then all-powerful German army.

it. The Germans shot them all.

A second group formed another layer on top of the first—and were shot. When there were six or seven layers of dead, gasoline was poured over all of them and a torch was applied.

This is what the people told us—and then we went up to see.

In a little green field about 75 feet from the road and a half mile from the camp a mass of charred corpses were about half burned. dred pounds of ashes. Most of the corpses were about holf burned. There were men, women and children. I saw the bodies of at least three girls who must have been under 16. In the backs of their heads you could see what looked like bullet holes.

Off to the side was a stack of logs and nearby great pile of clothing, most of which bore the stencilled Star of David and prisoners' numbers. In another pile were shoes, and children's shoes were numerous among them.

In one place was a completely burned building. An escaped prisoner said this was where the Germans drove a large number of men and women, locked the doors, set fire to the building and burned them alive.

In another place a dozen or so bodies lay sprawled behind a barbed wire enclosure. These, an inmate said, were shot or beaten to death.

Those who escaped said they were free because of the haste of the Nazis.

Many of those who worked here had relatives in the United States.

Plan For Italy Being Studied

By FLORA LEWIS

Washington, Oct. 5—(AP)—Plans are now before President Roosevelt, it was learned today, to change over from a militray to a civilian basis the Allied control of Italy at the same time that increasing power is returned to the Italian government.

The plans, which include sending home Italian war prisoners still held by the Allies, are points 4 and 5 in a series of recommendations, already partially carried out, which were listed by the President in a statement yesterday.

The first three basic Italian needs, which the President took measures to alleviate, were named as food, transportation and electric power.

The next step, which is expected to be taken promptly, is to replace military officials by civilians. It is perhaps here that Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York City fits into the revamped Italian picture, although high official sources insist that no decision has yet been made on precisely when La Guardia will go to Italy and what his job will be when and if he gets there.

As civilians step in one by one to take over jobs now being held by Allied army officers, the plan is to turn administration of government departments back to the Italians one by one. First on the list may be control over schools.

Mammoth Cross Of Flowers

Los Angeles, Oct. 5 — (AP)—The floral cross on Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson's marble sarcophagus in Forest Lawn Memorial Park will be, her followers say, the largest ever constructed here.

Two carloads of flowers, most of them white, will form a cross 250 feet wide and 600 feet long at burial services next Monday. Hher body will lie in state at her church, Angelus Temple, tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

She died Sept. 27 in Oakland, Calif.

OPINIONS BY ATTY GENERAL

Rulings Deal With Drunken Driving And Other Subjects.

Raleigh, Oct. 5—(AP)—In a digest of opinions handed down today, the Attorney General's office ruled that in a county to which the state primary law is applicable, the executive committee of a political party may not name a nominee for a county office and have his name placed on the general election ticket. Such a nominee must be selected by the voters in a primary.

Other rulings:

When a defendant is tried for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, is convicted, and appeals, the Department of Motor Vehicles may (if from its records or other satisfactory evidence, it is shown that the defendant operated a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants) suspend the operator's license pending the appeal. The defendant, however, may apply to the Department of Motor Vehicles for a hearing on the matter and the department may rescind its order, extend the suspension if the facts so warrant, or revoke the license.

Any person who operates a motor vehicle upon the highways of the state after his driver's license has been revoked is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction he may be imprisoned for six months and fined not more than five hundred dollars.

While the statutes authorize County A.B.C. Boards to expend not less than five per cent and not more than 10 per cent of the total profits for law enforcement purposes, the County A.B.C. Boards have no authority to expend any part of all of this sum to employ a teacher for the purpose of putting into effect an educational program on alcoholism.

It is not a violation of any North Carolina statute for a person to possess in a dry county two pints of liquor on which the State tax has not been paid so long as the Federal tax has been paid and so long as the liquor is not possessed for the purpose of sale.

The statutes of North Carolina make it a criminal offense for a person to carry a concealed weapon off of his own premises and a person carrying such a concealed weapon in the hallway of an apartment house in which he has an apartment is carrying the weapon off of his premises.

While a justice of the peace is authorized to take the acknowledgement of a deed or other instrument which is to be recorded in another county, before such instrument can be recorded in such other county it must have attached thereto a certificate of the clerk of the Superior Court of the justice's county stating that the justice was, at the time of taking the acknowledgement, an active justice of his county and that the justice's signature is genuine.

When a vacancy occurs in the office of coroner, it is to be filled by the action of the County Commissioners and their appointee serves for the unexpired term and not just until the next general election in the county.

A duly licensed osteopath is a "licensed physician" as that term is used in the marriage laws and, therefore, the Register of Deeds may issue a marriage license upon the certificate of such osteopath that an examination discloses that the parties of the proposed marriage have no venereal disease in the infectious or communicable stage.

The positions of town commissioner and member of the County Board of Health are both offices within the meaning of the provision of the North Carolina Constitution prohibiting double office holding; therefore, one person may not hold both at once.

A total of 13 towns and railway stations fell to this Russian thrust, including Bor, center of the second largest copper deposit in Europe.

The Soviet communique announced only patrol activity on other sectors of the eastern front.

London, Oct. 5 — (AP)—Russian troops in Lithuania have mounted an all-out offensive west of Siauliai, Col. Ernst Von Hammer, the German News Agency's military commentator, said today in a broadcast.

The German report said 12 to 14 Russian divisions attacked in the Siauliai area, 80 miles northeast of the East Prussian city of Tilsit, with the help of four tank corps. A drumfire artillery barrage of guns "of the heaviest caliber" preceded the drive.

The enemy said the offensive was on a broad front. One of its purposes might be to cut off the Riga garrison to the north. Successful Russian operations also would prepare a northern descent into East Prussia, along whose eastern frontier other Russians have been drawn up for many weeks.

The Germans announced earlier that seven Russian divisions of perhaps 100,000 men had invaded the big Estonian island of Saare (Osel) at the mouth of the Gulf of Riga during the morning. Possession of the 1,010 square mile land mass would block any seaward escape of Germans besieged in the great Latvian seaport of Riga, and permit the Russian fleet to burst into the Baltic Sea.

We see this in eastern Europe, in the Balkans, in Italy, and in Spain which is being urged by the Moscow radio to overthrow Generalissimo Franco and re-establish the pre-civil war republic which was heavily Communistic. Even in Germany there's an underground Communist organization which has survived all the Gestapo efforts to exterminate it. And as this article is being written there comes to my desk a Stockholm dispatch saying the belief is expressed there that Finland eventually must form a government with stronger leftist tendencies if she hopes to live in harmony with Russia.

This is a developing situation. It will thrust itself into world affairs as we come to the end of the European war.

Group three: There is a flat $50 monthly pension for a veteran disabled after military discharge by a cause not connected with military service. But there are rigid conditions attached to this pension.

To get it the veteran must: be permanently and totally disabled; have an annual income, if not married, not exceeding $1,000 or, if married, not exceeding $2,500; have had at least 90 days' military service or been discharged for disability if he served less than 90 days. And he can't get the pension if the disability resulted from misconduct.

All these pensions are free of state and federal taxes.

Chapter 17

For a long minute Susan stared at Thorny then sat down weakly on the nearest chair.

Thorny said. "Kind of gives you a queer feelin', don't it, thinkin' of the Scarbroughs as broke. All my life I've felt like the Scarbroughs had a sort of half interest with God." He chuckled and added, "or the devil."

"But I can't understand. How could they have lost so much?"

"Don't reckon it was so hard. Old Scarbrough probably took a real loss in abandoning this factory. No one ever thought about it, they were too busy thinking about the town's finding jobs. Then from what Julie said, he never had much heart for makin' money after that. And money isn't a thing that stands idleness. Either it's makin' or it's meltin' away. Julie married money too, but I guess the Nazis got most of that fortune."

Susan searched for words: "I can't see Julie Scarbrough without a background of wealth—beauty—"

"Neither can I," Thorny groaned. "And she's just stubborn enough to get herself right to that place too."

"Stubborn or magnificent," Susan murmured. "Somehow it makes you know more than anything else that everything she told us was true Thorny, we've got to prove it to this town. We've got to!"

Thorny groaned again.

That night Susan talked the whole thing over with Erich as they sat on the overturned boat in the shadow of the boathouse watching a full yellow moon climb to the top of the fir trees.

Erich was fully aware of the state of their finances, and as undisturbed over it as Julie.

"It's Julie's money," was his argument. "This is what she wanted to do with it. If she loses it in the experiment, well then—", he shrugged. "She loses it."

Susan, watching his calm, untroubled face, had never loved him more. "Speaking of balance—" she murmured. "You have something mighty close to it it seems to me."

Erich held her close for a minute. "It's like my paint," he said. "When I got the idea of it, I suppose you could have called it a whim. It was something I had to do. Now I'm working at it I'm happy. If I fail I'll be sorry, but I'll know I did all I could. That's the way with Julie and Midvale. When I figured it out that way, I could understand it."

"And if she loses everything?"

"She'll still be happy. She'll manage to live graciously in a small cottage with a few prized possessions and plenty of flowers."

"But we'll keep working, fighting—"

"We'll keep fighting all right!"

Susan drew a long breath, smiled up at him. "It's a wonderful thing, not to be afraid!"

They talked of the progress in the factory, of Erich's exacting work on some last experments with his paint process. He was enthusiastic. Because of the emergency, he'd sent it to the Navy Department before he'd made all the tests he'd wanted. But the tests were coming out more than all right. He tried to explain the unique properties of his formula. He leaned forward and found a twig to draw a rough outline for her in the white sand on the beach.

"It's all in its action on the metal to be painted. It will eat into it making it slightly porous like this—allowing the paint to become absorbed in this layer rather than adhere to the surface as ordinary paints do."

The twig flicked aside a cigarette butt.

"That's funny," Susan murmured.

Erich sent her a reproachful look. "Funny!" he echoed, indignantly. "That's a swell way to talk about my paint."

"I mean the cigarette butt," said Susan. "It has a little hole in it, see? And that one over there does too."

Erich picked up the butt and looked at the small pin-like holes. Then he picked up the other one. "That is funny," he agreed.

His grin died. He said soberly: "I see what you're driving at. Someone's been coming around here."

"Which means," Susan said heavily, "we'll have to stop meeting. Any more scandal about us would certainly kill any chances for the factory."

Erich got down on his knees and searched around on the sand. He found three more of the short stubs. "Let's take them up to the house and have a look at them," he said. "I'd like to know who has the gall to come spying around."

Julie, beside a small but cozy fire in the library, smiled up from her needlepoint. Erich spread the cigarette stubs out beneath the strong desk light and examined them with the end of a pencil, while Susan explained their suspicions of a spy.

Erich was shaking his head as Susan finished. "No brand left. Don't see how they could have smoked them all so short unless whoever did it stuck pins in them and smoked them that way. There were holes in every one."

As he stooped to toss the butts into the blaze, Julie caught his arm. "What did you say about holes?" she said.

Erich opened his hand again pointing them out. Julie prodded the butts with her needle. There was a faint, puzzled frown of effort on her smooth brow. "Odd," she murmured. "I seem to remember—" Then she smiled at Erich and Susan, relieved. "But of course, I did know a man who used to smoke cigarettes to the very end like that by sticking a toothpick in them. It used to intrigue me."

Erich and Susan cried almost together. "Who was it?"

Julie thoughtfully went on with her sewing. "I don't remember his name," she said. "But he was father's night watchman at the factory."

Rioting Negroes Get Long Prison Terms

Alexandria, La., Oct. 5—(AP)—Three more negro soldiers were convicted today, making a total of 13 convictions in 14 trials in connection with the August 16 riot at Camp Claiborne, Brig. Gen. Louis F. Guerre, commanding general, announced. Pvt. Willie Gale, 29, Porters, Tex.; Pvt. Albert Young, 26, Newport News, Va., and Pvt. William Woodson, 23, Cincinnati, O. were sentenced to 25 years at hard labor for wilful disobedience of superior officers and for illegally carrying rifles and ammunition.

Today's trials completed the courts martial of the negroes involved in the August riot. The death penalty was given Pvt. Leroy McGary, 24, Chicago, and seven received life imprisonment, two received 30 years, three were sentenced to 25 years, one to nine years and one was acquitted.

Other soldiers who participated in the riot were tried by lower courts for minor offenses, the army announcement said.

Fire Last Night At Elizabeth City

Elizabeth City, Oct. 5 — (AP)— Fire originating in the dressing room for waitresses in the Fort Raleigh Grill last night about eight o'clock raged for two hours before it was brought under control, destroying the restaurant and three other business places in the same building. Total loss is estimated at $40,000.

When discovered the fire had already eaten deeply into the roof of the building, and major efforts of the fire department were directed toward confining it. An adjoining moving picture theatre and a large department store were untouched. The theatre audience found a better show outside before firemen came to evacuate the building. Lights in the city were cut off for four hours as a precautionary measure.

War Secretary Sees Long, Hard Fighting

Washington, Oct. 5—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson foresees much hard fighting yet" in Europe.

"Although his capacity to do it seemed doubtful at one time, the enemy has been able to form a continuous defensive line along his borders," Stimson told a news conference. "He has been sufficiently successful in raising additional recruits and rehabilitating the withdrawing armies to have strength for initial defense of the west wall. The resistance has been vigorous and German organization and discipline have thus far held firm.

Baby Is Stolen From Hospital

Meridan, Miss., Oct. 5 — (AP)— The young wife of an Army sergeant pleaded today from her hospital bed for the safe return of her two-day-old son who disappeared from the infirmary nursery.

"I don't know why anyone would want to take my baby away," said 22-ear-old Mrs. Bill R. Laws, whose husband is stationed at Gainesville, Fla.

"I will give anyone who can return my precious baby to me anything in the world I have."

Police Chief C. C. Currie said the infant, born Tuesday, was discovered missing early Wednesday when a nurse went to take him to the mother.

Search centered today on an unidentified middle-aged woman who was reported to have visited the hospital Tuesday night carrying a baby blue blanket. Currie said another patient told of being visited by the mysterious woman and quoted her as expressing a love for babies and describing the Laws' child as "the most precious baby she had ever seen."

Sailor Murdered; Girl Is Attacked

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Eugene Hoard, 18, fireman second class USN, of Centerville, S. D., stationed here, was clubbed to death last night and his 15-year-old fiancee, Katherine Hatton, was beaten unconscious and criminally assaulted, Detective Leon Nowitzky, said today.

Hoard and the girl were reported attacked by two Negroes at the south end of Memorial Park golf course. Police found a piece of stick covered with blood, a navy man's coat and some girls' clothing at the place.

Nowitzky said the girl regained consciousness about two hours later and wandered to the nearest house where she failed to awaken residents. She then returned to her home nearby.

Hoard's body with the skull fractured was found in a ditch near the eighth fairway. The girl, her face lacerated and her eyes nearly closed from the blows she had received, was taken to a hospital.

Al Smith Funeral Saturday Morning

New York, Oct. 5—(AP)—The body of Alfred E. Smith will lie in state at St. Patrick's cathedral from 2 p. m. tomorrow until funeral services at 11 a. m. Saturday.

The 70-year-old "Happy Warrior"—four times governor of New York state and Democratic presidential nominee in 1928—who died yesterday of lung congestion and acute heart disease, will be buried in the family plot at Queens Calvary cemetery.

The Most Rev. J. Francis A. McIntyre, auxiliary bishop of New York will celebrate the solemn pontifical mass of requiem. There will be no honorary pallbearers. The family requested no flowers be sent.

Governor Dewey ordered all state flags flown at half staff for 30 days.

University Man Honored.

New York, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Dr. Milton J. Rosneau, world renowned authority in public health work and at present dean of the School of Public Health at the University of North Carolina, last night was elected president of the American Health Association.

Corn Crop Damaged

Raleigh, Oct. 5—(AP)—Crops were the chief sufferer in the mid-September hurricane which struck the North Carolina coast according to J. J. Morgan, crop specialist. He said that the 100,000-acre corn belt in Tyrrell, Chowan, perquimans, Pasquotank, Camden and Currituck counties was badly damaged.

Religious Cult To Appeal High Court

Salt Lake City, Oct. 5—(AP)—An appeal "clear up to the United States Supreme Court" was forecast today if 31 members of the "Fundamentalist" cult are convicted of conspiring to preach and practice polygamy.

Only instructions to the eight male jurors—set for this afternoon—and summation by attorneys remained to complete their district court trial. The case is expected to go to the jury tomorrow.

"If these people are convicted we'll take it clear up to the United States Supreme Court if necessary," said defense attorney J. H. McKnight.

Less Bovine Tuberculosis.

Raleigh, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Only 95 cattle out of a total of 87,792 inspected in North Carolina in the last two years have shown signs of bovine tuberculosis, according to Dr. William Moore, state veterinarian. He said, however, that this was the largest number of reactions found in any two-year period in the last 15 years.

Fighting Along Spanish Border

London, Oct. 5—(AP)—The De Gaulle sponsored Toulouse radio said early today that guerilla fighting has broken out in northern Spain and that the French-Spanish frontier at Andorra had been closed by Spanish authorities.

The broadcast, heard in London by the Ministry of Information, did not elaborate on the factions engaged in the fighting.

Meanwhile the Madrid radio quoted the Falangist newspaper Arriba as declaring that Spain could "not look with indifference" on the political situation in southern France, where it said "a minefield of politics" developed after the area's liberation from German occupation.

WILSON'S WEEKLY BULLETIN
By George Rector
Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

PLAN A LUNCH THAT PACKS A PUNCH

Planning the daily lunch—for Dad or the kiddies—is an important Victory job for you, Mother. Be sure to pack interest as well as health into those boxes this year—more than you ever did before. An adequate lunch, if exciting enough to be eaten, makes those youngsters of yours more alert—less likely to be absent from school due to sickness.

An Adequate Lunch Insures Better Work

Now I'm not an advocate of overeating. Far from it, for it is a proven fact that excess eating resulting in overweight has a tendency to shorten life. But I do want to remind you that nutritionists believe that when a person is working is the time that nutrients from food should be available. This means that lunch should furnish at least one-third of the day's food requirements if you want to work efficiently and without tiring.

LUNCH MENU VARIES WITH NEED

Use this lunch box pattern as a guide, varying it to suit the nutritional needs of each person:

One or more Protein Sandwiches
Fruit or Vegetable Salad
An Uncooked Fruit or Vegetable
(carrot sticks, cabbage wedge, apple)
Hot Soup or Beverage
Milk
A Sweet if desired

One sandwich may be enough for the office worker or high school girl. If so, extra attention should be given to getting more protein in other ways into her lunch. It's the protein in the meal that prevents that mid-meal slump so be sure to have at least one-third of the day's protein requirement in the lunch box. A Clear Brook Egg, deviled; a couple of cubes of Certified American Cheese; cream soup; meat; and milk are all excellent protein foods that will improve the quality of the diet.

VARIETY ADDS INTEREST

To add zest to the lunch box, vary the fillings used in making sandwiches. MOR makes a delicious sandwich, either sliced as shown in the photograph or ground and mixed with mayonnaise, pickle and celery for a Mor Salad sandwich. Egg salad makes a tasty protein sandwich too. Add a little grated onion and Certified Bacon, fried crisp and chopped, for extra flavor, along with celery and mayonnaise if you want requests for a repeat appearance.

Timely Suggestions

If you can't carry two thermos bottles, try to arrange to get either milk or a hot soup from a nearby canteen.

Wilson's Certified Frankfurters and potato salad are as good for a lunch box as for a picnic basket.

Slices of pickled beets in B-V jars add color as well as zip.

Most of all, don't forget that lunch is as important as any other meal of the day and hence deserves as much time and thought in its preparation as dinner—so don't just toss the lunch together from leftovers. Plan for it as you do your other meals, at least a day ahead—a week ahead is better still.

Sincerely yours,
George Rector

Candidate To Kiss Women Of District

Baltimore, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Ensign John W. Benson launched his campaign for election to congress today with an offer "to personally kiss every lady in the third congressional district who desires to accept."

And for the men, he promised "an attractive young lady who has volunteered to kiss every male voter in the districts—Democrat, Republicans and Independents."

Benson, who won the Republican nomination from his district while serving in the Mediterranean in the U. S. maritime service, said he couldn't match spaghetti dinners given by his Democratic opponent, Rep. Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr.

Polish Commander German Prisoner

London, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Tadeusz Komorowski (Bor) newly appointed commander in chief of Polish military forces, was captured in the battle of Warsaw, the Polish government in exile announced tonight.

A Polish government spokesman declared that the capture of Gen. Komorowsk gave the "lie" to the rival, Soviet-sponsored Polish National Commitee of Liberation, which asserted that the general stayed away from the ravaged capital after ordering the futile uprising.

Berlin announced earlier that Komorowski and his entire staff had been taken prisoner.

PHANTOMS TO PLAY KINSTON

Game At Guy Smith Stadium At Eight O'Clock Tomorrow Night.

The hard-hitting Phantoms of Greenville High School will be trying for their second victory of the season when they tangle with Kinston Red Devils Friday night in Guy Smith stadium.

In attempting to break a two-year jinx held by the Red Devils, Coach Snag Clark's men will have to muscle down and fight. The Phantoms will be out to avenge a disputed 7-6 defeat suffered in their last game with the Devils in 1941.

Kinston has had excellent teams in the past and this year is no exception. They have defeated Goldsboro and New Bern, 9-3 and 6-0, respectively. Their only defeat was at the hands of the Wilson eleven, reputedly one of the strongest in the state.

Due to the postponement of the Elizabeth City game, the Phantoms have had two straight weeks of practice for this contest. The men have been working hard on their old plays as well as on some new trick and pass plays which Coach Clark has put in.

Only one of the players, Lewis Lawrence, is on the injured list, and the team should be at full striking force at kickoff time.

The probable starting lineup will be: at ends, Fleming and Batchelor; at tackles, Lupton and Rice; at guards, Dail and Clark, and at center, Williams. In the backfield it will be Leggett at wingback, Jordan at blocking back, Futrelle at fullback and Perkins at tailback.

Greenville People Busy On Homefront

The chairmen of the various committees of the United War Fund drive in Greenville township at a supper meeting at the Proctor Hotel last night completed arrangements for the drive on Monday, October 16, to solicit $21,000. Township Chairman Joe Taft presided and was host at the supper. It was pointed out that the fund provides money for giving relief to American servicemen who are prisoners of the Axis, for the local USO, the Greenville Community Chset and other war relief agencies.

Following is the list of committee chairmen: John G. Clark, special gifts; Godfrey Oakley, business employes; Mrs. Mary Lloyd, general solicitation; Wyatt Highsmith, Greenville township rural area; Willard T. Kyzer, solicitation of national firms; Dr. H. G. Haney, speakers, Dr. R. J. Slay, college, and A. C. Ruffin of the Ficklen Tobacco Company, factory and warehouse solicitation.

Dr. J. A. Battle is chairman of the Negroes War Fund drive in Greenville township and is doing good work, Chairman Taft said last night.

Highway Improvements Needed

Charlotte, Oct. 5—(AP)—An expenditure of $175,370,000 is needed on the North Carolina highway system to make it adequately serve the present and anticipated needs of traffic in the state, W. Vance Baise of Raleigh, state highway engineer, told members of the Carolina Motor Club in annual meeting here Wednesday.

Cage Contests At The Armory

The opening basketball games at the armory got off to a wild start Tuesday night with the 913 Port men coming through in the second half to whip the 914 Port Officers 31 to 23.

In the second game, the 914 men showed plenty of class in defeating the 913 Port officers 53 to 44. The floor was slippery and caused quite a scramble.

McNeil and Skingley starred for the enlisted men in the first game—while Pierce appeared to be the anchor for the officers.

The second game produced some hot shots in Ferrani and Angle for the Enlisted men and Kapowich and Redlin for the Officers, the latter two were high for the night with 16 points each.

We again invite the public to all games. Admission is free.

Americans . . .

found that the bodies formed an obstacle to the infantry when it went forward.

The center of enemy resistance was a hill just east of Herbach and south of captured Ubach. The Americans stormed the height, knocking out three mutually supporting pillboxes and forcing a fourth to raise the white flag.

The Germans, whose broadcasts admitted that the wedge had been widened, turned a record number of guns into the corridor and rushed up men from pillboxes to the north and south in an effort to shore sagging defenses.

Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's main attack eastward was launched on a six-mile front from south of Arnhem and only about two miles from the famous bridge for which the British first air-borne division had battled in vain. It was aimed in the direction of Pannerdensch, eight miles southeast of Arnhem and the same distance northeast of Nijmegen. Pannerdensch is only about two miles from the German border north of Kleve and is at the fork of the Waal and Neder Ryn Rivers. The stiff opposition limited the advance to about a mile.

Farther south, Allied armor attacking from the eastern side of the Nijmegen corridor near Venray advanced several miles from Meijel, established a front along the Noorden Canal north of Venlo, and fought forward slowly across marshy land from Overloon.

Almost directly east of Nijmegen Allied infantry and artillery broke up a German concentration in the Reichswald, south of Kleve, where the enemy was preparing another counterattack.

West of the corridor an advance of eight miles was made in a northwesterly direction by British troops on a 10-mile front south of Tilburg, and troops of the Canadian army advancing from the other direction, the southwest, approached to within five miles of Tilburg.

However, the Germans launched a surprise counterattack against Polish troops in the latter area, around Barrle Nassau, eight miles southwest of Tilburg, which forced the Allies to give ground temporarily. A British attack westward just below Arnhem reached the area around the village of Elden, about two miles southwest of Arnhem.

Farther west, the Canadians cleaned up the port area north of Antwerp and ended a weird week-long battle of the suburbs in which German artillery in northern port districts periodically harassed Allied control of the Belgian port.

Canadian infantry and tanks, again rolling fast at the heels of retreating Germans, smashed through street barricades and raced to within a mile of the Dutch border town of Putte, only six miles from the escape road out of Walcheren and Zuid Beveland Islands, where the Nazis admitted some thousands of their troops were virtually trapped by floods loosed by Allied "earthquake" bombs.

"The Germans are pulling out and we are jumping right ahead; it is hard to keep contact with the Jerries for they are moving back mighty fast," said a Canadian headquarters officer on this front.

To the west, Canadian troops hurled the Germans back from Forts Capellen and Starbroek, five to seven miles north of Antwerp, in a thrust within seven miles of the anrrow land neck over which the only road runs from the mainland to the Dutch islands of Beveland and RAF-flooded Walcheren.

From 10,000 to 15,000 German troops were in imminent danger of being cut off there as they clung to the artillery positions which have guarded the Schelde estuary and blocked Allied shipping from use of the port of Antwerp.
