RECOGNITION FOR DE GAULLE

Administration Approved As French Government.

Washington, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The United States and Great Britain today recognized the De Gaulle administration as the "provisional government of the French Republic."

Moscow radio reported that Soviet Russia had taken the same step, and similar announcements came from Ottawa and Canberra.

The action was announced by Acting Secretary of State Stettinius who also disclosed that most of France, including Paris, had been designated by Allied military authorities as an "interior zone" in which the French authorities have complete responsibility.

This interior zone covers everything except the combat areas and points essential to combat supply. Stettinius' statement recalled that the French leaders, including General Charles De Gaulle, have declared on several occasions their intentions to hold elections as soon as possible.

Pending the expression of the will of the French people through the action of their duly elected representatives, Stettinius said, "the provisional government of the French Republic in its efforts to prosecute the war until final victory and to lay the foundations for the rehabilitation of France, can count on the continued, full, and friendly cooperation of the government of the United States."

The action of recognition completely changes the basis of relations between France and the Allied powers—the United States, Britain and Russia. De Gaulle, instead of ranking only as the leader of a "de facto" authority, now ranks as a chief of government and head of state, approximating the positions held by President Roosevelt, Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill.

Among the practical results will be the right of the French authorities. (Continued on page six)

Must Register For ABC Books

Raleigh, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The period of November 1-30, inclusive, has been designated for a new registration for whiskey ration books in the state's 25 wet counties. The registration will then be closed until January 2, 1945, the State Alcohol Board announced in designating the November registration period.

The board said that effective January 2, Tuesday of each week is the designated day for registration. An applicant for a permit book will be required to present ration book four.

Another Shoe Stamp Washington, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Airplane stamp three in War Ration book three will be valid beginning Nov. 1 for buying one pair of shoes. OPA announced today. It will go good indefinitely along with cigarette and ration stamps 1 and 2.

France To Deal Out Justice To 100,000 'Rats.'

By GLADWIN HILL Paris, Oct. 23.—(AP)—George Suarez, veteran Paris journalist, was sentenced to death at Paris' first purge trial on his conviction tonight of intelligence work for the enemy during the German occupation.

Suarez, who was director of the Nazi-sponsored 'Aujourd'hui' during the occupation, can appeal to the Cassation court and if this fails has the right to make a further appeal directly to Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

Only five hours were required for the submission of evidence against Suarez, who was alleged to have received $15,000 a month during Nazi rule.

Paris, Oct. 23.—(AP)—With wealth and gaiety on one hand and heart-tearing poverty and grief on the other, a France jumbled by war into a crazy quilt of contrasts set out today to sweep out the rats as the first step in putting her house in order.

Jesse Jones Will Assist Solicitor

Solicitor Dave M. Clark announced today that J. A. Jones, prominent Kingston attorney, had been appointed by Governor Broughton to assist in the prosecution of Dr. Leon R. Meadows, former president of East Carolina Teachers College, at the special term of court scheduled to start here on November 13.

Solicitor Clark said he asked Governor Broughton for additional help and suggested Jones. The suggestion also was agreeable to Attorney General Harry McMullan. Clark said J. Henry Harrell also has been assigned to assist Clark.

Jones will come here this week to help in preparing the case against Dr. Meadows, who is charged with embezzlement in connection with alleged misuse of college and student funds in his custody.

Will Discuss Fag Shortage

Raleigh, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The acute cigarette shortage will be a topic for discussion Wednesday when representatives of the flue-cured tobacco industry of the southeastern state gather here.

The tobacco men also will discuss market demands and crop requirements for 1945 and succeeding years.

The association of distributors embraces the wholesale tobacco trade, supplying cigarettes and other tobacco products to more than one million retail outlets throughout the nation. All farm organizations identified with the production of flue-cured tobacco in the Southeast will be represented at this meeting.

Speaking of the crop situation, Joseph Kolodny, Secretary of the Distributors Association, said that while there seems some apprehension on the part of the growers that the Association seeks to eliminate government control "we believe that an adequate yield may be obtained within the quota system."

Several Townships Over Top In War Fund Drive

Grimesland Community Leads County With 150 Per Cent Of Its Assigned Quota Subscribed.

On the basis of latest reports received by County Chairman Sam B. Underwood, Jr., Grimesland division continues to lead in the Pitt County United War Fund campaign with a smashing 150 per cent of its quota subscribed and reported. On Saturday afternoon, at the end of the first week of the campaign, Grimesland Chairman M. L. Basnight, delivered that report to Mr. Underwood at campaign headquarters and said that Grimesland confidently expected to exceed that figure in the coming week.

Mr. Underwood at county campaign headquarters, this morning issued the following statement: "Grimesland division leads every township in the United War Fund campaign. It made an excellent record in the 1943 campaign, and this year it has already surpassed that record with 150 per cent of its quota subscribed. The division chairman, Mr. M. L. Basnight, is doing a splendid job. In a conference with me on Saturday, at the end of the first week of the campaign, Mr. Basnight attributed the success to the zeal and enthusiasm of his canvassing committee. They have all worked like beavers. They have made me very proud to be an American and very, very proud to be living in Grimesland; he told me I also understand that the children of the Grimesland school raised more than ten per cent of the total reported for this division. The Senior class leading all the others with a contribution of $43. Grimesland is certainly setting a mark at which every other part of Pitt county may well aim. In this War Fund Campaign to show some tangible appreciation to our own fighting forces as well as some sympathy to the valiant allies of America."

First week reports of the Pitt County United War Fund campaign showed that Falkland township, directed by County Commissioner G. H. Pittman, had joined the honor list of townships reporting quotas fully subscribed. Fountain township increased the percentage by which it had exceeded its quota from 108 per cent to 115 per cent. Greenville township inched up from 97 per cent to 99 per cent of its quota and Chairman Joe Taft this morning expressed confidence that Greenville would shortly not only make its quota but also raise a substantial sum in excess of the quota.

Standings with the names of the township chairmen, are as follows: Chicod-Grimesland—M. L. Basnight 150 Fountain—L. P. Yelverton and W. R. Harris 115 Falkland—G. H. Pittman 102 Carolina—Dr. F. G. President Giving More Attention To Campaign

By D. HAROLD OLIVER Washington, Oct. 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, as Candidate Roosevelt, will hit the vote-stream campaign trails of the east again this week with what has been advertised as a speech on business Friday night in Philadelphia's Shibe park.

He also may speak in Chicago Saturday night, but this awaits official announcement. Another address is set for Boston, probably November 4, Cleveland, last stop on his 1940 schedule, may see him before election day, November 7.

In deciding on an aggressive finish of a campaign that started late, the President is following much the same groove—geographically and otherwise—of his third term spin around the industrial east and mid-west in an effort to nail what he then called "falsification" and what he has termed this time as "fraud" and "falsehood."

Four years ago Mr. Roosevelt said he would not have the "time or inclination" to engage in "purely political debate" unless the opposition twisted what he called the "facts" of his record in office. He waited until September 12 to make his opening third term speech, before the Teamsters' union. In late October he spun away from the White House on speaking trips that took in Philadelphia, Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Cleveland and way points.

This year he said he would not campaign in the usual "political sense unless forced to discuss what he termed misrepresentations. Except for fewer "inspection trips" this time, the fourth term speaking effort is fitting into the footsteps of the third. He has made three campaign addresses to date—two in Washington and his foreign policy speech Saturday night in New York City.

As the President and Gov. Dewey hit the home stretch in the first wartime presidential election in 80 years, the chief executive also is finding more time for political callers. Artists and movie and stage stars drop in avowedly for enlisting in the fourth term effort or "just for tea." Spokesmen for foreign language groups also have been on his recent engagement lists.

Election experts generally say they see a close race in the November 7 voting, with most looking on New York and Pennsylvania to decide the issue with their big bloc of 82 electoral votes. A few figure that "as the border states go, so will the election." These states are Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Oklahoma and Missouri. Still others foresee such a close finish that the people may have to wait for late-counting of soldier votes for a decision.

The size of the vote—it was close to 50,000,000 in 1940—enters into the speculation over who's going to win? Heavy registrations in recent weeks in pivotal states have prompted the experts to raise their earlier sights on the prospective total vote. Democrats say this is a good sign for them. Republicans retort it could mean a big "anti" vote in their favor.

Gov. Dewey frequently has expressed confidence of victory in speeches. Mr. Roosevelt has not made an open prediction, but he is described by aides as expecting to win. By how much depends on whether he ever opens to public gaze his customary electoral vote guess. He says he has never been right on this yet.

Yanks Driving Ahead On Philippine Front

Leyte Island Being Transformed Into Base For Operations; MacArthur Proclaims Freedom For Islands.

By C. YATES MCDANIEL General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Oct. 23 (Via Army Radio)—(AP)—American soldiers, pushing westward on Leyte Island's southern front, today overran strong Japanese defense positions and were trying to trap enemy troops retreating up the wide Leyte Valley.

A P. War Correspondent Al Dopking, on the southern front, reported that Yank Seventh Infantry division troops, led by tanks, were moving up the open valley inland from Dulag where one of the first American beachheads was established.

The troops engaged in the action were under command of Lt. Col. Herbert Demundson, of Georgia.

The country leading northwestward from Dulag is flat and ideal for tank warfare. The Leyte Valley, over which the forces of liberation are moving, is 25 miles wide on the southwest. It tapers to 10 miles wide on the northeast. The valley is flanked by mountain ranges with peaks rising up to 1,300 feet.

(The action west of Dulag appeared to center on the highway leading from the east coast to the roadside town of San Pablo, seven miles inland. Beyond that town was Burauen, west end of the provincial road. There it turns northward toward Dagami, highway junction.)

(Supposedly, the Japanese on the southern front were retreating northward up the open valley or falling back into mountain positions on the southwest of the valley.)

Meanwhile Tacloban, the provincial capital, occupied by the Yanks after they took the airfield in that sector, became the temporary capital of the first free government of the Philippines in more than two years.

As his troops pressed forward, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced preparations already are under way for construction of a great base for future operations around the captured airdromes of Tacloban and Dulag.

The supply problem for Japan's vicious 16th division already is becoming difficult after their "preliminary defeat" and should they be forced into the hills might become acute, Gen. MacArthur said in his (Continued on page four)

A heavy docket will confront the Halifax county jurist.

Cleveland Death Toll Reaches 98

Cleveland, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Workers today resumed combing ruins for additional victims of Cleveland's greatest disaster, and a ten-man board of inquiry appointed by Mayor Frank J. Lausche began an investigation of the liquid fuel gas storage plant explosions and fire which devastated a 50-block East Side area.

The death toll in the catastrophe which struck the East Ohio Gas Co.'s plant Friday afternoon soared to 98, while 108 persons still officially were listed as missing, 49 of them plant employees. However, many of those carried on the county morgue's missing roll may be found among the unidentified dead.

Another 49 men, women and children still were under treatment in hospitals. Seven remained in critical condition.

SEN. BALL TO SUPPORT FDR

Says President Facing Foreign Issues Squarely.

Washington, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Senator Joseph H. Ball, Minnesota Republican, announced today that "I shall vote for and support President Roosevelt."

The Senator, abandoning his party of the Presidential race, said Mr. Roosevelt had met the foreign policy issues more squarely than had Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

In his Saturday night speech on foreign relations, Ball said, President Roosevelt kept a record of action by "meeting squarely and unequivocally the two vital and controversial issues on which the isolationists kept us out of the League of Nations and will fight our entry into the United Nations Security organization."

The Senator added in a statement: "He insisted that the United Nations organization be formed without delay, before hostilities cease, and that it be granted power to use military force against future aggressors without requiring individual approval of each member (Continued on page four)

American Third Army Pushes Offensive East Of Nancy; Seventh Army Wedges Deeper Into Vosges Approaches; Germany Predicts New Major Allied Offensive.

By WILLIAM FRYE London, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Six Allied armies pounded the tight-drawn, Nazi defense band from Holland to Switzerland's border today with an unceasing pressure aimed at opening the eventual cracks that will permit a smash to Berlin.

The rain of blows was not yet a grand coordinated offensive, but it was intended to hammer the enemy line ever thinner and to mask the timing and place of the main attack.

The assault was on against the shrinking south Schelde pocket west of Antwerp, the bread box north of Antwerp, the hard-held doorway from Aachen, the upper entrance of the Saar Valley, and the sharp-cloven Vosges Passes.

The British Second army, striking in three columns on a 12-mile front from the western side of the Holland salient, drove five miles in within two and a half miles of the prize communications hub of "Hertogen-Bosch."

Striking on the west flank of the salient in the Netherlands for the second day, the Tommies captured Schijndel, Middlerode, Olland and Bruggen. The Dutch gave them tumultuous welcomes.

The vanguards of Lt. Gen. Miles Dempsey's forces reached the outskirts of Berlicum, St. Michaels, Gestel and Rosmalen. They also reached a bridge at Boxtel on the Dommel River.

More than 300 prisoners were taken today making the two-day total 800.

The Canadian army swept on from Eschen on the Dutch Belgian border, 18 miles north of Antwerp, after an eight-mile advance in two days, and hammered methodically toward Rosendaal, four miles ahead.

The strikes here, which were assuming the proportions of a general offensive to clear the sea lanes to (Continued on page four)

Aged Tarboro Druggist Dies

Tarboro, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Dr. Edward Victor Zoeller, 87, president of the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy since 1894, died last night of pneumonia.

He and Franklin Willis Hancock, 86, of Oxford, were to have been honored by their profession at a testimonial dinner Wednesday night at Chapel Hill.

Dr. Zoeller, who received the only honorary doctor of pharmacy degree ever given by the University of North Carolina, was a native of New York City. He came to Tarboro in 1877. He served as secretary of the State Association from 1887 to 1890 and its president, 1890-91. He had served as Tarboro councilman and mayor. He also had held important posts with the National Association. Dr. Zoeller never married.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Associated Press War Analyst MacArthur's dramatic and successful return to the Philippines breaks the back of the Allied task in the Pacific, since the battle for these islands is the prelude to the final struggle for Japan itself.

Without the Philippines the Mikado's ill-got empire of conquests will fall to pieces.

Once the American forces have overrun Leyte, which is strategically situated almost in the heart of the archipelago, and have established powerful air-bases, they will be able to sweep the rest of the Philippines with bombers. Today's reports show our men firmly established and smashing ahead with the job of clearing the island. The Japanese 16th division, the barbarians who tortured so many Yankee boys to death on Bataan, have taken to the hills—and wait until we get at 'em!

General MacArthur declares in his proclamation to the Philippines that the Americans have come as "liberators for the entire Philippine archipelago." How he will proceed in the liberation is the secret of the high command, but presumably he will move northward into the great island of Luzon, unless developments change the picture. Luzon, whereon lies Manila, is the key which can unlock the Mikado's defenses.

From this most northern of the Philippines the Allies can dominate Japan's communications to her essential war supplies—like rubber and oil—in the East Indies. They can, by the same token, cut off from the homeland hundreds of thousands of Japanese troops in Indonesia and Burma. They can neutralize the powerful air-naval base of Formosa, which is one of the chief shields of Nippon. They can reach the southeast coast of China to establish bases to aid the hard-fighting Chinese, and from these bases they can send bombers to rip at the vitals of Japan.

All that sounds mighty good—and it is good, however, let's not permit it to mislead us. As things now stand, it's a bloody route to Tokyo. The conquest of the Philippines in itself bids fair to be one of the greatest engagements of the entire World War.

That much is certain. The fight may also prove to be not only tough but long. However, the length of the war depends on developments and is highly speculative. It doesn't necessarily follow that we shall have a long war simply because it's a tough one.

Anyway, whether it's long or short there's this satisfaction to be got out of the necessity of dismembering the Japanese Empire bit by bit: When we've finished with these savages, who would conquer the whole Orient, they'll be impotent to make war for generations.

While we are talking about taking the Mikado's empire to pieces, it's important to note that, coincident with the American invasion of the Philippines, London announced that part of a British fleet strong enough to deal with the whole Japanese navy was enroute to the Far East. So much for recent speculation as to whether the British in (Continued on page four)

Today On The Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW So far Federal courts have only upheld the constitutionality of the SS act and of the right of a veteran to his old job back. David B. Robertson, President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, attacked this "no 1 interpretation, saying: "The law does not, of itself, give super-seniority to veterans although it does protect them against loss of seniority. I am sure its legality (the interpretation) is doubtful. The CIO's United Automobile Workers (UAW), and their convention last month, adopted a resolution which said: "This interpretation is a distortion of the meaning of the act and it would completely destroy the seniority system which is the only lasting protection which workers, veterans or non-veterans have against discriminatory or capricious discharge and layoffs by employers." (Seniority rights are particularly important in that usually they govern the order in which workers are (Continued on Page Four)

Garden Club Meets.

The Greenville Garden Club held its first meeting of the year in the clubhouse Friday afternoon. Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, chairman, presided at a short business meeting. The club voted to add two new features to its regular monthly meeting: First, flower arrangements made by the members will be judged and awarded ribbons. The judges will explain their decisions. The member having the most blue ribbons at the end of the year will be given a special award. Second, there will be a 10-minute round table discussion of garden problems and how to solve them.

Mrs. Moore reported briefly about the district meeting of the North Carolina Garden Club which she had attended on Thursday in Henderson.

The chairman announced that the newspaper column "The Sunshine City" will be published again this year. Mrs. Arthur Corey will be editor.

Mrs. James T. Little, chairman of the program committee, called attention to the interesting speakers scheduled to give programs throughout the year. She said the local club is trying to acquaint its members and the public with the aims and ideals of the North Carolina Garden Club. One of the chief projects of this organization is the restoration of many beautiful historic homes and public buildings in the state. Mrs. Little introduced Miss Gertrude Carraway of New Bern, who told in an interesting manner about some of the restoration projects in the state and the individuals and organizations who are making the restorations possible.

Her description of the restoration of an old farm house at Blowing Rock by Mrs. Charles Cannon—of other restorations in Winston-Salem, Halifax, Edenton, Bath, Wilmington—made us realize more keenly than ever the richness of our colonial history and the value of restoring and preserving many of these historic buildings. Miss Carraway told more in detail of the Tryon Palace in New Bern. Since Mrs. J. E. Latham has made such a generous donation through the N. C. Garden Club for the restoration of Tryon Palace, it is now highly probable that the palace will be restored. Garden Club members are intensely interested in the project and in seeing the necessary action by the state legislature to make the restoration possible in the early post-war period. Miss Sarah Stewart, who accompanied Miss Carraway, told what was being done to locate the original furnishings in the palace.

At the close of the program an enjoyable social hour was enjoyed. Mesdames S. M. Crisp, R. C. Rankin, J. T. Little and J. H. B. Moore were hostesses. Flower arrangements furnished by them added much to the pleasure of those present.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stott will conduct this class. Since the return of missionaries from Japan, they have been stationed at Pembroke, N. C., and have done outstanding work with our Indian people. Lunch will be served at the church and all members are invited to come.

Attend Conference in Raleigh. Pitt County Welfare Supt. K. T. Futrell and Mrs. Knight and Mrs. Margaret W. Phillips, members of the county welfare department staff, were in Raleigh last week to attend the sessions of the 25th annual Public Welfare Institute at the Sir Walter Hotel.

The institute is held under the sponsorship of the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare and the division of public welfare and social work of the University of North Carolina. The meetings have been held without interruption since 1919.

Religious Emphasis Week. Religious Emphasis Week, which is devoted to the emphasizing of religion in everyday life on the campus, will be held at East Carolina Teachers College from October 29 through October 31, under the joint sponsorship of the YWCA and the YMCA.

The speaker for the three-day period will be Dr. Ray C. Petry of Duke University. Dr. Petry's timely theme will be "Re-Appraisal of Christian Resources."

Dr. Petry will begin the series on Sunday evening, October 29, at the regular vesper hour by discussing "The Character and Function of Christian Education."

His topic Monday evening will be "The Bible as the Book of Living Experiences." At chapel Tuesday noon he will speak on "Jesus, the Norm of World Reconstruction," and Tuesday evening, his topic will be "The Church in its Relation to World Society."

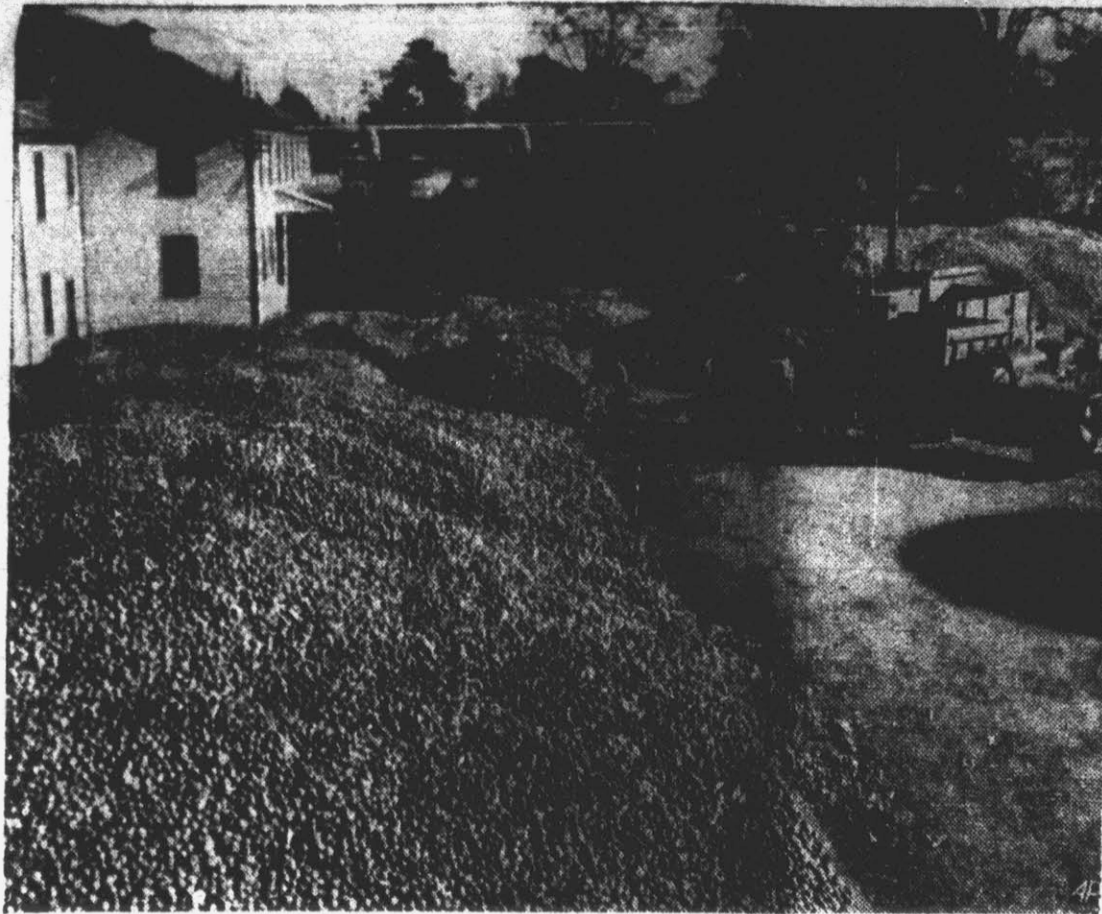

Mildred Wellons of Selma, Religious Education chairman of the YWCA, is in charge of the planning of the various programs. Sub-committees are working with her.

According to the YWCA president, Willie M. Daniels of Oxford, this is one of the most important programs to be presented by the "Y's" this year, and everyone is cordially invited to attend all the meetings.

Speaks at Vesper Services. Miss Mamie Chandler, Methodist student worker, was speaker at the regular Sunday night vesper service at ECTC. Her subject was "What Kind of Religion Do You Have?" She divided religion into three classes—inherited or second-hand; the vague, indifferent conception of religion; and the conception of a eager and inquiring mind. She said religion is man's recognition of a supreme power outside of himself and man's efforts to relate himself to that power. Man is never really satisfied until right relations exist between himself and that supreme power, which we call God. Men who have become great have given religion a first place in their lives.

The Greenville Kiwanis Club's banquet Friday in celebration of its 21st birthday and "ladies' night" was a brilliant affair, interspersed with good fellowship, sparking entertainment and reminiscence of the long ago when a group of public spirited men organized the club. Ed (Little Lamb) Rawl was master of ceremonies.

Sam O. Bundy of Tarboro, recently elected governor of the Carolina Kiwanis district, was guest of honor. He felicitated the Greenville club on its personnel (especially the wives) and outstanding community service and elicited prolonged applause when he announced that the first appointment of his administration was the naming of Greenville's Ed Rawl to be program chairman for the next district Kiwanis convention to be held in Greensboro.

Milford Haynes of Tarboro, veteran Kiwanian, added his praise to the good work of the Greenville club. President Bundy recognized the original members of the club and distinguished guests and turned the meeting over to Toastmaster Rawl. Miss Josephine Gibson, talented young singer, sang "I Love You Truly" and "Ave Maria," with Miss Eleanor Etheridge as accompanist. The Gardner led the singing of Kiwanis songs. The Kiwanians' standing and holding their wives' hands—sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." Then Miss Gibson followed with "I Love You Truly." Last night was truly "ladies' night" and they enjoyed it.

President Bundy, during the preliminary, recognized special guests, called on Joe Taft to report that the United War Fund in Greenville is going over the top; collected five cents for each year of J. A. Collins' age, permitted Bill Taft to give his brother Joe the attendance prize, with reservations; greeted Capt. Havens and Chaplain Radford of the Marine Air Station; pointed out the good work of Lt.-Gov. Don Conley, Dr. J. M. Barrett and Ed Rawl at the recent Kiwanis convention, and recognized J. Frank Harrington, Ed Batchelor, Marvin Blount, Guy Smith and W. H. Woolard, who were among the first members of the club; gave his unrestricted blessings to all and turned the gavel over to Toastmaster Ed Rawl, who functioned graciously as an after-dinner speaker and promised the guests a pleasant surprise after the banquet at the Rotary building.

The Kiwanians went to the Colony theater where they spent two of the happiest hours of their lives with Bing Crawford and Barry Fitzgerald in an interpretation of "Going My Way?" one of the most soul-stirring motion pictures on the screen. The story in the picture is the story of Kiwanis—what it means in the every-day problems of life and the great part the spirit of the Good Samaritan plays in it. The Kiwanians and guests "lived the parts" in the picture and left after a rising vote of thanks to Chairman Ed Rawl—inspired to practice the spirit of Kiwanis with more fervor.

Last night was an important milestone in the history of Kiwanis. Manager T. Y. Walker and Ed Rawl made arrangements for presentation of the picture, "Going My Way?"—the Kiwanis way. Special guests were President O. E. Dowd of the Lions' Club, President Joe Move of the Rotary Club, T. Y. Walker and others.

Winterville Pastor Suggests New Idea

Some of the members of Winterville Baptist church are planning to increase attendance at the Wednesday night prayer meetings. Pastor E. G. Cole suggested that there should be at least one person present for every star on the church's service flag, which has 32 blue stars for men in service and two gold stars for the two boys who lost their lives in the war.

The pastor's plan will be watched with interest, members of other churches said.

Christian Science Service. "Probation After Death" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, October 22. The golden text was from John 5:25, "The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God; and they that hear shall live."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you. Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time." (1 Peter 1:3-5).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In the illusion of death, mortals wake to the knowledge of two facts: (1) that they are not dead; (2) that they have but passed the portals of a new belief. Life is real, and death is the illusion. A demonstration of the facts of Soul in Jesus' way resolves the dark visions of material sense into harmony and immortality. Man's privilege at this supreme moment is to prove the words of our Master: 'If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death.'"

Chapter 2

The Air-Force trainees embarked first, sixty of them, slim and young and rather diffident in their brand-new uniforms. They came aboard quietly in charge of a senior officer, marching up the gangway in single file. Cherry's heart ached for them as they passed her on their way down to "B" deck. Most of them were smiling, some of them laughing and talking in low tones, making the usual service jokes.

Mr. Holmes, the chief steward, was going around the cabins with her for a final inspection. He paused in "A" suite, two communicating cabins with a private bathroom. The white paint was spotless, the chromium fittings polished, the chintzes freshly laundered and blowing gently in the breeze from the open portholes.

"This will be Mrs. Scott-Price's suite," Holmes said. "The boy will sleep in the second cabin. Look after them well, Miss Mayne. Mrs. Scott-Price has traveled with us several times before—her husband was a big man in New Zealand. She always imagines she has bought the ship when she has paid for the most expensive suite we've got."

Privately, Cherry thought Mrs. Scott-Price sounded obnoxious, but all she said was, "I'll do my best, Mr. Holmes."

"I'm sure you will. Well, all the cabins are all right. When the passengers have embarked you will report to each of the ladies, and help with the children." He consulted the list in his hand. "We have only two left at this end of the voyage, Mrs. Scott-Price's youngster, and the Carey infant. But the Careys are traveling with their own nurse."

Jan McCarroll, purser of the Coromandel, stood on the promenade deck for a few minutes watching the untidy little procession as cleared passengers began straggling up the gangway, to be taken in charge of the waiting stewards. How different this almost furtive embarkation was from the music and the cameras and light of a peace-time Coromandel sailing. In the dim blue lights it was difficult to see anything, and people grumbled as they stumbled over ropes or lost sight of handbags.

McCarroll shrugged and went back to his office. There a stack of work awaited him, and soon enough the passengers would begin pestering him with questions he could not answer. "Are we going via Panama?" "It is true we're calling at New York?" "Shall we be in London?" "Can I send a cable to London?"

Few of them, he thought tiredly, seemed to realize there was a war on at sea, a particularly grim and bitter war. Just as well, perhaps, or they would be scared out of their wits.

This time, thank Heaven, there would be only a handful of civilians until New York. He ran his eye down the passenger list on his desk. Miss Mary Baker, schoolteacher. She'd probably be sensible enough. Miss Nancy Carnegie, no profession. Going to England to be married. Mr. and Mrs. Carey, infant daughter June, and nurse, Irene Parker. His pencil moved slowly down the list. The Scott-Price woman would be a thorn in their flesh, of course; the Old Man did everything he could to avoid her. McCarroll grinned suddenly as he remembered a previous voyage of hers when she'd christened her the "Merry Widow." Poor Scott-Price must have had a pretty thin time of it when he was alive. Well, she'd be happy if she could get her claws into some man.

He went on checking the list of male passengers and his face brightened when he came to Sir Douglas Fenimore's name. He, too, had traveled in the Coromandel before, but in wartime, and under very different circumstances from the Scott-Price woman. Fenimore was a solid, decent chap, one of the best types of old English families and landowners. Quite an expert on intensive farming. The purser was glad he was coming with them this trip.

He was glad they'd been lucky enough to get that new stewardess in such a hurry. He didn't envy her the job of looking after the Merry Widow, though.

When it was reported that all the women had come aboard, Cherry made her way to "A" suite and knocked on the door. A deep husky voice bade her come in, and she saw a woman in a fur coat kneeling on the deck before an open wardrobe trunk, and a small boy sitting quietly and dejectedly on the settee. Both of them looked up at Cherry hopefully. The woman smiled, but it was a quick, meaningless formality that never reached her eyes. The small boy smiled with his eyes but not his mouth.

Mrs. Scott-Price was not beautiful, but she was certainly the best-dressed woman Cherry had ever seen at close quarters.

She swung to her feet in one graceful gesture, looking ten years younger than she was, and lit a cigarette. "Thank Heaven, you've come! We're in a perfectly dreadful muddle. My maid packed for me and I don't know where anything is. She's let me down terribly—suddenly decided to get married and stay in New Zealand, of all the ridiculous ideas. And here I am—simply stranded! Of course I couldn't possibly get anyone in time. I hope you're good with children? You are the stewardess, aren't you?"

"Yes, madam." The word nearly stuck in Cherry's throat. She was used to calling the doctor at the hospital "sir," but calling this little perfumed, exotic, befuddled creature "madam" seemed somehow quite different. She thought, I mustn't let her get under my skin—I've got weeks and months of this. She added, "Luckily we have very few ladies aboard, so I shall be able to look after your little son."

"He's not my son," Julia blew a smoke ring at the deckhead. "He's well, he was sent out to me during the blitz. Now I'm taking him back to his parents. But I wouldn't have dreamed of it if I'd known Annet was going to leave me in the lurch like this."

A Message From N. C. Farm Bureau On Tobacco:

Statement Concerning The Apparent Cigarette Scarcity And The Relation Of Marketing Quotas Thereto By The Tobacco Committee Of The North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation.

General Observations:

A. It is the aim and effort of the Farm Bureau Federation to encourage the production of a given commodity in ample quantities to supply all demands, for such commodity, and to achieve an economically sound balance of supply to demand.

Whenever supply of an agricultural commodity races so far ahead of demand that unusable and un-preservable surpluses are accumulated, the farmer finds himself in a position where further production is unprofitable and the loss has to be absorbed by him, resulting in a lower standard of living for himself and his family, the loss of his labor, shrinkage in the values of his land and equipment, and a general lowering of the economic condition of the community affected by such crop.

B. In approaching an examination and study of any production problem at the present time, such approach must be made in full recognition of the effect of total war on all other questions, and with a due regard for the war essentiality of the commodity under consideration.

It is recognized by all persons, as a matter of course, that every peace time industry not converted into the production of vitally essential war material has suffered great inconvenience and dislocation and has been beset by troublesome problems of supply, labor, and distribution. Scarcities of every kind have confronted the public, some the result of hoarding; some from the lack of production; some due to the shortage of labor; some from difficulties of distribution; and some from the combination of all of these causes.

To approach a study of a problem of production and distribution of any article or commodity, in an attitude of "business as usual," is to be lacking in realism and such an approach would lead to an unsound conclusion. The Fine-Cured Tobacco Supply is Sufficient To Meet the Requirements of the Consumer:

In the year 1943, when Food and Feed Crops were needed to supply our armed forces, civilians and allies, tobacco farmers were asked to help meet these needs by planting their lands in oil-bearing crops, potatoes and vegetables; this they did, and helped to avert a shortage of food and feed; with the 20% increased allotments planted in tobacco this year having been used in food and feed crops in 1943, as requested by our government, the production of tobacco was naturally reduced; but who would have us grow tobacco at the risk of denying our armed forces all the food needed to fight this war for us? But look at the record; in spite of about 20% less acreage planted in tobacco in 1943, on 4% more acres than we had in 1919 we produced 783,532,000 pounds or 65% more tobacco than we produced in the year 1919.

Total disappearance of fine-cured tobacco for the year ending June 30, 1944, was 980 million pounds. Manufacturers and dealers reported stocks of 1,187,630,000 pounds of fine-cured tobacco on July 1, 1944, of which about 1,000,000,000 pounds were available to our domestic manufacturers. This represents an average of 18 months' supply in their hands as of July 1, 1944, based on present production of 300 billion cigarettes or more than double their production of 10 years ago.

The current fine-cured crop—none of which was in the hands of manufacturers and dealers on July 1, 1944—is estimated at one billion, seventy-two million pounds.

Three hundred ninety-one million pounds of this crop is set aside or allocated to the Commodity Credit Corporation and others for export and lend-lease requirements, leaving six hundred, eighty-one million pounds available to the domestic companies as replacements for stocks being used. Domestic manufacturers during the year ending June 30, 1944, used six hundred fifty million pounds of fine-cured tobacco.

Thus the 1944 crop can reasonably be expected to maintain stocks of domestic manufacturers and likely meet any export demands, not included in the Commodity Credit Corporation purchases, and this result will be achieved without materially changing the ratio of present supply to disappearance for this year.

Continuance of Marketing Quotas Favored: The North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, from the beginning, has sponsored and fought for acreage control on tobacco, and has insisted on strict regulations to insure compliance. The law itself provides that quotas, in order to be effective, must be approved in a secret referendum by at least 66 2/3% of all tobacco producers. The tobacco control program is fair to all farmers; small farmers; tenants; share croppers; as well as the landlords. It is even fair to the new farmer who desires to come into the program because under the law as much as 5% annually may be set aside for new growers. When it comes time to hold a referendum on control every farmer, whether he be landlord, tenant, or share-cropper, has one vote. In 1943, farmers overwhelmingly expressed themselves in favor of a control program for 1944, 1945, and 1946 by a vote of over 9 to 1. In recognition of this, Congress has directed that quotas be proclaimed for these years.

What could be a more complete demonstration of Democracy in action?—farmers for the first time demonstrating their ability to work together, not for the purpose of causing a scarcity of tobacco; not for the purpose of increasing the cost of cigarettes to the consumers; but solely for the purpose of stabilizing their business.

It must be remembered that as the result of the record-breaking crop in 1939, produced without marketing quotas, and the small export of 1940 and 1941, the domestic companies and Commodity Credit Corporation had accumulated an abnormal surplus from purchases extending over these years.

It is conceded that under war time conditions and as the result of the insistence of the government to produce food, fiber and oil crops to meet the demands of war, domestic manufacturers of tobacco have used a part of the surplus tobacco held by them at the beginning of the war, but it must at the same time be remembered that the relative position of the tobacco stocks is much better than the stocks of raw materials held by other industries not engaged in vitally essential war work. Nor must it be forgotten that present stocks and those now available are sufficient to meet the requirements of the manufacturer without further lessening of stocks carried as back logs.

In 1943 the production of fine-cured tobacco amounted to 789 million pounds. This was produced on 845 thousand acres of land.

Marketing quotas for the 1944 crop were increased 20%; and a corresponding increase in acreage has resulted in more than one billion, seventy-two million pounds production for 1944.

This demonstrates the ability of the tobacco farmer to meet any problem of production of this commodity. The present marketing quota system, with such increases or decreases in production as may be deemed necessary to meet the requirements of the consumer, is favored by the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, because—

(a) the tobacco farmers can produce sufficient tobacco to meet the requirements of the consumer, and any scarcity of cigarettes now experienced is not due to the lack of tobacco.

(b) marketing quotas have resulted in much more efficient methods of production. As an example—in 1919, when fine-cured tobacco brought 44.4 cents per pound, $11,500 acres of land produced 477 million pounds of tobacco. In 1943, when the price average was 40.2 cents per pound, $44,000 acres, under marketing quotas, produced 789 million pounds. In 1943, under marketing quotas, an acreage 4% larger than the 1919 crop produced 65% more tobacco.

(c) In 1939 we entered the war period with a substantial surplus of tobacco; prices broke sharply and handling that crop presented a real problem. Since that time under a control program, with sharp increases in domestic consumption, the re-opening of our foreign markets by the purchasing of tobacco by the Commodity Credit Corporation for lend-lease the huge surplus has been eliminated. But can we afford to enter the post-war period and suffer the same results that followed the first World War? In 1919 the farmers sold a crop of fine-cured tobacco for 44.4 cents per pound. The next year with no production control, the farmers at a much higher production cost increased their crop 20 per cent and sold their crop for only 21.5 cents per pound. This represented a decline in tobacco prices of over 50% in one year.

(d) There are 335 thousand farm families engaged in the production of fine-cured tobacco. Tobacco has been the principal crop in North Carolina, and to a lesser degree in all other fine-cured belts, for many generations. It has been the foundation of the economic life of the community in which it has been produced.

Prior to the marketing quota system, when farmers planted according to their own inclination and without regard to the requirements of demand, the economic level of the tobacco farmer was near the bottom. His standard of living was low, his family had no luxuries and were deprived of many of the necessities of life; his farm buildings, in many instances, were dilapidated because he was without the money necessary to keep them in repair. Only in rare instances did the children of tobacco farmers have the advantage of an education in institutions of higher learning.

During the period of marketing quotas of this product the economic condition of the tobacco farmer has shown marked improvement. Many farm mortgages have been paid. Buildings have been repaired and painted. Economical farm machinery acquired; land values have increased, and the standard of living of the farm family has been immeasurably raised. The tobacco farmer has been able to educate his children; to provide them with decent clothing, and he and his family have occupied a decent place in the life of the nation.

Prior to the marketing quota system, no tobacco crop in excess of current demand was ever sold at a reasonable profit, but in nearly every instance the penalty of a surplus of production was the impoverishment of the farmer and of the community affected by the product.

A release of tobacco from the marketing quota would result in a vast and unnecessary expansion of the cultivation of that commodity. Unusable and un-preservable surpluses would result. Great loss would be sustained by the farmer and the community in which tobacco is the foundation of the economic life. Depression and bankruptcy would prevail.

This condition ought not to be permitted to return. The standard of living of the 335 thousand farm families should not be unnecessarily and needlessly lowered and destroyed. Lands presently employed in the production of food, fiber and oil crops necessary in the prosecution of the war should not be changed to the production of a crop already being produced in sufficient quantities to take care of the requirements of the consumer.

For the foregoing reasons the Tobacco Committee of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation urgently invites and requests all people and groups having an interest in the economic condition of the country to join in an effort to preserve the marketing quota system for tobacco—the existence of which, without injury to any one, has made possible a decent standard of living for those engaged in the production of tobacco, and has made a valuable contribution to the economic condition of the country.

We earnestly solicit the full cooperation of all the allied interests in the tobacco business; manufacturers; the exporters; the distributors; both wholesale and retail, in the maintenance of this program, for we know we are able, ready, and willing to produce all the tobacco that the trade can consume at fair market prices under this program.

ADOPTED UNANIMOUSLY BY THE TOBACCO COMMITTEE OF THE NORTH CAROLINA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION, MEETING IN EXECUTIVE SESSION IN THE SIR WALTER HOTEL, AT RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA, ON MONDAY, OCTOBER 16th.

Carl T. Hicks, Chairman—Tobacco Committee of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation. Attest: R. Flake Shaw, Executive Secretary, North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

YOU MAY KNOW ONE

A little more than 150 years ago a young man by the name of William Carey worked in a shoe factory in England. He earned eleven shillings a week. As he worked he always had open before him on the bench either a Hebrew or a Greek grammar. It was his ambition to learn these languages in order that he might fit himself to become a Christian minister.

One day his employer said to him, "You are really not earning eleven shillings a week as a shoemaker, but I have noticed your interest in study. So you go home and take your books with you and give all your time to study, and I will pay you eleven shillings a week. A chap like you ought to be encouraged." Carey later became the first great modern missionary, and his translations of the Bible from the original tongues into the Asiatic languages and dialects was one of the outstanding pieces of service in the history of the Christian Church.

There are thousands of young fellows today who, like William Carey, would make good in the world and have a fine success if someone financially in a position to do so would give them an opportunity to be educated. It is to be hoped that parents who have lost boys in the war will pick out some needy boy who aspires for education and see him through, and established in some profession. The government is going to help, but it cannot do all that is needed.

There are few things in the world that will give one deeper satisfaction than to invest money in the education of a promising boy or girl.

AMERICA IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington — Although it was supposed to be "taken out of politics" our immediate and postwar foreign policy is becoming one of the real issues as the presidential campaign nears the final curtain.

This is strange because both parties, for more than a year, have openly declared for some kind of a world league to preserve peace. When the Dumbarton Oaks blueprint for the permanent establishment of a "United Nations" was finally made public, both President Roosevelt and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey praised it in almost identical words.

Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, and Sen. Warren F. Austin of Vermont, ranking Republican member of that committee, started immediately to work out ways of getting the United States into the United Nations even before the war ended. They visualized a two-thirds Senate consent to signing a treaty to join the United Nations and working out later the details of how far our delegate could go in committing this nation to armed participation.

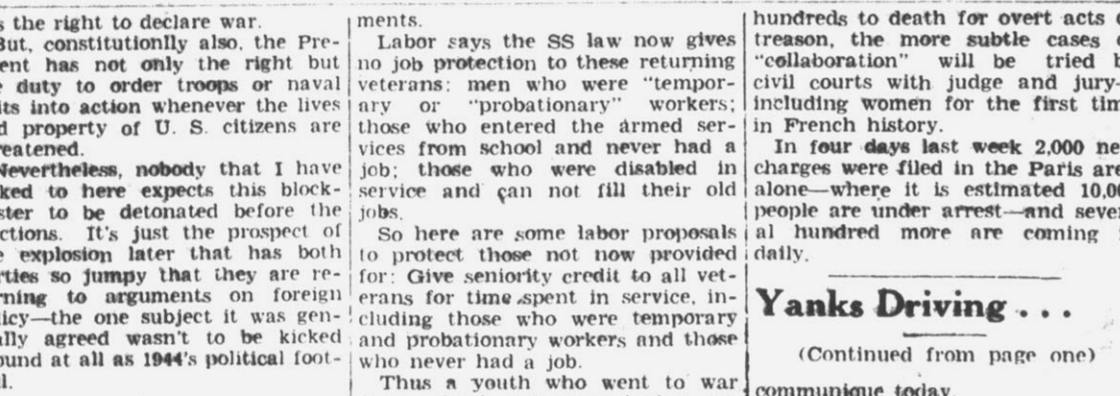

It has seemed smooth sailing all the way, but it is apparent here that the smoothness is only on the surface.

Sen. Joseph H. Ball, a Stassen Republican from Minnesota, threw the first real monkeywrench into the works when he announced that he couldn't decide how to vote unless some very pertinent questions on participation in a world peace organization were answered to his satisfaction.

These questions, briefly, were (1) Would the candidate favor immediate entry into the United Nations, by treaty without waiting for the peace terms to be settled? (2) Would they oppose U. S. reservations that might weaken the league's power to maintain peace and prevent aggression? (3) Should the United States representative have the power to commit our quotas of our armed forces without further Congressional approval?

The third question is the real fly in the ointment. It adds up to the old fight between our legislative and executive branches of government.

Constitutionally, Congress is the only agency in our government that has the right to declare war. But, constitutionally also, the President has not only the right but the duty to order troops or naval units into action whenever the lives and property of U. S. citizens are threatened.

Nevertheless, nobody that I have talked to here expects this block-buster to be detonated before the elections. It's just the prospect of the explosion later that has both parties so jumpy that they are returning to arguments on foreign policy—the one subject it was generally agreed wasn't to be kicked around at all as 1944's political football.

THE WAR TODAY

tend to see the war against Japan through to a finish. Of course they do. There never was any legitimate doubt of it.

Great preparations are under way in India for the all-out war against Japan. In this connection it has been disclosed that there are two and a quarter million Indian troops under arms, ready for action. With the end of the rainy monsoon season operations in Burma and the Bay of Bengal are picking up. Note the British three day assault on the important Nicobar islands which are held by the Japs and must be occupied to pave the way for more intensive operations.

These developments are tremendously heartening for the gallant Chinese, who are hanging on by the skin of their teeth.

laid off, re-hired, promoted or transferred.

As to interpretation No. 2, this directly affects unions and closed shops. The number of such shops has increased during the war and many veterans will return to his old job to find it a union shop.

Thus the SS interpretation might run ahead on into provisions of an existing collective bargaining agreements.

Labor says the SS law now gives no job protection to these returning veterans: men who were "temporary" or "probationary" workers; those who entered the armed services from school and never had a job; those who were disabled in service and can not fill their old jobs.

So here are some labor proposals to protect those not now provided for: Give seniority credit to all veterans for time spent in service, including those who were temporary and probationary workers and those who never had a job.

This youth who went to war from school and never had a job would, when he returned and got a job, have seniority credit for all the time he spent in service.

(than 100,000 persons accused of collaborating with the Germans or giving them aid and comfort during their occupation.)

The first defendant is George Suarez, veteran Paris journalist, who served as director of the German sponsored daily newspaper "Aujourd'hui" and who is alleged to have been paid $15,000 monthly for his services.

His fate, which will be the firing squad—if he is convicted—will furnish some precedent for the trials of hundreds of other prominent pre-war writers accused of working for Nazi dominated periodicals now suppressed.

Vast special judicial machinery has been set up on a nationwide basis to handle the purge. Altogether some 254 courts with one or more judges presiding over each are being established by the Ministry of Justice and they are expected to begin operation all over France within two weeks.

Less than a month ago 1,481 collaboration case investigations were begun by a panel of special magistrates who form the second phase of the purge system—between the initial arrests and formal trials.

Although military tribunals all over France have been condemning hundreds to death for overt acts of treason, the more subtle cases of "collaboration" will be tried by civil courts with judge and jury—including women for the first time in French history.

In four days last week 2,000 new charges were filed in the Paris area alone—where it is estimated 10,000 people are under arrest—and several hundred more are coming in daily.

communicate today.

The role of this strategic island, in the heart of the Philippines, was underlined by the announcement that work has commenced on the two captured airfields and other installations to prepare "a great base for all arms for future operations."

Gen. Douglas MacArthur and President Sergio Osmeña inaugurated the Philippine Commonwealth government's authority in liberated territory during a dramatic ceremony at Tacloban, designated as the temporary capital. They addressed the rest of the subjugated Philippines, as well as the United States, while gunfire echoed in the background.

American forces have landed, said the general in a proclamation "as a prelude to the liberation of the entire territory of the Philippines." He declared "null and void" the laws of the Japanese-sponsored "republic" in liberated areas. He promised extension of commonwealth authority, under the United States government, to other Philippine regions as quickly as they are freed and military considerations permit.

The announcement concerning the enemy's supply problems apparently referred to the effect of paralyzing air strikes against communication lines and flank Japanese bases. These strikes continued, with bombers hitting other Visayan Islands, surrounding Leyte, and Mindanao as well as more distant bases.

In return, the Japanese made "minor ineffectual" air raids against American shipping in the Gulf of Leyte.

C. Yates McDaniel, Associated Press war correspondent with the 6th Army beachhead, reported that the Army's superior firepower was coming into play against Japanese delaying action in that sector near the center of the American front.

However, fleet units supported the infantrymen with inshore bombardments against enemy resistance pockets in low hills along the road leading to Leyte Valley.

McDaniel said the American hold was firm on Tacloban and Dilag, key cities at opposite ends of the front.

The communique did not specify the preparations which have begun to groom Leyte as a great striking base within enemy-controlled territory. Its phraseology, however, indicated that its harbor facilities, as well as the airfields, would be utilized, possibly to base naval forces.

Bomber raids on other Visayan Islands sank three small freighters and probably sank four others. Heavy units blasted Mindanao with 94 tons of explosives, starting first at Cagayan, principal port and transportation center in the northern part of the island. No opposition was encountered there.

Fighters strafed a 23-truck convoy on Sayre highway, Mindanao, and medium bombers destroyed barracks and float planes in the interior.

Other raids included fire-kindling attacks on Balikpapan, Borneo oil center, by night reconnaissance planes.

"Governor Dewey has opposed delay but has not met squarely the second vital issue. He has spoken for a strong international security organization, but in each speech has so worded his commitments that both isolationists and internationalists could find comfort and support in what he said. A substantial part of his support is talking straight isolationist doctrine to the country."

Mr. Roosevelt, Ball said, is in a position on this great issue to receive a clear and tremendously forceable mandate from the American people, while Dewey's mandate, he added, would be confused and weak and his leadership hampered by a serious division among his own supporters.

"On this basis," he concluded, "I shall vote for and support President Roosevelt."

Russians capture the frozen Norwegian border. The Russians overran the rich Finnish nickel mines which have been nurturing the German war machine.

A Finnish communique said the Finns reached Savoukoski and Pekkosenniemi in north-central Finland, meeting no resistance. The Finns were above the Arctic circle and they forced the Kittisentoki river, capturing German positions.

Allied-held Antwerp as a supply port, had pressed the Germans from two sides into the Breda Box—a 40 by 20-mile rectangle below the Maas (Meuse).

The Canadians were about to outflank the German coastal anchor at Bergen op Zoom, four miles ahead.

West of Antwerp the Canadians capture of Breskens and Fort Frederik-Hendrik, a mile farther west, an old fortress modernized by the Germans. On the south side of the pocket, the Canadians took Schoondijke, pinching the Germans into a canal-sliced area of only five by eight miles.

The German hold on the Scheldt estuary was slipping with the capture of the controlling enemy guns at Breskens and Fort Frederik-Hendrik. Only one battery—there were three two days ago—remained in action in the Vlissingen (Flushing) area on the north side of the estuary after Allied heavy-bomber attacks.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' U. S. First Army pushed a mile east toward Duren after its capture of its first major German city, Aachen, and was clearing the enemy from the area around the village of Wurselen, three miles northeast of Aachen.

It was here—other Americans last week reported six miles southeast of Duren which is 20 miles from Cologne on the Rhine—that the Germans apparently feared the main blow was building up.

A Berlin broadcast said the First Army seemed to have completed its regrouping, brought up "vast" tank reinforcements and could be expected to attack at any moment somewhere along a 16-mile front between Geilenkirchen and Stolberg.

The front from Aachen to the Vosges was a rain-soaked mire, and clouds at tree-top height also made an immediate offensive seem unlikely.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army restlessly poked an attack at the Germans toward the upper Saar valley, capturing Bezdange la Petite, 19 miles east of Nancy, and fighting in Moncourt, 19 miles from the Saar.

The Germans fought under difficulties, caught in the rear by a bombing which broke an old 800-foot earthen dam—two miles southeast of Dieuze and flooded the Sellen valley for 10 miles.

The American Seventh Army also wedged deeper into the approaches to the Vosges passes northeast of Epinal past captured brouillereaux and Bruyeres.

Three more villages, Domfing, Verzeville and Belmont were entered, and two more miles sliced off the distance to Bonhomme Pass, now 15 miles away.

Largest Convoy Reaches England

Bromley, England, Oct. 21—(AP)—The largest ocean convoy in history—140 ships carrying more than 1,000,000 tons of food and war equipment and covering an area of nearly 26 square miles—recently arrived from North America without loss, A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, said today.

Royal Canadian Navy vessels commanded by Commander G. H.

Stephen in the Frigate H. C. M. S. Dunver escorted the convoy, which took 37 days to cross the Atlantic.

More than 55,000,000 tons of shipping have been conveyed since the war began across "that grey battle ground," Alexander said.

Americans Seize Underground Plant

With a U. S. Infantry division in Germany, Oct. 14—(Delayed)—(AP)—American Doughboys have captured the first underground factory thus far found inside the Reich—an airplane engine parts plant in a 1,000-foot railroad tunnel.

An infantry unit patrolling no-man's land a mile west of the Siegfried Line stumbled on the factory. It was not in operation, but was crammed with valuable machinery.

The discovery aroused speculation over how much of Hitler's war industry is operating underground in view of the terrific air assaults on all German industrial centers.

It's Good Business To Keep Well
The health of your family and community is a national affair. The health of a nation is no better than the health of its individual citizen, family, or community. Good health is one of our nation's greatest assets.

Illness and poor health are expensive for the family as well as for the individual. It is so costly physically, mentally, emotionally, and financially that no one can afford to be sick. It is much less expensive to stay well than to get well. Therefore, from every viewpoint, it's good business to keep well.

Good health is more than freedom from disease or simply not being sick. It is a condition of the mind and body which permits one to live most and serve best. It is your duty every day, in peace or war—to keep well and fit for your job. With the growing scarcity of doctors and nurses, it is more important than ever before in the history to conserve health and physical fitness. Keep a watchful eye on your health—get fit and keep fit.

How To Keep Well
For the average person how to keep well is no mystery or secret. It is mostly a matter of good management, and the practice of a few common sense rules of health, plus plenty of fresh air and sunshine. Practicing the following rules can help a person in normal health to keep well:
1. Every day eat the essential foods.

2. Wear comfortable and appropriate clothing.
3. Practice sanitation—personal, household, and community.
4. Relax—recreate.
5. Avoid strain, fatigue, fear, and worry.
6. Sleep and rest.
7. Take advantage of immunization.
8. Avoid contacts with contagious disease.
9. See your dentist twice a year.
10. See your doctor at least once a year.

On the home front fall the duty of building health for all. By resolving to practice the above health rules you will help to build better health for your family and community.

Home Demonstration Club Meetings
The Winterville Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Nina McGlohon with Mrs. H. Weathering as joint hostess. Mrs. M. A. Woodard,

IRISH STILL OUT IN FRONT

Notre Dame Rates Top; Wake Forest Keeps Record Clean; Tech Beats Navy.

By HAROLD CLAASEN

New York, Oct. 23—(AP)—Boxing the college football compass: Midwest: Notre Dame, Ohio State, Purdue and Indiana rank as the big four with Iowa Pre-Flight, Illinois and Michigan not far behind. The Irish, although they yielded their first touchdowns of the year in beating Wisconsin by a 28 to 13 margin, may get their biggest test this week-end when they encounter Illinois' Speedsters, 38 to 5 victors over Pittsburgh.

Ohio State's Beardless Civilians, who entertain Minnesota Saturday, share big ten attention with Purdue following their 26 to 6 conquest of Great Lakes. The Boiler-makers, who handled Iowa 26 to 7, come up against Michigan, which has had a two-week gridiron vacation. Iowa Pre-Flight has the week-end off after piling into Fort Warren, 30 to 0, yesterday. Indiana plays Iowa.

Southwest—Randolph Field ripped Camp Polk, 67-0, in preparation for its tussle with the Third Airforce at San Antonio Saturday night. In the southwest circuit, Texas Rice and Texas Christian stand on top following their triumphs but one will be dropped this week-end when Rice and the Longhorns collide at Houston. Texas, downed Arkansas, 13 to 10, and Rice got by Southern Methodist, 1 to 10, to set the stage for their important meeting.

Tulsa, a member of the dormant Missouri Valley loop, romped over Oklahoma, 47 to 0, and takes on Oklahoma A. and M. next.

Far-west—Tonight's contest between Southern California and Washington will have an important bearing on the western Rose Bowl choice. The Huskies have piled up lopsided scores in four earlier contests while the Trojans have failed to reach pre-season expectations. Washington remains in California for a Saturday meeting with California.

East—Army, winner of four straight but virtually untested, tussles with Duke in a New York City brawl while Pennsylvania's freshmen, also unbeaten, entertain Navy at Philadelphia. Army romped over Coast Guard, 76 to 0, Saturday and Navy was setback by Georgia Tech, 17 to 15. Duke and Penn both were idle. Brown and Holy Cross, who collaborated in 24 to 24 tie, also are occupied. Brown with Dartmouth and the unbeaten Crusaders with the Coast Guard.

South—Georgia Tech, rugged victor over the Middles, looms strongest in the Southeastern circuit and has another chance to prove it Friday night against Georgia Pre-Flight, 3 to 0 losers to North Carolina Pre-Flight. The same night Wake Forest, powerhouse of the Southern circuit, mixes with Miami in the Orange bowl. The Deacons added to their title claims Saturday with a 21 to 7 conquest of North Carolina State.

Alabama and Tennessee, participants in a scoreless deadlock Saturday, have entirely different tasks ahead of them. The Crimson Tide is host to Kentucky Friday night while the Volunteers mix with Clemson. Tulane, 16 to 13 winner over Auburn, has Southern Methodist as its guest Saturday. Georgia and Louisiana State are at Atlanta the same day.

Brother Local Man Died Georgia City

J. B. Dorsey, 49, brother of Capt. S. B. Dorsey of Greenville, died early Saturday at his home in Americus, Ga., after a week's illness. Funeral details were not available here.

Surviving are three sons, Fred Dorsey of Raleigh, James Dorsey, USMC, overseas and Lieut Junior Dorsey, USMC pilot; three sisters, Mrs. A. L. Betha of Wrightsville, Ga., Mrs. L. H. Glenn, Abbeville, Ga., and Miss Jegene Dorsey of Pitts. Ga.

Homecoming Day At Rountree Church

Nearly 200 persons attended the annual "homecoming day" exercises at Rountree Christian church near Ayden yesterday. Rev. C. C. Ware of Wilson, state educational secretary for the Christian church, delivered the annual sermon. Rev. G. H. Sullivan of Wilson, the pastor, conducted the services. A special musical program was presented.

At the conclusion of the services a picnic dinner was served on the grounds. An hour was spent in renewing acquaintances, greeting old friends and reviving memories of the church's interesting and influential history during the past 125 years.

In the afternoon the Rountree family reunion was held, with Clarence V. Cannon of Ayden presiding. The first members of the Rountree family migrated to North Carolina from Nansemond county, Va., during colonial times.

Relatives Fail To Claim Negro's Body

Relatives who communicated with Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson have not yet been here to claim the remains of Nathaniel Whitfield, 51-year-old Negro farm worker, which were found in a pasture on Frank Hart's farm near Ayden last Wednesday. Whitfield had been missing since July 29. A Negro farm worker found the skull and some of the larger bones and the clothing in the hog pasture. There was no evidence of foul play. Coroner Griffin H. Rouse said.

Music was printed for the first time in 1465.

NAZIS GIVE UP GREEK ISLAND

More British Successes Over The Week-End.

Rome, Oct. 23—(AP)—The large Aegean island of Evvoia (Euboea), adjacent to the Greek mainland north of Athens, has been cleared completely of Germans Allied headquarters announced today.

The island is a mountainous stretch of 115 miles and 33 miles at its greatest breadth. It is separated from the mainland by narrow channel, the northern part of which is known as the Channel of Atalanti.

Dispatches from Athens said the island's chief city, Khalkis, surrendered to a combined force of British and Greek patriots and that a small number of troops left behind in a German evacuation were taken prisoner.

The Germans pulled out of the island leaving 250 men holding Fort Gouves on the northeast coast, the Athens advices said.

The strategic North Aegean Island of Lemnos has been occupied by the British and all of the Cyclades group was reported freed today as German forces on the mainland continued their flight through northern Greece.

Seizure of the port of Mudros on the south coast of Lemnos, which guards the entrance to the Dardanelles was announced yesterday in a Royal Navy communique.

The communique said British forces landed on the island's west coast at dawn on Oct. 16 and after a 30-hour battle captured Mudros, along with 400 German prisoners.

The British land drive to clear the Germans from Greece continued without let-up as carrier based RAF planes attacked rail transport in the Volos mid-coastal area. Strafing planes knocked out one locomotive and damaged 20 rail cars. The Germans were using to evacuate their forces northward.

Allied headquarters announced that six months emergency civilian supplies for Greece, amounting to about 780,000 tons valued at $120,000,000 had been provided for partly by the United States and the remainder by Britain.

Farmers Report On Need War Prisoners

By F. F. HENDRIX, County Agent
The county agent's office has been requested to file a summary on the needs of the county for German prisoners-of-war to be used in general farm work throughout the county for the next four months. These prisoners will be drawn from the camp at Williamston. They are permitted to do all types of general farm work except picking cotton. They will work in groups of five or more and will cost the farmers using them 25 cents per hour, plus transportation to and from the camp at Williamston.

All farmers of Pitt county who will need these prisoners should contact the county agent's office by Thursday, October 26, giving the number of prisoners and number of days they will need them. This summary from the county will be forwarded to the prison camp at Williamston along with summaries from other counties. The camp commander will use this as a basis of determining how many prisoners he will keep in the camp. Reports should be made in person, by letter or telephone.

Funeral Services For Donald Purser

Funeral services for Donald B. Purser, 40, farmer, of Hookerton, who died of a heart attack Friday afternoon, were held Sunday afternoon. Rev. W. H. Brady of Vanceboro and Rev. D. W. Alexander of Bethel officiated. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery, Greenville.

Mr. Purser was a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Purser of Ayden.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Grace Purser; seven daughters, Willie G., Mary R., Frace, Sude A., Betty Jean, Dorothy and Olga Elise Purser; three sons, Donald, Jr., William and Herbert Purser; six brothers, Thomas, James, Frederick and Arny Purser of Ayden; Horner Purser of New Bern and Latt Purser of Vanceboro, and a sister Mrs. J. M. Meeks of Harrisonburg, Va.

Masons To Banquet In City Thursday

New Bern Consistory No. 3 Scottish Rite Freemasonry, and local Scottish Rite Masons will be hosts at dinner Wednesday night at 7 o'clock at the armory in Greenville for Master Masons and their ladies in Greenville and Pitt County. William J. Bundy, local attorney and senior grand warden of the North Carolina Grand Lodge of Masons, will preside. The affair will be entirely informal. Prizes will be awarded for the ladies.

Grand Warden Bundy of Greenville will deliver the address of welcome. G. A. Farrow of New Bern will respond and there will be a program of music. Robert L. Pugh of New Bern, Craven County superintendent of education, will deliver an address. His subject will be "More Light In Masonry As Taught By The Scottish Rite." All Master Masons in Pitt County and Greenville are invited to attend.

Allies Extend Gains In Italy

Rome, Oct. 23—(AP)—Eighth Army troops inching their way up the Adriatic coast have occupied Cervia, on the coastal road four miles north of captured Cesenatico and only 12 miles below Ravenna, but bad weather again hampered operations on the Fifth Army front. Allied headquarters announced today.

Cervia, 19 miles above Rimini, is on the main highway from Rimini to northeastern Italy.

The communique said the Allied bridgehead over the Savio River has been enlarged. The British troops enlarged their bridgehead despite difficulties caused by the rising river waters. Two miles north of captured Cesena, Canadian troops established another bridgehead a mile wide and two miles deep in the face of heavy German resistance and counterattacks by tanks and infantry.

Heavy fighting was reported in the southern outskirts of Prassineto, about four miles southwest of Castel San Pietro on the Bologna-Rimini highway.

Recognition . . .

ties to lay claim to French funds which have been tied up in this country since German troops overtook the French nation. It also appeared that De Gaulle's position of insistence on French representation in the higher Allied councils such as the European Advisory Commission would be greatly strengthened.

The French funds which have been tied up in this country are estimated at about $900,000,000 credited to the Bank of France, plus several hundred millions more of private funds, making the total far in excess of a billion dollars.

In announcing the fact of recognition, Stettinius said word had been sent to the French government that "if agreeable" Jefferson Caffery, who recently arrived in Paris as "representative" with the personal rank of ambassador, would assume the duties of ambassador to France.
