Russians Plan Capture Of Budapest Within Few Weeks As Forces Probe Within 44 Miles Of Szeged, Important Hungarian Rail Center.

Moscow, Oct. 6—(AP)—Russian and Yugoslav troops fought the Germans in the outskirts of Belgrade today and front dispatches indicated patrols had crossed to the south bank of the Danube from captured Pancevo, less than nine miles from the capital.

Marshal Tito was reported near the front and it was believed troops of his Army of National Liberation would be the first formally to enter the fortified old city of 267,000. The range of hills at whose north-west corner Belgrade is located is ideal for Red army infiltration tactics.

Pravda said other Allied Slavic troops had reached the vicinity of Nis, 130 miles southeast of Belgrade. In northern Yugoslavia along the Tisza river, other Russian troops were less than 30 miles across flat Hungarian frontier country from the second largest Hungarian city, Czeged, imperiled frontally from Romania as well. The conquest of Hungary was declared in Russian newspapers to be the first priority objective of Russian strategy.

The Red army is clearing its way to Budapest by fire and sword. Pravda announced, "As Hungary protects the Germans' southern flank and continually supplies cannon fodder, the loss of Hungary would mean the loss of raw materials such as oil, metals and foodstuffs."

Thirty-five miles due south of Belgrade, Yugoslav units were locked in bitter battle with the Germans for the village of Popca.

The Russians, now augmented by Yugoslav partisan forces, were gathering strength for the final assault after capture yesterday of the key rail junction of Pancevo, eight and one-half miles northeast of Belgrade's city limits.

The Tisza river, flowing into the Danube at the western edge of Pancevo, formed a minor German defense line, but it also formed the edge of a potentially dangerous pocket for the enemy because it already has been outflanked by the Russians a few miles north.

Thousands of partisans inside Belgrade were reported armed, ready to give blow for blow in the forthcoming battle to end the reign of terror under which the Germans have held the capital for 42 months.

Except for reporting patrol activity, Moscow communiques remained silent about any action elsewhere on the eastern front. Berlin has reported beginning of a new Russian offensive in western Lithuania and invasion of the Baltic island of Saare.

The Russian campaign was not confined to freeing Belgrade. With Petrovrad, 37 miles northward as a base, Soviet troops cleared the enemy from an area of several hundred square miles on the east side of the Tisza river.

These operations probed to points 44 miles south of the Hungarian rail center of Szeged, which has been menaced from the east for more than a week, pushed toward

AIRMEN BLAST BERLIN TODAY

Industrial Plants And Airdromes Are Targets.

London, Oct. 6—(AP)—A fleet of more than 1,200 American heavy bombers attacked an airplane engine plant in Berlin and numerous other industrial objectives and airdromes in Germany today.

About 750 long range Mustangs and Thunderbolt fighters escorted the bombers on this, one of the greatest mass air blows of the war. Some planes flew 1,400 miles round trips.

Besides the aircraft engine plant in Berlin, the Flying Fortresses and Liberators bombed a tank assembly plant, a military depot and an ordnance depot.

Other objectives were:

- The Rhenania and Ebano oil refineries at Harburg, six miles south of Hamburg.
- An aircraft engine plant and ordnance station at the port of Hamburg.
- Airdromes at Stargard, Neubrandenburg and Wensendorf, all near Hamburg.

Weather was good enough for visual bombing and first reports said results were "generally excellent."

Strong forces of British heavy bombers dumped a profusion of two-ton bombs and more than 350,000 incendiaries last night on Saarbrücken, a major rail center and arsenal in the Siegfried line behind Metz. Enemy broadcasts said it was a terror raid.

British Mosquitos before dawn gave the German capital a sample of the heavier shower of explosives rained by one large force of the four-engine American planes in daylight.

As a railway point and advanced base, Saarbrücken now is of critical importance.

WILL DISCUSS LEAF HOLIDAY

Governor To Confer With Tobacconists Tomorrow.

Raleigh, Oct. 6—(AP)—Governor Broughton said today that the conference with tobacconists to discuss the possibility of a short tobacco sales holiday had been postponed until tomorrow because of the inability of some tobacconists to get here today.

Many tobacconists over the state have suggested that sales be held as scheduled next week but that markets be closed the following week, the governor said. The short holiday was proposed to ease congestion in the warehouses and to allow growers to catch up with their farm work.

Earlier, tobacco growers had been used to slow down deliveries to the auction markets as a means of bolstering skidding prices.

W. Kerr Scott, N. C. agriculture commissioner, said such a slowdown would give buying companies a chance to clear the big volume of tobacco which has flooded markets already hampered by labor shortages.

Prices on the three flue-cured belts in the state slumped from $1 to as much as $5 a hundred yesterday, farmers grumbled and rejections were frequent.

Meanwhile, the Tobacco Association of the United States ordered sales limited further on five Border Belt markets, at Mullins and Lake City in South Carolina and at Lumberton, Whiteville and Fairmont in North Carolina.

The association's marketing committee ordered the five markets.

No Change In Meadows Trial

Raleigh, Oct. 6—(AP)—Governor Broughton has ordered a special term of Pitt Superior Court for Nov. 13 to try Dr. Leon R. Meadows, former president of East Carolina Teachers College of Greenville on charges of embezzlement and false pretense in connection with the handling of college funds.

The Governor declined a defense request that he delay the trial until next year to give auditors more time to study figures in the case.

"I feel that this trial should be held at the earliest possible date because it is in the best interest of the institution that this whole matter be disposed of and forgotten," Broughton said.

He said, however, that he would request Judge J. Paul Frizzelle to hear a motion for continuance before the time set for trial.

Dr. Meadows was exonerated by the college trustees last Spring after an auditor's report had criticized his handling of special funds. Later, the Pitt County Grand Jury indicted him on 15 counts of embezzlement and false pretense.

Aldermen Hold Monthly Meet

The Board of Aldermen at a regular meeting at the City Hall last night approved an application of the Herring Taxi Company to operate three more cabs to meet increasing business. The board instructed the city clerk to write the State of Defense Transportation recommending the plan. Mayor Bruce Sugg presided.

Senator Arthur B. Corey made a proposal of the American Legion to rent the army for a year. The county has approved the plan and the aldermen suggested that Corey draw up a lease and present it at the next meeting.

Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, county health officer, recommended that the city employ H. A. Hendrix, county sanitarian, at a nominal sum, as city sanitarian, until a man can be secured to succeed City Sanitarian J. T. Welch, who has resigned, effective November 1.

Marvin K. Blount presented a petition for himself and other property owners in the Rock Springs section for curb, gutter and street paving, as soon as war conditions will permit.

Alderman John A. Collins was authorized to make necessary repairs at the curb market in the eastern part of the city.

Alderman L. B. Fleming was authorized to buy some special equipment for the fire department.

City Engineer Henry Rivers submitted a map of the passenger bus stops. After some minor changes in schedule the board will pass an ordinance reserving the bus stops and making it unlawful for other vehicles to park there.

It was announced that the federal government will provide the labor if the city provides the materials for closing up a mosquito-breeding ditch in the western part of the city.

The board approved the plan to give the American Legion free license to hold the Pitt County Fair here the week of October 16-22.

Americans Strike Blow South Of Aachen Today

Allies Extend Hold On Greek Mainland

Rome, Oct. 6—(AP)—Allied land forces of the Adriatic have sealed off the entrance to the Gulf of Corinth in their Greek invasion by capturing the fortified port of Rion. Official Greek reports indicated that more than half the Peloponnese was securely in the hands of British troops and Greek patriots.

Greek Premier George Papandreu said in a statement that a minister of his cabinet had visited Tripoli where "security battalions"—Greeks fighting on the side of the Germans—had "surrendered to the British officers without any skirmish."

Tripolis, in the east central Peloponnese, is 60 miles southeast of captured Patral on the Gulf of Corinth and 75 miles southwest of Athens.

Rion was overwhelmed in an eastward advance along the Gulf of Corinth from Patral.

The Greek announcement also said the government member, landing from the island of Kythera, of Greece's south coast, also had visited Kalamata on the southwest coast. This indicated the territory intervening between Kalamata and Tripolis was virtually free of Germans.

The fall of Patral, which had been the main enemy supply port on Greece's west coast, came after German security troops surrendered near the town, making the position of the garrison untenable. At Rion, the Germans fell back quickly.

An official report said that prior to the fall of Patral British seaborne supplies had to be unloaded at the much less satisfactory port of Katakolou, about 50 miles to the southwest.

Despite the announcement of capture of enemy security battalions in several parts of the Peloponnese there still was no official word on how far the British have extended their lines.

In southern Albania other British units which landed 11 days ago continued to harass German communications.

FIFTH ARMY DRIVES AHEAD

Scores Gain Of Three Miles Toward Po Valley.

Rome, Oct. 6—(AP)—American Fifth Army troops hammered out gains up to three miles yesterday over the rain-bogged, mountainous terrain on the approaches to the Po valley. They captured the road junction of Loiano, less than 14 miles south of Bologna on the main road from Florence. Allied headquarters announced today.

The Nazis threw reinforcements of experienced Austrian and German Alpine troops into the central sector adjacent to the highway and unleashed fierce artillery barrages. But on both sides of the road the Allies pushed ahead against the stiff resistance and despite the foul weather.

Headquarters reported the capture of Monzuolo, three miles west of Troiano and two miles north of Monte Venere, which was taken on Wednesday.

East of Loiano, American doughboys advanced to a point 2,000 yards south of Monterenzio in the muddy hills between route 65 and Imola.

Capture of Loiano gave the Americans a position commanding the highway to the communications center of Bologna.

On their right flank, Americans and forward elements of British pushed forward and dug in on Monte Cece and Monte Della Valle, about 15 miles from Imola, but were driven back by heavy German counterattacks. In the isolated hill country of the central sector, Indian troops of the British Eighth Army pushed upon Monte Calbano and Scarzana and found them clear of enemy troops.

Police Arrest Man For Larceny Sugar

Police arrested Connie Alexander Lovette, colored, employe of the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company, about 4 o'clock this morning and charged him with the larceny of five bags of sugar from the plant. They also arrested M. L. Bartlett, colored storekeeper of West Fifth street, and charged him with receiving stolen goods, Chief Herbert Wooten said.

Bartlett gave $300 bond and was released. Lovette is in city jail.

According to the police, Bartlett promised to pay Lovette $5 a bag for the sugar. Lovette brought the sugar down on the elevator and was putting it in a car when police arrested him. He made a written confession. Nothing was said about ration coupons for the sugar.

Resume Battle For Dunkerque

London, Oct. 6—(AP)—Allied fighterbombers swooped on Dunkerque at 10 a. m. today at the exact moment the truce with the stranded German garrison expired.

Indications were, however, that the Canadian and British besiegers had not yet mounted a fullscale ground offensive against the last of the German-held channel ports, which was the evacuation point for the battered remnants of the British expeditionary force in 1940.

The battle had been halted to allow French civilians safe exit to Dunkerque. The German-controlled Dutch radio said fighting was "raging more fiercely than ever before."

Approximately 17,000 Germans locked in this last Nazi-held channel port were expected to fight rather than surrender, but official word was lacking.

Much Blood Will Be Shed In Europe

London, Oct. 6—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told Commons today "a great deal of blood is going to be shed in the next few months." He referred to the Allied offensive against Germany.

Churchill said:

"At the present time we must keep our priorities as far as possible for export purposes."

"Liberal, conservative and labor blood is going to be shed. It is my duty above all, while pushing forth great social measures, as far as I can to make sure all is comfortable behind the troops; all is comfortable at home; and that no needless cause of difference should rise to an undue height or proportion."

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The fierce battle raging in the Aachen sector of the western front, where Uncle Sam's First Army has crashed through the crust of the powerful Siegfried Line, is in that critical stage where a bit of good luck might tip the scales heavily towards the Allied side.

The doughboys are continuing to widen the wedge they've driven into the West Wall, which is particularly strong in this strategic zone. Our tanks have been flung into the opening in an effort to bore through to the open plain which leads to the Rhenish city of Cologne—gateway to the great Ruhr industrial region and to Berlin beyond.

The Germans are going all-out in their defense, having time every thing they can spare into this important engagement. They fully recognize that should the Allies make a clean break-through, sarrying them across the Rhine, it would just about complete the hangman's noose for Hitler's neck. For this reason we may be sure that General Eisenhower has his microscope on the Aachen battle, ready to pour in reserves and exploit any profitable looking opening.

However, despite the potentialities of this battle, we mustn't assume that Eisenhower necessarily has picked it for the supreme effort which ultimately will open up the route through which the Allied armies will pour into the Reich. He will develop it if it looks good, but otherwise will strike in some more promising spot.

First Army Forces Supported By Guns And Plane Drive Toward Cologne; Germans Putting Up Fierce Defense Along Entire Front.

London, Oct. 6—(AP)—U.S. First Army forces, supported by hundreds of planes and guns, struck a solid new blow today southeast of Aachen which carried through the dark lanes of Hurtgen Forest to within six miles of Duren, 20 miles from Cologne on the Rhine.

The new attack gained nearly a mile, in coordination with other First Army units which were locked in some of the fiercest fighting of the Siegfried Line battle in the Ubach breach, north of Aachen.

Armor from the latter forces curled behind the broken main Siegfried Line of steel and concrete and reached the southern outskirts of Gellenkirchen in a three-mile rush.

The fighting was as hot as any experienced at the Aachen beachhead since that Italian battle-ground said, and before the new gains were registered the Americans had given ground at two places, impelled by the heaviest armored counterattacks yet thrown into the contest inside Germany.

The Germans, acknowledging their Siegfried defenses had been breached, threw their first sizeable armored forces—width tanks and guns and infantry into their assaults in fierce determination to block the road to the Rhine. The Americans had to fall back from Beggersdorf, a mile east of Ubach and three-to-four miles inside Germany.

Under the pressure the Americans also were forced off the top of a hill about a mile and a half south of Ubach and a mile east of Herbach.

But they held on to the lower slopes, and Allied armor, given clear skies for the first time since the wedge battle started, flew at the chance to deal devastating blows on enemy armor.

The Americans, who got off to the attack early today from Ubach, ran into new obstacles behind the Germans' main belt of steel and concrete.

The first, east of Ubach, was a system of "community diggings"—freely turned trenches dug by civilians. These proved formidable as they had been constructed to permit mobile guns to run into them, fire and change positions before the anti-artillery could reply.

The second was southeast of Ubach, along a 500-yard stretch, where a "bottle of the barracks" was taking place. Here in four-story concrete structures the Germans had concealed a veritable fortress about which they had clustered anti-tank guns, artillery and mortars.

The Americans had advanced to within rifle range and Allied planes were demolishing the buildings, while Sherman tanks and light armor flight of Allied planes met the enemy armored onslaughts head-on.

Admitting a breach had been made, today's German communique said: "The enemy started another attack from his breakthrough in an eastern and north-eastern direction. He was, however, checked by our

Today On The Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 6—(AP)—The government pays two kinds of pensions to survivors of servicemen and veterans.

Group one: Pensions are paid for death in the service in line of duty or for a veteran's death—any time after his military discharge—caused by a disability connected with his military service.

This pension goes to the widow and unmarried minor children.

Widows and children in this group are automatically considered dependents and therefore get the pension no matter how large their private income may be.

Parents of veterans in this group are also pensionable, if dependent. But in their case dependency must be proved.

Death pension rates in all these cases, paid monthly are:

- Widow without child, $50; widow with one child, $65 with $13 for each additional child (although the total monthly payment to widow and children can not exceed $100); no widow but one child, $25; no widow but two children, $38 equally divided, with $10 for each additional child; dependent mother or father, $45; or both, $25 each.

Group two: Pensions are paid for death of a veteran—after discharge from military service—who had a service-connected disability but died of some other cause.

The Veterans Administration pays all death pensions. Its interpretation of group two—a veteran who had a service-connected disability but died of some other cause—is so liberal that almost any service-connected injury or disability will bring a pension to his family after his death from some cause not connected with his military service at all.

For example: Tom Smith, while in service, was shot in the hand. The hand healed, never bothered him again. Years after his discharge he was killed by a truck. There would be a pension in this case.

These nonservice-connected death pensions go to widows and children only. Parents are not eligible. But this nonservice-connected death pension can not be paid to a widow without children—or to an orphan—whose income exceeds $1,000 yearly, or to a widow with a child or children whose income exceeds $2,500 yearly.

(Thus widows and children in group two get no pension if their private income exceeds a certain sum specified above. But widows and children in group one get the pension no matter how much their income.)

The pension rates in group two are: widow, $25 monthly; widow with one child, $40 and $5 for each additional child; for one orphan, $10; for two orphans, $15; for three orphans, $20.

Strange Prophecy About Java True

By CHESTER WALSH A wise native of Java wrote a book of prophecy about the Netherlands East Indies in the South Pacific about 500 years ago which came true, and will be completely true when General MacArthur and Ad- miral Nimitz and the Allied forces chase the Japanese from the island and restore the land to the natives and the government to Holland, Dr. R. A. Schotman, Ph.D., of Batavia said at a United War Fund drive meeting here yesterday. The original copy of the book was in the public library in Batavia when the Japs overran the island. A copy of it is now in the New York Public Library.

The native author said 500 years ago in his book that a race of kindly white people would invade Java, teach the natives useful pursuits and that the islanders would prosper and be happy for many years. The book also predicted that a race of small yellow people would come down from the north, overrun and devastate the land and enslave the natives. This race of warring small yellow men would not stay on Java longer than the life of a rooster (several years), the prophetic author said. It is singularly interesting to ob- serve, said Dr. Schotman, who lived in Java for 40 years, that Dutch trading ships stopped at Batavia 350 years ago, had business dealings with the natives and later colonized the island. From then on Java was governed by the Dutch with friend- ly interest, and the natives were happy until 1941, nearly 500 years after the prophecy was made. It was then that the Japanese invaded and overran the Dutch East Indies, and enslaved the natives and hold them in bondage now. Dr. Schotman said that when General MacArthur arrives at Java and decides he wants chicken soup for dinner, the life of the rooster will be short, and likewise, the stay of the Japanese.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

TRAGEDY ALWAYS A MYSTERY

On a spring evening in 1824, Beethoven, old, ill, worn in body and spirit, mounted the platform of the great concert hall in Vienna to conduct his famous Ninth Symphony. This was the first time it had ever been played. The house was crowded. Although he was desperately in need of money, he was expected to receive less than $200 as his share of the evening's proceeds. He was stone deaf. Certainly this master of music was a tragic figure.

He laid down his baton at the close of the concert. Had not someone from the orchestra gently turned him about to face the audience, he would not have known that he was being applauded. He would not have known that he was being applauded. He would not have known that he was being applauded.

We wonder at tragedy like this, as we wonder at all tragedy. There is no explanation for tragedy. It is a mystery. It is a mystery. It is a mystery.

So it is with all tragedy. If we knew enough and could see it in proper perspective, we would not be sorry.

AMERICA IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

(Last of Four Articles on Presidential Press Conference.)
Washington—Few men, if any, in public life have ever done a greater flip-flop in their relationship with the press than Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

During his days as district attorney in New York, he was cautious, suspicious, antagonistic and even belligerent. Through his first unsuccessful campaign for the governorship of New York and his abortive effort for the presidential nomination in 1940, he maintained this attitude. In Philadelphia four years ago, while Wendell L. Willkie was holding open house for all comers, Mr. Dewey presented the closed door. It may have been then that Mr. Dewey realized that his contact with the people could only be through those channels of communication generally referred to as press and radio.

Washington newsmen date Mr. Dewey's switchover from the night when he dropped into the National Press Club and spent an informal two hours tossing off a half dozen good stories (at that time he was head of U.S.O. and preparing to resign).

Gov. Dewey's first adoption of the informal news conference, however, was at Columbus, Ohio, two years ago this last summer when he was on hand for the annual session of state governors. That hot day he met the press in shirt sleeves, puffing at a cigaret in a holder only slightly shorter than President Roosevelt's. There is no way of telling now who was more surprised—Gov. Dewey or the newsmen—by the result of that conference.

Since then, Mr. Dewey has been as thoroughly news conference conscious as the President. At Mackinac Island a little more than a year ago, when the Republicans got together to draw up their postwar policies, Gov. Dewey stole the show by the simple method of holding an hour-odd long news conference at which he answered every question asked or dodged a few by banter that left no comeback.

Since his nomination as Republican candidate for the presidency the governor has taken a leaf from President Roosevelt's relation-with-the-newsmen book and written into it a few innovations of his own. The day after the wreck of the "Dewey special" on the west coast, he worked his way back through the train, inquiring after the health of every one and calling them all by first names.

According to all reports reaching here, Gov. Dewey has adopted the news conference — questions, answers and all—as thoroughly as President Roosevelt has.
Like the President, he sometimes tells the newsmen how stories should be written or emphasizes the points he wishes to make. In legal circles that is known as leading the witness, but neither the President nor the governor seems to bother much if the newsmen refuse to follow their leads.
What is important is that the news conference apparently is here to stay and that it offers the closest contact with a chief executive that any nation ever has known.

"restrictions," and in a reference to the soldier vote, said the people will be able to "fix the responsibility" on those "politicians who quite openly worked to restrict the use of the ballot in this election, hoping selfishly for a small vote."
4. War. He said the United States and her allies had waged "brilliant campaigns," but the German and Japanese resistance "remained as determined—as fanatical—as ever," and "we may have to fight every inch of the way to Berlin."
5. Peace. "We must be able to present to our returning heroes an America which is stronger and more prosperous, more deeply devoted to the ways of Democracy, than ever before, x x x By God's grace, it must always be a land of opportunity for the individual citizen—ever broader opportunity."

actions leading to the small port of Sarande, supply base for the Corfu island garrison. The enemy retained artillery positions along the Sarande-Delvine road.
Allied guns on several Dalmatian islands continued shelling of the Yugoslav coast.
In Greece, the Germans appeared to be attempting to flee by every available means.
Aircraft patrolling the Salonika area Wednesday night destroyed two JU-52 transports, one Heinkel 111 and shot up a dozen motor vehicles.
An official report of the capture of Patral said:
"After night skirmishing in the streets of Patral, in which an RAF regiment with the land forces of the Adriatic took part, the remainder of the German garrison escaped in small craft, mostly Sibel ferries. Under the cover of darkness early Wednesday they used the ship's guns to hold off a tightening ring of British and partisans until they were able to embark."
The enemy left so hurriedly that demolition charges intended to blow up harbor installations were not set off.
From Rion the British still had roughly 70 miles to travel to reach the isthmus of Corinth, which would seal off the only land escape for any German forces in the south.

Novi Sad, controlling the northern Yugoslav rail network, and stretched German forces nearly to the breaking point on a 50-mile flank protecting southern Hungary.
From the southern environs of Belgrade to the tip of Greece, German divisions, variously estimated by Allied military sources at eight to 25, appeared powerless to save their only remaining railway escape route.
Hungary was caught in the middle. She now is fighting Russian invasion assaults from three sides—north, east and south.
The vigor and scope of the Russian invasion of the Danubian basin make it at present the most vital part of the entire eastern front.

own counterthrusts. Forty enemy tanks have been destroyed in the course of a recent two days.
Another breakthrough was acknowledged by the enemy in the area north of Nancy, in the Third Army sector.
To the north, the Germans declared, more Allied parachutists had been dropped in Holland to reinforce the Allied-held western loop between the Neder Rhine and the wall west of Arnhem and Nijmegen in Holland.
Although the Americans at Ubach were through the main belt of Siegfried defenses, an Associated Press dispatch from the front emphasized that there was no prospect of a sudden breakthrough to the Rhine.
The Germans have defenses in depth, consisting of anti-tank ditches, minefields and trenches, all the way back to the Rhine to slow an advance. Correspondent Don Whitehead said, and will scrape up every available resource for counterattacks.
To the south Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's infantry, sprayed with shellfire from German strongpoints on either flank, fought into their third day for Fort Driant whose "battered" garrison battled from underground passages and trapdoor gunposts.

Chinese Accept Security Plan

Washington, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The Chinese delegation at Dumbarton Oaks has accepted without change. It was learned today, the blueprint for a world security organization drawn up by Britain, Russia and the United States in the first phase of the conference.
The final session is expected to be held tomorrow with the resulting document scheduled to be made public next Monday.
While the Chinese had several specific points to bring up during their talks, it was said that when American and British delegates explained to them the document worked out with the Russians they were satisfied that the principles they supported either were included or implied.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. ### THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The war stories I like best, Judge, are the ones by the special writers overseas who live right with our troops. They give us a better idea of how our men react to things going on over there and back here at home."

"I agree with you, Sam. I never miss one of those stories in the papers or magazines. And there's one thing those writers seem to agree on no matter where they are stationed with our men... and that is that the men who have left their homes and families to go away and fight this war don't want to come back and find that prohibition has been put over on them while they were away... either nationally or locally. They have heard about the attempts being made and they resent it bitterly."

"I agree with them, Judge, even though I don't happen to drink myself. Furthermore, I don't think it's fair for us at home to be making any major changes while 10,000,000 of our fighting men are away and have no chance to express their opinions."

Phantoms To Play Kinston Here Tonight

Large Crowd Expected For Kick-Off At Eight O'Clock

The Phantoms of Greenville High School will meet some of their toughest opposition of the entire season as they fight it out with Kinston's Red Devils tonight at 8 o'clock in Guy Smith stadium.

Kinston has defeated Greenville only twice in their 18-year rivalry, but those two defeats have been in their last two games.

Because of this the Phantoms will really be out for a victory tonight. The Phantoms have had two weeks of heavy scrimmage for this game and have been working hard on some new plays. Except for Lewis Lawrence, out with a leg injury, all the Phantoms are in excellent shape.

Kinston has a good team this year, winning two of its three games against tough competition. The Phantoms will have to play real heads-up ball to defeat them. The probable starting lineup for the Phantoms will be Fleming and Batchelor at ends, Rice and Lupton at tackle, Dail and Clark at guards, and Williams at center. In the backfield, Leggett at wingback, Jordan at blocking back, Futtrelle at fullback and Perkins at tail back. A long list of able reserves is also expected to see plenty of action during the game.

Marine Starboard Quint Wins, 45-18

HOWELL PICKS GRID WINNERS

Predicts Duke And Wake Forest To Win; Carolina To Lose.

By FRITZ HOWELL
New York, Oct. 6.—(AP)—His pigskin prognosticating percentage upset by last week's upsets, Boss Orlo Robertson shuns gridiron guessing this week to attend the World Series while turning over to us his chore of putting the finger on the football favorites.

After running into 12 losses and five ties against 31 correct selections last weekend, Robertson headed west with: "I'm picking St. Louis to win the Series. They can't upset me on that."

Here's how they look from here: Iowa-Ohio State—Our bucks are on the old home town bucks. Ohio.

Tulane-Notre Dame — Maybe someone will stop Bob Kelly and the rest of the Irish, but not this week. Notre Dame.

Duke-North Carolina Navy—The Blue Devils on the second rebound after Saturday's upset by Penn. Duke.

Iowa Seahawks-Second Air Force —But we'll take the Air Force to make its straight wins.

Tennessee-Mississippi — The Vols. comfortably. Tennessee.

Dartmouth-Pennsylvania — Dartmouth gets the nod—a hesitant one.

Holy Cross-Temple (Friday)—It looks like—Holy Cross.

Cornell-Yale—Carl Snaveley's boys look like winners. Cornell.

Great Lakes-Northwestern — Lt. Paul Brown, Great Lakes coach, didn't like that tie with Illinois, so we'll take—Great Lakes.

Marquette-Wisconsin — The Badgers, looking forward to that Oct. 14 date with Ohio State, won't show too much—but it will be enough.

Michigan-Minnesota — A toss-up, but we'll string along with Minnesota on her home lot.

Purdue-Illinois — You can't discount that tie with Great Lakes, so it's Illinois.

Wake Forest-Maryland—No hesitation—Wake Forest.

Brown-Army — The power-plus Cadets on the march. Army.

A fast once-over: Georgia teach over North Carolina, Kentucky over Michigan State, Georgia over Pres-
